Local council winds up March business 1970 hydro maintenance budget established

Council met Thursday night, March 5, to clean up the regular March meeting affairs . Water business got the nod first and accounts were approved.

Hydro maintenance expenses were budgeted for 170.Estimates were: Distributnon — lines overhead, $2,000, underground, $500; transformers, $2,500; new meters, $800; water heaters for rental and installation, $800. It was estimated that three transformers will be needed to accommodate the new sewage installation.

An outline was read from Hydro stating that the future of local hydro systems under regional government — assets and liabilities — will be shared in a communal pie.

Hydro commissioners have been beaten about the ears with a number of complaints re "high hydro bills." Upon examination, individual bills at last billing, compared to the same period last year, show approximately the same amount of power used. Main culprit appears to be the fact that with the discount discontinued, an approximate 10 per cent hike is evident on domestic bills. The water charges are also added on billings, thus making the total still higher.

Complying with a directive from the Department of Financial and Commercial Affairs, council passed a by-law appointing a lottery licensing officer. Clerk Lloyd Graham will issue licences authorizing bingos, raffles, etc.

Harold Sharkey will attend the Good Roads Association school at Guelph in May.

The parking by-law has been revised and will be re-submitted to the Department of Transport.

Council is increasing pressure on those in arrears of taxes. Letters to those in arrears are being followed up by the firm hand of the collector. Education costs are putting the squeeze on the village, so, playing pass-along, council is attempting to bring in as much tax money as possible.

Village accounts were inspected and approved for payment.

George Fisher of Kemptville speaks to Rotary Club

The membership attendance at Chesterville Rotary Club's weekly meeting of March 9 was 81%. Following a hearty meal and an equally hearty sing-song, the guests were introduced, Rotarians W. Farquarson of Alliston, Ont., and John Dalrymple of Kemptville.

George Cooke explained the proceedings of the last meeting of the Park Pavilion Building Committee when a bid was accepted to construct the building this spring. George had a detailed set of drawings to show interested Rotarians.

Following last week's nominations for officers and directors of the Rotary Club for the year 1970-71 which starts on July 1st; president Armand Charlebois announced that the complete board was appointed by acclamation. The in-coming officers are as follows: president, Tom Rance; secretary, Frank Cook; treasurer, Armand Charlebois; directors, Jack Dubois, Lloyd Graham, Norm Harris, Dick Finnigan, Ron Lynch.

Through the efforts of Leon Marcellus, John Dalrymple introduced the guest speaker, Kemptville Rotarian Dr. George Fisher. Dr Fisher is a graduate of Veterinary Medicine and presently lectures at KCAT. He is well known to local Rotarians and is a former classmate of Dr B. Lapp and a former working associate of Norm Harris.

The speaker held the audience's attention as he outlined various methods of improving our memory. As an example he asked the audience to name 20 articles or subjects and at the members request he was able to recall all items in mixed order.

A motion was received to adjourn the meeting.

Bits and Pieces

Osnabruck Centre PeeWee champs

Two week-end victories over Dunbar Bruins gave Osnabruck Centre a total of 5 points in the round-robin playoffs, thereby winning the Arnold Sullivan Memorial Trophy as Champions of the Chesterville and District Pee Wee Hockey League.

On Friday evening at the Centre, goals by Mark Wells and John Bedingfield gave the home team the 2 to 0 victory.

On Saturday at Dunbar, a game Bruin team held a 2 - 1 lead at the end of the second period but two goals by Allan Cutt in the third period gave the Osnabruck boys a narrow 3 - 2 win.

Congratulations to the winners and their coach John Dunlop. Also the fine teams from Dunbar and Chesterville and such men as Jim McMillan, Burton Beckstead, Frank Cook and Harold Armstrong who spent much time and effort to organize and operate teams in this league.

In this week's Record we carry two stories by Mike Rowden of Ingleside.

We welcome "Mike" to our long list of faithful correspondents.

