Briefly

Pair charged

WILLIAMSBURG – Two Cornwall men were charged after a March 8 theft at the Canadian Tire store in Williamsburg. One man, 27, has been charged with theft under $5,000, and another, 30, is charged with theft under $5,000 and breach of recognizance. Court appearances are pending.

Machines stolen

WINCHESTER – Police are investigating the theft of a snowmobile from a Harmony Road property in North Dundas. The yellow Bombardier Mach 1 machine was stolen the evening of March 13. Const. S. Patterson is investigating. On March 8-9, a black and gold Yamaha Phaser snowmobile was stolen from a residence on Moulinette Road in Long Sault. Police said the machine was chained to a balcony, but thieves cut the chain. Const. M. Tereschuk is investigating.

Watch for kids during March Break

WINCHESTER – The March Break is here, and police are reminding motorists that children will be outside and playing this week. Police urge drivers to use caution, especially in small hamlets and park areas.

Bee at Hall

BERWICK – As readers may have guessed, the North Stormont/North Dundas Region of the Spelling Bee of Canada will take place Sunday, March 28 at the Berwick Hall, not the hotel as was erroneously reported in last week's paper. So far, 130 children have registered for the event, up from 100 last year. The event features categories for kids aged six through 15, and sponsors are sought to help with the cost of prize money and trophies. For more information, contact Pat Middleton at 987-5633 or Bob Pitruniak at 448-1108.

Brit pensioners information meeting

ORLEANS – British expatriates living in Canada are invited to attend an information session March 27 in Orleans to hear the latest developments in the fight for indexed pensions from the British government. The meeting is organized by the Canadian Alliance of British Pensioners and takes place at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, 800 Taylor Creek Drive in Orleans beginning at 11 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. For more information call (613) 729-9184 or (613) 692-4800.

Car theft

MORRISBURG – A North Dundas man and a Cornwall man face charges after a blue Chevy Tahoe was stolen from Morrisburg the morning of March 9. Upper Canada OPP recovered the car at a residence on Annable Street in Winchester that evening, leading to the charges.

Councillors handy

North Dundas councillors Roger Cole and Gail Parker will hold their monthly constituency visit this Thursday, March 18, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the former Chesterville council chambers. A meeting of the Green Action Gang will take place simultaneously.

Brazen trio hits TD Bank

Greg Hewitt
Record Editor

CHESTERVILLE – An intense manhunt across the district failed to turn up a trio of brazen armed robbers who hit the Chesterville branch of the Toronto Dominion Bank last Wednesday afternoon.

Three masked men stormed the Toronto Dominion Bank branch at Main and Queen streets around 12:15 p.m., one of them armed with a small handgun and another with a pry bar. After several minutes in the building, they fled on foot and headed west along Queen Street with an undisclosed amount of cash.

Police said there were no customers in the bank at the time of the robbery, and none of the staff was injured. A witness told police the robbery may have started around 12:15 p.m., and the 911 call came in from the bank at 12:33 p.m.

Once the call came in, police descended on the area in force. After securing the scene of the robbery, police fanned out, interviewing potential witnesses who were in the vicinity of the bank when the robbery took place, and beginning their search.

Incredibly, another apparently unrelated police matter was unfolding in Chesterville at the exact same time as the robbery. Two police cars began following a vehicle from Morewood on a speeding complaint, and stopped it on Mary Street in Chesterville. OPP Const. Al Lummiss said Thursday criminal charges were laid in connection with that incident, but could not elaborate. While police followed the car into Chesterville, Const. Lummiss hesitated to call it a "chase."

The robbery activated a massive police search across Stormont and Dundas. Less than a half hour after the robbery, marked and unmarked police cruisers were whipping along local highways, looking for the suspects and trying to determine whether a getaway vehicle, possibly a white cube van, was involved.

Reeve Kojak: Longue Sault Public School teacher and South Stormont Reeve Jim Brownell had a close shave Friday, as students Emma Brown and Bradley Duval, with electric shears and safety razors, shaved him bald in front of staff and students. Brownell was one of eight teachers and others who had their beards or heads shaved as part of the school's "Shave the Beard" contest, which through a number of sponsors, raised about $1,500 toward the cost the new curtains for the school's stage. Please see page 9.

WDMH likes province's network plan

Greg Hewitt
Record Editor

WINCHESTER – The networking of hospitals in Winchester and Hawkesbury with The Ottawa Hospital is "a good marriage," says Winchester District Memorial Hospital CEO Joseline Sikorski, as it will create a "patient pathway" for better clinical services between rural and urban communities.

But the hospital is still waiting for an answer about its specific request for funding for day hospital and senior care services, and unlike in the last Health Services Restructuring Commission report there was no mention of bed requirements in this report. Also, there isn't yet any allocation of funding toward the much-needed facility renovations that go along with WDMH's move toward ambulatory (or single-day visit) care.

But as far as the configuration of the network itself, Sikorski was pleased. "For us it seems like a good marriage, a good working relationship," she said, stressing though the hospitals will still be separate entities with their own boards and visions. "It's really about planning for clinical services," she said. "I'm pleased that as far as the document is a planning structure, it's really reflecting everything we had asked for. The unknown is the funding."

The configuration of the network — just three hospitals — is far cosier than what was proposed six months ago, one huge network with member hospitals stretching across eastern Ontario as far west as Deep River.

Green goodies

Chris Campeau and Mathew Robert, both Grade 5 students at St. Mary's School in Chesterville, were among those who served a variety of goodies at the school's annual St. Patrick's Day Tea & Bake Sale Thursday. The event, organized by the School council, featured a light lunch and other goodies, and raised more than $2,000 for items not covered in the school's budget, including school trips. There was also a raffle sponsored by several local businesses.

Councils split on Sens

Greg Hewitt
Record Editor

The high-flying Ottawa Senators are the talk of the NHL, as the team surges toward the top of the league's standings. But the off-ice fortunes of the team are also making headlines, as high taxes threaten to place the team south of the border in the future unless something changes.

And that issue came before the two councils in Dundas County recently, in the form of a resolution from the City of Kanata asking councils to support its call for a fairer tax deal for the Sens.

The Kanata resolution is part of a ground swell of calls for the federal and provincial governments to ease the team's tax crisis.

South Dundas council on Friday morning supported the Kanata resolution, but North Dundas iced it Monday night, voting narrowly to defeat the resolution.

