Lives of Three Young Children Endangered By Fire in Farm Home

Monday morning about 6.30 three young children of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Thom, three miles west of Morewood, on the farm of Walter Stewart, had a very narrow escape from death when the family home was seriously damaged by fire after the parents had gone to the barn to do the milking. The three little ones, Ray aged four and a half years, and his two sisters one two and a half years and an infant about three and a half months old were left asleep in their beds when the parents went out. After the milking had been proceeding for some time little Ray made his way to the barn in his sleepers. When noticed and urged to go back to the house and to bed again, Ray said he would not go, it made him sick there. Upon taking him back to the house it was found filled with smoke from a fire evidently starting in the washroom off the kitchen. The other children were quickly taken into the open air from their beds where they were almost overcome by the smoke.

Neighbors quickly gathered and confined the flames to the lower part of the dwelling where considerable damage was done, while the children were cared for at the home of Robert Stewart, who got in touch with Dr. Justus.

The cause of the fire is believed to have been faulty electric wiring as there was no fire started in the stove when the parents left the house.

HAY BRINGING GOOD PRICE AT AUCTION SALES

Many Auction Sales are being held throughout the counties and remarkably good prices are being obtained for almost everything offered. Machinery in good serviceable condition is bringing higher prices than those paid for it not so very long ago. The prices of cattle continue steady. A noticeable item at a recent sale was that of sixty tons of barn hay selling for fourteen dollars per ton. It it understood this hay will be baled on the premises and shipped across the line.

Farm Forum Subjects For Discussion

By G. Clare Burt,
Ontario Farm Radio Forum Secretary

As a result of Six Zone Conferences that have been held throughout the month of October and personal contacts in Northern Ontario and in other areas, it is extremely apparent that Farm Radio Forums are going to be more active than ever before in Ontario. Numerous areas in Northern Ontario have already expressed their desire to discuss Co-operative Hospitalization as an Action Project over and above the regular Farm Radio Forum discussions. This project developed in over twenty counties last winter in Southern Ontario as a result of Forum Discussions and Action.

Most Forums are using the first few Forum nights to decide on a project that they might study on a community basis for the coming year. These include everything from painting mail boxes to Hospitalization.

The discussion topics for the first two series of the 1947|48 Farm Forum Season are:

November:

3—Youth on the Farm
10—The Farmer Takes a Wife
17—A Farm Organization for Everyone
24—What the Forums Say.

December:

1—What's New in Health?
8—The Teacher in the Community
15—Organizing for Community Action
22—What the Forums Say.

SAYS BIG DANGER IS MORE WAGE INCREASES

Canada is in for very serious trouble if prices continue to climb. Our only hope for averting disaster is if Canadians will exercise some selfdiscipline, stop forcing wages higher.

So Gilbert Jackson, consulting economist, told a press conference which he called this week.

Very real danger that Canada's standard of living will be permanently reduced because of the price situation here and international trade conditions exists, he said.

The third bout in the upward wage spiral which now appears to be starting in the United States, together with the explosion of a similar kind which apparently is being set off by the latest decontrol order in Canada, has grave implications for the Canadian cost of living. (The Dominion Bureau of Statistics cost of living index is now up 36.6% from its 1938 level.)

A new round of wage increases at this time will have extremely serious consequences, he said. The plight of the white collar and fixed incomes generally he pointed out will be worse than ever.

The fundamental point, Mr. Jackson points out, is: "Each income payment to someone is a cost to someone else. When each income payment rises so does the cost rise somewhere in our economy."

Increase Not Shared Equally

Workers today are not facing a lower standard of living than prewar, Mr. Jackson says, but only a lowering of the higher standard of living to which they became accustomed as a result of the war. The total payments to employed persons rose from $1,210 millions for the fist six months of 1939 to $2,845 millions for the first six months of 1947 or about 135%. The rise in the cost of living was only 29.7% in the same period.

One trouble is that this great increase in income was shared inequally, Mr. Jackson points out. For example the general wage rate is up 55% since 1939, according to the Department of Labor index.

There is a great "permissive" inflationary potential in the 150% increase in the total means of payment held by the Canadians in the last eight years, Mr. Jackson points out. Though this in itself would not necessitate a rise in the Canadian cost of living, it would permit a rise in the D.B.S. index of up to 70% of its pre-war level as against a rise of 36% at present, other things being equal. "And we can't exclude the possibility that it might go to 100%, he adds. "In a really hectic inflation, the rate of circulation of money, now lower than pre-war, could be stepped up considerably which would increase the amount of inflation."

