Trooper Mulloy Badly Injured.

While assisting in the removal of a heavy reaper at his farm near Winchester, Mr. Lorne Mulloy, the South African hero, was badly injured on Friday. The cutter bar swung round driving one of the guards into Mr. Mulloy's leg piercing the bone just below the knee, making a very painful and serious wound. Dr. Reddick dressed the wound. There is great danger of blood poisoning setting in.

Furs in Big Demand.

In the selection of suitable gifts for ladies, Furs are entitled to first consideration. We're selling more than we ever did at Christmas time before, and anything we show carries style and reputation along with it. Our customers have the comfortable feeling that anything we recommend has the quality in it to "make good." Good Furs last for years, while the cheap mail-order kind wear out in a season and look shabby from the start. We challenge any store in Canada to give better values than we're giving in genuinely honest Furs at moderate prices. G. W. Bogart, Chesterville.

Infant Child Badly Scalded.

The youngest child of Mr. and Mrs Geo. Armstrong of Winchester was severely burned Thursday morning of last week by upsetting a pail of hot water on himself. In endeavoring to get up he rolled over in the steaming water and was horribly burned before any person could get to him.

Week in Jail for a Teacher.

Miss Nora McCrea, a young school teacher residing in Merrickville, was found guilty by Judge McDonald at Brockville of assaulting nine-year-old Helen McCoubrie a pupil at Sopers school, near Frankville, on October 19 and 23 last. A sentence of one week in jail was imposed. The case attracted unusual attention and the court room was filled all day. Four pupils swore to witnessing the chastisements which were administered with a blackboard pointer, some of the blows falling on the child's head.

Two physicians also testified to the injuries received by the McCoubrie child. She was laid up for several weeks. The accused was the only witness for the defence and she admitted punishing the child under great provocation.

In passing sentence, Judge McDonald intimated that could have sentenced the prisoner to two years Miss McCrea collapsed when the sentence was pronounced and had to be assisted into the jail. Mr. James McCoubrie the foster-father of the child states that he had accepted five hundred dollars from Miss McCrea on the understanding that there would be no prosecution. The proceedings were later instituted by Agent Traill, of the Children's Aid Society.

Kindness was Rewarded.

Justice Teetzel has allowed the appeal of Mrs E. A. Thompson from the decision of the Local Master at Brockville, who found that Mrs Thompson had used undue influence to induce Alexander Wardner, aged eighty, of Burritt's Rapids, to will his entire estate to her. She was not a relative of the old man, but had washed, baked and sewed for him without charge, and for his aged wife, who predeceased him by a short time. Action was brought by Miss McGarrity, of Detroit, who said herself and some nieces and nephews were the old man's relatives. Justice Teetzel refuses to break the will, which disposes of an estate valued at $6,000.

JAPANESE DENTISTS.

They Use Natural Weapons In Assaulting Their Victims.

Japanese native dentists conduct their business in a manner which would undoubtedly cause any European practitioner to open his eyes in amazement. The victim is seated on the ground. The dentist bends over him and forces his left hand between the patient's jaws in such a manner that the mouth cannot possibly be closed. Then he grasps the doomed tooth between the thumb and forefinger of the right hand and with one deft wrench removes it and throws it upon the ground.

So great is the skill of these native dentists that many of them are able to remove six or seven teeth per minute. Indeed, their skill is hardly to be wondered at when one considers the course of preparatory training they are obliged to undergo.

A number of holes are bored in a stout plank, and this is fixed firmly to the ground. In the holes are driven wooden pegs, and the would-be dentist has to extract them with his fingers without dislodging the board. This process is repeated with a board of pine wood and finally with one of oak, and it is only when he has succeeded in extracting the pegs from the oak plank that the Japanese considers himself qualified to practice upon his fellow men.—Pearson's Weekly.

MAKING A LAWYER.

It Took Patrick Henry Six Weeks to Prepare For the Bar.

Patrick Henry when he was a young married man of twenty-three was a complete failure. He had tried clerking, farming and keeping a country store, all with equally negative or disastrous results.

"Best of all," he said cheerfully to himself, "I will become a lawyer."

Six weeks he allowed himself as a matter of formality to prepare for the bar. During this time he read one book, "Coke Upon Littleton," supplemented by an equally strenuous perusal of the "Digest of the Virginia Acts."