Beware the winds of March

Since Sunday the March winds have raised havoc with district roads. Tuesday afternoon the school buses were called early to NDDHS to return students home.

With an almost record fall of snow still on the ground, spring weather could swell the Nation River well over its banks.

Winter pastime

On this page of the Record we carry a photo of Tony Logtens and Tom Grady, Berwick, posing with samples of their favourite winter pastime.

Tony and Tom, both being farmers, find a few spare hours during the winter afternoons. Being the outdoor type, this winter they turned their spare hours to hunting.

The winter's kill has amounted to three brush wolves which the boys estimated to weigh 35 - 37 pounds each and nine shiny fox pelts, stretched and dried. Tom related that the fox would bring the standard bounty and the pelts would be shipped to Northern Ontario to be sold.

All the animals had been hunted and shot locally.

CPR instal gates

Tuesday afternoon CPR workmen were busy putting the finishing touches to new crossing warning gates at the local crossing.

The gates should prove an additional safety factor at the busy crossing.

Chalmers United, Finch--

Reports successful annual under amalgamation

At a well attended gathering of the members of Chalmers United Church, Finch, along with members from Grantley and Berwick, reports indicated that the first year as an amalgamted charge had been quite successful.

The year had been one of phenomenal changes — seeing not only the amalgamation of these 3 churches but also of the amalgamation of the Finch charge with that of Avonmore. With the excellent leadership given by the minister, Rev. H. A. Funge, this transitional period was passed through with a minimum of inconvenience and upheaval.

The meeting began with an "In Memoriam" prayer by Rev. Funge for the three members who died during the year.

Mr Lindsay Hutt was secretary for the meeting and read the minutes of last year's meeting. Rev. Funge gave the session report showing a record number of 24 children and 2 adults baptized, 4 marriages, 3 funerals, 15 confirmations, 2 transfers out, a resident membership of 356 and 65 non-resident.

Reports were given for the financial business by Myles Nephew and Lindsay Hutt; building fund, Myles Nephew; Official Board, Mrs L. G. Graham; Mission Service Fund, Mrs L. Graham.

The United Church School had a most successful year under the capable leadership of Miss Eileen Runions as superintendnt, th r port being given by Miss Bette-Anne Smith, treasurer.

The UCW report by Miss Lillian Droppo, showed that the allocation of $485 had been met. Berwick S. S. report was given by Miss Karen Foster and the S. S. Ladies' Auxiliary by Mrs Jean Foster.

Osna. Twp. council meet discuss Raisin River project

Osnabruck council met again on Monday, February 25th. Other than the fact there were some by-law amendments regarding salary changes for 1970, the meeting was quiet and routine. However there are one or two items of local interest. Newington Volunteer Fire Dept. have received permission to bring personnel up to 21 members, five new volunteers being acquired. It is also expected the cost of the new fire hall and the debt incurred on this project will be erased in 1970.

Osnabruck Township has requested the Department of Highways to increase the township budget another $52,000, their reason being there is need for another grader.

The Raisin River Improvement scheme has seen completion of the preliminary engineering survey and study as to what might be the most feasible and economical way of transferring water from the St. Lawrence River to the upper end of the Raisin River is now under way. The choice lies between a diversion channel or a pumping arrangement. Authorities are inclined at this stage, to favour a pumping station as opposed to a diversion channel.

The initial cost of a channel plus maintenance over a long period of time, being sound arguments. The costs of this project are being shared jointly by the Conservation Authority and the municipalities through which the Raisin River passes.

The river which starts in Osnabruck Township has little or no flow and for most of its length is mostly stagnant water,

Editorial Comment . . .

To take a stand

As editors, here at the Record we have been advised that we "should" take an editorial stand on many controversial issues which occur.

We would ask our advisors where the editors of this weekly newspaper, lacking the time or research staff, could possibly possess the necessary knowledge to know where to stand? If newspaper editors possessed such a vast amount of knowledge we could dispence with our court system.

