"Roughing It In Sunny Alberta"

A very interesting lecture with the above title will be given next Wednesday evening, May 24th, by Rev. W. D. Reid of Montreal, in the Prestbyterian Hall, Morewood, under the auspices of the Sunday school of the Church. Admission 25c and 15c.

Irish Rangers Recruiting Here.

Lieut. Clem McCloskey of the Irish-Canadian Rangers of Montreal, is picking up a few recruits for that battalion in this district. Authorization has just been received by the Rangers allowing them to come into this district looking for men, and is the second Montreal battalion to do so. The other was the Grenadier Guards, 87th Battalion, now in England. Several have already signified their intention of signing up with the Irishmen but it is hardly likely that this section can produce a third platoon.

Very Heavy Downpour

The woes of the farmers over the late seeding in this section were materially added to Tuesday afternoon by a downpour of rain the like of which has not been seen here in many years, in fact many people say they never saw the like of it. So great was the deluge that eave-troughs and drains would not carry it away quickly enough and many cellars and basements were flooded. From reports the storm did not cover a very great area as about three or four miles south and east of Chesterville it was not unusual. It was accompanied by considerable thunder and lighting but we have not heard of any damage from that source. The rain continued during Tuesday night and practically all day yesterday.

Protect The Bees.

Every year there is some complaint from Bee Keepers to the effect that they have sustained considerable loss through men spraying apple trees when in blossom. They have just reason for complaint as spraying at that time is poisonous to bees the same as other insects and would cause serious losses to the bee keeper. There is a law against spraying trees in full blossom and in addition to this if it was known how destructive it was to the fruit crop, there would be no spraying done at that time. Blossoms have to be fertilized and if the pollen is knocked off by spraying when in full bloom, the fruit crop will be reduced. Bees and other insects help very materially in fertilizing the blossoms by carrying pollen from one bud to another. Let it be everybodys aim to protect the bees this season when every dollar of revenue counts for the strength of the Empire.

Birthday Party at Morewood

Little Miss Dorothy Gordon entertained a large number of friends on Saturday afternoon, the occasion being her eighth birthday. Besides her little girl friends some of the larger girls of the high school were invited to assist in entertaining the smaller girls, also her Sunday School teacher, Mrs. Dodds, and her public school teacher, Mrs. Ault, were present. She received a large number of very beautiful presents, showing her popularity among the girls. Outside of the invited guests gifts were received from Mrs. Gillespie, Morewood; Mrs. Prosser and Elgin Prosser of Kemptville; Mrs. R. I. Barkley, Dunbar; Mr. and Mrs. Rodney, Melvins; Mrs. Allan Steven, Morewood; Mrs. R. McVey, Marvelville. After spending a pleasant afternoon playing games &c., all assembled in the dining room where Mrs. Gordon had prepared a very dainty tea. After tea all returned to their homes after wishing Dorothy many happy returns of her birthday.

Some Other Mother's Boy

(Joseph Brown Cooke, in the New York Herald)

Some OTHER mother's boy can be a soldier,
Not MY own 'little tootsy-wootsy pet!
Don't talk to me of what I owe my country;
Some OTHER mother's boy will pay the debt.
It isn't fair to ask so much of MY boy
When OTHER mother's boys have blood to shed;
MY boy is too polite.
He really couldn't fight;
Some OTHER mother's boy can be a soldier!

Our country isn't in a bit of danger;
The OTHER boys will keep the foe at bay;
MY precious boy could never shoot a stranger;
I didn't bring my darling up that way.
Some OTHER mother's boy can fight for MY boy.
For fighting isn't neighborly or nice;
We are not so idiotic;
Only fools are patriotic—
With a million OTHER boys to be the soldiers!

MY boy has got a gentle little sister;
Some OTHER mother's boy will be her knight!
Some OTHER mother's boy will guard her safely:
Some OTHER mother's boy will make the fight.
For her some OTHER boy will writhe in torment;
For her some OTHER boy will taste of Hell,
What if we both neglect her?
Some OTHER will protect her!
Some OTHER mother's boy will be a soldier!

Chesterville High School

Owing to the fact that the number of farm laborers in Ontario has been seriously affected by enlistment, the Education Department made provision for boys from the schools to work on the farms without losing their academic standing. In accordance with this provision a number of boys of Chesterville High School have made application for their certificates. Certificates of having passed the Lower School examination for entrance to the Normal Schools will accordingly be granted by the Department to the following boys upon completion of three months work on farms:

Wilfrid Clement, Howard Hummel, Arnold Kyle, Ambrose McMahon.

The principal's recommendation for these boys have been accepted by the Department.

Archbishop Hamilton officiated at both services last Sunday in the church of the Good Shepherd, Cornwall, and at the morning service was assisted by the rector, Rev. R. H. Archer, who was able to attend service for the first time for fifteen weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Archer have left for a trip to New York hoping to return in a few weeks.

According to the Wall Street Journal, a single gallon of gasoline will do wonders almost anywhere, but nowhere has it been applied to better purposes than on the farm. It will milk 300 cows, bale four tons of hay, mix thirty-five cubic yards of cement, move a ton truck fourteen miles, plough three-fifths of an acre of land or generate sufficient electricity to illuminate the farm house for thirty hours.

Henry's Shorthand School
Ottawa, Ont.

On the May Civil Service Examination, this year, we passed more stenographic candidates than the other local business colleges combined.

It is a common occurrence for Henry-trained students to get 100% in Shorthand 100% in Typewriting, and 95% in Composition.

These subjects being the most difficult on this examination, our record of FIRST, SECOND and FOURTH places for the whole of Canada, is at once explained.

During the past two years, more than 235 students have come to us from other local business colleges.

Does it not prove that we have a superior school ?

Our instruction being individual, you may start at any time.

His wife is at present in England. Capt. Fisher was a member of the Brockville foot-ball team which won the champion ship of the old Quebec Union in 1900.

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.

In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. Free from harmful drugs.

STORM WILL EFFECT WHOLE CONTINENT

Washington; D. C., May 13.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent May 13 to 17; warm wave 12 to 14; cool wave 15 to 19. Temperatures of that period are expected to average below normal. Rainfall will be above normal as an average, in the States east of the Rockies near the south of latitude 40. Very low temperatures and frosts are expected farther south than usual during the five days centering on May 15. Storm forces will be greater than usual or average. West of Great Lakes the storms will be severe during the week centering on May 15.