One immediate fear is that the natural impulse of a lot of people who can bring pressure to bear will cause an increase in wages and so raise costs and so prices and so the cost of living. "If we were all people of variable incomes, we could all go on indefinitely but never get anywhere," Mr. Jackson points out. However, on the sidelines are people of fixed incomes who will "get it in the neck."

World Trade Problem

An international trade condition through which Canadians might be forced to accept permanently a lower standard of living is "clearly within the realms of possibility," Mr. Jackson declared. If Canada could not convert the cash surplus from exports to other countries to pay its deficit in balance of trade to the Unied States (as was the case prewar) then it would be necessary to remake the Canadian economy to make it independent not only of the United Kingdom but also of the United States.

Pointing to the British situation Mr. Jackson said, "I think the British have handicapped themselves most frightfully because they have never made the workingman realize that the dollar crisis really resolves itself into the question of 'Do we continue to eat?" If they had, the British people would be taking the crisis much more seriously."

HOW TO CONTROL THRIPS IN GLADIOLI

During the past season, many growers of gladioli have raised the question as to what should be done with the corms dug from the garden where the gladioli thrips were prevalent. Some of the growers thought that these corms should be destroyed.

That is by no means necessary, says Alan G. Dustan, Division of Entomology, Science Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture. While it is true that many of the insects may be taken into storage on the corms this insect may be easily killed by proper treatment. All the thrips left in the garden will be killed by winter temperatures, so there is no fear, he says, of the old plot being infested next spring.

If at all possible, the corms should be dried and stored in a cool place. That will check the development of the thrips. It is recommended, also, that treatment be commenced just as soon as drying and ripening are completed, which will be about the beginning of the calendar year. The grower himself will have to decide what method of treatment to adopt, because the treatment will depend largely on the number of corms in his collection.

The corms may be dusted, dipped, or fumigated, all these methods giving almost perfect control. Among the dusts, DDT is the one now most generally used. Lysol or corrosive sublimate are favourite dips, and fumigation with naphthalene flakes has long been the most popular with the larger growers. Full directions regarding these methods, are given in a publication entitled "Standard Control Recommendations for the Gladiolus Thrips". This is known as Processed Publication, No. 69. Copies may be obtained by applying to the Division of Entomology, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

"Dick" Fawcett, Dunbar Airman Ethiopia Bound, Writes from Cairo

R. H. "Dick" Fawcett, the Flying Cheesemaker of Dunbar, dropped us a line the other day, when he stopped in Cairo en route to Ethiopia where he is assuming the duties of Cililian Air Director. The cholera epidemic is raging in Egypt and the travellers were forced to spend a few days at the world famous Shepheard's Hotel in Cairo. "Dick's" letter follows.

Shepheard's Hotel,
Cairo, Egypt,,
October 7, 1947

Dear Editor:

Since I have several days to put in here in Cairo I will write the line you asked for giving a description of our trip so far. The trip was made in a Constellation plane of Trans-World Airlines and except for some rain between New York and Halifax, Nova Scotia, the skies were clear all the way. In fact I have only seen one cloud in the sky, here in Cairo. The temperature was 97° here when we arrived but cools off quite a bit at night. I could write pages and pages about my surroundings here and our trip, in fact Dorothy and I are going to write up our trip as I made sort of a condensed account of it as we flew along.

We left La Guardia, N.Y., field on Tuesday morning, September 30, at 10.30, and four and one half hours later we landed at Gander Airport in Newfoundland. After a wait of 4½ hours for weather to clear in Ireland we took off from Gander and crossed the North Atlantic ocean under shinning stars to land at Shannon Airport in Ireland in exactly eight hours. We had breakfast in Ireland. By-the-way that was the last time I saw butter. How the people at home used to find fault about butter rations.

After an Irish breakfast we again took off for Geneva, Switzerland. After leaving the coast of Ireland we passed over "Lands End" in the South of England and farther out our plane circled the liner Queen Mary which had left New York on Friday at 5 o'clock, 5 days out of New York. We were 15 hours out of New York. I had my moving picture camera with me and took some shots, I hope they are O.K.

After leaving the Queen Mary we flew over Cherbourg in France and low down over the Normandy Beachhead. The plane circled some main points where landing barges and ships are still laying where they were sunk during the invasion, in fact there is sunken boats for miles and miles. I again took some pictures from the plane. We circled over Paris, France, and on to Geneva for lunch.

