HENRY'S Shorthand School
Ottawa, Ont.

No School in Canada offers a better training, or ensures a more successful future. Henry's leads all others, and ranks among employers as "THE SCHOOL OF HIGHER EFFICIENCY"—a fact borne out by more than 600 pupils who have, since January, 1913, left other Ottawa schools to come to it.

Therefore, it is not surprising that business men, in advertising for stenographers, should specially say, "Graduates of Henry's School preferred."

Mountain Lad Passed Away After Falling In Barn

While assisting his father in the barn Monday last Harold Thompson, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Thompson, of Mountain township near Inkerman, fell through a feed chute to the floor below, receiving such injuries that his death followed in a short time. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place yesterday with interment in Maple Ridge cemetery.

Mr. Elgin Froats of this place is an uncle of the dead boy, whose mother is a sister of Mr. Froats.

Two Families Left Homeless In Last Week's Fire

When fire destroyed the residence of Harry Barr and caused considerable damage to that of Stanley Harper on Mary street at the south end of the village last Wednesday at the noon hour, two families were left homeless. The fire is said to have originated in the kitchen of the Barr home when Mrs. Barr was preparing the noon day meal. She had left the kitchen, shutting the heat from another room where she went to attend to a child who was ill, and on her return found the kitchen in flames, which spread so rapidly that nothing could be saved. The building was of frame construction and burned fircely, the intense heat causing another frame building about twelve feet to the east to repeatedly catch fire which was only saved by the heroic efforts of a bucket brigade hampered by a serious shortage of water. Outstanding among those who did effective work were Mel. Harper and Bill Gamble, the stonewall defence of Chesterville Hockey club. There were many others, but these boys braved the heat between the buildings at the crucial moments and made it possible for the others to save the building.

The burned building was owned by the George Dillabough Estate the loss of which will be partly covered by insurance. The damage to the other building, which is owned by William Kyre, is covered by insurance.

Pioneers of Winchester Pass During Week

The Angel of Death visited four homes in Winchester and vicinity the latter part of the week. On Wednesday night, Mrs. Van Allen, an old lady residing with Mrs. Alfred Jones just west of Winchester, passed quietly away and was buried on Friday at Van Camps beside the remains of her husband.

Thursday forenoon Mrs. John Parker, who resided with her son, Frank, in the west end of Winchester, was suddenly called home. She was eighty years of age, and had been in frail health for some time. Her funeral service was conducted on Saturday at two p.m. in the United Church by Rev. J. A. Waddell, assisted by Rev. W. D. Turner.

Thursday afternoon, just a few doors east of the above, Mrs. Fox answered the call. She was in her eighty-second year and was the widow of the late J. P. Fox who once contested this county in the interests of the farmers. Her funeral was held at her late residence on Saturday at 3.30 p.m., being conducted by her pastor, Rev. W. D. Turner.

Friday afternoon, a home just across the street was visited and the aged father taken in the person of Mr. Alex. Ross, who was also around enghty years of age. Mr. Ross was one of the pioneers of Winchester Township, having spent his early days in the Melvin Settlement. He was for some years Assistant Postmaster in Winchester until, through failing health, he had to give up the work. Mrs. Ross died two years ago. A son, William, of Toronto, and a daughter, Mary, at home, survive. The funeral service held on Sunday at 1.30 p.m., in the United Church was largely attended, being conducted by Rev. J. A. Waddell, after which interment was made in Maple Ridge cemetery.

Thornbury---Fulton

An interesting September wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fulton on Tuesday, when their daughter, Alice Edna, was united in marriage with Mr. John Adelbert Thornbury, of New York City, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Thornbury, of Perth, Ont. The Rev. R. E. Newman, of Chesterville United church, performed the ceremony. The house was artistically decorated with asters and gladioli. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in a gown of ivory satin with yoke of alencon lace. Her veil of blush pink tulle was held in place by a bandeau of pearl embroidery and orange blossoms. She wore the gift of the groom, a diamond and sapphire pendant set in platinum, and carried a bouquet of butterfly roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The bridesmaids, sisters of the bride, the Misses Eldred and Frances Fulton, were beautifully gowned in flowered chiffon in tones of green and bronze and carried arm bouquets of talisman roses. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Arthur Thornbury. Mrs. Fulton, mother of the bride, wore a fock of midnight blue georgette and her corsage bouquet was of orchide and lilies-of-the-valley. Mrs. Thornbury, mother of the groom, was dressed in black satin and carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and orchids. Mr. and Mrs. Thornbury left on a motor trip through Quebec and on their return will reside in New York.

Fire at Avonmore Threatened Business Section

Prompt assistance rendered by fire fighters from nearby towns and cities alone prevented the complete destruction of the business section of the village of Avonmore Tuesday. Two buildings were completely destroyed with a loss of approximately $30,000, and three other structures were damaged. The fire broke out shortly after one o'clock Tuesday morning in the rear of a butcher shop owned by W. J. Bush and was discovered by 10-year-old Sheila Bush, who was sleeping above the store. Mr. and Mrs. Bush and children made their way to safety in their night attire and were unable to save even valuable personal effects. The fire spread to an adjoining confectionery store owned by C. S. Ross, but volunteers succeeded in saving the contents of the shop and the Ross residence. A side wall of a garage owned by R. D. Alguire was burned. The chemical apparatus owned by the village of Avonmore was found inadequate to check the blaze and a call was sent to fire departments at Cornwall, Finch and Newington. All responded and the fire was under control at 4.30 a.m. A second outbreak at nine o'clock threatened the Alguire garage but was extinguished before extensive damage was done.

Mr. Bush is a loser to the extent of $20,000, and the loss sustained by Mr. Ross is estimated at $10,000. Both carried partial insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Bowling Tournament

The annual doubles tournament of the local club will be held Saturday next when a large entry is expected.

During the past ten days local bowlers have been attending out of town events, two rinks going to Brockville a week ago Tuesday but failed to come through to the finals. On Friday last in Winchester two rinks represented Chesterville with Hanna, skip, Dixon, third; Hess, second and Lacey, leading, winning the main event for which the individual prizes were electric toasters. Lacey and Hanna also won the doubles.

In rink games and doubles at Iroquois on the holiday two rinks from Chesterville failed to withstand the battle and fell by the wayside. The honour of the club, however, was worthily upheld when Eric Casselman and Frank Hess won through in the doubles to carry home handsome trophies.