The storms continue their circuits around the North Magnetic pole which is located near 70 north and 93 west of Greenwich, or 2 degrees west and 68 north of St. Louis. The storm or low barometer causes nearly all our weather changes. Next warm wave will come south along Alaskan coast, reaching Vancouver near May 18; turn eastward, cross Pacific slope and Rocky ridge by close of 19; planes sections 20, Great Lakes and Ohio Valleys 22; eastern sections 28; mouth of St. Lawrence river 24.

Storm wave will reach Vancouver and affect the whole Pacific slope about May 19, cross Pacific slope and Rocky ridge by close of 20, plains sections 21; Great Lakes and Ohio Valleys 23; eastern sections 24; mouth of St. Lawrence 25.

Cool wave will cross Vancouver about May 20; cross Pacific slope and rocky ridge by close of 21; plains sections 22; Great Lakes and Ohio Valleys 24; eastern sections 25; mouth of St. Lawrence 26.

These storms are 1,000 to 2,000 miles in diameter and our efforts are to locate their central parts. This storm will affect the whole continent and reach into the Mexican Gulf.

Another storm will cross continent May 24 to 28; warm wave 23 to 27; cool wave 26 to 30. Unusually cool weather and general, though not heavy, rains will accompany it. More about it in next bulletin.

Cropweather May 13 to 28 will be generally good. More than usual rain. Danger of frosts going farther south than usual during last week of May. Storms will be of greater than usual force but not very dangerous. High temperature wave will cross continent during five days centering on May 21.

We are expecting disastrous storms in July and very severe storms in June. These great storms are expected to include destructive hail storms and farmers should insure against hail. It is not necessary to insure for the whole season. We believe we can approximate the danger periods close enough to save considerable expense to the farmers. As we see it this is one of the great hail storm years. These hail storms are close kin to tornadoes and thunder storms.

Germany Must Ask Peace of Allies.

Nancy, May 14.—President Poincare, in address here today, responded to Germany's declaration regarding peace contained in the German reply to the American note.

"France does not want Germany to tender peace." said the President, "but wants her adversary to ask for peace."

The President then made known clearly the only kind of peace which would be acceptable to France. The address was delivered at the Molitor Garrison before a large number of Lorraine refugees, to whom the President, after expressing his sympathies and renewing promises of solicitude and protection said:

"France will not expose her sons to the dangers of new aggressions. The Central Empires, haunted by remorse for having brought on the war, and terrified by the indignation and hatred they have stirred up in mankind, are trying today to make the world believe that the Allies alone are responsible for the prolongation of hostilities—a dull irony which will deceive no one. Neither directly or indirectly have our enemies offered us peace. But we do not want them to offer it to us; we want them to ask it of us. We do not want to submit to their conditions; we want to impose ours on them. We do not want a peace which would leave Imperial Germany with the power to recommence the war and keep France eternally menaced. We want peace which receives from restored rights serious guarantees of equilibrium and stability. So long as that peace is not assured to us, so long as our enemies will not recognize themselves as vanquished, we will not cease to fight."

President Poincaire told the refugees that they were only a small number of the victims of the invasion. These were distributed in all parts of the country and there was not a department that was not sheltering thousands. Everywhere they were waiting with calm confidence for the hour of deliverance.

CHILDRENS POTATO WAR PLOT

In the spring of 1915 the Ontario Department of Agriculture offered to supply children taking part in the Rural School Fair with sufficient potatoes to plant a plot 1x2 rods if they would agree to dispose of the crop and contribute the money to some patriotic cause. Applications were received through the District Representative and the children showed great interest in the work, so much that the prospects in the early part of the season were that between ten and fifteen bushels of potatoes would be produced. Unfortunately, however, the season proved to be very unfavourable for the potato crop and greatly reduced the yields. In many cases the potatoes suffered so severely from rot that they were not worth digging. However, thirty-four counties taking part in the work reported sales from over 2500 children's plots and the Department has received up to date $1843-18.

In order to create special interest in this work the children's Potato War Plots were inspected and prizes given for the best kept plots. A medal was also given to the boy or girl in each County producing the greatest yield of marketable potatoes from his or her plot.

Before deciding upon the disposition of the money received from the children the officers of the Canadian Red Cross Society were consulted with the result that a McLaughlin Motor Ambulance was purchased and formally presented to the Red Cross by the Hon. Jas. S. Duff. The letter of presentation from the Minister of Agriculture follows:—

Toronto, April 19, 1916,

Col. Noel Marshell.
Chairman, Executive Committee,
The Canadian Red Cross Society
Toronto.

Dear Sir:—

I have great pleasure in presenting to you herewith for the purposes of the Red Cross organization of this Province a motor ambulance. This ambulance is purchased with the proceeds from the sale of potatoes grown during the season of 1915 by 2500 school children in all sections of the Province, organized through the Rural School Fair work carried on by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. I am therefore acting on behalf of these children in presenting the ambulance to you to-day and in voicing their sentiments that it may be used to relieve the suffering occasioned by this war, and thereby contribute to the ultimate victory to which we all look forward with confidence. Further, may I add that it this case it is in a special sense more blessed to give than to receive, because I feel that the work which has been done by these young boys and girls and the knowledge that they have thereby had a part in this great war will have a very beneficial influence on their citizenship in later years.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) Jas. S. Duff,
Minister of Agriculture.

The ambulauce which has been shipped from Montreal bore the following inscription on the plate:—"The children of the Rural School Fairs in Ontario, Canada, organized by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, donate this car from proceeds secured from sale of potatoes grown by them for this purpose, 1915."

The following is a statement of receipts and expenditures in connection with this fund, and it will be noticed that Dundas and West Stormont, gave the second largest contribution in Ontario.

County	No. Contributing	Amount
Brant	18	$15 00
Bruce	229	164 75

From B. C. To Enlist With 154th Battalion

Cornwall, May 13.—Mr. W. Urquhart MacPherson, son of Mr. Wm. MacPherson of Vancouver, B. C., formerly of Williamstown, Ont., has arrived in Cornwall to enlist with the 154th Overseas Battalion. Mr. MacPherson was in training with a British Columbia battalion at Victoria, but wished to go with the friends of his boyhood days in Glengarry, and his father succeeded in obtaining his transfer to the local 154th.

On Sunday morning Rev. Dr. Harkness, pastor of Knox Church, announced to his congregation that one of their young men, James I. MacKay, B. A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacKay, had completed his studies in arts and theology for the gospel ministry and had been licensed to preach by the Presbytery of Kingston. Knox Church now has one of its members engaged in missionary work in Shantung Province, China, Mr. Harold W. Harkness B. Sc., B. A., a son of the pastor of Knox Church, besides Mr. McKay in the ministry of the church in the home land. Dr. Harkness also announced that on the recent election of four elders for the congregation, that Messrs. Levi Alguire, James Gardner, P. E. Campbell and Alex. McCracken had been chosen by the members for elevation to the Session of the church.