We have been asked by many people to write editorials about many things. We have delined, lacking the necessary fatual information to assess both sides of the situation. Most situations have two sides.

In many cases those submitting information do not wish to be quoted and would use our editorial space to express their opinion. In each case we have volunteered our columns for letters to the editors. One of the necessary regulations is that the letter must be signed.

We must admit as editors we have heard many intelligent views both pro and con on many subjects. We find people's views both enlightening and educational. We feel each and every person has an opinion and is entitled to it.

There seems to be truth in the old saying: "Remember, as you go through this life you meet many people, on your way up, and the same people on your way down."

It's a land of sweet and sour

There seems to be a general feeling that life has gone a little sour among many people today — mainly in our cities.

The small town and rural areas don't feel this malaise so deeply — perhaps because they live so close to nature. Their people live with the seasons, see the sun rise once in a while and the moon hang unbelievably large in the night sky.

The small towner is deeply aware of the seasons — if they are good the farmers have good crops and prosperity — if they are bad — the town tightens its belt.

Knowing what they know — seeing what they see, almost unconsciously the small towner is healthier for it.

But the cities are another story. People in high rise apartments, insulated in small suburban homes, walking along paved streets, cheek-by-jowl to large buildings of concrete and glass — begin to lose the feeling of nature.

To them seasons are snow tires, antifreeze and long lines of jammed traffic on parkways. Or dull heat-laden days when they swim through their existence slowly, with the occasioned relief of an air conditioned office or a cold shower.

These are a few basic reasons why Canada must guard and expand its parkland and wilderness areas. People must be encouraged to travel and play there by every means possible.

Man has an instinct to get back to the country to find out who and what he is — to rest and relax — to feel the warmth and strength — and the danger of nature. But even this solace could slip from him.

Ordinary people, legislatures, municipal politicians, farmers, school trustees—just about everybody must make it his business to see that more camping grounds are opened up, more roads built into the northlands and stringent antipollution measures passed tc protect lakes, rivers and the land. Man must support all efforts to keep the natural environment liveable and beautiful to sustain his soul.

Mini-skirted status symbol

John Hendry, chairman of a British work study organization, told Office Equipment and Methods magazine that the average British secretary is no more than a mini-skirted status symbol who works only 25 of the 40 hours she is paid for each week.

The rest of the time she is dilly-dallying in the washroom, repairing her face, gossiping on the phone and writing letters to her boyfriend. She takes 15 minutes preparing for lunch and a half-hour recovering from it.

Many of these girls, said Hendry, are not truly secretaries. They are nothing more than shorthand typists who have learned to speak with a cultured tone.

An old fashion winter

Letter to the Editors

Chesterville, Ont.,
March 9, 1970.

The Editors,
The Chesterville Record,
Chesterville, Ont.
Gentlemen:

The March 5th issue of the Record carried a report of Chesterville village council's regular March meeting. It mentioned a discussion held regarding "the complexities of the local zoning by-law." Council decided to uphold the by-law where they felt it applied.

This writer feels the matter needs some further airing and the word is used with intent because something has a fishy odour. Has council made a conscious effort to treat all sides of the question with honesty and frankness? Has council let its good judgment, evident in most of its undertakings, become clouded with one-sided partisanship?

The whole matter evolves around the use of premises on Albert Street. Under the zoning by-law, Albert Street is classed a residential area from Queen north on the west side of the street. It is commercial south of Queen. From the inception of the by-law businesses such as barber shops, etc., could not be opened along the street. Notwithstanding the by-law, businesses in being at the time of the by-law's passing could remain in business and not be affected.

The by-law became the law of the village on the 3rd day of September, 1968. In June, 1967, L. B. Giles fitted up a second barber sop in his premises on Albert Street. A sign was installed there and barbering was done in the shop. It has not been his main shop, but before the by-law came into effect, he set up the second operation hoping to sell the Main Street premises and move full-time to his house on Albert Street. The barber shop would be his anchor to windward for a semi-retired barber.