In a keen prize night competition Tuesday evening among local bowlers in rink games, Lacey, Bronskill, Flynn, Hanna ,skip. carried off the honours and flashlights as their prizes.

The drawing for the prizes given by the club will take place at the greens early Saturday evening.

United Ladies' Aid

The Ladies' Aid of Chesterville United church met at the home of Mrs. O. L. King with a large attendance yesterday afternoon. Following the business part of the meeting, a programme consisting of a solo by Mrs. Geo. Merkley and a piano selection by Mrs. Geo. Reaburn were very much enjoyed.

A very dainty lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. S. H. Hutt, Mrs. Mac Smith, and Mrs. Fred Merkley.

DANCE IN CHESTERVILLE

A dance will be held in the Music Hall, Chesterville, on Tuesday Sept. 9th, when Don Johnston's Five-Piece Orchestra will dispense the music. Admission $1.00 per couple.

Ball---Bogart

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bogart, Elma, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, Aug. 27th, when Hilda Luella, their only daughter, became the bride of George John Wellington Ball, of Spruce Grove. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. A. Morrison, of the United Church.

The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion with evergreens, ferns and various summer blooms.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked winsome in her wedding gown of coral pink georgette made in long simple lines. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, ferns and sweet peas.

Miss Gertrude Kendrick, of Ottawa, made a charming bridesmaid, gowned in a becoming dress of flowered silk voile and carried a bouquet of baby's breath and gladioli.

Grant Ball, of Ottawa, brother of the groom, was best man. Mrs. W. A. Morrison played the wedding march, and Miss Hilda Barkley sang very sweetly "All Because of You" during the signing of the register.

The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a handsome necklace of crystals and pearls, to the bridesmaid a silver necklace set with emeralds, to the groomsman a set of silver cuff links, to the organist a pair of sliver candle holders, to the soloist a silver compact. The bride's gift to the bridegroom was a set of gold cuff links.

After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dinner was served to invited guests. Immediate friends only were present. Later the bride and groom left by motor for Toronto, Niagara Falls and other points West. The bride travelled in a suit of beige crepe with hose, shoes and hat to mach.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Ball will reside on the groom's farm at Spruce Grove.

Coroner's Jury Verdict Said Death Accidental

Coroner Dr. P. McLaughlin, of Winchester, with a jury composed of W. Hamilton, foreman; James Johnstone, Calvin Simser, Wesley Fulton, Miles Marcellus, James McAvoy, John Manley, Henry McCambridge, Edward Lynch, Isaac Pelletier, Patrick Manley and James Masterson, investigating the circumstances of the death of Gerald Kearns on the morning of Wednesday, August 27th, rendered a verdict of accidental death without blame to anyone.

Engineer Mills of the westbound freight which struck Kearns testified that on account of a heavy fog hanging over the river at the bridge he had not seen the man until almost hitting him, when there was neither time to apply the emergency brakes nor sound the whistle. His evidence was corroborated by other members of the train crew.

Need Clover Seed

The Seed Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture reports an increase in the demand for the sweet clover seed by the sugar beet growers of Western Canada. This year some 40,000 pounds were seeded to produce green manure. The white blossom is preferred by the beet growers to the yellow because of the difficulty experienced in eradicating the latter once it takes root. While there is every prospect of a good demand for this sweet clover seed in the sugar beet areas, there is at present no market for sugar beet seed. This is because of the fact that at the present time sugar beet seed can be brought in from Germany and laid down at points as far west as Lethbridge, Alta., at a price of three cents per pound.

"Lions cost a terrible lot in food," says a circus proprietor. Even in the old days they used to eat up the prophets.

Fifty Don'ts for Lawn Bowlers

1. DON'T forget that you are a gentleman—under all circumstances.

2. DON'T fail to be on hand at the hour named for your game.

3. DON'T complain about the green—your opponent has no better one.

4. DON'T play the wrong bias—it is the unpardonable sin in lawn bowling.

5. DON'T be short when the shot is against you—the jack seldom comes forward.

6. DON'T deliver your bowl until the previous bowl has come to a stop.

7. DON'T fail to do your very best in whatever position you are asked to play.

8. DON'T delay when it is your turn to play—have your bowl ready.

9. DON'T chase your bowl down the green—its destiny is already fixed!

10. DON'T remain standing on the mat or green after delivering your bowl—step back or to one side.

11. DON'T overdo the running game—consistent drawing will win most games.

12. DON'T leave dead bowls in the ditch—they may interfere with touchers or with the jack.

1.3. DON'T interfere with any bowl until the count is settled.

14. DON'T be a kicker—except to help in kicking back the bowls!

15. DON'T try to rattle your opponent—play the game!

16. DON'T "pack" your rink for a social game—give the new players a chance.

17. DON'T get sore when someone outbowls you.

18. DON'T bother your skip with advice—wait until he asks for it.

19. DON'T try to frame an alibi for every poor shot you make—be a sport!

20. DON'T scold your partner or your team—keep cheerful and hopeful.

21. DON'T be over-boastful about your bowling—your "bump" is coming!

22. DON'T get grouchy if you are getting "licked"—you will get used to it!

23. DON'T quarrel with your opponent—better give him the benefit of the doubt.

24 DON'T be a "pot hunter"—play the game for the games' sake.

25.. DON'T find fault with your skip—play his game . You may some day be a skip yourself.

26 DON'T gloat over a victory—have regard for the feelings of the other fellow.

27. DON'T butt in when the count is being settled—leave that to the vice skips.

28. DON'T make fun of another bowler's contortions after delivering his bowl until you have seen a photo of yourself under similar conditions.

29. DON'T lose your temper—poise is absolutely essential to the best bowling.

30. DON'T rub it in to your opponent by piling up a big score when all you need is to win.

31.—DON'T use vulgar or profane language on the green—it is simply not don in this game for gentlemen.