Robbery suspects escape manhunt, Crime Stoppers tips are sought

The canine unit was already in the area, backing up the unrelated incident, but police were unable to use them in the search for the robbery suspects.

The suspects managed to evade the initial dragnet, but the investigation will continue as long as there are leads to follow, said Const. Lummiss. "Certainly we'll have people working on it until all leads are exhausted," he said. "As long as we have leads to follow, there'll be someone out there tracking it down." The investigation has been turned over to the OPP's Crime Unit, which focuses solely on crimes like this.

Const. Lummiss said a plea for information in the case will be issued through Seaway Valley Crime Stoppers, which offers cash rewards for anonymous tips that lead to arrest. The toll-free tips line is 1-800-265-TIPS.

All three suspects are described as "slim." One is about six feet tall, while the other two were around five-foot-six.

TD Bank branch manager Eldon Moss told the Record Thursday that his staff responded correctly to the situation, and confirmed no one was harmed during what was the first-ever robbery at the branch. "We're a close-knit staff and we're all dealing with it together," he said.

Moss also said police responded quickly to the call, and he praised them for the way they dealt with bank staff once they were on the scene. "Police were here quickly and we were really looked after," he said. "They did a super job."

Bank robberies are rare in eastern Ontario, but they do occur. The last one in Chesterville occurred at the Scotiabank, in the late 1980s, and involved a dramatic motorcycle getaway.

The Bank of Montreal in Finch was robbed in late 1997, and a Winchester bank was robbed six or seven years ago. Also, there have been two bank robberies in Alexandria in the past year.

Sens support mixed in Dundas

The Kanata resolution, passed earlier this month, supports federal and provincial action to reduce the team's tax burden, noting the professional hockey industry in Canada "does not receive appropriate support against subsidized foreign competitors."

South Dundas Mayor Johnny Whitteker agreed the team should be supported by the three levels of government. But in North Dundas, it was councillor Alvin Runnalls who expressed concerns about the idea of tax breaks for the team. "I know where people are coming from," he said, "but I don't know where you draw the line on some of this stuff."

But there was support for the idea at the North Dundas council table. "I'm not a hockey fan, but if you don't have the sport, you don't (receive) the taxes," said councillor Dave Sloane. And Mayor Claude Cousineau agreed.

"It'll be thirty-or-so-million in taxes the Canadian government will have to get somewhere else," the mayor said. "They'll get it out of our pockets."

Councillor Keith Fawcett added he feels the problem is the players "are pricing themselves out of the market."

After the short debate, the resolution to support was narrowly defeated. Runnalls had originally asked for a recorded vote, but in the end, settled for the customary show of hands.

The Kanata resolution recognizes the sport as integral to Canadian culture, and contains a petition that reads: "I believe that all Canadian NHL hockey teams should be taxed on an equitable basis as compared with other major industries in Canada. I also believe that all Canadian hockey teams should receive the same support by governments as is provide to other industries that face subsidized foreign competitors."

The Kanata resolution is in response to comments from Ottawa Senators majority owner Rod Bryden, who has said he will have no choice but to move the team to the U.S. in a year or two if his tax situation doesn't improve.

Bryden has said the team's revenues are almost optimized, but still, the tax system — including a 10-per-cent entertainment tax and $2 million a year he must pay for a Hwy. 417 interchange to the Corel Centre — makes hockey unviable in Ottawa.

The Ottawa Senators have revenues of about $30 million a year, but pay about $34.5 million a year in taxes — more than all of the U.S. NHL franchises combined. American governments go easy on sports teams, even as far as building state-of-the-art arenas for them to call home.

Despite their record, which is the second best in the NHL, the Ottawa Senators are the second-lowest-paid team, behind the expansion Nashville Predators. As American teams pay millions less in taxes, that allows them to devote more money to their players' salaries. While the Senators are successful this year, another fear is they'll lose their top players as contracts expire.

WDMH part of network trio

"I think everyone who was rolled into that circumference felt it was unmanageable," Sikorski said.

The East Ottawa Valley Network, as it is called, is one of 18 that were announced last week by the HSRC, which is now dealing with hospitals that fall under the Rural and Northern Health Care Framework.

In a press conference Thursday, Sikorski said the three hospitals will have to sit down soon to begin discussions about what format the network will take. The concept is not a merger, but a means of improving access to services through collaboration on such functions as administrative and support services, common credentialing of medical staff and the development of a shared strategic plan to serve the needs of the network.

The three hospitals in the network must submit their plans to the HSRC by September 20, plans that outline how the hospitals will improve access to services, enhance the quality of services and establish high-quality planning and decision making.

While the designing of a networking plan between the three hospitals will entail a lot of work, Sikorski said the September 20 deadline is reasonable.

The submission is to include "detailed implementation plans that address the type of relationship they will have with their network members..." The plan will outline organizational linkages, long-term structures, sharing strategies and a list of services to be offered at each hospital.

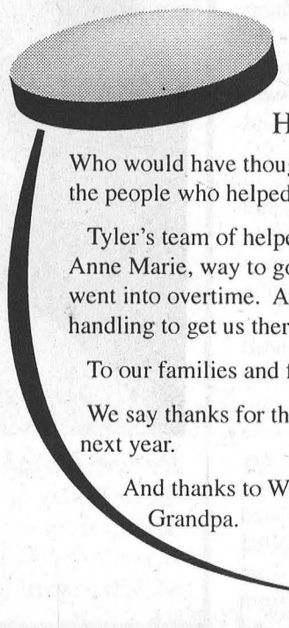
The HSRC expects the network concept for rural and northern hospitals will create stronger linkages to specialized hospitals and improve human resources planning, improve recruitment and retention and create stronger linkages with other local health care providers.

Sikorski said the WDMH board of governors had earlier suggested to the HSRC that the Winchester, Hawkesbury and Ottawa network made sense because of existing clinical referral patterns. WDMH and Hawkesbury already have a so-called transparent partnership arrangement, through which they share payroll services and some information systems, and are now looking at joint purchasing.

Informal clinical contacts between WDMH and The Ottawa Hospital have already been made, but because the latter is less than a year into its amalgamation, no formal clinical linkages have been made.

As for the lack of information on possible funding, Sikorski noted it was the same for the other 87 hospitals in the 18 networks announced last week. Traditionally, renovations identified as necessary because of HSRC directives are funded 70 per cent, while those which are not are funded by the Ministry of Health at 50 cents on the dollar.

But unlike the other hospitals, Winchester and Hawkesbury are the only ones linked to a tertiary care hospital, being one that includes such high-end services as organ transplants. "And I think that's good for the people."



