Concentrated Milk Producers Get Little Consideration

When the Federal Government announced their price programme for the milk industry the latter part of last week; farmers supplying the concentrated trade assumed the role of the forgotten man, except that from October 1st next, until April 30 1944, a subsidy of 25 cents per cwt. was granted. Cheese received sufficient government attention to place its price on a par, if not higher than condensery milk, without taking into consideration the value of whey. Immediately after the announcement the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers' Association, through its Secretary, Mr. Erle Kitchen, became active and as a result it is announced that the government will subsidize March and April milk of this year 25 cents per cwt., which, according to government announcement amounts to $350,000 to the farmers of the concentrated group or sufficient to pay the Association dues for more than 15 years. This is the direct result of organization, and the stronger the farmers are organized, the better the results which will be obtained.

Despite organization there apparently will be no subsidy on the larger flow of summer milk. Whether this is due to the Agricultural Policy of government attempting to put more milk into the cheese and butter trade or whether there is an acute shortage of condensery supplies, is not explained. In an attempt to keep the present price of $2.00 per cwt. for 3.5 milk as a summer price the local executive met last Tuesday with Mr. O. L. King, plant Manager and Mr. Sparks of New York, 2nd Vice President of Nestles, when the matter was fully discussed.

One fact which the general public does not appreciate and which should be emphasized is that the quoted price of $2.00 per cwt. for 3.5 milk, for the summer months of heavy production, does not mean that the farmer receives $2.00. The plant average at this period is very little above 3 percent. which yields $1.70 approximately. Farmers paying hauling charges receive $1.60.

The Nestles officials could not make a definite statement due to the uncertainty of government policy as regards the export trade but realize that, if they are expected to hold their patrons, they would have to at least compete with chesee prices.

All local A patrons will be pleasd to learn that after several years of "requesting" by the executive, some action has been taken to overcome the costly wait, (to the farmers manpower hours), occurring from the slow process of receiving Special Milk. As soon as weather permits the receiving room is to be enlarged and necessary changes made to dump Special Milk as rapidly as is the Standard.

Ottawa—Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, is shown chatting with Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King a few moments after his arrival in Ottawa. Mr. Eden flew from the United States in the same huge bomber which carried him across the ocean. He addressed a joint session of the Canadian Senate and the House of Commons during his brief day.

Red Cross Drive Goes Over Top

The drive for $2350 for the benefit of the Red Cross from Chesterville and District has gone over the top to the extent of almost $150. The small amount of $27 is needed to bring the total up to $2500. Here is a chance for any who wish they had come across with a dollar or two more to ease their conscience. A dollar here, a dollar there, handed into the collectors would soon round out the larger figure. There may have been an odd one missed by the canvassers. This is their chance to come along side their neighbours and do the right thing.

Melvin Casselman, Morrisburg Dies In Ninety-Second Year

On March 19th, at his home east of Morrisburg, there passed away one of the oldest and most respected residents of the district in the person of Melvin Casselman who would have reached the ripe old age of 92 years had he lived until the middle of next month. He is survived by his widow whom he married 66 years ago last October.

The deceased had been in fairly good health and had enjoyed his midday meal passing away a couple of hours later. The funeral was held from the home.

$10,000 Bishops Mills Fire Destroys Much Property

Three homes, a church, school and a barn, comprising most of the village of Bishop's Mills, 12 miles south west of Kemptville, were wiped out Tuesday afternoon by fire that broke out at 3 o'clock. Loss was estimated at $10,000.

The blaze was believed to have started from a spark from the chimney of the home of Thomas Robinson, well-known farmer. The spark ignited the roof and the flames, fanned by the stiff north wind, soon swept through the structure. Mr. Robinson and his family succeeded in getting most of the household goods out of the one-storey house.

The wind carried sparks across the road and the home of Mrs. J. Johnston was set afire. The small wooden house was a mass of flames in a matter of minutes and despite the efforts of neighbours who had gathered to form a bucket brigade, most of her belongings were lost.

When it became apparent that the fire was beyond control and the bucket brigade's efforts were useless, a call was put through to Kemptville Fire Department, seeking equipment. Because of the bad condition of the road to Bishop's Mills, it was impossible to send fire trucks.

Before the Robinson and Johnston homes had burned completely, the fire had spread to the Holiness Movement parsonage and from that building to the adjoining church. The parsonage was occupied by Rev. Mr. Bradley and his wife. Anticipating the fire, they had moved all their household effects from their home and the church furniture was taken to safety. At the same time children were ordered from the school, located beside the church, and the desks and other furnishings taken out.

The move proved a wise one, for the fire spread to the school and then to a small barn nearby owned by Miss Lucy McLellan. There were no other buildings close to be set alight by the sparks that were showering over fields from the six burned structures. Before dark all had burned to the ground. The occupants of the homes were given shelter at neighbouring farmhouses.

PROMOTED OVERSEAS

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller of Melvins, have been advised that their son Pte F. R. G. Miller with the 5th Field Dressing Station, RCAMC Overseas, has been promoted to corporal.

NOW PILOT OFFICER

Jesse Bigelow, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Bigelow of town, who has been with the RCAF at Pennfield Ridge, N. B., has received his commission as Pilot Officer. He will continue as instructor at the New Brunswick station.

WEATHER VERY COLD

Someone has been mistaken. That bright light right around the corner these many days was not Spring, but rather a robust last sortie, we hope, of winter. With new snow a couple of nights this week and the mercury hovering around the zero mark, some things seem to have gone wrong with the works. We cannot even plant our sweet peas. There has hardly been enough thawing in the day time to cause damage to new seeding on farms by upheaving of the soil and breaking of the roots and it will be sometime before farmers get on the land.

John A. (Jack) Campbell Buried At Maple Ridge

Final tribute to the memory of John (Jack) Alexander Campbell, Winchester, who devoted the greater part of his life to public service, was paid by a large gathering of Winchester, Kemptville, Ormond, Russell, Vernon, Kenmore and Ottawa friends at an impressive funeral service at Ormond Baptist Church Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Campbell, who died following a brief illness at Kemptville, in his 65 year, was widely known throughout the district as a cheese buyer and insurance agent and an active participant in all municipal affairs.

He was born at Ormond, the son of the late Alpin Campbell and Grace McDonald. He was never married. His early education was received at Ormond and Kemptville and as a young man he was associated with his father in the mercantile business. Later he took over the operation of a general store in Ormond which he turned over to his brother, Dan, several years ago.

Later Mr. Campbell became a cheese buyer and dealer in farm produce and conducted an egg-grading establishment at Winchester. For the past 15 years he had resided in Kemptville.

During his lifetime, Mr. Campbell served as councillor, deputy reeve and reeve of Winchester township. He was a member of the Winchester High School Board and during his term as chairman the present High School building was erected.

