River royalty

When the tubies took to the St. Lawrence Sunday for the 16th annual Tubie Race, Danny Cassell managed to hang onto his status as King of the River for the seventh year in a row. An unprecedented 327 paddlers took part in the event this year.

Tip of the hat

Well it wasn't exactly a tip of the hat when this Bradford runner was called out at third base during a Monday afternoon semi-final game at the 31st Lions Club Fastball tournament in Kemptville. The batting helmet ended against the screen and the runner on the bench.

Off we go

Ultralight aircraft have come a long way since the first motorized hang glider designs were introduced 10 years ago. Flying instructor Bruce Millar, who has been teaching would-be aces to fly at Vernon airport for the past few weeks, hopes the ultralight experience will take off on the local scene.

Donations needed

Area blood donors are being asked to give generously to offset anticipated shortages of blood, A blood donor clinic will be held at Winchester District Memorial Hospital on Aug. 20 from 2-8pm. The Red Cross has set a goal of 250 units for this clinic.

Record rainfall swells South Nation

BRINSTON — Cornfields along the banks of the Nation River here looked more like rice paddies last week after the river flooded approximately 100 acres of land in the area.

Brinston farmer Henry Zandbergen said Monday the water level has been dropping after reaching a peak Thursday. "The water was two inches below the top of my rubber boots in the corn, and there were carp swimming around," he said.

Shirley Belanger reported Thursday the river had flooded the road in front of her farm.

Dundas County agricultural representative Bob Humphries said record rainfall in July was to blame for the flooding, with an estimated seven to nine inches (up to 225mm) falling during the month. "There's no question we have an overload in the system," he said. Rainfall in the county was expected to average 175mm in July, compared to a 16-year average of 88mm for the month.

Humphries said only the south branch of the Nation has been affected by the flooding because the branch was not included in a project to dredge the river two years ago.

According to Jim Windsor of the South Nation River Conservation Authority, who estimated up to 100 acres of land were flooded last week, nothing can be done about the situation in the short term. Windsor said the conservation authority is currently engaged in initial surveys of the river bottom in preparation for a project to dredge the south branch. The authority expects to complete the field work by the end of the summer, followed by several months of computer analysis of the results.

Windsor said the authority will have the project and its estimated costs drawn up by next spring, and will then begin inviting input from area politicians and farmers. When the costs have been worked out, a request for funds will be submitted.

Windsor said bridge reconstruction in the village of Chesterville may be slowing down the flow of the river somewhat, but was not a major factor in the Brinston-area flooding. The wetest July on record in Dundas and the resulting "huge volumes of water" were the main culprits, he added.

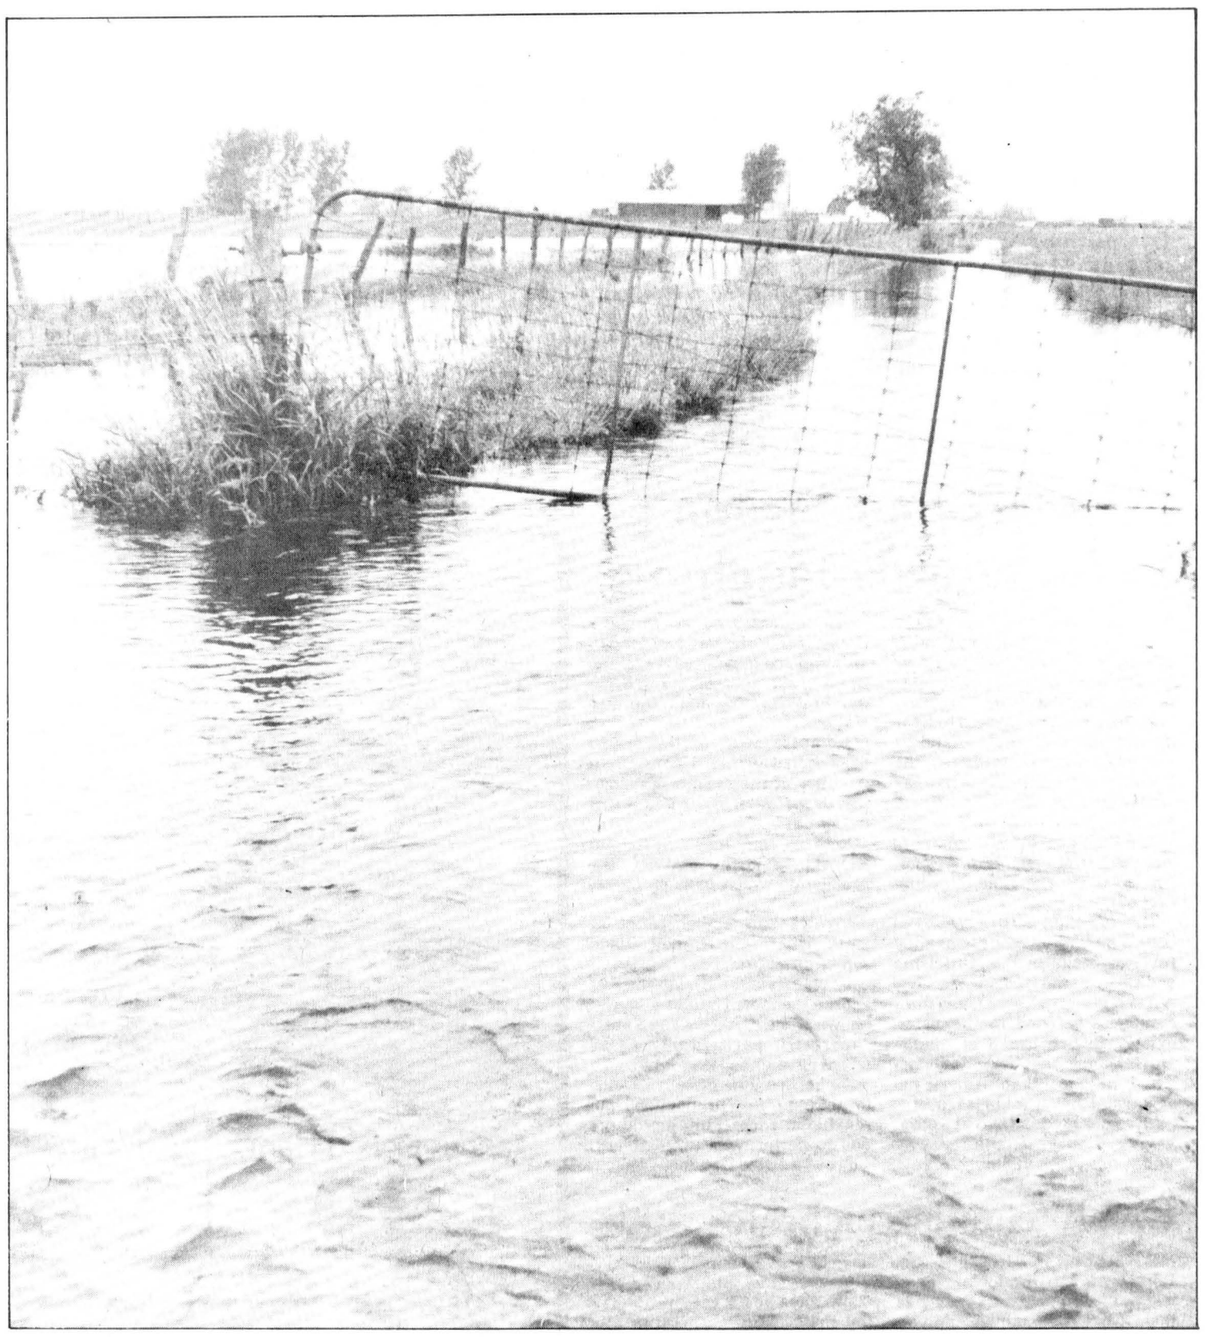
According to Humphries, fields in the county with good drainage have been faring well despite the rain, while others have been suffering "tremendous hardship" because of supersaturated soil. "It's got the potential to be serious, but it's affecting different areas differently," he added.

Soggy fields have made it difficult to operate combines, Humphries said, but the harvest of winter wheat has begun. Farmers have been concerned that damp conditions could cause the wheat to sprout before it can be harvested, making it unfit for human consumption.

For corn, the effect of prolonged inundation could also be serious. "If they stay under water for any length of time, the corn roots can't respire," said Humphries. As a result, the plants undergo suffocation and could eventually stop growing and die.

According to Zandbergen, corn on the approximately 50 acres of his land involved in the flooding appears to have survived without serious damage, but he adds the effects should become evident later. "It'll take a week or so for it to show up," he said.

Damage should be minimized if the fields don't get too much hot sun before the water drains away, Humphries said. Plant tissue can be "scalded" if the sun heats up wet soil.



Farms along the south branch of the Nation River were inundated last week when huge volumes of water from July's record rainfall overflowed its banks. Jim Windsor at the South Nation River Conservation Authority reports that the authority has begun preliminary work on a project to dredge the south branch.

Fire claims house

WILLIAMSBURG — Fire completely destroyed the home of a vacationing Williamsburg area man on Flagg Road west of here Friday night.

The home of Lynn Whitteker was levelled less than a day after Whitteker had left for his hunting camp for a short vacation. Fire officials estimated the total loss at approximately $60,000. Williamsburg Township Fire Chief Lyal Kehoe said he believed Whitteker was covered by insurance.

Firefighters were called to the scene at 9:45pm Friday following a call from one of Whitteker's neighbors. Kehoe said the house was lost by the time the department reached the fire.

"An attached shed had already collapsed and there were flames coming out of the windows when we arrived," said Kehoe. The Williamsburg crew remained on the scene until 1am.

Williamsburg firefighter Allen Brunt said the fire was one of the most intense he had seen.

"The heat from it was just incredible, just like something inside had exploded," Brunt said. The structure was one layer brick veneer and had been existing for a number of years.

"The only thing we know is that it probably started in the shed since it was down first," Kehoe said. "The cause will be listed as unknown."

Bike hits policeman

GREELY — Despite the holiday Monday area police detachments reported a relatively quiet weekend with only four accidents occurring near the village.

On Friday however, one Manotick OPP officer didn't have it so easy when he had to drive himself to the Queensway-Carleton Hospital after he sustained minor injuries when he was struck by a motorcycle he was attempting to stop.

Const. Arnold Giek, a pedestrian at the time of the incident, was patrolling the hamlet of Greely when the 1974 Honda motorcycle Steven Bethume, 16, was driving accelerated to pass him, but struck the officer instead.

The motorcycle, which was westbound on Mason St. was going at an unknown speed, Manotick OPP reported on Tuesday.

Bethume has been charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident under the Highway Traffic Act and under the Criminal Code with dangerous driving.

Also on Friday, Manotick OPP officers charged John Thompson of 3341 Spruce St. in Osgoode with careless driving after his 1981 Chevrolet left the road while southbound on Nixon Drive near the village.

The 36-year-old resident lost control of his car, entered the west ditch near the corner of Regional Road 6 and came to rest on the west shoulder, Manotick OPP report. Thompson's vehicle sustained $700 in damages.

Also on the weekend, heavy rain which fell in the area was said to have been the cause of a two-vehicle accident on Hwy. 2 near Morrisburg on Sunday.

No charges were laid after the 1976 Ford James Langebeer, 49, of Morrisburg was driving, could not stop in time due to greasy roads, and hit another vehicle from behind.

Clowns to brighten annual sale

WINCHESTER — The 12th annual Merchant's Sidewalk Sale here on the weekend will feature everything that one would expect to find at a circus, including free balloons, face painting, clowns and a pet show.

The event carries with it a long tradition of bargain shopping, but for those who aren't interested in bargain hunting, the events this year offer the public a lot to see and participate in as well.

The sale gets under way at 8am sharp and runs through to 5pm, during which time the section of Main Street between Sutton's Restaurant and Winchester Tours and Travel will be blocked off.

Throughout the day children can have their faces painted, receive free balloons at Edgerton Baker and KIS Photo or dunk a hockey player in the dunking machine in front of the Baptist Church.

The Bank of Montreal will feature a pet show in front of its premises, while the Royal Bank will be serving up free corn on the cob all day in front of the building.