Thank You...

Hockey! The sport Tyler enjoys to play.

Who would have thought it would be the reason we are saying "Thanks". This thank you is for all the people who helped and supported us during Tyler's short shift of illness.

Tyler's team of helpers consisted of the doctors and nurses of CHEO and the coffee girl, Anne Marie, way to go. To Dr. Burke and Lorna and Dr. Slowey for seeing this before it went into overtime. And to the ambulance attendants for doing some dandy stick handling to get us there.

To our families and friends that came to cheer and support Tyler on his speedy recovery.

We say thanks for the end of this game. And are looking forward to the start of next year.

And thanks to Wade Redden, nice try but he is still a Hab's fan, thanks to Grandpa.

Thank You

South Dundas council notes

Sandy Bierworth
Record Staff

Council discusses colour-coded signs

Tourists in South Dundas may soon be able to recognize attractions in the municipality by the colour of their signs if a suggestion by the South Dundas Chamber of Commerce member Don Graham is followed through.

Council agreed in principal during its regular meeting March 12 to Graham's suggestion of using three basic colours to distinguish between tourist attractions in the township.

He suggested the township use a forest green background in their signs to advertise parks and recreation, yellow at the entrances to municipal villages and grey for heritage and historical sites in the township.

Graham presented council with a sample of the proposed colours and pictures of current signs in the municipality, as well as examples of the different fonts that could be used.

Using the colour scheme, Graham said, would help give the township a more uniformed appearance.

He will be returning to one of council's future meetings to provide more details of the location and costs of the proposed signs.

Cycling a path across the township

South Dundas council toyed with the idea of expanding the bike path to Iroquois during its regular meeting Friday.

The path currently runs from the Upper Canada Bird Sanctuary along County Road 2 and into Mariatown, just west of Morrisburg.

Any definite plans for expansion will be made once council is able to get more details about the cost and timeline for the project.

Council donates to SD radio station

South Dundas council has agreed to give $5,000 to CISD FM radio, the station based in Iroquois which will hit South Dundas airwaves this spring.

The Iroquois Amateur Radio Club and organizers of the station provided council with a list of expenses involved in setting up the transmitter atop the Iroquois water tower, including the antenna, transmission line, mast, clamps and generator, and asked council for financial assistance.

The expenses totalled $8,000, just over $2,800 of which were for the generator with an electric start.

Council passed a motion to give the funds under the provision that a portion of it be used toward the purchase of the generator.

Councillor Rowdy Gillard expressed concerns about whether the radio will keep coming up on council's agenda each year in search of funding but fellow councillor Audrey Rooney assured him the station was given a generous $15,000 grant from an individual, and will have a steady income from corporate sponsors and the sale of advertising space on the air. Students at Seaway District High School where the station is located, will also host fundraising events for the radio, she said.

The station will be located on the FM dial at 107.7.

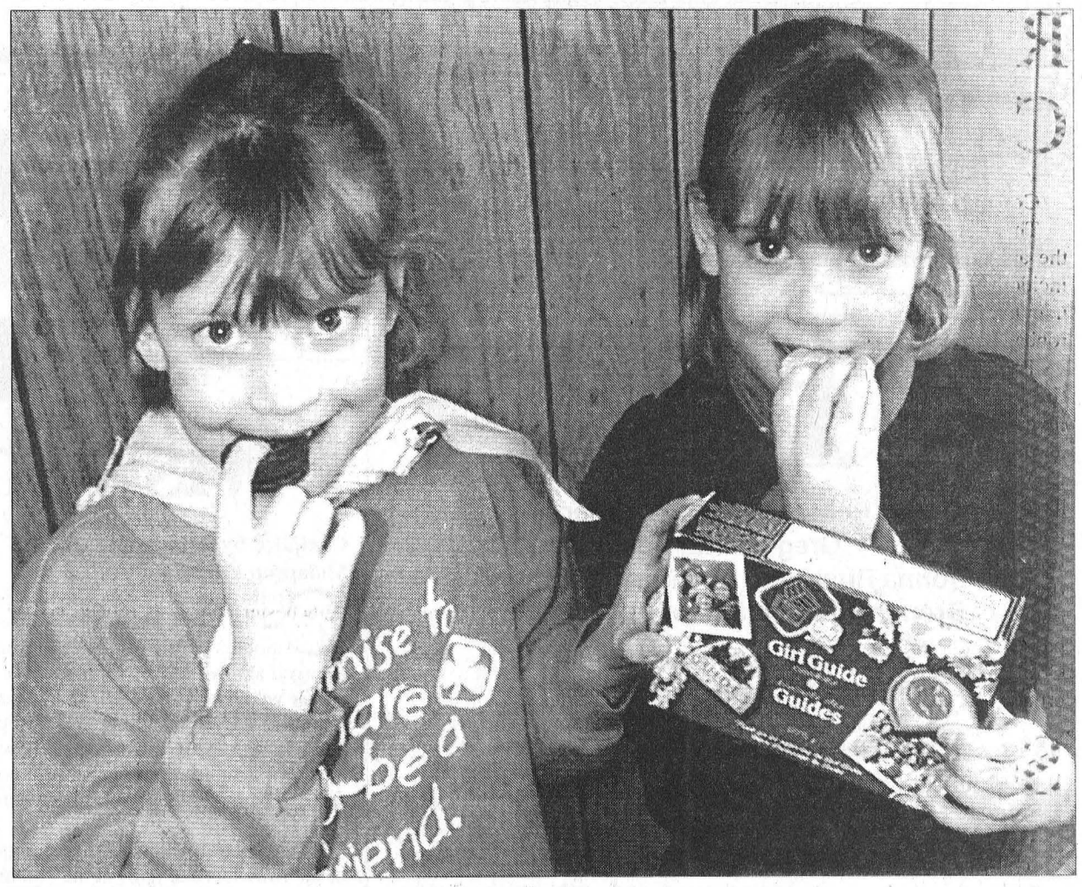
Residents take root of SD greening idea

South Dundas council's recent idea to green up the township has taken root.

Since the announcing that each resident in the municipality could order up to 10 free evergreen trees through the township office, 12,000 seedlings have been ordered, with many residents ordering more than their limit and paying for the extras.

The project is only costing the township $1,200, a small price to pay for a greener environment, Whitteker said.

The idea of offering trees to residents at no cost was tabled about five weeks by Whitteker following a letter to the editor in a local paper concerning the number of trees the township was cutting without replacing. The trees will be available for pickup at the township office at the end of April.



