Mrs Jas. Sommerville, prexy St. Mary's CWL hold annual

Members of St Mary's Council, C.W.L. in Chesterville were treated to a delightful trip, via picture slides, to Hawaii, Fiji Islands, New Zealand and Australia, at their annual meeting on Wednesdy, April 16th.

The meeting, which was preceded by a pot-luck supper, was presided over by Miss Marion Lynch, retiring president. The annual reports made by Mrs R. Chambers, treasurer, and the president, showed another successful year.

Fr. J. J. Collins, Director, added his comments and thanks to the outgoing executive and presented Miss Lynch with a past president's pin. He then introduced the new executive which is as follows:

Mrs Jas. Sommerville, president Mrs Bert Van Kessel, secretary; Mrs Peter Grisel, treasurer; Mrs Bert Lynch, 1st vice president; Mrs Rene Moss, 2nd vice president and Mrs Martin S. Derks, 3rd vice president.

After the meeting, Miss Lynch introduced the guest for the evening, Miss Marion Casselman of Chesterville.

Miss Casselman, through her many beautiful slides and running commentary provided the trip to Australia and the Islands. Although her tour was made a few years previously, Miss Casselman's vivid recollection of the many places visited made it most enjoyable for everyone. Mrs L. Moriarty thanked the guest on behalf of the members.

Strike goes on new meeting today

The latest meeting between executive and management of the strike-bound Nestle (Canada) Limited plant is being held today. This will be the fourth meeting in April in an effort to find the way out of the deadlock.

Management, under the signature of manager J. D. Moonie, has sent out two letters to union members in the past five days. The first letter ontlined in detail the present position of the company and the offers it had presented, first at the April 3rd meeting and then at the following short sessions. The second continued the discussion and expresed the hope the company offer would be recognized and that "its firm position would now be obvious to everyone."

This newspaper has not had any contact with the union executive this week and we are unable to report on their present attitude.

Carlton McInnis speaks on wills and death taxes to County Federation of Ag.

The annual meeting of the Federation was held recently in the Winchester Town hall. Carlton McInnis, Morrisburg, introduced by Doug Irvine, gave a very interesting talk on the pleasant topic of wills and death taxes. The speaker stated that there is still a number of citizens under the impression that if a will is drawn up it brought on a quicker death. He recommended that a will be drawn up and reviewed every three or four years to keep in line with, not only changing family conditions, but changing legislation concerning gift, inheritance and death taxes. Mr McInnis also stated that there was a trend for some of the larger farm units to become incorporated. The speaker was thanked by Martin Schneckenburger,

The president, Arthur Milne, welcomed the gathering and gave a short report on the year's work. The Financial statement showed receipts of $2316.00 and expenditures of $2224.00 which included $1800.00 remitted to the Ontario Federation. The small balance does not leave much to spend on local projects, which strongly points out that any farm group has to be properly financed to be effective.

Miss Dianna Baker, Morrisburg presented a very enjoyable musical program which was extremely enjoyed by the audience.

Hugh Blaine led a discussion on the necessity of one general, well-financed, farm organization to be financed by a check-off system on farm products sold. One tenth of one per cent was mentioned or $20.00 on a $20,000.00 farm intake. This would give the Organization approximately $1,300,000.00 per year. Hugh stated that the much talked of vote of one farm organization should be taken in early summer and urged all farmers not only to vote for the scheme but to see that their neighbours understood what the vote meant and then to make sure they voted. Agriculture has lost its political power since only 5% of Ontario's voters are farmers and a strong organization representing all farmers is needed to bring farm problems to the attention of governments.

Doug Keyes, stated that the growing of corn was still on the upswing as he understood that the seed houses have reported a 25% increase in the sale of seed

Arthur Duncan entertains large Rotary function

Chesterville Rotary members, their wives and friends were charmed and impressed by speaker Arthur "Art" Duncan of Batawa on Monday night. Mr Duncan, personnel manager and public relations director of the Bata Shoe Company, kept his audience laughing, sober and intent with consummate ease. His range of stories was complete for every taste and his message of goodwill was appropriate. He was introduced by president N. Harris and thanked by Lorne Thompson. The meeting was held in the dininghall of Trinity United Church.

Appoint area administrator Ian Reid rehired

Ian Reid, the popular administrator of North Dundas District High School has been hired as area administrator for Dundas county schools. Mr Reid is to receive a salary of $7,800, which is the same as his counterpart administrator John Munro of Dalkeith for Stormont and Glengarry areas outside of Cornwall.