The sign and intent of the barber have been clear since 1967 at the house on Albert Street. Suddenly, two and a half years after the placing of the sign and the opening of operations of the shop, a complaint is placed before council by Mr F. M. Cass, a neighbour of the Giles property. Mr Cass suggested he was speaking in the knowledge that the residents of the street agreed with him when it came to banning L. B. Giles from continuing his business. The shop operation seems to have escaped anyone's notice up to now.

Council says it will not allow the operation of a new commercial institution in a residential zone. That is what the by-law says it must do. So council did it, passed a resolution and notified the parties involved.

May this writer, Mr Editors, ask a question. Is council so careless it makes fish of one and fowl of another without expecting public dissent? A taxpayer's intent was expressed to Chesterville council in 1967. He immediately implemented his statement with an investment of money and effort to assure himself a small business income when he retired. He believed he was within the law.

Are all other existing businesses in the same position with regard to the zoning by-law?

Thank you, Mr Editors, for the space to enlarge on a very local problem.

Yours truly,
H. K. Graham.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Readers: With so much being said and written about teen-agers these days I thought you might be interested in an open letter that hit my desk today. Here it is:

Dear Kid: Today you came to me for a job. From the look of your shoulders as you walked out, I suspect you've been turned down before, and maybe you feel by now that kids out of high school can't find work. Well, don't believe it. I hired a teenager today. Perhaps you saw him on your way out. He was the boy with the polished shoes. He wore a necktoe. He didn't have any experience either — but his attitude put him on my payroll instead of you. That boy cared enough to make an impression. He left his leather jacket at home. His suit was a little shabby but it was pressed. His fingernails were clean. His hair wasn't exactly short, but it was neat. And it wasn't the first thing you notied when you looked at him.

The way to get a job is to use the same approach as when you are trying to get a girl. No guy in his right mind would try to impress a chick in a dirty shirt and faded jeans. And it doesn't hurt to case the situation. Have some facts. The kid I hired instead of you went to the trouble to find out what we manufacture.

You might not believe it, but there are hundreds of employers in this town who are looking for bright, young people who are smart enough to go after a job in the old-fashioned way.. When they find one they like they can't wait to unload some of their responsibilities on them. For both our sakes, get eager, will you?—The Man Who Passed You By

Dear Man: Cool, man, cool. Thanks for writing.

* * * *

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the Michigan woman who has a faithful husband who adores her, seven fine children and is 'hungry for romance." I hope that dingbat reads your column every day because I've got a message for her. Here it is:

Don't be crazy. Michigan — be thankful you have a faithful husband and a lovely family. It he's not the most exciting lover in the world, so what? Every husband no matter how exciting cools off after a couple of years. And it's a good thing. As women get older they need more rest. You said he's a great father, generous and kind and he's looked up to by everyone in the community. Most important, he adores you and lets you know it.

I had a husband who wasn't quite as good as yours, but almost. After 25 years of marriage I ran off with what I thought was the man of my dreams. He turned out to be a lying crook and a chronic drunk. He had a habit of burning things he had no use for. (My scrapbooks, irreplaceable pictures of my children, and my clothes.) I lived in fear of his violent temper. After five months I left him.

Every woman who has an honourable husband and a family should thank God every night for life's richest blessings. Your real treasures are under your nose, Michigan. Get smart and enjoy them.—Wiser in California.

Dear Wiser: I hope the dreamer read your letter. It should wake her up — permanently.

YOUR LEGISLATURE REPORT

by
F. M. Cass, Q.C., M.P.P.

The thoughts of some and the speculations of many newspapers and commentators that this might be a Provincial election year in Ontario were dealt their death blow when Prime Minister Robarts stated in the House that his government, only two and one half years old, had no intention of "soaking" the Ontario taxpayer and voter with a $6,000,000 election bill in 1970. Indeed, neither the Speech from the Throne nor debate so far this Session gives any indication that the Members at Queen's Park seriously contemplate such an early Provincial election.