They're back!
Scrumptious Girl Guide Cookies, as tested recently by Spark Madison dePater and Brownie Alexandra dePater, will soon be back for another year. The chocolate and vanilla cream filled cookies are $3 a box and will be sold door-to-door by members of the 1st Chesterville Guides starting April 19. Proceeds benefit local Guiding activities.

Cleary will run in Stormont- Dundas

CORNWALL – Cornwall MPP John Cleary has announced he will seek the new Stormont-Dundas seat at Queen's Park.

Cleary, a Liberal, currently represents Cornwall, Cornwall Township, Charlottenburg Township and Akwesasne. But the provincial riding boundaries will change with the next provincial election, which is expected some time this year. The new provincial ridings will mirror their federal counterparts.

The new Stormont-Dundas provincial riding will take in part of Cleary's current charge, the City of Cornwall. Otherwise, it consists of territory that falls under the current Stormont, Dundas & Glengarry and East Grenville provincial riding held by Conservative MPP and provincial Agriculture Minister Noble Villeneuve.

Cleary, born in Lunenburg, served 15 years in municipal politics before he was elected to the Ontario Provincial Legislature in 1987.

He was reeve of Cornwall Township from 1976 to 1987, and served as warden of Stormont, Dundas & Glengarry in 1983.

Snowmobiler died from natural causes

BERWICK — A man who died while snowmobiling near Berwick last Wednesday evening died of natural causes.

John Ladouceur, 41, was driving his snowmobile toward his home west of Berwick when he died. Police confirmed this week that their investigation and an autopsy have indicated the man suffered a respiratory attack while riding his snowmobile, and that was the cause of his death.

The snowmobile did not strike another snowmobile or any other object, police said.

Man faces charges after police led on chase

LONG SAULT - A 21-year-old Finch-area man faces numerous charges after police were led on a car chase that reached speeds of up to 160 kph last Tuesday afternoon, police said.

An OPP officer on routine patrol noticed a Grey Pontiac Grand Am speeding on Moulinette Road in Long Sault around 12:30 p.m. March 9, but the car failed to stop when police tried to pull it over.

The vehicle turned west on County Road 2 near Upper Canada Road, where it entered the ditch. The driver fled and police, assisted by the canine unit, arrested him on a snowmobile trail shortly before 1 p.m.

The driver, who was the lone occupant of the vehicle, is charged with driving while prohibited and dangerous operation of a motor vehicle.

He is also charged under the Highway Traffic Act with failing to stop for police, driving without a validation tag and failure to wear a seat belt.

The suspect was remanded in custody and faces a bail hearing. No injuries resulted from the incident.

Editorial

What a shame it would be...

Two months ago, when talk of the Ottawa Senators' financial situation resurfaced, the Record noted the many benefits a team like that brings to a region like eastern Ontario. Now, the heat has been turned up a few notches as Senators majority owner Rod Bryden has reiterated his position that he will have to move or sell the team because of the way it's taxed.

A groundswell of public support for a fairer tax deal for the Ottawa Senators is growing, including from the City of Kanata — which collects taxes from the Corel Centre that houses the team. And it's that kind of support that is needed to show the federal and provincial governments that it's not just the team talking. South Dundas council has supported the movement, but North Dundas has not.

Bryden has said publicly he'll move the team south or sell the team to Americans if the situation isn't dealt with. And make no mistake, there are plenty American interests just waiting to snap up our Canadian NHL teams, as opposed to going the onerous expansion route. Selling the Sens to the States would be a done deal in quick order once the decision was made.

Bryden isn't asking for a guaranteed profit, but the creation an environment in which a business like professional hockey is viable. He's asking that the federal government correct what he calls a tax inequity, in which a Canadian business is competing against heavily subsidized American counterparts.

It's hard to be dispassionate when dealing with a subject like this, a pro hockey team in Canada and damn great one at that. But for the purposes of the tax argument, the Senators should be looked at like any other business, one that employs hundreds and pays tens of million in taxes.

Why aren't they afforded the same government grants as high-tech companies, or dare we say agricultural ventures? Is the tax money the team generates — including a 10-per-cent entertainment tax — less valuable than that generated by other sectors of the economy? Of course not. Because they're a sports team, it's hard for some to look past the edge of the rink, or past the players' salaries.

Again, what a shame it would be to kill the goose that lays the golden egg, and to lose at the same time a magic that would never again be matched in eastern Ontario.

Off The Record

I wish that I hadn't said that

Compiled by Robin Morris
Malaprop Editor

Come on, Gentle Reader, admit it: we've all done it. Something's popped out of our mouths before our brain has been fully engaged and while the words are still hanging in the air we wish we could have taken them back. Unlike Oscar Wilde's "I wish I'd said that", you just wish you hadn't said it. And now for some malapropisms from the rich and famous, proving that stupidity is not the special preserve of the stupid.

"Outside of the killings, Washington has one of the lowest crime rates in the country." Mayor Marion Barry, Washington, DC.

"I've never had major knee surgery on any other part of my body." Winston Bennett, University of Kentucky basketball forward.

"I would not live forever, because we should not live forever. Because if we were supposed to live forever, then we would live forever. But we cannot live forever. Which is why I would not live forever." Miss Alabama in the 1994 Miss U.S.A. contest.

"Whenever I watch TV and see those poor starving kids all over the world, I can't help but cry. I mean I'd love to be skinny like that but not with all those flies and death and stuff." Mariah Carey, pop singer, who also lamented the death of King Hussein of Jordan, saying basketball had lost a great player.

"I'm not going to have some reporters pawing through our papers. We are the president." Hillary Clinton commenting on the release of subpoenaed documents.

"The police are not here to create disorder. They're here to preserve disorder." Former Chicago mayor Richard J. Daley during the police riot at the infamous 1968 Democratic Party convention

"China is a big country, inhabited by many Chinese." Former French President Charles de Gaulle, who also noted during a visit to Canada that Quebec is a big province inhabited by many Quebeckers.

"I haven't committed a crime. What I did was fail to comply with the law." David Dinkins, New York City Mayor, answering accusations that he failed to pay his taxes.

Cross Roads

By Clarence Cross

A notice on the front page of the Record last week caught my eye. There is to be a spelling bee at Berwick on Sun., March 28. It brought back a flood of memories of my days in the Frood School. I thought the spelling bee was ancient history.