Lieut.-Col, H. S. Greenwood, whose death is announced from London, Eng., was a former resident of Cornwall. He was a civil engineer by profession. He served in the Imperial army and was in South Africa serving with the first regiment of Mounted Rifles during the Boer war. Afterwards he held an important position under Sir Percy Girouard in connection with the Government railways in South Africa. With the outbreak of the present war he was engaged in the War Office in London. For several years he was on the engineering staff of the Cornwall Canal during the progress of the enlargement, commenced in 1889.

Summer Homes at Brockville Are Attacked By Fire

Brockville, May 13.—A colony of summer homes on the west shore of Charleston lake, in Leeds county, narrowly escaped being wiped out by a fire which started on the premises of Israel Slack, and spread rapidly owing to the prevailing heavy gale. The heroic work of residents of the district, who fought the flames all night, saved the buildings, except Slack's residence.

Mrs. Patrick Gormley, Morrisburg

(Morrisburg Leader)

This week we are called upon to chronicle the death of one of Morrisburg's old and highly respected citizens in the person of Mrs. Patrick Gormley, who passed away at her home on Monday morning, May 8th., at the age of 77 years after an illness of several months duration.

The deceased, who was a daughter of the late Cornelius Flinn, was born in Syracuse, N. Y., and moved with her parents to Waddington, N. Y., where she resided at the time of her marriage to the late Patrick Gormley P. M. She was a lady of excellent qualities, kind and generous, a loving mother and a true friend, and her journey through life was a path marked with kindness and cheer.

She leaves a sister, Miss Flinn, a daughter, Mrs. Wm. McGannor, and five sons: William of Butte, Montana, Frank, San Diego, Cal, George Santon, B. C. Vincent of Nelson, B. C., and John at home.

The funeral took place Wednesday a. m., to St. Mary's Church and cemetery, Rev. Father Meehan conducted the services. The pall bearers were: Wm. Houlhan, Craig Brandstetter, S. P. Ryan, A. F. Merkley, C. J, Weegar, and Alfred Clement.

Among the friends and relatives from a distance present at the funeral to pay their last respects were four nephews, Thos. Gormley. Alexandria; Sandy Gormley, Ottawa, Donald Gormley, Russell, and Dr. Joe Gormley, Crysler; Mrs. Donald Gormley, Mrs. Carney of Waddington, N. Y., and Mrs. J. T. Barry of Prescott.

Many floral tributes and spiritual offerings were received from old home friends as well as from Montreal, Cornwall, Ogdensburg and Ottawa.

Women Should Buy Shoes More Carefully Than Clothes

A suit or a dress or a skirt that doesn't fit won't bother a woman a great deal—she may be irritated by it but she wont be harmed.

Do you know that there are 72 different sizes in women's shoes and that just one of these will fit your foot like your foot print.
I probably have the correct shoe for your foot.

Sovereign Brand Boys' Clothes

I have opened up a shipment of boys' clothes this week that will stand your closest inspection. There are really only two main points to boys' clothes—appearance and wear— and the greater of these is wear— to the man who pays the bills.
Bring in your young man and see how he will look in one of these celebrated "Sovereign" suits, because they will wear and wear, and wear.

THE FUTURE OF CHEESE

It has been a common saying in the cheese trade that two consecutive seasons seldom turn out alike: but there certainiy is a similarity of prices at the commencement of the present season, with that of last year, when prices started high and advanced to 18 1-2c to 19c and 19 1-4c by the 21st of May. This year 19c has already been paid at Belleville, equal to 19 1-4c here for finest Western cheese. Last year as the make of cheese increased prices of finest Wes e n steadily declined, from 19 1-4c during the latter part of May, to 12 1-2c and 12 3-4c on or about August 15th. This season if the weather is favorable the prospects are that the make in Canada will be larger than that of 1915. But now comes the question that interests the trade, namely, will values follow the same course as production increases, as they did last year. Opinions are divided on the subject, some claiming that owing to the prospective short make in England, the low prices which ruled last year will not be seen during the coming season. They also maintain that the scarcity of ocean freight will prevent New Zealand from being as great a competitor as she has been. On the other hand it should not be forgotten that the United States having entered the export trade induced by high prices will in all probability have a larger surplus this season, which together with the expected increased made in Canada should have a bearish effect on prices. Of course, England is bare of cheese just now, as she was a year ago about this time. The writer was asked on "Change a few days since by a well known cheese dealer, if he was sure that prices would not go to 25c during the present season. The only answer to be given to this, was that although one could not say that such an unprecedeutly high price was an impossibility, it may safely be said, it is highly improbable that 25c per pound will be paid for cheese this season.

The following prices ruled at the last boards:—

Brockville— 19c to 19½c.
Kingston—19 7-16c.
Alexandria—19 4-16c.
Madoc—19⅛c.
Woodstock—18⅝c.
Napanee—19 9-16c.
Iroquois—19⅝c.
Perth—19⅝c.

Returning the Compliment.

(Toronto Globe)

A troubled subscriber to The Globe sends some verses to a contemporary. In one of them he says:

"I talk of 'Ayrshire cows' and 'silos' now,
'Performance tests' and 'average butter yield,'
Though I'd not know a silo from a cow,
If both were feeding in the self-same field.
(I wonder would The Globe?)

The silo is far more wonderful than any cow. It requires to be fed only once a year, and for that reason has become a prime favorite in agricultural circles. In feeding the silo soft, green stuff is the suitable. It would be well for The Globe's troubled subscriber to keep away from the silo when it is hungry.

Great Shortage of Live Stock.

The farmers of Ontario cannot take too seriously the recent public statement of Dominion Live Stock Commissioner Bright: that there is a great shortage of heavy horses in Canada, owing to the purchase of a large number for war purposes. Only heavy horses can be of any service in the movement of heavy guns, and this is pre-eminently a war of heavy artillery. Mr. Bright said over sixty thousand suitable horses have been exported from Canada since the war started. The moral of this intimation is emphasized for the Ontario farmer by the additional information that six thousand eastern mares have been purchased by western farmers for breeding purposes. This makes the outlook for Ontario somewhat gloomy so far as the heavy horse industry is concerned.

Passing over the Commissioner's disturbing assertions about the shortage of sheep and hogs, because animals of either sort may be made fit for market in one year, the warning about a shortage of cattle is just as ominous as the one about the exportation of horses. It requires from two to three years to mature either a beef or a dairy animal, so that there can be no hurried filling up of the void created in Canada's collective herds of either horses or cattle. The dairy interest is very injuriously affected by the slaughtering of heifers for beef, and still more so by the slaughter of calves only fortnight old.

