Faulty meter delays bylaw

WINCHESTER — There are still no new water and sewage rates.

Once again, they weren't set at the last regular council meeting Monday night. But not because of any public protest. Council members aren't sure the approximately 900 meters installed in Winchester homes and businesses are accurate.

Warren Martin, whose company, — Comar Installations Ltd., was sub-contracted by Trivest Utilities to install the meters, told council Monday night he didn't believe the system was ready to run, largely because of design flaws.

The setting of the bylaw has been delayed for months. Originally some members of council weren't sure they had all the necessary information and most recently because a number of residents protested the new rates, which would allow the village to use the meters, weren't fair.

The bylaw was an issue on the agenda Monday night but council members instead decided the village should contact the manufacturer of the product as well as seek legal advice about the matter.

"I think we should get legal advice on how to recoup our costs. We were sold a product we were lead to believe was in good working order," said Deputy Reeve Mary Jane Elliott.

There has been a history of problems with the meters. Last August the village discovered that the meters had problems with their remotes not registering properly. The remote is the part installed outside the house that gives the reading from the meter in the basement.

The Orlando-based manufacturing firm Precision Meters replaced the devices at no cost to the municipality.

Still after the village took its first reading, approximately 80 were not functioning and were repaired by Comar.

Dundas municipalities look at amalgamation

Kim Robinson
Press staff

WINCHESTER — Local municipal governments are pulling together before they are forced together in the province's push toward amalgamation.

Municipal representatives in Dundas County plan to meet next Wednesday to discuss the amalgamation issue following an information session with a provincial representative at United Counties Council last week.

Winchester Township Reeve Claude Cousineau says the message from the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing is very clear, that municipalities will have no choice but to downsize and simplify as the province reduces municipal funding.

"We're going to be hit and hit hard, and we had better be prepared for it," said Cousineau Monday. "You can have a built-at-home option or an option that's forced on you by the province."

This type of internal initiative is being encouraged by the province.

David Root, an adviser with the ministry, said last week, "We have been telling municipalities that they may have to look

Library to stay

WINCHESTER — Plans to move the Metcalfe Library were officially shelved at a board meeting last week.

The library is staying put at its location on Albert St. though it was because of limited space, not because of any controversy, according to members of the Osgoode library board.

A number of library users were upset when the board agreed in principle to the idea of amalgamating the Metcalfe library with the library in Osgoode Township High School last June. The idea was originally suggested by Bill Mitchell, the high school's vice principal, who thought the joint venture could have benefits such as access to the school's computers and a larger book collection.

After meeting with the Carleton Board of Education last month, the library board decided that there was not enough room in the school library's current space to house 25,760 books. About 11,760 are in the public library's collection.

There is no money to build an addition, though the two facilities will look at ways of sharing services and information, says Jane Venus, Osgoode library coordinator.

When the idea was still under consideration, number of library users protested at a board meeting last September. Some said they worried the move would restrict accessibility and programming and other library services.

Most of the concerns suggested by the users were already questions the library board had for the Carleton Board of Education, says Venus.

No 'wrongdoing' in $20,000 Nevada shortfall

Kim Robinson
Press staff

WINCHESTER — It was careless management, not criminal mischief that led to losses in revenue in the Winchester Legion's Nevada ticket sales, says Branch 108 President Tom Beck.

He reports that the OPP officer who was called in to investigate the profit shortfall, Const. G. Switch of the Morrisburg detachment, found no intentional wrongdoing in the case. Beck doesn't believe any money was stolen and he doesn't expect any charges will be laid.

"We don't feel at any time there was a shortfall of money, it was more a matter of accountability for tickets," he says.

According to a police report released earlier this week, a recent accounting review estimated a loss of approximately $200,000, but Beck says the actual loss in stock is in the $20,000 range spread out over a period of several years. He says the first figure was an excessive estimate of what might have been lost in revenue, the money the Legion could have made if the tickets had actually been sold.

"That figure projects what could have taken place if this went on year after year."

When the Winchester Legion first started selling the 50 cent, instant win tickets in the early 1980's they didn't move at the volume they do now. The Legion currently donates roughly $100,000 to community sports teams and charities, largely from the proceeds of Nevada ticket sales.