United Counties levy increases

The primary business of United Counties Council at the April session was passage of bylaws authorizing a total levy of taxes for county purposes of $1,264,400. This is an increase of $140,600 over the 1968 figure.

Since it is levied against a total assessment of $67,865,121, compared with a 1968 assessment of $64,752,299, this is in effect an increase of two mills in the county rate levied against municipalities.

Cameron Kennedy, clerk-treasurer of the United Counties, emphasized tha tthis assessment rate is not necessarily the same as that used by municipalties in making up tax rolls.

The lergest taxpaying municipality is Cornwall Township, with a levy of $154,220.42.

The counties ruled to accept an offer of the Bank of Nova Scotia and the Bank of Montreal each to buy half of a $185,000 debenture to support a grant to Cornwall General Hospital. This is to carry 8½ per cent interest.

The greatest single expenditure of the United Counties is on roads and bridges with $630,700 levied against ratepayers for that purpose. General government carries a price tag of $251,150, social and family services, among them the maintenance of Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge, costs $129,500 and the health services $83,300.

Councillors supported a Lampton County resolution that capital expenditures by the new boards of education should require approval by municipalities. Another resolution asks further consideration be given to regional government so that this change should not be imposed on any municipality without its concurrence.

The memory of former councillors E. B. McMillan and John L. McDonald were honoured with a minute's silence and a resolution of condolence to surviving members of their families. Warden Cecil McNabb. expressed his appreciation to council members for a brief, business-like and productive session.

Morewood Calf Club meets at Porteous home

The first meting of the Morewood 4-H Calf Club was held at the farm of Mr Hugh Porteous on Thursday, April 17.

The meeting was called to order by the president Frank Casselman, who had the club repeat the 4-H pledge. The roll call, minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary Wilmer Porteous.

Gary Buck gave the senior members of the club a lesson on genetics and heredity, while Bill Smirle, the leader of the club, gave the junior members a lesson on how to judge cows. A test was then written by all the members concerning information given out at the organization meeting.

A class of four aged Holstein cows was judged by the members. Most of the members were asked to give their reasons for placing the class.

Gary Buck and Bill Smirle then gave the official placing and reasons. Gary Buck gave a lesson of sire evaluation to the senior members, mentioning they will have to use sire evaluation at the next meeting.

The meeting was then adjourned to the house where lunch was served by Mrs Porteous. Mr and Mrs Porteous were thanked by R. MacGregor.

The next meeting will be held at the farm of Mr Malcolm MacGregor on Thurday, May 15.

Junior Farmers enjoy bowling following meeting

Newington District Junior Farmers' Club held their monthly meeting in the Board Room of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, Cornwall. The meeting got underway at about 8.30 p.m. with a capacity crowd.

Frank Comeron gave a report on the recently held Guelph conference. Plans for the making of calf blankets, which is the club project, were made and the various jobs involved were assigned to the volunteers.

The members of the Club decided to contribute $20 per year to the County Executive Club. In preparation for a joint dance, to be held in the future and sponsored by the different clubs in the area, Janie Reilly was chosen as queen. Also discussed was the possibiilty of forming a square dance team to compete at the Kemptville conference.

When the business of the evening had been cleared away it was time for pleasure, and the Junior Farmers converged on the Towne Line Lanes for an evening of bowling. From all the smiles and laughter it seemed safe to conclude with an old cliché: "A good time was had by all."

Fast time this Saturday night

Fast Time will start in the village on Saturday night at midnight. It would be well that householders remember to set their clocks ahead an hour before retiring. Otherwise there might be a few stragglers at church Sunday morning.

Small blaze here Tuesday night

The siren squalled Tuesday night to signal a small blaze just behind the fire hall. The Canada Bread storage depot was smoking at the eaves. Firemen reached the scene in a quick rush up the McCloskey Hotel alley and the fire was doused. Damage was slight and Lorne Jordan, Canada Bread salesman managed to remove his small stock before water and smoke did too much damage.

Osnabruck Centre W. I. marks fortieth anniversary

The Fortieth Anniversary of Osnabruck Centre Women's Institute was fittingly celebrated in Osnabruck Centre Women's Institute was fittingly celebrated in Osnabruck Centre Township hall on April 10th when members of several Stormont District branches, Dundas and Russell joined them to mark the occasion. Mrs Lloyd Gallinger was in charge of registrations.