In this connection it is worth while to remind beef producers that there are enormous areas of "waste" lands in Northern Ontario which might very profitably be devoted to cattle-ranching purposes with a minimum of capital action and also of expenditure of labor. The market for two-year-old beef steers or heifers is surely perpetual and fairly steady. These animals may be sent either to the western stock yards or to the eastern beef markets. But for the crassness of English farmers they might be sent alive across the Atlantic to be fed on English farms. Perhaps the war may bring about a change in this respect, but in any event there remains always the local home market in addition to the other two.

Barriefield Plans in Uncertain State.

Kingston, May 13.—Military circles here are topsy turvey owing to the uncertainty of Barriefield being a large training camp this summer.

Everything was being done on the heights to receive over 10,000 troops, the engineering corps having been working for some time past on the grounds. The sudden change of policy by the militia department is causing a great deal of dissatisfaction among officers of this military district, many of whom had made all arrangements for their families to come here to live during the next few months.

Now nobody seems to know just what battalions are to train here.

Starving Children Found in Cupboard Where They Were Hid.

Fort William, May 15.—Arthur Hayward and Edith Wilson, young children who have been missing since Thursday afternoon, were found locked in a cupboard of an unoccupied house on 177 Frederica street, at five o'clock Saturday afternoon. The little girl was barely alive when found, but she will recover. The boy was also in a famished condition but is recovering.

They were found by a painter when he entered the house to do some renovating.

They had turned on the water and could not turn it off, and, afraid, had crept into the cupboard, the door of which was fitted with spring locks, which immediately closed and imprisoned them.

Too Regular

"For ten years," said the new boarder, "my habits were as regular as clockwork. I rose on the stroke of six, half an hour later was at Breakfast; at seven I was at work; dined at one; had supper at six, and was in bed at nine-thirty. Ate only plain food, and hadn't a day's illness all the time."

"Dear me!" said a hearer, in sympathetic tones. "And what were you in for?"

CARD OF THANKS.

In the absence of my husband on active service I wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness during the illness and death of our son.

MRS. W. HAYES.

Soap is Cheap

Though nearly everything consumed or worn by the human family has advanced tremendously in price as a result of conditions arising directly or indirectly from the European war, it costs no more to keep clean than it ever did, for soap is one of the few articles depending upon chemical processes for its manufacture that has not advanced in price. Aside from a slight increase in some of the imported toilet soaps, due largely to the increased cost of transportation, soap is just about where it was before the war.

All of the war materials used in soap making are tremendously high, but soap makers have been making sufficient profit from the sale of glycerine to offset any losses on soap. Glycerine before the war was a by-product of soap. Now it may truthfully be said that soap is a by-product of glycerine.

Glycerin has been made in such large quantities for conversion into nitro-glycerin to fill war orders and for other technical purposes that the soap makers have been paoducing more soap lye than is needed even in a civilized, soap-using nation, Hence soap is as cheap as ever.

The Modern Bullet.

The modern bullet though it travels at a terrific speed, due to its having a long and tapering point to decrease the air resistance, is easily deflected. The helmets used in the European war have saved many heads from being broken by shrapnel bullets, and, it is reported, have deflected bullets travelling at a rate of 2,500 feet per second. Ordinarily speaking, such a projectile would penetrate at short range a half-inch of boiler iron if it struck point on.—The Engineering Record.

Charles Tackaberry, aged twenty six, school teacher at Harlem, was found Sunday hanging in his father's barn, near Phillipsville, when the latter returned from Church. No reason can be assigned for the deed.

Planting Thousands of Young Pine Trees.

About eight thousand young pine-trees are being planted this week on the hill of drifting sand on the Sellick farm, near Groveton. The idea is to retain this hill and prevent it from further blocking up the roadway at this point. At the present time the roadway is pushed out of its course several yards on account of the drift. The trees came from the provincial nursery at Fort William and the planting is being done by Mr. E. McRostie of the Kemptville branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Using June Bugs as Cattle Fodder.

Copenhagen, May 16.—The Kieler Zeitung Vienna correspondent says the Austrian Fodder Committee has offered to pay one kroner per kilo for dried June bugs to be used for cattle fodder. These insects, says the correspondent. are reported to be excellent fodder, tests showing that they contain 39 per cent. albumen and 52 per cent. starch. The Minister of Education has sent a circular to the schools throughout the Empire asking the children to volunteer to collect these insects.

Good Roads Agitation.

Posters have been issued and sent broadcast throughout the township of Winchester announcing a series of meetings in the interests of good roads, to be held at Winchester at 7.30 p.m., Thursday, May 25th; Morewood, 1 p.m., May 26th and at Chestervllle, 7.30 p.m., May 26th. All meetings will be addressed by W. A. McLean, Deputy Minister of Highways for Ontario, and Geo. Hogarth, Provincial Engineer of Highways and others.

These meetings are probably the most important series, to the farming community, ever announced in this township and every farmer should take the matter personally and give it his very best consideration. The lack of good roads in Dundas is the one thing that keeps it from taking the very first rank in Ontario as an ideal farming and dairying district.

The opinions expressed at the meetings will have a very far reaching effect on the future of agriculture, and will not only be felt by the present generation but by many succeeding ones. Many people only think of good roads in connection with automobiling, but that is one of the least excuses for a better system, although perhaps more motors are owned by farmers in this township than by townspeople, but practically all of them are used for pleasure and only save playtime, while a system of good roads will save more work time, and therefore more money than the auto is doing now. In marketing, where two loads can be used to deliver the same quantity of produce as formerly took three trips, fifty per cent. of the cost of marketing is saved, and with the scarcity of farm help, the time saved to a man and team for work on the land must amount to a considerable figure in the course of a year.

Another very important fact is that land values throughout the township would be very appreciably raised by a good roads system and this no doubt will be fully explained at the meetings.

The Blockade.

An idea of the extent to which the British blockade and the steps taken by the British government to prevent shipments to Germany through neutral states have been effective can be gathered from the figures on exports from the United States given out from time to time.

In the early days of the war, and even after the British blockade was declared, American exporters sold to Germany in large quantities, shipping through Holland, Denmark and the Scandinavian countries. In one week for which returns on exports from the port of New York have just been published, the shipments to these neutral states were but a fraction of the exports in the corresponding week of 1915.

