VOLUME LII - No. 17 Second Class Registration No. 1361

Pleasant Valley Scene of 6th Wallace Reunion

The sixth Wallace Reunion, which was to be held Sunday, Sept. 9, 1973 at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Wallace, Mansel and Marie, Pleasant Valley, was held in the hall, due to cold weather, with 59 registering. 9 new members were added to the Wallace Reunion and 3 guests, coming from Cornwall, Morrisburg, Cardinal Prescott, Domville, Brockville, Kemptville, Hydman, Van Camp, Brinston and Pleasant Valley.

At 1 p.m., everyone enjoyed a smorgasbord dinner together. Following this, the President, Claire Wallace, presided over a short business meeting. During the day, photos were shown of our grandparents and family, namely Jerry, Robert, Annie (Wilson) William, James, Louisa, Elsie (Cowan), who are all deceased except Louisa who is a patient in the Hilltop Nursing Home at Merrickville, and Mrs. James Cowan (Elsie) who was present.

The oldest lady present was Mrs. Elizabeth Wallace of Pleasant Valley.

The oldest gentleman present was Fergus Stinson of Kempt= ville; the oldest descendant was Mrs. Elsie Cowan of Brinston; the youngest girl was Kimberley Lynn Hare, daughter of Lloyd and Janice of Brockville; the youngest boy was Christopher Beckstead, son of Carman & Eva of Prescott. Each received a small gift, including the attendance draw won by Alan Crowder of Van Camp and a gift to be delivered to Louisa in the Hilltop Nursing Home for her birthday in November.

During the year, 1 new member was added by marriage, 4 by birth.

The election of officers for 1974 are as follows:

President - Ruth Stitt, Morrisburg.
Vice President - Arnold Beckstead, Prescott.
Treasurer - Clara Wallace, Cornwall.
Secretary - Nelda Juby, Prescott.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Elizabeth Wallace, Mansel and Marie, for being with them for the day, and to Claire & Rose Wallace and family for offering their home for the 1974 reunion.

During the afternoon, group pictures were taken of each family present and of the whole group. Games of throwing horse shoes were also enjoyed, while others visited. All assembled at 5:30 for supper which brought the enjoyable day to a close.

Final tribute paid John Blair

Mr. John Blair, Lakeshore Drive, R.R.#1, Iroquois, passed away at Winchester Memorial Hospital on the evening of September 27th.

Mr. Blair was born in Ballymena, near Belfast, Northern Ireland, on April 4th, 1893. He came to Canada in 1912 and lived in Montreal. He was one of the pioneers of Ville LaSalle and also of Crawford Park, Verdun, P.Q.

He was employed for 46 years in the C.N.R., interrupted by four years of service in the Armed Forces, 24th Battalion (Victoria Rifles - 1914-18). Upon his retirement, he lived in Bowmanville and then Iroquois for the past eleven years. His love of the St. Lawrence area and the passing boats brought Mr. Blair back to the Iroquois area. As a very young man, (1921) he vacationed with his family in Morrisburg and Farran's Point where he owned a cottage overlooking the Farran's Point Canal.

Mr. Blair was a member of the Canadian National War Veterans' Association.

The funeral service was held on Sept. 30th from Fitzsimmons Funeral Home with Rev. Brian Gee of Iroquois United Church officiating. Interment was in Iroquois United Church Cemetery, Iroquois Point. Pall bearers were Herbert Barkley, John Malone, Robert Bedingfield, Thomas Dow, Dale Barkley and Glendon Disheau.

He is survived by his wife, Jennie Pomeroy, one daughter, Mrs. George Holder, (Patricia) Iroquois, one sister, Mrs. Nellie McCaw, Ballyclare, Northern Ireland; three grandchildren, Shawn, Coleen and Kent.

John Blair will be lovingly remembered and sadly missed by his family and friends.