The Airport is one long runway between two high mountain ranges. After seeing Geneva it is easy to understand why people who can afford it go there for their holidays. After leaving Geneva we passed over Marseilles in the South of France and the Island of Corsica to land in Rome, Italy, after dark.

The stop in Rome was the one that really made it strike home that we had left our Native land, Canada. Our passports were taken from us and we were kept in two rooms for over four hours, with an armed guard to see that we stayed there. There were three large plane loads of people in the rooms and about 10 chairs. The food was poor and nothing but confusion among the officials. The passports were returned to us as we boarded the plane.

After leaving Rome we flew to Athens, Greece, landing there for breakfast Thursday morning. The Airport is bordered on one side by mountains and on the other by the sea. The houses have been smashed by war around the airport. However there were people going in and out of the rubbish. The airport was under R.A.F. guard but unlike Rome we were not restricted in our movements. We left Athens after a one hour stop and crossed the Mediterranean to Cairo, 700 and some miles in less than three hours. The airport is in a clear desert here.

If those fellows around Chesterville and Dunbar were drawing sand here for a living they could stop any place and load up.

What I have written here is only a mere sketch of what we saw on the trip to describe it all would take many pages.

Now a word about our hotels here and Cairo. Our hotel is beyound description in so far as colour is concerned. I have never seen anything in Canada or U.S.A. to compare with the hallways and gardens around it, especially at night. The Egyptians ware great for coloured lights and windows. Our dining room is air-conditioned and one needs a sweater to keep you warm after coming in out of the heat.

The natives are pretty much Arab and wear long garb as well as sandles or bare feet. There are three of these men wait on each table in the dining room.

Natives, mule carts and push carts walk in the middle of the street so the cars blow the horns continuously, just like a wedding in Chesterville. I hope to see the pyramids before leaving. The cholera epidemic in Egypt is what is holding us here.

R. H. FAWCETT.
Thursday, 5.30 p.m.

Since I did not get your letter away I will add another line to it, if I am able, as I rode a desert horse out into the desert and around the pyramids for an hour and a half yesterday and Rodney rode on a camel, we had an Arab Shiek with us. I am a bit sore and stiff to-day. Not one spear of grass or tree just rolling sanddunes.

Every time you turn around here some one has their hand out for a tip and are not a bit backward in asking for it.

I bought a box of Kleenex yesterday, just a small box. It was a $1.35 in U.S. money, 13 cents in Canada. Hand soap 28 cents U.S. money here, 10 cents in Canada. 20 cents for an apple. The black market on U.S. money is 30% over current exchange. Individuals want it to buy in the states. They catch you by the arm on the street and want to exchange Egyptian money for U.S. However it is jail if you are caught doing it.

All for now.

R. H. FAWCETT.

PALEORMA REVEALS LIFE IN A PREHISTORIC SEA

About 350 million years ago, in the Ordovician period of geological history, the area we know as Southern Ontario, which includes the Toronto district, was covered by the sea. This sea, when it receded left behind sediments in the form of muds, sands and limy oozes that eventually hardened into stratified rocks. These rocks (shales and limy sandstones) underlie the general region mentioned. Rivers such as the Humber, Don and Credit have cut portions of their valleys through certain of these seamade rocks. If one examines these rocks carefully, fossilized remains of the shell-fish that lived in the ancient sea may be found. Examples of many of these fossil organisms are exhibited in the Palaeontology galleries of the Royal Ontario Museum.

Now visitors to the Royal Ontario Museum can see life-like restorations of the most characteristic of these ancient animals in a "Paleorma" which has been installed in the galleries of Palaeontology, the first of its kind in Canada.

These restorations, based directly upon a study of the actual fossils, include Cephalopods the Devil-Fish of the far-off day. These creatures were in all probability the most predaceous form of life of their time and some are known to have reached a length of 17 feet. The Trilobites were perhaps the next most spectacular form of life. They are remotely related to the lobster, crab and crayfish of today, and will be readily recognized by their segmented bodies.

Besides these creatures, a host of other extinct shell-fish are shown, including brilliantly coloured Corals; superb colonies of Bryozoa, popularly known as moss animals; dainty Crinoids or Sea-lilies, as well as numerous Brachiopods (lamp shells), Snails and Clams.

Farmers - Attention

Wanted: A number of progressive farmers in Eastern districts who would like to set out a commercial block of Red Raspberries, either for your local trade or for shipping to recommended city dealers. Recent Ontario-Quebec production figures, prices at 40-60c per quart and dealer reports would indicate short supplies everywhere.