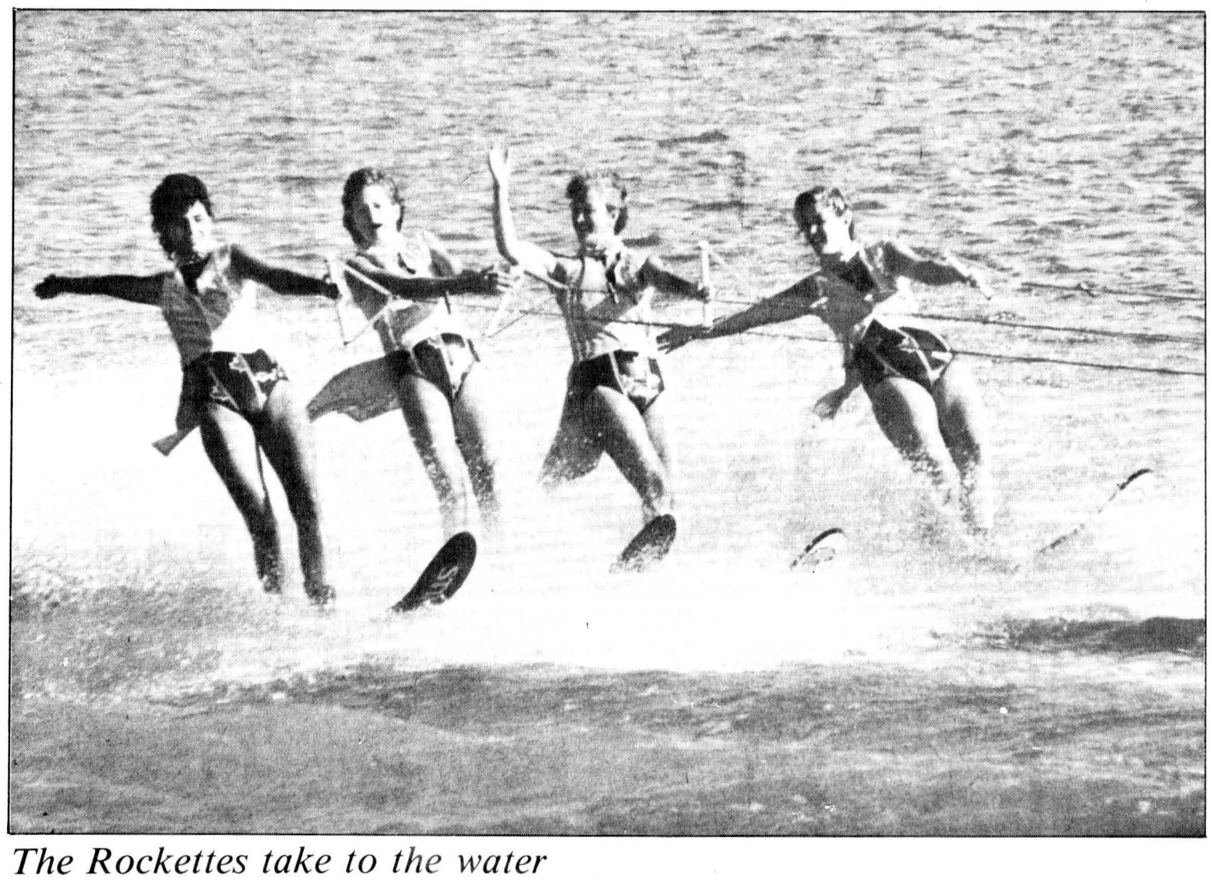
For all you bakers with secret recipes for cakes and other goodies, the Village Bin is sponsoring a baking contest. All entrants must have their goods at the Village Bin by noon sharp to be eligible for judging.

The entertainment for the day will be provided by Lori Code and Country Road, who will be playing in front of the Legion Hall from 1-4pm, where attendants can also buy refreshments.

Gary Annable, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce, said this time of year is best for the event because it doesn't conflict with any other sale or activity going on in the area.

"The discounts are usually pretty good at the stores and everyone seems to really enjoy it," said Annable, a seven-year organizer of the sidewalk sale.

About 42 merchants and other businesses in and around the village will be participating in the event this year and if the weather doesn't hold out, merchants will probably pull everything inside and have the sale anyway, as they've done in the past, said Annable,



The Rockettes take to the water

This foursome was just one act of 12 which was featured at Crysler Park on Sunday by the Collins Bay Waterski Troup of Kingston. The music-accompanied show lasted 45 minutes and demonstrated barefoot skiing, a kite demonstration, cross skiing and a flag parade finale.

Cutbacks spur WSA into fundraising effort

CRYSLER — Government cutbacks have forced the Women for the Survival of Agriculture to look for ways to raise funds, says organization president Dorothy Middleton.

Because funds for WSA projects have been frozen, the organization plans to raise money through the sale of art reproductions.

"The WSA has done a lot with very little money up until now," Middleton said last week. "We do require enough that we can mail our newsletter and have it available to anyone who wants it."

Middleton said the WSA formerly received grants from the Secretary of State for research projects such as What Are You Worth?, a study of farm women's contribution to farm work. The WSA is also planning to produce a book outlining the steps to setting up a legal partnership, to be drawn up by a family lawyer, but the funds for the project have been frozen.

Ottawa art dealer Jim McPherson has offered to select and market a reproduction of a painting to raise funds for the WSA, and is in the process of looking for a suitable original painting. "We need something that has mass appeal," Middleton said. "It has to talk about farm life today." The membership of the WSA will have to approve the choice of painting, she added, because the organization wants to project a modern image without reinforcing urban stereotypes of country life.

Middleton said McPherson originally approached the WSA offering to conduct a fundraising campaign for the organization in early spring, but the members wanted to consider the project before going ahead with it. "The WSA always likes to do their homework before they commit themselves," she said.

Funds raised in the campaign will be used for WSA projects, such as the seminar held each fall for area farm women, and to offset members' expenses in lobbying on agricultural issues. All WSA members are unpaid volunteers who donate their time, but it's too much to expect them to pay for long-distance phone calls and trips to Ottawa as well, Middleton said. "All of us drive our cars at our own expense."

Other projects the organization has been considering, in addition to plans for a guide to legal partnerships, include establishing a communications link with farmers in the western part of the province. Eastern Ontario residents need to understand Western Ontario issues, and the WSA needs funds to bring in guest speakers "so that we become a more unified voice," Middleton said. "There's lots of information out there that we're not touching here."

McPherson, an art dealer for 18 years, is also conducting a fundraising project for Katimavik. The project is aimed at raising $2 million in the Ottawa area from the sale of three reproductions of paintings by Canadian artists.

Queens University teachers David Kemp, left, and Mark Danby pay tribute to the music of Michael Flanders and Donald Swann at Upper Canada Playhouse. "Have Some Madeira M'Dear", the theatre's second production of the season, is a two-man musical revue of the English composer's wit, which satirized the fads, foibles and failures of the English. The revue runs until Aug. 9.

Play's depiction of Flanders and Swann keeps crowds laughing

MORRISBURG (Staff) — There are only four more days to catch the musical revue, "Have Some Madeira M'Dear", at Upper Canada Playhouse.

Audiences have flocked to hear the musical offerings of Flanders and Swann, a duo writing in the tradition of British music hall, as interpreted by David Kemp and Mark Danby.

The eighteen classic numbers include The Hippopotamus Song, I'm a Gnu, and The Gasman Cometh.

The two-man cast here have been a hit with audiences as they revel on stage in the witticisms and satire of the lyrics.

Asked whether Canadian audiences respond to the particularly British brand of humor Mark Danby said, "They understand it more than Americans would and they want to learn."

"Besides," added David Kemp, "every ex-pat in the Seaway Valley has taken in the show."

Both actors are Queen's University professors in their day jobs and are clearly enjoying the smell of the greasepaint and the roar of the crowds in the summer hiatus.

Kemp is head of the drama department while Danby is a member of the drama in education department of the Faculty of Education.

Both are commuting daily from Kingston for the run of the production which ends on Saturday.

"We've had audiences of at least 100," said Danby, "and sometimes 250 and 280."

To entertain the crowds they've chosen the most popular and well known of the Flanders and Swann repertoire particularly those which haven't become dated.

Audiences still have a chance to take in the production and maybe an encore will entice the duo to perform an unusual version of The Blue Danube.

Greely couple celebrates 50th

METCALFE — Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Amyot (the former Lena Begin) celebrated July 27 their Golden Wedding Anniversary with family, relatives and friends at the gaily-decorated Lions Den in Metcalfe.

Joined by their three children, seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren, "Romeo and Lena" received congratulatory messages and decorative plaques from The Pope; Governor-General Sauve; Prime Minister Mulroney; Premier Peterson; and M.P.P. Norman and Mrs. Sterling. M.P. Bill Tupper, accompanied by his wife, presented the Prime Minister's scroll and offered personal congratulations.

World Kick-Boxing champion Jean Yves Theriault, who spent his boyhood years at the Amyot home, journeyed from Orleans to bring greetings.

Friends were also present from Campbell's Bay, Saskatchewan, Cornwall, Hamilton, Ottawa and the United States.

Wife assault : the ignored crime

A victim tells her story

by Pat den Boer
Press Reporter

WINCHESTER — Claire was pregnant and married to Bob by the time she was 14 years old. When she left home her mother told her "everything was going to be better."

Coming from a home where her father regularly abused his wife and children verbally and physically, Claire honestly believed it would be better.

Sure Bob drank a bit too much at times, but it was all in fun and she thought he would grow out of it. But it was more than that. Bob was beaten as a child and witnessed his mother being beaten.

"I saw it (wife battering) in him from the start, but I thought I could make it go away." Claire's beatings started shortly after she had her baby girl. After coming home from a family picnic one day, Bob said she was paying too much attention to his brother-in-law and consequently hit her "twice, hard in the face."

The beatings became more severe and when she couldn't cover up the marks or explain them away as an accident she had while working on the farm, she would stay at home. Soon she never went anywhere, she says. "I got sick of trying to cover up."

When thoughts of leaving finally struck Claire just before her first child died, her mother was outraged. "I lived through it, why can't you?" She repeated her mother's words with anger.

When Claire finally did leave Bob after her oldest child died, she says she was lucky because her neighbors were behind her. "They knew I did all the milking and most of the work, right up until I was nine months pregnant, while he was off on a drinking spree — most women have no support from anyone."

A victim often feels responsible for the way she's being treated; lack of outside suport forces her to stay in a battered environment.

Claire's story is not unique. At least 2,000 other women in Dundas County are experiencing or have experienced the same hell at one time in their lives.

Wife battering is a fact of life in families across Canada. It crosses economic, geographic and racial boundaries, and perpetuates through generations of families.

Women are kicked, punched, beaten, burned, threatened with their children's lives, and their belongings, knifed, shot and sometimes killed — not by strangers who enter their homes, but by their husbands and lovers they've spent years with and who they love.

In some cases, it's an isolated occurrence, but more often it's a daily routine which the victim eventually accepts as her fate, if she doesn't get help.

The violence women experience is most often a combination, but sometimes only one of three types of violence: physical, psychological violence in the form of taunts and threats from her husband and the psychological violence they receive when they try to get help outside the family.

The situation for farm women is worse. They are more isolated and are surrounded by neighbors who know the husband well. They are often too busy to get a chance to seek help and on a farm are often stranded without transportation to drive for help.

Erva Durant, chairman of Naomi's Family Resource Centre in Winchester, explains that because family violence usually occurred somewhere in either the batterer's or victim's past, a victim is usually made to feel guilty and in some way responsible for the way she's been treated.

Jan, another victim, says "They told me it was something I was doing and that I should be more understanding — he was under a lot of pressure. They told me I should just wait and try to iron things out for the family's sake."

"Women who are battered live in constant fear, not knowing when he'll turn on the kids — always feeling jumpy, never knowing when it will start up again," says Durant.

Outsiders who know the abuse is going on seldom intervene because they don't want to get involved and because marital disputes are traditionally something private.

As one woman who recently helped out a severely beaten victim said: I was shaking in my boots the whole weekend, fearful that he might return and turn on me." She added: "I had to hold back my feelings of resentment for ever getting involved when she kept coming back for advice."

But Durant adds that batterers aren't at fault for their actions. "They've learned their battering from when they were young." Studies have shown that at least 50 per cent of husbands who batter their wives had been beaten as a child. A boy who sees or suffers violence in his home while growing up is 2,000 times more likely to commit family violence when he is grown, says Durant.

At least three-quarters of domestic violence is triggered by their life-long self-contempt, guilt and frustrations about their own failures, which are bottled up "and which they don't have the guts to take out on anyone else," she adds.

As Claire described it, "He felt so low that beating me made him feel good to know I felt worse." They literally try to pull you down to their level by beating you, she added.

Durant feels the way to combat the problem is to get to the kids when they're young. "We have to teach them that violence against women is wrong." While admitting that men with battering tendencies, might have a hard time dispelling their problems, she says counselling will help and in many cases remove the desire to strike out at their wives.

Up until a few weeks ago, battered women had to travel to Cornwall or Ottawa to seek counselling and refuge from a battered home environment. Despite public outcry from some people in this area, Durant is determined to make the centre on St. Lawrence St. here a success and a proper haven for women who are battered.

"I could fill the house tommorrow if it was ready," she says. While the facility is not meant to give counselling to batterers, Durant says she's already received three anonymous phone calls from men who acknowledge their problem and want help.

However, she adds the centre won't cure all ills even for victims. "I know right now we'll have some women stay the six weeks and go right back to the man who will continue to beat her." She'll leave feeling guilty that she left. But she'll be back, a person can only take so much before they break."

Having just closed the sale on the house which will provide shelter for battered women in Dundas, Durant remains optimistic. "We've been dealing with it for a long time. We can't expect these conditions to change overnight, but we can each speak against this violence and let the batterers know that we won't condone such violent actions directed towards women and their children."

> The only way he could deal with his self-contempt is by beating me — it made him feel good that someone felt worse than he did.
> — Claire

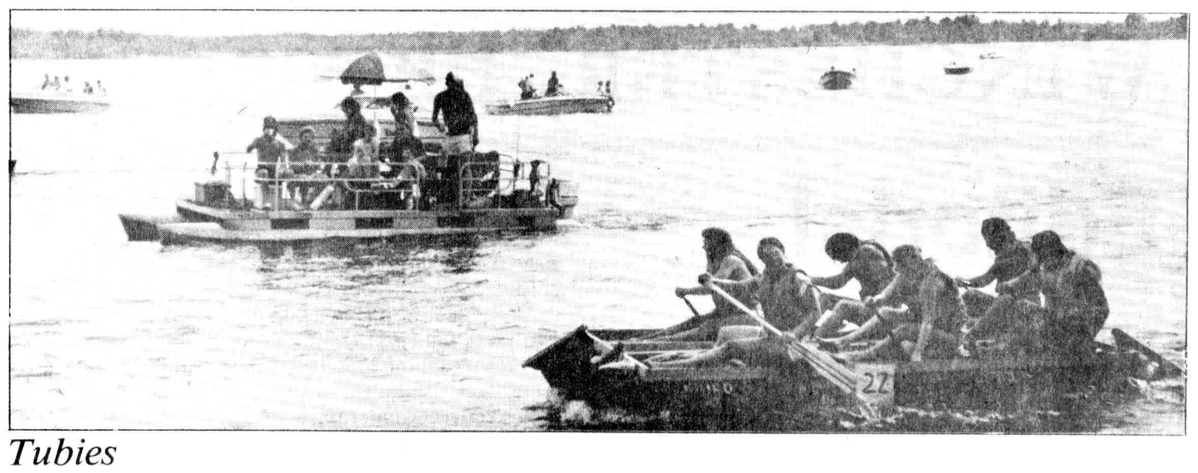
After 13 years of marriage Claire finally left Bob. But not before she would suffer weekly and sometimes daily physical and verbal attacks on her body and mind.