The third Session of Ontario's 28th Parliament opened with traditional ceremony last February 24th but this year those in attendance saw an added attraction. Never before in our over 100 years of Parliamentary history has the Chamber been disrupted by unauthorized spectators. However, in this age of protest, a citizen eluded attendants and demonstrated in the Chamber just before the House opened against "the hard-hearted" Workmen's Compensation Board which was only paying him a "paltry" compensation of $100 per week; his actions on this occasion did not seem to bear out his loud contention of total disability either.

The Opening Day was a difficult one for your Member and his Olive since many administrative and ceremonial as well as social responsibilities on such an occasion devolve upon Mr Speaker and his lady. In addition, as President of the Ontario Good Roads Association then also meeting in annual convention almost 3,000 strong, your Member on the same Opening Day had the responsibiilty of the official opening and program of the Association in the morning. However both events apparently were successfully completed.

As yet no legislation of any import, save an almost new Act to govern the Mining Industry, has been introduced. The time of the House and the energies of the Members have been directed to the organization necessary to enable the people's business to be pursued. By resolution the House reverted to some of the new Rules and Procedures used so successfully last Fall and reappointed the Committee which had under study such reforms.

The debate on the Speech from the Throne this Session started wit a new look. After the usual two speeches by Government Back Benchers, the three Party Leaders participated in succession rather than, as has been custom, being the last speakers to wind up the debate. Very little new was said by any one of the Party Leaders and debates in this Session, if they follow the pattern so set, are not likely to be shorter or more interesting than those of this Parliament's previous Sessions.

For this part of the Session, the Legislative Pages are well scattered over Ontario — from

THE HARD WAY

John Spriggs, 17, of Oldbury, Eng., was determined to get a toehold in the police department — even if it meant breaking some of them first.

After failng a fitness test because of six deformed hammer toes, he had them broken and rest surgically before being accepted by the Worcestershire force as a cadet.

Business and tourist facility welcome addition to Ingleside

Ingleside residents can look forward to yet another addition to the community in the shape of business and tourist facilities. Mr Gaetan Lalonde, owner of the Villa Nova Motel, has started construction on a building, intended to house a cocktail lounge, licensed diningroom facilites and a large banquet hall.

The building, 90' x 60', one storey high, is to be of attractive brick construction. Mr Lalonde intends to tastefully decorate and provide the finest cuisine available. The upstairs dining room and cocktail lounge is expected to seat 225 people. Another feature of this establishment will be the nightly entertainment, which will again be of high calibre. Dancing will also be featured.

The banquet hall will be large enough to accomodate approximateliy 190 people and will have all necessary facilities. Construction is going ahead and Mr Lalonde has hopes of opening his new business around the middle of June.

The community's doctors may be moved into the new building, however discussions are continuing in this respect and have yet to be finalized.

With a static staff of 8 or ten, which at times could grow to as many as twenty, Mr Lalonde and his business will fill a need in the communty for accomodation, entertainment and some employment. The project will b known as the Villa Nova Motor Hotel instead of its present name.

The tremendous showing of the boys from Dunbar is a sign of good times ahead for John Phifer's Atom team to which the Tyke stars will be moving up in the next year or two. Carson Elliott reports that his scouts have already signed some new players for the Tyke Bruins for 1970-71. So the Tyke League appears headed for an even better season next year.

Fans join players in N.S.-L.S. donnybrook

By John Cameron

The North Stormont - Long Sault quarter play-off finals are well underway with Osnabruck Centre and Crysler leading Long Sault and St. Regis 3 to 1 respectively. In the other series we have Eamer's Corners leading Avonmore 2 to 1 and Glen Walter over Newington by the same amuont.

Crysler overpowered St. Regis is the first game last Wednesday night by a score fo 6 - 1. Germain Lafleche led with a hat trick. D. Brisson bulged the twine on two occasions and J. Laundry nicked for a single. Dennis Cook sunk St. Regis lone tally'

The second game of the night had Osnabrcck Centre down Long Sault 4 to 1. Roger Wells scored the only goal of the first period. Brian Gallinger knotched a pair in the last with David D. Collins counting for one.