His examiners, Wythe, Pendleton, Peyton Randolph and John Randolph, hardly knew whether to be more amazed at his ignorance of law or his profound knowledge of history. After no little deliberation he received his license.

"Mr. Henry," John Randolph exclaimed enthusiastically after his examination of the young neophyte, "if your industry be only half equal to your genius I augur that you will do well and become an ornament and an honor to your profession."—Green Bag.

Queen Bess' Wardrobe.

Royal annals have never recorded a more varied and extensive wardrobe than that which belonged to the "virgin queen." Even at the age of sixty-eight, when she might be supposed to have outlived her youthful vanity, she possessed 99 complete official costumes, 102 French gowns, 100 robes with trains and 67 without, 126 antique dresses, 136 bodices, 125 tunics, not to mention such trifles as 96 mantles, 55 dressing gowns and 27 fans. It is possible that she had an ugly foot, for she possessed only nine pairs of shoes, which, considering her extravagances in other articles of apparel, must have some meaning. At her death 3,000 articles were found duly catalogued in her wardrobe which had adorned her proud person.

Winter and Summer Sun.

The sun is nearer to the earth in winter than it is in summer. It is not distance that determines the amount of heat that we get from the sun, but the length of time the sun is above the horizon and the direction in which his rays strike us. In summer, although much farther from us, the sun is daily above the horizon much longer than when he is nearest, at the winter solstice, and this continued action produces the summer heat. In addition to this is to be reckoned the fact that in summer the force of the sun's rays is more perpendicular to the earth's surface, while in the winter they are oblique. In the case of the perpendicular ray the heat stays, while in that of the oblique ray it "glances off," so to speak.

"Oh, Had I the Wings of a Dove."

The daily papers reported the other day a visit of the inmate to a convict prison. The prison has been built by convict labor. Convict hands have done the carving. A convict played the organ, and it looks as if a convict selected the hymns. One of them, "Oh, Had I the Wings of a Dove," the convicts are said to have sung with great heartiness. It is easy to believe.—London Truth.

Importance Recognized.

"Do you think that man fully appreciates the importance of the office to which we have elected him?" said one constituent.

"I guess he does," replied the other. "The first thing he did was to say it ought to command a larger salary."—Washington Star.

TORTURED BY BILIOUSNESS

AND TERRIBLE SICK HEADACHES

Both Completely Cured by "Fruit-a-tives"

DRESDEN, Ont. July 17th, 1910.

"I was a dreadful sufferer for many years from Sick Headaches and Biliousness, or Torpid Liver. I tried many remedies and physicians, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I finally used 'Fruit-a-tives' and after the first box, I was so much better that I continued using these fruit tablets and they have entirely cured me.

"I certainly can recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' to anyone who suffers from Headaches, Biliousness or Stomach Trouble." Mrs. ISAAC VANSICKLE. Thousands of people have had the same experience as Mrs. VanSickle. They have tried doctors and taken all sorts of medicine, only to find that "Fruit-a-tives" is the one and only remedy that actually cures these troubles.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit juices, and is the greatest Liver Cure ever discovered. It acts directly on Liver, Kidneys and Skin—sweetens the stomach and purifies the blood.

Another Rifle Victim.

Smiths Falls, Ont. December 3.—Two boys named Burroughs and McKeown were struggling for possession of a rifle today when it was suddenly discharged. The bullet entered the cheek of a boy named John Moran, fifteen feet away, and came out at the eye, shattering the latter member. The injured boy is at an hospital in a precarious condition.

Money in Poultry.

The editor of the Canadian Poultry Review, the people's popular poultry paper, tells us that this paper has been greatly enlarged and is filled with all that pertains to poultry, both from a practical and fancy standpoint.

Prof. A. G. Gilbert, Manager Dominion Government Poultry Farm, Ottawa, is still in charge of the Practical Poultry Department. Rev. J. N. Williams, one of England's most noted experts, writes interestingly each month on poultry doings in the Old Land. Mr. H. S. Babcock, Providence, R. I., is another prominent writer and breeder on this paper's regular staff, and there are dozens of others. Each phase of poultry breeding, poultry exhibiting, etc., is fully covered and the pages of the Review are replete with half tone reproductions from life of famous birds, plans of up-to-date houses, utensils, etc.