Every little while we sit back and watch the editor of this family journal lose his cool. He occasionally has a very modest fuse and the littlest thing sends him into outer space. But we are in no position to report on his habits, harrowing or otherwise. It would almost appear to be talking to oneself and that is only allowed to conciliation officers and hermits. It would help, though, if union officers would instruct their card-carrying picketers the difference between self-employed businessmen and members of a union. There is hardly any resemblance. It is hoped members of the community will allow normal intercourse of business; Nestlé (Canada) Limited is one company this little printing plant does business with. It also prints and delivers on prompt schedule strike draw tickets and ballots for the union. So what is the right way? It would be nice to know.

The other week we listened with full interest to the director of education for the Counties Board of Education. Mr Shaw is a smart educator and no doubt he will earn over a couple of times his $27,000-odd salary. We have had a couple of pleasant visits with him and he is impressive. But every little while he and his merry men have to expound at length on the stuff sent down from Toronto and to explain the latest change in the swirling confusion that seems to reign in Ontario education.

The latest thing, like minimini's, is enriched education in a group modulation. That we like. It has a tasty sound, somewhat like the latest recipe the vice president has tried out on yours truly. And basically, it can be explained almost as a plate of cookies ready for the oven. For a generation, this ancient's, that is, the school pattern has been away from communal classroom into grade classes. The little red or white school was a thing of utter disbelief, if one can believe the changing times of the Fifties. The students were getting a third class education because of mixed classes all in one room and that is probably why Sir John A. Macdonald turned out the way he did. And some other failures like Taylor, Pearson and Aberhart.

But now that the whole thing is under control, the little horrors gone from the headlines and lovely new schools wearing their rising burdens of debt like champions, it is time to change again. So we enrich things, take the cookies, put them all back into a nice big pan, but all together and pop them into an oven of learning. Instead of a little red school, we will have a chromium-plated assembly room. Each quarter will be a work area for a grade, in the centre will be a library and rest block and nary a partition, wall, curtain or even a loud flower. Suddenly educators find that distractions are not distractions but a murmur of the hive that induces more energetic effort.

So what is new out at old S.S. No. 9? We had hardly any distractions, even though we sat in double seats and had a seat mate. Perhaps our enrichment was more evident because of the morning chores before school, but we did learn something. P. S. Boyd managed a couple of full classes most of the time and usually managed to keep some of the class out of the low thirties.

That group modulation, in case a reader is worried, is not catching. It is found everywhere. One is aware of group modulation at drive-ins, churches, and fires. It is also found on honeymoons and the Wars of the Roses was carried out on a group modulation basis. If that isn't clear yet, imagine a couple of people together, or more, doing something.

Who's hiring this hall?

Stanley Gray, the McGill Marxist, is not most Canadians' idea of a deserving winner of a $5,500 Canada Council grant. But academic fellowships are being decided by the council on the basis of academic qualifications, not whether a man believes in Marxism or voodoo or in a French McGill.

Perhaps, says the Ottawa Journal, that is a laudable idea; perhaps the council even thought a scholarship to Oxford was a convenient way of getting him out of the country.

And yet, on balance many of us will be uneasy about the policy. Certainly Marxists or any other "ists" should be allowed to go to university and should win such awards and scholarships as universities see fit to honour them with.

But the Canada Council is not a university. It is a servant of the Canadian Government devoted to preserving and improving the ways and ideals and arts of this nation. Presumably such a responsibility includes the maintenance of peace, order and good government under the democratic parliamentary system. Mr Gray, an undoubtedly brilliant man, seems to be devoting much of his brilliance to destroying that system.

The general and very desirable principle of letting a man hire a hall or climb up on a soap box to encourage all and sundry to follow his preachings does not include the proposition that a country should in effect finance a man who plans to do it in.

Are you up-tight on hip talk?

Addressing the annual dinner of the officers of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, Denys Goulet, of Ottawa, said the English language is being enriched by the addition of some 20 new words each day.

The former chief of the terminology division of the federal translation bureau, reports the Cornwall Standard-Freeholder, noted that translation dictionaries contain up to a million words, although the average vocabulary contains only 20,000 words. What he didn't say but what a lot of people are beginning to fear: that a lot of garbage is being allowed to creep into everyday language.