Twice chosen Liberal candidate of the Genville-Dundas riding up until a few years ago, Mr. Campbell was also the secretary of the riding's Liberal Association. He was a contestant in the Dominion election of 1911 and the provincial election of 1914. In both elections he was defeated by very narrow margins, and polled more votes than any other candidate has since polled in that riding.

Mr. Campbell was an active member of the Ormond Baptist church and a life member of Henderson Lodge No. 383, A.F. and A.M., Winchester.

Surviving are three brothers, Daniel and James Campbell of Ormond, and Robert D. Campbell on the staff of Glebe Collegiate, Ottawa; also two sisters, Mrs. Wallace Campbell, Russell and Mrs. J. C. Murphy of North Battleford, Sask.

DIED THIS MORNING

This morning shortly after six o'clock William Plantz, King street, passed away at his home after a long illness. He is survived by his widow and three sons, two of whom have been overseas for the past two years.

Geo. H. Challies Seeks More For Cheese Producers

George H. Challies (Prog. Con., Grenville-Dundas) told the Ontario Legislature yesterday that if the Federal Government could pay a bonus to Western farmers for not growing wheat it should be able to pay a higher subsidy to Ontario cheese producers.

The present subsidy is two cents per pound from the Provincial government and one cent from the Federal government, Mr. Challies said during consideration by the House in committee of the whole of the Cheese and Hog Subsidy Act, 1943. The bill merely provides for an extension of the provisions of the 1942 act whereby cheese producers got two cents a pound subsidy and hog raisers received $1 per grade A hog.

Mr. Challies said cheese production was dropping and thought the bonuses should be four cents a pound. He suggested that provincial authorities should keep after the government to make up the difference.

Agricultural Minister P.M. Dewan agreed with Mr. Challies and said he was disappointed the Federal Government had not seen fit to add on cent to compensate for rising costs of the producers.

In reference to Western farmers, Mr. Challies said some individual farmers had received as high as $9,000 in one year for not growing wheat.

Morgan Baker (Lib., York North) said there were two sides to the question and the Federal Government couldn't go on increasing its bonus and subsidy system indefinitely. Canada was one country and Ontario should have been glad to have helped out suffering Western farmers.

FOURTH SON JOINS UP

Pte E. J. Belanger is the fourth son of Mr. Moise Belanger and the late Mrs. Belanger to join the active army for overseas. He is now taking training at the Cornwall Training Centre. On Moise being asked if he had any other boys to assist him on the farm he modestly replied, "Just's five."

POWER FAILURE

A Monday forenoon Hydro power was off in this district making it necessary to dismiss classes in the High School sometime before the noon hour for lack of heat. Chicken raisers with electric brooders were on the anxious seat for sometime lest the heat so necessary would not be forth coming until serious damage had occurred.

MEAT RATIONING NO GREAT HARDSHIP

Effective sometime next May Canadians generally will be obliged to struggle along on two pounds of meat per week per person, the new order being coincident with a similar regulation in the United States with which nation this country is becoming more and more closely linked. The new order will not include poultry and fish and under the heading of "butchers' offals" liver, heart and other like delicacies will be exempt. There is not much in the "offal" line these days that is not made use of and in this connection with respect to our old friend the hog it is said the only part not being utilized is the squeal. All things considered the new order does not seem destined to entail any great hardship. It is felt in many quarters that the average person, outside of the vegetarian, eats too much meat—in fact eats too much. Lent came in as a saving clause to give heavy trenchermen a chance to relax and get back to normal. Word comes from Great Britain that the drab wartime diet has been a boon to the national health. Sir William Jameson, Chief British Medical Officer, declares, "I can't help thinking that the plain nutrition brought about by wartime conditions has had more to do with the good health we are experiencing than any other factor." In respect to meat rationing just to make sure that farm killed beef does not drift into trade channels restrictions tighter than now exist will be clamped upon the right of farmers and other persons to slaughter for sale. Meatless days in restaurants and public eating places are also contemplated.

MORE IMPLEMENTS SHOULD BE AVAILABLE

With the farmer being called upon to produce more and more food to meet the demands of our allies overseas the Government is being urged to ease his lot in every way possible. Relief has been afforded in the matter of deferments and the releasing of experienced farm workers to make good the labor shortage. The reduction in the "output" of farm machinery to 35 percent of the total production in 1940 is regarded as a great obstacle to agriculture as dependence must be placed on machinery to supplant this lack of man power. That this is a crying need is evidenced by the fact that second hand implements have been sold at auction at higher than the listed price of new equipment, the price of which is 21 percent greater than it was four years ago. It is now proposed to place a ceiling on second-hand farm machinery which is not regarded with favor by the farmer as it may place further restrictions in the way of his getting implements he urgently requires. The opinion is growing that there is no great need for the heavy reduction in the manufacture of farm machinery. James S. Duncan, president and General Manager of the Massey Harris Co. says that his company need not drop one iota of the wartime activities in increasing the effort to meet the farm needs. This was pointed out in the Annual Report of the Cockshutt Plows Co. and it is being made increasingly obvious in the United States as well. In 1942 farm machinery companies were selling largely from inventory. Much of the old stock is exhausted and this seems an opportune time to review the situation.

POST WAR PROGRAMME SHOULD BE WORK

It is difficult to get the average man to approach the question of post war rehabilitatin with the seriousness it demands. A laissez-faire attitude seems to satisfy many with the feeling that the Government can well look after the matter when the emergency arrives. All the talk of Social Security, Unemployment Insurance and other panacea is apt to endanger a dangerous complacency. It is as Mitch Hepburn in his new role as a private citizen terms preaching the doctrine of getting rich by taking in each others washing. This thinking people will admit is an opportune time to plan for the future. There is bound to be a period of dislocation following the peace and unless steps are taken in advance to provide a shock bumper something as trying as war may ensue. There is for instance the mining industry which in Ontario may be said to be in a state of flux at present. The almost complete lack of prospecting except for a few strategic war materials means that only a small fraction of the ore mined is being replaced by new finds. This is creating a situation that may spell the ruin of the industry. Then too the necessity of discovering crude oil reserves adequate to ensure the continued supply of petroleum products for civilian use is worthy of serious thought. Plans must be made for the converting of our huge war plants from war to a peace basis and to this end private enterprise must be encouraged to make this possible. Governmental effort cannot meet this situation. Plans must be made to develop our forests and for the proper utilization of our water power. Aviation must be further encouraged as a commercial aim and new markets must be found for the products of our farms when competition will shut off a good proportion of the trade which is now ours for the asking. In fact work must be provided for all able and willing to labor and to make sure that this will be attained a proper post war program must be mapped out now so that nothing will be left to chance.

WHAT BRITAIN THINKS OF CANADIAN BACON

One of the Dominion Department of Agriculture Staff, now with Canada's active forces overseas dropped into a British grocery store the other day. Through the window he had seen several Wiltshire sides on display and he decided that this was the place to find out what a typical small grocer thought about Canadian bacon. As soon as the grocer learned that the soldier had formerly been in hog production, he went out of his way to show him around the shop, saying, "Your Canadian bacon is in higher favour with our customers than ever before."