To encourage a limited planting of new high yielding patches, a well known nursery is sending a special representative of many years experience in commercial production to personally interview and educate interested farmers in raspberry culture. This should result in higher unit yields, longer patch life, less hand labor and when translated into dollars at normal prices a relatively high ratio of profit is assured.

Because of the present shortageof good planting material, bookings can only be made for SPRING PLANTING 1948, limited to one acre.

If genuinely interested in berry growing as a sideline to farming, write Box 457, Campbellford, Ontario, on or before October 31st, giving location of your farm. Our specialist will call later and completely analyze the business, soil requirements and preparation, up-to-date cultural practices, home markets and surplus shipping, cost of planting, estimated yields and profits per acre. Late replies cannot be covered.

HOUSE PLANTS ADD COLOUR IN WINTER

At this time of year many an ardent gardener may echo the sentiments of the poet who said: "The melancholy days are come, the saddest of the year, with wailing winds and naked woods, and meadows brown and sere". Aptly enough, the poem is entitled "The Death of the Flowers".

But though there is a long wait before the snowdrops and crocus herald another Spring out-of-doors, much pleasure can be derived during the winter months by continuing some of the gardening indoors. Even the smallest potted plant of begonia, African violet, or geranium adds a touch of colour to a room, and foliage plants such as ivy, aspidistras, or palms, give decorative value with little attention. For those who are ready to spend a little more time the bulbous flowers, hyacinth, daffodils, narcissus, may be grown, and timed to bloom as a welcome to the New Year, or at Easter.

A useful bulletin has been prepared by the Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, on the care of house plants and on the control of insects which may attack them. It contains suggestions which may bring greater success to those who have always kept house plants, and will give valuable information and instruction to the beginner.

A copy of the bulletin may be obtained free on request to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Ask for it by name—"Culture and Care of House Plants."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings received from our many friends and neighbours in our recent sad bereavement in the loss of our beloved husband and father.

Mrs. John Nephew and family.

50th Wedding Anniversary Mr. and Mrs. Adam H. Rupert

A large number of relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Adam H. Rupert, highly respected residents of North Lunenburg, met in the church hall on Monday evening, October 13th, to honor them on the occasion of their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Rupert was the former Annie Wert, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Wert of Avonmore. Mr. Rupert is the son of the late Hiram Rupert and his wife Christy Ann Shaver and was born at North Lunenburg.

The couple were married at the bride's home in Avonmore on October 13th, 1897 by the Rev. Mr. Dumbrielle, father of the auther "Dorothy Dumbrielle."

Mrs. Rupert has five sisters: Mrs. Olaf Ness of North Dakota, (she being present for the occasion); Mrs. Jacob Shaver, also of Norma, North Dakota; Mrs. L. Fulkerson, Ottawa; Miss Sarah Wert of Avonmore and Mrs. Ray MacAllistor of Vancouver. She also has two brothers: Walter Wert, Brownsburg, Que.; Stanley Wert, Avonmore and three half-brothers: Mr. W. O. Wert, Ottawa; Mr. Ed. Wert, Avonmore and Mr. Nolan Wert of Vancouver. Another brother Nelson, died at his home at Avonmore two years ago.

Mr. Rupert has one brother and one sister, Jacob Rupert, North Lunenburg, and Mrs. Bernice Gibson of Lakeside, Que.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert have two sons Nolan of South Lunenburg and Carl at home. They also have four grandchildren.

The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion with autumn flowers and gold trimming. A well arranged programme consisted of old songs, a monologue by Mrs. Arnold Robb "Mrs. Puffer's Golden Wedding Anniversary," an Irish dance in costume by Helen Cleary and Doreen Werley, solos were sung by Mrs. Delmer Wilson and Mrs. Claude Werley.

Following the programme the honored couple were called to the floor and Rev. E. B. Bugden, on behalf of the brothers and sisters, presented them with a purse of money.

On behalf of the community Mrs. John Gray presented the bride with a locket and the groom a gold signet ring and Mr. Elburn Werley presented a floor lamp. Mr. Rupert thanked his friends for their generosity and thoughtfulness in remembering them on this memorable occasion.

For the serving of lunch, the guests of honor were seated at a nicely decorated table, centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, flanked by gold candles. Seated at this table were: Mr. and Mrs. Adam Rupert; Mr. W. O. Wert and son Ford of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wert, Brownsburg, Que.: Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wert, Miss Sarah Wert, Avonmore; Mrs. B. WHITE ALBINO DEER NEAR CALABOGIE

Peter Dillon, of Renfrew, fish and game overseer, accompanied by his brother, Gerald, had the once in a life-time thrill Thursday of seeing a white Albino deer on the Black Donald-Calabogie highway, five miles west of Calabogie.