Mike Hanton kept Long Sault on the score sheet when he tallied the last goal of the game.

Friday night Eamer's Corners romped for a 7 to 2 wwin over Avonmore. Rusty Lalonde with a pair. Brian Shorley, Gary Lalonde, Charlie MacDonald, Ricky Locke and Danny Locke scored one each. The Aces were kept alive by Ron Poapst and Terry Rolland.

Newington's desire paid off when they downed the favourites Glen Walter 3 to 2. Leading off the scoring was Gerry Zeran for the Flyers. Steve Tait added to this when he split the pipes. Before the end of the period the Glens went on the sheet with the help of Rick Roy. Each team counted one before the buzzer sounded. These were by Gerry Zeran with his second of the night and Jean Tessier for the Glens.

It was Avonmore's turn to upset the apple cart when they came on strong for a convincing win of 4 to 1 over Eamer's Corners on Sunday afternoon. It was the Aces all the way. Dennis Poirier pegged for a pair with Harry Lalonde and Terry Rolland going for one each.

Rusty Lalonde came up with Eamer's Corners lone goal.

Glen Walter avenged their previous loss to Newington when they overpowered them with a 4 to 1 win. The big gun for the Glens was Jean Tessier with a pair. Glennie Bethune and Rick Roy Picked up the rest. Newington's only consolation was that they scored the first goal of the game. This being scored by Ricky Tait.

In the first game Monday night it was Osnabruck Centre all the way. That was until the bell sounded to end the game and usher in the donnybrook. The winner of this fracus we would have to call a draw. Its getting so that when the boys even look at each other any more they have visions of 'plug him in the mouth', 'chop him down', 'cut him in two', or 'hit him over the head with the stick'. The melee started at the end of he game. One fight developed into two, then three. All the players left their benches to get a closer look and take a more active part. A good portion of the large crowd then decided to participate and we ended up with a rerun of the Chicago riots, only less the police. Comments we heard from some of those who remained with us in the stand—Ted Brownlee of Ingleside, "I wouldn't go out there and referee in a situation like that for fifty dollars"; Wayne Armstrong from Newington, "I thought I'd like to try my hand at refereeing in this league next year but those guys are too big for me to wrestle around"; Unidentified fan "first game I've been to and I have to admit I received my money's worth. Before we forget, the score was 6 to 1 for Osnabruck.

The second game was a close contest with St. Regis holding Crysler to a 2 to 2 deadlock til the end of the first period. Crysler scored two unanswered in the last period to end things up 4 to 2.

These same four teams have another go at it come Friday night. The St. Regis - Crysler contest is sceduled for the first game.

Records broken at Livestock Exchange

All known records were broken again last Tuesday at the Holmes Livestock Exchange when the biggest and heaviest cow ever to pass over the scale was sold by auctioneer Mahlon Zeron. He commented that this was the largest cow to pass over this scale or any other that he could recall in his many years selling beef by auction.

Sale owner and operator Irwin Holmes also stated this pure bred Holstein cow owned and consigned by W. R. McMenomy and Son, Inkerman, was to his knowledge the heaviest and highest priced beef cow he had handled in his 33 years cattle dealing.

The cow tipped the scale at 1,904 lbs. and on the bid of $22.50 per cwt. was sold to an agent buying good beef for the Kingston Penitentiary. This netted Mr McMenomy and Son $428.40 less the usual small deduction made at the sale.

Several other cows were purchased for the penitentiary slaughter house, as on numerous other occasions.

Other good prices last Tuesday included: A bull owned and consigned by Cecil Bell of Prescott, weighing 1,494 lbs., sold at $27.85 to Capital Meat Co. of Ottawa. This bull netted Mr Bell $416.07, less sale deduction.