The grocer and his helper—an attractive girl—showed the visiting Canadian how they cut the sides up into retail cuts. First, they removed the ribs—one at a time—then the shoulder and ham bones and short shanks. They worked quickly but with such care that hardly a particle of bacon was sacrificed. No wonder British retailers take great care in boning a Wiltshire side. All the bacon they are allotted each week is four ounces for each customer plus ten per cent for bones. The Canadian soldier observed that the entire Wiltshire was handled as if it were gold. And British consumers relish it, eagerly buying their four-ounce ration every week.

In this four-ounce ration everything is included—cuttings, trimmings and what is important, every ounce of fat. No matter how badly she may want good lean bacon for her household, the British housewife has to take her share of the fat. To encourage the production of lean bacon, the British Ministry of Food pays a premium for the most desirable grades of Wiltshire sides. These can be obtained only from hogs whose carcasses grade A. Grade A carcasses are permitted only specified amounts of fat, length, and other kinds of conformation and they must be within the weight range of 140 to 170 pounds. Canadian farmers know that their reward in marketing hogs at the required weights is not only in the premiums but in the satisfaction of supplying the British people with bacon in its most economical form.

BASKETS AND HAMPERS SHOULD BE TURNED IN

The Used Goods Administration of the Prices Board is appealing to houeswives to contribute baskets and hampers from their cellars or storerooms so that sufficient of these may be available for next season's fruit and vegetable crops.

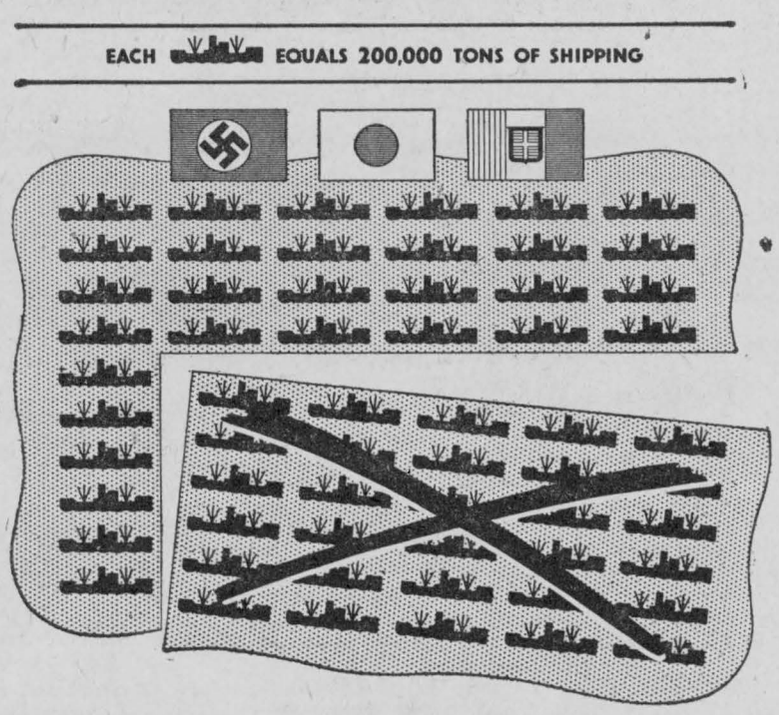

Due to shortages of man-power and materials, the Administration predicts a severe reduction in the number of new baskets and hampers that will be in readiness for the fruit and vegetable season and it fears that some crops may rot for lack of these containers. Those particularly needed are six-quart and bushel hampers.

The Administration suggests that to facilitate collection of these containers for essential uses during the coming season, arrangements be made to return them to fruit stores to have children take them to schools, to return them to pedlars or salvage collectors or to get in touch with authorized basket dealers who will pass them on directly to farmers.

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will,
When the road you'r trudging seems all up hill,
When the funds run low, and the debts are high,
And you want to smile, but you have to sigh;
When care is pressing you down a bit,
Rest, if you must; but don't you quit.

Axis Shipping Losses

Up to December 1941 losses inflicted on German, Italian and Japanese merchant shipping were equal to half their combined total pre-war strength.

THE EARTH IS TURNING GREEN AGAIN

William L. Stidger

The earth is turning green again
By moor and meadow, field and fen
As if Life heard beneath the grass
Spring's little singing footsteps pass.

The earth is turning green again;
and I
Have caught a vision passing by:
The vision of an angel band
Sowing green grass along the land.

The earth is turning green on hill
And valley, soft and still;
In garden plot; on lane and lawn:
Green with the newness of the dawn.

The earth is turning green again;
the dry
And dusty desert lifts a cry
Of freedom from its ancient blight;
Its woeful winter and its night.

The earth is turning green: the sod
Under the gentle touch of God.
Has leapt to life in bud and blade,
All eagerly and unafraid.

The earth is turning green; and men
Have singing in their hearts again:
Such singing as the angels know
When tides of beauty ebb and flow

EXTRA SUGAR FOR COOKING RHUBARB

Until May 31, blue spare coupon No. 1 in the ration book will be valid for the purchase of one pound of sugar to be used in the home cooking of rhubarb. This coupon will be negotiable at retail establishments. It is estimated that one pound of sugar is sufficient to sweeten five pounds of rhubarb. Only No. 1 blue spare coupon is to be used for this purpose.

LAST CALL TO APPLY FOR CANNING SUGAR

Applications for canning sugar will only be honoured if they are in the hands of Local Ration Boards by April 15. Those who wish to obtain canning sugar this year and who have yet to apply for it, should do so without delay. Application is to be made on the page of the ration book set aside for that purpose, care being given to provide all the information that is asked for. Quantities required may be estimated by consulting the "Canning Guides" distributed by the Post Office. The application forms are to be sent to your Local Ration Board, that Board to which you recently applied for your Ration Book No. 2.

Meat Rationing Here To Be On Point System

The forthcoming meat rationing system in Canada will be on a point basis something similar to the system in the United States, Donald Gordon, head of the Prices Board said during a press interview.

He said the meat control system "does not constitute a severe rationing," and it would not include such cuts as liver, kidneys, pigs' hocks and so on. But he said it would give the Prices Board a much better position to deal with any black market that might exist or might arise.

Mr. Gordon said that the point basis is the only basis on which meat could be rationed. No difficulty was anticipated in connection with meat already in storage in private lockers, he added. "We are armed with any authority that might be required."

As for black markets in meat, Mr. Gordon said the Prices Board would know their full scope only when the meat rationing system is in effect. "We will be better able to take care of them, too. We will take a very serious view of such selling when we get going."

MEAT CUTS CLASSIFIED ON BONE CONTENT

Hon. J. L. Ilsley's announcement that meat rationing of "approximately two pounds per person per week," will be introduced in Canada early in May, has resulted in many inquiries to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board as to the actual amount of edible meat, that will be included in the basic ration.