'Fink', 'creep' and 'cad' were banned some years ago in parliamentary debate, Mr Goulet noted. But this was probably a case of the terms being too descriptive or in bad taste rather than being trite in the true sense of the term.

Most editors probably wince at times at the trite terms they see in news copy. And for the most part we would think that they eliminate trite expressions without hesitation. But a few such expressions still tend to slip through in quotes, for effect or through carelessness.

One publication, however, says it is declaring war on this type of thing. We hope they mean it but we will reserve judgment for the present.

"Our editors are going to make a determined effort to keep trite expressions out of the pages of our magazines," says an article in TV Guide. It suggests the following paragraphs bring on a state of nausea. They contain 39 cliches and are reproduced here as an example of what not to do:

Are you up-tight about the language of the acid heads, the teeny-boppers and the flower children?

Do you turn off when the militants do their own thing, y'know, in search of a meaningful, viable relationship with the Establishment?

Do you have a hang-up against saying fuzz instead of police?

Does it blow your mind, sort of, to hear once smart but now terribly worn expressions like generation gap and communication gap?

Do you think where it's at is nowhere? If they really told it like it is, would they, like, say that it was out of sight? Beautiful! Would it turn you on again if people stopped using confrontation and charisma?

Do you have an identity crisis over words like teach-in, sit-in and live-in?

Do your prefer to retire to your pad rather than share a piece of the action?

Are you bugged by people talking about commitment and value judgments?

Would you, in short, think it groovy if the English language were discovered to be alive and well and living in the United States — its old turf?

Any ideas on enriching the language?

Value of a free press underlined

Just as a free press is the invariable hallmark of a free society, so a controlled press is the unmistakable stigma of the slave state. Thus, observes the Orillia Packet and Times, it is the imposition of newspaper controls and censorship in Czechoslovakia which today, more than anything else, reveals the true nature of the Russian despotism now tightening its grip on that hapless nation. For all its elaborate facade of posture and pretence, there is no mistaking the true nature of the Russian-imposed "reforms," there, throttling all freedom of expression and accounting, plain for all the world to see, is naked tyranny.

At a time when absolutist regimes, professing every sort of political creed but alike in intolerance of opposition, hold sway over an increasing part of the earth's surface. It is emperative that free men everywhere recognize anew the essential role that a free press plays in the preservation of liberty. For all the institutions which safe-guard the precious, precarious balance of individual rights and public responsibilities which men call freedom, none is more fundamental than the right of men to information on all matters that concern them, and to the free expressions of opinion on those matters . . .

If it serves to re-awaken the free world to an appreciation of a free press, both as a bastion of free society and one of its chief blessings, Czechoslovakia's ordeal will not be in vain. Certainly it provides the world with a dramatic and unmistakable illustration of how tyranny sets about suppressing freedom; it merely suppresses freedom of the press, knowing that all th rest must follow.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Friday I had a slumber party — eight girls, all 15 and 16 years old. We were sitting on the floor in my bedroom — eating popcorn and playing records and talking —naturally about boys. One of the girls was telling something pretty intimate, which, in my opinion, she should have kept to herself. Rita (my best friend) whispered," I have a feeling somebody is listening outside the door." I said it wasn't possible because nobody was home but Mom and she wouldn't eavesdrop. Rita jumped up without warning and pulled the door open. My mother fell into the room and practically landed on her head. She must have had her ear to the keyhole.

The girls almost died laughing. I was so humiliated I nearly passed out. For two days Mom has barely spoken to me. She says my friends are terrible and I should get with a new crowd. I'd like your views. — Red-faced.

Dear Red: Your mother is suffering from acute embarrassment, and well she might. Eavesdropping is a singularly undistinguished form of entertainment. I'm certain she'd be immensely grateful if you'd forget the ugly incident and behave in a friendly manner. One day, when you need to be forgiven, shel'll return the favour.

* * * *

Dear Ann: My husband is in his early 50's —a kind, considerate person and an excellent provider. Kevin was much too young to retire but he did it anyhow. We have had a good marriage up to now but having him home 24 hours a day is murder.

Kevin sits in his library from morning till night doping out the stock market. He is on the phone with his broker for hours on end telling him to "buy this" and "sell that." I guess it's stupid, but I fell as if I have someone to answer to from morning till night. Kevin wants to know where I'm going whenever I leave the house. I'm not used to 'round the clock surveillance and it's making me nervous.