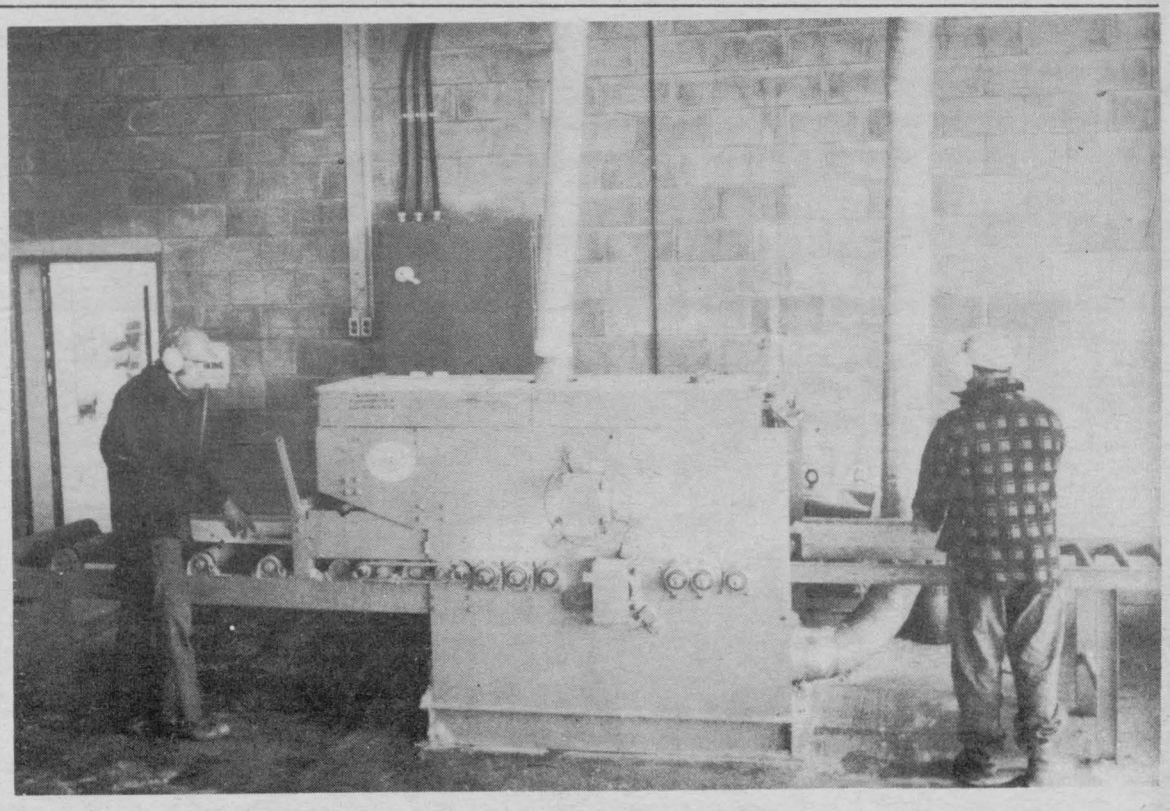

Helping Hands visit Plant

On Wed., Sept. 26, the Senior Citizens group "Helping Hands" from Williamsburg, Brinston and surrounding, visited the Nestle plant in Chesterville. Twenty five members were present.

The "welcome" was very pleasant.

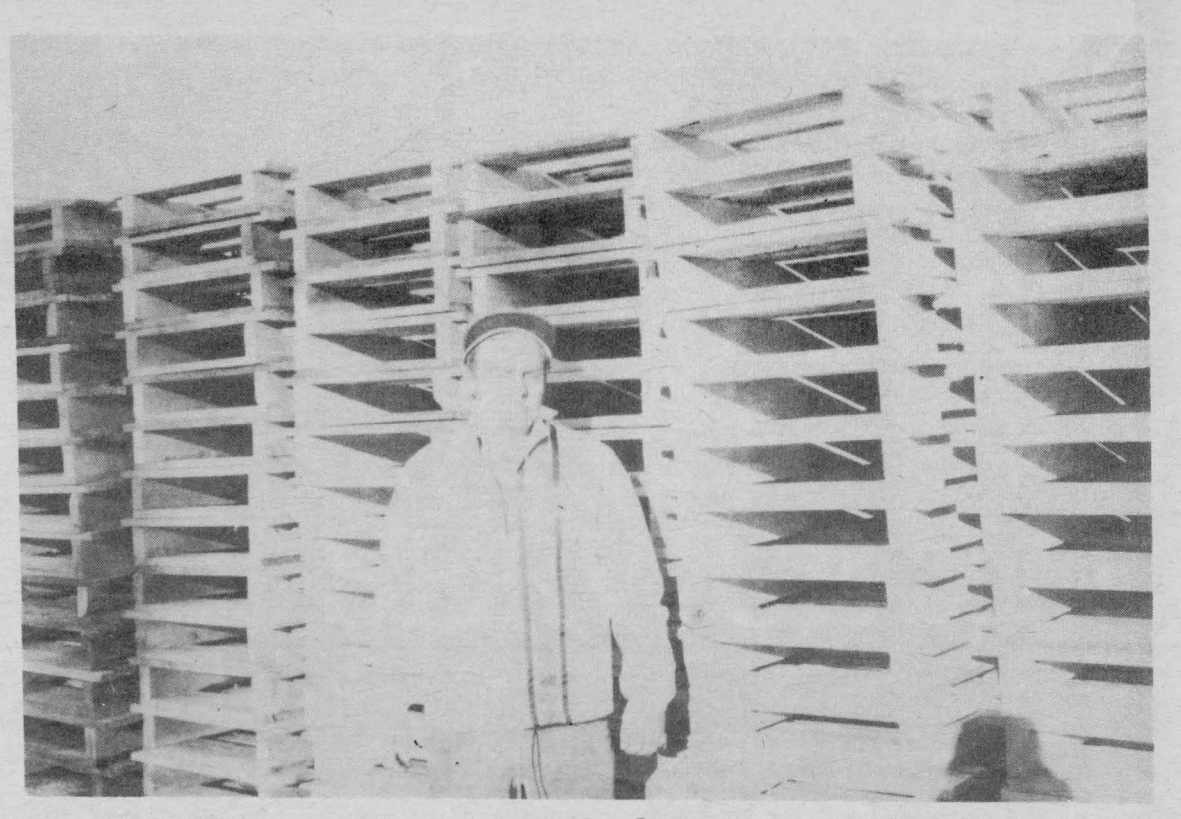

The group was divided in four and each group was given a guide to lead them all through the plant. It was interesting to see the machines and the people operating them, and when everything stopped at once, we learned that without electricity, the people can't do their job.