32. DON'T become discouraged when the score is against you—many a game is decided by the last end.

33. DON'T try to win at any cost—the main object of lawn bowling should be sociability.

34. DON'T fail to observe the rules of the game—thus only can there be fair play for all.

35. DON'T make a "bowling widow" of your wife—give her your company at least one evening a month!

46. DON'T fail to applaud a good play no matter who makes it—we all relish praise.

37. DON'T overlook the fact that Old Man Luck takes a hand in lawn bowling—you may get the next break.

38. DON'T fail to boost your own club—be loyal to its officers.

39. DON'T wobble your bowl when getting it away.

40. DON'T watch the game on the next green—look closely to your own.

41. DON'T talk about your "next victim" until you are 9 up and one end to go!

42. DON'T stand in the way of those in the next green—they too have a right to play.

43. DON'T think you know it all—those who have been bowling for years are still learning.

44. DON'T throw your bowl—have regard for the green.

45. DON'T fail to stand on the mat when delivering your bowl—it is not there as an ornament.

46. DON'T use inferior bowls—a good workman should have the best tools.

47. DON'T forget to shake hands all around when the game is over.

48.DON'T forget that lawn bowling is the only outdoor sport that can be played equally well by the youth of 16 and the man of 80.

49. DON'T forget that lawn bowling has an honourable history, dating back many centuries—help to maintain its great record!

50. DON'T forget that lawn bowling is a game for gentlemen—play it accordingly.

The above makes good reading for bowlers, and if the suggestions are strictly adhered to, bowling will be the real gentlemen's game that it was designed to be.

Cornwall People Injured Auto and Buggy in Jam

Cornwall, Ont., September 1.—While driving west on the King's Highway below Cornwall, Major T. O. Clark, manager of the Cornwall Dairy Products, in trying to avoid running into a buggy, veered his auto sufficiently to prevent striking the buggy with full force, but wrenched the left back wheel from the buggy, and threw the occupant, Dan Quennville, son of Anthony Quennville, of Summerstown, from the buggy and inflicted a cut on his forehead.

As Major Clark's car got clear of the buggy, it went head-on into the auto of Dr. A. J. Lalonde, of Cornwall, who was driving east and the impact completely wrecked Major Clark's auto and in the collision he was severely injured about the head, and his companion, Louis H. Wetherspoon, of the local staff of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ontario St. Lawrence Canals System, was also injured about the head.

They were taken in an ambulance to the Cornwall General Hispital, where Major Clark is still in a critical condition, but Mr. Wetherspoon's injuries are less serious. Dr. Lalonde suffered slight injuries to one knee, but is able to attend to his practise. Miss Sally Cowley, who was in Dr. Lalonde's car, received a rather severe scalp wound, which required a few stitches, but is not in a serious condition.

Former Chesterville Man Passes in Kingston Hospital

The death occurred suddenly of heart failure following an operation in the General hospital, Kingston, on August 26th of Robert Louis Harrop, formerly of this place. The deceased was the only son of the late Robert Harrop and had lived his boyhood days in Chesterville. He gave his heart to God while quite young and joined the Methodist church. He was the founder and first printer of the "Chesterville Record," afterwards going on the railroad, where he held the position of station agent on the C.P.R. before going out West where he held a similar position on the C. N. R. in many places, afterwards becoming travelling audtior for a number of years. Tiring of that he again took a station which he still held at death. He had been visiting friends in this vicinty and was taken suddenly ill on the way home. He went for an operation to Kingston hospital but died five days after of heart failure.

His wife, Ella C. Bolster, died eight years ago. Two sons, Karl and Arthur, and one daughter, Mrs. M. E. Hubbard, Ladysmith, B.C., live to mourn the loss of a loving father, also two sisters, Mrs. Wesley Hamilton, Chesterville, and Mrs. Arthur McRae, Edmonton, Alta. The remains were shipped to Vancouver, B. C., where interment will be made.

Motors To Arctic Border

After driving a motor car almost to the Arctic, and traversing a total of 8000 miles in less than two months, Dr. P. E. Doolittle, of Toronto, recently returned to his home. He did not quite reach the land of the midnight sun, he says, but at least he motored into the "land of golden twilight." At Hazelton, B. C., which is 800 miles north of Vancouver, there was no sun at all but the glow never left the sky. It is the nearest point to the Arctic that can be reached by motor car. Dr. Doolittle, whose work on behalf of Canadian motorists is well known, expressed once again the regret that the Pacific coast could not be reached without detouring into United States territory around the south shore of Lake Superior. He added the hope that an all-Canada motor highway would soon be a reality.

"Now tell the pury, lady," instructed the young lawyer, "just where the prisoner was milking the cow."

The young lady looked embarrassed and then smiled sweetly. "Why, I think it was just a little back of the centre, sir."

Bags of Potatoes Changed to Beer

Kemptville. — How the 75 bags which were said to contain potatoes when they left Ottawa on Saturday afternoon were switched to contain 75 cases of a good brand of Quebec beer when the truck in which they were being transported turned turtle in the roadway of the Prince of Wales highway five miles south of this village is a mystery to the provincial authorities.

According to a statement by the driver of the truck, Arthur Dupruis, 60 S Andrew St., Ottawa, he was about to pass a car and as he swung to do so noticed another approaching. He applied the brakes and the truck rolled over. In the accident he received a badly cut right knee and several cuts in his right arm.

The men were placed under arrest by County Constable Gordon Ault, of Kemptville, and later taken to Prescott by Provincial Constables MacLeod and McQuaig, together with the cargo, which Dupruis said was his, less ten bags which were reported missing after the accident.

Teacher Found Drowned

North Gower, September 1.—The body of Kenneth Blair, teacher in Brantford High School, was found in the Rideau River this morning after the young man had been missing since Saturday night. He was 24 years of age.

When he failed to return Saturday night to the home of his father, Dr. G. H. Blair, where he had been spending his holidays, a search was made. His automobile was discovered on the banks of the river near here and the body was found today after dragging operations had been carried out.

No one was with Blair Saturday night and the cause of the drowning has not been determined. The body was clothed.

Rats

New York Times.—A great migration of rats is reported to be under way in Eastern Siberia. Iuckily, they seem to be trekking across sparsely settled areas, but this very fact renders their extermination less probable.

Destructive as is the rat, it being estimated that in the United States the bill for damages is upward of $160,000,000 annually, it is the rat's spread of infection which makes his presence something to be feared. In this activity he shares honours only with the flea. Bacteriologists are agreed that many of the great plagues of earlier times were due to germs spread by these carriers and harbourers.