The subscription rate is fifty cents per year, but readers of this paper can have it at three years for $1.00, and sample will be sent free on application to Canadian Poultry Review, 184 Adelaide Street West, Toronto, Ont.

Found Dead in Bed.

Kingston, Ont. Nov. 30.—Joseph Hiscock, one of the city's most prominent business men, was found dead in his bed yesterday. Heart failure was the cause. For thirty years he conducted a food and confectionery store, served as alderman for several years and was a prominent Methodist.

A WHISTLER PICTURE.

The Story of Henry Irving's Portrait as Philip II.

The queer ups and downs of a picture are illustrated by the history of the portrait by Whistler of Henry Irving as Philip II. of Spain, now hanging in the Metropolitan museum, in New York. Whistler at a precarious period of his career asked his friend Irving to sit to him for a portrait in the character in which Irving was then playing, Philip II. The portrait was painted, and Irving, much pleased, requested Whistler to let him buy it and to name a price not too high for his slender purse. Having had the pleasure of Whistler's acquaintance, the writer can imagine the following conversation:

"Not too high, Jimmy! You know—aha—that actors—now, modestly, Jimmy!"

"My dear Irving, 'tis a masterpiece, but you shall have it for a song—let us say a thousand pounds."

"Too much, Jimmy—too much!"

Whistler kept the portrait. Soon after, in one of those unpleasant experiences which he shared with his great master, Rembrandt, he was sold out for debt. Rembrandt was sold out only twice. The "Butterfly" underwent three such forced sales.

Irving heard of the sale. Unknown to Whistler, he was able to buy his portrait at the auction for a song, and then in a spirit of friendly retaliation he invited the "Butterfly" to dinner. After the coffee and cigars he remarked, "Aha, my dear Jimmy, you must see my latest acquisition!" and invited him in to see his pictures, not mentioning the fact that he had bought the portrait. Whistler went from one picture to another, criticising, admiring, with that subtle biting wit of his, and, coming in front of the portrait, he gayly remarked: "Aha! What have we here? My congratulations, Henry—the best picture in your collection!" He never turned a hair. This picture after Irving's death brought $25,000 at auction in London, and we are lucky to have it here now. This was a legitimate advance in price, and the picture is worth it. The few pounds that Irving paid was one of those fortuitous bazards of the auction room.—Saturday Evening Post.

RED TAPE IN PRAGUE.

While the Officials Wrangled the Matter Settled Itself.

A delightful story of circumlocution comes from Prague. One of the least imposing of the bridges in the city, the Liebnier Brucke, connects two suburbs. Some time ago the toll collector discovered that some rabbits had invaded the district and concluded that their burrowings might threaten the stability of the bridge, so he called the burgomaster's attention to the matter. The burgomaster decided that it did not come within his province, but he sent the representation to the committee managing the public slaughter houses. The committee examined the rabbits and found they were wild, so they could do nothing, and as it was a close time the aid of the sportsman could not be impressed. Still, they did not relieve them of their moral responsibility.

The Prague slaughter house committee in turn informed the Stadtratpresidium, but the matter was not within its jurisdiction. Yet the stability of the bridge was beyond all things necessary, so the dossier was sent to the central authority for buildings. This body went into the matter and concluded that the water authority should deal with the subject. But, no: the water board opined that it was for the conservators of rivers, and this body decided that rabbits could not be brought within the domain of things fluvial and that the burgomaster was the right party to take action. The dossier having completed the circle of possible departmental travels, the burgomaster decided to act. He appointed a committee of investigation. The committee went to the bridge in four carriages, and then they learned that the rabbits had taken their departure for some mouths.—Munchnr Nachrichten.

What the Death Mask Shows.

The value of a plaster cast as a portrait of the dead or living face cannot for a moment be questioned. It must of necessity be absolutely true to nature. It cannot flatter; it cannot caricature. It shows the subject as he was or is, not only as others saw him in the actual flesh, but as he saw himself. And in the case of the death mask particularly it shows the subject often as he permitted no one but himself to see himself. He does not pose; he does not "try to look pleasant." In his mask he is seen, as it were, with his mask off.