After the tour, we were presented a cup of coffee or chocolate milk and a friendly word from both the manager and assistant manager. We all received a package of pudding and left the plant very thankful for the wonderful treatment received.

New Machine Installed

Iroquois Enterprises has taken another big step forward with the installation of a new Cornell 500 double arbor resaw. At the left is Ron Peters and on the right, Daryl Runions, operating the new machine. The machine has a capacity of 30 saw blades and is nine times faster than a conventional rip saw, and being automated, makes the job easier. The equipment requires 153 horsepower and is capabale of producing 40,000 pieces of lumber per day

Wins Machine Competition

Lorne Thompson, a machine operator at Iroquois Enterprises, came away from a machinery show at Lansdowne Park, Ottawa, the winner of a beautiful jacket and cap for his superb handling of a log unloader competition during the three-day machinery exhibition recently. The show was sponsored as the Canadian Forestry Machinery Show with Lorne operating a Prentice log unloader. Best wishes are extended to Lorne and to Iroquois Enterprises.

Cross-Country Meet At Limerick Forest

Saturday, September 29, Seaway's Cross Country teams attended a meet at Limerick Forest, just north of Prescott. The course was run on dirt paths through the forest by about 60 participants.

In the Midget race (approx. 2 miles) the winner was Seaway's Stephen Smith, time 11:15. Scott Payne placed 9th, Jamie Findlay 22nd, Dave Welton 24th, Chris Gleeson 27th and Doug Casselman 32nd. The team combined to place 3rd.

In the 2.8 open, Max Barr placed 5th, Andy Schneckenburger 9th, Bill Veley 13th, Don Adams 16th, and Kevin Whittier 39th, to win 3rd place again for our "A" team. The "B" team saw Lee Beaupre placing 23rd, Kevin McIntosh 24th, Rock Villeneuve 37th, Arden Schneckenburger 43rd and Danny Scully 50th. Coach Verhoeven is pleased his boys' workouts are showing such positive results.

Political Juggling

Watching television reports of what goes on in parliament in Ottawa and the interviews with members of parliament, one wonders what real interest many of those members have in the welfare of the country.

Instead of playing politics with each other we wish they would get down to the business of pulling this country out of the quagmire.

The NDP is playing a delaying game to see if they can hang on long enough to build up their sagging fortunes so that they can afford another election. The Conservatives are playing around with politics in the hope that they can someday frame the government into calling it quits or into turning over the reins to the PC party. And the federal Liberals are kicking the ball in all directions as they strive to hang onto power for another six or eight months until the "climate" is better.

Meanwhile, the rest of us suffer the consequences of all this struggling on parliament hill and are getting fed up with the bickering that goes on daily.

Now who in their right mind thinks that a vote of non-confidence is going to unseat the Liberals when really neither of the other two major parties wants this to happen just yet. Not one member wants an election in December, now , or later. They wouldn't want it in the Winter months either because of uncertain weather conditions in much of Canada. So that puts it off until Spring or Summer next year.

Yet each day we hear one of the opposition members almost pleading to get on with another election! They're either stupid or they take the population to be just as stupid...or both!

We really wonder what would happen to all three major parties right now if there was an election. They might all get the surprise of their lives.

Sport Madness

The world is being taken over by professional sport.

Remember gentler days of hockey on the radio and baseball, a game Dad and junior played over at the park? Football and basketball were something rich kids pursued on college campuses.

But now --WOW -- sport as big business is blared to the top of the news on radio, breathlessly front-paged in newspapers, and is endlessly played and instant-replayed on television.

Church, fraternal groups, concerts and Home and School meetings have to fit their activities around "the game". Ministers don't dare hold Sunday evening services --or anything else during prime hockey evenings during the week. Hockey players are paid millions to jump leagues.

Baseball cards are given away with bubble gum to hook the tots and busts of hockey players are packed in toothpaste cartons to ensnare the hygenic!

The '76 Olympics is going to cost millions and the controversy over it may divide Canada as separatism never could.

Meanwhile, pinched school boards schedule only two periods of physical education a week, because they can't afford a proper daily program. Municipal recreation facilities limp along with inferior equipment.

What all this means is the short end of the stick for youngsters and adults who would rather play than watch--- and fewer gold medals for Canadians in '76, because the big money goes professional --never amateur.

Ontario Safety League; Lessons in Truth Week

Let's make this Lessons in Truth Week, suggests the Ontario Safety League. When you tell yourself it's alright to cheat on the traffic regulations or chisel on the safety rules now and then, are you telling yourself the truth?

A gradual stop gives the driver behind you time to react and space to stop, says the Ontario Safety League.

THIS WEEK from Ottawa

ENERGY CONFERENCE

Energy, Mines and Resources Minister Donald Macdonald has agreed to convene a federal-provincial conference on energy matters.