To-day health authorities, especially at ports of entry, are ever on the watch. Undoubtedly, news of the Siberian migration will be read in every country. It is no longer necessary to hope for a Pied Piper or to practice invocations of the middle ages. A quaint example of the latter was recently found in a fourteenth century manuscript and rendered into modern English by Margot Robert Adamson. A few lines will indicate the dread by which the rubric was inspired:

I command all ye rattens that be hereabout,
That none dwell in this place, nor within, nor without,
By virtue of Jesus Christ that Mary boreabout.
God grant the grace
That no rats dwelleth in this place.
I command go as fast as ye can, ye rats and all other shame!

JOHN KING, CHESTERVILLE

Bright Chesterville Girl Passes Away Unexpectedly

Early Sunday morning, August 24th, Una Colquhoun, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Colquhoun, who apparently the day before was in good health, was suddenly called to 'That Land Beyond the River" where the heavenl-- bells are ringing.

Una was of a bright, loveable and kindly disposition and although only in her seventeeneth year she had made a host of friends. She will be greatly missed in church, home and school. Indeed, she nas left a gap that it will be difficult to fill. Her life was short but full of good cheerful works and service for her Master.

She leaves to deeply mourn her loss her sorrowing parents, two sisters, Mrs. Myles Merkley and Arlie Beth; her uncle, Mr. Wm. Colquhoun, and two grandparents, Mrs. Rachel Armstrong and Mr. Henry Colquhoun, besides a great many other relatives and friends.

The funeral which was held the following Tuesday in the United church, was very largely attended. It was conducted by Rev. Mr. Newman, assisted by Rev. Mr. Fulford, the former preaching a very comforting sermon and the latter a very consoling prayer. A quartette from the choir of which Una was a member sang "Abide With Me." Miss Elsie Hewitt contributed a solo, "He Leadeth Me."

The pall bearers were: Frederick Holmes, Thomas Holmes, Jack McAvoy, Alex. Clarmont, Eric Barwick, Jack Cross.

The floral offerings were:

Pillow The Family; wreaths—Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Durant and family, Mr. Leslie Armstrong and family, Employees of Nestle's Food Company, Young People's Society of the United Church, Staff & Pupils of Chesterville High School, Board of Chesterville High School.

Sprays—Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Barrington, Mr. and Mrs. Aden Durant, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Black; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Morrison & family, Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Casselman, Mrs. Chas. Graham, Miss Bertha Merkley's S. S. Class, "The Cheer-Ups;" Cross, the Choir of the United Church; Anchor, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Merkley and Mr. Glen Merkley.

Cut flowers—Miss Olive Casselman, Mrs. John Weegar, Mrs. A. Weegar, Miss Enid Barwick, Miss Ella Harrison, Mrs. Wes. Fulton, Miss Lillian Graham, the McNaughton Sisters, Mrs. Duncan McElheran, Mrs. Simon Droppo, Mrs. Fred Forward, Miss Helen Hamilton, Mrs. Thos. McLean, Mrs. Walter Hummel, Mrs. Chas. Graham, Mrs. Chas. Fulton, Misses Rose and Jean Colquhoun, Helen McMillan, Miss Hildred Durant and Mrs. Wm. LeRoy. Mrs. Lacey, Mrs. Geo. Barkley, Mrs. Elgar LaSalle, Mrs. Frank Merkley, Mrs. Mahlon Beckstead, Miss Mary A. Holmes.

Cannamore

The favourable weather for the past ten days has enabled the farmers to finish cutting their grain and threshing is in full swing.

Mr. Thos. Johnston and family, of Ottawa, called on Mr. W. C. Hetherington on Sunday last, who with Mrs. Hetherington accompanied them on a motor trip to Alexandria, returning via Morrisburg.

Dr. D. S. McDougall and Mr. York, of Russell, called on R. Steven on Friday evening.

The much dreaded corn borer has made its appearance here. Mr. O. K. Steven has been exhibiting a specimen found in his corn field. What next?

The Stork called at the home of Mr. Jake Smirle on August 24th and left a little girl. Both well.

Our sympathy goes out to Mr. Ira Barrington of this place and to the Barrington family in the some what sudden passing away of Mr. William Barrington, of Russell, in his 74th year. Mrs. Barrington passed away 13 months ago. The funeral was held yesterday.

School has again started with Mr. F. Jervis again as teacher.

Orchardside

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McMillan and baby, of Dunbar, spent Sunday at Mr. Roy Elliott's.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my father, John W. McRae, who died August 21, 1928.

Our lips cannot tell how we miss him,
Our hearts cannot tell what to say,
God alone knows how we miss him
In our home that is lonesome to-day.

Daughter, Mrs. Robt. Armstrong.

Our Ottawa Letter

The Bennett Government is finding the responsibilities of office heavier even than was anticipated.

It will be recalled that when the budget for the current year was introduced on May 1 by Hon. Charles Dunning, no attempt was made to forecast revenues for the fiscal year of 1930-31. The fact had no parallel in the history of budgets and was to be accounted for only by the lack of desire on the part of the Government to forecast a heavy deficit, on what proved to be the eve of an election.

As early as May it was apparent that a drop in national revenues of approximately $55,000,000 was inevitable and that the previous year's surplus of $45,000,000 must give way to a net deficit of at least $10,000,000. Revenues were reduced over $15,000,000 a year by the cancellation of liquor clearances to the United States. Tariff adjustments and restricted foreign trade, economic depression and the collapse of the security markets with consequent effect upon incomes, as well as elimination of some forms of taxation all combined to promise lower revenues. To this was added a larger budget of expenditure than in the previous year.

What was indicated on May 1 is more than borne out by the facts. Customs receipts for July were off $8,249,000, or nearly 30 per cent from the previous year, while for the first four months of the fiscal year they dropped $22,145,847. In the same period exports from Canada fell by $104,000,000 and imports by $30,000,000.

* * * *

From the standpoint of the farmer, conditions have not been more favourable than for the industrialist. If open competition with the world for the British market is to be relied upon prices for wheat will probably be lower than last year a position which is indicated by the action of the Wheat Pool in making the lowest initial payment on record for wheat from the 1930 crop.

Under the auspices of the Manitoba Pool an agitation has been started looking to close Government control of grain marketing through the Winnipeg grain exchange. The matter has not been formally pressed upon the new government, nor is there any possibility that action along such lines could be made effective during the present crop year.