An Itemized Bill.

The departing guest, according to a writer in the London Opinion, scrutinized his bill and exclaimed, "Look here, you charge for writing paper and I haven't used a scrap all the time I've been here!" The Proprietor—Ah, pardon, m'sieur. It is for the paper on which your bill is made out.

Catholic Clergy and Civil Courts.

Ottawa, Nov. 30—The last number of the "Acta Apostolica Sedis" just received here from Rome, contains an important "motu proprio" of the Pope, regarding the censures inflicted upon those who bring ecclesiastics before the civil courts.

The Pope's pronouncement reads as follows: "Since in these evil times it has been the custom to pay so little heed to ecclesiastic immunity that not only clerics and priests but even Bishops and Cardinals of the Holy Roman Church are brought before the lay tribunals, the situation requires of us that we restrain, by the severity of the penalty those whom the gravity of the offence does not deter from this sacrilegious action. Wherefore we 'proprio motu' lay down and decree that any private person, laymen or cleric, male or female, who without permission of the ecclesiastical authority, summon before a lay court any ecclesiastical person whomsoever, either in criminal or civil cases, and compels him to appear there publicly, will incur excommunication, 'latae sententiae,' specially reserved to Roman Pontiff. And what is laid down in these letters we will to be valid and ratified, all things to the contrary notwithstanding."

The new decree has a bearing of somewhat particular interest just now, coming as it does after the recent court case in which Bishop Falcoln of London and a priest whom he had removed from his post, after an adverse finding by the ecclesiastical tribunal whom the Church has delegated to decide these matters, gave evidence. The priest declined to give up his position though ordered to do so, and the case finally came before the civil courts.

Legal Notes.

Re Mack and Board of Audit, of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry in the Divisional Court, Toronto, before Chief Justice Falconbridge, Justices Riddell and Latchford, J. A. Macdonald for the Board of Audit; R. A. Pringle, K. C. for Mack. An appeal by the Board of Audit from Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry from the order of Britton J., of June 20, 1911. The order complained of was made on application of the sheriff for a mandamus, requiring the board to pass an account of the sheriff for services rendered by him and to authorize the payment thereof by the said United Counties, or the treasurer thereof. Judgment: We see no reason to differ from the judgment appealed from as to the practise. We agree also with the learned judge appealed from that any return which, to make it official, is transmitted through the sheriff is a return for which the sheriff is entitled to be paid. We think, however, that a report required to be made in duplicate is still but one report. A contract in duplicate is but one contract; and we cannot see that making a duplicate statement of the same facts to the same person constitutes a new and distinct report. The appeal will to this extent be allowed, but otherwise dismissed. The appellant will pay the costs of the appeal.

Will Lose His Feet.

Brockville, Ont. Dec. 1—A Russian about forty years of age was placed aboard the C. P. R. express last night at Jasper for Brockville and upon arriving here was handed over to the police. The unfortunate man explained in broken English that about two weeks ago, while exposed to the inclemency of the weather, he had both feet badly frost bitten. He was removed to a hospital, where it was found the feet were so badly decomposed that amputation will be necessary.

No "Flying Start" Needed with FROST & WOOD No. 8

Why, think you, do you have to back up some Mowers a few feet and get a "flying start" before the knives will cut?
It is because the gear wheels on external gear mowers do not mesh fully enough and lost motion results.
When selecting a mower, see if the small gear wheel is inside the large (the internal gear, note illustration) or outside of it (the external gear).
If it is the external gear you'll find only one cog in mesh. To start this kind of a machine in heavy hay without "getting up speed" is impossible. There is so much "slack" to be taken up in the gears between the Main Drive Wheels and the Pitman, that the horses have to travel quite a distance before the knives commence cutting.

Now, look at our top illustration (better still, see our No. 8 Mower), and what do you find? Why, that two cogs are always in full mesh and at least one other in touch. You'll readily understand by this that the Internal Gear is just about three times as fully in mesh as the External. The gears mesh so completely that they simply must turn smoothly and precisely together, with never a slip. You can take our No. 8 into the heaviest part of your hay field and the knives will commence cutting the instant the horses step up.