With such a large quantity of tickets changing hands, the Legion executive decided it should take steps to monitor sales more closely.

"We wanted to keep up with the changing times," says Beck.

The first step was having the review done earlier this month.

Beck admits tickets were mishandled in the past, but there is going to be more accountability in the future. From now on, the bar stewards who sell the tickets will draw up a daily tally. The president notes that changes had to be made to keep on top of Nevada ticket regulations.

The Legion's Nevada licence, granted on a six month basis, has been renewed.

Winchester boy chosen to become area's Timmy

WINCHESTER — In a way Scott MacLellan refuses to represent disabled children.

Chosen as the local representative for the Easter Seals Society, it's supposed to be his duty. But he doesn't really think they're that much different from other kids.

"They can do as well as other kids without disabilities. Disabled kids can play sports too," says Scott.

Scott should know. There are sports he can't do but despite multiple disabilities, he participates in soccer, baseball and Tae Kwon Do.

It keeps him busy, now he'll be even busier as the local Easter Seals "Timmy" for the area. Every year disabled children across the province are picked to represent the society as either "Timmy" or "Tammy". Easter Seals assists families with costs of equipment, home renovation and services such as camping, respite care and preschool for physically disabled children.

The society is sponsored by two hundred and thirty service clubs across Ontario. The Chesterville Rotary Club raises money for local Easter Seals families in Chesterville, Winchester, Winchester Springs, Mountain and South Mountain. Last year they spent $10,000 in the area.

It's been many years since the club has had a Timmy or Tammy, says Jim Townson, the club's Easter Seals committee chairperson. Scott will perform some official duties for the organization but Townson is not sure what they will be as yet.

Water meters

According to Martin, the factory requested the installers to do the job.

However Martin says there were three additional problems discovered which he believes are likely the manufacturer's responsibility including a larger than anticipated number of blank remotes due to battery failure, an improperly positioned switch and a bad connector.

When contacted by the Press, agent for Precision, Jean-Claude Lauret said the remotes were fixed and he believed any other difficulties are likely a sub-contractor's problem.

But he added that he would not know for sure until the problem was analyzed by the company's engineers. He was planning to meet with Martin today.

If it is the manufacturer's fault, Precision will cover the cost of replacement or repair.

The Winchester meters are the same type used by the Village of Casselman. When they were originally installed, about 100 of the 1052 meters had some problem with the remote devices.

They were repaired by the company. Five are still faulty but the metering charges went into effect on May 1, says Administrative-Clerk Gilles Lortie.

Library

Residents attending the September meeting were also worried that there wouldn't be enough public consultation o the issue.

Richard Woodhouse, a library user who protested the proposed move, says he's relieved that the library isn't changing its location. He says he felt the public's and the school's needs from a library might not be compatible.

"I like it (in its current location) for a number of reasons. It's a focal point for people in town to go. If my wife wants to go there and bring the baby, they have no problem with that," he says.

Amalgamation

at amalgamation as a way of dealing with cuts."

The province is looking at the amalgamation option as it is in the process of creating a new Municipal Act for 1997. Root says municipalities will have a more clear idea of what adjustments need to be made when Finance Minister Ernie Eves introduces his mini-budget on Nov. 29, the same day the Dundas municipal leaders meet.

Cousineau says municipalities have been hearing about amalgamation for quite some time and in many ways sharing costs and responsibilities with other municipalities makes sense. He points to the Boyne Road landfill site as a cooperative effort that works.

Mountain Township Reeve Estella Rose also sees opportunities to save money with combined efforts, such as having greater purchasing power when municipalities get together and buy materials in bulk. However, she doubts much would be saved by reducing the number of councillors as their salaries are minimal when compared to those in regional municipalities like Ottawa-Carleton.

As well, she has serious misgivings about what amalgamation would do to local representation, with perhaps one councillor where there used to be five, and she worries about incompatibility if the rural municipalities of SD&G were to be combined with a city like Cornwall.

"Do they really care about our rural roots and rural concerns?" asks Rose.