Foods administration officials said Monday that the two pound ration is two pounds by weight as the meat comes from the carcass, that is, including bone.

When a carcass of meat is divided into the various cuts sold to the consumer, some cuts have more bone than others, as they come from the carcass. It is the intention to classify the cuts according to bone content, and adjust the ration allowance so that in the case of cuts with no bone the ration will be less than two pounds and in the case of cuts with bone in them the allowance will be higher according to bone content, it was pointed out.

Cuts of meat containing more than 50 percent bone will not be rationed nor will "fancy" meats such as liver, kidney and brains.

The ration will be the same to children as adults.

Little sisters, aged two and four years, were treated by a neighbour friend to a ride upon his small pony. The older child had enjoyed it greatly then stood by as the younger was placed on the pony. Another bystander exclaimed, "Oh, he is so little I am afraid he will fall." The indignant four-year-old cried, "Her ain't no he, him's a she."

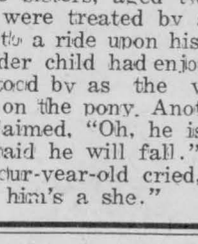

Guard Your Gasoline Ration Book

KEEP IT ON YOUR PERSON • DO NOT LEAVE IT IN YOUR CAR

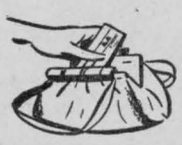

NOW that you have your 1943-1944 gasoline ration book, it is up to you to keep it at all times in a safe place. If it is lost, burned, or stolen, you will be deprived of coupons which will not be replaced. In this regard, the policy of the Oil Controller is as follows:

- If, through negligence, you lose your gasoline ration book before October 1, 1943, you may be allowed no more, and perhaps less, than half the coupons to which you would be entitled if you were making an original application.
- If, through negligence, you lose your ration book on or after October 1, 1943, you may be allowed no more, and perhaps less, than 25 per cent of the coupons to which you would be entitled if you were making an original application.

The new gasoline rationing system, effective on April 1, will be strictly enforced. Under its provisions, the motorist, as well as the service station attendant, is held responsible if any infractions occur. It is contrary to the orders of the Oil Controller:

1. To purchase gasoline with 1942-1943 coupons.
2. To purchase gasoline unless you have the correct category sticker affixed to your windshield.
3. To detach coupons from your own book. (The removal of the coupons is the duty of the attendant.)
4. To have in your possession a gasoline ration coupon not attached to, and forming a part of, a gasoline ration book.
5. To have in your possession a gasoline ration book other than the book issued in respect of a vehicle you own, or in respect of a vehicle driven by you with the full consent of the real owner.
6. To alter, deface, obliterate, or mutilate any gasoline ration book or coupon.

If you sell your motor vehicle, remember that before making delivery you must remove the windshield sticker or stickers. Remember also that after the sale is completed, you must mail to the nearest Regional Oil Control Office in your province the gasoline ration book or books issued for the vehicle.

"It's for Bill"

. . . and when you buy a Victory Bond, to help Bill, and other boys on active service, you do something that will benefit you too. You save money. It's really a mistake to say that you "buy" a Victory Bond. You are not buying anything. You are saving money, and putting your savings where they will be absolutely safe, and where they earn money for you. (Each $100.00 Victory Bond earns $3.00 a year—3% interest.) You are likely producing more, and earning more. You can save more. You are not buying some things; you can't get them. You are buying less of many things—they're rationed. You can't help saving more. See to it that your savings are kept intact—earmarked for things you will need when the war ends. You will have to replace things that are worn out. You will want a lot of things. Money saved and invested in Victory Bonds will provide cash to pay for them.

WHAT IS A VICTORY BOND?

A VICTORY BOND is the promise of the Dominion of Canada to repay in cash the full face value of the Bond at the time stipulated, with half-yearly interest at the rate of 3% per annum until maturity.

A Victory Bond is the safest investment in Canada. The entire resources of the Dominion stand behind it. Canada has been issuing bonds for 75 years, and has never failed to pay every dollar of principal and interest.

A Victory Bond is an asset more readily converted into cash than any other security.

You can buy Victory Bonds for cash in a lump sum, or you can arrange to pay for them in convenient instalments over a period of six months.

Your Victory Bond salesman will be glad to tell you full particulars.

EARLY RISER

Ted Archer is the CBC announcer who handles the before-the-dawn radio shift and likes it. His "Hi Jinks" show, heard over CBL weekday mornings, 7.05 EDT, is what started the "Hi Jinks Clubs" now going strong in many Canadian and American centres. Ted makes the members clubby by getting them to work for victory and already, good standing Hi Jinkers have sent many knitted garments, money (and even a billiard table) to war charities and active service camps.

A BRITISH TOMMY IN "WAR PAINT"

Picture Shows: A British infantryman in full "War Paint". He is taking part in a camouflage demonstration during a visit of General Sir Bernard Paget, K.C.B., D.S.O., M.C.—British C.-in-C. Home Forces—to Southern Command. Aerial warfare has brought the art of camouflage to the fore. Gone are the days of red coats and flashing buttons. The modern infantryman goes into war with blackened face, khaki battle dress, and a headdress of leaves and camouflage netting.

SAVING YOUR UTENSILS PROVIDES WAR MATERIALS

"The things you have are important. They should be given all possible care. Coax them and treat them to last for the duration." says the Wartime Prices and Trade Board which, as part of its conservation programme, points to the following facts in connection with household appliances made of metal:

The metal in 61 refrigerators is sufficient to make one light tank and in one refrigerator there is enough of it to make three machine guns.

Six large ash-cans will provide enough metal to manufacture an anti aircraft detector.

A single wash pail will make three bayonets.

The metal in 17 radiators will make a tank gun.

Steel for one complete army scout car is to be found in ten old kitchen stoves.

There is enough aluminum in 7,700 pots and pans to supply the requirements of a fighter plane.

Giving household appliances such care and attention that they will be made to last for the duration helps very materially to supply the sinews of war, and everything of this nature that can be conserved is of assistance at this time.

"Daddy, will I look like you when I'm grown up?" asked Bryan.

"Well, everybody seems to think so, Son," replied his father.

Bryan heaved a great sigh. "Well," he said, "I won't grow up for a long time, will I, Daddy?"

...—V...—

A tiny four-year-old was spending a night away from home. At bedtime she knelt at her hostess's knee to say her prayers, expecting the usual prompting. Finding Mrs. B. unable to help her, she concluded thus: "Please, God, 'scuse me. I can't remember my prayers and I'm staying with a lady who doesn't know any."

One man who has been in the army for more than a year was challenged by a friend, who demanded to know why he had not become a second lieutenant.

The Sergeant smiled.

"Remember the last war?" he asked.

The other did.

"Remember Sergeant York?" asked the sergeant.

The other nodded.

"Chum," said the sergeant, "just name me one of the second lieutenants in that war."