We always looked forward to Friday afternoon, because after the afternoon recess, we had a spelling bee. It involved all the pupils, who were divided up into teams, for example, junior second against the seniors, etc., The teams lined up at the front of the schoolroom. The teacher would choose appropriate words from the official spelling book, which had been studied during the preceding weeks. First to the captain on one team, then the captain of the other team, then the second pupil in each, etc. If a word was spelled wrong, that pupil dropped out and sat down. When one team had all been eliminated, the other would be declared the winner then the teams were chosen for the next grades (or classes, as we called them).

I mentioned the official speller. I have one in front of me, from the Heritage Centre: "The Ontario Public School Speller, 1916 edition, price 15 cents". It has 200 pages, divided into chapters for Form II, junior grade, and senior grade; Form III junior and senior; up to Form V which was intended for the lower forms of high school. (Yes, the book called them Forms in both public and high schools. Each chapter introduces 500 or 600 new words, and uses them in sentences which help to give the meaning. There are also exercises and long lists of words in review.

For the primary classes, the teacher might have put a column of words on the blackboard; bat, cat, fat, hat, mat, pat, etc. For the more senior grades, there would be columns of words from the speller, including some very difficult ones. And sometimes groups of words that sounded the same, but were spelled differently: cent, sent, scent. But the whole blackboard would be covered by a roller map pulled down over it during the spelling bee.

You will notice that the string of words ending in "at" has some omissions: eat, oat. Now we're beginning to sense some of the problems in spelling English. Whole books have been written on this subject, but I will deal with only a bit of it.

Noah Webster, an American teacher, was the author of the first comprehensive American dictionary about 200 years ago, and he began modifying the usage and spelling which continues in the States to the present day, and has put Canadians on the spot: whether to follow English or American usage. We often solve the problem by permitting both. For example, we are allowed to drop the "u" in labour, colour, etc., use centre or center, etc. Advertising has got us used to thru, donut, brite, nite, etc. By the way, the first English dictionary was Dr. Samuel Johnson's in 1755.

Now we begin to see how crazy English spelling can be. There have been many changes over the centuries, although the invention of printing was a stabilizing influence. You have to wonder where some of the oddities come from. Think of all the silent letters: gnaw, know, island, write, wright. Sound out the following words: bough, cough, dough, rough. When do you double a final "l". When you add ed, or ing, or ly" And on and on.

You must sympathize (or sympathise) with school kids, foreigners (now there's an odd word), and all of us who have to deal with all the rules and exception. That's why "spell-check" was invented. Of course, we are getting into the pedagogie systems that are always being fought over.

For many years various people have advocated a wholesale reform of English spelling. But whic version would be adopted as the universa standard: English, American, or some othe perhaps using a new extended alphabet. It require over 40 symbols and represent all the sounds w use. George Bernard Shaw, the Irish author, felt s strongly about a new alphabet that he left a larg sum of money in his will to develop one. But major reforms like that would mean that in time no one would be able to read and understand th millions of books, newspapers, etc. in ou libraries, unless they were rewritten using the nev alphabet. I think we are stuck with our presen system, with a few minor changes.

There is a bright spot in all this mess. English i not burdened with all the accents and othe symbols that clutter French, German, Norwegian and other languages. And when we look at th dozens of alphabets in use around the world, w should count our blessings. I remember th absolute sense of helplessness that I have felt as looked at signs in Arabic, Czech, Russian an Chinese. At least I could sometimes guess a Portuguese or Danish signs. As for spelling bees they have disappeared from our schools. I am tol that individual competitiveness is nov discouraged, and has been replaced by events o teamwork and co-operation. The bee at Berwick i being organized by volunteers of the Spelling Be of Canada, and is quite independent of the schoo system.

Whitteker holds township history high

Mayor presented with new South Dundas chain of office

Sandy Bierworth
Record Staff

WILLIAMSBURG - Even though it's barely a year old, South Dundas has created a little piece of history.

The township has commemorated its former municipalities in the form of a collar which hangs from Mayor Johnny Whitteker's neck.

The mayor was presented with the South Dundas chain of office by township administrator Mike Waddell during council's regular meeting Friday.

The chain is adorned with pins from the former townships of Williamsburg and Matilda and the former villages of Iroquois and Morrisburg. It has two maple leafs, one on each side, representing Canada and a trillium on each side representing Ontario.

Between each of the pins is a blank bar, three on each side, on which the names of South Dundas mayors and their terms of office will be inscribed. Whitteker's name will be added to the chain when he leaves the mayor's seat.

At the bottom of the chain is a large medallion featuring the logo of South Dundas, intersecting lines representing the agricultural fields that are the economic backbone of the township and the historic St. Lawrence River that skirts the bottom of the municipality.

And wearing the chain is an honour, Whitteker said.

"It denotes the head of council," he said. "When the township amalgamated, we asked administration to come up with a chain of office. I believe South Dundas is the first township in SD&G to get a chain, but I think you'll see the other municipalities follow suit pretty soon."

The former village of Morrisburg was the only township in South Dundas to have a chain of office prior to amalgamation.

At United Counties' Council, the warden wears a chain of office to meetings and for ceremonial purposes.

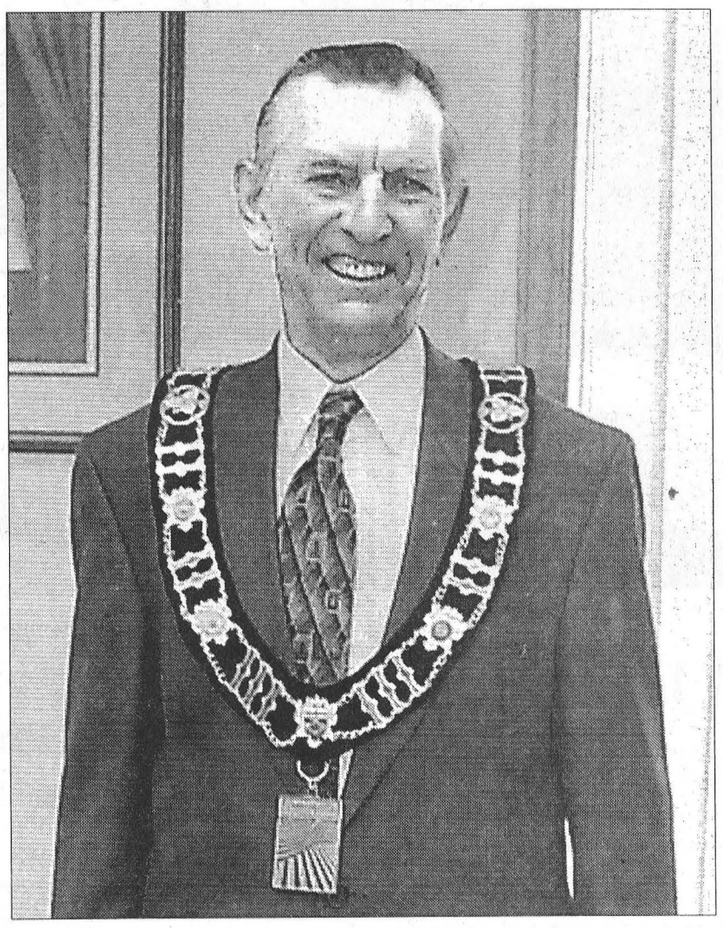
Whitteker will be wearing the chain at council meetings but will leave it behind when attending functions in the township.