* * * *

An interesting sidelight on agricultural problems is the number of "solutions" of the wheat situation which have been gratuitously tendered the Bennett ministry since it took office. Naturally, most of them are entirely impractical but out of the welter may come some suggestions capable of useful application in meeting the biggest individual economic problem confronting the Dominion.

* * * *

The unemployment situation in Canada has not been improved during the last four months by immigration activities. One of the first acts of the Bennett regime on taking office was to suspend immigration into Canada until such time as internal conditions justify the entry of more prospective citizens. Between March 31 and July 31, however 58,273 people were admitted as immigrants and the majority of these have either taken positions which would have been available to people here, or they are numbered among the unemployed.

The program of legislation to be presented to the special session of Parliament to meet temporarily the unemployment situation is nearing completion, largely under the cooperation of the departments of Labour and Public Works. The Government is confident of its no-contentious nature and expects that it will be disposed of within two weeks.

Early Action Is Deemed Advisable

Early action upon the remedial and restoration work which will be necessary along the waterfront of Dundas county in the event of the St. Lawrence Rapids being dammed for power purposes, is recommended to the municipalities affected by H. G. Acres, appointed to act as consulting engineer in their behalf by the Provincial Government. In a report presented to the municipalities, Mr. Acres points out that under any one of the schemes proposed, flooding of the village of Iroquois will take place and he recommends removal of the entire community to another site, with its public services restored and modernized. To meet the situation at Morrisburg, part of which village would be flooded, he proposes to run a dyke eastward to preserve the waterfront of Williamsburg township, making provision for the preservation of the Luther and Whitney Memorial churches, as well as the monument marking the site of the battle of Crysler's Farm, the latter being converted into a public park. Mr. Acres' concluding recommendation is that this work be undertaken, if possible, two years in advance of the letting of the main waterways contracts, "in order that the three Ontario municipalities involved may be in a position to serve the convenience of those engaged upon these contracts and profit thereby."

"If these municipalities are in a condition of general upheaval while the main contracts are in progress," he says, "other border towns would reap the bulk of the benefit from the heavy temporary activity which would be associated with the construction of the St. Lawrence waterways."

BODY WASTE

Whenever work goes on there is practically always something useless left over in the form of waste or rubbish. When coal is burned to secure heat or power, ashes are left over. After food has been prepared there is always some waste to be disposed of.

Our bodies are constantly at work. Even while we are asleep there is some activity, we breathe, our hearts beat, and other functions of our body continue at a low ebb. This results in a continuous formation of waste products, the amount varying to the food in take and the activity of the body.

The removal of its waste products is necessary if the body is to function properly and be in a state of health. The body is provided with means for the disposal of its wastes, and as long as these means of disposal function properly, there is no difficulty. It is when there is some interference with the machinery of elimination that trouble starts. Several organs of the body take part in elimination.

When food is taken into the body, it is digested and assimilated. Food provides the energy for body activities and the heat to keep the body warm. It also provides materials for growth and repair and, in addition, certain substances called vitamins, which are required for the regulation of body functions.

From the food are left inassimilable parts which go to make up waste and there are also the waste products of the various organs and tissues of the body. These waste products must all be regularly eliminated by the body and they are so eliminated when the body is functioning properly.

The lungs get rid of the carbon dioxide gas which is formed in the body and carried to the lungs in the blood stream. The kidneys remove waste materials from the blood and secrete such wastes in solution in the urine. The undigested part of the food is eliminated by the bowel. Through perspiration, the skin eliminates water.

In order to keep these organs of elimination properly operating, it is necessary that a proper selection of foods be made and that the amount used be not in excess of what is required. Water should be used freely both internally and externally. Rest, exercise, and fresh air help to keep all parts of the body working in harmony. A hygiene life keeps the organs of elimination in good condition, and when the organs of elimination are sound the body is helped to keep healthy. Thus health comes through proper living.

News and Information For the Busy Farmer

Furnished by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Farmers who wish to obtain selected seed for co-operative experiments with outstanding varieties of winter wheat and other autumn-sown crops may obtain this material, free of charge, by writing the Department of Field Husbandry, Ontario Agricultural College.

Royal Party for Girls.

In recognition of the splendid work being done by girls throughout Ontario in the study of housing, clothing and nutrition problems, the department is offering free trips to the Royal Winter Fair next November to five farm girls from each of the counties which have taken advantage of the instruction conducted in household science judging by the Women's Institute branch. On their arrival in Toronto the girls will be chaperoned in groups by staff instructors. A splendid programme, including visits to some of the industrial plants and business centres of particular interest to girls from the country is now in course of preparation by the department which is also providing transportation for the party. The plan is supplemental to the "Royal 500 Party" for farm boys which has been conducted so successfully during the past few years.

Autumn Sown Crops.

As a foreward to a review of experiments with autumn sown crops at O. A. C., W. J. Squirrell, professor of field husbandry, says: "Extremely dry weather during the latter part of August and the month of September was responsible for considerable decrease in the area of winter wheat sown in Ontario in 1929. Winter killing, although severe in some districts, seems to have been about average for the province. Growing conditions since early spring have been excellent and winter crops have been harvested under exceptionally good conditions. Very slight damage was caused this year by either Hessian fly or rust. More damage than usual, however, was occasioned by the presence of barren spikelets in the heads of winter wheat. Yield and quality of autumn sown crops in the experiments at the college were very good in the crop harvested in 1930. Yields per acre in the variety tests of winter wheat were greater than for several years."

Buy Home-Grown Products.

Announcement has been made by Premier Ferguson that the Government will launch an extensive educational campaign to encourage the buying and eating of Canadian products in Ontario. Radio, lecture staffs and newspapers will all figure in the programme. "We are determined," says the Premier, "to show to the people the real qualities of our products, to demonstrate the value of our own markets and to prove to them the advantages of buying at home. In short, we want to establish a greater measure of co-operation between consumer and producer." In commenting upon the projected campaign, one in which Ontario distributors of food will be asked to join, Mr. J. B. Fairbairn, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, said that most Canadians would be astonished at the amount of foodstuffs imported at the very time of year when Canadians are producing similar products. An extra slice of bread a day wuld help to take care of surplus Canadian wheat, he stated, and unemployment would be relieved consideraby by vigorous prosecution of the campaign in mind.