Furthermore, in the external arrangement, the wheels turn away from each other, out of harmony, and the cogs wear down.

By the internal method (see top illustration) the wheels move in the same direction, in harmony, which reduces friction (wear) to the minimum. The result is a smooth and easy-running machine—the pride of the owner.

Look at the small arrows pointing to our double brace. The other method, you understand, is to have but one brace at this part of the mower. You can see for yourself how much wiser it is to have the double brace. It greatly strengthens the machine where a big strain falls, and more fully protects the working parts against the jars and jolts caused by driving over rough ground.

Then, too, the No. 8, thanks to the use of generous sized Roller Bearings, delights the horses by running so "easy," instead of making them work so "hard," as some mowers do.

Five men were buried in the fall of a shed on the wharf at Papineauville. Felix Lefebvre was killed and the others more or less injured.

To the Independent Conservative Electors of the County of Dundas:

Gentlemen:

A few months ago a large number of Independent Liberals manifested, in no uncertain manner, their independence of thought and character, believing that the issues involved justified their action. The present Ontario election presents an opportunity for you to exercise the same privilege for good and sufficient reasons. Naturally you ask for those reasons, and herewith I present them, and careful consideration of them I solicit your vote on Monday next.

First,—The Department of Education has been so inefficiently managed and so great a laxity prevails that not only are the primary schools in many places improperly manned that the duty of the state to the child is not fulfilled. Besides, owing to careless and loose methods an exceptionally serious condition exists as to the teaching of the English language. Many teachers are employed who are absolutely unacquainted with the English language. Readers and other text books are employed not containing a word of English. The parents of English speaking children are prevented from securing a proper education in English. Under Sir James P. Whitney's administration the teaching of French has increased from 84 schools to nearly 300. As a candidate in the present election I solicit your vote because I declare my policy to be that in every primary school in Ontario English shall be the teaching language; that no teacher shall be employed who is incapable of teaching English; that a commission shall immediately be issued to examine and report on every school in which French is taught, and if the teachers are not qualified to teach English the trustees shall be compelled to engage a properly qualified teacher of English; if necessary, a bonus to be paid by the Government to enable such a teacher to be employed. English is the only language which shall be recognized in the primary schools. Now and forever must this question be settled, and Sir James P. Whitney does not stand for such action, and so does not deserve the vote of any independent conservative.

Second,—Sir James P. Whitney has permitted to be openly violated the principle of responsible government. In the public press Sir James himself has said there are no bi-lingual schools. Hon. Dr. Pyne, the Minister of Education, has promised to abolish them. Hon. J. J. Foy, Attorney-General, says the same. Hon. Dr. Reaume, Minister of Public Works, says the Attorney-General speaks for himself only. Thus the cardinal principle of responsible government (unity of the Cabinet) is openly violated, and so, dearly bought rights are assailed.

Third,—The inactivity of Sir James P. Whitney and his Ministers in the Department of Agricultural, Forests and Mines, Attorney General and Public Works, is worthy of our condemnation.

For the above and other reasons which might be given, I ask every Independent Conservative in the County of Dundas, to mark his ballot so as to give an unqualified disapproval of Sir James P. Whitney and his Government for their betrayal of English ideals and language.

Your obedient servant,
R. S. MUIR.

"Daddy's Girl."

Are you one of the hundreds who have written to The Globe for a copy of "Daddy's Girl"? This is probably, without a single exception, the most popular picture ever published in Canada.

A few years ago the Christmas Globe published a limited number of them. The demand was so great that every copy was ordered before it was put on the market.

A sample copy of this picture, which is from a photograph of a child with the sweetest and most expressive face that can be imagined, may be seen at this office.

To see it is to want it.

This beautiful picture will be given free with each new subscription or renewal sent in for the Weekly Globe and Canada Farmer before December 31, 1911. Remember the edition of this picture is limited, and the first come the first served.

The Weekly Globe and Canada Farmer has been enlarged, the staff of writers increased, and many new features added. Those improvements are in keeping with the progressive management that has made The Daily Globe one of the first half-dozen newspapers on the continent. The Weekly Globe and Canada Farmer, with its Illustrated Magazine Section, has always held a foremost place among the metropolitan weeklies in Canada. It will now be classed with the best on the continent. When the Illustrated Magazine Section, with its forty or fifty pictures of current events every week, is taken into account, it is certainly a lot of reading to be given for only one dollar per year.