MOREWOOD MISSION BAND HOLD REGULAR MEETING

The regular meeting of the Morewood Mission Band was held at the church. The meeting opened with the Members' Purpose. Hymn 590 was sung. The Lord's Prayer was repeated after which the distribution of the World Friends took place. The temperance reading was by Estella Faulkner. The Worship Service was conducted by Mrs. Coulthart. Hymn 605 was sung by all. Scripture reading was by Donelda McLaren. The minutes were read and adopted. The meeting was closed by hymn, "Praise Him." Games were then played.

MOREWOOD WANAKITA CGIT HOLD REGULAR MEETING

The CGIT held their regular meeting on Saturday, April 3rd. We opened with our motto, purpose and yell followed by Hymn 669. Kathleen gave the call to worship. The scripture lesson was read by Doreen and Mary. The minutes were read and approved with six members answering the roll call. Business was discussed. Hymn 490 was sung, followed by a prayer by Mrs. Dixon. Norma read a story from our Study book "Matt's Great Day". The girls spent an hour working on the honour roll quilt. The meeting closed with taps.

MOREWOOD C.G.I.T.

The Pathfinder CGIT held its regular meeting on Saturday at the home of Mrs. Thos. E. Coulthart.

The theme was "Seek and Ye shall find."

The devotional part was taken by the president assisted by the members.

The secretary read some letters; one from our Presbyterial secretary, sending greetings and ideas. One was about the bale allocation which was accepted. The group made a donation to the Red Cross drive. As a war-effort the work period was sorting beads to send to the Indians. Magazines are also being collected for the Navy League.

In March the Wanakita CGIT extended an invitation to the Pathfinder group to meet with them at the home of their leader Mrs. Hubert Dixon to unite in the prayer service for youth. This meeting was enjoyed very much.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Ross Nurse.

MOREWOOD Y.P.U.

The Morewood Young People's Union held their regular meeting Tuesday night. The meeting opened with a hymn. Business was discussed and sides were chosen for competition in the most regular attendance. This was Miss Margaret Park's meeting. She read the scripture and then Mr. Wells conducted a sing song.

Miss Park read a story on Missions. The meeting closed with the benediction.

Kissed the family 45,000 times (one kiss per head per day), peeled 87,600 potatoes, darned 10,400 stockings, made 29,200 beds, and buttered 175,200 slices of bread.

Sudden Thrust Catches Rommel By Surprise

The 8th Army is lashing out once again toward Tunis, and Gen. Montgomery appears to have caught Marshall Rommel by surprise in his sudden thrust.

The attack was under way this morning as the stars were being washed away by the first cold light of dawn and as this is written British forces have gained virtually all their objectives in the opening phase.

Indications are that Rommel did not expect the 8th Army to move so soon after the break-through and the flanking of the Mareth Line with a brilliant desert manoeuvre.

The 8th Army moved forward to wipe out the enemy defences along the Wadi Akarit, 18 miles north of Gabes and to push the enemy deeper into the Tunisian pocket.

The Wadi Akarit was Rommel's best natural defensive position between Gabes and Sousse. In some features it was similar to the Mareth position as the enemy right flank was protected by the mountains, the left by the sea, with the Wadi and anti-tank ditches shielding the more vulnerable sectors.

MAKING GOOD COFFEE

Making the coffee ration stretch as far as possible without spoiling the flavor is to day the preoccupation of many a Canadian household and the Prices Board, whose experts say one pound of coffee should yield about 50 cups of satisfactory beverage, has various hints for housewives who may experience difficulty in securing such results.

It says that every cup of coffee should have exactly one level tablespoon for each cup of water, and the coffee pot should be well scoured after each use. This is because coffee oil is particularly penetrating and will mar the flavor of the next cup if scouring is not practised. Frequent sunning and airing of the coffee pot is also recommended.

"Boil the water first and then add the coffee," is another suggestion of the Board, which adds "never let the coffee boil in a dripolator" and "never leave the heat on too long in a percolator." This is necessary to preserve flavor.

And finally, when coffee is not used it should be kept in an air-tight container wherever possible and stored in a cool place, preferably the refrigerator. In that way it will stay fresh longer, and freshness is the flavor of good coffee.

Increased Poultry Production Urged to Offset Meat Demand

The Agriculture Department Monday called for increased production of poultry to meet the "substantially increased" demand which is expected to occur when meat rationing goes into effect early in May.

Poultry and fish will not be rationed under the Canadian program and there are only limited supplies of poultry in cold storage, the department said.

"Poultry meat can be quickly produced," said its statement. "Small chickens can be developed for market by proper feeding and management in two months. Light roasters up to a weight of 3½ to 4 pounds take four months to produce.

"In the past the usual practice of producers has been to rear one crop of chicks annually, but last year many producers reared two crops, marketing the first early in the Summer and the second for the Fall and Christmas trade.

"An extension of this practice is indicated in the current year if the demand for poultry meat is to be adequately met."

The department said there never was a time when judicious culling of flocks could be more profitably practised.

HOW TO MAINTAIN THE LAWN IN SPRING

The spring maintenance of lawns should start as soon as the snow melts and the soil becomes sufficiently dry to permit work, states J. H. Boyce, Forage Plants Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. The first operation is to rake the lawn to remove the winter's accumulation of twigs, leaves, and other debris. Any perrenial weeds that can be detected should be pulled or cut out at this time. The soil on thin and bare areas should be thoroughly raked in order to prepare a seed bed. These areas should then be seeded with an adapted seeds mixture at the rate of 2 to 4 pounds per 1,000 sq. feet according to the thinness of the turf. After the seed has been uniformly scattered over the area, it may be covered by raking or by the application of a thin layer of screened top-soil, after which the seeded areas should be rolled.

Except for the rolling after seeding, only one rolling is necessary each year, and then only in districts where frost has caused heaving. The rolling should be done after the frost is out of the ground and before the soil becomes too dry. Heavy soils should never be rolled when very wet.

Proper fertilization is a very important part of the lawn maintenance program, the chief demand of the grass being for nitrogen. Poor turf requires the application of phosphorus and sometimes potash as well as nitrogen. A recent order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board prohibits the sale of fertilizers containing chemical nitrogen for use on lawns. There is no restriction on the use of organic fertilizers as yet, and these may be used on lawns with satisfactory results. The indiscriminate use of fertilizers on turf is not recommended, because as much as possible of the available fertilizer should be reserved for food production. If a lawn is in a vigorous healthy condition fertilization may be greatly reduced or eliminated without injuring it seriously. Lawn owners who do not object to white clover may encourage it by the application of phosphoric and potassic fertilizers, and in some cases lime. A high proportion of clover in the lawn will reduce the amount of nitrogen that it is necessary to apply in order to maintain healthy grass. The best time to apply fertilizer in the spring is just before the grass starts its new growth.

Lawn mowers should be repaired and sharpened well in advance of the growing season. Mowing should start early and at no time should a long heavy growth of grass be permitted. Cutting back such a growth always gives the grass a severe setback. The grass should never be cut to a height of less than one inch. A height of 1½ to 2 inches is much to be preferred particularly during the warmer months.