"It won't leave the office unless there's something really important going on," he said.

The presentation of the collar was a surprise to the rest of council at the beginning of the meeting as Whitteker showed up in a dressy outfit but wouldn'd tell his fellow councillors what was happening.

Once the collar was fitted, Whitteker turned to the councillors and joked, "now I want you all to address me as your honour or Mr. Mayor."

When asked what it feels like to have the prestigious chain of office around his neck, Whitteker replied, "it's quite heavy. But it's an honour to wear it."



Chain of pride

South Dundas Mayor Johnny Whitteker was presented with the township's chain of office Friday. The collar is adorned with pins commemorating the former municipalities that make up the amalgamated township and features the South Dundas logo on a medallion at the bottom of the chain. Whitteker will wear the collar at council meetings and special functions.

North Dundas asks province to pick up school board levies

Greg Hewitt
Record Editor

WINCHESTER – Because of Bill 79, the province's 10-5-5 tax cap legislation, North Dundas will be late in issuing commercial, industrial and multi-residential interim tax bills for 1999, or may not be able to issue them at all.

And North Dundas council has asked the province to help make up for the resulting revenue shortfall by picking up its levies to the school boards, which are due at the end of the month and total about $1,000,910.

Municipalities collect property taxes on behalf of school boards and county governments, and forward them in instalments. But to avoid heavy borrowing to cover those levies, municipalities depend on tax revenue beforehand, hence interim tax bills, which by law can total no more than 50 per cent of the previous year's total bill for a property. North Dundas's levy to the United Counties, totalling $868,967.77, is due April 15.

In discussing the interim tax bylaw Monday night, council couldn't avoid the monkey wrench thrown in by the tax cap legislation. Crucial tax information needed to calculate the 10-5-5 scheme has yet to be received, and after it is, software must be developed locally to suit the township's situation.

Council did pass its interim tax bylaw, opting for a 50-per-cent rate as a first instalment, due April 20 for all classes not affected by the tax cap. The balance of 1999 taxes for North Dundas property owners will be paid later in the year, but council was unable to set due dates for those bills, again because information needed from the province has yet to be received.

The resolution states that due to lateness of provincial tax figures, caused by the tax cap legislation, "municipalities have not been given ample time, nor the tools, to process the 10-5-5 calculations on each property, thereby limiting municipalities to send interim tax bills in a timely manner to the commercial, industrial and multi-residential property owners, to meet the school board and upper tier first instalment deadlines."

The province did pick up municipalities' interim school board levies last year, but indications so far are that the same help will not be offered this year — unless there is a widespread plea from Ontario municipalities.

Mayor Claude Cousineau and Councillor Roger Cole, both members of United Counties Council, said Monday night the upper tier will discuss the possibility of pushing back the April 15 due date for its levy, as a means of helping the six townships with cash flow problems.

Council's discussion of a rate for the interim instalment also included consideration for capital projects for the roads department.

It was felt that an interim rate below 50 per cent could mean road projects would have to be delayed until the fall, when frost and poor conditions make the work more difficult. Even with the per cent interim rate, roads projects may be delayed because of cash flow concerns.

North Dundas council Monday night set dates for the beginning of its own budget deliberations. Council will meet with individual departments starting next week.

Residents steer road concerns into South Stormont Twp. budget

Sandy Bierworth
Record Staff

BONVILLE - About a dozen Bonville-area residents filed into South Stormont council chambers Wednesday night with concerns about the condition of their road.

The residents, who live along the 4.1 kilometre-long 8th Concession road east of Bonville, requested that council steer more funds in their direction this year to resurface the gravel road.

Resurfacing the entire road with a tar and chip surface would cost the township $185,000. The project has been divided into three sections, the first 2.4 kilometres long, the second a one kilometre stretch and the third only .7 of a kilometre.

Before amalgamation, Cornwall Township funded widening projects along the road and last year, South Stormont Township put $38,000 into clearing and widening the road.

Resident Wayne Beaudette represented the small crowd when he brought the issue to the table.

"The road is in terrible condition," he told council. "And it wasn't plowed very well over the winter so now it's very slippery. It's ridiculous. Our concern is that if there's an emergency, the ambulance won't be able to get through."

He and several other residents forwarded their concerns about the road to Stormont-Dundas MP Bob Kilger and Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry and east Grenville MPP Noble Villeneuve.

"And the answers that came back were all the same," he said. "They all said the road is the township's responsibility."

Reeve Jim Brownell replied.

"I commend you for writing the letters but for them to say it's all our responsibility - well it's not. They've downloaded so much on us in the past year. But I think that your road has been at the top of Cornwall Township's list since 1994 or 1995. Having said that, I'm hoping - hoping - that this year, we can get this road up to speed. It should be resurfaced."

But Beaudette was quick to point out that this is not the first time the issue has been tabled.

"This is an ongoing thing," he said. "I've been here before and it gets to a point were you have to wonder why you even bother paying taxes, because we're getting all these tax increases but we have nothing to show for it. Our road is in terrible shape and meanwhile there are other roads being fixed up first."

This sparked an applause from his fellow residents and a sympathetic response from councillor Heine Bruining.

"You're right in saying that it is the township's responsibility and I know that if I was in your position and other roads were being fixed up first, I'd get pretty excited too," he said. "But it's at the top of the priority list and it will be done soon. We will work it into the budget this year."

Brownell considered what could be done on the road this year.

"We could do some surface treatment on it. Maybe not all of the road, but at least part of it. The people who live on that road do have to drive along it every day."