No More Dandruff

W. G. Bolster Knows what is Making Clean Scalps.

In order to rid your scalp of filthy dandruff you must kill the germ. There is a hair dressing called Parisian Sage which is now sold in every town in Canada. It is guaranteed by W. G. Bolster to eradicate dandruff, stop falling hair, splitting hair and scalp itch in two weeks or money back.

If you have dandruff get a large 50 cent bottle to-day and rid yourself of it. Remember that if dandruff germs are not destroyed in time, the hair will surely fall out and baldness will follow.

THE FOUR HENRYS

One of the Most Dramatic of the Legends of France.

A MEETING AND A WARNING.

The Dire Prediction That Was Hurlled
at Them After a Duel in the Dark and the Way the Fateful Prophecy Became a Matter of History.

Of all the French historical legends
there is none more dramatic than that pertaining to "the four Henrys." The tradition is that on a wintry night as the rain fell in torrents an old woman who passed in the country for a witch and who inhabited a miserable cabin in the forest of St. Germain was aroused by a loud knocking at her door. She opened it and saw a cavalier, who requested hospitality. A scrap of cheese and a morsel of black bread were all she set before him.

"I have nothing more," said she.
"See, here is all that tithes, taxes, subsidies and other extortions have left me to offer distressed travelers, besides which my neighbors call me a witch and rob me of the produce of my little farm."

"'Tis a cruel situation," said the young man, "and were I king of France I would suppress the taxes."
"God hears you," answered the old woman.

The cavalier was about to commence his repast when a fresh knock at the door restrained him. Again a gentleman, drenched with rain, demanded shelter.

"Is that you, Henry?" said the one.

"It is, Henry," replied the other.

The old woman discovered from their conversation that they belonged to a numerous hunting party led by King Charles IX. and that they had been dispersed by a storm.

"My good woman," said the second comer, "have you naught else to offer us?"

"Nothing," was the reply.

"Well, then," said the other, "we must divide it."

The first Henry gave signs of refusal; but, observing the resolute eye and haughty bearing of the second, he replied in a tone of chagrin:

"Let us divide it, then."

They sat down opposite each other,
and one had already commenced cutting the bread with his dagger when a third blow was struck at the door.
Again a young nobleman entered—again a Henry. The meeting was most singular.

The first Henry endeavored to hide
the bread and cheese. The second replaced it on the table and set his sword by his side. The third Henry smiled.

"What! Will you spare me none of your supper, then?" said he.

"The supper," said the first Henry,

"rightly belongs to the first comer."

"The supper," said the second Henry,

"belongs of right to him who knows best how to defend it."

The third Henry colored and said haughtily, "Perhaps it rather belongs to him who knows best how to win it."

At these words the first Henry drew his dagger, the two others their swords. They had scarce made a few passes when a fourth blow was heard at the door. The portal opened. A fourth Henry appeared.

At the sight of the naked swords
the last comer drew his own, and, taking the weakest side, fought vigorously.

The old woman, frightened, hid herself, and it was well that she did, for the swords dashed to pieces everything that came in their way. The lamp fell, was extinguished, and all four fought in the dark. The noise of the swords lasted for some time, but gradually died away. Then the old woman crept out of her hiding place, relit the lamp and beheld the four combatants stretched on the floor.

She examined them. Fatigue had overpowered them more than loss of blood.

They rose up one after another,
ashamed of what they had done.

"Come," said one; "let us now sup with good humor and without quarreling."

But on looking for the supper they perceived it lying on the floor, soiled with their feet and stained with blood.

The old woman, sitting in a corner, fixed her dark eyes on the authors of the mischief.

"Why do you look at us in that manner?" demanded the first Henry.

"I see your destinies written in your foreheads," answered the injured woman.

The second Henry harshly commanded her to reveal them. The two others laughed outright.

With outstretched arms the old woman replied: "As you all four have been united in this cabin, you will all be reunited in one and the same destiny. As you have trodden underfoot and soiled with blood the bread of hospitality, you will trample underfoot and soil with blood the power of which you will partake. As you have impoverished and devastated this dwelling, you will devastate and impoverish France.