Additional information on the construction and care of lawns may be secured from the Division of Forage Plants, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Third Holstein War Effort Calf Auction

In 1941 and again in 1942 Canadian Holstein breeders, individually and through their County Clubs, donated calves to War Effort Calf Auctions that resulted in $13,445 sent to Britain where it was largely used to assist in the relief of distress among merchant sailors whose ships had been sunk. A contribution was also made to the Royal Air Force Benevolent Fund for Pilots and Crews. Again this year a similar auction is being planned to be held in two sections, one at Brampton on May 26 in conjunction with the National Holstein Sale and the other at Kemptville on May 27 as an opening feature of the All Eastern Ontario Sale. The former will be sponsored by the breeders of Western and Central Ontario and the latter by the Holstein Breeders' Club have decided to donate two calves from the Local Club. Breeders who have heifer calves available for this purpose are asked to communicate with the secretary, H. W. Graham, Morrisburg, Ontario. Offers of calves must be in his hands by April 10 at the latest and should be for heifers at least three months old. A committee of district breeders will select the most suitable animals from amongst those available.

WARTIME ECONOMY CAN BE SMARTNESS

When Mrs. Kathleen McVicar of the Consumer Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, opened a tour of Eastern Ontario centres at Brockville with her "Victory Cupboards" demonstrating how to convert old, discarded and outmoded articles of clothing into quite attractive and useful garments, she herself wore a smart suit which she had made from a 1938 shirt-waste woollen dress and a stylish blouse fashioned from a percale sheet. "Wartime economy can be wartime smartness too," she remarked, as she exhibited various garments, hats and other articles which had been created from cast-offs.

MAIN DRIVING WHEELS OF CANADA'S WAR EFFORT

HURRYING wheels, thundering wheels. Wheels that have made it possible for Canada to grow in strength.

Today those wheels—the driving wheels of Canada's railways—are setting the pace for the war effort. They haul raw materials to humming war industries and rush away the finished tools of battle. They move food and fuel for the home front and the fighting front. They speed civilians on essential business, hasten troops to camps, embarkation points and on leave.

It's Canada's big war job. A job that only railway wheels can do. A job in which an army of 150,000 railway workers, men and women, is in the fight for Canada . . . shop crews and train crews, yard workers, section hands, telegraphers, signal men and office workers, a multitude of men and women in a multitude of jobs. They are making the giant wheels turn faster and faster.

From coast to coast in Canada, we—your railways—are rolling in the service of freedom, and our lines to and in the United States have linked the war efforts of two great sister nations.

The railway wheels are driving, in war as in peace, for Canada.

Making The Most of Rations

Believe it or not, before this war I had never so much as boiled an egg. Now you shou'd just see what I can cook. Forgive my pride but really I have occasion. I attribute my success to the fact that I had to learn to cook during the London blitz of 1940.

If you have to learn to cook when supp'ies are irregular, the gas likely to be turned off altogether at crucial moments, and the extreme probability of the whole family having to withdraw to the shelter just as you are serving dinner, you really do learn to cook. That is learn to produce a palatable meal out of next to nothing in the teeth of considerable inconvenience.

Since the blitz my family has increased from one baby daughter to three lusty chi'dren plus another two hungry evacuees. Today I never cook for less than seven, frequently more.

And this is the first secret of wartime cooking. With so much vital war work crying for attention, it is really not worth while to cook for two people, let alone one. If two or more families will agree to pool their rations, the food will go much farther and only one cook is necessary. We in Eng'and are not usually as matey as you friendly Americans, but this war is teaching us something.

Another most important factor in wartime catering is to bring the children in on it. I always tell our children what our Food Minister, Lord Woolton, is trying to do, and invite their collaboration. I find an appeal to eat up all the potatoes and not leave a tiny scrap of breadcrust —because we are all so'diers' fighting for freedom—has a magical effect. And not only the chi'dren. My own husband, for some reason I can never fathom, detests porridge! but when on leave from the army, there is nothing else for breakfast, he follows the example of the children and meekly chokes it down.

Wartime is not the time for being finicky over food. The housewife must do her best to provide as varied a menu as she possibly can, and the family must staunchly back her up by eating whatever they get.

Food rationing in this country, though stringent, is so well-balanced that it is ample to live and work hard on. I find the most difficult item is scarcity of sugar. But then we have a lot of children and we grown-ups all take (or wou'd like to take) sugar in our tea. I try to make the sugar ration last longer by sweetening puddings with golden syrup (molasses I think you call it), which is rationed on points.

We don't do too badly for milk as we have priority milk for the three youngest children. We could do with more fruit, but we are very grateful to you for the lend-lease orange juice which is keeping our little ones so fit. Fish supplies, alas, are irregular. Otherwise we would have fish twice a week for our main meal.

The meat ration is small but with skill I can make the Sunday joint last until Tuesday. The rest of the week we dine off liver, or a casserole containing a lot of vegetables and a little meat (with a kidney, too, occasionally, if we are lucky), or spaghetti with cheese sauce, or sausages. I find a tin of Prem or one of your admirable tinned meats (which are rationed, but a windfall) a welcome supplement.

Cheese is reasonably plentiful and an excellent standby. Oddly enough it is one of those foods which one likes progressively the more one eats of it. Of course we don't get the dozen or so delicious varieties of cheese we enjoyed before the war. We get cheddar cheese only but it is very good for us and the children love it. We keep a bowlful of grated cheese on the table and the children sprinkle it over their vegetables.

Cheddar cheese is a British cheese first made in the seventeenth century. It is a pale yellow in color and its texture is flaky but firm. Its flavor is "nutty".

Here is a recipe for a tasty dish in which cheese and the ever-useful potato play a mutually effective part.

Welsh potato pie is a dish for a hungry family. It is very easy to prepare, takes only about twenty-five minutes to cook and it does not need an oven.

3 lbs. potatoes,
1 lb. leeks (or celery or mixed vegetables)
¾ lb. cheese,
Rasher of bacon (if possible) or a tablespoonful of fat,
Pepper and salt to taste.

Scrub the potatoes, slice in two lengthways, and cook. Prepare leeks (or celery or mixed vegetables) and parboil on top of potatoes for about ten minutes. Remove leeks, drain, cut into pieces one inch in length, fry until tender with the chopped bacon. Grate or slice cheese. When the potatoes are ready, drain and dry off; cover the bottom of a large pie-dish with half of them. Then spread leeks and bacon over, add a layer of cheese, cover with the rest of potatoes. Finish with a layer of cheese. Brown under the grill for five minutes or in front of a hot fire.

We do get a very occasional chicken which we boil before roasting for the sake of the soup. It turns the flimsiest supper into a meal. And much as I loathe them let me put in a good word for the humble rabbit. He is doing his bit on countless British tables today. If you live in the country you can wrest a lot of dinners off the land. We have shot rabbits and wood pigeons in our own garden (where they had no right to be anyway), and one Sunday my husband miraculously caught a trout from our muddy brook just in time for supper.

