WINCHESTER W. I. ARE GUESTS AT WILLIAMSBURG

An interesting meeting with a good attendance was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert McQuaig in Williamsburg, with the President, Mrs. O.L. Worthen in charge After singing the Ode and repeating the Creed in unison, many famous Canadian Women were named in answer to roll call. The minutes and correspondence were read by the secretary, Mrs. W. Lannin, who also gave the Treasurer's report. $5.00 was voted to be sent to the Northern Ontario Fire Fund. The committee on relief reported one family badly in need of clothing. Anyone having underwear or clothing that can be made over for children from 2 to 12 years, boys or girls, also shoes or stockings, is requested to leave them with Mrs. Neil Hutt. Mrs. Rowatt reported that Winchester will have to accept pasteurized milk. Plans were made for the Institute play to be put on December 9th.

CAPTAIN HUGH WILLARD FOUND NOT GUILTY

Captain Hugh J. Willard 47, Prescott ferry boat captain, last Friday afternoon was found not guilty by a supreme court jury at Brockville on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death at Prescott on September 29 of George A. Long, of Merrickville.

Mr. Justice Greene, in discharging the prisoner, said he agreed completely with the verdict, reached after 30 minutes' deliberation. The verdict was announced by Rufus Pryce, jury foreman. The trial commenced Thursday and seven witnesses were called by the Crown. Willard himself was the only defence witness and testified Friday morning.

Addresses to the jury were made by Crown Attorney Harworth Atkinson, of Brockville, and Defence Counsel W.F. Nickle, K.C. of Kingston, who was associated in the defence with A.C. Casselman, K.C., M.P., of Prescott. Then His Lordship delivered his charge.

Trouble Aboard

Evidence was that Long and A. Boyd Corbett, of Merrickville, after drinking beer in Prescott, went over to Ogdensburg on the night of September 29 on the ferryboat and had more to drink in that town. They returned on the last boat for the night and there was some trouble on it.

Long used some abusive language to Captain Willard at the customs building, near the Prescott dock, and was following him. Willard turned around and, in his evidence, swore he took a "cuff" at Long with his open hand. Long had been approaching him with his hands outstretched "as though he was looking for a fight." If he hit him at all it was on Long's fist. The man staggered back and fell against the customs building, receiving head injuries which caused his death the following day.

Charge to the Jury

In his charge to the jury, His Lordship said manslaughter was the unlawful killing of a human being without intending to kill such person. If a man was engaged in an unlawful act and as a result, a human being was killed that was manslaughter.

The question was whether Willard was doing an unlawful act. His Lordship said Long was intoxicated, calling out at the men that they were running away and afraid to fight. Willard claimed Long came at him with his hands in a threatening manner.

The law was that anyone unlawfully assaulted, not having provoked such assault, was justified in repelling force by force if the force was no more than was necessary for self defence and if the force was not meant to cause death or serious injury. There was no suggestion Willard used any force which ordinarily would cause death or serious bodily harm.

Any threatening gesture with fists was assault, he said.

WORTHY GRAND MATRON OF O. E. S. OF ONTARIO VISITS MORRISBURG

One of the outstanding events in the history of Morrisburg Chapter No. 83, O.E.S., took place here in their Chapter Rooms, on Friday evening, November 11th, when the Worthy Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of Ontario, Sister Ethel W. Malcolm of Ingersoll, Ont., paid her official visit to the Chapter. Several other Grand Chapter Officers were also present. The members of Cornwall Chapter were guests of the evening, as were also many members from Brockville, Ottawa and Kingston Chapters.

In the absence of the Conductress Sister Lottie Merkley, D.D.G.M., of District No. 13, introduced and escorted the Grand Officers and other distinguished guests to the East, where they were given Grand Honors and extended a hearty welcome by the Worthy Matron, Sis. Fitszimmons and members of the Morrisburg Chapter.

After the business part of the meeting was concluded, the Worthy Grand Matron Sis. Malcolm, gave a very inspiring address on the work of the order. She was later presented with a pair of marble book ends, by the Associate Matron, Sis. Strader, on behalf of the Chapter to which she fittingly replied.

Among the Grand Chapter officers who spoke during the evening and brought greetings from the Grand Chapter, were: Grand Electa, Sis. Eva Hamilton of Kingston; Associate Grand Patron, Bro. John Barlow of Ottawa, Past Worthy Grand Patron, Bro. Alex Monro of Ottawa; Grand Trustee, Sister Conley of Ottawa; Grand Executive representative, Sis. Florence Eastman of Ottawa; D.D. G.M. of District 14, Sis. May Lafleur of Ottawa; D.D.G.M. of District 13 Sister Lottie Merkley of Iroquois; Past D.D.G.M. Sis. Eva Band of Ottawa.

The Worthy Matrons of Ottawa and Success Chapters from Ottawa, Florence Nightingale of Brockville, and Cornwall Chapter of Cornwall also brought greetings from their respective Chapters.

One minute's silence was observed before closing the Chapter, in honor of our war dead.

The balance of the evening was spent in social enjoyment, a contest being won by Mrs. Brown of Ottawa and two humorous readings rendered by Mrs. Southin of Brockville.

The guests numbering over seventy, were later entertained to a lunch at a local hotel. Bro. Munro of Ottawa proposed the Toast to the King. The toast to Grand Chapter was proposed by Bro. Webb, P.P., of Cornwall Chapter, and was replied to, by the Worthy Grand Matron, Sis. Malcolm. Before dispersing the crowd joined in one large fraternal chain and sang "Auld Lang Syne."

LIQUOR FOUGHT BY ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH

In one of the most violent attacks on alcoholism imaginable, the Roman Catholic Church of Quebec will open a widespread campaign Sunday to stamp it out of the province, it was learned this week. Under the signature of Canada's only Cardinal, a pastoral letter from Jean Marie Rodrigue, in his capacity of Archbishop of Quebec, will be read in every church in the province Sunday, asking all the faithful to join the fight.

"Alcohol," the letter said, "ruins the peace and happiness of the household. It cruelly breaks the bonds of love and devotion which the spouses have linked at the foot of the altar when they swore fidelity to each other. It scandalizes the children and makes the father a contemptible being in their eyes.

"The drinker becomes a brute, his wife a martyr, and his children degenerates."

The letter is also signed by the Archbishop Coadjutor of Montreal, the Archbishop of Ottawa and all the Bishops of the Church in the province including the Bishop of Pembroke.

The campaign will use the press, magazines, radio, the screen and special publications. Members of Catholic organizations in Quebec are commanded to join the fight "from one end of the province to the other."

ARTHUR FLYNN Morrisburg, Ont

"Sportsman Flies High"

by Lawrence Keating

Synopsis

Detective Dan Colwell of the Graber - Vael private detective agency is assigned the job of shadowing lawyer Arthur McDonald whose wife fears gangster enemies are plotting to murder him. McDonald is murdered in spite of Colwell's watchfulness. Dan is hot on their trail and suspects a sinister plot. . . .

