Newsbriefs

Santa's coming

CHESTERVILLE—Local groups are gearing up for their annual Santa Claus parades. The first area parade will be held in Chesterville on Saturday, Dec. 14 at 10:30 a.m. The Chesterville Scouts will be collecting canned goods, non-perishable food items, and donations of money at their float. The theme of the float is "meeting the needs of the community." Everything the Scouts collect will be donated to the Rotary Club and Churches for Christmas baskets. From 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. on Dec. 14, breakfast will be served with Santa at the Finch Community Centre. That village's parade starts at 2 p.m. The Morewood parade will be held Saturday, Dec. 21, starting at 1:30 p.m. Another Santa Claus parade will be heading through the streets of Berwick on Sunday, Dec. 15, starting at 2 p.m. And the last area parade will make its way through Crysler on Sunday, Dec. 22 at 1 p.m.

Dam warning

CHESTERVILLE—The South Nation River Conservation Authority warns the water level above the Chesterville Dam will be lowered three feet Monday, creating unsafe ice conditions.

Extended hours

CHESTERVILLE-Most Chesterville merchants will be open until 9 p.m. from Monday to Friday until Christmas. Stores will keep their regular Saturday hours.

Man charged

CHESTERVILLE—An RR 3 Chesterville man appeared in provincial court Morrisburg yesterday to face charges in connection with the Dec. 7 theft of a 1979 Chevrolet Malibu from Jack Barnett, also of RR 3 Chesterville. Charged with theft over $1,000 is Daniel McGann, 18. Winchester OPP Sgt. Jim Irvine said the charges against McGann resulted from investigation into the theft.

Carolling night

CHESTERVILLE—All village residents are invited to a night of Christmas carolling Tuesday, Dec. 17. People are asked to meet at Trinity United Church at 6:45 p.m., and to bring a candle and a jar to light the way. Carollers will be going from house-to-house in the village, and to the senior citizens' home. Songsheets will be provided, and hot chocolate will be served at the church when everyone returns.

Trustee recount

MAPLE RIDGE—A recount of the votes for Winchester Township and village SD&G public school board trustee Monday confirmed Tom Kirkwood as the winner of the Dec, 12 election. Recount officer Nancy Krisjanis said Kirkwood received 511 votes to incumbent Graham Casselman's 504 votes. Susan Hanson-Johnstone received 401 votes.

GATT decision nears
Dairy farmers not optimistic about deal

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

OTTAWA—Local dairy farmers are not optimistic Canada's negotiators will be able to defend the supply management system at the ongoing GATT talks in Geneva.

And if the United States and Europe are successful in having Article 11, which regulates supply management, struck down, farmers fear it may "drastically" affect their livelihoods.

Canadian Federation of Agriculture past-president Don Knoerr said an agreement in Canada's favor depends on what happens with bi-lateral discussions between the U.S. and Europe, which are expected to wrap up by Dec. 20.

He said further discussion in the new year will be necessary to hammer out final details of any agreement.

Knoerr also agrees the future of supply management legislation, which protects world markets from being flooded by surplus commodities, is in jeopardy.

"Theres's no cause to be a booming optimist about Article 11," he said, adding complete tariffication and safeguard measures to protect against the volume of imports if production increases or prices drop would be a desirable alternative if Article 11 is killed.

"It's fair to say that unless we get not only the maintenance of Article 11 but clearer interpretations of it so it will work for dairy farmers, there's likely to be a dramatic impact, over the longer run, in the dairy industry," he said.

Knoerr said he doesn't think Article 11 will be struck down, and the concept of a clarified article is "not dead yet," but he said there is room for concern.

"It's the sort of confrontation where you won't know until the last moment what's going to happen," he said.

Negotiators for Canada include leaders from various agriculture groups, as well as Federal Trade Minister Michael Wilson, and Ontario Minister of Agriculture and Food Elmer Buchanan.

Knoerr believes government negotiators are standing firm on Article 11, but said details of the negotiations have not been released.

Dundas County's Ontario Federation of Agriculture representative Gordon Garlough said Monday he hasn't heard any information from the talks in two weeks.

"Exactly where we stand I don't know, but since our government isn't saying anything I'm sure (progress) isn't exceptionally good," he said.

He said if Article 11 were struck down, the local dairy industry would experience a crisis similar to that of western grain and seed producers, and large processing plants like Ault Foods or Kraft might also feel the effects.

"Basically, we're not going to produce it, and they're not going to process it. If the product isn't coming in, they're not going to process it at those locations. It's going to be done somewhere else," he said.

If the rules of supply management are changed, he said, the role of marketing boards for supply- managed goods will also change.

But Garlough said the complete elimination of milk, poultry and other marketing boards is "probably not likely."

Tiny tree trimmers

Even some of the smallest Chesterville residents have been working hard to prepare their floats for the village's annual Santa Claus parade this Saturday. Erin Thompson (left) and James Goodfellow put the finishing touches on some trees for the Happy Face Nursery's forest float. Many of the toddlers and pre-schoolers who attend the nursery school will be on the float themselves this weekend.

Township council balks at paving bill

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

MAPLE RIDGE—Winchester Township reeve Claude Cousineau's call for a close eye on spending was evident as council will pay Cornwall Gravel $3,000 for a paving job, not the $4,300 billed to the township.

Council took that action because the $4,300 bill, for paving sidewalks on Ottawa St. in Winchester, was $1,300 more than the estimate given by Cornwall Gravel.

The overall cost of the project is being split between Winchester Township, Winchester Village and the United Counties, but Winchester Township tendered the project and will bill the other governments.

Cornwall Gravel operator Norvan Grant told council last week the cost overrun was caused by the paving machine's inability to gauge the amount of asphalt used because of the particular slope of the sidewalk.

But Cousineau wasn't satisfied with Grant's explanation.

"That still doesn't seem like a lot of sidewalk for $4,300," he said, adding Cornwall Gravel should be experienced enough to know what will happen in different situations.

Cousineau said, however, that the township does not have a strong case against Cornwall Gravel, because of some confusion in the original agreement.