The exports to the Netherlands were valued at only $368,093, compared with $4,644,885 in the same week last year; the value of goods sent to Denmark was $216,342, while last year it was $2,407,321; to Sweden the shipments amounted to $125,138, against $2,089,146 in the corresponding week of 1915.

WASTING A MILLION

(Ottawa Free Press)

A whale of a hubbub has been created over the alleged misappropriation of a million dollars in the buying of munition supplies for the British government. Not even the danger of information detrimental to the allied cause being supplied to the enemy has deterred those who have been making the fuss.

And yet, according to Colonel John A. Currie, M. P. a million dollars is wasted and misappropriated every year in the printing and distributing of government literature, and the allegation has aroused no one. No attention is paid to the charge that a million dollars is thrown away in routine work. The suspicion that there has been a leakage of a similar amount in a business with which a member of the government has been connected is seized upon for exploitation.

The one case afforded opportunity for the playing of the political game; the other, involving a greater loss to the country, because, according to Colonel Currie, it occurs annually, would have made poor political capital for the reason that the error has been common to all governments. If it were a desire to prevent the needless loss of public funds that was inspiriting those who are screeching about the alleged leakage to the buying of munitions, would they not be as much interested in the loss through the operating of the government printing system? Is it only when there is a possibility of gleaning political scalps that the champions of public interests are moved to action?

MAKE A HOME GARDEN

Within the next couple of weeks the time will be opportune for making home gardens out of even the most neglected acres. With no other incentive than the material, a garden should be a feature of every home. The supply of fresh vegetables for the table adds much to the health and income.

The appearance of his surroundings is usually an index to a man's character. The planting and care of a garden has also an influence for good, as well as a sentimental effect in the home, which cannot be measured by material results. This value is illustrated by the experience of a workman and his wife at a garden village in Hull, England. A house was rented to them at $1.80 per week. They had formerly lived in a poorer district and paid only $1 20 per week. Explaining how they could afford to pay the increased rental, the workman said that, while paying 60c per week additional rental, he was actually saving 12c. The old house had cost $1.20 for rent and 96c for his beer, or $2.16 in all, whereas in the new house, the rent was $1.80 and beer 24c, or a total of $2.04. The difference could be accounted for by the added attractions of pleasant home surroundings. The work of the garden created an interest in the home, and an influence for good in the lives of those directly responsible as well as those of the neighborhood.

Horticultural societies and other local organizations can do no better work than encourage the cultivation of the home garden. It not only adds to the beauty of the home, but the cumulative effect upon a municipality spans the chasm between civic pride and civic neglect.

Unique in Sheep Annals.

(Kemptville Advance)

The Advance has been informed of an unusual occurrence, in fact, one which, in the opinion of the sheep men of the district, is absolutely unique. Not many weeks ago a ewe belonging to Hugh Kelso of Acton's Corners, gave birth to two lambs and a week later to three more. Some doubt of the origin of the latter three was entertained for a few days, but the owner and a neighbor conducted an investigation and proved conclusively, that the entire quintette had been dammed by one ewe. We are informed that one is the usual rate of increase, two fortunate, three unusual, four almost unknown, and until Mr. Kelso's ewe presented him with such a generous brood, five had been an unheard of number. Mr. Kelso is well known in the district and is considered fortunate in his possession of such a prolific animal.

WOMEN AND THRIFT

Upon the women of the land will rest the greatest burden of success in the campaign for thrift that has been inaugurated. As heads of the household they are the chancellors of domestic exchequers. It is for them to bear in mind that expenditure upon articles that are not actually needed is not alone lessening their own resources but also depriving the country of something that might be more profitably applied. The majority of men will agree that so far as the household is concerned their women are pretty thrifty. But stinginess, parsimoniousness, or miserliness is not thrift. The thrifty woman combines with a natural aptitude for economy the wisdom of selection and ultilization. She knows when to save and when to spend. She knows what is necessary and what can be done without and she makes the best use of everything. Neither does she do all things herself. When help is at hand she utilizes it with discretion,

The great aid to thrift is thoughtfulness. In fact without that element thrift is utterly out of the question. The thrifty woman too, not only exercises wisdom herself but sees that her children do the same thing not by indulging them but by delegating to them sundry offices of which they are capable, by making them self-reliant. But the women cannot do all these things by herself. She must enjoy support, countenance and influence of her menkind. The greatest enemy to thrift is the promiscuous doling out of the money. It is not to boys and girls a sign of good nature: it is death to the recipient. It poisons their dispositions and sows seeds of weeds that can never be eradicated. For that sort of thing women are but little responsible, but where their efforts shine is in allowing nothing to go to waste, in making use of everything, and in exercising ingenuity in food, dress household labour and the bringing up of children. An incentive to the accomplishment of these thrifts is a reflection upon the times, upon the needs and experience of their male relatives at the front, and upon the fact that every ounce saved is a contribution to the welfare of the country and perhaps to winning the war

Heard Speaker Tell How Her Fiance Died

Under the flickering light on Connaught Square, Ottawa, a young girl stood the other night drinking in every word that a khaki-clad speaker was uttering Lt.-Col. Edgar, was the speaker and he was dwelling with emphasis on the heroism of the Canadians in the trenches, with the particular part played by one Ben Josselin, who before the war led a peaceful existence in a western city.

While he spoke a tear stole down the girl's cheek and she gazed with rapt attention at a small snapshot inset in a small gilt frame.

When he told of how Josselin braved the tempest of shell to fix a telephone wire that had been broken, the girl turned slightly and in a voice filled with pride said to her neighbor.

"We were engaged. This is his picture.

When the lecture was over she spoke to Lt.-Col. Edgar, who told her in detail how Josselin later died, on the field of honor.

Fine Behavior of Catholic Priests During The Revolt

Dublin, May 16.—The behavior of the Catholic clergy during the recent outbreaks was so courageous that General Maxwell, commander of the British forces sent Archbishop Walsh a special letter of thanks requesting him to give the names of priests who had displayed special gallantry. Archbishop Walsh replied, expressing appreciation but declining to gives names as, he said, "It would be invidious to particularize the numerous cases."

The Real Tommy Atkins.

The picture of Tommy Atkins which lingers most willingly in my mind is that which I carried with me from the trenches on the dreary November evening shortly before I bade him good-bye. It had been raining, sleeting and snowing for a week. The trenches were knee-deep in water, in some places waist deep—for the ground was as level as a floor and there was no possibility of drainage. We were wet through, and our legs were numb with the cold. Near our gun position there was a hole in the trench where water had gathered four feet deep. A bridge of boards had been built over one side on this, but in the darkness a passer by slipped and fell into the icy water up to his armpits.