In the kitchen she would constantly fear being hit with an object and in the bedroom she feared the sexual abuse and assaults on her body that would sometimes carry on for eight hours non-stop, giving her no rest before she had to get up at 5am to do the milking.

"I'd often think of ways to kill him. I'd plan it right down to when I could do it, but I never had the nerve to carry any of them out."

Out of the divorce settlement, Claire received $10,000 and legal custody of her two children. Her misery is over now. She's remarried and shows no visible signs of her previous life. But her anger is still just under "the first layer of skin.". She says she often can't help getting upset over the slightest incidents and she now worries about her oldest son.

"He knew everything I went through, he saw almost everything Bob did to me." Her son is demonstrating the same characteristics Bob had. "I'm really worried about him — I just don't know what I'll do if he turns out the same."



Tubies

An Iroquois entry headed by Kevin Brown, far right, back of the craft, and Kevin Whitteker, opposite side, had their sites set on winning their first Tubie race title Sunday, but a team headed by the original "King of the River", Danny Cassell, cruised to victory. A total of 35 rafts and 327 paddlers participated in the annual event.

King of the river

Danny Cassell battles the river for tubie trophy

MORRISBURG — When Danny Cassell towed an odd-shaped riverbound craft of inner tubes into Mariatown Bay Sunday, the T-shirt he was wearing proclaimed simply "King of the River". By the time he and his crew arrived at the Morrisburg Beach everyone knew why he was wearing it.

Cassell captained his way to an unprecedented seventh title in Morrisburg's 16th annual Tubie Race on the St. Lawrence River from Mariatown to Morrisburg. The win was the second in a row for a Cassell-driven craft.

In the early years when the rafts were two-man vessels and the numbers were very few, Cassell was the dominant force, both as a racer and as an organizer. The rules have changed considerably now and he no longer takes a heavy role in staging the event but he has shown he still has enough tricks up his sleeves to keep the challengers from wrestling away his "King of the River" crown.

By adding obstacles to the Mariatown to Morrisburg run and by adjusting the size and composition of the crew, organizers of the annual race have managed to send participation spiralling. They also thought the changes might help make the race more competitive, giving more people a shot at the title.

But if Cassell had any second thoughts about entering "his" event this year, they didn't show Sunday. After roaring out of the pack of 35 crafts at the Mariatown Bay start line, Cassell and his crew made the turn east for Morrisburg in the lead and they never surrendered their position.

Sean Poulerice led his crew to a second place finish in 31 minutes, 24 seconds, 29 ticks behind Cassell's raft. A Toronto-based entry named "Pigs in Space" hit the beach in third spot in 31:58 and Rudy Grisel guided his team to a fourth place finish in 33:49.

Early afternoon showers gave way to sunshine for most of the race although a thunderstorm threatened around the race's mid-way mark, finally passing by to the north.

Cassell was humble in his win but still stands proudly in his "King of the River" shirt.

"I just sit back and steer," he says, indicating the key to victory is in superior knowledge of the flow of the river. "You have to know the river to have a chance."

The 35 vessels and 327 race participants was far and away the most ever in the history of the event. Last year 201 paddlers took part.

The start line showed a variety of tubie technology from the simplest of tube and aluminum construction to replicas of Star Trek's Enterprise and NASA's space shuttles. Moments after the starter's pistol was fired, one craft tipped sending more than a few crew members for a swim while another tubie blew apart sending designers back to the drawing board for next year.

By the time the leader reached the border sign indicating Morrisburg, the crafts had stretched themselves out into a long line with the first 10 places no longer in question, only the order of finish. A particularly nasty hairpin turn just west of the Morrisburg dock gave several crafts difficulty and made the final adjustments in placing before the sprint to the finish.

Cassell's craft turned out to be a double winner, taking first place in Saturday's parade as the most comical entry. The crew was dressed as "Tubie Babies". Other parade winners included the entrants from Hogtown or "Pigs in Space" as the most original, and Steve Casselman's "Mr. and Mrs. Jaws" as best dressed.

Tubie organization president Allen Black said Tuesday he was very happy with the weekend's events, especially with regard to behavior during the parade Saturday. The organization fielded many complaints last year about rowdiness and drinking during the parade and local OPP officers vowed they would crack down on anyone caught drinking.

"The parade was a huge success this year because people abided by the rules," Black said.

"The idea of making the event co-ed was questioned several times before this weekend but our participation figures show we were right in our decision. Now we have a solid format to work with and we do not anticipate any rule changes for next year. Overall we are quite happy with the way things worked out but we have to thank everyone, participants and helpers for making it enjoyable for all of us. I could name a hundred names and I still wouldn't be thanking enough people."

The financial report from the weekend is still not complete so Black could not come up with any figures on how much might go into the organization's coffers for next year. The tubie organization also donates funds to worthwhile community projects.

"We think we did okay," Black said in reference to the financial situation, "but we won't know anything for sure unfil the end of the week when all the bills are paid.

There is, however, one sure thing. A lot of paddlers have vowed to return next year for another chance to become Kings and Queens on the St. Lawrence.

Seed lovers jam it up

by Cindy St. Pierre

ORMOND — On June 3, at 7:30pm, members of the Ormond "Seed to Shelf" club gathered at the home of Mrs. D. McRobbie for their fourth meeting. Each member brought samples of a weed and an insect or a diseased part of a plant from the garden.

The meeting, entitled, "Growing them for Keeps", discussed preserving foods - freezing, canning, dehydration, dry storage, pickling and juicing. The characteristics to look for when selecting vegetables and the common methods of drying foods were also discussed.

The meeting ended at 9:30pm with refreshments.

The fifth Ormond 4-H meeting was held on July 22 at 7:30pm at the home of Mrs. Mark.

All members showed a sample of their dried vegetable. The topics discussed in this meeting were pickling and canning. The home activities for the meeting included how to make some pickles and to can tomatoes.

At 9:30pm the meeting ended with refreshments. The sixth meeting will be held on Aug. 12 at 7:30pm.

Get rich quick?

Pyramid investment fever, which crops up every so often in Ontario like a kind of virus, is on the upswing once again.

Players in these lotteries are lured into participating by the promise of a big payoff - tax free. But they soon become involved in an unending search for new players while the hoped-for riches slip further away.

Hull police recently cracked a major pyramid investment racket which involved more than 1,000 people, and have so far made 19 arrests. A similar operation was uncovered in the Toronto area a few days later, and finally a series of charges were laid after a pyramid scheme in Gloucester was discovered.

Organizers of these schemes often assure recruits that they are doing nothing illegal. However, a pyramid is considered an illegal lottery, and anyone organizing or agreeing to join one is liable to a maximum sentence of two years plus a $10,000 fine under the Criminal Code.

Another factor to deter anyone from joining one of these "get rich quick" schemes should be the odds of their ever receiving a payoff. Usually the only people to profit are the organizers, because the pyramid collapses from a shortage of new paying recruits. In fact, police say the shrewdest people never join — once they learn the recruiting spiel, they start a pyramid of their own with themselves on top.

Provincial police have calculated that if a pyramid divided 15 times, about 260,000 people would have to be involved in the scheme to guarantee a payoff for everyone who had contributed up to that point.

Some may argue that the odds in government-sponsored lotteries are probably even worse, but there are some important differences. No one tries to misrepresent a player's chances of winning, it costs a lot less to play, and no one has ever gone to jail for taking part.

Police are at a loss to explain why so many people are still willing to take part in schemes of this type, even after so many have lost money in the past and numerous well publicized arrests have been made. But common sense can be a rare commodity. A candidate for recruitment in a pyramid scheme or any other illegal lottery should try to imagine himself broke or behind bars while someone else basks on a Florida beach at his expense.

The life of Riley

by Wayne Riley

If it wasn't for the broken glass in the rug and the dent in the dryer, I could have summed up the long weekend as a moderate success.

Actually, I guessed that I was in for a long weekend Friday night when a lone mosquito terrorized me for three hours and left me for dead with a white hickey on my forehead.

A dozen times I slapped at that mosquito and a dozen times I slapped myself in the face.

Worse than the self-inflicted beating, however, was the insect's constant whine in my ear. It circled my head with the sound of a little gas engine model plane, the kind that parents buy for their children and later hope will nosedive into the ground.

Through it all my wife snored softly.

On Saturday morning, feeling tired and irritable, I set up a step ladder in the spare bedroom and prepared to get up into the attic.

Even when I'm not feeling irritable I don't like going into the attic. Explosively hot in the summer, the attic always makes me feel like a wrung-out wash cloth.

There is also the charm of its fibreglass carpet with the little fibres that stick to a sweating body like a hair shirt.

That's pretty disgusting in itself but not the reason I don't like going up in my attic.

I'm always afraid of stepping through the ceiling.

With that fear in mind, I set up the ladder and climbed up into the portal. I swung myself up and heard a crash as my right foot went through a framed certificate that was hanging on the wall.

I continued on, completed my job in the attic, and swung myself back into the portal.

The hammer dropped from hand. It hit the corner of the dryer with a sickening thud. I cursed loudly and went down the ladder.

The picture glass crunched under my foot. The dent in the dryer stared at me like a black scar. I felt my head begin to throb and struggled to gain control.

Hey c'mon, I thought. Things could be worse. I could have gone through the ceiling.

Anyway, this was Saturday and a date had been made for my first "boy's night out" in 18 months.

The plan was to go see the movie "Aliens", play some pinball and top it off with doughnuts. Just one crazy, wild night.

Bruce came by in the afternoon and we decided to leave early to ensure that we got seats for the show.

We lined up for the show an hour early which turned out to be a good strategy since the theatre was almost three-quarters full when the movie started.

I dropped my box of popcorn during the middle of it.

We capped off the night by driving home with the windows of the car wide open. It had been 18 months since I had cut loose like this. You can't have a steady breeze blowing on babies in the back seat.

On Sunday my wife and I decided to clean house.

My wife vacuumed up the screws I couldn't find on Thursday and I found the rest of my ratchet set in my daughter's toybox.

My parents dropped by in the afternoon for what was supposed to be five minutes of help on a little renovation job.

They left six hours later.

On Monday morning I mowed the lawn and stained my beige pants green and Clyde the Cat pushed his way through the screen in the livingroom window.

I caught Caitlin in the bathroom sucking toothpaste out of the tube.

And then things began to wind down. The afternoon was quiet and so was the evening.

Things heated up again at about 9pm when I decided to change a lightbulb that had been on for an hour. Boy, those things get hot. You can actually see your fingerprint on the glass.

At 11:30pm, 30 minutes from the end of the long weekend, my wife told me she thought she smelled something smokey.

"Where, where?" I asked.

"I'm not sure if it's even coming from inside the house," she said. "It's a very light smell."

"Well, I'd better check it out."

We walked from one end of the house to the other, my wife sniffing while I looked for smoke.

We finally came to the spare bedroom and the portal to the attic. I knew it had to be checked.

I went up and looked around and found nothing. I backed down the ladder.

"I can't find any sign of smoke," I said to my wife.

"Oh, I don't smell it anymore," she said. And then she went to bed.

I spent the rest of the long weekend thinking about how great it would be to get back to work.

Letters

The Editor:

As parents of murdered children, we were appalled when Clifford Olson was allowed to profit from the deaths of our children. We were further horrified when a British Columbia Appeal Court returned the money to him after we had successfully fought a long battle to have the money taken from him.

The fight to recover the money from Olson has been costly and we sincerely appreciate the support we have received from many across Canada. The people of Winchester have been extremely generous in their support and we wish to thank the people in Winchester who have sent in donations to assist us in our fight for justice.

Our appeal to have our case heard by the Supreme Court of Canada was heard by the Supreme Court on June 23, and a decision is expected later this summer. Hopefully, the Supreme Court will hear our case, and if we win, it will set a precedent in that child murderers might never again be allowed to profit from the deaths of their victims.

Any further donations to assist us in obtaining justice can be sent to Victims of Violence, Provincial Court House, 1A Sir Winston Churchill Square, Edmonton, Alberta, T5J 0R2.

Again, we thank the people of Winchester, for their support.

Sincerely,
Gary Rosenfeldt

This week in ...

1926

The Union Station at Finch was completely destroyed by fire. There were no clues as to how the fire started, but it had gained so much headway by the time it was discovered, that all firemen could do was contain the blaze while it burned to the ground.

Canadian National Railways was asking for 50,000 men to go west for the wheat harvest. Going dates were from Aug. 18 to 31, and CNR would pay $15 to Winnipeg and half a cent per mile beyond all points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Edmonton, Tannis, Calgary, MacLeod and East. On return, the railway would pay $20 plus mileage past Winnipeg.