The agreement obtained for the work was an estimate rather than a quotation, and was open to change because it contained the word "approximately."

Cousineau said he is hoping to send a message to Cornwall Gravel, and hopes a compromise to come out of council's stand.

After new council was sworn in Dec. 2, Cousineau read a statement in which he said council will have to "make every cent count," because of what he called the "toughest economic conditions" ever faced by the township.

He also noted council could expect little in the way of financial support from higher levels of government.

"We've been warned by the provincial people that there's not going to be much money flowing down, and the only recourse we have to keep services that people want is to charge them for it, and that's going to be a tough, tough thing to balance," he said.

I think it will be the hardest three years at least that I've ever had. It's certainly going to be challenging."

Cousineau said the situation is the same for all municipalities.

Family support plan bill aims to fight child poverty

Elizabeth Moreau
Record News Editor

OTTAWA—Judy Poulin's ex-husband owns a business, a house, and seven cars. And he owes her three months worth of child support.

New provincial legislation regulating the payment of family support may not help the Ottawa mother of three get her support payments any quicker, but she does hope it will help other divorced and separated women in Ontario.

Billing it as part of the effort to fight child poverty, the NDP government this month launched a province-wide advertising campaign to introduce Bill 17, the Family Support Plan Act, which will become law in March 1992.

Under the plan, support payments will be automatically deducted from wages, similar to income tax deductions.

The Attorney General's office says more than $470 million in support payments are owing in Ontario.

And in recent years more than $140 million in social assistance has been paid to families who did not receive support payments.

Because Poulin's ex-husband is self-employed, the new plan does not apply to her case. But she hopes that as more cases fall under the automatic deduction plan, workers will have more time to deal with more difficult cases like her own.

Currently, there are more than 90,000 support orders filed with the Support Custody Orders Program, which collects and distributes payments to support recipients.

Poulin, who started a group called SCOPE (Support and Custody Orders for Priority Enforcement) over two years ago for women like herself, says the bill is not the ideal solution but is a step in the right direction.

"The onus is still on the payor to tell (the family support office) where he's working," she said in an interview last week. "If he leaves his work and doesn't tell them, the system breaks down."

Ontario's automatic deduction plan is the first such legislation in Canada, but it has no jurisdiction if the payor moves out of the province.

The plan will apply to all new court orders made after March 1992, except under certain circumstances, and will apply to existing orders if the program director considers it "advisable and practical."

Winchester lawyer Stephen Ault says the automatic deduction plan takes support orders out of the courts and out of the hands of ex-spouses.

Chesterville Freshmart won't stay closed forever: owner

Elizabeth Moreau
Record News Editor

CHESTERVILLE—The Freshmart grocery store in Chesterville is closed indefinitely, and owner Steven Kim says the store will eventually re-open in the Chesterville Pro-Hardware building at the edge of town.

In an interview Monday, Kim said the store is closed "temporarily," and five employees have been laid off.

Nearly two weeks ago, surprised customers found brown paper covering the inside of the store windows and a "closed - please come again" sign.

Kim, who also owns Pro-Hardware, said when Freshmart re-opens, the South St. hardware store will be moved to the Water St. building where the grocery store used to be.

"It's not really a big change," he said. "We're just switching the stores."

But Kim couldn't say exactly when the move would take place. He said renovations need to be done on the Freshmart building before the hardware business is set up there.

Kim said the main reason for the move is parking. While the hardware store has its own parking lot, Freshmart customers had to park on the street.

Although Kim said more parking for customers will mean increased business, he said he's not in any hurry to re-open the grocery store.

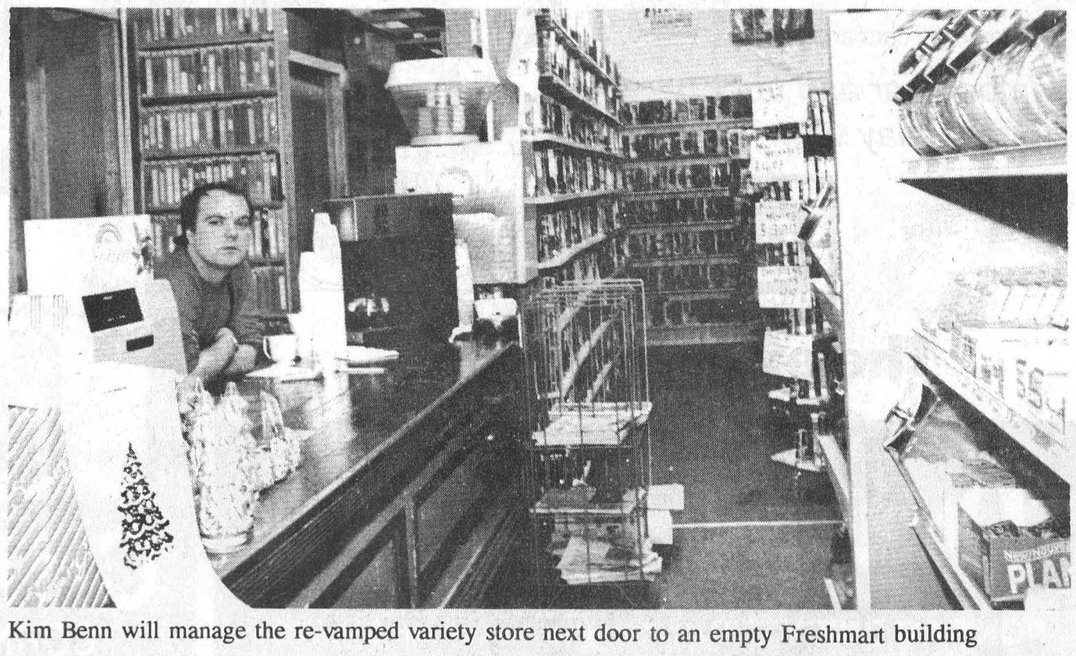
"The economy is slow," Kim said. "So we decided to (close the store) now...We have lots of time (to move)."