CHAPTER VII

"Colwell." He spelled it out. "Thirty minutes from now — and not twenty-five minutes or thirty-five minutes. Thirty!"

Wth a wink he turned to the elevator. But his humor vanished as it carried him upward. The trouble was, he scarcely knew what to expect.

When the door on seven rolled back he went down the carpeted hall, noting the padding exposed in places. It was a cheap, bashy hotel where no one cared much what went on provided it did not bring the police.

Mrs. McDonald admitted him. She wore a slinky black satin gown which showed off her slender, supple figure to best advantage. Her eyes had the look of recent weeping, although not enough to impress him. Colwell stepped in and heard the door close with an ominous click.

"Sit down, Mr. Colwell. As I told you, I've been living under my maiden name of Fane." The girl swept past him to a chair and sank into it. "Take off your coat, won't you?"

Hands Up

He did take off his topcoat and draped it over the chair that held his soft hat. Dan heard hinges squeak behind him. He turned to find a shiny bluish forty-four automatic pointed his way with the hard killer eyes of Lefty Quillen behind the straight barrel.

It gave the detective a series of chills down his spinal column. He got to his feet, watching the man come out of a bedroom. "What is this anyhow?"

"So you know who killed McDonald, eh? Two of them! Well, Colwell, you're done for. Done for, get it? You and that snake of a detective agency boss of yours. I mean Graber!"

The words rumbled from deep in his barrel-like chest. Quillen's face was contorted in hate and his eyes were like the eyes of a little suckling pig Dan remembered from his kid days on an Indiana farm, when the pig was wedged in a fence and the old boar came at it. They were the eyes of a man who could hate and who was afraid. "Stick up your hands!" Lefty snarled.

Dan raised his palms level with his ears. "What's this for? I don't get you. How do you know I —" He fastened accusing eyes on the Fane girl. "You cat!" Colwell cried. "You are not Mrs. McDonald! If you were you would not have this guy here with you! Why," he stammered as if it struck a terrific surprise to him, "you're not Mrs. McDonald! You're a — a fake!"

Quillen's reaction to this was a puzzled look. The puzzlement lifted as he seemed to make a guess, and he sneered. "Catches on fast for a dumb operative!" He stepped behind Dan and after a brief fumbling had the gun from his pocket. "Helen, I guess you put it over on Otto, eh? If it took him in like it took this chump. Hold still!"

"What do you mean about Graber?" Colwell adopted the stupidity pose. "Graber's all right. He always handed me my check every Friday. Why should she pretend . . ." He left off, shaking his head as if thoroughly mystified.

Quillen flung a curse that explained nothing but his hate. "I'll hold this guy. You search him, and don't miss anything!"

She had dropped all pretense that she was the shyster lawyer's widow, and her contempt for Dan was plain in the lift of her shoulder. The girl wore a hard look now and her nails as she poked her hands into his pockets managed to scratch and tear. She was a cat. She glared at Dan as if she would like to rend him limb from limb. Fane was in this mess, plenty.

CHAPTER VIII

All she found on him, was a few keys, a notebook containing nothing much of interest, forty dollars in bills and some small change, and a slip of paper in his vest with his fountain pen.

"That's it! Gimme it!" Quillen snatched at it. He backed away and smoothed the paper. His hard eyes lighted. "This is it — the numbers. This is what we want!" he breathed exultantly. "This dumb dick had not even an idea he was carryin' dynamite around! Why," he cackled. "he might've give it to Graber!"

"You're crazy. Otto's out of town. He's in Ewing, Pennsylvania, or anyhow. on the way. He's off hunting!"

"We Got to Kill Him"

Lefty shot him a pitying look. He sucked air noisily as he thought. "I guess we got to kill him, all right, eh? That's the only way, Helen. Then he can't squawk that you faked Mrs. Mac. Who killed McDonald?" he thrust suddenly at Dan.

Colwell, watching alertly the blue automatic, set his jaw. "Why not ask me who used Soup Catterby's own knife on him in that alley? I can put two and two together as to who did the second job, knowing who did the first!"

Quillen's jagged tobacco-yellowed teeth gleamed wet. "Yeah," he murmured, nodding. "We got to kill you, Colwell. Yeah, we'll do it, too." He glanced at the paper in his hands. "Eight, five, three, dash, six, six, one."

The expression on the man's face slowly changed. Perplexity, he tried to shake off but failed, gave way to suspicion. It grew keener and more bitter. His piggish eyes raised to Colwell. Lefty wet his lips with a quick sweep of his tongue, trying to convince himself that it was all right; that these were the numbers.

The Numbers

"Listen," he said at last, thickly. "When we jerked all the stuff outa Mac's pockets, identification and all that, we got the numbers too. Hell, that's what we were after! I takes a squint at them, see- You don't think —" He left off.

"What, Lefty?" Helen Fane asked. "Think what?"

For answer Quillen stepped nearer to Colwell and struck him a glancing blow on the head with the muzzle of his gun. You rat!" he shrilled. "You got them numbers hid away somewhere! This ain't the paper I dropped on that taxi running board! I kind of remember . . . Yup, the first was seven. The next was — let's see — I guess it was ought. That's it!"

"Listen," he yelled at Dan, and waved his gun as if about to strike again, "you ain't so damned dumb as you act! You switched them numbers, you goat! These ain't the ones were on that slip you must've picked off the running board. Come on, come on, out with 'em! Give me the numbers!" he howled, and he made a pass at Colwell's vest as if to jam his hands into the pockets for another search.

Rubbing the side of his head, hat still stung from the blow, Colwell managed only with the greatest effort to keep control, to maintain his mystified, hurt look. "What do you mean? I threw that slip away. It didn't mean anything to me. Who you hittin'?" he whined.

"Helen! Go through him again. The dirty — He's tryin' to slip us these phoney numbers! Listen," he barked before she could speak, "I got a memory, ain't I? I swear the first was 7. The next was 0." Quillen put a hand to his forehead, half bent at the waist, and concentrated with all his might. Still there was no opportunity for Colwell to grab for his gun even had he been so minded. Quillen straightened. "I know I'm right!"

"What Are They For?"

"What are you waiting for?" he roared at the girl. "Search him! Yank every stitch off! We got to find 'em, don't we?"

"Wait, Lefty. Don't foam at the mouth as if you've gone nuts! Just think a minute," she snapped, not in the least cowed by his thundering. "Think a sec[illegible], will y[illegible] and get the rest of those numbers?" In the meantime she was engaged in turning Colwell's pockets inside out. She found nothing. "Can't you get the rest of them, Lefty?"

He relapsed into a spasm of cursing, and slumped into a chair. "Geez! But I know these ain't the ones. You think he turned them over to Otto Graber?"

Helen Fane, alias McDonald, stared at Colwell.