I'm ashamed of my attitude. What can I do about it? — California Cry for Help.

Dear Cry: You can read the obituaries every day and see how many men in their fifties have died. If that doesn't make you feel better about having your husband in the next room, get a part-time job.

* * * *

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago I dated a guy who had brains, personality and was madly in love with me. I liked Arthur a lot but he was so careless about personal hygiene that he made me nearly ill at times. He didn't bathe often enough, his teeth were in dreadful condition and his clothes were usually filthy.

I married some else and now we have three nice children. Our marriage is OK but dull, dull, dull. I'm sure life with Arthur would have been much more exciting. Now I'm sorry I didn't marry him and clean him up. Print this please and warn other girls about making the same mistake. — Too Late for Me.

Dear Late: A man whose personal hygiene habits were revolting during courtship would be intolerable after marriage. Count your blessings.

Mrs J. M. Jarvis

A well-known and highly respected North Bay woman, Mrs John M. Jarvis, 409 Algonquin Ave., died in hospital Sunday. She had been in failing health for some time.

Final respects may be paid at the Martyn Funeral Home, where the funeral service will be conducted in the chapel Tuesday at 2 p.m. by Rev. C. W. Cope of St. Andrew's United Church. Interment will be at Maple Ridge Cemetery, Chesterville.

Born at Chesterville, Iva Pearl Jarvis was the daughter of the late Mr and Mrs James Chester Merkley. Her marriage to John M. Jarvis took place at Chesterville and she made her home in North Bay since 1923.

Active for many years in the work of the North Bay Cancer Society, Mrs Jarvis served for several years as chairman of the womens service committee. She was a past president of the society and served on the board of directors of the Ontario Division.

Besides her work with the Cancer Society, Mrs Jarvis was a charter member of the Sir Geo. Parkin Chapter, IODE, and was presented with a life membership in the chapter in December 1962.

A past matron of Fidelis Chapter No. 99, Order of the Eastern Star, Mrs Jarvis also served the order as past district grand matron.

Predeceaed by her husband July 26, 1949, Mrs Jarvis is survived by three sisters: Mrs M. Black, Mountain, Ont; Mrs Arthur Steinburg, Morewood asd Mrs Phyllis Strader, Williamsburg, Ont.

She was predeceased by two brothers, Bert and Clifford and twwo sisters Maude and Alice.

THE CAVIAR COAST

The Iranian side of the Caspian Sea is fast becoming known as "The Caviar Coast," a major summer resort which features the roe of the beluga sturgeon, a gourmet delight around the world.

Even tourists in the chain of new motels on the Caspian's south coast can enjoy caviar for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

For those who do not like the salty fish eggs there are beach stands where slices of sturgeon are skewered and cooked over charcoal fires.

New road links between Tehran and the Caspian, a huge land-locked sea between Iran and Russia, have helped make the south coast one of the major playgrounds for the international jet set as well as for Iranians.

Apart from good beaches and caviar a major tourist attraction is the forested mountain range the Alborz overlooking the sea. It is one of the largest hardwood forests in Asia.

Large areas of the forest in the vicinity of the Caspian are being transformed into national parks. They offer unspoiled forest rustic camping sites and wild game preserves.

WHY BABIES LOOK BOW-LEGGED

All babies look bow-legged for their first year or two, says the federal health department publication, The Canadian Mother and Child. It is not due to early walking but to "baby fat" on the outside of their legs.

The average time for walking is 13-14 months, ut it may be anywhere from 10 to 18 months.

The United Church Women of St. James United Church, Avonmore, met in the Sunday School room last Wednesday night. Mrs Rutherford MacIntyre, leader of the worship service entitled "Whispering Hope", opened the meeting with a few verses from the Song of Solomon beginning "For lo,, the winter is past the rain is over and gone". N.D.D.H.S. News

The annual variety show will be presented this Friday nite at NDDHS.

It will begin with a little bit of a musical journey back into those rip-roaring Klondike days of Dan McGrew and his boys From there on in, the action really rolls with shoot-ups, can-can girls and some kind of conflict over a lady known as "Lou".

Mr Brown, Mr Trillo and their crew of dancers, singers, miners, set designers, actors (and a Lady known as Lou) have really come up with some of the best hours of entertainment this side of the Yukon. So set down your "pans" and "shovels" and come out!

See you Friday night.