Kim said Freshmart previously employed 10 people, and all laid-off employees will "definitely" have work when the grocery store re-opens.

Some of the grocery products have been placed in storage, Kim said. In the meantime, he has turned Chesterville TV & Appliances, his other Water St. business, into a variety store.

The corner store now sells some grocery items, dairy products, cold drinks, and also rents video cassettes.

Kim said the decision to move was prompted by a recommendation made about a year ago by National Groceries, his wholesale supplier, which suggested improved customer parking would be good for business.



Kim Benn will manage the re-vamped variety store next door to an empty Freshmart building

R.I.D.E. program in full swing for holiday season

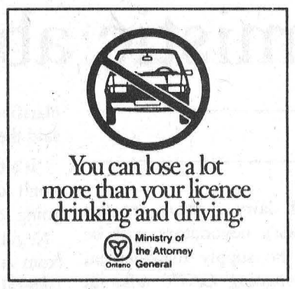
Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

WINCHESTER—The holiday season is a time when parties and the occasional nip are as traditional as Christmas trees.

But those who intend to get behind the wheel after celebrating should know the Ontario Provincial Police's R.I.D.E. program is in full swing.

R.I.D.E, or Reduce Impaired Driving Everywhere, began Dec. 1 and will continue until the first week of the new year.

The program consists of roadside spot checks, and will focus on the area's main roads, at what Winchester OPP Sgt. Jim Irvine calls peak hours, the evening and around 1 a.m. - when licensed establishments close for the night.



Last week, 427 cars were stopped at roadside spotchecks in this area, ansd no charges of impaired driving were laid.

There were, however, two 12-hour licence suspensions handed out, and three people were charged with traffic violations, and one was charged under the Liquor Licensing act.

"We're out to prevent deaths and injuries," Irvine said, adding OPP will visit halls and bars to warn partygoers they'll be out there, to make people think twice about drinking and driving.

"If we're highly visible, people will have second thoughts. We're going to do our best to try to keep people healthy."

Irvine noted that many organizers of social events now charter buses or appoint designated drivers as a safe way of enjoying the holidays and remaining safe, and seat belt use is also a part of the program.

Martin-Hrycak draws chairmanship

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

CORNWALL—It was one time Cindy Martin-Hrycak was glad she drew a blank.

Martin-Hrycak will take her seat as chairman of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Public School Board chairman after luck was on her side at the Dec. 3 election for the board's top spot.

After tying Cornwall Township trustee Brock Abraham in the first ballot, the vote was then to be decided by both candidates drawing from eight ballots placed in a hat, and the one drawing the ballot marked with an 'X' would be the loser.

Martin-Hrycak, who is trustee for village and township of Finch, and Chesterville, drew the seventh piece, which was blank, meaning the last ballot, Abraham's, was the losing one.

"It feels wonderful," she said of her down-to-the-wire victory.

As chairman of the board, Martin-Hrycak will set agendas for board meetings and officiate debate. She will also be the board's spokesperson.

Martin-Hrycak, who lives in Finch, compared her duties to that of the Speaker of the House for the House of Commons in Parliament, interms of calling order, directing questions, and calling motions.

"The chair involves a fair amount of time because schools like to have their chairman there for special events, and we will be involved in a fair amount of contractual negotiations with teachers," she said noting being chairman is something she "certainly" couldn't do without putting her legal career on hold.

Martin-Hrycak said being chairman of the board is a big responsibility and a big challenge.

"We have an $86-million a year budget, and people want to know what's going on, and that's certainly a fair request, because it's public money we're spending," she said.

Because of cutbacks in government funding for education, she said it is important for board staff and the public to realize that funds are limited.

Martin-Hrycak is a lawyer who is on a sabbatical from a position with the Brockville Children's Aid Society.

She said calls for amalgamation between public and separate school boards are founded, because taxpayers have the right to be concerned about where their money is going.

But she said rather than looking at a complete consolidation, the boards are currently studying methods of sharing various services.

"(Consolidation) is certainly not something that's not going to happen overnight, but I hear from the trustees of both boards a willingness to be working together to try to consolidate some services," she said.

She noted that some transportation services are being shared between the boards, and a committee is in place to look at sharing other services such as building space

Burned-out line leaves 4,000 in dark

Elizabeth Moreau
Record News Editor

WINCHESTER—More than 4,000 area homes were left in the dark Tuesday night after a transmission line just north of Chesterville failed.

Gord Burns, area line supervisor for Winchester Ontario Hydro, said the villages of Chesterville, Winchester, Inkerman, and parts of Winchester, Williamsburg and Osnabruck townships were without electricity, some for more than three hours.

Burns said it's difficult to pinpoint exactly why the 44,000-volt line burned out, but said it had probably been hit by lightning at some point in the past.

He said a line could be damaged for several weeks and still provide power.

Crews located the problem at about 9:30 p.m., two hours after the power went out. By then, most customers had their power restored.

The villages of Chesterville and Winchester had electricity again by about 9 p.m.

Burns said 15 extra staff members were called in to answer phones, repair the line, and backfeed most customers from a transformer in Morrisburg.

Burns said because of the location of the damaged line, power could not be restored to Nestle in Chesterville and some rural areas until repairs were completed, at about 10:45 p.m.

Public needs to know the facts about agriculture: crop scientist

Elizabeth Moreau
Record News Editor

AVONMORE—Today's farmers are more productive than ever, but public opinion often works against them, says a scientist from the University of Guelph.

Speaking to a crowd of about 75 farmers at the Stormont Crop and Soil Improvement Association's annual general meeting in Avonmore last Wednesday, Rick Upfold said today's farmer produces enough food to feed almost 125 people.

In 1900, he said, one farmer's yield fed about 12 people.

But Upfold said public misinformation has damaged farmers' reputations.

Upfold, a crop scientist, said campaigns by some environmental and animal rights groups have suggested to consumers that modern agriculture is harmful both to consumers and the earth.

"The environmentalists are telling us that modern agriculture is going to lead to the ruination of our society," he said. "I believe that you are good stewards of the land."