As you have all four been wounded in the dark, you will all perish by treason

and a violent death."

These four Henrys were the four heroes of the league—two as its chiefs and two as its enemies—Henry of Conde, poisoned at St. Jean d'Angely by his wife; Henry of Guise, assassinated at Blois by the Forty-five; Henry of Valois (Henry III.), assassinated by Jacques Clement at St. Cloud; Henry of Bourbon (Henry IV.), assassinated
at Paris by Ravallac.—New York Press.

Nothing is politically right which is morally wrong.—O'Connell.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

There are two things that make many flocks unprofitable—too much grain and too little animal and green food. This makes a narrow fattening ration, and the hens do not receive the elements necessary for health and egg production.

Edward Taylor of Alexandria, S. D., wrote his name on an egg that was shipped to Brooklyn. Miss Margaret Graynor ate the egg, and it was so bon ton that she wrote to Mr. Taylor.
They later sent out their wedding announcements written on eggshells.

One reason why turkeys crossed with the wild do not get blackhead so often is because the wild blood in their veins leads them to wander and to keep away from the barnyard and the hen runs, where the blackhead germ,
the Amoeba maleagris, flourishes.

Among the gifts at a donation party to a new preacher at Terre Hill, Pa., was a flock of fourteen fine chickens.
They were placed in a new henhouse
the members had built and started right in to lay. This beats serving preachers antediluvian clucks and rubbernecks.

The fellow who claims he has discovered the secret of the sex of eggs and can control the same should get busy on the problem of perpetual motion. If there is any liar that can find the secret without half trying he can. His own wagging tongue could be used in the experiments.

Allentown, Pa., has a female society called Ye Old Hens. While it is composed of young and coy maidens and the principles of the club are not anti-matrimonial, the young men of the famous Peanut City are giving the fair members the cold shoulder, as they fear cacklers and henpeckers.

Dogs soon become proficient at opening spring gates. Our bulldog Ted easily opens the ordinary store door
by rising on his hind legs and snapping the latch, but when confined in a room where there is a window he doesn't bother with preliminaries, but chews up the sash. To avoid flocks getting mixed and cocks getting into mixups use bolts, bars or hooks to keep out the pups.

B. M. Barnitz.

The One He Saved.

Harold, aged nine, came home one day so bruised and dirty that his mother was thrown into a state of marked perturbation.

"Mercy!" she exclaimed in horror.
"How on earth, my child, did you get your clothes and face into such a state?"

"I was trying to keep a little boy
from getting licked," was Harold's virtuous if hesitating reply.

"Well, that was fine," said his mollified parent. Who was the little boy?"

"Me."

John's Blunder.

A minister in Scotland who was making a call the other week upon a member of his flock whom he had not seen at church for some time asked, "What's come over you that I don't see you at church at all now?"

"Hoot, man, ye'll no' ha' seen me because I sit aint the pillar."

"The pillar, John? Good gracious, the pillar! Why, it is two years since it was removed from the front of your seat."

Good Mixer.

"Wombat is very popular."
"Yes; when anybody tells an old story he can put up a pretty good imitation of a laugh."

DON'TS.

Don't think this is philosophy. This is common sense that brings dollars and cents.

Don't locate your poultry plant on Pike's peak, in the Dismal swamp, the Black Hole of Calcutta, the Devil's Den or along Bull Run. If you do you'll meet your Waterloo.

Don't cry over the hole in a doughnut. When you were a baby and got the colic you had to cry, you couldn't frolic; but now, since you have grown a bit, we hope you're over crying fits.

Don't neglect ventilation. In summer and winter keep the fresh air busy chasing the dead air out.

Don't set the incubator lamp away full of oil. The oil will spoil and will also eat away the lamp metal.

Don't ship dressed poultry to a distant party you know nothing about.
If you do he may gold brick you.

Don't advertise a hen at a value of $10.00. Some one that's lippy will say you're dippy or trying to trick with a big gold brick.

DEATH BY FALLING.

Pain and Fear Seem to Have No Place in the Ordeal.