The demand for a national energy conference came from the 10 provincial premiers when they met in Charlottetown in August.

Federal and provincial ministers and officials are to meet in Toronto, November 23, to discuss an agenda – no date has as yet been set for the conference.

PM IN CHINA

Prime Minister Trudeau leaves Ottawa October 8, for a 7-day business trip to China. The Prime Minister will meet with Premier Chou En Lai and he will be accompanied by about 45 journalists.

FORMAL RECOGNITION

Canada has extended diplomatic recognition to the new military government in Chile.

External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp, in making the announcement, said the formal recognition would aid the Canadian Embassy in Santiago in its assistance to Canadians and others affected by the September 11 coup.

FOOD PRICES REPORT

The first quarterly report of the Food Prices Review Board, released a week ago, has concluded that Canadian food prices "are not rocketing out of control."

Chairman Beryl Plumptre forecast that prices on beef, pork, poultry and eggs had peaked and could be expected to decrease.

The report predicts that food prices would continue to rise but at a decreasing rate and not at the 13% rate recorded in the first half of 1973.

WHEAT EXPORTS

Canadian wheat exports for the crop year 1972-73 reached 578 million bushels – 15% above the previous year's total and the third highest on record.

LABOUR FORCE

Canada's labour force seasonally adjusted rose to 9,317,000 in August from 9,228,000 in July, an increase of 89,000, reported Statistics Canada.

DONATION DISCLOSURE

The latest Financial Times Survey of Business Opinion on the new Election Expenses legislation suggests that business strongly supports the public disclosure of donations to political parties.

The Survey shows that 71% of the business executives surveyed after the bill had received second reading agreed with the public disclosure of donations while only 26% disagreed.

Bill Smiley

A BOB, A BARMAID AND A BRIGADIER

by Bill Smiley

Last week I was talking of the fun of meeting people when you are travelling. It's not that your friends at home are dull.

They're probably more interesting than some of the types with whom you become bosom buddies on short acquaintance. But the people you meet on holiday are a refreshing affirmation that the earth contains an infinite variety of creatures of the human species.

This week I'd like to finish these thoughts by introducing you to three greatly different people we met in England: a Bob, a Barmaid, and a Brigadier.

Hurtling from Edinburgh to Chester on a train, we picked up at the ancient and bloody old city of Carlisle, near the Scottish border, an addition to our compartment.

I didn't mean that Carlisle is bloody in the sense of bloody awful. But it did change hands several times in the bloody border wars. And it was there that William Wallace, the great Scots rebel, was put on public view in a cage, before he was hanged, drawn and quartered, and his parts affixed on various pikepoles about the city, as a lesson to the Scots "rebels", in the fourteenth century.

Anyway, Bob Mitchell proved an agreeable travelling companion. He was interested, intersting, and affable. We'd been in the same war, he on corvettes in the navy, I in the air force. We nattered about taxes, housing costs, comparative incomes.

As we rattled through the Lakes District, he went to pains to point out things and sights of interest. He suggested a good restaurant in London. A veritable gentleman, in this age of boors.

He proved this when we stopped to change for Chester. I started wrestling with our luggage and an incipient coronary. Before I could say, "Bob Mitchell", he had whipped the two big suitcases off the overhead rack, nipped out and put them on the platform. You'd have to be a basket case for this to happen to you in Canada.

During our earlier conversation, he told me he had a cousin in Neepawa, Man. I told him my column was in the Neepawa Press. So here's his message to his cousin: "Ask if Fred Crook remembers his visits to the Roman Wall area of Cumberland and Northumberland and his walks along the beach at Southborune." There you are, Fred Crook.

The Barmaid. I'd been telling my wife for years about the barmaids of Britain. They are NOT the busty, blowsy barmaids of fiction. But they are a breed of their own, with their, "Wot'll it be, ducks?", and "Ta, luv." Ta means thanks.

But they seemed to be a vanishing breed, supplanted by young women with too much make-up, wearing slacks and a bored expression.

I was beginning to despair of finding a real English barmaid. But we did. She was Heather, in the Tudor, Westminster Hotel, Chester. She was 100 per cent proof of everything I'd been telling the Old Lady.

She ran that bar like the ringmaster of a three-ring circus. Excellent service, a joke or a personal word for all the regulars. No play for tips. Peanuts or potato chips for anyone who looked as though he needed it. And all the time humming a song, pirouetting behind the bar, actually enjoying life. A delightful person.

And nobody, but nobody, got out of line in that pub. It was not a matter of rules, or threats, but of personality.

Then there was the Brigadier. He was another kettle of fish, a horse of a different colour, or, rather, of a number of different colours, like a chameleon.

He was either a Scottish lord or the biggest liar in London, and I lean toward the latter.

We had a casual drink together, and he was friendly. I swiftly learned that he was 58 (he looked 42), had been in the Cameron Highlanders, was a retired Brigadier, had been with British intelligence, "But we mustn't talk about that, of course."

That's when I began to suspect. When he told me he spoke Hungarian, Roumanian and Polish without an accent, my suspicions deepened.

When I said, in my blunt Canadian way, "How come?", he answered airily, "Part of the job, old boy."