Rick Upfold

Upfold said public fears about the use of commercial herbicides and pesticides are, for the most part, unfounded and outdated. He said organically-grown food does not necessarily mean healthier food for the consumer.

"There are people who don't believe you can produce good, wholesome food using commercial fertilizers and pesticides," he said. "I say you can do that, and you have been doing that."

Upfold said animal rights activists have also misled the public about the way animals are treated and used on farms.

"They refuse to accept that the animals in your barns are healthier now than they ever have been."

Upfold said farmers are more productive than they ever have been, and are able to use technology to get the most out of available resources without waste.

He said the modern Canadian dairy farmer, for example, produces about the same amount of milk he did in 1950 using just over half the number of cows.

The increased productivity, he said, is a result of both crop and dairy technology, and has saved about 1.2 million hectares of land which would otherwise have been used for feed.

Although Upfold met with a positive response from the Stormont farmers, some audience members said he was speaking to the wrong people. They said the message needs to be carried to the general public who, they said, don't understand the way modern agriculture works.

Support plan

"Obviously it's great for people who are trying to collect from somebody who's working," he said. "But basically it's in the hands of a bureaucrat."

Since people who don't pay support and have a regular salary risk having their wages garnished, Ault said they are not usually the ones who miss payments.

"Are those the people who aren't paying?" he said. "It's the self-employed people you just can't get your hands on...The people that just won't pay just don't pay."

But Ault agrees with Poulin that the new plan should give case workers more time to track down and collect from people in arrears.

The family support program employs about 300 people in eight field offices across Ontario. It has a budget of about $24 million.

Support groups help grieving families through the holiday season

Elizabeth Moreau
Record News Editor

BERWICK—For some people, the holiday season can be the most wonderful time of the year. For others, it can be the most difficult.

Mary Luykx, a Berwick resident who started a local support group for widows and widowers this past summer, says Christmas can be a horrible time for people who have recently lost a loved one.

"My first Christmas was just terrible," says Luykx, whose husband died in October 1983. "But I was lucky because I have a big family."

Luykx, who has six children, recommends people coping with a recent death try to be with family and friends during the holidays.

"There's nothing worse than to sit there by yourself," she says, noting that her grief was magnified when her last child left home.

Sharon Filion, co-ordinator of Bereaved Families of Ontario, a self-help group for people in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, says getting through the holidays is a common theme at group meetings in December.

"Instead of thinking of 'Merry Christmas,' we're thinking memories and how to cope with those memories."

Filion, who lives in Long Sault, says holidays are a time when the loss of a loved one is felt the most.

"At family get-togethers, there's always a feeling that there's an empty space there," she says.

Filion says everyone will handle grief in different ways. Breaking with tradition might be best for some people. For others, doing what was always done at Christmas may be a better idea.

"Some people find the memories comforting...Sameness is effective for them rather than a change."

But she says there is no right or wrong way to get through the holidays.

"People shouldn't try to do something they don't want to do just to please somebody else."

But Filion warns that people dealing with a recent loss should not take on too much responsibility around the Christmas season, like preparing a full-course meal and party for a large group.

"If you are the person who usually carried the full load at Christmas, now might be the time to accept an invitation," she says. "You're just not physically and emotionally capable of doing it all."

Filion says while the first holiday season without a loved one will likely be the most difficult, she says it will get easier.

"The holidays magnify the feelings of loss of a loved one. That's why it's so stressful," she says.

Filion says even if someone is without family and facing the holidays alone, there are still ways to celebrate the season.

"If you just want to do something altogether different, go help out at a mission...reach out, volunteer your service," she says. "Or invite someone to your home—a needy family or a shut- in."

Bereaved Families of Ontario will hold a support night tomorrow (Thursday) at CCVS in Cornwall from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. to discuss ways to cope with death and grief during the Christmas season.

Reasons we shop locally:

Shop Locally this Christmas

Dollars spent in your local hometown are not only the lifeblood of local merchants but also the entire community.

Each dollar spent at home helps farmers, teachers, wage earners, everyone. As money rolls over locally, it helps support public services, schools, churches and hundreds of other groups and organizations.

Recent surveys indicate that small town residents who leave their communities to shop in big-city malls are committing a form of economic suicide. This trend is so severe that the end of many small town business districts is very near.

The next time you're tempted to travel to the city or out-of-town shopping mall, stop and think of the real cost. Be sure to add mileage, cost of meals, babysitter expense, time and other incidentals.

Money experts say that each dollar will turn over as many as four or five times in a community like ours, which means that a dollar spent somewhere else will take away $4 or $5 in trade, wages, local taxes, etc.

Your friendly local merchants probably have just what you want anyway...and often cheaper than stores in the city. Shopping at home is easier and quicker, and benefits each of us.

Fireplace chimney safety

As the heating season approaches, homeowners are reminded that the National Fire Code prescribes precautions regarding the safe maintenance of chimneys to avoid fire hazards. These precautions include annual inspections of the interior and exterior prior to each heating season.

Under certain conditions, the deterioration of a fireplace chimney can result in the development of a hazardous condition.

Most fireplace chimneys built from two or more concentric metal tubes with an insulation material, either air or mineral fibre; mansonry chimneys built from brick, stone or concrete, with or without clay tile liners.

While "factory-built" chimneys are required to use metals which are highly corrosion resistant, it should be recognized that under certain conditions corrosion may develop. Recent reports have indicated that some factory-built chimneys, when attached to fireplaces, may be particularly prone to such deterioration. The reasons for this are not fully understood at this time, but the problem is under active investigation. It is believed that serious corrosion may lead to a safety or fire hazard.

Masonry chimneys may be subject to exterior erosion and leaching, exterior brick and mortar deterioration and to interior cracking of the tile liner, which may give rise to a safety or fire hazard.

It is highly recommended that annual inspections of all chimneys be carried out by a chimney sweep who is certified under the Wood Energy Technical Training program.

the attached fireplace or other appliance should not be used.

For a list of certified chimney sweeps and technicians in your area or for other information, please call the Canadian Wood Energy Institute at 1-800-563-5776.