The last covered bridge of its kind in Eastern Ontario was demolished by workmen at Martintown in Glengarry County. The bridge over Riviere au Raisins, was to be replaced with a modern steel structure to accommodate the increased weight of traffic. Built in 1862, the bridge was still in good condition, but too weak for the added weight of trucks.

A report from the Wisconsin State Barber's Association published the average times for services offered in a barber shop. Haircuts averaged 22.7 min., shaves 17.2 min., shampoos 16.7 min., singes 10.2 min., and mud packs were 36 min. on an average.

South Mountain was ugently in need of a practicing physician at this time for the area. The residence of the late Dr. Ferrier had been purchased by the Township and was being made available for anyone interested in starting up there. The house would be used for an office and residence, and leased to the doctor for one-and-a-half per cent of the investment and taxes.

A survey of the South Nation watershed got under way in this week. A gang of 40 men camped out between Prescott and Cardinal and would start work in Leeds and proceed easterly. Men representing the Hydro Commission, the Forestry Division and the Wildlife Division were all part of the team.

In an editorial note this week, The Press was reminding hitch-hickers that it was an offence punishable by a fine of $10 to solicit a ride from a driver other than a public passenger conveyance. Section 47 of the Highway Traffic Act said that any person hitching a ride from a commercial vehicle would be fined, if caught.

At the Piccadilly Theatre, Desert Sands, starring Ralph Meeker, Marla English, and Carroll Naish, was showing this week, as well as Ransom, with Glen Ford and Donna Reed.

Winchester's Highway 31 bypass had been allotted immediate attention by the Ontario Department of Highways in its long term planning for the network of roads in Eastern Ontario. Under the project, Hwy. 31 would become a major collector highway with two lanes. The plan would provide a more direct route between Cornwall and Ottawa and was expected to alleviate heavy traffic in the village.

Barbara Burton, a 20-year-old from Vars, was crowned the 1967 Dairy Princess for Russell County. Taking over the duties of Myra Johnston, the 1966 Princess, Burton would compete in Toronto for the provincial title in 1967.

Beckers' Stores Ltd. purchased the Fina Service Station property on St. Lawrence St. and planned to renovate the premises for use as a confectionary store and self-service gas bar. The company purchased the property for $36,000 and the proposed store would be the first of its kind in Winchester.

Provincial MPPs were recalled to the legislature during their summer break, to deal with the Supreme Court ruling on Ontario's participation in the federal government's Anti-Inflation Program. The federal act was deemed constitutionally legal, but Ontario's imposition of its guidelines was not, since the government enacted the agreement by an Order-In Council.

Seventh Column

by Joe Rowan

You may recall our congratulatory note last week to Mrs. Charles Boothe who was quietly, but very happily, celebrating her 99th birthday. It seemed a strange coincidence that, on that same day, we were reading the final chapter of an extremely interesting book we had received from our two Morrisburg grandsons (Joey & Matt) on Father's Day. "Eighteen Men" is the title of the enlightening review of Canadian history painting vivid word pictures portraying the trials, tribulations and triumphs of 18 prime ministers. It occurred to us, as we turned the last page and read author Gordon Donaldson's introduction of Canada's 18th leader (Mr. Mulroney), that "Maud" (Mrs. Boothe) had lived through the eras of all but one - Alexander (Sandy) Mackenzie (1873-1878). Sir John A. (Macdonald), who had been in opposition during that brief period, rode back into power in 1878 and was still at the helm in 1887 when the Boothe family at Russell was welcoming a lovely baby girl to the family. Perhaps the 1911 election (when Robert Borden ended the Laurier regime) may have been her first opportunity to cast a vote but, since that time, her ballot has played a valuable role in no less than 13 federal elections. Did she ever 'lose her vote'? Absolutely not! But, unfortunately, the 'best' leader didn't always win. Congratulations again friend.

Sure hope no one sends a copy of the Sunday Herald (Aug. 3, 1986) to Her Majesty the Queen or the Archbishop of Canterbury. Imagine how deeply concerned both would be to learn the elaborate and colorful wedding ceremony uniting the Duke and Duchess of York had been so terribly botched that it flipped the 'women's lib' movement "back into the dark ages". Kanata resident Michele David, in her fiery 'letter to the editor', tells of "cringing in anger" when the good Archbishop proclaimed them 'man and wife'. And that's not all either. Not only did she 'cringe', but in addition her 'skin crawled' because the eminent man of God didn't pronounce the happy couple 'husband and wife'. Gosh, the South African crises pales into insignificance when one fully realizes humanity has been smitten such a devastating blow by both the monarchy and the church. On second thought maybe we'll shell out a 'buck' (plus postage) and send a couple of copies across the pond. Reckon both the Queen and Archbishop might enjoy a good chuckle.

Following a visit to Winchester District Memorial Hospital last week we're convinced administrator Bert (Stel) rates a smart salute for his astute training skills. His stern (but warm-hearted advice to nurses must place great emphasis on psychology — and his 'girls' are obviously listening attentively. We know because, only last week, we learned first-hand when calling at the hospital to visit a 21-year-old grandson following his operation. Thinking perhaps it was too soon after surgery to visit the young man we approached the first floor nurse. Like a flash she ushered us into the room and, placing her hand gently on the patient's brow, she smiled: "Wake up Doug, your Dad's here." Now that, friends, is what we call psychology — and the type of 'injection' that puts new life into the faltering steps of a grey-headed old scribe. Thanks nurse - we feel so much better we've ordered a skipping rope.

We're supposed to (blares tourist promotion folders) urge friends, neighbors, relatives and strangers to visit and enjoy the wonders of Canada's capital - OTTAWA. We're encouraged to (shouts Ottawa Rough Rider promotional brochures), encourage all with even an ounce of sporting blood in their veins, to watch the team in action. Sorry Mayor Durell and Rider Boss Don (Holtby) --- but this column has never been guilty of printing deceptive statements. Oh we agree the city has a lot to offer if, that is, there was a place to park and city authorities could manage to put all those 'Green Hornets' in a well concealed 'hive' somewhere in the Gatineau Hills. The 'Riders' are an entertaining and exciting football squad — but we won't be back. Found a secluded spot, off the street, in an area that could not possibly inconvenience anyone, when we attended the last home game. Why, of course, there was a ticket under the windshield wiper! "$18.99 please!" If that's the way your town welcomes visitors, we're having no more of it thank you.

It says here that to err is human — but to really foul things up it takes a computer.

Agricrews play catch-up, but still looking for work

WINCHESTER — Although some rainy weather earlier in the summer made them miss a few days, Agricrews in Grenville and Dundas are now hard at work with haying and more haying.

According to Robert Locke of Williamsburg, foreman of a crew working at the farm of Garnet Crump two weeks ago, the four teenagers in the crew can bring in about 2,000 bales of hay on a good day. Taking a lunch break Thursday Locke, 19, said the crew had about 800 more bales to bring in, but expected to be finished that day.

Hugh O'Neill, youth employment co-ordinator for Grenville-Dundas this summer, said the three crews working in the two counties have been busy with a variety of tasks for area farmers, including picking stones, construction, and putting up and taking down fences. The three crews, made up of students aged 15 to 24, began working June 23 and will be finished Aug. 15.

As program co-ordinator, O'Neill, who is going into his third year in agricultural economics at the University of Guelph, is responsible for hiring the workers. "I look for people with a positive attitude who are willing to work, preferably with some background in agriculture," he said. Although a job on an Agricrew pays only minimum wage, O'Neill said he considers it a good way to gain experience for a future career in agriculture.

Hiring a crew costs the farmer $90 per day. Workmen's Compensation and unemployment insurance is taken care of by the province. The principal funding for the program comes from the Ministry of Skills Development, although it is actually administered by the Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Crews are available for most types of work, although they are not allowed to handle chemicals or creosote, use chain saws or work on second-storey construction. Also for safety reasons, crews are prohibited from driving farm vehicles on public roads.

Agricrew members under 18 are paid minimum wage. The foreman makes $4.50 an hour.

O'Neill said the crews are looking for more work in the weeks ahead, and will be available until Aug. 15.

Farlinger elected director Holstein Assn. of Canada

MONCTON — Charles Farlinger of Morrisburg was among the Holstein breeders elected directors of the Holstein Association of Canada at the annual meeting here July 24.

President of the association for 1986 is David H. Houck of Gormley, Ont., taking over from Earl Osborne of Rockwood, Ont.

The retiring president noted that the association moved to a positive financial position in 1985, an improvement due to tight financial management after the association's centennial year. He also drew attention to the increases in registration numbers and in type classification income.

Osborne commented that the artificial insemination industry and the breeders have supported type classification breed improvement programs and increased the usage of young sires. The outgoing association president also expressed satisfaction with the achievement of brucellosis-free status for Canada last year.

He also commended both Agriculture Canada and provincial ministries of agriculture for cooperating to make producer controlled milk privatization possible in many provinces. The availability of milk recording services gives the association the vehicle to reach the goals for cows on test and, through this service, to make many more thousands of herd visits monthly, he said.

An increase in computer capacity at the Holstein Association has made it possible to store more registration and genetic data and to interact directly with other organizations in the industry. The association will be working through milk recording, AI, departments of agriculture and universities to achieve this in 1986, members present at the annual meeting were told.

The association board of directors, Osborne said, will be closely monitoring both the impact of growth hormones on the industry and the progress of free trade negotiations with the U.S.

Because of the efforts of the United States Department of Agriculture to reduce its dairy production, causing a significant shift in the movement of dairy cattle, Canada's purebred and commercial breeders were encouraged to meet the competition by using the advantages available to them and by properly understanding both the positive and negative issues.

Other highlights of the convention included the Atlantic '86 Show, featuring 162 Maritime Holsteins, and the National Convention Audio-Visual Sale held immediately following the show. The sale grossed $186,550, an average of $3,272.80 on 57 head.

Navan Fair gets under way this Thursday

NAVAN — Livestock shows, a parade and a country jamboree highlight the annual Navan Fair, which gets under way Thurs., Aug. 7.

The four-day event opens with a horse pull, and will feature nightly entertainment, said fair manager Barbara Cauley. Cattle judging begins at 7pm Thursday, with Holsteins, Jerseys and Ayrshires to be shown.

A heavy horse hitch show starts early at 8am Friday, with beef cattle judging getting under way at 9:30am. The Ottawa Valley Belgian Association horse show is scheduled for 1pm.

Saturday's program includes sheep and poultry shows, and a parade is set for 11am, with floats, antique cars and bands winding down the main street of the village. A light horse show opens at noon, and both light and heavy horse shows will run in the evening.

On the agenda for Sunday are a western horse show, light horse show and goat judging. The country jamboree winds things up from 2pm to 9pm.

Meat council will educate consumers

ISLINGTON — A new consumer education program initiated by the Canadian Meat Council is designed to help the meat industry respond to negative claims about red meat.

According to information from the meat council, the program, called Meat The Good News, should provide accurate and timely information about beef, pork, lamb and processed meats. The first educational piece is a reference card called a Meata-facts card, featuring nutrition facts about fresh meats.

Some of the changes and developments in the industry which will be highlighted in the Canadian Meat Council's campaign include the trend to increasingly lean products, and changes in merchandising methods and presentation of products. New processed products are coming onto the market, and branded fresh meats are now available.

The meat council reports that Canadian Meat Month will once again be celebrated in February, 1987. The sponsoring groups continue to be the Beef Information Centre, the Canadian Pork Council, Canada Sheep Council, Canadian Meat Council and Agriculture Canada. The key messages for meat month will relate to the role of meat in the diet, the nutrient composition of Canadian red meat products, the safety and wholesomeness of Canadian meats and the role of livestock in converting roughages and cereals into high-quality meat protein.

Members of the Canadian Meat Council met with the agriculture committee of Parliament to outline several points. The members pointed out that the U.S. Farm Bill enacted this year includes provision for a national check-off fee to fund meat promotion and research activities in the U.S., and suggested that similar legislation should be enacted in Canada to co-ordinate and strengthen promotion efforts by producers and packers.

The meat council members also told the parliamentary committee that the meat processing industry supports government initiatives on regulatory reform, and that the industry is strongly opposed to any extension of cost recovery for meat inspection services.

The council also suggested that discussions with the U.S. on freer trade should resolve the issue of subsidies and solve the problem of U.S. countervailing duties on Canadian pork. The Canadian Meat Council is continuing to argue for uninhibitied access for pork to the U.S.

S. Mountain Fair Aug. 16-17

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — A performance by the Imperial Hell Drivers heads the list of entertainment lined up for the 94th annual Mountain Township Agricultural Society Fair Aug. 16-17.

The stunt drivers will entertain the crowd Friday evening, beginning at 7pm. The Toronto-based team will present a series of stunts involving both cars and motorcycles.

The Dundas 4-H achievement day program opens the fair Friday with events continuing throughout the day. The entertainment continues in the evening with an outdoor dance starting at 9pm featuring the music of Jim Wicks and Westburg Union, who will also be playing Saturday.

The activities begin at 10am Saturday, with a children's pet show. Crafts will be displayed in the agricultural society hall.

Other activities Saturday include the open local horse show, a poultry show, and the county Holstein show beginning at 1pm. For the sports-minded, the day features a lob ball tournament and harness racing with parimutuel betting. The races begin at 1pm.

Also scheduled for Saturday afternoon is an amateur talent show, and a live broadcast by CJET Radio of Smiths Falls.

Decorated bicycles will be judged Sunday morning at 11am. A heavy horse show opens at 10am, with beef cattle and Jersey shows to start at noon. The sheep show will run in the afternoon, and Hampshires, Suffolks and Dorsets will be judged.