Bruining added, "And they deserve to have as good a road as anyone else," which sparked another applause from the residents.

"I will be back again in the fall to talk to council about the road again," Beaudette promised. "We're the watchdogs here. We want to make sure something gets done."

Brownell thanked the residents for bringing their concerns to the meeting and said council will work the resurfacing project into its budget.

"I can assure you we will have a serious discussion about this and try to get something done this year."

Generous donations

Estella Rose, seated, is the Dundas County representative for the John Stewart Estate Memorial Trust Fund and handed out cheques to several deserving charities, organizations and support centres March 9. Orma Earl, back left, accepted a cheque of $100 on behalf of the Golden Years Society. The money will be used to purchase a projection screen. Janet Levere, of Park Lane Seniors' Support Centre, accepted a $100 cheque to be used for supplies for adult day services. A $500 cheque went to Beth Cleland of the Dundas County Hospice for respite and support services for senior citizens who are terminally ill. Mavis Graham accepted a $100 cheque on behalf of the Mountain Senior Citizens to purchase chairs for the local hall. And far right, Nancy Gibson, of NorDun Seniors Support Centre, accepted a $500 cheque to assist with client fees for senior programs and meals program costs. Grants from the John Stewart Fund are distributed annually to agencies serving the needs of seniors in SD&G.

Ms. Suzanne Irven of Williamsburg and Mr. Andrew Irven of Chesterville are pleased to announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter Karen Irven to Ken Vandemheen, son of Mac and Ann Vandemheen of Williamsburg. The wedding will take place on Saturday, June 19, 1999 at Williamsburg United Church.

Tasty treats

St. Mary School Grade 5 students Michelle Lamoureux-Dionne, Natalie Prest and Megan Kelly served sandwiches, veggies, beverages and desserts to parents and friends during the school's annual St. Patrick's Tea and Bake Sale Thursday. Pictured here, the girls serve Judith Thomas and Nancy Prest. The event was organized by the school council and raised just over $2,000 for items not included in the school's budget, including school trips.

Township celebrates Book Day through gifts to schools, libraries

Sandy Bierworth
Record Staff

OSNABRUCK CENTRE - Calling all bookworms: Grab your favourite book, dig out your reading glasses and curl up for some good reading with the rest of the country.

South Stormont council supported a motion during its regular meeting Wednesday night to declare April 23 as Canada Book Day.

But Reeve Jim Brownell took it a step further in deciding to actively promote reading within the township by sending a Canadian book to each school and library in the municipality.

"I think we should encourage residents to participate in celebrating Book Day," he told his fellow councillors. "Rather than just declare it, I think we should do something about it. When it comes to Canadian books, and local authors in particular, I think it's important that they are recognized and that we show our support."

Each of the seven schools in the township will soon receive a letter explaining Book Day and a book by one of two recently-published authors in the township.

Both Rosemary Rutley of Ingleside and Dr. Jeannine Roy-Poirier of Long Sault released books about the Seaway Power Project last summer.

Rutley's book, entitled Voices of the Lost Villages, tells a series of stories and eye-witness accounts of the project, told by people who e lived in what are now the L Villages.

Dr. Roy-Poirier's book is cal A Children's Guide to the L Villages and outlines the project t younger readers.

The township also hopes t include a poster promoting Canad Book Day in the packages. Th posters have been ordered and the packages are expected to be sent out by the end of this week.

This is the first time council has taken action to promote Canada Book Day.

It is hoped the gifts to the schools will help promote reading among students and teach about the local history of the Lost Villages at the same time.

A close shave at Longue Sault Public School

IN MEMORIAM

CLOUTIER - In loving memory of a husband, father and grandfather, Archie, who passed away March 8, 1993.
Today is remembered and quietly kept,
No words are needed, we will never forget.
Deep in our hearts you will always stay,
Loved and remembered every day.

BARKLEY - In loving memory of a dear husband and dad, Ernie, who passed away on March 20, 1997.
Not a day goes by
That we don't think of you,
The times we spent together,
The thing we used to do.
To open the door
And see your smiling face,
To touch your hand,
And feel your warm embrace.
I would give it all
And so much more
To have you back with us,
And things the way they were before.
The dreams we had,
Are now only a memory,
But the love we shared will last an eternity.
Sadly missed and always remembered by:
—Marilyn, Cory, Robie, Angie, Jesse, Jordon and Lisa

BARKLEY - In loving memory of a dear nephew, Ernie, who passed away March 20, 1997.
Memories as we journey on,
A smile from a loved one gone;
None knows our deep regret,
We will remember if others forget.
—Love Aunt Pat and Family

BARKLEY - In loving memory of a dear brother and uncle, Ernie, who passed away two years ago on the 20th day of March 1997.
Today recalls sad memories
Of a dear brother and uncle gone to rest.
And the ones who think of him today
Are the ones who loved him best.
Always loved and remembered
—Myles, Vicki, Matt, Adam

CROSS - In loving memory of a dear father Willis who passed away March 27, 1983.
Gone, dear father, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face;
But you left us to remember,
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.
Lovingly remembered by
—Donnie, Marlene, Nancy, David and their families

Photos from top: North Glen-Stor's Matthieu Lafleche scores a shorthanded breakaway goal against Cornwall with 1:39 remaining to ice the Braves 8-2 win in Monday's Atom B Tournament B round championship game. Troy Stewart draws a bead on Morrisburg goaltender Shayne Strader before unloading ND's second goal of the game in the A final. It wasn't enough as the Lions triumphed 3-2. Bottom left, NGS captain Blair Martell and coach Sylvain LaFleche with the B round trophy. (Bottom right) Tournament organizer Blake Henderson presents the A trophy to Morrisburg captain David Patterson.

NGS Braves take Atom tournament's B title

FINCH - The host North Glen-Stor Atom B Braves took the B title of their tournament here Monday, walloping the Cornwall Royals 8-2 in the title game behind the six-point performance of Jacob Benton.

The Braves put the game away with five second-period goals to lead 6-1 going into he third and they finished the game off with Mathieu Lafleche's short handed goal with 1:39 left to play. It was Lafleche's third goal of the game.

It was an all-Dundas game in the A round final with the Morrisburg Lions edging North Dundas 3-2 for the trophy.

Braves 8 - Royals 2

Benton had three goals - one in each period - and three assists to led the Braves to the B title.

He had the only goal of the first period and in the second it was Lafleche and Andrew Vallance each with a pair and Benton.