Good calf prices were also noted this week by John Poole, of Winchester, who sold six calves weighing a total of 1,132 lbs. for the nice sum of $489.94. One calf weighed 192 lbs. at 47 per lb., bringing $90.24; another sold for $91.91 and another for $91.84.

We might well expect our steaks and roasts will not be cheap at least for another week!

KITCHEN CORNER

ideas around the clock.

This canny citrus is a scene stealer with shapely intentions at any time. Grapefruit hums with excitement heated or chilled on the breakfast table. Its distinctive tang adds a piquant quality and vitamin C to that all-important, come alive meal. Feel a mid-morning hunger? Grapefruit is great spoon-bait and won't play havoc with diets; it's a slimmer. Lunch might begin or end with grapefruit in the half shell and fresh fruit salads with tangy sections are a wonderfully stimulating entree. Grapefruit whets before-dinner appetites and is a lovely light dessert. Feel slight hunger pangs just before turning in? Grab a grapefruit! Try grapefruit halves with chicken quarters brushed with honey and fresh lemon juice. If you think that sounds good, wait until you taste it!

Chicken Grapefruit Bake

1 3-lb. chicken, quartered
Salt and pepper
5 tbsps. honey
2 tbsps. fresh lemon juice
2 tbsps. butter or margarine, melted
2 grapefruit

Sprinkle chicken quarters with salt and pepper. Place chicken in roasting pan. Bake in 350° F. oven 1- hour. Combine 4 tablespoons honey, lemon juice and butter or margarine. Reserve 2 tablespoons honey-lemon mixture. Baste chicken with remainder of honey-lemon mixture during last 30 minutes baking time. Meanwhile, half grapefruit; cut around each section. Add remaining 1 tablespoon honey to reserved honey-lemon mixture; brush evenly over grapefruit. Bake grapefruit with chicken during final 15 minutes of baking time. Makes 4 servings.

Grapefruit Salad

1 3-oz. pkg. lime flavoured gelatin
1 cup boiling water
½ cup grapefruit juice
1 tbsp. vinegar
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 large grapefruit, peeled and diced (1 cup)
½ cup chopped celery

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add grapefruit juice, vinegar and mayonnaise. Blend well. Pour into refrigerator tray. Chill until partially set. Return to bowl and beat until fluffy. Add grapefruit and celery. Return to tray. Chill 5-6 hours. Serve on lettuce leaves, garnished with grapefruit sections.

IN MEMORIAM

SMITH—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Clarke H. Smith, who passed away March 15, 1966.
We cannot say, and we will not say,
That he is dead — he is just away!
With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
We think of him still as the same today
He is not dead — he is just away.

Several matters of internal business were discussed. It was decided to urge each family to donate toward its subscription of the U. C. Observer now being paid for by the church. Rev. Funge also asked that a chalice and paten be purchased for use during communion service and this was subsequently done as an "In Memoriam" gift to the late Rev. James Hamilton, a former beloved minister, whose death occurred in Winchester.

The Stewards reported the installation of a new old furnace in the church.

Rev. Funge thanked all who had co-operated to make his 1st year as their minister so harmonious and rewarding. The ladies of the congregation served lunch and a social hour was enjoyed.

a mosquito breeding ground, of little use to bordering farmers for their cattle and no doubt polluted. When the project is completed there should be considerable increase in the flow of clean water throughout the area concerned and another stream returned to its former beauty and usefulness. Stage 2 of the scheme is now ready for the engineers survey. A section at Long Sault has been budgeted for 1970 and construction is expected to start in 1970.

With these projects underway, Osnabruck Township Council is not anticipating a tax increase for the year 1970.

Story by Mike Rowden.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the doctors, nurses and staff of Cornwall General Hospital and Annex for their kindness and good care while I was a patient there; also for ambulance service. Thanks also to Rev Cecil Dawson for his kindness and welcome visits, for cards and visits from friends and neighbours, and for help and kindness from friends and neighbours to my family at home while I was in the hospitals. It was greatly appreciated.