The western horse show will run throughout the day, and harness racing and the finals of the amateur contest are also on the agenda.

Present for the duration of the fair will be the Allan Shows midway and a petting zoo from the Metcalfe Hobby Farm.

There will be no admission fee Friday until 5:30pm, but admission will be charged Friday evening and on Saturday and Sunday.

Suresteppers talk about AI

by Luke Gelynse

WINCHESTER — The home of Bob Kenzelwood provided the setting and artificial insemination was the topic for a meeting of the 4-H Suresteppers July 7.

A second meeting had been scheduled for July 14, but was postponed until July 21. The meeting was held at the home of Bonnie Derick, with Shirley VanDenBroek reading to the club about horse jumping. Two girls on exchange came in for a make-up meeting. Members straightened out their books and closed the meeting.

On July 24 at Kemptville's A.M. Barr Arena, 4-H members from Dundas and Grenville Counties met along with about 10 Saskatchewan 4-Hers. The event was a judging day, with members judging horses, sheep, hay, beef dairy cows and breakfast menues.

The winners were announced at the end of the day and scores were posted in the front hall.

The next Suresteppers' meeting is scheduled for Aug. 12.

Kemptville K's third baseman Gary Christie, right, couldn't apply a tag on a Bradford runner on his first opportunity, but when the man overran the bag, lower photo, Christie applied the tag and the umpire was there to call the play. Kemptville defeated Bradford 5-2, but lost 4-1 in the final to Scarboro who carried off a cool $2,000 in prize money.

Boyd hurls Jays into lead

OTTAWA — South Mountain's Rick Boyd was firing "peas" here last Thursday night as the Winchester Ault Food Blue Jays whitewashed Ottawa R.A. - Glen White Sports 2-0 to grab a one-game-to-nothing lead in a best-of-five Junior Interprovincial Fastball League semi-final.

Boyd was red hot fanning 15 R.A. batters en route to a 2-0 no-hit shutout. He faced one man over the minimum 21 and was one man away from a perfect game when a runner beat out an infield error in the sixth inning. But he was stranded at first base when Boyd struck out the next hitter to end the inning. Working with catcher Mike Veltkamp, Boyd struck out the side in the third and fifth innings and didn't have a ball hit out of the infield as he breezed to the sparkling 2-0 victory.

Winchester, third-place finishers over the regular slate hosted Glen White here Tuesday (Aug. 5), return to the R.A. diamonds in Ottawa for game three Thursday night (Aug. 7) and will be here at home later this week (date not known) for game four of the best of five semi-finals.

Winchester and Glen White tied at 30 points in regular-season action and the winner of their series will challenge the winner of the Stittsville 56ers-Smiths Falls Redmen set for the 1986 championship. Stittsville took this year's pennant with 33 points while Smiths Falls finished with 27.

Orleans (17 points), Ottawa Valley O.V.s (15 points) and Ottawa Nepean (15 points) are currently playing a home-and-home series with consolation title going to the best point total.

Stittsville 56ers edged Winchester four games to three in last year's best-of-seven championship series.

Jays' assistant coach Mike Valcour said Rick Boyd pitched a fantastic game and his feelings were backed up by catcher Mike Veltkamp who said Boyd threw harder than he had all year posting the 2-0 win.

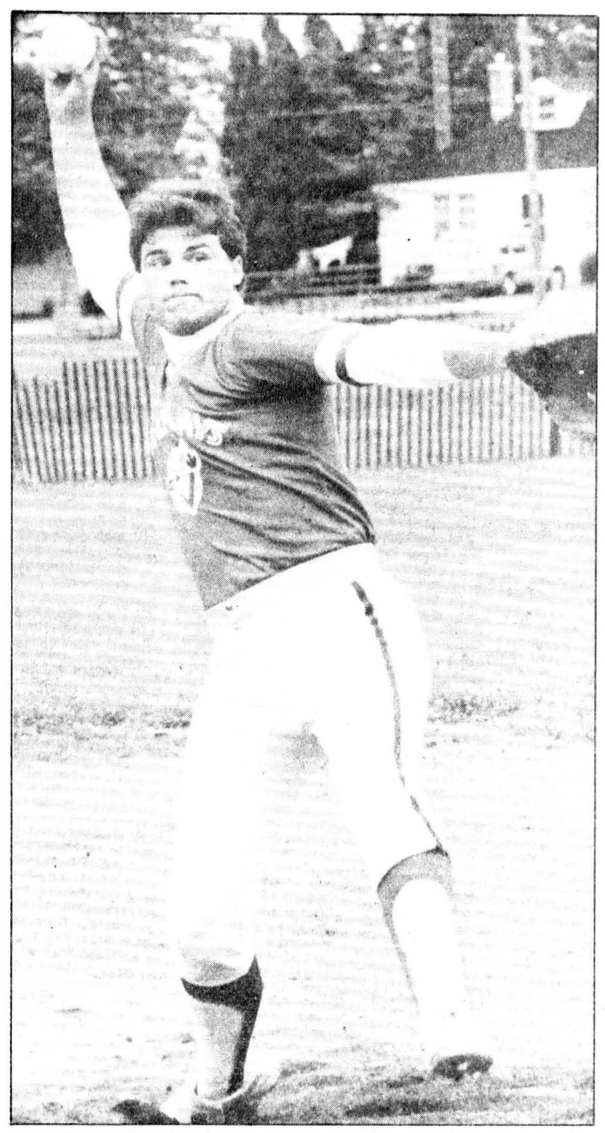
Despite their 2-0 win the Jays weren't exactly swinging deadly sticks in their turns at the plate.

The winners managed five hits off of S. Bouchard and three of them went to second baseman Doug MacEachern who singled three times in three trips to the plate.

MacEachern's first hit came in the first inning and resulted in a 1-0 lead when Steve Norton drove him home.

MacEachern singled again in the third and made it 2-0 scoring on a Norton sacrifice fly to centre field. MacEachern reached again in the sixth but was stranded at second base. Mike Veltkamp and Steve Norton had the other Winchester safeties.

Blue Jays' starting lineup for their opening playoff game was Ron Sloan batting lead off, Doug MacEachern, Steve Norton, Bobby Jack Hart, Brent Carkner, Mike Cavan, Peter Holmes, Mike Veltkamp and Chris Guy.



Rick Boyd fired a 2-0 no hitter at Glen White Sports last Thursday at the R.A. Diamonds in Ottawa. Boyd fanned 15 enroute to the win which put the Ault Foods Blue Jays ahead 1-0 in their Junior Fastball semi-final.

Scarboro AV takes cash at Kemptville tournament

KEMPTVILLE — It took 11 innings of fastball here Monday evening before a 1986 Kemptville Lions Club Tournament champion could be declared.

When the final out had been made Scarboro A.V. had won 4-3 over a strong Ontario Junior championship team from North Fredricksburg.

Scarboro had earlier defeated the home town Kemptville K's 4-1 to earn Intermediate Division honors and $1,600 in cash. Kemptville accepted $800 as Intermediate runners-up.

North Fredricksburg took the Junior Division championship in convincing fashion, posting an undefeated record. They blanked Vandorf 3-0, nipped the Winchester Ault Food Blue Jays 2-1, hammered Gananoque and blasted Kingston Township 10-0 in the junior championship game.

The Junior and Intermediate champs then tangled in the tournament championship match Monday evening, won 4-3 by Scarboro in 11 innings.

The Kemptville event is in its 31st year and is the longest running fastball tournament in Ontario. Lion Don Valcour says it isn't getting any easier to stage.

"We were thankful the Kemptville K's did so well. They helped us keep fans around until late Monday. We know we need local teams to get the fans into the park. But there just aren't as many teams around any more," he explained.

"The crowds might be down but overall I would have to say we (Lions) are very pleased with the tournament.

Lion Keith Forbes reported Tuesday a $25,000 gross for this year's event with a 30 per cent profit being turned back into the community.

Valcour hoped Monday's victory by Ottawa Turpin Pontiacs at the Ontario Senior 'A' Men's fastball championships in Dorchester would have a positive effect on senior ball in the area, which would in turn rejuvenate senior ball and fastball in general.

"With Turpin winning the All-Ontario it gives local fastball people the incentive to keep senior ball alive," he said.

Valcour and the Kemptville Lions Club have great interest in the state of Senior fastball in this area because their organization will again host the Ontario Men's Senior 'A' championships in 1988.

"We need to spend a lot of money on this ball park over the next two years and that's where some of this year's and next year's profits will go. We hope to keep this tournament going at least until 1988. But it is a lot of work," he concluded.

LONG WAY HOME

Kemptville K's made it to this year's Intermediate final, but just. Injuries to first-line pitcher Phil Patterson and eventually Doug "Torchy" Barnett on Monday left the K's staff whittled to Billy Forbes and second baseman Mike McKenna and a long road to the final still ahead of them.

Despite the depletion of their roster Kemptville still managed to play seven games and win five of those before losing by a respectable 4-1 count to Scarboro A.V. in the Intermediate final.

Scarboro won $1,600 as Intermediate champs, Kemptville took home $800 and Bradford as third-place finishers won $400.

Kemptville edged Wellington 1-0, Johnstown Counts 3-1 and Cardinal 2-1 before losing 4-0 to Scarboro A.V.s. They then came back through the loser's bracket with a 2-1 decision over Toronto Quinns before eliminating Bradford 5-2 in a Monday afternoon semi-final game.

Scarboro A.V.s were fast and efficient, earning their berth in the final game by Sunday. They out-scored their first four opponents 17-1 beating Kemptville Quartz 4-0, Pakenham 1-0, Bradford 8-1 and Kemptville K's 4-0.

Following their 4-1 win over Kemptville K's in Monday's Intermediate final, Scarboro edged North Fredricksburg Juniors 4-3 in an 11-inning tournament championship game adding another $400 to their first $1,600 and returned home with $2,000 in cold, hard Kemptville cash.

North Fredricksburg won $800 as Junior champs and added another $200 for being runners-up in the showdown game for a rather nifty $1,000 in Lions' loot.

North Fredricksburg, 1986 Ontario Junior champions, won their division defeating Vandorf 3-0, Winchester Blue Jays 2-1, Gananoque 10-0 and Kingston Township 10-0, losing only to Scarboro in the tourney finale.

Winchester Ault Food Blue Jays won their Junior division opener 4-3 over Trenton but were nipped 2-1 by North Fredricksburg and 5-1 by Trenton. Terry Carkner pitched the victory over Trenton. Bobby Jack Hart homered in the 2-1 loss to North Fredricksburg. Rick Boyd absorbed the loss. Terry Carkner gave up all five runs in the final loss to Trenton.

Other local teams taking part included the Williamsburg Sports Unlimited Old Timers and Cardinal Red Sox.

Williamsburg blanked Toledo 6-0, lost 5-1 to Cardinal, rebounded with a 6-3 win over Toledo but were eliminated 6-3 by Cardinal.

Cardinal shut out North Fredricksburg 2-0, lost 2-1 to Kemptville K's, doubled Williamsburg 6-3 before being sidelined 9-3 by Bradford.

T-Birds end season with win over Rookies

WINCHESTER — Teresa's T-Birds closed the regular Winchester Ladies Ball Hockey season in spectacular fashion scoring a 7-1 win over Rhonda's Rookies.

Lori Dubois and Marie Gove led the way for the pennant-winners scoring two goals each. Dubois locked up the 1986 scoring title with her two goals and one assist finishing with nine goals, six assists and 15 points. Teammate Gove was one point back (nine goals, five assists) at 14 points. T-Bird goaltender Brenda Thompson posted the lowest G.A. allowing 16 in 11 games.

In last Wednesday's other contest, second place Jackie's Daniels closed out the campaign on a positive note posting a 2-1 win over Laurie's Lasers.

Tonight (Wed. Aug. 6) the playoffs begin with T-Birds taking on the Rookies and Daniels challenging the Lasers.

Susan Marsden scored from Lori Dubois and Jill Vasey at 4:40 of period one to get the T-Birds off to a 1-0 lead. Marie Gove then hit from Lize Van Kessel with 45 seconds left in the frame to make it 2-0 after a period.

The regular-season champs then hit for three goals in a two-minute span in the second period to go up 5-0. Lori Dubois hit from Jill Vasey and Susan Marsden at 10:05, Gove connected on a pass from Karen Sherwood at 9:07 and Lize Van-Kessell hit on a relay from Gove at 8:03 as the count went to 5-0.

Another pair of quick goals in the final frame made it 7-0 before the Rookies could score their one and only goal.

Marilyn Collins scored at 14:49 completing a play started by Gove and Dubois connected from Vasey (third assist) and Teresa VanMoorsel at 13:01 to make it 7-0.

Rookies finally cracked goalie Brenda Thompson's goose egg scoring with 9:30 left in the game making it a 7-1 final.

Tracey Ogilby ruined the shut-out finishing off a play set up by Rhonda Winter and Shelley MacDonald.

It was a much closer result in the evening's other contest with Jackie's Daniels edging Laurie's Lasers 2-1.

Lasers took the early lead when Kim Merkley scored at 13:53 of period one. Kathy Vandemheen and Wilma Melenhorst set up the play.