"Now then, matey!" said an exasperating voice, "bathin' in our private pool without a license?"

And another, "'Ere, son! This ain't a swimmin' bawth! That's our tea-water yer a-standing in!"

The Tommy in the water must have been nearly frozen, but for a moment he made no effort to get out.

"One o' you fetch me a bit o' soap, will you?" he said coaxingly. "You ain't a g 'n' to talk about tea-water to a bloke wot ain't 'ad a bawth in seven weeks?"

It is men of this stamp who have the fortunes of England in their keeping. Given the leadership they deserve, I would add in their safekeeping.

A Good Time to Wear Them.

An Irishman's wife had the misfortune to break her eyeglasses. Pat was at the town, so he bought her a brand-new pair. When he got home his "better-half" tried them on, and exclaimed—"Pat, these are about the best glasses I ever looked through with me two eyes." "How's that?" said Pat. "Well, everything I see looks like two or three." "Shure, then, wear them on Saturdays when I give you the pay,' 'said Pat.

CANADIANS IN A BIG GUN BATTLE WITHOUT PAUSE

The following is the official report on last week's operations at the front, as received at the Militia Department today from the Canadian eye-witness:

Day after day, night after night, on the Canadian front guns thunder and boom, their menacing rumble now swelling in gradual crescendo to the roar of bombardment, now dwindling in volume to an intermittent growl.

There is little rest or security even in the rearward areas. Often the labor of weeks is undone in a single moment, fortifications crumbled, parapets collapse, buildings fall and dugouts cave in under the ruthless violence of explosive shells. Bursting shrapnel rains a vicious stream of bullets on trench path and field. Fixed rifle batteries and machine guns sweep roads and approaches at uncertain intervals and from points of vantage keen-eyed snipers watch patiently for the unwary.

Under these conditions men have to live, hold the line, dig entrenchments, erect entanglements, carry up food and ammunition and effect reliefs. For both sides it is approximately the same and even in a week devoid of outstanding features the toll of active siege warfare is heavy.

Two days in succession an exceptionally intense bombardment was directed by the enemy's artillery and mortar batteries against the defences of an Ontario brigade and the frontage of a British Columbia Battalion.

Some of our trenches were badly damaged and in places advanced posts were temporarily isolated owing to communications becoming blocked.

In spite of the terrific fire and many casualties our men everywhere held on to their positions with the greatest steadiness. When the fire eventually died down the damage was quickly repaired. The retaliation of our artillery to hostile bombardments was at all times prompt and effective. German parapets were breached, entanglements destroyed and fortified craters heavily pounded.

Lumber and sandbags were thrown into the air. At several points parties of the enemy were observed running back from their trenches in order to escape our hail of shells.

During the course of a bombardment on the positions of a New Brunswick battalion, Private F. Snellgrove, St. John, was slightly wounded. When his injury was being dressed at the clearing station it was discovered that he had had a narrow escape from far more serious hurt. Another bullet had struck him in a dangerous place but had been stopped by a Bible given to him by his mother, which he carried in his pocket.

German aviators were less aggressive than for many weeks past. Now and again they crossed our lines, dropped signals and directed the fire of their artillery, but on the approach of our planes retreated rapidly to their own territory.

Hostile working parties were active on all parts of the line. On more than one occasion they suffered casualties from our shrapnel and dispersed, leaving their dead upon the ground. Under cover of darkness good work was done by our scouts and patrols.

Lieut. S. J. Matthewson, Royal Highlanders of Canada, led a small party to the German wire and moving along it made a useful reconnaissaince. On the same night a patrol of a western Canada brigade entered a sap leading to the enemy's lines. Advancing up the sap for ninety yards our patrol came across the bodies of five Germans and brought in articles for identification purposes.

Scouts of a British Columbia Battalion reconnoitered an enemy sniper's post. While engaged on this task they detected a large hostile working party. Word was taken back to our lines and the enemy was scattered by our machine guns.

About the same time a patrol of Calgary battalion discovered a land mine close to the German wire. Although this instrument weighed fifty pounds it was carried back to our lines.

Lieut. J. B. Allen, of a Toronto battalion, made an examination of the German entanglement for three hundred yards. This inspection occupied over three hours. Similar reconnaissances were undertaken by Lieut. G. McNeil, of a Nova Scotia battalion, and Lieut. John Creasor, Victoria Rifles. A patrol of a central Ontario battalion dropped in on a German wiring party, and repulsed a hostile patrol which endeavored to approach our lines. On the same night the enemy's trench mortars opened a heavy fire on a section of our trenches. They were effectively silenced by a well-directed volley of hand grenades from men of a western Canada battalion

A partlcularly daring reconnaissance was made by a patrol of the Royal Highlanders, consisting of Lieut. A. Routledge, Montreal; Sgts. O. B. Jones and F. J. Price, and Privates Billers, Pitt, and Blough. A point was reached within twenty yards of the German trenches. More wire was cut and while the officer and three men acted as a covering party the two sergeants cautiously advanced, climbed through a hedge, cut more wire and reached the German front line.

While on the way the explosion of a shell severely injured the corporal, blinded another man, and wounded the major in the leg, shoulder and head.

Undeterred by his injuries, Major Bodwell took a despatch from the corporal and delivered it to the officer in command of the craters, He then returned for stretcher-bearers to attend to the two wounded men, and himself carried in one of them to the dressing station.

A French Canadian corporal, J. M. Lemieux, rushed across two hundred yards of open ground in the face of hostile fire to assist a comrade who had been shot by a German sniper. With great difficulty Lemieux brought in the wounded man. Another gallant rescue was effected by two French-Canadian privates, Noe Savard and Joel Boisselle. Seeing a private of their battalion fall in the open at a point two hundred yards from the enemy's line. these two men dashed out together and regardless of heavy sniping dragged him into safety.

Mountain Resident's First Railway Journey.

(Mountain Herald)

Perhaps no adjunct of modern civilization has had a greater influence for the betterment of mankind than railroad facilities, and it would almost seem incredible to find anyone who had reached man's estate in Eastern Ontario without having enjoyed a ride over some of our many fine railroads, yet such is the case. The possessor of this unique anomally is Mr. William Billings of Vancamp. Mr. Billings has spent all his life in this township and is over 70 years of age, and last week took his first ride on a railway train. His trip was from Inkerman to Kemptville. He expressed himself as being a little nervous, more especially as a wreck had occurred that morning at Winchester. He has no bodily infirmities and is a sane, sensible man in every respect but apparently possessed of no love for travel.