Changes in Representatives.

Several changes have recently been made in the agricultural representatives of Ontario. M. F. Cook, who has been assistant in Middlesex County, will take the office at New Liskeard on September 1. The north country is not new to Mr. Cook, as he was a representative in the Kenora district for nine years.

J. A. Berry, former assistant in York county, succeeds Mr. Cook at London. He is a graduate of the O. A. C., coming originally from Dunrobin, Carleton County.

A. M. Barr, assistant agricultural representative for Huron County, with office at Clinton, has been appointed representative for Grenville County with office at Kemptville.

A. G. Kirstine has been appointed representative for Halton County, succeeding A. H. McVannel, who resigned. Mr. Kirstine graduated from O. A. C. in 1925, after taking animal husbandry option. After graduation he spent a year at an abattoir in Toronto, and later returned to his farm near Walkerton. During his stay on the farm he became one of the county leaders in community development.

The Crop Situation.

Reports of crops conditions for the latter part of August indicate that the showers which fell in most sections of Southwestern Ontario were badly needed, as pastures had been burnt up and corn and root crops were suffering severely for lack of moisture. Harvesting throughout the province has been completed and excellent yields are reported. Alfalfa, alsike, and clovers yielded very satisfactorily, as high as nine bushels per acre of red clover having been reported in Kenora district. Many drovers and cattlemen have reported heavy losses on their grass cattle, due to low prices and scarcity of pasture. Many are holding their cattle over for the Christmas trade. Some excellent crops of barley, oats, and mixed grains have been harvested this season. In Norfolk County one farmer secured at yield of 1487 bushels of oats from a 15-acre field, or nearly 100 bushels per acre.

Valuable O. A. C. Exhibit.

Taking as its keynote the crop-producing power of Ontario soils, the O. A. C. Department of Chemistry exhibit at the C. N. E. has attracted great attention. It embodies a huge cornucopia picturing the fertile soils of Ontario pouring forth hundreds of thousands of bushels of wheat, oats, and barley and thousands of tons of potatoes, roots, corn, vegetables, hay and other products. A giant map of the province shows the 1,100 fertility test plots which the department is operating throughout Ontario. This year with nearly every crop grown in Ontario on these plots, a wide variety of fertilizers have been applied on the farmers' own lands under their own conditions. Field representatives ensure accurate application of fertilizers and equally accurate harvesting of test areas. The records shows interesting and valuable figures. Meadows fertilized with a high nitrogen fertilizer gave an increase of 45 per cent in yield, while alfalfa fertilized with high potash fertilizers gave an increase of 2½ tons per acre over the unfertilized area. In the fall wheat fertility tests, the average yield of all fertilized plots was 44 bushels per acre, weighing 60.4 pounds per bushel. The yield of unfertilized wheat was 34 bushels weighing 59.8 pounds per bushel.

The functions of the main plant-food elements were admirably shown by crops growing in plant solutions, and the pasture fertility work in operation in connection with the college farm claimed considerable interest. Soil testing for acidity and general discussion of soil survey work provided much valuable information for callers.

Speed on the Prairies

When you speak of prairie roads, do so with respect. Some of them, at least, are in the speedway class. Passengers on the rear observation platform of a Canadian Pacific Railway train bowling along between Regina and Winnipeg one night recently witnesses of an incident which proves the point. A motor car on a highway which parallels the railway track was seen to be overhauling the train, which was estimated to be travelling at a speed between 50 and 60 miles an hour.. The car won the race, but at a point where the road crossed the tracks and then turned alongside the rails again the car had to stop to let the train go past. Once more it took up the chase, and again it overhauled the train, pulled steadily ahead and was lost in the distance.

Safety Belts for Walkers

To protect them at night while they are walking along rural highways, in England pedestrians have introduced a new safety belt, which prevents them from being hit by automobiles. The belt has several red reflectors attached to it, and when the lights of an oncoming automobile flash on these reflectors, the motorist driving knows there is a pedestrian in his pat and proceeds with caution. The reflectors can be seen for 70 yards.

New Recipes---Quick Process

By Etta Bitta Pye.

How tempting the peaches are at the stores these days! Be sure to put up plenty of jelly and jam so that winter's menus will be flavoured with summer. In making peach jelly and jam, busy housewives prefer the short-boil method with bottled pectin. It takes only a few minutes, they get more glasses of jelly and the flavour is like fresh fruit. Here are two tested peach recipes, quite delicious:

RIPE PEACH JELLY

Ingredients: 3 cups (1½ lbs.) juice; 1 bottle pectin; 6½ cups (2¾ lbs.) sugar.

Use only fully ripened fruit. Do not peel. Remove pits and crush peaches thoroughly. Add ½ cup water. Stir until mixture boils, cover and simmer five minutes. Drip through jelly bag. Measure juice and sugar into large saucepan, stir, and bring to a boil. At once add the bottle pectin, stirring constantly, and bring again to a full rolling boil and boil ½ minute. Remove from fire, let stand 1 minute, skim, pour quickly. Cover hot jelly with film of hot paraffin; when jelly is cold, cover with ⅛ inch of hot paraffin. Roll glass to spread paraffin on sides. If peaches lack flavour or tartness, add juice of 1 lemon to sugar, and ¼ teaspoon almond extract to jelly after skimming. For a soft, very slow set, use ½ cup less sugar. Requires about 3½ pounds peaches. Makes about 9 eight-ounce glasses. 3

RIPE PEACH JAM

Ingredients: 4 cups (2 lbs.) crushed fruit; 1 bottle certo; 7½ cups (3¼ lbs.) sugar. 3

Use only fully ripened fruit. Peel, pit, and crush peaches thoroughly. Measure peaches and sugar into large kettle, mix, and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and add certo. Then stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Pour hot jam with film of hot paraffin; when jam is cold add ⅛ inch hot paraffin. Roll glass to spread paraffin on sides. If peaches lack flavour or tartness, juice of 1 lemon may be added to the crushed peaches. Requires about 3 pounds of peaches. Makes about 11 eight-ounce glasses.

CARROT MARMALADE

12 raw carrots
4 cups sugar
3 lemons
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground allspice

Grate carrots, add sugar and let stand one hour. Add lemon juice and spices. Cook slowly for 1 hour. Turn into sterilized jars and seal when cold.