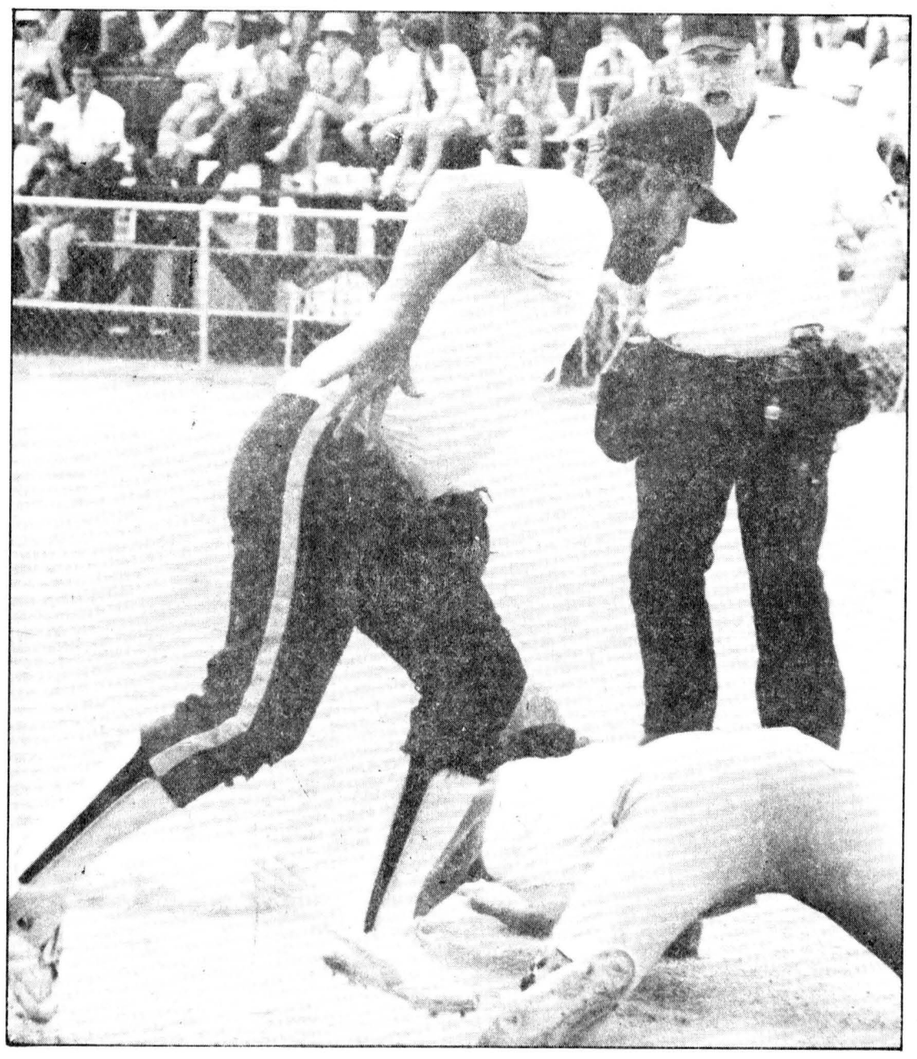
Daniels drew even at 8:19 of the same frame as Jackie Morris fired in a pass sent her way by Jackie Boulanger and Tammy Cinnamon.

The winning goal was scored at 13:03 of the second period when Boulanger turned a pass from Cinnamon and Morris into a 2-1 lead and the game-deciding goal.

T-Birds finished the year with six wins and five ties for 17 points. Jackie's Daniels were next with 14 points on six wins, three losses and two ties.

Lasers came in third with a win, five losses and five ties for seven points while the Rookies were one point back (six) with a record of two, seven and two.

Stan Woods strikes out 12



Tracy Rennison passes 4th test

OTTAWA — Tracy Rennison, a member of the Winchester Skating Club, successfully passed her fourth figure test. She completed the fourth figure test on May 24 and then successfully completed her silver free dance test on July 26.

Both tests were taken at the Minto Skating Club in Ottawa.

Hogaboam off to finals

DORCHESTER — Winchester pitcher Dan Hogaboam is a member of the 1986 Ontario Senior 'A' Men's Fastball championship team. Hogaboam, a left-handed hurler in his second year with Turpin was part of an undefeated squad of Pontiacs who clinched the championship here Monday defeating Dorchester 1-0 for their sixth consecutive win at this year's event.

Ottawa Turpin Pontiacs will now represent Ontario at the National Senior Men's championships at Summerside, P.E.I., Aug. 25 through September 1.

Turpin defeated Mount Hope 1-0, St. Thomas 3-2, Waterloo 1-0, Dorchester 2-0 and Owen Sound 4-3 before facing the host club and tournament MVP Bill Lunney in the final game. Kingston's Bill Storring pitched the final 1-0 championship win over Dorchester. Singles by Don Burnett and Len Sterling and two ground-outs gave Turpin their lone run in the final game.

Stan Woods leads Blues to playoffs

WINCHESTER — Veteran pitcher Stan Woods struck out 12 enroute to a slim 2-1 victory over FBM Cementmen here in one of two holiday-Monday Winchester Town Fastball League games.

In the nightcap Williamsburg's Jim Morrell and Berwick hurler Bill Moon Mullin hooked up in a duel which eventually made a one-run, 5-4 winner out of Mullin and the Brownlee Sports crew.

Woods' victory moved Chesterville Hotel Blues into the WTFBL playoffs eliminating the FBM Cementmen who have nine points, two games left and no chance of catching Chesterville for that final playoff berth.

Williamsburg Sports Unlimited's loss to Berwick put those two teams into a 33 point tie atop league standings. Sports has this Wednesday's game with Chesterville and last Wednesday's washed-out contest with F.B.M. remaining while Brownlee has just a rained-out game from July 30 left against the third place Winchester Dynes left to try and break the pennant-race tie. The only other game left to play is a meaningless game between Winchester (can't finish better than third) and the already-eliminated F.B.M. crew.

Following Monday's action Sports Unlimited and Brownlee Sports were deadlocked at 33 points. Winchester Dynes had third (25 points) to themselves and Chesterville was fourth with 14 points. F.B.M. trailed with nine points.

Here Monday night, Chesterville's Stan "Stub" Woods and Gerry Belanger hooked up in a real pitchers' duel, decided in the fourth inning when Chesterville scored twice to win the game 2-1.

FBM got on board in the top of the first when Kevin Baldwin singled, stole second and third, and raced home on a passed ball.

Belanger had retired nine of the first 10 men he faced and didn't get in trouble until the fourth when Owen Shortt stroked his second of three singles. Steve Stewart then beat out a chopper to third, which FBM's Kevin Baldwin just couldn't get a handle on to put men on the corners.

Shortt tied the game, scoring from third on a passed ball, and then Steve "Slick" Stewart raced home with the winning run on catcher Dave Cross' RBI single to left centre.

Belanger worked with catcher Vic Puddy and suffered the 2-1 setback on five hits. He didn't walk a man and struck out 11. He left runners on base in just three innings, the first, fourth and sixth. Owen Shortt went three-for-three, hitting three singles against Belanger. Dave Cross belted the RBI single and Stan Woods beat out an infield single to account for the Chesterville hits.

On the winner's side of the scorebook, Stan Woods and Dave Cross formed the right combination holding FBM to one run on three hits and three walks. Woods fanned 12 Cementmen and gave up two singles to Kevin Baldwin and another basehit to Kevin Smail.

Woods got into a jam in the seventh when FBM had the bases loaded with one out. Mike Moran was tagged out at the plate to end the rally with Victor Puddy and Smail on base with the tying and winning runs.

BROWNLEE MOVES IN

Berwick's Brownlee Sports edged Williamsburg's Sports Unlimited 5-4 here in Monday's nightcap to earn a share of first place.

The game was scoreless until the third when Berwick's third baseman tripled and scored on a Bill Mullin single to make it 1-0.

Williamsburg bounced into a 3-1 lead in the top of the fourth. Roger Morrell singled, Bruce Casselman sacrificed him along with a fly to centre. Ed Riddell reached base and both scored on Ed Orzel's double to the gap in left centre. Orzel crossed home on a Jim Shaw fly ball to make it 3-1.

Berwick recaptured the lead in the fifth scoring four runs and taking a 5-3 lead. Hal McBride reached on an infield error. Ed Gove and Jim Hume were retired and Jim Morrell looked to be out of the inning but Bill Mullin kept things going with a single (he hit three for three, scored a run and drove in another). Phil Wells drew a walk and then Ken McRae powdered a pitch to clean the bases and give Brownlee a 5-3 lead.

Williamsburg closed the gap to 5-4 scoring once in the seventh inning.

Barry Whitteker reached on an error to Ed Gove and scored on a Roger Morrell basehit to make it 5-4. Morrell then moved to second with the tying run on and Ed Riddell singled, but both were left right there when Mullin struck out Orzel to end the game.

Bill Mullin and Phil Wells formed the winning battery, allowing four runs on five hits and a walk. Mullin struck out three.

Jim Morrell and Ed Riddell took the loss on six hits, three walks, a hit batsman and four strikeouts.

Brad Mayhew fires 33 at men's night

BOUCKS HILL — Brad Mayhew fired a personal best two-under-par 33 here Thursday to win top honors in 'A' class at men's night. The sub-par round was good enough to claim a three-stroke victory over Dave Bird in gross scores. Barry Whitteker and Bob Harper had low net scores in 'A'.

Pacing 'B' flight was Barry Casselman, who toured the links in even par 35. Francis Barkley finished two strokes behind with a 37. Dave Levere and Pete DeRooy took home net prizes.

Al McCaslin's 41 gave him a one-shot victory over Al Thompson in 'C' while Mike Lewis and Claire McIntosh won low net honors.

In 'D' division play, Rick Mattice carded a 48 for a one-stroke advantage over Paul Simms. Brian Walker and Jim Cook were low net winners.

Todd Morin was closest to the pin on number eight and Bruce Casselman belted the evening's longest drive.

Wednesday, 30 ladies completed play on an inundated course with Janet Hillis recording ladies' night top score with a 50. Pat Reaney captured 'A' class, one shot behind Hillis.

Cyndie Summers stroked a 60 to claim top honors in 'C' while Joanne Hyndman battled the conditions to a 60 to win 'D'. Net winners were Lisa Schell and Thelma Cryderman respectively.

Special awards were presented to Elsie McIntosh for the hidden score and Shirley Carruthers for having the fewest number of putts.

Last Monday Bobby Vanasse shot a 44 to win boys' low gross at juniors' night, three strokes ahead of Derek Whitteker. Angie Reaney and sister Chrysie had the two low scores in the girls' class.

The holiday weekend lowered numbers at a mixed two-ball event held Sunday. Seventeen couples competed for prizes, well below the seasonal average of approximately 35. Debbie and Doug Blaine showed the way with a 45, two shots ahead of Pat and Merle Reaney. Debbie Holmes and Don Pilon teamed up for a 49 while Sandra and Doug Merkley completed the trip in 51. Arnold and Stella Haystead took home the evening's most honest couple award.

Other prizes went to Cyndie Summers and John Falsetto (low on one), Lorna Kilby and Bob Harper (high on three) and Elke and Pete Brown (hidden score).

Chips and Putts

The annual Cedar Glen Men's Open, co-sponsored by Labatt's Breweries, is slated for Labor Day, Sept. 1. In addition to the usual selection of prizes, Drewery Pontiac will be putting a new car up for grabs for anyone who can ace the tricky par three, thirteenth hole. Tee-off times for the limited number of entries can be obtained by contacting the Pro Shop at 535-2323.

The third annual Cedar Glen Ladies' Open will be held Sunday, Aug. 17. With growth in participation each of the first two years, tournament organizers are hoping to make the event even stronger this year by switching to a Sunday date. Information on registration is available from the Pro Shop.

The final round of the men's club championship will be Sunday, Aug. 10. Qualifiers should check with the Pro Shop to confirm start times. Al McNairn leads heading into the final round with a 67.

ShoneRoy slugs six homers

WINCHESTER — ShoneRoy Farms pounded out a 27-5 decision over St. Pierre's Fencers here last Wednesday night, sending six pitches out of the park enroute to their big victory.

Wednesday's other game, featuring Stage West and Country Club Cubs was postponed due to inclement weather.

In Thursday night's lone encounter Inkerman Vice put the heat on Top Valu-Hansma and nipped the construction firm 10-7. Despite sporting the league's second-best defencive record, the Top Valu squad continued to swing light bats and wound up watching their record drop to two, nine and one. They are currently tied in the 'B' Pool's basement with Stage West. Only four of the five 'B' Pool squads will qualify for their divisional semi-finals so the battle for the playoff spots will rage over the remaining three weeks of regular league competition.

Heading into tonight's slate (Wed. Aug. 6) ShoneRoy topped the standings with 23 points, B&D Blue Jays had 21, Morewood 19, CountryBoy 17, Inkerman Vice 15, St. Pierre's nine, Country Club six, Top Valu-Hansma and Stage West five each.

ShoneRoy got three homeruns from Blake Fawcett enroute to their 27-5 win over the Fencers in last Wednesday's lone contest. Pete Schoones, Darrell Shelp and Mike Holmes with an inside-the-park shot, all recorded homeruns. ShoneRoy led 3-1 after one inning, 6-1 after two and were comfortably in front 15-1 after three frames.

Blake Fawcett and Mark Levere led the winners with four runs each. Chuck Verhoven, Pete Schoones, Darrell Shelp and Dave Van Moorsel each added three runs to the attack. Doug Coleman, Frank Bols, Mike Holmes connected for a pair of runs apiece while Bill Skelly added one.

Lead-off man Dave Weatherall scored twice for the Fencers. Gerald Beuman, Keith Baker and Bill Steele each crossed the plate once.

Blake Fawcett started on the mound for ShoneRoy and pitched until the late innings when Bill Skelly came on to finish up.