PEST MANAGEMENT

A National Research Council grant will help Simon Fraser University, Burnaby, B.C., to establish a centre in pestology and pest management over the next three years in its department of biological sciences.

The new centre will tackle the problem of how to further reduce the food and fibre losses caused by pests and plant diseases with a minimum of harm to other organisms in the environment. The university feels that the future requires pest management systems in which suitable control measures for pests and diseases that attack any one crop are integrated in the basis of wider knowledge to yield maximum benefit and minimum damage.

The centre will also try to develop practical means of exterminating particular pests and will create student training systems that graduate specialists in pestology and pest management.

IN MEMORIAM

McMILLAN — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Reginald McMillan, who passed away so suddenly April 22, 1967.
Two sad and lonely years have passed
Since our great sorrow fell;
The shock that we received that day
No one will ever tell.
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps us to forget,
But time has only proved so far
How much we miss him yet.
God gave us strength to fight it
And courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose you, Son,
No one will ever know.
Lovingly remembered by Mother, Dad and Brothers.

32-1

IN MEMORIAM

LaPIERRE — In loving memory of Mr Charles LaPierre who passed away April 21, 1947.
We do not need a special day
To bring you to our mind,
For the days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
If all this world were ours to give,
We'd give it, yes, and more,
To see the face of Father
Come smiling through the door.
Sadly missed by wife Ada LaPierre and family.

DISCOVERS INDICATE AREA OCCUPIED

Discovery of more than 70 aboriginal and Indian sites indicate the Trent Valley in Eastern Ontario has been occupied continuously since archais times, says Prof. Peter D. Harrison.

The Trent University professor announced that the university plans to start digging May 28 near Hastings, 20 miles east of Peterborough.

Said Prof. Harrison: "The region is so archeologically rich that it will require many years of digging to determine the complete range of cultural traditions that flourished or passed through the Land of the Shining Waters."

Trent University archeologists have been surveying the area north of Orillia and south to Campbellford during the past three years.

Test excavations have uncovered slate and stone instruments as well as pottery and traces of food crops, indicating settlements of the region as early as 3000 B.C.

Winchester District Memorial Hospital—

Preventive care theme Hospital Day activites

When Winchester District Memorial Hospital observes National Hospital Day on Monday, May 12, the emphasis will be on prevention and the extent of the hospital's involvement in this relatively new field of medical care.

To mark the day, Winchester District Memorial Hospital will distribute place mats throughout the area and use special tray-covers for patient trays.

"We have selected Prevention - the Key to Tomorrow's Health, as National Hospital Day theme this year." explained hospital administrator H. P. Stel, "because we believe the community should have an opportunity to become better acquainted with the importance of preventive care and the manner in which the hospital is involved."

Mr Stel said preventive measures at the hospital are available for members of the staff and all patients, especially newborns. "Insofar as our employees are concerned," Mr Stel continued, "They have access to our Employee Health Office, which, in addition to regular health service to employees, offers a screening program in T.B. prevention.

"All babies born at the W.D.MH are tested for phanylketonuria, a genetic disease in newborns, which if not detected early can cause severe mental retardation" he said.

Referring to the preventive and diagnostic program available at the W.D.M.H., Mr Stel said patients are also tested for cancer and tuberculosis. Mr Stel explained that preventive medicine came into it own shortly after the turn of the century when the x-ray was discovered and bacteriological and chemical testing were developed. "But it wasn't until recently that it assumed the prominent role it occupies today in the total health care picture," he said.

"Before the turn of the century, hospitals were primarily inpatient institutions that provided care only to the more seriously ill or injured. Only those people who needed bed care and constant attention went to hospital then. "Today, hospitals must devote a large percentage of their manpower and facilities for the care of ambulatory patients, who in increasing numbers, are turningto hospital emergency and outpatient departments in times of need,' Mr Stel said.

National Hospital Day is held on May 12 every year in honour of the anniversary of nursing pioneer Florence Nightingale's birth in 1820.

Through the years it has become an occasion for hospitals in Ontario to focus attention on their changing role in the community.

SAFETY OUTDOORS

To prevent your toddler from having accidents when he is outdoorsdoors, remember:

When he is still crawling, he should play in a playpen. Later, he can be kept away from the street by a sturdy fence with no easy foot-holds. The yard should be cleared of glass and jagged-edged cans.

Usually a heavier baby is slower to walk.

SUN TAN COSTLY TO BEEF

Don't leave your steer standing out in the sun. It will cost you money.