During the recent double loss of our Dad and Mom, we are most grateful to our families, friends and neighbors for their love and support. Thank you for food brought to our home, flowers, cards and memorial donations, the pallbearers, Vice and Brownlee Funeral Homes, Rev. Harwood and Father Bougie, the ladies of the churches for lunches served following the funerals. A special thanks to Betty, Laurie, Lori and Lynne for all their extra help. It has been a difficult time for us but we have so much to be grateful for. God bless.

IN MEMORIAMS

IRVEN - In loving memory of our dear Dad, Lorne who passed away Dec. 9, 1984.

Nothing can ever take away,
The love our hearts hold dear,
Fond memories are with us everyday,
We miss you more and more each year.

Love,
Dorothy, Oscar and Family

IN MEMORIAM

POLLOCK - In loving memory of Velma, who passed away Dec. 16, 1975.

We do not forget her
We love her too dearly
For her memory to fade
From our lives like a dream
Our lips need not speak
When our hearts mourn sincerely,
For grief often dwells
Where it seldom is seen

Son Randy,
Daughter-in-law Leah-Anne,
and grandchildren Jody and Tara

IN MEMORIAM

LE CLAIR - In loving memory of our son and brother Gerry, who passed away December 13, 1985.

God took him home, it was His will
But in our hearts he liveth still.

Love, Mom, Dad and Family

IN MEMORIAM

GAUTHIER - In loving memory of Janice, our only daughter and sister, and Robby, our only grandson and nephew, whom God called home December 14, 1986.

Within our hearts we always keep
A special place for you,
And try to do our best to live
As you would want us to.
As we loved you, so we miss you,
In our memory you are near,
Loved, remembered, longed for always,
With the passing of each year.

Sadly missed and lovingly remembered,
Glenn, Audrey
and Stephen Dafoe

IN MEMORIAM

MacMILLAN - In loving memory of a husband, father and grandfather, Jack, who passed away December 13, 1984.

Deep in the heart lies a picture
Of a loved one laid to rest.
In memory's frame I shall keep it,
Because he was one of the best.

Always remembered by,
Eileen, Lorilee,
Maureen and Johnnie,
Lauren, Chad and Jillian

THANK YOU

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all in Winchester and surrounding area who participated in our campaign for the less fortunate at the Winchester Parade.

We will continue collecting these items at our office until Christmas for anyone wishing to drop them off. Special thanks to Aults and the local churches for distributing these items.

There are hundreds of children in Ottawa-Carleton who want your help in staying warm this winter.

Fortunately, R.E.B.O.C. provides you with just the right avenue to do this. Our "Hats and Mittens" program needs your creativity and energy!

Jessie E. Summers

Jessie E. (Watts) Summers, a resident of Winchester's Dundas Manor, died Dec. 8, 1991, at Winchester District Memorial Hospital after a brief illness. She was in her 97th year.

Mrs. Summers was the daughter of the late Byron and Jennie Watts. She was predeceased by her husband Jerry, who died in 1981, and an infant son Ray Albert, who died in 1926.

She is survived by son Murray (Margaret) and daughter Ruth (Mrs. Guy Lalonde) of Montreal. She is also survived by two grandchildren, Brian (Jo-Anne) and Shelley Summers.

She was predeceased by sisters Leila Summers, Inda Watts and brothers Edgar, Irwin and Aura Watts.

Mrs. Summers will also be mourned by several nieces and nephews and many friends.

Born in Brockville, Mrs. Summers moved to the Winchester area at an early age, and was educated in local schools and Houghton College, N.Y. She was a respected member of the Winchester Township and village community, and an active member of the Wesleyan Church.

Funeral was held Dec. 10 at J.R. Vice in Winchester, officiated by Rev. E.F. LeRoy. Interment was at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Kenneth Watts, Ronald Watts, Laurie Summers, Charles E. Watts, Robert B. Watts and Donald Watts.

Poetry magazine labor of love

Elizabeth Moreau
Record News Editor

CHESTERVILLE—Heather O'Neil was tired of getting rejection letters from literary magazines that didn't have either the space or the taste for her poetry.

So just over a year ago, she decided to create an outlet for her own work and that of other aspiring writers.

O'Neil and some friends published the first issue of Pauper's Press in October 1990. Billed as "a literary magazine the whole family can enjoy," the collection of poems and illustrations was put together almost entirely in O'Neil's living room.

"It's almost impossible to get published, so I decided to put out my own magazine and encourage local writers to do the same thing," she says.

She rented a photocopier to run off the pages, and staples them together. The magazine usually runs about 25 pages.

O'Neil, who lives outside Chesterville, said the magazine started off as, and still is, a labor of love.

Over the first year of publication, O'Neil met with difficulty in selling the magazine locally, but still plans to publish the fifth issue early in the new year.

She printed only 75 copies of the last issue in May, half the number of the first three editions.

But since then, the magazine has been listed in Poet's Market, an international guide for writers looking to publish.

O'Neil says she received submissions from the United States, and hopes to reach a wider audience through the listing.

She says she keeps at it because "it's something I'm interested in and it's something I want to do."

Right now, she says, the most she can hope for is that the magazine pays for itself through sales.

"Whether it ever becomes anything more than a small press, I don't know," she says.

O'Neil, who moved to the Chesterville area from Ottawa in 1976, studied graphic arts but always had an interest in writing. She writes a weekly column for an area newspaper.

She says there are many local people who also share her interest in writing, and has encouraged submissions to Pauper's Press.

"A few people have it as a very serious hobby," O'Neil says. "They write very well but don't know what to do with it."

Although she had little trouble finding local writers, finding local readers was a more difficult task.

Although the magazine was displayed in local stores, few people bought it. Most of the sales were to people who knew one of the magazine's contributors.

O'Neil says even people who have no interest in poetry would be pleasantly surprised if they read the magazine.

"Most of (the writing) is about everyday life—the goings on around the farm, in the country," she says.

"Poetry doesn't all rhyme anymore...It's sort of like reading prose in verse form."