VICE WINS 10-7

Top Valu-Hansma took a 4-0 first-inning lead on Inkerman Vice in Thursday's contest with Greg Marriner, Garth Hansma, Andy Laneville and Wayne Hunter all scoring. The second inning was scoreless but Kevin Guy made it home in the third to increase the T.V.-Hansma edge to 5-0.

The Vice Squad broke loose in the fourth scoring four times to come within a run (5-4) as Dale Simms, Dwayne Fawcett, Larry Simms and Bruce Angus all made it home.

Greg Erwin touched home in the bottom of the inning to make it 6-4 but the Vice came through with another four runs in the top of the fifth to go up 8-6. Mark Redmond, Dale Simms, Dwayne Fawcett and Bruce Angus put Inkerman up to stay. Larry Plummer's two-out opposite-field double drove in two runs.

Top of the seventh Dwayne Fawcett and Larry Simms increased the Vice lead to 10-6. Fawcett singled and Simms tripled him home and then scored on James Milne's sacrifice fly.

Hoot Hansma scored in the bottom of the seventh but T.V.-Hansma had a runner called out at the plate and stranded another as they dropped a 10-7 decision.

Col. Rob Saunders lobbed the win. Ken Wrightson suffered the loss.

Aqua Fun edges Darlings by two

WINCHESTER — An eight-run fourth inning got the Aqua Fun Pool people started as they went on to defeat Drewery Pontiac Darlings 14-12 in last Thursday's Winchester Ladies Fastball League encounter.

Drewery got off the mark quickly with Clair Erdman, Debbie Kerkoff, Wilma Melenhorst and Karen VanKessell handing them a 4-0 lead after a half inning.

Aqua Fun got three of those back in their half of the frame as Bev Shortt, Marion Carkner and Lori VanHoof came around to score and make it a 4-3 game.

The count remained 4-3 in Drewery's favor until the bottom of the fourth when the opposition exploded for eight runs and an 11-4 lead. Bev Shortt scored twice in that inning while Janice Casselman, Marion Carkner, Lori VanHoof, Cindy Kerkoff, Nancy Marriner and Linda Foster all made it home.

Aqua Fun battled back in the next inning scoring four runs to close the gap to 12-8. Cheryl Hutchinson, Charlene Homer and C. Mills all scored before Marlene Baird homered.

VanHoof, Kathy Vandemheen and Cindy Kerkoff came around in the bottom of the sixth making it a 14-10 contest after Wilma Melenhorst and Karen VanKessell had gotten Drewery to within a run 11-10 in the top of the inning.

Debbie Kerkoff and Wilma Melenhorst scored in the top of the seventh putting the Darlings to within striking distance at 14-12 but Marion Carkner pitched her way out of a jam getting the game-ending out with Cheryl Hutchinson, Charlene Homer and Heather Cooke all on base with the tying and go-ahead runs for Drewery.

Marion Carkner and Lori VanHoof formed the winning combination for Aqua Fun while Cheryl Hutchinson and Wilma Melenhorst formed the Drewery battery.

Sonics need win

WINCHESTER — A break in the Cornwall and District Soccer League's First Division schedule has the Winchester Sonics waiting until August 10 before they will see action.

The time off will give Sonics' coach Leo Streng time to get the injuries plaguing his lineup healed and afford him an opportunity of getting in a few workouts with the club as it prepares for its most important three games of its first Division One campaign.

Currently sporting a record of three wins, five losses and three ties for nine points, the Sonics, last year's undefeated Second Division champions, are in a dog fight for the fourth and last playoff berth.

Cornwall Rangers, 2-1 winners over Winchester on July 22, lead the circuit with seven wins, no losses and three ties and 17 points. Char-Lan I are next with 11 points, Hearts of Glengarry are third with 10 while St. Andrews Saints and Winchester are even in fourth with nine points each. Prescott County Selects and Cornwall YMO I had eight and six points respectively and are still in the running.

In their final three starts Winchester will have to face the Hearts of Glengarry on their own pitch in Alexandria on Sunday, August 10, host the tough St. Andrew's Saints at NDDHS on Tuesday August 12 at 6:30pm and finish up in Cornwall against YMO I on August 18.

It isn't an easy way to finish the year but coach Streng said earlier if he had the players (a full line) and they took the chances given them, the club would qualify for the playoffs.

Rowdies' defenceman Bruce Cowell tied up Sports Unlimited Red Wings' Ben Melenhorst on this play during last Tuesday's Winchester Men's Ball Hockey League contest. A pair of goals by Rowdies' Gord Milne sparked the Beaudry Equipment team to a 3-2 win. Semi-final playoffs got under way this week.

Boyd powers Fryer Truck to pennant

WINCHESTER — CountryBoy Pacers and Beaudry Equipment Rowdies closed out the regular Winchester Ball Hockey League season on positive notes here last Tuesday, posting one-goal victories.

CountryBoy edged the Fryer Truck Flyers 2-1 but the chip-wagon crew were still able to hold on to first place honors with a seven win, two loss, five tie record of 17 points. CountryBoy wound up with 16 points, Beaudry Rowdies with 14 and Sports Unlimited Red Wings with seven.

Playoffs, semi-final best of three series, got underway this week with the Flyers taking on the Red Wings and the Pacers battling the Rowdies.

Fryer Truck's sponsor Bourk Boyd led his team in scoring and held off a later surge by Country-Boy's Mike Sargent to win the 1986 WBHL's scoring title with five goals and 14 assists for 19 points. Sargent cashed in for 10 goals and six helpers for 16 points. Sargent, Red Wings' Dean McIntosh and F.T. Flyers' captain Mark Guy all came up with 10 goals to top that department.

The pennant-winning Flyers' Steve Watkins posted the top goals against average this year allowing 25 in 14 games.

Top goal-scoring unit belongs to the runner-up CountryBoy Pacers who banged in 44 goals in 14 games. The Flyers were number two in that column with 42.

CountryBoy and the F.T. Flyers battled through the first period of their final regular season contest without scoring a goal. The Pacers broke out on top in the second period when Pat Kelly stormed up floor with Mike Sargent and scored at 7:31.

The Flyers drew even (1-1) at the 3:27 mark of the final frame when Doug Fawcett knocked in a Dave Cross rebound tying the game up at a goal.

Mike Sargent's unassisted goal with just 2:05 left in the game proved to be the winner and came on a powerplay seven seconds after Flyers' Vince Cousineau had gone off for cross-checking.

Paul Bjergso posted the win while Steve Watkins absorbed the one-goal setback.

Flyers took five and the Pacers four minor penalties.

ROWDIES WIN BY ONE

Gord Milne popped in a pair of goals leading the Beaudry Rowdies to a 3-2 decision over the Sports Unlimited Red Wings in the nightcap.

Glen Mackie's slap shot from the slot beat Kenton Holmes and gave the Red Wings a 1-0 first period lead at 3:17. Mark Beisheim and Sandy Johnston picked up the assists.

Red Wings battled back and tied the score with 57 seconds left in the frame. Defenceman Dolton Henry's slapshot from the blue line ripped past Kevin Barkley and made it a 1-1 game. Trevor McClatchie drew the assist.

Red Wings went up 2-1 at 8:20 of the second frame when Dwayne Fawcett parked in the slot to Barkley's left and pounded a slapshot against the twine. Trevor McClatchie and Joey VanKoppen helped out on that play.

Gord Milne's first goal, a neat deflection between his own feet, and past Holmes, tied it at 2-2. Jim Thom set up that goal.

Milne got the winner, scoring from close in with 1:57 left in the game. Richard Leque and Kevin Gowdy picked up assists on a play disputed by the Wings who, argued Milne, had directed the ball into the net with his hand. The goal stood and the game went to the Rowdies by a 3-2 count.

Red Wings lost Dwayne Fawcett and the Rowdies' Bruce Cowell for the opening games of the playoffs for their parts in a third-period scuffle. Other than the fighting infraction, the Wings took two and the Rowdies one minor penalty.

Spencerville Fair set for Sept. 12-13

SPENCERVILLE — Organizers of the 131st annual Spencerville Fair have put together a packed program for fairgoers Sept. 12-13.

The fair opens Friday with the local 4-H show, featuring lambs, calves, horses and rabbits. The show begins at noon in the arena, and exhibits of all facets of 4-H club work and competition will also be on display.

A pet show with everything from grasshoppers and toads to pigs and chickens is set to begin at 10am in the arena. Entertainment for children by the Voltageurs, a variety acrobat group, opens at 11am immediately after the pet show and again at 6:30pm in front of the grandstand.

Also in the lineup for Friday are a pony show, beef show, quarter horse show and evening family show. The show, beginning at 8pm in the arena, features the music of the valley, and the Queen of the Fair will be chosen. Admission is $2.

A dance will be held with the Phoenix Band at the town hall beginning at 9pm.

Other highlights of the fair will be the midway, domestic science exhibits and a photography contest.

WINCHESTER PRESS

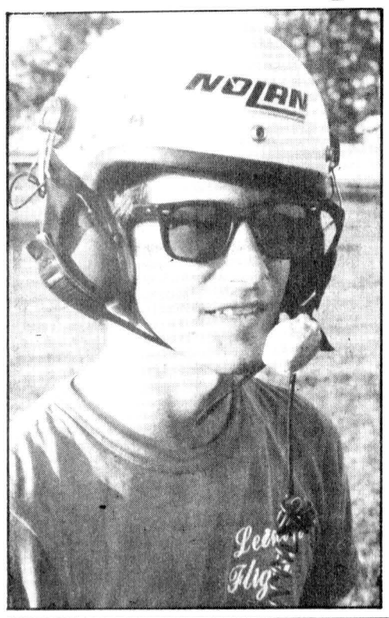
Toronto native Bruce Millar, a flying instructor for the past four years, says the Vernon area is an ideal location for a flying school. There are many small airfields in the area.

On a wing and a prayer

Press editor experiences thrill of ultralight flight



by Chris Must
Press Editor

VERNON — The 50-horsepower snowmobile engine roars just a few inches behind my head. "I'm just letting it warm up," explains Bruce Millar, his voice faintly metallic in my earphones.

There's nothing between me and the grass runway except a leather seat and the rather flimsy-looking frame of the ultralight aircraft. The thought is a little disconcerting, but it doesn't last long.

With a sudden jolt the ultralight is rolling down the runway. After a surprisingly short distance we reach airspeed (actually only 30 miles per hour) and the ground drops away. In a very few moments the barns and cornfields are spread out below us like a model railway layout and we're floating along at a sedate city-driving speed, 1,000 feet above the ground.

The experience is one flying-instructor Bruce Millar hopes to share with as many students as possible in the months ahead. The 25-year-old Toronto native moved to the Vernon area a little over two months ago, and has been operating a free ground school for would-be ultralight pilots over the past two weekends.

Millar explains that ultralights are descendents of the hang glider, which have become increasingly sophisticated since the first models were introduced about 10 years ago. Since then, says Millar, their popularity has "grown like crazy."

Although ultralights attracted some bad publicity in years past about their safety, Millar feels accidents can be avoided with plenty of proper instruction. "If you buy a reputable airplane from a reputable company and get good training, you should enjoy many years of happy flying," he says. Millar himself has flown over 500 hours in ultralights and has never had an accident.

With a total of eight years' background in flying, Millar has been a flying instructor for the past four years, formerly at the Northern Microlights school in Toronto. A visit to the Ottawa area three years ago when the industry was "really booming" convinced him of the area's potential as a site for a future ultralight training school. "The conditions for flying are ideal up here," he says. "There's lots of flat land." He has set up his school just south of Vernon on the Belmeade Road.

Dream come true

Millar, who says he has wanted to fly since he was 10 years old, started his training in conventional aircraft but found that the quality of instruction offered wasn't what he wanted. Tired of spending about $60 an hour for lessons and not getting the service he expected, he decided one day early in 1983 to look into ultralights. "All my questions were answered right away," he recalls. "It was a much friendlier atmosphere."

Millar says the aircraft themselves are well suited for leisure flying at small airfields. The take-off and landing distance for ultralights is usually less than 500 feet, and many ultralight owners keep their aircraft on farms.

In order to be classed as an ultralight, the aircraft must conform to certain weight specifications. A single-seater weighs approximately 275 pounds, while a two-seater averages around 375 pounds. Although the power of the engine varies with the design, most ultralights use snowmobile engines ranging from 30 to 50 horsepower. "They're a reliable, light-weight source of power," says Millar. The engines run on regular gasoline mixed with oil, and the aircraft usually carries five gallons of fuel, which can keep it flying for between two and two-and-a-half hours.

Although Transport Canada requires a minimum of five hours flying time for a licenced ultralight pilot, Millar personally believes that isn't enough. "I won't let anyone go away by themselves unless they have 10 hours minimum," he says.

Students taking Millar's ground school course can expect to undergo 20 to 25 hours of theoretical instruction before taking to the air. Ground school lessons begin by discussing weather and wind. Winds of less than 10 miles per hour are best for ultralight flying, and the best times for a flight are early morning or late evening. Ground school also covers the theory of flight, aircraft performances, flying rules and regulations, medical and emotional factors, maintenance, and how aircraft structures are made.

Know your limits

Perhaps the most important skill is airmanship, which Millar defines as "common sense and how to use it in the air." The rule Millar's flying school, Leisure Flight, will be operating under is "know your limits and stay within them."

Becoming a pilot, Millar explains, is a continual learning process. The more experience a pilot gains, the broader his limits become.

Millar has only one two-seater ultralight at his school so far, but hopes to add more aircraft as the number of students increases. About five students took part in free ground school lessons in the past two weekends. The aircraft the students will be learning on is a single-engine ultralight built by the California-based Eipper Aircraft company, one of the largest manufacturers of ultralights.