He said nothing for a moment. "Listen, what I can't figure out is, what of it? I mean the numbers? What are they for?"

Beauty for YOU

The Secrets of Good Looks

by

Barbara Lynn

FASCINATING EYES

It continually surprises me that more girls and women don't "glamorise" their eyes! A pair of bright, sparkling eyes will often transform an otherwise jaded-looking woman into a veritable beauty. We convey fascination through our eyes, so don't take yours for granted!

An eye wash is indispensable, and should be used several times a day, to ensure absolute cleanliness and soothe the eyes. The following solution makes a good one: Add two parts of sodium borate to camphor water to make 100 parts.

Avoid Strain

Never read or sew facing a light, and do not bend over your work. The first causes strain and the latter congestion of the eyes. Whatever you happen to be doing, rest your eyes now and then.

If your eyes get very tired in the evening, an excellent plan is to lie down for a few minutes, with pads of cotton-wool soaked in warm witch hazel, spread across the eyes.

Curly Lashes

Curly lashes are a sign of youth, so each night and morning brush them up and out (with eyes open), using a not-too-soft brush, dipped in eyelash grower or olive oil. You must persevere, though.

You can obtain any of the following helpful leaflets, by sending a 3c stamp for each one required: Eye Beauty; Facial Care; Superfluous Hair; Reducing in Spots; Bust Development; Your Hair; How to Slim; Hand Beauty; Underweight. At the same time, be sure to ask about your own particular beauty problems. Letters will be answered confidentially.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING

Time. — The Ten Commandments were given in 1498 B.C. The Sermon on the Mount was delivered in the summer of A.D. 28. The words recorded from Mark were spoken by our Lord in February or March, A.D. 30; the epistle to the Ephesians was written by Paul probably in A.D. 64.

Place. — The Ten Commandments were given from Mount Sinai. The mountain from which the Sermon on the Mount was given cannot be exactly identified. The words taken from Mark were spoken in Peraea. Ephesus was in the province of Asia, on the eastern shore of the Aegean Sea.

14. Thou shalt not commit adultery. See also Deut. 5: 21; the entire eighteenth chapter of the book of Leviticus; Job 31: 9-12; and a great many passages in the book of Proverbs, especially chapter seven. While the Bible does not explicitly define these various terms, we are properly justified in saying that adultery is a crime possible only when one or the other person is married.

True Marriage

Now, marriage involves, and true marriage rests upon and presupposes, the union of two personalities, the husband and the wife, because of love for each other, not only a physical union, but a union of mind and spirit as well, so that we may speak of marriage as the true completion and fulfillment of human life; and, by God's ordaining in our creation, two become one. But when that cord of love which God ordained should be between two people, one husband and one wife, has been broken, purity has gone, and the foundation of domestic and national life crumbles.

Matt. 5: 27-30. 27. Ye have heard that it was said, Thou shalt not commit adultery: 28. but I say unto you, that every one that looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart. It is through the eye primarily that passion enters; but if the eye be turned away, and the moral purity of the heart expel the intruding movement toward sin, then the law is not broken; on the contrary, it is kept.

Regarding Divorce

Mark 10: 2-12. 2. And there came unto him Pharisees, and asked him, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife? trying him. The question of divorce is discussed in the New Testament in Matt. 5: 31, 32; 19: 3-11; and summarily in Luke 16: 18. The attitude toward divorce at the time of our Lord was an exceedingly loose and careless one.

3. And he answered and said unto them, What did Moses command you? 4. And they said, Moses suffered to write a bill of divorcement, and to put her away. 5. But Jesus said unto them, For your hardness of heart he wrote you this commandment. The reference here is to Deut. 24: 1-3. The Lord does not deny that Moses permitted divorce; command it, he did not.

6. But from the beginning of the creation, Male and female made he them. 7. For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife; 8. and the two shall become one flesh: so that they are no more two, but one flesh. 9. What therefore God hath joined together, let no man put asunder. Our Lord here teaches that marriage is a divine institution, the earliest of all social relationships, the very foundation of all society, and that every marriage, even though God is not recognized, if it be a true marriage, is a union approved by God and sealed by God, and no man has a right to break this union.

10. And in the house the disciples asked him again of this matter. 11. And he saith unto them, Whosoever shall put away his wife, and marry another, committeth adultery against her: 12. and if she herself shall put away her husband, and marry another, she committeth adultery. At all periods of the history of Christian teaching differences of opinion have existed within the church as to the practical application of Jesus' words concerning adultery, divorce, and remarriage.

Mark 10: 13-16. And they were bringing unto him little children, that he should touch them: and the disciples rebuked them. 14. But when Jesus saw it, he was moved with indigation, and said unto them, Suffer the little children to come unto me; forbid them not: for to such belongeth the kingdom of God. 15. Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall in no wise enter therein. 16. And he took them in his arms, and blessed them, laying his hands upon them.

All Christ's servants must be as dependent and as trustful as children are.

Choice of 160 Kinds of Fish

Available for Canadian and American Tables — Harvested from Waters of North America

A variety of 160 different kinds of fish is available for Canadian or American housewives, according to Frank T. Bell, United States Commissioner of Fisheries.

"More than 160 different kinds of fish and shellfish are harvested from the waters of North America each year," he says. "If that number doesn't offer variety enough, consider that most products of the sea and inland waters can be served in many different ways besides the familiar baked or broiled fish—in salads, steaming chowders, or appetizing hors d'oeuvres.

By drawing on the sea, lakes and rivers for food the housewife is doing her family a good turn, says Commissioner Bell. Recent studies on the food value of fish had shown the enormous reserves of vitamins, proteins and essential minerals contained in fishery products.

"We Can't Stay Out"

Canadian neutrality in the event of Great Britain entering a major war would be an impossibility, declared Senator William A. Griesbach, of Edmonton, who is now in London, England, en route home from the British Commonwealth Relations Conference at Sydney, Australia.

Collection Plate Passed In Reverse

The plate was "passed in reverse" at the First Methodist Church, Walton, N.Y., last Sunday, and Rev. Grant Robinson, who inaugurated the plan, termed it a "great success".

The members of the congregation took one dollar each from the plate instead of putting something on it. About 100 were at the church.

Mr. Robinson, who has been pastor for 11 years, explained it this way:

"Each person will invest the dollar in any way he believes may be profitable and will, after six weeks, return the dollar and the profit to the church."

This Year's Wheat Makes Good Flour

At Least Equal, and Some Kinds Are Better, Than In 1937

Milling and baking quality of Western Canada's 1938 wheat crop is at least equal, if not superior, to that of a year ago, states the annual wheat quality report of the Canadian Board of Grain Commissioners.

Flour yields of this year's crop are slightly higher than 1937 samples despite lower weight per bushel. This is due, the report said, to presence of Thatcher wheat in many grades, a variety with high flour-yielding capacity.