It was shortly after dusk, as the two were proceeding to Calabogie, when they came across the two-year-old buck entangled in a wire fence.

"I stopped the car and backed up a few feet to watch the actions of the animal", he said. "After a few moments the buck freed itself and dashed across the road to disappear into the woods."

Mr. Dillon reports the deer as four-fifths white. The only sections showing any trace of brown were the head, neck and front shoulders.

SECOND SERIES

GARDEN CHATS; By Mrs. Harry Allison

Hello Neighbour: When the dinner dishes were safely stacked in the cupboard, this afternoon, I took one look at a basket of clothes all sprinkled and ready to iron, and another look outdoors. Then I stole a glance at the calendar and noticed that October was very nearly gone. It didn't take long to convince myself that I could iron some other day, so out I went.

I had already thought up an excuse. There was one more geranium to pot and my parsley to bring in for winter. That only required about ten minutes; then I needed another alibi for remaining outside. The garden is all in; the "glads" are dug; the bulbs are planted; and the border is ready for winter. Now what could I do? In a case like that a wife usually asks her husband. I did and it was a mistake. He said I could rake leaves. Second only to the executioner's axe, I hate a rake. The thing always leaves me with a backache and a grudge against all kinds of gardening. But it seemed I must rake or iron, so summoning all my courage, at it I went.

The professor, who told his class that if they did a job well, they would never need to do it again, had never raked leaves. When you rake in the spring the lawns stay clean, but not so in the fall. More leaves always arrive from somewhere. Knowing all this, however I stuck to the task and finally had the pleasure of watching them burn.

Now, Bob Keith says we shouldn't burn dead leaves, but leave them in piles to form leaf mould. That seems all right in the city, but when we farmers have so much good manure lying around, why pile up dead leaves? You can do as you wish. Our leaves are burned.

By the way, did you bring in a parsley root to pot for winter? A little green does miracles for a salad in January. Try some parsley sauce on fish next time too.

I was reading yesterday that peonies should not be cut off until the ground is well frozen. Then there is no danger of harming the roots. I didn't know that before, did you?

The magazine, Your Garden and Home, had an article this month on the culture of dwarf fruit trees. These are ordinary varieties grafted to other roots. The dwarf trees grow to only four or five feet. In two years they produce fruit which is usually superior to regular varieties (but not so good to eat). The miniature trees can be trained to grow in circular arrangements, but must be supported at all times. Now I don't know how successful these would be in our part of the country. Maybe it is too cold here for them. They really aren't very expensive. I'd like to try some of them. If you're interested I could let you read the complete article—or sell you the magazine.

Now here is the $64. question. How can I write GARDEN CHATS when the gardens are all in and the flowers all dead? I've been wondering too. So this may be the last chat we'll have. If something interesting shows up for next week, I'll see you then. If not, "Thanks for reading my nonsense since last April".

Sincerely.

TIME FOR DECISION

By George W. James
The Statesman, Bowmanville

(Article No. 21)

Latest available information in May and June, 1947, is that farm help is more scarce and more costly than in any year since 1938-39. Farmers from coast to coast under this situation are urged by Ottawa to produce to the utmost to fulfil food agreements entered into by the federal minister of agriculture at arbitrary prices far under world prices and at the same time to submit to controls which deny them any say as to disposition of their surplus.

Basic Policy

This column has gone over the record in several previous articles with recent emphasis on the question of immigration. It has become clearly apparent that under the domestic circumstances of today the only way to give farmers relief and increase food production is to bring in overseas help eventually to become Canadian citizens. The Prime Minister has recognized and has publicly admitted this to be our basic immigration policy. He is right, absolutely.

Rented Privileges

But what has been the result? Let us look at the recent developments. First, Ottawa leased its immigration scheme to permit an industralist, a Liberal M.P., to bring in immigrant help to work in his mills n Quebec. Second, Reconstruction Minister Howe announced that a joint government-industrial lease would permit other European displaced persons to enter Canada for employment in industry. He did not say a word about help for farmers. It was all industry.

Third in Shipping

Concurrently the same Minister announced in the House of Commons that the Canadian Merchant Marine was potentially the third largest in the world. That is to say if we want good immigrants today we surely have means of bringing them to this country, quite aside from leased ships and air transport. But in the next breath he stated that the supreme drawback was lack of shipping accommodation.