It is difficult to imagine a more horrible accident than falling with an airship, yet in the opinion of a German psychologist, Fritz Kahn, death resulting from such a fall is not exceptionally painful, says the New York Evening Post. He argues that it is likely to be met in a state of indifference or even an agreeable half-conscious condition of mind. He witnessed the fall of Helm—a fall which lasted a number of seconds, as the airship fluttered to and fro like a piece of paper before the final descent. The distance was about eighty yards. On recovering consciousness after several days Helm remembered only the ascent. Everything between that and his awakening in the hospital was a blank.

Mountain climbers have had similar experiences. A French geologist who fell over a precipice attests that he swooned and never knew what happened. Whymper, on the other hand, remained fully conscious when he fell on the Matterhorn. Bounding from rock to rock, he calculated the intervals between the shocks, wondered how long he could stand it, felt no pain and came to the conclusion that death through a fall must be one of the least disagreeable ways of ending one's life. A boy of eight who fell twenty-two yards declared that his only thought was that he might lose his new pocketknife.

At a meeting of the Swiss Alpine club the geologist Helm described his feelings during a fall. His first thought was that now he would be unable to deliver the address he had promised; then he thought of the effect on his family of the news of his death. He wanted to take off his spectacles to save his eyes from being damaged by broken glass. Various scenes from his past life flitted across his consciousness in rapid succession. There was no fear, no pain, but rather an agreeable state of mind, like that which is brought on by soft music.

RADIUM RAYS.

Their Velocity the Highest Known Speed of Matter in Motion.

The earth travels in its orbit round the sun nineteen miles a second. The sun itself, like all the other stars, has its own proper motion through space. Some authorities have calculated its speed at twelve miles a second. A few stars move more slowly than this, others much more rapidly. Arcturus maintains a speed of not less than 100 miles a second, and the star called "Groombridge 1830" travels 150 miles in the same brief time.

But the speeds of the heavenly bodies are slow compared with the motions of the tiniest known particles of matter. The sun would seem to stand still could we compare its velocity with that of the radium "rays." These radiations are produced by successive explosions of tiny groups of the tiny atoms of radium. The "alpha rays," being themselves infinitesimal fragments of matter, are thrown out with a velocity of perhaps 12,000 miles a second. The "beta rays" travel still faster.

In the emanations of this wonderful radium we find the highest known speed of matter in motion. At 12,000 miles a second it would take little more than two seconds for a particle of matter to travel all the way round the earth. Look at your watch and note the duration of two seconds; then imagine that in a chariot drawn by "alpha rays" you have been round the world. There is hardly time in two seconds for you to think the journey.

The highest measured speed, however, is not the speed of matter, but the speed of that etheric vibration which we call light. And light travels at the rate of 186,000 miles a second.—Youth's Companion.

"The Thunderer."

It was the mud flinging of an earlier mode of travel than the motorbus that gave the London Times its nickname of "The Thunderer." Two ladies at Kew had been splashed by an unmannerly horseman passing them too closely, and the Times came out with a strong leader alleging the offender to have been the Duke of Cumberland. In due course it was found that the horseman was not the duke, and in a further article by way of apology the Times used the words "We thundered out," an expression that so tickled the public that the name of "Thunderer" was bestowed on the paper forthwith.

Bean Ballots.

Greeks and Romans of the ancient world invariably used white and black beans for voting at trials, the white bean signifying acquittal and the black one conviction.

Particular Speech.

"My dear, do you love me still?" "I still love you, and I suppose I would love you still if I ever saw you that way."—Baltimore American.

History is indeed little more than the register of the crimes, follies and misfortunes of mankind.—Gibbon.

To Captain Walter and Mrs Baker: We have chosen this occasion perhaps one of the most important in your life and that of your good wife the commencing of the making of a home as a fitting unity to show the esteem in which you are held by your neighbors in Nation Valley.

The most of those present tonight having grown up with you deem it a particular pleasure in taking part in this little house warning to-night.

We wish to congratulate you in your choice of so charming a helpmate and all of us unite in wishing you a happy and prosperous and contented future. We wish to assure you that we are proud of one of our boys who holds no small position among our Volunteer Soldiers of the King and we bespeak for you a distinguished career as an officer of our Canadian Militia. Signed in behalf of the young people of Nation Valley, Mr. Norman G. Moodie and W. E. Jamieson.