Comparing baking characteristics of the new crop average samples with those of the corresponding year, the report said that when baked by themselves new-crop No. 1 Hard, No. 1 Northern and No. 5 wheat are approximately equal. Nos. 2, 3 and 4 Northern and special wheat grades this year are definitely superior, and Garnet grades inferior to 1937.

Blending values—ability to impart strength to a weaker mix—show that 1938 Northern and special wheats appear to be fully equal and possibly superior to last year's samples.

Mine Output Hits All-Time Record

Higher Volume of Minerals, Metals Produced in Canada This Year Than Ever Before In Dominion's History

Canada, in 1938, will produce, in volume, more metals and minerals than in any year of the Dominion's history. It is estimated that the value of mine output will exceed $425,000,000 this year.

This is not an all-time dollar record, falling five per cent. short of the $457,000,000 figures of 1937. But the fact remains that volume of the production is now at unprecedented level. The reason for decline in 1938 value lies in the prices of copper, lead and zinc which have been far below the more normal average of 1937. The prospect is for rising prices for these metals, for an increased production of gold, petroleum, asbestos, copper, nickel, lead, zinc, platinum metals, silver, construction minerals and the rarer metallics.

Geared To Tremendous Activity

Mineral production in this country is now so closely allied with general Canadian prosperity that an outline of what is being accomplished and what can be anticipated is valuable. The facts are very cheering. The country is now geared to an unprecedented capacity for the production of precious and non-ferrous base metals, of fuels and structural materials. Moreover, the mining camps are increasing in number, spreading far out into the hinterland, creating new business, opening new fields adding thousands to the payrolls annually.

Death Threat

A Kansas City mother of a 12-year-old boy received this letter: "If you don't treat your son better, he'll go away and be returned to you in a kasket." Detective Edward Hayes traced the threat to an 11-year-old blonde, with whom the boy had been forbidden to go roller skating.

Dominions Are Well Informed

Since the beginning of this year 398 circular telegrams on foreign affairs have been sent to the Dominions, 150 of them during Septperial conferences, the Dominion Governments are kept constantly informed by telegraph of the information of the disposal of His Majesty's Government as well as on His Majesty's Government's policy regarding foreign affairs."

Draws Power From Onions

Robert Hazelton of East York, 85 this month, believes in onions there is strength.

Veteran of the Riel Rebellion, former Northwest Mounted Police officer and apothecary he says the best prescription for longevity is long walks and plenty of onions. So to celebrate his birthday he took a long jaunt and wound up with an extra helping of onions.

HONOR WAR DEAD

The unsung heroes of the World War, the soldiers out of uniform, were honored on the Dan Harding's Wife program on Armistice Day, Friday, November 11, at 12.00 noon, EST, over the NBC-Red Network. This tribute, given on the program last year, was repeated as a result of thousands of requests. Dan Harding's Wife (Isabel Randolph) tells her twin children, Donna and Dean (Loretta Poynton and Merrill Fugit) the story of what happened on Armistice Day 1918. In a flashback, Dan Harding (Bob Griffin) returned to tell the children what took place in the hectic days before the signing of the armistice.

COMPLIMENTS

The CBC deserve compliments from all the listening public for the splendid production of Shakesperian plays being presented at 9 p.m. EST Sunday nights. Walter Huston certainly was a great credit to Canadian born actors for the marvellous presentation he gave, of his part in "Othello."

STARVE TO SCINTILLATE

Julia Sanderson and Frank Crumit never eat before their Battle of the Sexes broadcasts on NBC. They find they are more alert if they starve a little, and they also enjoy their dinner more thoroughly after the program.

RARE RELICS

Among the rare relics in the library of Dr. Frank Black, NBC's general music director, are a first printing of the Kreutzer Sonata, a first edition of Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsodies for Piano, original scores of Wagner's "Nibelungen Ring" and full scores of Gluck's operas printed in 1774 from wood cuts and a Lutheran hymnal dated 1784.

EASY SHORT-WAVE TUNING

Short-wave reception is becoming more popular ever day, due to devoting individual dials for each short-wave channel as offered by the new "Extra Value" 1939 Rogers radio models. Whereas in previous years, only about three-quarters-of-an-inch was devoted to each short-wave band, each now has been spread out to 9½ inches wide, making short-wave tuning as simple as long-wave tuning.

POP — A Booming Start

News And Intormation For The Busy Farmer

Furnished by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Current Crop Report

Fall plowing has been in swing throughout the province, but lack of moisture in many localities has made the procedure difficult. Pasture has also become quite short in many districts, necessitating considerable stable feeding, while a shortage of water is also reported. The bright, dry weather of October and early November, however, has facilitated the harvest of root crops and the accomplishment of other tasks. The warm weather though, has interfered with satisfactory vegetable storage to some extent. There are also numerous complaints of weevil injury to stored grains.

Guelph Winter Fair Has Big Entry List

Officials of the Guelph Winter Fair from President Dr. W.J.R. Fowler down , are more than enthusiastic over prospects for this year's show as entries continue to pour into the office of Secretary L. E. Oneill, Parliament Buildings, Toronto. The Guelph fair, known all over Ontario as "The Farmers' Show, is well and truly named. Here you will find the cream of Ontario horses, cattle, sheep swine, seed and poultry under one roof. Here is where farmer meets farmer in a warm and friendly atmosphere as they watch the judging of the various classes in the large arena.

Horses are featured at Guelph, where there are no less than 110 classes for the "Farmers' Friend." There are 47 classes for cattle; 72 for sheep; 26 for swine; 40 for seed and grain and 193 for poultry.

Each evening of the fair is featured by a light horse show. It is an increasingly popular attraction.

Don't forget the dates, Nov. 29, 30 and Dec. 1. Guelph Fair is a pre-Christmas treat every farmer and his family should enjoy.

British Apple Market Stronger

"The market for fresh apples in the United Kingdom appears to be in a more healthy condition than for some time. There is a decided improvement in demand, the downward trend in values has been checked, and prices are on the up grade." The above information is contained in a report received from the Department of Trade and Commerce from W.B. Gornall, Canadian Fruit Trade Commissioner in London. Mr. Gornall further reports that supplies of English apples are now quite light, and the movement from the United States is below the volume prevailing at this time last season. "These factors" he states, "indicate that the market may be able to absorb the present movement from Canada without difficulty and at satisfactory price levels." While Canadian shipments from September 1st to October 18th showed an increase of about 21 per cent those from the United States have declined about 14 per cent.

English culinary varieties of apple are reported to be not of the best keeping quality and few, if any are being stored for later sale. This fact probably accounts for the quantity at present on offer, but once they are disposed of, the market will be in a position to absorb the Canadian shipments readily.

SEED SHOW AT ROYAL

At the 1938 Royal Winter Fair, which opened in Toronto on November 15th, and continues through to the 23rd, a larger and more elaborate Seed Show promises to be not only an interesting, but an exciting feature, due to the increased number of entries over previous years, and the consequent keener competition. Those responsible for this Seed Show appreciate that good sed is not only the basis but the recessity of good agriculture in all its branches.