And she says people who are afraid they won't understand poetry need not be intimidated by the writing in Pauper's Press.

"It's good for the novice writer, and it's probably good for the novice reader."

O'Neil says aside from providing a way for writers to see their work in print, she hopes to promote literacy and creativity through the magazine.

"Being able to read, comprehend and absorb is such an ability," she says. "It helps you in everything you do."

But even with her own magazine in the works, O'Neil still regularly sends out manuscripts to other small presses, hoping to get published.

"To have your poetry accepted means it meant something to someone else, too."

Heather O'Neil is preparing for an upcoming issue of Pauper's Press

Virus still takes toll on local schools

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

CORNWALL—Area schools are still coping with high absences due to illness, but numbers are starting to return to normal at North Dundas District High School.

And the director of the Eastern Ontario Health Unit (EOHU) said it may not be influnza, as is commonly thought.

Friday was the heaviest day for absences at North Dundas, as around 280 students were absent, more than one-third of the school's population.

But by Monday, attendance had improved, with only 100 absences recorded. It is also not known exactly how many of the absecnces were caused by the virus in question.

EOHU director Dr. Robert Bourdeau said the health unit is awaiting test results to determine the exact nature of the disease.

But he said there is a possibility the virus is not influenza, because it is not lasting as long as a typical flu virus does, noting students were returning to classes after only one or two days away.

He said a normal flu virus causes three or four days of sickness.

Bourdeau would only attribute the illnesses and absenteeism to a "infectious disease of viral origin," and said he would need final test results before positively identifying the virus.

Bordeau also said both a school principal and the health unit have the authority to close a school, but he has not considered closing any of the schools in the area because he has not had any indication that the virus is serious enough to warrant school closures.

Rothwell Osnabruck principal Doug Anderson said he was "sending kids home by the hour" Friday.

We see more and more (cases) each day, it seems to be rising," he said.

Anderson said 79 of the school's 225 elementary students were absent Friday, and 84 of the 335 secondary students.

Three teachers were also at home with illnesses.

"Hopefully it has peaked," Anderson said, adding some tests have had to be cancelled, but exams are not scheduled until January and there is "lots of time to get over it."

Anderson said he is not considering closing the school, and will not do so unless asked to by the Ministry of Health.

EDITORIAL & OPINION

Sins of the fathers

Ontario's NDP government wants to get tough with people who won't pay child support. Under new legislation, Bill 17, support payments will be deducted from a payor's income like any other tax or deduction.

But for many women, the plan unfortunately won't make much of a difference.

And for men (97 per cent of parents ordered to pay support are fathers) who would willingly and regularly pay child support, the program does not discriminate, except under very specific circumstances.

Judy Poulin of Ottawa says fighting for support for her three children has been a fact of her life since she was divorced eight years ago.

Her husband is self-employed and the new legislation won't apply to him.

Poulin, who directs a group for women fighting for child support, says having to depend on an ex-spouse for income is degrading. Many women whose ex-husbands won't pay simply give up rather than expend the emotional energy.

Over 80,000 Ontario children are affected by unpaid support payments. And, according to the National Council of Welfare, 57 per cent of single mothers with children under 18 years live below the poverty line.

Somebody has to take responsibility for these children. But to suggest that all divorced fathers should be watched and regulated by a bureaucratic agency is, in some ways, unfair.

Only if a payor is clearly unwilling to pay should he be subjected to the potential embarrassment of having his personal financial affairs the subject of gossip in the office payroll department.

The plan assumes that people ordered to pay child support can't be trusted. But even when the legislation comes into effect, some who have avoided sending the cheques will continue to do so.

The philosophy behind the bill, that child poverty is a serious reality that needs to be addressed with concrete measures, is a noble one.

But no doubt many honest people who will become part of the system will see the automatic deduction as a stigma, and one that will be hard to erase.

In Ontario, at least, the sins of the unpaying fathers are the sins of them all.

Letters

Waste of time?

To the Editor:

Well now I've seen it all.

In order to fulfill my promise to the 165 people who voted for me I went to a council meeting in Osnabruck Township on Dec. 9, 1991 so I could take notes, and inform the public as to its content. This was the most boring three hours of my life.

It took over twenty minutes of discussion to pass a motion on whether or not to close a bank account that is not being used and the auditor recommended it be closed. It would have taken a 10-year-old child 30 seconds to make that decision. It was also decided to hold extra meetings the following week because of lack of time in the regular meetings. Gee, I wonder why that is?

The only decision that went quickly was the one to reserve three rooms at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto. This will allow at least three people from our township to go to a convention on Feb. 20. More rooms were reserved for the week of Feb. 15, but we will not be sending anyone. Why reserve rooms, and put the hotel at risk of losing business if you plan on cancelling?

Do you have six or seven hours to waste? Do you like boring conversation? Do you like to see your tax dollars at work? Go to a council meeting. It took four minutes to decide not to pay 18 cents interest on an overdue account. Call your council member!

Column

A simple act of remembrance

by Robin Morris
Managing Editor

It seemed like a relatively simple thing. Just go into Vanguard Drugs in Cardinal and ask for one of the white ribbons they had advertised in last week's paper. Pin it on and wear it in remembrance of the 14 young women murdered by Marc Lepine at Montreal's Ecole Polytechnique two years ago that day, and also to express concern at the violence that continues to be visited on women in Canada.

So why did I feel like one of those people in the tv ads who nervously approach the pharmacist and stammer, "It's not for me. It's for a friend." "Nothing like this has ever happened to me before." "I'm so embarrassed."

Why did I feel like an 18-year-old buying his first condom only to find that the clerk behind the counter is his girlfriend's mother?

Why did I hang around the greeting card section, then the perfume counter, then the magazine rack, then the display of boxed chocolates? Why was I so suddenly interested in the different sizes and colours of surgical stockings and which hairsprays contained no CFCs?

Why did I wait until there was no one else in the store until I finally approached the very approachable woman behind the counter and, when asked if she could help, shoot a couple of sideways of glances, before saying that I had seen the ad for the white ribbons in the paper and did they have any more?