She points to the rural constituents of Ottawa- Carleton as an example of how ratepayers might end up paying for services they don't benefit from. She says that residents of Osgoode Township pay roughly double the taxes their neighbors do in Mountain Township because they are part of a larger regional municipality that has urban costs like city sewage and water systems.

"As I mentioned at Counties Council, bigger is not always better," she says.

Timmy

There are no prerequisites for a child to be chosen as Timmy or Tammy, according to Mary Moore, the local Easter Seals nurse. The family just has to be willing to do it and be familiar with Easter Seals' services.

The MacLellans are very familiar with what the Society offers. According to Scott's mother Andrea, assistance from Easter Seals has enabled them to have a more normal family life.

A black-haired boy with glasses, Scott will readily tell you he's small for his age. He walks with difficulty but it's an accomplishment for him to walk at all. Scott's multiple disabilities include an undiagnosed condition similar to cerebral palsy which weakens his muscles. He also has chronic lung problems and difficulties with his sight.

When the MacLellans first moved to Winchester in 1991, the Easter Seals nurse was one of the first people to contact them. In Nova Scotia, where they lived before, there was no support.

A special needs child can be a financial strain on the family budget, Though both parents work —Andrea part-time, the expense for special equipment adds up quickly. The cost of weekly trips into the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario did too. When they moved into the house, the Society paid for the rails to be installed on the stairs so Scott could walk up by himself.

"He was humiliated, having to crawl up the stairs so this has given him some self-respect," says Andrea.

Among other things, Easter Seals also paid for a special bicycle that attaches to his father Terry's bike. It allows the family to do an activity together, says Andrea.

"It enables us to be a family again, do little things that people don't realize," she explains.

"We're not the type of family to ask for services at all. We have a few extras but in this day and age that's not much to ask."

Representing Easter Seals as Timmy will be a way to express the family's gratitude as well as spread awareness about the capabilities of disabled children. The experience will also give Scott an idea of what the society does. He knows the organization assists him but since the family doesn't often discuss his disabilities, he doesn't fully realize how much Easter Seals helps, says his mother.

"He's going to understand the magnitude of what they have done for his life," says Andrea.

As well as an educational experience, it is also an honor. Earlier this year, Scott was given the prestigious Award of Fortitude by his Beavers Cub group. But Scott is careful to keep such things in perspective.

"I can't let it go to my head and I don't," he says.

Band tunes up for nationals

Liz Edwards
Press staff

WINCHESTER — They walked, ran, crawled and even spooked small children for money.

Still they may be a bit shy of their goal but no one can accuse band members from North Dundas District High School of not trying, says their music teacher Greg Prest.

Band members are not afraid of work, he says. Besides participating in fundraisers such as the spooky Halloween wagon rides in Cannamore Orchards, the students practise three times a week. At least two times a week, the practices start at 7 am.

But they have to be motivated if they want to go to the national Musicfest competition in Toronto May 23 to 26. North Dundas's senior concert band won gold in the regional competition last March. They can compete in the nationals this year if they win at least a silver in the regionals again next March.

In Prest's opinion, they're capable of taking the gold. The band has won it the last four out of five years.

"The North Dundas kids have a good history and a good reputation in Eastern Ontario of being an accomplished band," he says.

The North Dundas senior band competes at level four, the most difficult division for a high school band. In the regionals, they competed against more than a dozen bands. About 12,000 students from across Canada will compete in various levels and divisions at the national event. North Dundas also stands a chance of competing in the jazz band division if the regionals go well.

But the 50-member senior band needs to raise about $4,000 more to make enough money for the four-day trip and bus ride to Toronto. Prest promised any student who worked at the Cannamore's annual Halloween wagon rides would have $150 deducted from their costs. Each student will spend $275 with the discount to attend the event.

Unfortunately the fundraiser didn't make quite enough money so the band needs $1000 more, plus another $3,000 to prepare their instruments and buy new music.

To make up the difference, they're trying again. The students' next big event is the Christmas concert which will feature the junior and senior jazz and concert bands as well as the choir on Dec. 20 at 7 pm. In addition to Christmas favorites, the band will play a few novelties such as the theme from The Simpsons and songs from Beauty and the Beast.