When I asked his name, he said, "Just call me Cameron." It seemed he was the Lord of Lochiel, and he muttered about the Camerons and their feuds with the McDonalds and others.

He had an unnerving habit of drinking six Pernods while I was worrying through two half pints. Then he'd get quite stoned and mumble on and on, "I'm drunk. I say, I'm drunk. I'm as drunk as a lord. But of course I am a lord, so it's all right."

We parted after several encounters, and I asked for his address. He wrote down, "Cameron" and an address in Edinburgh. Then he thought better, and above "Cameron" he wrote, "Lord of Locheil". Then he thought again, and in front of that wrote, "Rt. Hon." Only thing, he couldn't spell Lochiel.

Later that week, in Edinburgh, I was tempted to check at the address he'd given, but decided against. Didn't want to spoil a beautiful myth.

Well, there you are. A Bob, a Barmaid, and a Brigadier.

O.P.P. Release

Commissioner H. H. Graham recently announced that the Police Force will test the four-day, forty-hour work week, commencing on or about January 1, 1974.

In accordance with the memorandum of understanding with the Ontario Provincial Police Association, four detachments of various sizes will be selected for this study.

It is anticipated that the test will be for a period not exceeding six months. Following this, the results will be evaluated as to the possible implementation throughout the Force.

Global Television to turn on soon

Global Television's multi-million dallar grid of six transmitters covering Souther Ontario will be turned on in December, President A. A. Bruner said today.

Bruner said the intricate system of remotely-controlled transmitters will be ready for testing prior to Global's formal launch into full programming in January, 1974.

He said the transmitters will broadcast test patterns so that the scores of cable companies in Southern Ontario and the citizens and TV servicemen who rely on antennas will be able to tune in the new network.

Global was licensed in July, 1972, by the Canadian Radio-Television Commission to provide a third national-calibre program service to 7.3 million Canadians living in Southern Ontario. Global's programs will also be syndicated elsewhere in Canada.

Bruner made his announcements in connection with a tour through Ontario visiting the sites of the new transmitters and the population centres to be affected by the new service.

Question: Some of the paint on my power mower is coming off, especially around the engine and inside the rotary-blade housing. Is there a paint that will improve the appearance of the mower and also resist the heat caused by the engine on the outside and the air friction inside the housing?
Answer: Yes. Try Tremco Heat Resistant Enamel. It's made for metal products, like your mower, that are subject to heat. It'll resist temperatures up to 650° F and where there's no direct contact with fire.

Tremco Heat Resistant Enamels come in handy spray cans. Colours are flat black, orange, metallic aluminum, and metallic gold—all selected because they're the best for heat resistance and durability.

To get a lasting finish, use a wire brush to remove any rust and loose, blistering, or peeling paint down to the bare metal. And clean off all oil, grease, dirt, grass, etc. When all surfaces are clean and dry, spray the enamel directly on the metal with the exception of the muffler, which can exceed the enamel's temperature limit of 650° F. No primer is needed.

Tremco Heat Resistant Enamels are also ideal for such heat-exposed items as as home barbecues, heating radiators and registers.

If you have other questions about Tremco Heat Resistant Enamels, write to Tom Tremfix, The Tremco Manufacturing Company (Canada) Ltd., 220 Wicksteed Avenue, Toronto, Ontario M4H 1G7

Report by Walter Baker, M.P.

The latest figures released by Statistics Canada indicate that wages are barely keeping up with prices, and that if present trends continue, Canadians are going to be hit even harder by rising costs, Walter Baker, Progressive Conservative Deputy House Leader said today. The fact that John Turner's Office disagrees with Statistics Canada does not cut much ice with me, Mr. Baker said. "John's track record for accuracy is dismal, he might have more luck with an astrologer."

"The Liberal Cabinet persists in perpetrating the myth that Canadians are better off than ever before", Mr. Baker said. John Turner told the House on Sept. 10th that "the great majority of Canadians have experienced a further substantial improvement in their real standard-of-living over the past year", and Agriculture Minister Whelan quoted a story in which a reporter purportedly said that he could buy more food now than 10 years ago.

These latest statistics show that the standard-of-living is doing no better than standing still. In addition, Mr. Baker continued, the fight for salary increases to keep up with inflation is itself pushing inflation higher.

Mr. Baker said that unless the Government decides to act, labour unrest could become a major problem in Canada. "It can be expected that the high wholesale price index recently published by Statistics Canada will continue to exert upward pressures on the consumer price index. The net effect can well mean continued high inflation".

Mr. Baker praised Premier Davis' initiative in pressing for a federal-provincial conference to examine the long-term effects of inflation on the Canadian economy.

He concluded that if the Trudeau Government had accepted Mr. Stanfield's proposal for economic controls, workers wouldnot be suffering to the extent they are today.

Live to tell the tale

Hundreds of times a day across the country this is the outcry: I SMELL SMOKE.

Should it happen to you, here are some thoughts, whether you live in a house, a high rise apartment or on the job.

In The Home:

Try to find the source. If you find fire or its threat, do not panic.

If you find an upholstered cushion smoking, don't try to quench it by pouring water on the spot. Fire travels.