She said yes, and would I like one?

At which I nodded and she then asked would I like her to pin it on? And would I like a pamphlet explaining the white ribbon campaign and why so many women feel it is necessary for men to make some sort of symbolic gesture to let others know that they are opposed to this physically and emotionally crippling and all-too-often deadly epidemic of violence against women?

I nodded assent, mumbled some thanks and left quickly, the white ribbon neatly pinned against the dark band of my red and blue windbreaker making me feel as conspicuous as a piece of turn-of-the- century Victoria Day bunting.

Why was that simple gesture so difficult? I have no problem wearing a poppy for the week before Remembrance Day and I proudly wore a yellow ribbon last winter as a gesture of support for Canadian forces during the Gulf War.

Why is it so easy to pin on a symbol of remembrance for men killed in combat yet so difficult to wear a small reminder for the victims of the undeclared war against women that is waged in our society every day?

Was I afraid of being insulted by a couple of the local lager louts? Being branded a weenie?

Asked if I'd left my corduroy suit at home and where did I park my Volvo?

After all, it's hardly the manly thing to do, to be seen expressing solidarity with anything that smacks of the women's movement. Even a lot of women would agree with this sentiment.

You know the sort. The type that justify their mate's behaviour with rationalizations that go something like this: "Well, yeah, he smacks me around a little, especially when he's gotten a snootfull at the hotel. But he's holding down a job and most of the time he's a pretty good father. And, well, what can you expect? Boys will be boys."

Victims defending their victimization.

We see it every week in provincial court. A parade of young women with black eyes, swollen cheeks, arms in slings. Too often willing to drop charges; to forgive, forget and forge another link in the cycle. And these are the cases that make it to court. What of the hundreds —even in this relatively sparsely populated area they number in the hundreds — of instances that go unreported? Of the economic dependence that keeps women in abusive relationships? Of the need for shelters for battered women who have finally had enough but who have no where else to go because of this dependence and of a lack of interest on the part of a society that hasn't gone much beyond the notion that women are chattel, to be treated as their husbands please?

This is the base of the pyramid, the prosaic blocks that support the much more pointed acts of a Marc Lepine, and without which the entire structure would fall in upon itself.

And then I look at myself and my embarrassment at pinning on a white ribbon.

We've got a long way to go.

From the long arm of the law is never longer than when it's extended for a doughnut department:

So there we were Saturday afternoon, hoofing it down 401 from Napanee in a driving rain, about 20 miles west of Brockville, when a little grey Cavalier, licence sporting the motto Je me souviens blows by us at about 120km/h.

We go over a rise and there's every speeder's nightmare: a black and white stopped on an emergency turnaround.

The cruiser quickly pulls into the eastbound passing lane as the Cavalier's brake lights come alive and I can practically hear the driver muttering to himself, " Hell, I'm cooked." Or, considering the licence plate legend, "Tabberwhoosh. Me, I'm cooked, me."

The Holstein forces the Cavalier into the driving lane but doesn't stop him. No flashing rooftop lights; no wig-wags. Instead, the cruiser beats it in the passing lane at about 130, passing everything in sight until it disappears over the horizon.

Then we catch sight of it pulling into the service centre just west of Brockville. Still no flashing lights. Pulls past the pumps and right up to the curb beside the restaurant.

Yup, you guessed it. A Tim Horton's.

I wonder what that particular officer would do in case of a real emergency.

Dial 9-Eleven, Eleven?

In answer to Brian Riddell, whose letter to the editor appears elsewhere in this issue:

Feeling a little thin-skinned these days Brian?

A little defensive about hauling your pillow into the iron featherbed?

A close reading of last week's column would have shown you that my criticisms were not so much of the PSAC, but of the federal Tories, to whom I referred as "the bumbling buffoons who constitute what passes for the government of this country", not only for their deal giving PSAC members jobs for life, but also for their handling of the economy and the imposition of the GST.

I'm with you on that, my old son.

As for your reference to whomever got the "last crumbs from the plate", you should, perhaps, have directed these comments to recently laid-off employees at Parke Davis, Phillips Cables, Northern Telecom, Caldwell Linen Mills, Dexter Colour and TransContinental Press.

Their employers never guaranteed them jobs for life and yet the goods and services they produced are part of the real wealth of this country and paid the freight for Ottawa's decisions.

Their unofficial anthem this year could be a re-write of the Johnny Cash hit: I turned 21 in Prescott, doing life without payroll.

And Brian, the next time you send a letter to the editor telling us how they work your fingers to the bone, try using a stamp instead of a government of Canada fax machine.

We noted that your letter was faxed to us in Prescott at 2:05pm Thurs., Dec. 5.

Those are regular working hours, ne c'est pas?

THE FARMER'S WIFES

By Wyn Thompson

The first real snow usually sifts down over our area the last few days in November. When this happens, the excitement of Christmas fills the air. Along our road, wreaths go on every door and evergreens in front yards blossom with colored lights.

Soon the deep freeze will harden the nights and dark will come in late afternoon, until the solstice arrives —proof that life will be restored, that the ground will thaw, the snow will melt, and the crops for our sustenance will be planted once again.

It is human, is it not, to want to celebrate such an event. And, celebrations there have always been. For example, Chanukah, a Jewish celebration, falls at this time of year also.

On December 2, Jewish families light the first candle in the menora —and begin an eight-day commemoration of the triumph in 165 B.C. over a powerful enemy that had tried to ban the practice of Judaism.

Then Christmas, a Christian tradition of celebrating the birth of a boy child that verified yearnings for a human symbol to mark the rebirth of love, peace on earth, and good tidings of great joy, falls at this time of year as well.

The joys of such holidays extend from Eastern Ontario across the Atlantic to Great Britain, France, Switzerland, Scandinavia, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Italy, Greece, Russia, Israel, and on and on until West becomes East again.

For Christians, there is a Christmas observance in each of these lands because Christmas and the solstice is interwoven by the centuries. Capricorn signals the return of the sun; Matthew tells of the Star of the East.