STUFFED CELERY

3 stalks white, crisp celery
¼ cup cream cheese
1 tbsp. evaporated milk
1 tbsp. chopped nuts
½ tsp. onion juice
1 tsp. chopped mangoes

Mix the cheese, milk and seasonings thoroughly. Pile mixture into the grooves of the celery. Slip a small celery tip into the end for a garnish.

Saving Family's Health Is Woman's Big Job

I have a neighbour who has some of the attributes of the squirrel and the honey-bee when it comes to hoarding wnat the lavish Canadian summer brings, for use in the long winter months, when the task of planning three meals a day for a family becomes a veritable problem, writes Mrs. G. C. McCurdy, in a Women's Institute bulletin.

"I like to have some of everything," she says; "even if it's only a little. It gives variety, so that we do not become tired of canned fruits." To this end she begins with maple syrup. This, she says, can be used in so many different combinations, and is, besides, a healthy form of sugar. So her shelves always have a few bottles of this, Canada's first crop of the season.

Rhubarb comes next, and this clever housekeeper contrives to use this common and often despised product of early spring, in a really wonderful number of ways. Rhubarb and pineapple, rhubarb jelly, rhubarb and prunes, raw rhubarb in water, are among the ways she puts away rhubarb for winter use,—to say nothing of the delicious pies and puddings she makes as she needs them.

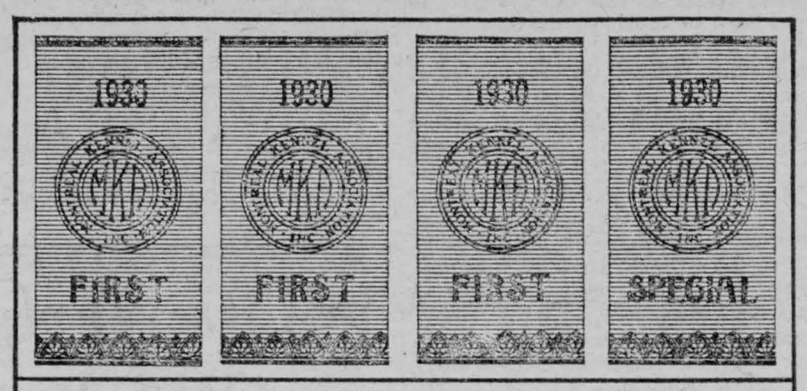
Strawberries come next, and of these a few jars of wild ones when they can be got, and several of the large, juicy, garden variety, make an attractive display. Raspberries, another fruit which can be used in a dozen different ways; gooseberries, rich and tart; currents, in small glasses, and blueberries claim her attention at almost the same time. "Nothing is so good as a blueberry pie," she says, as she sets away the gleaming dark jars.

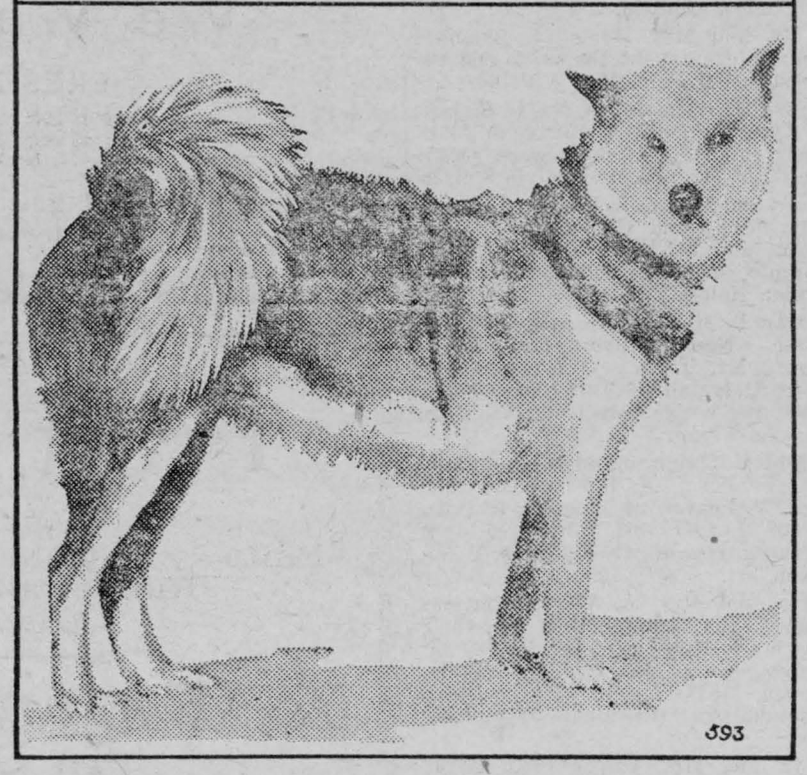
Next comes plums. Greengages, plums red and plums blue, she selects at will, each large basket adding about ten quarts to her growing store. Peaches she puts up whole, their stones inside them, their skins rubbed off after standing a few moments in boiling water—for this neighbour believes in saving time as well as fruit —and the peaches packed in jars with a rich syrun covering them to the top. Pears, she quarters and cores, and sometimes an extra quality peach apple is preserved in the same way, coming in handy when apples are expensive towards spring.

"My neighbour uses her "bottled sunshine and health," as she calls it, as carefully as she conserves it. Only one bottle is opened at a time, and the contents are never wasted, for should the family grow weary of it after two "suppers," she uses the remainder in toothsome desserts, which are eagerly consumed. "I never lose a spoonful," she says, which speaks volumes not only for her methods, but for her vigilant care of her larder.

Which is one of the reasons why my neighbour, on a small salary, can afford to buy so much fruit.

Famous Husky Wins Prizes





Arthur Beauvais, well-known Indian guide at the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec City, owes much of his popularity among visitors to the hostelry to the team of huskies that mush them out on snowsled trips in the winter. Chief among his team is its leader, "Jeff," and at the last minute it occurred to Arthur to enter Jeff at the Montreal Kennel Association Show held recently. He took no particular trouble in beautifying him for the occasion and accordingly was gratified to learn that he had taken three first prizes and one special prize. In fact, he would have taken another special prize as the best dog shown, if Beauvais had not taken him away to catch a train. Illustration shows close-up of Jeff with some of his prize ribbons.