Already there is considerable speculation among some of the competitors as to who will be this year's Canadian Wheat Champion. It is possible that a new winner may take the crown. With regard to close competition in the championships, the seed taking the first places and championships in the alfalfa, late oats, barley, and potato classes will have to be very good, and judging from the entries a real struggle for first place winners will take jlace.

A specia feature of the Seed Show which was introduced this year, is the analyzing of small seeds for impurities right in the show space and all the factors which enter into the placing of awards will be done and the genera public may see the judges actually placing the prize winners.

The prizes are distributed as follows: wheat, 1555 prizes; oats, 120; barley, 110, miscellaneous crop seeds 120; potatoes, 80; corn, 102; alfalfa clover and grasses 155; total, 850 prizes. These figures do not include Boys' and Gidls' Club exhibit sections which form a part of the Seed Show display, the prizes offered are: wheat 35 prizes; oats, 32, barley, 20, potatoes, 60; and corn 30; total 167.

The Seed and Grain Show at the Royal Agricultural Fair is filling a distinct place in the Dominion. It's viewpoint and scope, which cannot be obtained at any other Canadian seed show, is nationa and represents a cross-section of the best seeds and grains grown in Canada.

Farm Interests Enlarged at the Royal Winter Fair

The Royal Winter Fair at Toronto which opened on Tuesday, November 15th, to run through the 23rd, has a program of greater variety in farm activities, larger prize lists, and wider scope generally than at any Fair in its 17 year history.

In commercial and breeding horses beef and dairy cattle, sheep, and in swine, there promises to be larger entries than in 1937 and a good representation of American stables and herds is already assured. The prairie provinces, "coming back" with a large wheat and grain crop, are sending more stock than at any time since 1934, probably running to 35 or 40 railway cars. Distribution of exhibits among the three western provinces is also more even than at any previous time. Changes and improvements have been made in the judging schedules and in the acommodation.

A much enlarged seed and grain show is listed with the hope that the fine condition of the crops will permit the exhibits this year to measure up to the high ideals of its promoters for making this feature of the Royal Winter Fair a leader on this continent. Large entries have come in from almost every province.

In the poultry division the working farmer and the small producer of eggs and poultry will find their needs catered for in the vast exhibit by the combined poultry industry, Dominion Department of Agriculture, and manufacturers of equipment. This is a novel feature of the Fair this year and in itself should be well worth a visit to Toronto from any part of Ontario.

The swine position appears to be getting brighter and pure bred breeders are enthusiastic about prospects this winter. They are, therefore, showing at the Royal to the limit of their pens. In sheep also, the steady increase in lamb consumption throughout Canada and the widened market has encouraged sheep breeders to larger representation in the 10 breeds that have featured the Royal exhibit for sveral years past.

As there are altogether 15,000 head of livestock, including poultry, turkeys, ducks, geese, small pet stock (as well as 600 outstanding dogs and 300 of Canada's best cats) the Fair gives every farmer a chance of seeing very much in the 25-acre space it covers.

CUTTING OUR OWN THROAT—A startling statement was made last week in Toronto by the China correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, H. J. Timperley: "The British Empire is slowly cutting its own throat, and Canada seems to have a good firm grip on the knife."

Mr. Timperley who has been 15 years in the Orient explains that one of Japan's main objectives at the present is to undermine the British and U.S. positions in China. "Carefully worked out figures show that during 1937 Japan got 81 per cent. of her essential war supplies from the United States, the British Empire and the Dutch East Indies. Canada's share has been notably important. The Dominion has contributed nickel, aluminum, lead, zinc, scrap iron and wood pulp (used in making high explosives). Thus the British Empire has been indirectly helping to undermine its own position."

SLOW DRIVERS—It isn't a free country any more. You have to drive fast on Ontario's highways whether you like it or not. At a meeting of the Ontario Motor League and the Ontario Safety League last week, slow drivers were scored as the greatest menace on our public roads, worse than drunks, worse than speed maniacs. And there are going to be more convictions for this type of driving henceforth, the Premier of our Province announces.

Here we should like to interpose a suggestion. Why not have all our trunk highways built on the conveyor style (like the moving sidewalks at the Paris Exposition in 1908)? Every car would then have to move at the same speed; you could watch the scenery without giving any attention to the driving, much; and think of the saving on tires, gasoline, oil!

WAR IN 1941—Detailed maps and charts circulated throughout the world by Nazi propagandists reveal that Germany and Italy already have planned how they will divide up Europe. The first group of maps shows Germany in the spring of 1938 after the absorption of Austria; the autumn of 1938, showing the "taking over" of Czechoslovakia, and Hungary, intended to be No. 1 victim of Nazi expansion for 1939. Second set of maps shows Poland coming in during the latter part of next year, and during 1940, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Bulgaria.

The year of the big war seemingly will be 1931. In that year, according to the third group of maps, Germany is to make a real drive to both east and west, absorbing Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland and Northern France. At the same time the Nazi armies will thrust down through Poland and Rumania, taking all of European Russia south of Moscow to the Caspian Sea, including the great south Russian oilfields.

A final large map shows Europe of 1948 under the dominance of the Rome-Berlin axis. Italy is to get Spain, southeastern France, Palestine, Albania, Greece and the entire north African coast.

And Hitler and Mussolini mean their joint dream to come true.

THE WEEK'S QUESTION—Did October make a record for warm weather in Ontario this year? Answer: Although the mean temperature for the month was 10 degrees above normal, 1900 has 1938 beat. The average temperature for October of that year was 55.7 or 13.2 degrees above normal.

Mistakes Many Parents Make

Common Errors in Deaing With Children Are Picked Out By Child Specialists

Common mistakes of parents in dealing with their children were shown to 500 child specialists in convention at New York last week, devoted to discovering facts of the child psychology, they found that when little Robert slaps his sister, throws toys at his mother and has temper fits, it usually is the fault of his parents. Often, parents will neglect an older child to concentrate attention on the younger child.

Need Personal Attention

Parents too often, try to mold their children's lives into a special pattern with serious results, because often the child may have no aptitude for the chosen profession.

Children need personal attention. Nothing can ever substitute for that. The depression, instead of being a calamity to children in the wealthy homes, turned out to be a godsend. Maids were discharged. Mother took over the nursery. She no longer had engagements every evening. She had more time for her children.

Ontario's Youngest Bride and Groom

One of the youngest marriages to be registered in Ontario is the marriage of Donald Hewitt, 17-year-old mattress maker and Dolly Humphrey, 14, who were wed in Bothwell recently. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Humphrey, parents of the bride, consented to the marriage.

Technique Of Duck Carving

Here Are Five Pointers To Sharpen It Up — Serve On Large Platter and Be Sure Knife Is Like a Razor

Can your husband carve one? That's a very personal question, yet it must be answered. If there is any doubt, leave this article on his dresser and let masculine pride take its course.