Benton and Lafleche closed it out with goals in the final 3:19 of the game.

Lions 3 - Demons 2

ND's third-period comeback attempt fell just short.

Tory Stewart brought them to within one with 22 seconds remaining - and goaltender Mark Fawcett on the bench for an extra attacker - as he buried Colin Moran's pass from behind the net but they couldn't get the equalizer.

ND took a 1-0 lead on Dale Delaire's goal with 8:16 left in the first but the Lions evened it when Beckstead scored unassisted 16 seconds before the buzzer.

He made it 2-1 5:39 into the second.

Braves 7 - Akwesasne 0

Jonathan Jans was unbeatable in the NGS nets in the Braves' first game of the day and Lafleche paced the team with a three-goal effort.

He scored both first-period goals as the Braves led 2-0 after one and 5-0 after two. Benton had another six-point game, scoring twice and adding four assists, figuring in all of the Braves' goals except Vallance's unassisted second-period score.

Brandon Henderson had NGS's other goal.

Captain Blair Martell had three assists, Thomas Corkery had a pair and Lafleche and Cody Brabant

Kemptville eliminates Hawks in five games

WINCHESTER - The Winchester Hawks started their own March Break Sunday night.

The Hawks exited the playoffs after dropping the fifth game of their EOJBHL final series 8-3 to the pennant-winning Kemptville 73s, who now go on to face the Westport Rideaus, 4-2 Rideau Division series winners over Gananoque.

The Hawks were embarrassed in their first two games against the 73s, losing 5-0 in Kemptville March 7 and 12-2 on home ice last Wednesday night. They fell to 3-0 after losing 9-6 in Kemptville on Friday but rebounded to take game four - and avoid a series sweep - winning 7-3 on home ice Friday night before dropping the fifth game in Kemptville Sunday.

73s 12 - Hawks 2

The 73s special teams feasted on the Hawks last Wednesday night, scoring twice while shorthanded and four times on the power play. They led 3-0 after one and 10-1 after two, exploding for six goals in a span of just under seven minutes in the middle frame. Two of those were scored within a 19-second span while the 73s killed a high sticking penalty to Mike Hartmann.

Ten Kemptville players scored on Jeff Pugh - mercifully pulled after the second - and Jeff Tratch.

Russ Beckett and Andrew McVey led the scoring parade with two each. Singles went to Craig Stanley, Derek Hutt, Josh Dixon, Jason Pickard, John Cahill, Kelly Winsor, Jason Valcour and Derek Armstrong.

Mike MacPhee and Oliver DeMeester - on the power play with 3:46 left in the game - scored for the Hawks.

73s 9 - Hawks 6

The Hawks led 3-2 after one Friday night but collapsed in the middle period and were outgunned in the third on their way to their third straight loss.

Sylvain Favreau had two in the first and Ryan Nichol scored unassisted to give them a 3-2 lead at the end of 20 minutes but Kemptville got second-period goals from Stanley - who had three on the night - Derek Hutt, with the first of his pair, and Winsor to take the lead for good.

The Hawks got third period goals from Jeff Hamilton, Favreau - who had three on the night - and Serge Bellevance in the final 20 minutes.

Hawks 7 - 73s 3

Minor ball registration March 25

By Matt Krisjanis, ND Rec. Director

Hi sports fans! Yes, it's a great week in the neighbourhood. Sunshine and temps in the plus range. Life is good.

You can tell that spring is very close, because North Dundas Minor Ball has announced its ball registration dates and locations. Registration in Winchester will take place on March 25, 7-9pm, and on April 3, 10am-12noon. Both dates at the Winchester Community Centre. Registration in Chesterville will take place on March 25, 7-9pm, and on April 3, 10am-12noon. Both dates at the Chesterville Arena. Registration in Mountain Township will take place on March 31, 7:30-9:30pm and on April 1, 7:30-9:30pm. Both of these dates at the Nationview Public School. Pre-registration can be done by obtaining a registration form at your local school or arena and mailing to the association address.

The Dundas County Players are once again busy getting ready for their spring production of "The Odd Couple" (female version). This production will be under the direction of Matthew Defalco and producer Andrea MacLellan. the production will open April 16 at Upper Canada Playhouse in Morrisburg for two nights and move to the Henderson Hall in Winchester on April 22 to run for three nights. This is a very funny comedy worth attending.

As we all know, this is the March Break, and the kids are home. So here are the public skating hours for March Break for Winchester and Chesterville Arenas: In Winchester: March 17, 1-2:30pm, March 18, 10-11:30am, and March 19, 1-2:30pm. In Chesterville: March 17, 1-2:30pm, March 18, no public skating, March 19, 10-11:30am, plus regular public skating hours at both Arenas. Come and enjoy, it's free.

Okay, that's it for now, so here's my thought for the week: "If you want a place in the sun you've got to put up with a few blisters".

Skating club plans fund raising events

The Chesterville Skating Club has been teaching young children to skate for many years. In recent years the club has grown to offer a more advanced level of skating to those girls and boys who wish to participate in competitive figure skating.

The club has been very fortunate to have been the recipient, for many years, of a grant from the village of Chesterville. With amalgamation, the club no longer receives a grant. This coupled with declining enrollment has made it difficult to meet the basic expenses of ice time and coaching fees.

The club has tried to keep registration fees as low as possible, for beginner skaters, to ensure that as many youngsters as possible have the opportunity to learn to skate. Even so, next year it will have to raise the cost of the beginner skater classes just to meet basic expenses.

Over the past three years the club has averaged about 12 skaters each year that are training at the competitive level. This year, these skaters have achieved impressive results at competitions in the area. They are now at the point where they are learning single jumps. To minimize injury and to help them learn with confidence, the club would like to purchase an apparatus to help them maintain balance while attempting jumps. This apparatus will be even more valuable when the skaters progress from single to double jumps.

Although the club has attempted quite a few fund-raising events this year, the response has not been what it expected. It has other fund raising events scheduled:

- March 29 - Ice Show with guest Eastern Ontario Champions and a raffle;
- April - Movie
- May - Teen Dance
- June - Dance
- July - Hot dog sales during the sidewalk sale
- June and July - Senior girls and car washing

The club is asking for your assistance in making these fund raising events successful. Your donation of money, goods, and/or services would be greatly appreciated.

Club members believe that sporting events help boost a child's self esteem, teach them valuable lessons that they will employ later in life, and encourage them to live an active life. Next to hockey and bowling, skating is the only other winter time sporting event in Chesterville