Students also are planning to host an evening of music and dining as another fundraiser. They will prepare and serve the meal and musicians will perform for diners.

"It will be a nice meal prepared by the kids," says Prest.

It will be the first time the band has ever competed at the national level. They qualified in other years but didn't have enough time to plan a trip. One year, they planned to go but didn't qualify. Members went anyway to listen and sit in on the dozens of workshops the festival offers.

The clinics were excellent but it was frustrating not to be able to compete, says Prest.

A resident of Cardinal for 32 years, he belonged to St. John's United Church and was a member of the Royal Canadian Navy during the Second World War. He was stationed in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

He had several jobs involving instrumentation at Minneapolis-Honeywell in Kaspuskasing, Fisher-Porter in Toronto, Dupont Canada Maitland Site, the City of North Vancouver, and Brockville Chemical. He was also an auto mechanic in Cooksville. He wrote several articles on pneumatical instruments which were published in trade magazines. He was an avid outdoorsman who participated in hunting, fishing, boating and enjoyed his cottage.

A service was held at St. John's United Church Nov. 8 with Rev. Andrew Adams officiating. The interment of cremated remains will be held at a later date. Pallbearers included Randy, Robert and Billy Haggart, Clifford and Gregory Halfpenny and Frank Major.

Donations to the Heart and Stroke Foundation or the Diabetes Foundation would be appreciated by the family.

She was the beloved grandmother of Christopher, Stephen and Melissa Bonthron as well as Alaq Smith. Mrs. Timmins is also survived by brothers Ritchie Allison (Helen) of Brockville and Hartley Allison (Doris) of Morrisburg.

A memorial service was held in the Wall-Custance Funeral Home and Chapel in Guelph, Nov. 17 with the Rev. Canon Constance Williston officiating.

Cremation and internment was held at Woodlawn Cemetery in Guelph. Memorial donations to the Alzheimer Society or to the Canadian Cancer Society can be made through the funeral home.

Time and patience needed

If ever something was cursed, it would be Winchester's water system.

A black cloud of difficulties seems to be hanging over council's efforts to get some control on it water consumption.

Originally the concept of water metering seemed pretty simple. Install meters. Check what everyone is using. Figure out the costs of providing the service. Factor in the expense of treating sewage. Charge accordingly.

Not so simple, after all.

Unfortunately the meters were not 100 per cent on the ball when they were installed. Even after repairs, there were more problems discovered. In addition, the proposed rates for water and sewage service confused and angered a number of people, so the bylaw wasn't passed.

If it wasn't one thing, it was another and it's getting to be ridiculous.

But before everyone throws up their hands in dispair, let council get all the facts.

Machines do break, anyone who owns a car can vouche for that one, but it doesn't mean they are completely unreliable. It could be a matter of a few more adjustments. Hopefully that could be all.

And yes, it could be that these meters installed in Winchester homes and businesses will not suit the village at all.

But either way, the village still needs meters.

Winchester cannot continue to operate on a flat rate, hoping all its residents are willingly conserving water and paying their own way.

Maybe the water conservation committee, which worked so diligently on the project in the beginning, should be called on for assistance once more. They understand the issue and obviously are concerned about it if they volunteered for the job in the first place.

If they are willing, it could help move the issue along.

Council members have a lot of other issues to handle and so does the municipal staff. Figuring out the sticky business of what went wrong where may take a great amount of time and patience.

Council members, and rightly so, are probably running out of both.

The local 100 Club held a War Veterans' Night with 40 Centurians and an equal number of servicemen in attendance. President Leroy Boyd welcomed the veterans to the club and then called upon all present to observe a minute's silence for those who had not made it back. The guest speaker was Maj. Fred Cass, a 100 Club member. Before sharing his impressions of various European nations, Cass expressed his regret that of the four local officers who went overseas with the SD&G Highlanders, he was the only one to return. The other officers were Lieut. G.D. "Bud" Utman, Lieut. Ed Annable and Lieut. Carl Barriger. On a personal note, Cass thanked the club for sending him cigarettes and copies of the Winchester Press while he served overseas.