We try not to leave a scrap of food. Vegetables left over from dinner we turn into a supper salad with the addition of white sauce, mayonnaise being off the market. We try to save fuel in every way we can. Only one fire in the house at a time. When the drawing room fire is lit we let the kitchen fire go out. And we roast potatoes for supper in the hot ashes. We never light the gas stove without using all three shelves, sometimes cooking the next day's dinner at the same time.

UNRIVALLED

Kathleen Parlow, the brilliant violinist, and most famous of Canadian virtuosi, was born in Calgary, Alberta, of English parents. She received her early musical education in San Francisco, made her first public appearance at the age of six. She went to England and later to Russia to study with Auer; spectacular European tours followed. When ill health necessitated her retirement from the concert field she joined the teaching staff of Mills College, but by the time the Second World War had broken out, Kathleen Parlow had completed another triumphant tour of Europe. She came home to Canada in 1941 to become an inspiring figure.

We are all working pretty hard. I do evening war work besides running my large family and everyone I know does at least two jobs. We aim at getting one big meal a day (in my household it is the mid-day meal).

Here are two more wartime dishes.

Cabbage Soup With Dumplings

1 cabbage, 2 pints stock or water, lump of fat or dripping, salt and pepper, 2 or 3 bacon rinds.

Dumplings

4 ozs. flour, ½ oz. suet or fat, ½ tsp. baking powder, pinch salt, mixed herbs, water to mix.

Prepare and cut cabbage into shreds. Melt the fat in a pan. Toss the cabbage in the hot fat for a minute or two with the bacon rinds cut in small pieces. Pour over boiling water or stock and cook for twenty minutes. Meanwhile make the dumplings with flour, fat, baking powder, salt and herbs, mixing to a stiff dough with water. Season the soup and drop in the dumplings. Cook quickly for ten minutes. Serve at once.

Yorkshire Pudding

1 egg (reconstituted), 4 ozs. national (wholewheat) flour, ½ pint milk, salt, 1 knob dripping or fat.

Beat egg well. Mix flour and salt. Make a hole in the centre and put in the egg and sufficient milk to make a stiff mixture. Beat well, add the rest of the milk, put aside for one hour. Heat the fat well in a baking tin and pour in the batter. Cook in a brisk oven for for about thirty minutes. To this foundation recipe diced cooked vegetables and chopped cooked meat can be added. The addition of fresh or dried fruit makes an attractive sweet dish. The same mixture can be used for pancakes. Pour by spoonfuls on to a piping hot greased pan or hotplate.

One thing we are quite determined on. No matter how limited our rations we still invite an occasional guest. This is more than a social pleasure. Like lip stick and military bands it is good for the morale. In our case we always have my husband's faithful corporal in to share our Sunday dinner. Nor have any of our children missed a birthday party since war began, though the party has frequently been little more than an ordinary tea with birthday candles, a little ingenuity and last year's party-frocks.

America has always been more enterprising in the matter of food than insular Britain, so I am sure there will be endless alternatives you will be able to use in place of rationed foods. Let us remember that it is reputedly due to the recurrent famines in China that the Chinese menu is so varied and delicious, for the Chinese have had to learn to make practically everything edible.

I am sure I needn't caution anyone so naturally gay as you Americans to keep cheerful, but honesty it does help the food situation to make a joke of the difficulties and invite the family to laugh too. Don't let us be martyrs. We and you are still by far the best-fed people in the world.

MUST DISPLAY TWO GAS RATION STICKERS

Holders of an "A" gasoline rationing book and who later have received a higher classification, such as "AA" must display accompanying stickers of both classifications on their windshield, an official of the regional office of the Oil Controller's Branch declared Saturday. Motorists who wait until they have finished their "A" book before they display their higher classification will be violating the regulations, it was said.

Hawn--Helmer

A very quiet but pretty wedding took place in the Pentecostal church, at Mille Roches, when Miss Mabel Gertrude Helmer, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Helmer of Newington, became the bride of Pte. Lloyd Hawn, of Brockville, son of Mrs. Hawn and the late Mr. Asa Hawn of Newington, on Wednesday, March the twenty-fourth, in the presence of their friends and neighbours.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. T. Owens of Mille Roches. Mrs. J. T. Owen played the wedding march and sang during the signing of the register.

Pte Earl C. Helmer of CA(B)TC, Cornwall, brother of the bride, acted as best man. Miss Leda Hehir, cousin of the bride was bridesmaid.

The bride looked charming in a dress of street-length turquoise blue satin back crepe with a wreath of ice box roses and flowers to match, with white shoulder length veil, shoes and gloves to match.

The bridesmaid wore a dress of rose Rayon crepe and other accessories to match.

After the ceremony the happy couple motored to Cornwall, followed by their friends, where they left for Toronto by train, on their honeymoon.

On their return home a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, when 70 of their friends and neighbours gathered to show the esteem in which the young couple were held.

The evening was spent in jokes and music was supplied by Miss Eileen Harper and Miss Leda Hehir. At eleven o'clock the young couple were called to the dining room where an address was read by Miss Leda Hehir after which Mrs. Hawn thanked their many friends and neighbours for their presence and the many beautiful and useful gifts, and also Mrs. Millan Mattice and Miss Leda Hehir for their kindness in getting up the reception.

Then they all joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows". A supper of sandwiches, cake, coffee and ice-cream was served by the hostess and all departed wishing the young couple many years of happy wedded life.

Sonny Boy: Say, Dad, are there any plumbers in heaven?

Dad: I rather think not, my son. What made you ask such a funny question?

Sonny Boy: I thought there could not be, because the sky leaks so much.

Spring Fever - For House Cleaning

Hello Homemakers! As Spring draws near, we are eager to tackle our housecleaning—to be "up and at it." This year the house cannot be ripped apart but that needn't worry us for it was never really necessary. Then, too, you know that certain renovations are out until "Johnny comes marching home."

Perhaps you have a scheme of your own? There's the bit-by-bit method, with your housecleaning systematically spread over a couple of months. Walls, floors, furniture, and accessories are dealt with piece by piece, or room by room, etc. This does not upset the whole house.

In pioneer days there was just one type of floor and one method of cleaning it—with sand (or strong soap) and water, plus plenty of elbow grease. To-day there are many types of floors and finishes, each requiring special care. This is true too, of all our home furnishings.

Below, we answer some of the questions most often asked about cleaning, since it is impossible to deal with all of them. But do write up about your own special housecleaning problems and we promise to answer immediately.

CEILINGS AND WALLS

Care depends on the finish. Clean them a little at a time. Calcamined and papered surfaces are dusted. Painted and wood-panelled surfaces must be carefully washed. Rinse a small portion, then dry it thoroughly. Many women apply self-polishing wax to clean dry-painted walls to prevent fingerprints and soil.