One Good Recipe Makes A Cook Famous

Following is a salad that is substantial enough for a main course and easily prepared. It is particularly adaptable for the late Sunday supper: 2 cups diced tongue, ham or veal; 1 cup chopped celery or string beans; 3 hard cooked eggs, chopped; 1 cup canned green lima beans, ¼ cup of gherkins, chopped; French dressing and some Mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing. Mix all ingredients. Marinate with French dressing. Moisten well with mayonnaise or cooked dressing. Serve on lettuce leaves on individual plates.

Those Country Lasses

Ed. Howe's Monthly.—If there is a particularly good ball player in a country town he naturally drifts to the larger communities. The same thing is true of a particularly good banker, reporter, preacher, lawyer, mechanic. It is a natural tendency; the invariable rule. But the best women remain in the country communities. And the best women originate in the country communities; it is there they are most natural and womanly. Young men in the city make a mistake if they do not seek wives in the country.

A Place to Kiss

The New Yorker.—A sailor who wanted to kiss a girl and couldn't afford a cab ride walked with her over to the Grand Central Terminal.

They mingled with the crowd which was just about to pass through the track gates, and kissed. Others were kissing and no one paid any attention —no one except an idle meddler who noted that neither the sailor nor the girl got on that train. They simply walked over to another gate, joined the crowd there, and kissed some more.

Getting business is like courting a girl—you must offer her the right kind of goods and keep on calling.

A Seeker After Pleasure

"I'm travellin' to-day, Miss Rebecca," announced Aunt Memory jealously. "Yes, I'm off a-pleasurin' at last."

"The exposition is mighty big, Aunt Memory. Take care you don't get lost, or run over by automobiles, or anything," cautioned the lady for whom Aunt Memory "chored."

The old coloured woman laughed happily. "Lawsey, honey, none of them things is goin' to happen," she said. "When I goes a-pleasurin' I always find it, and nothin' else. The Ladies' Aid of Mount Zion ain't got the organ paid for yet, and they always talk scandalous about me ridin' on the flyin'-jinnies once a year. But I say a body's got to take some pleasure in this work mixed 'long of the workin'. I been savin' for to go to a exposition for years and years, a-puttin' my money in the savin's bank and sayin' nothin'. I ain't ever had the right amount before; now I'm goin' organ or no organ!"

And very determinedly the seeker after pleasure departed on her sightseeing expedition, leaving the members of the Ladies' Aid to protest indignantly against a love of pleasure that wasted so much money when the organ was still unpaid for.

One letter—written by some obliging person for Aunt Memory—informed Miss Rebecca that she had reached her destination safely, "was well, and doing as well as heart could wish." After that they heard nothing.

Six months passed, and the Ladies' Aid was thinking seriously of drawing up resolutions to her memory, being certain that, in the far-off city, Aunt Memory had "been killed by automobiles, or run over by the cars, or died somehow." But one afternoon, shortly after the south-bound train had whistled at the station, Miss Rebecca beheld Aunt Memory enter her gate, with her face shining with happiness, and her arms laden with carpetbag and bundles.

"And I surely has had all the pleasurin' I want for one while!" declared the old woman, as she sat comfortably back and told her experiences, after having had her hunger and thirst assuaged in the kitchen. "Yes'm, I was powerful lucky, for right at the start I come across a lady what needed a nuss—her own triflin' nuss gal had quit. So I up and nussed twin babies clean till I reached the exposition. Then fust day I went in the grounds a young white gentleman advertissin' flour hired me to cook in what he called a 'waffle booth.' Yes'm, I cooked waffles from mornin' till night and Sundays throwed in for good measure. The white folks seemed to think they was powerful good waffles, and the young white gentleman paid me good wages. And I didn't have to pay no board, neither. I would 'a' liked to have come home sooner but he 'lowed he couldn't spare me. I come back with his folks, so's I saved most all my money—he stopped at Atlanta, which ain't so terrible far from here. I must say he was a nice white man and treated his help nice—let me keep all the little presents the white folks give me."

"But did you see anything of the exposition, Aunt Memory?" asked he employer anxiously. "It was a pity to go so far and see nothing, after all."

"Well," said Aunt Memory judiciously, "I didn't to say see so mighty much, but I heard a powerful heap of noise—yes'm, I did so. And, bein' I never had no expenses. I saved all that money and I'm goin' to give it to help on that organ us ladies done bought on credit for Mount Zion. 'Long with my wages and the ticket money, they'll have mighty nigh 'nough to pay us out of debt, I reckon. But," she added impressively, "I saved all them tips the folks give me. and I'm aimin' to spend 'em every bit in pleasurin'—I'm aimin' to ride on the flyin'-jinny till I'm plumb tired—and if the Ladies' Aid don't like it, they can lump it!"

Peevish Rooster Attacks Car

A new menace to peaceful motorists which is not expected to assume serious or widespread proportions, is reported from London, Ontaro. Annoyed at the incessant stream of cars passing along his favourite feeding ground, a game cock belonging to an Adelaide resident deliberately attacked one of the automobiles, which was driven by William Bailey of that city. The rooster was seen to gaze at the approaching car, then he ruffled his feathers in hostile fashion and flew directly at the front of the vehicle. He soared through the air, crashed through the windshield, bumped against the tonneau and came to rest in the lap of one of the passengers. Two of the three occupants of the front seat were injured by glass splinters. Police investigated the accident but were balked when they found the cause of all the trouble simmering in a stewing kettle.

The moral seems to be: "Don't underestimate the feathered pedestrian.

"The minister certainly preached a scathing sermon on vanity and extravagance."

"Yes; and his wife sitting there with a new $20 hat on."

"Oh! I wondered why he was so worked up!"

The yard measure is the arm measurement of England's Henry I. He ordered that the length of his own arm—36 inches—should be the standard for cloth.

IN MEMORIAM

In fond and loving memory of my dear husband, Albert Errett, who departed this life one year ago on the 28th of August 1929.

When the evening shades are falling
And we are all alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing,
If he only could come home.

Some may think we do not miss him
When at times they see us smile,
Little do they know the heartache
That we suffer all the while.

To part with our dear father was a trial severe,
But it was better that he should be yonder than here.
Oh, may our dear father, linked in the chain
To bring us to Heaven, till we meet again.

Inserted by Wife and Family.