High winds caused a serious accident at Winchester's Canadian Pacific Railway station, injuring a woman who had been visiting family in the area. Mrs. Lloyd Edwards, 39, of Peterborough had been waiting by the tracks to board a westbound train when the wind caught her suitcase and swept her toward the train. She was dragged several feet alongside the train until the slow- moving engine came to a stop. Mrs. Edwards was taken to the Winchester District Memorial Hospital where she was found to have a broken arm and jawbone, severe cuts on her face and body, as well as a back injury.

A committee made up of teachers, parents and school trustees began meeting to review the language situation at St. Joseph's, a French elementary school in Russell. The study came about after francophone parents complained that French culture at the school was being diluted by the large number of anglophones enrolled there. They had presented a petition to the Prescott-Russell Separate School Board asking to restrict the number of anglophone students admitted. Roughly 80 per cent of the 300 students at the school were anglophones.

Judging by their powers...

MEANWHILE...
by Fred Sagel

I've always been fascinated by the nine people who are chosen to sit on the Supreme Court of the United States.

They're an unusual group and their ranks have included judges who have left some brilliant marks on society. Some of their names are legendary... Marshall, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Earl Warren, William O. Douglas. And the list goes on.

But it is important to remember that these people have exercised so much power in their lifetimes on the bench that the authority given to elected members of the House of Representatives and Senate in the United States pales by comparison.

This is because the United States has been governed for over 200 years by a Bill of Rights which stands above any law that is passed by politicians and which must ultimately fit within its framework. By interpreting this Bill of Rights, the nine judges on the court have gained enormous power by either striking down or supporting various pieces of legislation.

And therein lies the rub.

Who on earth ever thought that a democracy would ever be governed by nine unelected people who ultimately exercise the greatest amount of power? And who would ever conceive that they'd have more say than elected representatives? It is highly instructive to watch what occurs on the Supreme Court of the United States because what happens there is a good indication of what will soon happen in this country.

We are undergoing a process at the present time where a good deal of power has been shifted by our legislative bodies to the courts — especially to the Supreme Court of Canada.

This is because we passed a Charter of Rights and Freedoms in 1982 which, like its American counterpart, is also a law above all laws. It is the yardstick by which to measure laws. Judges in this country have started to use their new power and, in many instances, have struck down legislation passed by Parliament. Witness the recent cigarette advertising decision.

Some would view this as a good sign in that they don't believe that elected legislators are anywhere as thoughtful, independent or, for that matter, nearly as bright and talented as judges. It is probably true. But there are other concerns.

I view the encroachment by the judiciary on our daily lives as a welcome change but I have grave reservations about the lack of democratic input into the selection of the men and women who sit on our highest court. What do you know about any of these people? Are they liberal or conservative by nature? What are their feelings about abortion? Or women's issues?

If they're going to make the ultimate decisions in many of these areas, aren't these vital questions that must be answered? And shouldn't we know where they stand? Right now, federal judges are unilaterally appointed by the federal cabinet. There are no hearings and no public debates. Contrast that with the United States, where each of the nominees for the court is subjected to intense scrutiny by the Senate.

And what's wrong with that? Why can't we subject our nominees, with the vast potential for power that they hold, to the same process?

To be certain, it will exclude some men and women from the court because they don't want to undergo questioning. But is it right that such private individuals should have such great control over each or our lives without us knowing a great deal about them? We do it with politicians. Why not with judges?

As our judiciary, forced on by the Charter of Rights and Freedoms, begins to make inroads into the power structure of our society, we need a measure of assurance about the people sitting on our Supreme Court.

But then again, maybe we won't demand it — only to once again show the more democratic nature of the American people. The challenge is ours — and the bold government that tries it.

Seniors meet

by Muriel Reoch

WINCHESTER — The Nov. 16 meeting of the Golden Years Society was held in the Lions Hall with 55 members and 13 visitors present. Doris Cross welcomed everyone and opened the meeting with all singing "O Canada" and repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Best wishes were sung for 10 birthdays and two anniversaries. Doris then read a poem entitled Myself, which was enjoyed by all.