This little bit of advice from the federal agriculture department to cattle breeders follows a two-year study at the Lethbridge research station by Dr R. D. Clark.

Dr Clark estimated an increase of 45 cents in clear profit for every hundred pounds of animal raised with access of shade.

Bad weather may excuse delay but never an accident.

Russell U.C.W. holds Easter meeting

The Easter meeting of the U.C.W. of St. Andrew's and St. Paul's United Church, Russell, was held in the church hall on Thursday afternoon with Mrs Maynard Cherry presiding and Mrs Campbell Boothe recording the minutes.

Mrs Donald Hay and her pupils from Russell Public School gave two excellent numbers of choral reading on the program.

Mrs Alex Graham conducted the worship. Mrs Graham and Mrs George Hay sang "In the Garden," accompanied by Mrs Clelland Hamilton at the piano.

Your Legislature Report . . .

Fred M. Cass, Q.C., M.P.P.

While the Easter recess may have been a rest and a change for our Provincial Legislators, it did not improve their attitudes towards the business of the House and the Province. The few days of this first week after Easter produced some of the worst efforts of Members on both sides of the House. The Minister of Social and Family Services, whose Estimates are barely moving through the Committee of the Whole House, has been undergoing a very searching and even personal attack from both Opposition Parties. Indeed one noisy night, the House had a marathon sitting on these Estimates—from two o'clock in the afternoon until 2.40 a.m. the following morning with practically no real progress. If this mood continues to possess the Members, the Ontario House might well equal the sorrp spectacles of some few years ago which Members of the House of Commons presented to the Canadian public.

The House concluded its consideration of the present constitutional problems of our nation with the Member from Sudbury expounding at interminable length many views which could only commend themselves to himself. However, all Party speakers were in agreement that the problems were most serious and all seemed also in agreement that Ontario must take, and in some respects had taken the lead in proposing possible solutions.

A steady stream of new legislation reached the House each day indicating not only that the Ministers had been busy during therecess but also that there is still a great deal of new work awaiting the Assembly.

In answer to a question from the Liberal Party Leader, Premier Robarts seemed to indicate that next Fall would see the by-election occasioned by the death of the Conservative Member for Middlesex South. When this contest does come, it will be an indication of the success or failure in the eyes of the people of the many changes in the education, government and welfare areas of our Provincial life which have been initiated by the present administration.

SLEEPING BEAUTY

When Donald Vass parked his car on a Penticton, B.C., street recently he left his Airedale dog in the back seat to discourage any would-be thief.

Four hours later, he reported the car stolen.

Police found the car the next day about a mile north of the city. The dog was curled up asleep on the back seat.

DESSERTS WITH CANNED FRUIT

THERE ARE SO MANY GOOD DESSERTS to be made with canned fruit, either your own canned fruits, or the boughten ones, that you can have a grand variety of fruit desserts any season of the year.

Cherry Tapioca

1½ lbs. minute tapioca
2 tbsps. sugar
1/16 tsp. salt
1 cup boiling water
½ cup cherry juice
Juice of half lemon
½ cup canned cherries

Place tapioca in the upper part of a double boiler; add sugar, salt and boiling water. Cook fifteen minutes; remove from heat. Add fruit juices and cherries. Turn into serving dish; serve cold with cream and sugar.

Pineapple Upside-Down Cake

¼ cup butter
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
¾ cup milk
2 cups flour
3½ tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. vanilla
¼ tsp. salt

Cream the butter, add sugar gradually and blend well; add egg, then flour, sifted with baking powder and salt, and milk. Combine well and, lastly, add the vanilla.

Grease a cake tin and cover the bottom with quarter slices of pineapple in rows. Over the pineapple sprinkle a thin layer of brown sugar and butter mixed and on this pour the cake batter. Bake in a moderate oven.

This cake may be served with whipped cream.

Peach Crumb Pie

1 unbaked pie shell
½ cup all purpose flour
¼ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup brown sugar
½ tsp. cinnamon
¼ cup butter
½ cup coarsely chopped nuts (optional)
1 20oz. tin peach halves
1 tbsp. lemon juice

Drain peaches and sprinkle with lemon juice. Combine flour, sugars, and cinnamon, cut in butter until mixture is like coarse crumbs. Put nuts in unbaked pie shell. Add half of flour mixture to pie shell. Place peaches cut side over flour - nut mixture. Sprinkle the rest of the crumb mixture over the peaches. Bake in 425 degree F. oven for 40 minutes. If necessary the pie crust may be covered with foil during the last half of baking period to prevent scorching.