Call the fire department. Don't try to fight a big fire by yourself.

If it happens in the kitchen by flare-up of cooking grease, smother the pan with a lid. Carrying the pan to the door invites blow-back of the flame by the draft to your clothing. "I lost a garbage cover but not a whole house," writes a grateful woman for this advice.

Get everybody out. Fire spreads faster than you can run. Don't take time to dress.

Know the telephone number to report fire.

In a High-rise:

Two basic rules for safety: Know the alarm systems and drill.

Know the exit plan.

If fire strikes, call the fire department yourself. Don't depend on others to do this.

Alert other people on the floor.

Try to get out. But do not use the elevators. Use the stairs. The reason for this is important. The elevator may shut down, trapping you.

If the hall or stairwell is filled with smoke, go back and close the door. Plug the bottom of the door. Open a window at top or bottom and hang something out to report position. Stay close to the window and to the floor. Don't jump unless you have a rope or knotted bedsheet as a lifesaver.

Doors closed stop smoke, slows flame.

On The Job:

If you have a new job, ask about the fire drill and where the extinguishers are. Also the sprinklers.

If there's a fire, sound an immediate alarm and do not depend on others to call the fire department. Safe evacuation of people and containment of the fire calls for early warning.

Water is the best way of putting out most fires, but its use on an oil fire spreads the fire, since water and oil do not relate.

Automobile Drivers Responsible For Many Motorcycle Accidents

The number of motorcycle drivers killed in Ontario in 1971-72 shows a marked increase over previous years. Statistics recently released show that 65 motorcyclists were killed and 2,463 injured during the period Sept. 1971 to Aug. 1972. This compares with 49 killed and 2,440 injured over the same 1970-71 period. The number of motorcycle passengers killed in Ontario last year stands at 16, with 641 injured, reports the Ontario Safety League.

Information concerning the circumstances surrounding these fatalities is not yet available, but a study just completed by the University of North Carolina Highway Safety Research Centre indicates that in most crashes involving a motorcycle and an automobile, the driver of the automobile is at fault. 935 motorcycle crashes were studied and researchers found that about two-thirds of the crashes involved more than one vehicle and almost all of these involved a motorcycle and an automobile. In 62 per cent of the multi-vehicle crashes, the driver was found to be at fault. In most instances, the car was making a left turn in front of the motorcycle when the collison occured. The car pulling in front of the motorcycle was the second most frequent contributing cause.

The motocycle driver was at fault in only 29 per cent of the multi-vehicle collisions. According to the study, in most of these cases the motorcyclist was "following too close."

In single vehicle crashes involving motorcycles, loss of control while rounding a curve was the most frequent cause, occuring in one-third of the cases. Loss of control was also caused by pedestrians, animals, or bicycles darting onto the road and by gravel and oil slicks on the road. Very few instances were found where the motorcycle driver was at fault in a single vehicle crash.

An important factor in motorcycle crashes seemed to be the presence of passengers. Passengers were present in 12 per cent of the total number of accidents studied and in 30 per cent of those involving fatalities. Researchers also found that passengers were more often present in the single vehicle accidents than in multi-vehicle crashes.

In Ontario, fatalities occured in 2.2% of all motorcycle accidents last year, states the Ontario Safety League. Less than .7% of all passenger car accidents involved fatalities.

Knox P.Y.P.S. plan Toronto outing

Margaret Dewit chaired the meeting of the Knox P.Y.P.S. held in the church hall on Monday evening, Oct. 1st., with 13 members and leaders answering the roll-call. Opening worship was conducted by the President, with spirit songs, a responsive reading of Psalm 65 and the Prayer of St. Francis. The Rev. Hibbs gave a reading entitled "A New World". The offering was taken by John Dewit and dedicated by group prayer.

The Minister introduced the study for the evening with a blackboard description of the meaning of Thanksgiving.. For What? or For What it is For? Thanksgiving in the context of the Church's Mission was the theme of the study, the group being divided into two teams. A descriptive outline of statements concerning Thanksgiving was studied and the five most important statements used in the enactment of actual situations of where "Thanksgiving is What For?" The Minister conducted the report-back by the teams, the study concluding with the singing of the spirit song "I Can See a New World".

Gwenn Smollett gave the secretary's report, and the Minister reported on the treasury for Norman Ladouceur. It was noted that the new 1974 Date Calendars were available, and members given copies to sell. A P.Y.P.S. booth will be at the Ladies' Aid Bazaar in the Civic Centre, Friday, Oct. 26th, with calendars, crabapple jelly, and cookbooks on sale. Plans for an outing to Toronto on Nov. 2-4th were completed, including transportation, accommodation and sights to see. Transportation fees were collected from the members going. Other business included final plans for decorating the sanctuary for Thanksgiving Sunday; the making of three signs for the Ladies' Aid Bazaar; the forming of a P.Y.P.S. Choir for Laity Sunday on Oct. 21st; setting the date of the Christmas Party, Dec. 14th; deciding on a Christmas Candles Project; the choosing of a committee concerning the Centennial Banner, Misses Margaret Dewit, Joan Ladouceur and Gwenn Smollett, and the assigning of A. Yee, Gail Fuisse, Bill Barnhardt and John Dewit for refreshments at the next meeting. The next study will be conducted by A. Yee and Gwenn Smollett.