Ontario Premier

Third in all this strange immigration application, George Drew, Premier of Ontario, went personally to Britain last month to see what could be done to bring out, not Europeans but British peoples, to relieve the help problem of Ontario. His concern was not industry but the pressing needs of Ontario farmers and the lumbering and mining industries of this province, the real primary industries. He was given a pat on the back by Ottawa before he left.

British Immigrants

The result is that after John Bracken, Leader of the Progressive Conservative Party at Ottawa, demanded an immediate down-to-earth immigration policy it is now coming into effect through the action of Premier George Drew of Ontario, who has arranged to transport by air some 7,000 Britishers immediately to take up employment on farms and in primary industries. In this accurate statement it will be seen that Ottawa has resigned completely its responsibilities in immigration.

This article concludes all too briefly a discussion on immigration and the pressing need for competent help on Canadian farms. The Time for Decision in this matter will come at the next general election.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! If the present high cost-of-living is making you cut down here and there in the food budget, you should first make sure that your family is getting the most out of what you buy. The most valuable food is milk. It is a perfect food with the exception of its lack of iron content and Vitamin C.

Take for example the important element of calcium—a mineral that is part and parcel of everyone's bones and teeth and blood. Judged on the basis of price alone, milk is a cheap calcium food. One quart or 2½ pounds cost 16 cents, whereas to get the same amount of calcium out of eggs at 44 cents a dozen you would need 20 eggs for which the cost would be 70 cents—and that's a lot of eggs to eat in one day! Even salmon at 23 cents a pound is more expensive in food value since the amount would have to be doubled to yield the calcium in one pound of milk. Thus milk is a sensational bargain and it's a cinch for anyone to enjoy two glasses (or 1 pound) of milk daily.

Old Fashioned Tomato Soup

2 cups stewed tomatoes, 2 thin slices of onion, 1 bay leaf, 1 tsp. sugar, 3 tbsps. butter, 4 tbsps. flour, 4 cups milk; salt and pepper to taste.

Simmer the tomatoes, onion, bay leaf and sugar together for ten minutes, then press through a sieve. Melt the butter, blend in the flour, add the milk and cook stirring constantly until thickened. Add salt and pepper to taste and gradually add the sieved tomatopes. When steaming hot, serve at once in warmed soup bowls. 5 to 6 servings.

Meat Cake in Buttermilk Sauce

To make the meat cakes, combine the following ingredients: One pound ground beef, ½ cup bread crumbs, 1 small onion, minced, 1 egg slightly beaten, 1 tsp. salt, ½ tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. ground sage. Prepare buttermilk sauce, using these ingredients: 2 cups buttermilk, 2 tbsps. sugar, 1 tsp. salt, 1½ tsps. mustard, ½ tsp. paprika. 4 tbsps. flour, 2 tbsps. butter or mild flavored fat, 2 slightly beaten eggs. Add eggs after sauce has thickened. Form meat mixture into 8 balls and brown lightly on all sides in hot lard. Pour into casserole, add meat balls, and bake uncovered at 325 degrees in electric oven for about 45 minutes.

Gingerbread

½ cup butter, ½ cup brown sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup molasses, 2 tsps. baking soda, 2 tsps. ground ginger, ½ tsp. salt, 1 cup sour milk, 2½ cups sifted pastry flour.

Cream the butter, add the brown sugar gradually and continue creaming. Beat the eggs, add the molasses and combine with the creamed mixture. Sift together the flour, baking soda, ginger and salt and add alternately with the sour milk to the first mixture. Turn into a greased pan and bake in an electric oven 325 to 350 degrees—for 45 to 60 minutes.

Cocoanut Sauce

1 cup skim milk, 2 egg yolks, 2 tbsps. sugar, ⅛ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. vanilla, ½ cup shredded cocoanut.

Scald milk and add gradually to egg yolks which have been beaten until light and combined with the sugar and salt. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture coats a spoon. Chill, add vanilla and cocoanut.

THE SUGGESTION BOX

Mrs. M. J. says: We keep the contents of opened packages of brown sugar and marshmallows soft and moist by storing them in the bread box.

Mrs. T. K. says: Sweet potatoes have more natural sweetness than other vegetables. Let them add sugar to your meals.

Mr. M. C. says: Plastic measuring spoons in the medicine cabinet assure the family of accurate doses and at the same time good silver is not being tarnished or stained.

Miss J. J. says: Tart jelly stirred stiffly beaten egg whites makes a frosting of sweet smoothness in a lovely pastel colour.