The minutes were read and approved followed by the treasurer's report.

We will be entertained to a Christmas dinner on Dec. 7, catered by Barb Davidson.

A euchre party is planned for Thursday evening, Nov. 23, at the Lions Hall, and a bridge party for Mon., Nov. 20 at Nor-Dun Centre.

Myrna Cinnamon and Vivian Jackson attended the zone executive held at Ingleside.

Olive Whittaker introduced the ladies from Matilda Women's Institute, who entertained us with a very different and fashionable fashion show. The group was thanked by Vera Moorhouse and the meeting adjourned.

Yuletide tea

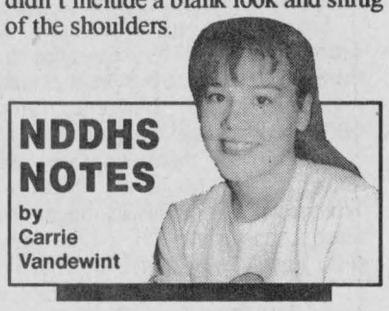
A salute to NDDHS athletes

Are we proud of our high school? If we had the chance of attending a different one, would we?

Coming from a totally unbiased (?) point of view, it's possible that the community or even the students don't really realize the virtues that our school-in-the-middle-of-nowhere has to offer.

They sweat. They strain. They do it morning, noon, night and the next day, all over again. They are the athletes at North Dundas District High School. Already this year our teams and individual athletes have been very successful. These students — who somehow get joy out of inflicting pain on their own bodies — dedicate much time to their athletic endeavours and should be commended for their hard work. Arising from this dedication — and some may call it talent — North Dundas put together one of the best Midget girls basketball teams in all of Stormont, Dundas, and Glengarry Townships. Our cross-country runners continue to put the building-beside-the-graveyard-and-cowpatties-between-Chesterville-and-Winchester on the map. And to put the icing on the top of the proverbial cake, our Junior boys volleyball team just finished competing at the Eastern Ontario finals. And yet, if you asked your average North Dundas student about these various accomplishments, you might be lucky to get a response that didn't include a blank look and shrug of the shoulders.



Our school excels not only in sports, but in academics, clubs, students' council and in numerous other ways. The problem is, unfortunately, either we don't know it, or we don't care...

It's about time we stopped and actually appreciated all the small accomplishments that make our sometimes-burdened lives just a little more bearable.

Hutt powers 73s to third straight win over Hawks

KEMPTVILLE—Mike Hutt's first of three goals, scored at 14:50 of the second period, stood up as the winner as the Kemptville 73s rolled to another one-sided victory over the Winchester Hawks.

Sparked by Hutt's hat trick the second-ranked 73s slammed the third-place Hawks 8-3 in a Sunday night Rideau - St. Lawrence Junior "B" Hockey League victory.

It was the third straight time Kemptville has man- handled Winchester. The Hawks began the season edging the 73s 2-1 but have since lost 9-3, 9-2 and 8-3.

The weekend wasn't a complete waste for Winchester. They held on for an 8-7 victory over the Morrisburg Lions on home ice Friday.

"Friday night (against Morrisburg) we played in spurts. We got up by three goals and had to hang on for the win... because we got away from the game plan," explained Winchester head coach Lindsay Selleck.

"We fired up for Sunday's game (in Kemptville) but let it (game plan) go again. We started to slide, their goalie (Dom Cuglietta) makes a couple of big saves and the game turns around," he added.

Selleck, after coaching in the Kemptville Arena against intruding teams like the Winchester Hawks, knows all too well how tough the 73s are on visitors.

The first-year Hawks mentor reported his team was all over the 73s and were up 2-0 in the first 3:00 but stupid penalties and straying from the game plan turned the match into, "a complete fiasco."

"We had forwards out of position and dipsy doodling with the puck. We had defencemen thinking they were forwards and the goaltending was suspect," he stated.

"It's simple... we skate, we score. We give a team like Kemptville... or Morrisburg or Char-Lan for that matter, opportunities on the powerplay and it makes it pretty tough."