(1) The carving knife must be razor sharp. To make doubly sure, give it a last minute sharpening at table just before carving.

(2) Use a large platter for the roast duck. There must be room on it for the pieces as they are cut. Serve the gravy in a separate bowl.

(3) Press fork firmly into breast of duck, holding it there with the left hand. Place knife between the body and upper thigh joint, and cut down sharply to sever the tendons and make a clean break. If you do serve a piece of leg meat to each person, cut each of the drumsticks in two diagonal slices. (The neck and short wings have been cut off before roasting, because there is no meat on them.)

(4) With the duck still on its back, cut down through the centre of the breast bone. Cut each half of the breast in three portions. And carve diagonally not straight down. Do not remove the breast meat from the bone. Cut right through the breast bone, leaving the bone itself with the serving of meat. However, if you prefer to serve the breast without the bone, carve it in thick slices.

Ontario Holstein Shatters Records

Troy Cow Produces 25,600 Pounds Milk In Year —World's Champion

Regasborne Alice Alcartra, three-year-old Holstein-Friesian heifer on the farm of Richard Sager, Troy, Ontario, had a brim-ful pail of rich milk last week to complete a 356-day record of performances test on twice-a-day milking.

Alice shattered six Canadian and United States records. With total production of about 25,600 pounds of milk in one year and butterfat test of 3.6 per cent., the champion eclipsed the high mark for her own breed, held by a cow in the herd of Elliott Brothers, Woodstock. The farm is 15 miles west of Hamilton.

LIGHT-HEADED ARE WORSE

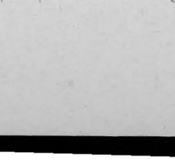

Based on tests among 1,238 motorists, half of them with light eyes and half dark, two American investigators have found that the light-eyed motorists have poorer vision at night and are more sensitive to glare than drivers with dark eyes. Our view is that light-headed drivers are a greater source of danger than light-eyed. —St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Paris Introduces Longer Waistline

New Silhouette Is Seen In Mid-season Collections

PARIS, — Evening gowns with full skirts mounted at hipline on long princess corsages are differently interpreted by Molyneux, Alix and others and they hint definitely at longer waistlines for evening while day-time clothes in many collections seem slightly longer waisted.

Even Schiaparelli, so long an advocate of high waists, shows a very smart dinner dress with fold of fabric around the hip tops, while blouses to couple with suits finish over the skirt giving longer effect, a style she introduced last season in dinner clothes.

Chanel in her midseason collection develops further the silhouby contrast to the nipped-in waist she sponsored in August so that by contrast to the nippel-in waist measure hips spring into rounded outline just below it. The waistline is placed low, giving a long, slim diaphragm both for day and evening.

NAMES ON MAIL BOXES

On different occasions in this column in past years we have urged farmers on rural routes to have their names plainly painted on their mail boxes. A farmer subscriber in this office recently urged us to advocate again that this be done. They say that advertising pays and this is one way the farmer can advertise. Our friend pointed out that in the Brodhagen district every farmer has his name plainly printed on the box. He also stated that if roofing pitch is used instead of paint it will last much longer and is easy to use. Why not have the Listowel district follow the good example of the Brodhagen farmers?—Listowel Banner.

Canadian Cancer Research Lauded

Head of U. S. Control Group Urges Freedom of Research

Dr. C. C. Little, of New York, general director of the American Association for the Control of Cancer, praised the use made of the King George V Jubilee Cancer Fund and the attitude of the Canadian people in combating the disease in an address last week before the Ottawa branch of the Health League of Canada.

Experimentation on Animals

Dr. Little said he was greatly encouraged by facilities he had seen in Toronto and Ottawa for fighting the disease.

He urged that researchers be allowed to continue experiments on animals. "We must have complete freedom of research. Somewhere there is an unbalance of the body, a discrepancy between growth and repair and the new biology, chemistry and physics are men's weapons on preventing this."

HEARTBURN KEPT HIM AWAKE

Afraid to Eat Square Meal

What a worry he must have been to his wife! No food agreed with him. Acid indigestion made him positively wretched. In this letter, his wife tells how he got welcome relief:—

"My husband developed a wretched form of gastric acidity," she writes. "Meals were a misery to him. He often could not sleep for heartburn. Business kept him from home a great deal, but when he did get a spell at home, I gave him Kruschen Salts. I was amazed at the results. That weary look left his face, and his indigestion gradually disappeared. It is a treat to hear him say, 'I'm hungry.' It seems too good to be true." — (Mrs.) K.M.E.

The numerous salts in Kruschen help to promote a natural flow of the digestive and other vital juices of the body. Soon after you start on Kruschen, you will find that you are able to enjoy your food without distressing after-effects. And as you persevere with the "little daily dose," you will see that Kruschen brings glorious relief.

Commercial salt production in Canada during the first seven months of 1938 totalled 139,376 tons compared with 134,902 tons in the corresponding period of 1937.

WONDERLAND OF OZ

By L. Frank Baum

"Why, we use the new School Pills, made by the Wizard. These pills are very effective, and they save a lot of time. Please step this way and I will show you our Laboratory of Learning." He led them to a room in the building where many large bottles were standing in rows upon shelves. "These are the Music Pills," said the Professor, taking down one of the bottles. "One at night is equal to 4 hours of study."

"Here are the Geography Pills—one at night and one in the morning. In this next bottle are the Latin Pills—one three times a day. Then we have the Grammar Pills—one before each meal—and the Spelling Pills, which are taken whenever needed." "Your scholars must have to take a lot of pills," remarked Dorothy, thoughtfully, "How do they take them, in applesauce?"

"No, my dear. They are sugar coated and are quickly and easily swallowed. I believe that all of the students would rather take the pills than study in the ordinary way, and certainly the pills are a more effective method. You see, until these School Pills were invented, we wasted a lot of time in study that may now be better employed in practicing athletics . . . a far more important thing."

"Seems to me the pills are a good thing," said Uncle Henry, who remembered how it used to make his head ache, as a boy, to study arithmetic. "They are, sir," declared the Woggle-Bug, earnestly. "They give us an advantage over all other colleges, because with no loss of time our boys learn Greek and Latin, mathematics and geography, grammar and literature. You see" . . . he broke off suddenly for Toto was behaving queerly.

HAVE YOU HEARD

Strong Men!

God give us men!
A time like this demands
Strong minds, great hearts, true faith
And ready hands;
Men whom the lust of office does not kill;
Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy;
Men who possess opinions and a will;
Men who have honor; men who will not lie.

Salesmanship is a great art:

Mrs. Brown (to grocery clerk)—"Can you pick me a melon that will be just right for breakfast in the morning?"

Quick Clerk — "I surely can. What time?"

Edith — "Don't you ever get Johnnie and Bill confused?"