Cherry Cinnamon Roll

2½ cups pitter red cherries
1/3 cup sugar
1 tbsp. cornstarch
2 cups biscuit mix
¼ cup butter
1/3 cup brown sugar
¼ tsp. cinnamon
½ cup raisins

BELL LINES

by Richard R. Pearson
your telephone manager

As I sat down to plan my column this month, I couldn't help but think of an incident last year that had at least one Bell Canada tester wondering about his sanity. On two different occasions, two different repairmen sent him the same report about telephone difficulties near Chippawa, Ontario. Both reports stated, "drop wire chewed by llama." While one might be inclined to write the whole thing off as a publicity stunt to boost the Niagara peninsula as Canada's banana belt, the reports turned out to be legitimate. Llamas are kept at the Marine Wonderland and Game Farm at Chippawa and one of them decided to test his teeth on our drop wires.

While this was the first time we've had to contend with llamas, we have had problems keeping our cable out of the way of squirrels, lightning and bad weather. We've been burying more and more of it; it looks better and also protects the cable from the natural hazards I've mentioned. However, it also means that cable could be buried on your property and could be damaged if you're planning to excavate — whether to plant trees or shrubs, put up a fence, build a patio or a barbecue pit. One healthy thrust of a shovel, if its directly above our cable and telephone service in hundreds of homes and businesses could be disrupted.

So if you're planning any major digging, could you give us a call at Repair Service first. We can quickly tell you if there is cable buried on your property. If there is, we'll come over and show you where, free of charge. That way, you can avoid disrupting telephone service both for yourself and your neighbourhood.

"I still think we should have got a telephone man!"

Given an inch of a glowing cigarette or burning matchstick dropped carelessly, fire will take a square mile (and more) of forest. Given a few cubic inches of old oil and rags in a corner, fire will take a whole acre of factory.

Given an inch or so . . . of frayed extension cord, or curtains too close to a stove, or a fireplace screen too narrow . . . fire will take your home and the lives which are in it.

Year after year, fire takes an average of 600 lives in Canada. Five times as many Canadians are disfigured or injured, and property worth more than $150 million is destroyed by fire.

By any of these criteria, the cost of fire-causing carelessness is great. But the most terrible toll is in young lives. A third of those who die by fire are children.

Some of these children die because they are left alone, some die because they play with matches. There are other reasons too—but virtually all the deaths are preventable. Children die in fires through the ignorance or the carelessness of their parents or other adults.

Don't give fire an inch - you've got far too much to lose!

4-H Forestry Club holds 2nd meeting

The second meeting of Goldfield 4-H Forestry Club was held at the home of Mr and Mrs Donald Casselman. The president, Bonnie Henderson, opened the meeting with the 4-H pledge. The secretary, Rita Termeer, read the minutes, and roll call was answered by 12 members.

In the business part of the meeting, it was decided that the Wooderama would be held in late June at the farm of Mr D. Casselman. Next project is to be carried out on April 26, as members are to meet at Donald Casselman's where he will show how to establish and plant a windbreak and plantation. After this, each member has to give a short talk on the topic they had chosen previously.

The meeting was turned over to Mr B. Warwick who discussed the advantages and disadvantages of establishing a windbreak.

The next meeting will be held in mid-May, at the home of Mr and Mrs Termeer. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by Mrs Casselman.

corn. He also reported that approximately 800 acres had been tile drained in the county in 1968 and that it was expected that this would be increased by a hundred acres in 1969. Doug also supported the discussion on the one general farm organization.

Orval Guy spoke very strongly in support of the one general, well financed, farm organization. He said that if it didn't materialize that the Federation and the Farmer's Union might as well fold up as neither was sufficiently well financed or had the support of all farmers.

Mike Elliott, former fieldman for the Federation, now in charge of organizing the five Eastern Ontario Counties for the vote on the new proposed set-up, reported that the counties were starting to set up a structure so that every farmer would be called on to discuss the vote and that he expected all present to assist.

As it is expected that before the summer is over the new organization will be in effect, a motion was passed asking the present executive to continue in office to assist in the change over.

The meeting closed with a lunch provided by the Annable-Melvin Ladies Hospital Auxiliary unit.