The Hawks now stand at 8-7-1... 10 points behind the division-leading Char-Lan Rebels. The Rebels at 12-1-4 suffered their first loss of the season losing 10-6 in Morrisburg Sunday afternoon.

Shawn Forbes, Derek Hutt and Wayne Hall beat Hawks' Chris Dunn in period one. Mike Hutt potted a pair and Dan Coleman a single in the second as Kemptville went up 6-3 after 40 minutes.

Jeremy Nibogie and Mike Hutt completed the scoring in the last 20 minutes.

Dom Cuglietta gave up goals to Rob Raistrick and Jason Ross in the first period and another to Jeff Scobie at 16:32 of the final frame.

Ryan Nichol (2), Pat Collins, Terry O'Sullivan, Garth Byrnes and Chris Bailey collected assists for the Hawks.

Mike Dube and Winchester's Terry O'Sullivan got the gate for a third-period bout.

Coach Selleck is beginning to wonder if his young team hasn't developed some kind of a mental block in regard to playing Kemptville.

"There are some teams you just have to beat and it's time to put up or shut up."

He added that they have to work on consistency, get it back together.

"Actually as a young team we are probably further along (developed) than we thought we would be. So now we as a coaching staff and management have seen what is possible and are getting greedy and want more from the team."

Selleck suggested that the club is experiencing growing pains and he and assistant Jeff Johnston and the players are all willing to work through the adversities.

HAWKS 8 - LIONS 7

Late goals by Lion forwards Tim Waldroff and Geoff Hare gave the Hawks' coaching staff fits as Morrisburg scrambled back into contention before losing 8-7 Friday's match in Winchester.

Chris Quinlan, Jason Ross and Ryan Nichol notched the Hawks goal in period one.

Miguel Lafleche beat Troy Sayeau in the middle stanza.

Terry O'Sullivan, Jeff Scobie, Chad Barnhart and Garth Byrnes (winner at 4:51) all found the range in period three.

Jason Ross (2), Eric Savard (2), Ryan McElroy (2), Chris Mann (2), Jared Ebbs, Chris Bailey, winning goalie Chris Dunn, Nick Grady, Byrnes, Nichol and Quinlan all earned assists for the winners.

Jr. Devils make semis

ERNESTOWN—The North Dundas Junior Devils, 1995 SD&G volleyball champions, found inexperience to be their nemesis as they took on the high calibre competition here at EOSSAA last Friday.

"It was a good effort on the part of the whole team, however, we lacked experience playing teams outside our area who used varying systems," explained NDDHS coach Chantal Dallaire.

Dallaire noted that although it was a team effort two of her players' talent peaked... Rob Desormeaux and Craig Smith.

The Devils split their first two matches losing 15-9 and 15-7 to Ernestown and defeating St. John's 15-13 and 15-3.

Those results qualified the Devils for the semi- finals where they were eliminated by the TISS Pirates 15-8 and 15-12.

Dallaire summed up the Devils' season by saying, "it was an incredible season and we look forward to another challenging season next year."

The victory helped the Combines extend their UCMHL record to a perfect 5-0-0.

Jr. B. Jets edge Arnprior Packers 2-1

METCALFE—General Manger Kevin Daly was on the bench here Friday night as the Metro Division's Metcalfe Jets nipped the Valley Division's Arnprior Packers 2-1.

Daly filled in for coaches Bob Dumelie (one game suspension) and Bob Kemp (working) and watched as goalie Jeff Gole turned in a solid effort for the win.

Gole and his mates had to face seven short-handed situations and killed each one successfully.

"It is very unusual that any Junior "B" hockey team goes through an entire game without deserving at least one minor penalty. Apparently Arnprior was that exception. We took seven minor penalties and they (Packers) took none. I found that frustrating"

Dumelie said Gole stood on his head... played a superb game in the Jets' hangar.

Although he couldn't confirm the scoring the coach though Kevin Breton and Steve James notched the goals.

The victory improved Metcalfe's record to 6-8-1.

"It was encouraging to play a strong defensive game against a strong team like Arnprior."

Dumelie figures the Packers to be the team to beat, in spite of popular opinion being with the strong Perth Blue Wings club.