Ruth — "Yes, mother, I get Johnnie confused one night and Bill the next."

Speaking of pioneer hardships, many people yet living can remember when they toasted their bread on a fork over the fire, and even had to cut the slices themselves.

"How do you like this shaving soap?" asked the talkative barber.

The submerged customer replied, faintly: "Excellent. You must come and have lunch with me sometime."

Said the circus proprietor to the lion tamer: "What do you mean by going off to dinner and leaving the cage unfastened? Anybody might have nipped in and taken the lion!"

"How did George break his leg?"

"Well, do you see those steps over there?"

"Yes."

"George didn't."

Toronto Baby Rated Genius

Eighteen-months-old Lillian May Bobson of Toronto is a claimant to the title of infant prodigy. Dr. Alan Brown, Toronto child specialist says the child "is definitely in the genius class."

Lillian, brown-eyed daughter of Ukrainian parents, last week gave an example of her skill by spelling out each letter of a front-page newspapre headline with clearness and confidence. She named a dozen objects in English and Ukrainian without a mistake.

Her first interest in the English alphabet came when she asked about the letters on a set of building blocks. Her mother named the letters and was surprised a few days later to hear Lillian repeating them with perfect accuracy.

Within a month the baby knew the English alphabet and now picks them out with unfailing accuracy no matter where they are.

Dr. Brown says such intelligence in a child of 18 months was "very unusual."

Scrumptious Scorpions

Diyarbekir, near Istanbul (Turkey), was troubled for years by a plague of scorpions. Tahir Baba came along, began to scoop up scorpions and eat them. Said Tahir: "They taste like shrimps."

Husband Gives Up Cave

Mrs. Anne Thavis who last week married Alfred Staples, Collingwood's "Blue Mountain" hermit. She has persuaded her husband to stop living in a cave where he ate berries, rabbits, vegetables.

Farm Column

(Conducted by Professor Henry G. Bell with the co-operation of the various departments of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.)

1. Q.—Some of my neighbours have been asking a lot of questions since you grew the oats and barley plots in the county last summer, and I am going to pass the questions on to you.

"What do you think are the best kind of oats for our conditions in Ontario?"—J. W., Durham Co.

A.—Modern investigation of crop varieties indicates the impossibility of naming one variety of our standard crops as the best for all conditions. In co-operation with other institutions, the Field Husbandry Department of the O. A. C. is dividing the province into climatic and soil zones for which different varieties appear to be specially suited. According to tests conducted in your own locality, this year, Erban Oat seems to be outstandingly superior to Alaska, Banner or O. A. C. 72 for your section.

2. Q.—Will fertilizers increase the weight of the bushel of grain?—J. W., Durham Co.

A.—Fertilizers will distinctly increase weight per measured bushel of grain. In tests on your own farm, the maximum increase this year is 3.5 lbs. per bushel, and the minimum increase about 1 lb. per bushel.

3. Q.—"Which of the oats made the most grain feed to the acre?"—J. W., Durham Co.

A.—The Field Husbandry Dept. publishes a five year average per cent. hull of the oat varieties tested on your farm this fall as follows:

Alaska—27.3 per cent. hull.
Erban—29.8 per cent. hull.
Banner—32 per cent. hull.
O.A.C. 72—29.4 per cent. hull.

It is clear that the variety which gave the largest yield of comparatively low per cent. hull, is the one that will produce the largest amount of actual feed per acre. This is Erban oats which yielded as an average unfertilized 67.8 bus. per acre, and fertilized 76.2 bushels per acre. If you multiply the yield per acre by the weight per bushel, which was 32 lbs., and subtract the weight of hull, which was 27.8 per cent. you will have the approximate weight of grain feed produced. Of course, the oat hulls contain a small amount of feed in addition.

4. Q.—"Why did you choose 0-12-010 fertilizer for our field?"—J. W., Durham Co.

A.—Actual soil test of samples from your oat field showed it to be Medium in Available Nitrogen; Low in Phosphate and Low in Potash. For this reason we chose 0-12-10 as the fertilizer for oats, and applied it at 150 lbs. per acre.

The recent discovery that nicotinic acid, a chemical found in liver, red meats and fish, is a specific cure for pellagra, poor man's disease of malnutrition, is also revealing secrets of fundamental life processes and opening up new vistas toward the understanding of the nature and treatment of other serious diseases.

Nicotinic acid, a constituent of the vitamin B-2 complex, has been known for more than sixty years as a common chemical constituent of nicotine.

PAIN OFTEN "FALSE ALARM"

A belief that physical pain often is a "false alarm" when taken as an indication of deep-seated affliction was advanced last week before the United States chapter of the International College of Surgeons.

Careful investigation and the use of local anaesthesia often reveals that what appears to be pain springing from a major ailment is in reality only superficial. It follows that proper determination of the pain's source would obviate many operations performed because of faulty diagnosis.

LAST TO GO TO SLEEP

Medical theory has held that unconsciousness begins in the brain of human beings. But experiments show that in white rats it develops just the opposite way, near the tail and creeps toward the head.

The head is the last part to lose its sensitivity to touch and the eyes close only after the rest of the body is soundly asleep and unresponsive even to pinching.

After the rat experiments are completed it is proposed to carry on the experiments with higher animals.

Trees Give Birds Food and Shelter

Jack Miner Provides Lots Of Red Cedars On His Sanctuary at Kingsville

By Lance Connery

Jack Miner is a keen student of the feeding habits of the birds on his sanctuary at Kingsville.

Ample food is provided for them, much of it through trees like the red cedar. Its blue berry has a seed highly nourishing to the feathered feeders.

In addition to their food value for the birds, the trees with their golden foliage are a definite attraction to the many human visitors to the bird refuge. Their variety is such that every kind of bird is found on the sanctuary which crosses the Southern Ontario area.

BOYS' TOWN

II—Meeting the Boys

"Any poker players in this mob?"

Whitey is introduced to everyone in the Town and immediately takes a dislike to Mo Kahn (Sidney Miller) whom he accuses of poking his big nose into things. Whitey sneers at everything, particularly at the appealing statue of the boy at the gates who represents the generous spirit of the place. He hasn't the heart to be mean to little Pee-wee but simply ignores him.

"I'll give you odds I leave."

Father Flanagan calls Whitey into his office that afternoon and casually asks him what he thinks of the place. Whitey tells him flatly that he's on his way any time. Father Flanagan challenges the statement, informing Whitey that he has a hunch he's going to want to stay there. But secretly he is uneasy. If Whitey should go, he will be the first boy that he has ever lost.

"Nicest teeth I've ever seen, Pee-wee."

Dave Morris (Henry Hull) Father Flanagan's friend and financial adviser, now enters the office with the banker, Burton. There's a lot of red ink being carried on the statement and an accounting is called for. But Father Flanagan takes care of the important matters first, such as seeing whether Pee-wee has really brushed his teeth so that he can have his daily ration of candy.