An interesting game, entitled "Squirms" was conducted by Harry Norton and John Dewit, following which refreshments were served and the Mizpah Benediction pronounced.

Good Companions Party Night

Good Companions, Iroquois and Matilda, are planning a Party Night at the Civic Centre on Wed. Oct. 24th, 8:30 - 11:30 p.m. Our feature attraction will be Mrs. Albert Merkley as guest organist and well known music maker.

An invitation to Good Companions Party Night is being extended to all interested people who are post fifty, and the Cardinal and Morrisburg Senior Citizen Clubs have received invitations. General admission is $1.00, with coffee and doughnuts at cost.

What do we plan to do at our Party Night? There'll be lots of fun for everyone with a good variety of entertainment. You can have a visit, listen to music, have a dance, play a game or cards, or scrabble, or crokinole, enjoy a sing song, and in any appropriate way have a really good time. We've earned it, Senior Citizens, so let's enjoy it! Circle the 24th for Good Companions, Iroquois and Matilda.

You want to hear all about our trip to Lake Placid? We had an absolutely gorgeous time on October 3rd, leaving the Drop-In Centre at 9 a.m. but not before we had a greeting prayer and uplift from our own Mr. Rogers. Crossing over at Cornwall, we went down through Malone to Lake Placid where we had a couple of hours of free time centred around lunch. On our way home we took an hour at Malone, and this turned out to be quite a lot of fun.

The colour all along the way was beautiful, even though clouds prevented our seeing the grandeur of the top of the mountains. But it was a lovely day, we had a good driver, lots of good spirits, and best of all, a safe return to Iroquois.

The Board of Directors will meet on Wed. Oct. 17th at 1:30 p.m., Drop-in Centre, to develop Good Companions Party Night, and to deal with other important matters that relate to the work of Senior Citizens. Good Companions is now affiliated with U.S.C.O., United Senior Citizens of Ontario, who tatal a membership of 500 Clubs.

In case any reader is interested, U.S.C.O. publishes "The Voice" ten times a year at $1.50. Anyone specificly interested in promoting the work of Senior Citizens in Ontario is invited to become a STAR Member by the contribution of $1.00. If you chose to do this, the address is U.S.C.O. Inc., 105-4th Street, Toronto, Ontario M8V 2Y4.

Are YOU missing a good time? Good Companions, Iroquois & Matilda now total over 100 members!

Today, Wed., Oct. 10th, Good Companions meet for their regular second-Wed.-of-the-month meeting at the Civic Centre at 1:30 p.m. for fellowship program and planning for the fall season.

Ontario Safety League

Of course you dim your lights for other drivers, but what about pedestrians, asks the Ontario Safety League? They can see better when your lights are on lower beam, and there's less chance they'll be blinded into a hazardous act. Give pedestrians the same break you give the vehicles you meet.

A pedestrian charged with ignoring a "Don't Walk" sign came up with a novel excuse. He said he saw the sign all right, but he thought it was an advertisement for a cab company. The Ontario Safety League reminds pedestrians, as well as motorists, to watch out for and obey all traffic signs. A novel excuse isn't funny after an accident.

OCTOBER

SAUSAGE SORCERY

* Take a salami sandwich to lunch today. You'll be doing yourself a favor if you do, because meat gives you the go-power for a hard day's work.

* Serve meaty appetizers with a cranberry juice cocktail before Thanksgiving dinner. Spread slices of cervelat with softened cream cheese and stack about 5 or 6 high. Chill well. Cut into wedges and serve.

* Turkey takes an encore in this chef's salad special. Toss two quarts of salad greens in a large bowl. Over the top arrange 1 cup of sliced turkey meat, ¼ pound summer sausage cut in strips, ½ cup slivered Swiss cheese and 1 sliced hard cooked egg. Serve with oil and vinegar dressing. Four to six servings.

* Home economists for Union Carbide say sandwiches don't all have to taste alike. How's this for a change? For six open-faced sandwiches, toast six slices of white bread. Place two slices of ham loaf on each piece of toast. Drain a 2½ ounce can of sliced mushrooms and warm them with drained crushed pineapple from a 15¼ ounce can. Put a rounded quarter-cupful of this warmed mixture over the ham loaf. Sprinkle on some curry powder, top each with a slice of cheddar cheese and broil until the cheese bubbles.

* If you're planning a Halloween party, you may be spooked by the problem of what to serve. Hot dogs in a steaming cauldron of barbecue sauce, with buns at the ready, will please party-goers of all ages. So will round loaf lunchmeat on round sandwiches. They'll look like "ghost faces" if you add features; pimento olives for eyes and curvy pickles for smiles.

* Grownups deserve their own Halloween party after a couple of hours being tricked. Treat them to their favorite beverage and appetizers. Here's one they'll like. Melt ¼ cup butter; add onion and cook until onions are tender. Remove casing from ½ pound liverwurst, chop and saute for a couple of minutes. Add 3 hard cooked eggs that you've chopped. Sprinkle on as much salt and pepper as you like. Nice with crackers!