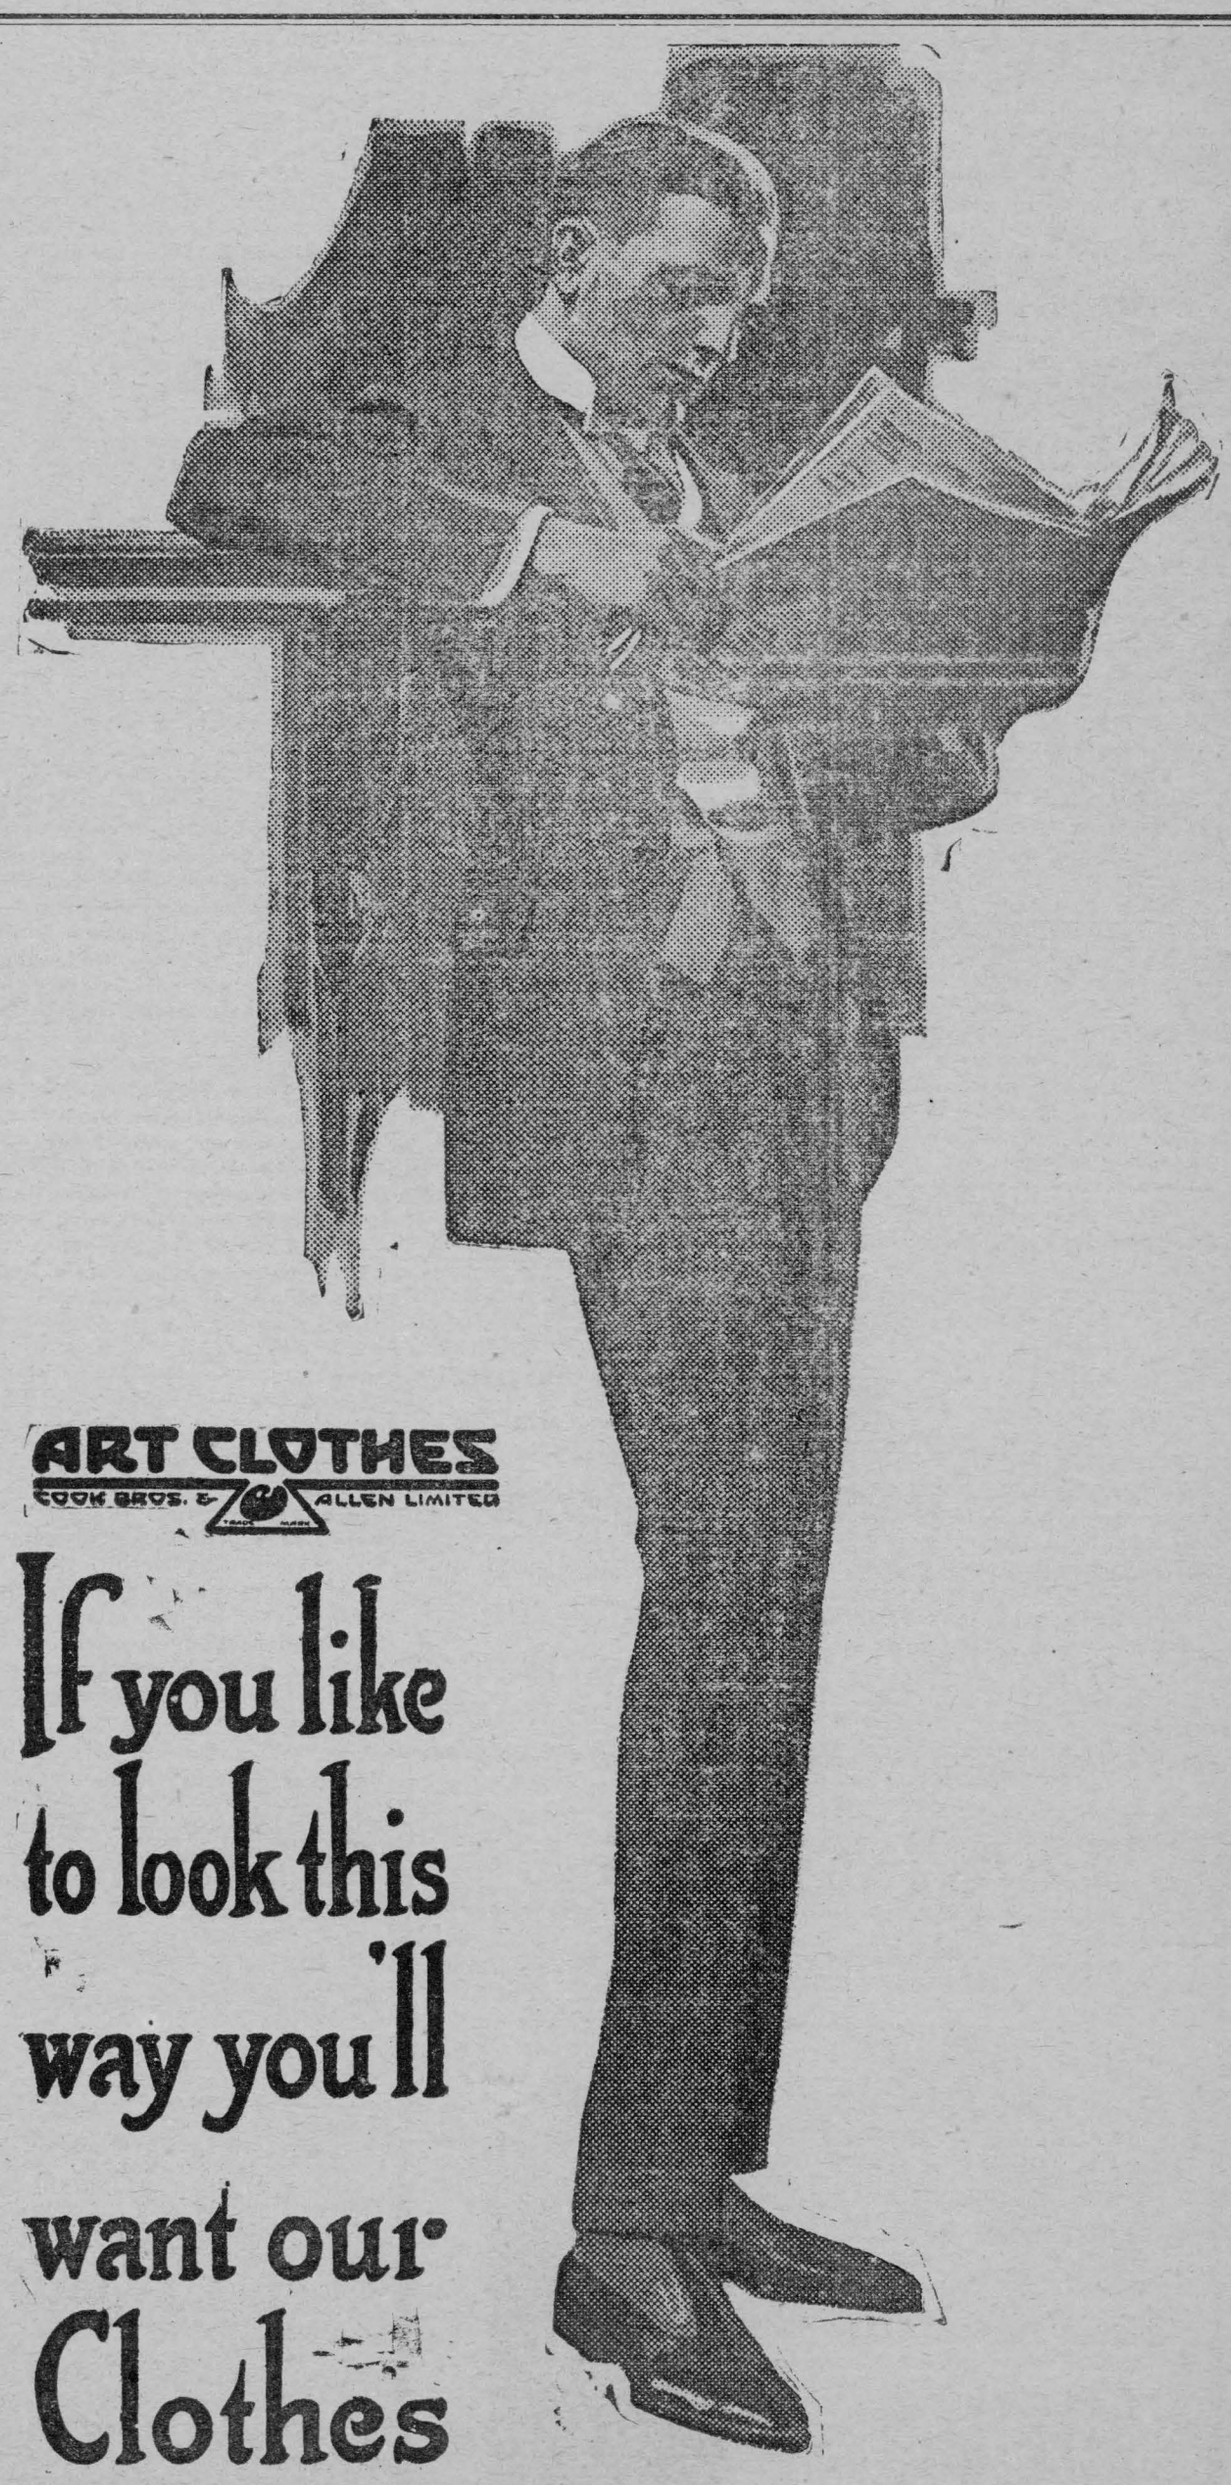

CANADA'S NEED FOR THRIFT

These may be abnormal times and thus suggest extra cause for thrift. A return to what in comparison may be termed a normal period, however, seems to prove that there was then nearly as much reason for the same policy. In the Report of the Commission on the Cost of Living in Canada it is shown that the prices of food in this country rose from 100 in 1900 to 145 in 1913, and of food and coal combined from 100 to 139.6. In the United Kingdom the rise in the same period was from 100 to 113.8 for food and from 100 to 100 2 for coal. This being on the whole a colder climate and coal not being so accessible, it would hardly be expected that the combined increase would be proportionately less than for the single necessity, food, yet it seems to be the case. The one deduction appears possible that greater thrift, comparatively speaking, is exercised in the use of fuel than in the consumption of food.

Why should the increase of the cost of food in Canada have been greater in the fourteen years than in Britain? That is a question worthy of answer and of thought. We are not only self-contained in most articles of food but in the more common run have a surplus for export. Britain, on the other hand, is an importer of at least fourteen of the sixteen articles reckoned with in the computation, namely, beef, mutton, pork, bacon, eggs butter, cheese, flour, oatmeal, rice, sugar coffee. potatoes and tea, the exceptions being bread and milk. In our case the only exceptions to home production of articles of consumption, that at least there is real cause for being, are rice, sugar, coffee and tea. Again is asked-Why, then the increased difference in our disfavour of the relative cost of living?

There can be but one answer to the query here propounded that we are less thrifty, more self-indulgent, more extravagant and more wasteful than our close relations of the British Isles. In addition the investigation of the cost of Living Commission would seem to indicate that Canada is rapidly becoming the most expensive to live in of all the affiliated countries of the empire. In such circumstances it is apparent that it is up to our people to go in for introspection and to