"This stuff is baby food."

Whitey is walking toward the big gates when Father Flanagan sees him from his office window. He thinks fast. Suddenly he runs out, and orders the dinner gong to be rung an hour earlier. And so it is that Whitey's empty stomach rather than any liking for the place brings him back. He is a little annoyed though with the milk. He's been used to beer. Read the next dramatic episode.

News of Death Mackintosh Chief In Scotland, Finds Echo at Grenville Medico's Hearth.

(The Prescott Journal)

The death on Monday last at Inverness, Scotland, of Alfred Donald Mackintosh, "The Chief" to hundreds of clan descendants throughout the world and patriarch of a Scottish Confederacy, "Clan Chattan Association" which includes eight individual clans of ancient heritage, brought reverent tribute from all points of the compass.

Its echo was heard in the home of Dr. P.A. McIntosh, of Spencerville, a lineal descendant of this famous figure whose name the popular Grenville County medico bears.

For Dr. McIntosh is not only an active adherent of the Clan Chatton Association and follows the tradition of his forefathers in maintaining a fine herd of Highland cattle, (one of the true loves of a son with heather in his soul), but a year ago was in regular communication with "The Chief" when he secured an urn full of water from Loch Moy in the ancestral acres of Scotland, which was used at the baptism of his grandson in September of 1937, the infant son of Dr. Edward F. and Mrs. MacIntosh of Morrisburg. (Mrs. MacIntosh was the former Minnie MacMillan of Prescott.)

Membeship in the Clan Chattan Confederacy carries with it a close relationship with the ruling Chieftan and Dr. P.A. McIntosh and Mrs. MacIntosh, Dr. Edward of Morrisburg, and Miss Annie, of Spencerville in their trip abroad in 1921, made a pilgrimmage to Moy Hall at Inverness, Scotland, castle of the Chief. They spent some time there but unfortunately missed meeting the Chief as he was abroad himself at the time.

Known as "Mac-An-Troisich" in Gaelic, the Mackintosh was a colonel of the Third Cameron Highlanders during the Great War and has played a prominent role in Highland affairs for more than 50 years. As head of Clan Chattan he nominally ruled an organization of thousands of members throughout the civilized world. This Confedeation dates back to 1609 while the name Mackintosh is traced back to the 11th century when the first general was sent to quell a Scottish rebellion and remained in the Highlands to found the dynasty. His first born was named Mac-in-tosh or Son of the First, and so began the Clan which has such widespread and honourable descendants as bear the name in practically all points of the globe.

In seeking an offering of water from Loch Moy with which to christen his grandson last fall, Dr. P.A. MacIntosh received this letter, dated August 31st:

"Owing to a broken thigh, I have been laid up and unable to answer your letter sooner. First of all, I am very much touched indeed by the true Clan Spirit you showed in asking for some water from Loch Moy. As you know that name is the War Cry of the Clan "Loch Maoidh" and it is a very happy thought indeed of yours, to christen your little grandson with it." Signed "Your Chief"—A. Mackintosh of Mackintosh.

A month later—Sept. 28, 1937 the doctor received another letter from Moy Hall and the Chief as follows:

"I am so glad the water for the baptism arrived in good time. It did me good to think that a Clansman should be christened from the Loch which gives its War Cry to the Clan. By the delightful photographs you have sent me, you would seem to be in a big way in farming and fruit growing. May I congratulate you on the success of your photographs. With my best respects"—Your Chief.

And by this christening with water from Loch Moy, Dr. MacIntosh's grandson carries on the clan tradition and while in the above letter recognized by the Chief as a Clansman, will take an active interest when he becomes of age in Chatton proceedings as does his grandfather now.

REV. DR. F. S. MACKENZIE SPEAKER AT CARDINAL

Anniversary services were held on Sunday last at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Rev. F. Scott Mackenzie, D.D., D.C.L., principal of the Presbyterian College, Montreal, was the special preacher.

After calling atention to the different attitudes of mind, the mind of man who gives no place to God, the mind of man who sees nothing in religion, the mind of man who thinks virtue is a sufficient code to elevate our standard of living and redeem society, he said, these all fail to survive when put to the test, for without God, nothing of permanence is achieved.

At the evening service, the church was well filled and Principal MacKenzie drew a contrast between the persuasion of the centurian and the conviction of Paul.

The choir of St. Andrew's church rendered anthems. As a token of the kindly relationship the United church withdrew their evening service and the minister, Rev. W.W. Jones, took part in the anniversary. A beautiful bouquet was presented by Mrs. MacLeod.

The minister, Rev. Alex R. Gibson expressed his deep appreciation to Principal Mackenzie and the choir for their great help given.

Dinner was served on Monday evening in the basement which was well attended.

Mrs. Arthur Forward, 300 Cooper street, Ottawa, suffered facial cuts and knee injuries when the car, driven by Mr. Forward, was in collision with an auto driven by Robert Tousant of Osgoode Twp. on the highway, one mile west of Winchester Sunday evening. She received medical attention and was later allowed to return to her home at Ottawa. Mr. Forward's auto, which is a new 1939 model, was damaged to the extent of about $200, while Tousant's auto was wrecked beyond repairs. The accident was investigated by Traffic Officer Leslie Throop of Morrisburg, who laid two charges against Tousant, one for not possessing a driver's license and the other for making an improper left-hand turn.

When arraigned before Magistrate John McCormick in police court Monday morning, Tousant was fined $10 and costs on the first charge and $5 and costs on the second. He was given one week to pay the fines or serve 30 days in the counties' jail.

MAY SEEK EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY FOR GUNNING

It is understood that application for executive clemency may be made in behalf of William Gunning, who was sentenced to death last week for the murder of Miss Irene Mott, the daughter of his employer, in Kitley township, and who is now in a cell in Leeds and Grenville counties jail awaiting execution on January 18th next. Basis of the application is expected to be temporary insanity at the time Gunning, employed on the Mott farm, struck down Miss Mott with a hammer as she lay asleep in bed on the morning of July 5 last, when he also inflicted injuries upon her crippled mother who tried to crawl to her daughter's assistance.

Dan Gamble, 25, of Russell, Ont. was fined $10 and costs and had his driving license suspended for 10 days when he appeared before Magistrate John McCormick in police court at Winchester Monday afternoon, on a charge of reckless driving. The charge was a sequel to an accident that occurred on the highway near Harmony a few days ago, when the car driven by Gamble, collided with one driven by Keith Rolston of Metcalfe. Mexwell Morrow, a passenger in the Gamble car sustained painful lacerations about the face and head. Gamble claimed that dense smoke on the highway blocked his vision at the point where the accident occurred.

A charge of reckless driving against John C. Stalker of Billings Bridge, was dismissed, when the case came up for final disposition Monday. Stalker appeared before the magistrate last week and after hearing the evidence, the court withheld judgement until Monday.