"The Packers are a very strong club. I think they have more skill at more positions than Perth," he added.

This week (Wed., Nov. 22) the Jets visit the South Ottawa Canadians and Friday (Nov. 24) play host to the Ottawa West Golden Knights.

Whelan took a pass from Lorna Smith and Barb Canham and fired in the winning goal 4:10 before the final buzzer.

Carrie Nolan played a flawless game for the Annable's Jewellery Blues as they nipped the winless Stewart Classics 1-0. Jen Banford decided the game in the Blues's (6-0-1) favor scoring her fifth of the year on a play engineered by Terry Boyd 9:50 before the half.

It was Nolan's fourth shutout of the season.

Double Beauty (6-0-1) kept pace with the Annable's Jewellery Blues posting a 5-2 win over the Andy's Food Town Maroons in the opening game of the tripleheader.

Scoring race leader Nancy McDiarmid keyed the attack potting three goals... her ninth through 11th.

Demons' captain West pockets tying goal

MORRISBURG—Team captain Jeff West came through for his team here Sunday scoring the tying goal with 5:58 left in the final period.

Marty Link and Joey Hillis engineered the tying marker as the North Dundas Bantam "B" Demons tied the Morrisburg Lions 3-3 in an UCMHL contest.

The decision stretched the Demons record to 4-0-2.

Jeff Beck put the Demons up 1-0, tucking a feed from West into Brandon Cassel's net at 10:28 of the opening stanza, only to have Brad Boivin tie it up at 9:05.

North Dundas grabbed another one-goal lead at 11:14 of period two. Jeff Beck and Joey Hillis got the puck to Brad Filion and he made it 2-1. But once again the Lions were quick to respond as Greg Millard tied it up at 9:30.

In period three Morrisburg took their first lead (3-2) when Joel Adams fooled Demons goalie Barret Brundige with 8:59 on the clock. This time West responded for the visitors and tied it up 3-3 for good.

DEMONS 4 - STARS 4

The day before (Nov. 18) at home in Chesterville the Demons had to battle back from 2-0 and 4-2 deficit, to tie the Westport/North Leeds Stars 4- 4.

North Leeds were 2-0 after two but North Dundas were able to knot the count at 2-2 early in the second session. Brad Filion converted from Colin Fossitt and Justin Gravelle at 13:10 to put his squad on the board. Joey Hillis evened it up scoring from Jeff West at 11:07.

Stars Steve Martel was able to connect at 5:05 and 4:01 to push his team into a 4-2 lead before the end of the second.

Marty Link (from Hillis) closed the gap to 4-3 finding twine at 14:16 of the final frame. Hillis came through with his second of the game to tie it up at 10:03. Jeff West set up the play.

Gregg Griffith then held the fort as the Demons remained undefeated.

North Leeds defenceman Craig Bressee tried to put the grab on North Dundas forward Brad Filion as he attacked goalie Jason Murray during Saturday's UCMHL Bantam "B" contest in Chesterville. Joey Hillis (2), Filion and Marty Link scored for the Demons in a 4-4 tie.

TWO WINS

North Dundas opened November turning in a pair of impressive offensive efforts.

On Nov.8 in Napanee they skated to a 7-2 win and on Nov. 10 in Chesterville the Demons dumped Smiths Falls 10-2.

North Dundas led Napanee 2-1 after a period and 5- 2 after two as Gregg Griffith posted the win. Brad Filion picked up two goals and two assists. Jeff West scored once and set up another marker. Joey Hillis and Colin Fossitt each collected a goal and one assist. Marty Link netted one puck. Jeff Beck (2), Justin Heuff, Devon Cinnamon and Ryan Thompson all drew assists.

Smiths Falls trailed North Dundas by period scores of 3-0 and 3-2 but fell well behind in the final frame losing 10-2.

Joey Hillis sparked the winner's attack firing in five goals, while Brad Filion and Justin Gravelle each popped in a pair. Steve Mattice produced one goal and helped out on three others. Jeff Beck (3), Jeff West (2), Marty Link (2), Devon Cinnamon (2) and Daryl Roberts (2) earned assists. Barret Brundige turned in a strong effort protecting the string.