* Copies of "Sausage Sorcery", a recipe booklet prepared by Union Carbide Canada Limited, may be obtained by writing Family Food Counsellor, Suite 500, 101 Bloor Street W., Toronto, Ontario M5S 1P7.

GET STRAWBERRY PLANTS READY FOR WINTER

An overcrowded strawberry patch this fall means fewer berries next spring, says R. A. Fleming, horticultural specialist, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Strawberry plants continue to grow new runners well into the autumn. These new plants compete for essential soil nutrients. Remove surplus plants and late starters by pinching-off the runners to prevent further growth. To spur new rooting and root development, it's a good idea to peg down sections of runners.

A small amount of a good commercial fertilizer, such as a 5-20-20, worked into the soil will strengthen the plants for the winter and help to ensure healthy growth next spring.

Offer Boating Cources

The Iroquois Power Squadron will be conducting a variety of boating courses this winter for the purpose of promoting "Safer Boating" in Canada.

Registration night will be Oct. 18th at 8 p.m. at the Iroquois Legion Hall.

These courses are sponsored by the Canadian Power Squadrons and are fully covered by text books and necessary instructions.

Classes are conducted by qualified instructors who are well trained in the subjects and give their time free to assist you.

If you are interested in "Safe Boating", rules and regulations of our waterways, navigation, sailing or increasing your knowledge and skill of handling your boat, these courses are for you.

If you cannot attend the registration night and wish further information, contact Lee McCurdy, Prescott; Al Newson, Cardinal; Keith Beaupre, Gerry Cornell, George Eddy, Iroquois; Doug McGillis, Morrisburg or Bob Geggie, Winchester.

Hallowe'en for Unicef

October is the pause between harvest-time and the brisk, snowy days of Canadian winter. The fruits and vegetables have been gathered from orchard and field; the grain crops are safely stored. This is the season we celebrate, for we live in a bountiful land.

Some countries had no harvest this year. Severe drought caused crop failures and food shortages in India. The people of West Africa suffered famine and epidemics of cholera and measles.

UNICEF helps children who live in the shadows of starvation and disease with emergency food, medicines and water. In 111 countries it also provides long-term programmes in health, education, nutrition and family and child welfare. Support Hallowe'en r UNICEF.

Recreation Tips

Whatever type of trailer you may have been using this summer - a camper or house trailer for accommodation or trailering a boat - the Ontario Safety League suggests this is a good time to give the running gear a thorough safety check. Road vibration tends to loosen bolts and connections, so go over the frame, hitch mechanism and wiring to be sure everything is in good working order.

Most trailer wheels are smaller than those on automobiles and consequently turn at higher speeds which create increased stress and wear on tires and bearings.

In Memoriams

Warren - In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Harry Warren, who passed away Oct. 14, 1969:
Resting where no shadows fall,
In perfect peace he awaits us all;
God will link the broken chain
And one by one we'll meet again.
Sadly missed by wife Marion and Family. 17-1-p

Bowden - In loving memory of Arthur G. Bowden:
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear,
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.

Seeley - In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Jesse Miles Seeley, who passed away Oct. 7th, 1958.
The rolling stream of life rolls on;
But still the vacant chair,
Recalls the love, the voice and the smile,
Of the one who sat there.
If we could have one lifetime wish that could come true,
We'd pray to God with all our hearts,
For yesterday, and you.
Sadly missed and always remembered by wife Georgia and Family. 17-1-p

Soccer Tournament

The annual Dundas County Soccer Tournament will be held at Iroquois Public School on Saturday, October 13th.

Seventeen teams will compete for the Junior and Senior championships.

All parents and other interested people are welcome to attend, to see the children participate in the games. The starting time is 9:00 a.m. and the winners will be declared by 3:00 p.m.

Jehovah Witnesses to attend seminar

After sharing in an intensive 10-day international distribution of 130,000,000 tracts from house to house, it's off to Ottawa for the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses where they will attend a seminar to help keep the ball rolling.

The tract distribution was a major feature of the local congregation's public ministry during the last 10 days of September.

"The circuit convention in Ottawa, October 13 and 14, will provide impetus to follow through with the work at hand," said Roy Strand, circuit supervisor for the Ottawa and St. Lawrence Seaway areas.

"There is strong evidence the world is fast reaching a critical climax that will affect every person on earth. The Bible tells about this crisis and our ministry is to encourage people to examine what it says about survival for better conditions in the near future."

The Ottawa convention will focus on appreciating God's view of life as an incentive to be disciples of Jesus and to help others to be the same.

Christianity as a way of life is being missed by the majority of church-goers, according to the Witnesses. Their convention theme --"Keep Close in Mind the Day of Jehovah"-- is a reminder of the urgency with which they view the matter.

A public talk, "Act Wisely as the End Draws Near", will be delivered by Larry Lees of Toronto on Sunday at 1:55 p.m. as a highlight of the convention.

All sessions for the two-day gathering will be held at the Ottawa High School of Commerce Auditorium.