SPOTS: Crayon—sponge lightly with a clean soft cloth dampened with carbon tetrachloride; blot and repeat. Do not rub. Smudge—use a dough type of wallpaper cleaner or art gum eraser. Ink—blot immediately. Then apply a paste of fuller's earth. Ink bleaches are apt to remove colour—apply cautiously. Grease—hold a clean white blotter over spot and apply a warm iron; or apply a paste of fuller's earth and when dry, clean off with a cloth dampened with carbon tetrachloride. Water Stains—apply a paste of fuller's earth and carbon tetrachloride. Water Stains—apply a paste of fuller's earth and carbon tetrachloride. Leave on overnight. Tears—tear a piece of wallpaper to match; apply paste carefully; then press piece into place with a clean blotting paper.

WOODWORK

Painted woodwork should be cleaned with a cloth wrung tight out of clear, softened water; then dried off thoroughly. If heavy soil has collected, use a paint cleaner made of: ½ cup soap flakes disolved in 1 qt. hot water. Cool until jellied and stir in ½ cup whiting. Appy cleaner with a damp cloth, then polish with lemon oil. Always apply a thin film of oil. Let remain for 15 minutes, then take up excess with soft cloth. Black marks may be rubbed with fine pumice. Do not rub around spot.

WASHABLE SHADES

Take them down one at a time; dust thoroughly and place on flat surface. Scrub shade with a soft brush or sponge with thick suds. Use water sparingly. Rinse off with cloth wrung out of clear water. Dry. Hang, but do not roll up until thoroughly dry.

PICTURES

This year you'll want to change them around to make your rooms different. Frequent dusting behind pictures prevents ominous black lines. A paste of fuller's earth left on to dry may remove a stubborn line. Picture frames need waxing and polishing occasionally. Wooden frames require a little lemon oil, applied gently—never rub.

LIGHTING FIXTURES

Dust on light bulbs and globes reduces the amount of light, so keep bulbs and lights clean to get the amount of light you pay for. Before cleaning fixtures, turn off the electric current and remove shades, bulbs, etc. Then use the dusting attachment of the electric vacuum to go over fixtures. Wipe bulbs with damp cloth, being careful not to get the metal section wet. Dry thoroughly. metal end and dip into soapsuds. Dry carefully. If bulbs look very dark after they have been cleaned, replace with new ones. Painted Metal Bases are wiped off with a soft cloth dampened with 1 part turpentine and 10 parts mineral oil; marble bases are cleaned with raw linseed oil; crystal bases with a cloth dipped in water and household ammonia, and dried thoroughly. Hand-painted silk shades must be dry cleaned. Pasted or glued shades cannot be washed or dry cleaned. Linen or homespun cannot be washed but may be dry cleaned. Imitation parchment should have the pasted edges protected, then clean with turpentine. Genuine parchment is wiped with a cloth sprinkled with a mixture of 1 part turpentine and 10 parts mineral oil.

Mrs. Mack Smith Opens Home to Ladies Aid

A large number attended the regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid of Trinity United church yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mack Smith, Victoria street, which took the form of a money and towel shower for the bazaar which will be held later this month. The meeting was opened with singing followed by the scripture reading by Mrs. Allison Graham and the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Reports were given from different committees and plans discussed for the forthcoming bazaar.

The programme consisted of two numbers by a quartette composed of Mrs. Tait, Mrs. Geo. Merkley, Mrs. Allison Graham and Mrs. Eric Casselman with Mrs. Gilroy at the piano. A reading was given by Mrs. Lyle Marcellus. Mrs. Smith was thanked by the president for the use of her home and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Refreshments were served by the committee in charge of which Mrs. Eric Casselman and Mrs. Geo. Merkley were the convenors. 27 towels and $26.10 were donated .

Newly Weds Honoured Address and Presentation

An enjoyable evening was spent on Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Link, Morrisburg, when about 150 people gathered in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Link who were recently married. The evening was spent in dancing, music being furnished by Luther Wells and Garnet Pruner. About 11.30 the bride and groom were called to the floor and an address was read by Fred Casselman and a beautiful walnut bedroom Suite was presented. Mr. Link replied thanking all for their beautiful gift and asked them all to visit them in their new home.

Lunch was served and dancing was resumed until a late hour.

Dear Maxine and Gerald—When two of the most popular and valued young people decided to tie with their tongues the knot which they cannot untie with their teeth, we cannot let the occasion pass without expressing to you as friends and neighbours our warmest wishes for your future happiness. To you Maxine, whom we have all learned to love during the years spent in th community, may every earthly blessing be yours in wedded life and may all your troubles be little ones. To you, Gerald, whom, to quote Shakespeare, we have seen grow up from "the infant in his mother's arms, then the schoolboy with shining morning face, creeping like a snail unwillingly to school, then the lover with warfare ballad made to Mistress evebrow," to you both we offer our united good wishes. May your joy be mutiplied, cares divided, happiness added and sorrows subtracted. As a tangible token of our good wishes—Please accept this gift.

Signed on behalf of your Friends and Neighbours.

IN MEMORIAM

COBEY—In loving memory of my dear husband who departed this life April 11, 1941.

A face I loved is now laid low,
His loving voice is still,
The hand so often clasped in mine,
Lies now in death's cold chill.
I often sit and think of him,
When I am all alone;
For memory is the only thing,
That grief can call its own.

Fire Insurance

COVERING

MERCANTILE, MANUFACTURING, RESIDENTIAL, AND FARM PROPERTY

WINDSTORM & AUTOMOBILE RISKS ALSO

Prices of Farm Products have advanced but the rates for Fire Insurance in our Companies remain the same and are the lowest in the Province for this class. No fees asked nor premium notes or other obligations required, as our securities—as sound companies—are on deposit with the Dominion Government, Department of Insurance.

FARM PROPERTY INSURANCE

CARRIED UNDER THREE-YEAR OR ONE- YEAR SYSTEM AS NECESSARY

James Clement DIAL 598 Chesterville

Why run these Risks of Damage To Your Home or Apartment?

1. FIRE
2. LIGHTNING
3. WINDSTORM
4. HAIL
5. EXPLOSION
6. RIOTS
7. VANDALISM AND MALICIOUS MISCHIEF
8. IMPACT OF AIRCRAFT OR OTHER VEHICLES
9. SMOKE DAMAGE
10. FLOOD
11. WATER—ICE—SNOW
12. COLLAPSE BUILDING

Your ordinary fire policy does not cover all of the above hazards . . . but the

Preferred Property Damage Policy Gives this broad coverage on Dwellings and Apartment Buildings

Its cost is equitable; that's why every property owner can well afford it. You never know when a catastrophe may strike your property, especially from fire, windstorm or smoke, to say nothing about damage from lightning or hail, or when a roof or wall may collapse from weight of ice and snow.

The Preferred Property Damage Policy is one of the broadest forms of Property protection issued.

Enquire about this contract. We will give you full particulars.