consider in what way the situation can be remedied and improved. We have not the large poverty-stricken class to lessen the percentage that Great Britain unhappily possesses, but home production and home industry should outweigh that possible reason for some of the difference. There are and must be other causes for the difference, and those here set forth appear to be the main ones. If every Canadian would consider that every dollar, every cent, saved and judiciously invested, and that every ounce of food produced, meant so much added to the Country's capital and wealth, it is not difficult to believe that there would soon be a decrease in the proportional increase of the cost of the necessities of life along with a speedy diminution in household expenses.

THE FARMER'S LIFE INSURANCE

FARMERS are profound believers in fire insurance, and well they might be, removed, as most of them are, far from fighting facilities.

The farmer is careful to insure his barn, his house, his grain and his livestock. Yet, the most valuable thing of all, his own life, he often leaves uninsured.

A farmer aged 40, in good health, and able to produce only $1000 annually from his farm is worth at least $16,000 to his family if money earns 3½ per cent.

In the event of the farmer's death his thought and labour must be replaced by hired help. This would require money. Insurance would provide the money.

Perhaps a mortgage burdens the minds of the farmer and his wife. If so, a policy should be taken for the amount of the debt. If the husband dies, the policy would prevent foreclosure.

Every farmer should have a policy with

Cornwall Boy Loses Fingers in Lawn Mower.

Irvin Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Parker, Third Street, East, met with a painful accident while playing with his brother, Arthur on Monday evening. The boys were running the lawn mower over the lawn when Irvin fell and his hands were caught between the blades and the frame. The centre fingers of his left hand were completely severed at the first joint and the corresponding fingers of the right hand were also cut, but not so seriously and they were saved. The little fellow was hurried to the Hotel Dieu by Dr. A. J. Lalonde, where his injuries were attended to.