Many ultralights come in kit form and can be assembled by the buyer. Flying student Murdoch Adamson of Kemptville, who was practicing his take-offs and landings at the Leisure Flight airfield Sunday evening, built his own ultralight from a kit last summer. The aircraft is a Canadian-designed and manufactured Lazair, the first aircraft to be designed specifically as an ultralight. The Port Colborne-based company introduced the twin-engine design in 1977.

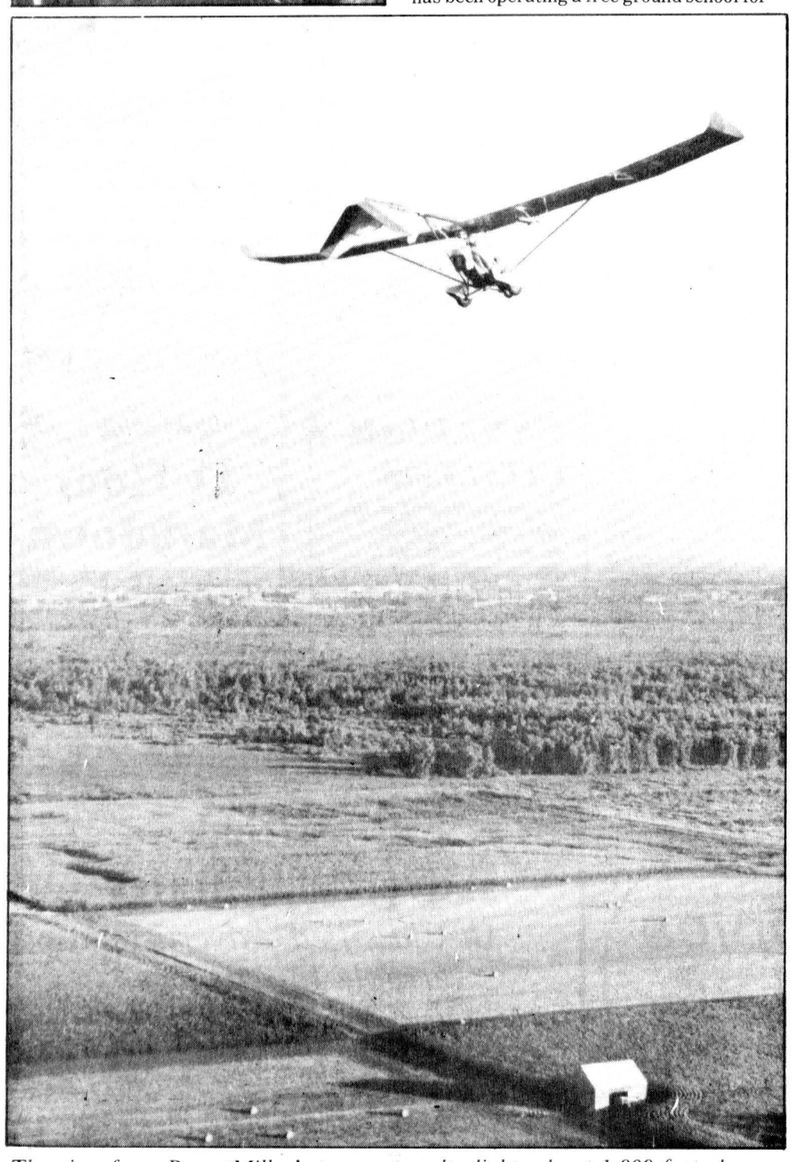
The earliest ultralights closely resembled the hang gliders on which their design was based. But as the aircraft become increasingly sophisticated, the newest models look like more conventional aircraft with enclosed cockpits, such as the Cessna. Regardless of the ultralight's outward appearance, one of their main attractions for the student remains the lower-cost of learning to fly. The ultralight flying licence is still cheaper to obtain than a licence for conventional aircraft.

The cost of actually buying an ultralight can vary widely, with a price range from about $2,500 to more than $18,000.

For Millar himself, the love of flying keeps him coming back, and he claims he gets depressed whenever bad weather keeps him on the ground.

"I'm eager to go all the time," he says. "I can't get enough of it."

Student Murdoch Adamson of Kemptville made this Canadian-designed Lazair ultralight from a kit last summer. This summer's project is learning to fly the twin-engined aircraft, which means plenty of practice in take-offs and landings.



The view from Bruce Millar's two-seater ultralight, about 1,000 feet above Vernon airport, conveys the feeling of open-air flight. Above, Millar dons the flying helmet required by law for ultralight flying. The helmet incorporates ear protection and a microphone.

The ultralight Bruce Millar uses for instruction purposes is a two-seater "Quicksilver" manufactured by Eipper, a large California-based firm. A two-seater ultralight normally weighs about 373 pounds.

In Memoriam

HOY — In loving memory of a dear mother, mother-in-law and grandmother, Mary, who passed away Aug. 9, 1985.
Beautiful memories are wonderful things,
They last through the longest day,
They never wear out,
They never get lost,
And can never be given away.
To some you may be forgotten,
To others a part of the past,
But to us who loved you and lost you,
Your memory will always last.
—Always remembered by daughter Marion, Keith and Larry 17

HOY — In loving memory of a dear wife, Mary, who passed away Aug. 9, 1985.
The dearest wife, the kindest friend,
One of the best who God could lend,
Loving, thoughtful, gentle and true,
Always willing a kind act to do.
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days,
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories she left behind.
—Loved always, Wilson 17

HOY — In loving memory of a dear mother, mother-in-law, grandmother and great grandmother, Mary, who passed away Aug. 9, 1985.
When family ties are broken,
And loved ones have to part,
It leaves a wound that never heals,
And also a broken heart.
A smile for all, a heart of gold,
One of the best the world could hold,
Never selfish, always kind,
These are the memories she left behind.
—Sadly missed by her daughter Jessie, Eric and family 17

HOY — In loving memory of a dear mother, grandmother and great grandmother, Mary, who passed away Aug. 9, 1985.
Dearer to us than words can tell,
Was the one that we lost,
Whom we loved so well.
Wherever we go, whatever we do,
Always mother we are thinking of you,
Watch over us from up above,
Protect us here below,
Guide us always on the paths,
That you would have us go,
Take our hands when days are dark,
Comfort us when we cry,
Walk beside us every day,
Until the day we die.
—Remembered by daughter Sally and Family 17

Osgoode parents assisting French program

METCALFE — A newly-formed parents' association plans to hold its first fund-raising event Sat., Aug. 16 to benefit Osgoode Township's new French immersion school.

A garage sale will be held from 9am to 2pm beside the Cold Spring Country Inn on Highway 31 to help raise funds to provide playground equipment for the school, which will open Nov. 1.

Organizer Helen Parker said about 30 people attended the first general meeting of the parents' group on July 21 at the Township of Osgoode Care Centre building. Now an informal group, the association will be officially established when the school opens in the fall.

Over 100 children are enrolled at the new school so far, and the numbers are "rising daily," Parker said. French Immersion students in the township currently attend classes at Kars Public School in Rideau Township.

According to Parker, parents of students who will be enrolled in the new Osgoode immersion centre decided to form a separate association because the new school will have different needs from the already-established Kars Public School. The two parents' groups will co-operate for future events such as school trips, but will be conducting separate fundraising activities at present.

Parker said the Carleton Board of Education, which gave the school final approval this spring, recommended the parents' group raise funds for playground equipment as a first project. The equipment, a central play structure which will include a climbing frame, slide, swings and monkey bars, will cost an estimated $15,000.

Because schools are allowed to conduct only two fundraising events per year, Parker said the parents' group decided to squeeze in an extra event before the school opens in November.

Although organizers found that many people were away for vacations, Parker said the response to the garage sale plan has been good, and "an impressive amount of stuff" has so far been collected. In addition to items donated by township residents, the garage sale will feature eight concession tables for people selling items of their own, including an antique dealer and garden furniture-maker. There will also be face-painting for children on the day of the sale.

Parker said between 30 and 40 parents are helping to organize the sale. In case of rain, the event will be held the following Saturday, Aug. 23.

Solicitor-General touring EO correctional facilities

EMBRUN — Area jails and OPP detachments are preparing for inspection this week as the provincial Solicitor-General and deputy minister of correctional services tour Cornwall and Prescott-Russell Thursday and Friday.

Solicitor-General and minister of correctional services Ken Keyes and deputy-minister Robert McDonald were invited to visit area OPP detachments and probation and parole offices by Prescott-Russell MPP Jean Poirier.

Keyes and McDonald will visit Cornwall Jail Thursday, and will arrive at Casselman at 7pm for a dinner and meeting with the Prescott-Russell Liberal Association.

Friday's schedule includes a tour of the Embrun probation and parole office, and visits to OPP detachments in Casselman, Hawkesbury, and Rockland. Probation and parole offices in L'Orignal and Plantagenet will also be visited, along with the L'Orignal Jail.

4-H Fun Day August 10

by Nancy Zandbelt

METCALFE — July 14, the Metcalfe 4-H club joined for a brief meeting. It took place at Janet Carss' home and the topic was how to judge horses.

The club met at Mary Jackson's for the next meeting July 16. The leaders helped the members with their books, and made preparations for Demonstration Night.

Mini judging night took place at the Ottawa Experimental Farm on July 22. This meeting was to prepare the club for the Judging competition to be held on July 30.

The Ottawa-Carleton 4-H Judging Competition was held on July 30 at Richmond Fairgrounds. The results will be known at a later date. The 4-H co-ordinator, John Beardsley, was in charge of the evening.

Carleton County 4-H Demonstration-Fun Day is to be held on Aug. 10 in Richmond.

Christina M. Erratt

Christina Margaret Erratt, a resident of Williamsburg for 26 years, died Sat., July 26 at Winchester District Memorial Hospital after a brief illness. She was 98.

Interment was at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Margje Behan

A memorial service will be held Sat., Aug. 2 for Margje Behan, a resident of Chesterville for 10 years. Mrs. Behan, formerly of Prescott, died Thurs., July 24 at Winchester District Memorial Hospital after a lengthy illness. She was 76.

Mrs. Behan was born Oct. 21, 1909 in S'Gravenhage, Holland, a daughter of Goosse Oskam and Wilhelmina Zonneveld. She married James P. Behan, who survives, on Jan. 9, 1959 in Ottawa.

Mrs. Behan is also survived by daughter Maria Secord of Ottawa and grandchildren Sherry and Susan Secord. She is also survived by sister Louise Besier of Victoria, B.C. and several nieces and nephews.

A memorial service will be held Sat., Aug. 2 at 10am in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Chesterville, with Fr. John Appelman officiating.

At Mrs. Behan's request, her body was donated to Queen's University Medical Centre, Kingston.

Everline Bilow

Everline Bilow, a resident of Crysler for the past seven years, died Tues., July 29 at Winchester District Memorial Hospital. She was 63.

Mrs. Bilow was born March 30, 1923 in Mountain Township, a daughter of Howard S. Billings and Henrietta Fairfirth.

Mrs. Bilow was predeceased by her husband, Gerald Bilow. She is survived by daughter Barbara (Mrs. James Wicks) of Winchester and brother Henry Billings of Hallville.

Mrs. Bilow was also predeceased by brothers Milton, George and Gordon and sister Eva McCoy.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. E. Royle at J.R. Vice Funeral Home in Winchester at 11am Thurs., July 31.

Pallbearers were Gerald Wicks, Fred Wicks, Wesley Durant, Keith Marquette, Bob Brown and Fred Billings.

Interment was at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Crop projects focus of tour next Monday

CHESTERVILLE — Field crop projects in the area will be the focus of a car tour organized by the Dundas County Soil and Crop Improvement Association, Mon., Aug. 11.

The first stop on the tour, at 11am, will be the farm of Frank Schoones of Chesterville. The point of interest will be leaf-cutter bees on an alfalfa seed plot.

Next stop on the tour will be the farm of Stan Vanden Bosch, Chesterville. Lunch is scheduled for 12:30pm at the Agronomy Building on Baker Road at Kemptville.

A wagon tour of the 50-acre research area at KCAT follows lunch, with a chance to see the new fully-automated weather station. The tour concludes at 2pm.

Tour guides will be Gilles Quesnel and Howard Giles.

ONTARIO GOVERNMENT AUCTION

AUCTION SALE - LAND
PROPERTY SALE FILE K-05083

The Ministry of Transportation and Communication is offering for sale by public auction approximately 2.104 ha of vacant land (5.19 acres) in Lot 3, Concession 5, Township of Winchester. The property is located between Old Highway 31 and County Road 38 and the north side of Highways 31 and 43, immediately south of the Village of Winchester.

The property is shown on survey plan 8R-29, as Part 1.

Sale will take place on the premises at 1:30pm, local time

Wednesday, August 20, 1986

TERMS

Sale is subject to a reserve bid.

$1,000.00 deposit on the day of sale (cash or certified cheque), made payable to the Treasurer of Ontario, balance payable in 90 days. Any extension granted on the unpaid balance will be subject to a payment of interest to be set at the time the extension is granted.

This property is subject to the first chance of repurchase by the former owner, based on the terms of the highest offer received which matches or exceeds the reserve bid.

The purchaser will be required to sign an agreement stating that he or she is not employed by the Government of Ontario, and that no employee or spouse of an employee of the Government of Ontario has any interest in this purchase.

It shall be the responsibility of the bidder to investigate the zoning, easements, Municipal Bylaws, drains, access, and other regulations or directions that affect the use of the land.

Further information relating to the terms and conditions will be announced prior to the sale.