As the Farmer turned to the last leaf on the calendar, he said he realized we were near the end of another cycle. "There are many signs of it," he continued, "now the thermometer will leave the pleasant six and eight and begin to mark minus zero on its course to minus twenty or more."

In the house, the sun pouring through the bow window is a milky white instead of a warm yellow. Still, I go and sit in the window several times through the day for I believe most people are drawn to the sun.

Lady follows the sun, ending up by the west window which catches the very last rays of sunlight. She no longer likes to be let out the north door for the cold and snow is apt to sweep in through it.

The sky is a cold blue and the stars glitter like ice chips. I suppose this is because the atmosphere has no haze in it as in late summer. These are perfect nights to study the stars. And we can still easily view the same constellations recorded by Matthew and Luke.

From my back step, on a clear night I can easily count a thousand stars. This vast inverted bowl is witness to the wonders of the universe, the mysteries of the galaxies, the phases of the moon, the certainty of the solstice, the presence of an infinity acknowledged only by faith.

From a city street, even on a clear night, it is often most difficult to see a star. The luminosity of the city blinds the eye to the mysteries of the sky, just as other urban aspects often deny the sureness of nature.

It is difficult to know it is the Christmas season if one cannot see the stars. I suggest that on this Christmas Eve 1991, we should all turn our lights low and look up wherever we are, for to see the stars on a winter's eve is to move closer to the earth and to recapture a bit of the calm of the first Christmas.

It surely can do us no harm as each day seems to bring forth another spate of bad news. The television and radio blare forth the fact that we must lower our expectations, we must do this, we must do that, we must do something else...most confusing admonitions when we ordinary people are doing the best we can.

For some, the soup kitchens will provide sustenance and warmth for the holidays, for others a hearty but simple meal and a verbal exchange of greetings will mark the day, while for others the tinsel and trimmings still remain, an assurance that their world is still intact.

It will not be an easy Christmas. It never has been. Not for the world at large nor for the individuals in it. A year in any life usually holds at least one spoonful of trouble, but during the month of Christmas it is good to look up and see the stars in their constellations, in their galaxies, solar system beyond solar system and to glimpse for a moment the unknown and the pre ence of order.

Now along my road come the Christmas trees piled high in trucks and rocking to and from from the trunks of cars. I look at my little Norfolk pine sitting in the corner of the living room and wonder if this is not the year to decorate it for my Christmas tree. Perhaps, I should not cut a tree when our environment needs every tree we can plant. We shall see!

What I would miss most if I use this little tree I have grown from a six-inch seedling would be the smell of woods and sap coming into the house with a fresh tree. A very practical friend said, "No problem! I'll give you a few drops of my pine essence."

"Of course," I said, "a few drops sprinkled about my little three-foot Norfolk pine would just do the trick. Now often we fail to take the simple, sensible approach."

As my friend left, I thought of another friend who told me that they recently had a tree cut down and she took the branches and a coat hanger and made a perfectly respectable and cheery wreath for their front door. "It's not perfect," she said, "but with a perky red bow on it, it looks quite nice."

I'm sure it does and I must drive by and enjoy it, too, the next time I am in her town.

Surely it is the time to be creative and to enjoy the simpler things of life, to waste less, to enjoy family and friends more, to share, to laugh often.

In our valley towns, giant trees stand to be lighted for Christmas. They are so tall they seem to have their own stars on top of them. Enjoy them. Enjoy the shop windows and the houses on every street.

Enjoy the sky as from it shone the joy and wonder of the Yule season —which shone first for the ancient people awaiting the warmth of the sun, and then for the people worldwide awaiting the birth of a Christ-Child.

Christmas, as the story goes, is truly in the heavens, there for any of us who can see the stars.

Columnist a "stooge"

The editor,

Thank you Mr. Morris for your insight, however misguided and misinformed you may be. You have been duped into believing and reporting that the PSAC have been cagey and wiley enough to wrest an ironclad "no layoff" contract from the Treasury Board. At first glance this appears to be the case, but it is something all government employees have had in the past so this is not new or startling. In actual fact this is just another political ploy by the Tories to further embarrass public servants and cast them in a bad light so they can take the heat for the governments misdeeds and follies.

The way these bandits and court jesters are handling the public servants pension fund they will have to give them jobs from the "cradle to grave". Public Servants must pay into the fund for 38 years to get a full pension (and that is 70 % of wages). Politicians on the other hand only have to dodge scandals for six years before they are blessed with indexing.

Civil servant bashing is an easy and popular stand to take, just take a couple of pot shots and let everyone from the barber to the banker pat you on the head. Let's stick to the real issues, Mr. Morris, government patronage, waste, mis-handling of the pubic purse free trade and on and on.

Take heart, Mr. Morris, you are not the only stooge this government has manipulated into smearing the public service.

Oh, by the way, no one really cares if you got the last crumbs from the plate. I'm a public servant, so you sure as hell know I didn't get it.

Unfounded accusations

To the Editor:

It is incredible that the deputy leader of a political party in Canada should make the unfounded accusations of racist and white supremacist against me. For although Ms. Copps directed most of her deliberately unfounded accusations against Mr. Manning, I am included, as I am the President of this riding association. It is even more frightening that the leader of that party, that claims to represent so many Canadians, implicates its supporters in the accusations by refusing to demand a retraction from what is supposed to be his 'deputy'.

It is indeed very easy for the leaders of the Liberal party to criticize the policies of the Reform Party — they have no written policies of their own, and invent them to suit the group they are addressing. They are therefore at liberty to accept or reject positions such as their immigration critic's refugee 'concentration camp' proposal depending on their audience. And their years of political duplicity - saying one thing before the election, and doing another after - would make them search for similarities in the Reform Party. But there are no hidden agendas in the Reform Party —what you read in our policy book is what you get!

And what the Liberal party has got right now is a very angry, non-white, non-protestant, non-anglosaxon Canadian who immigrated from Jamaica many years ago. I do not seek or wish the paternalism the Sheila Copps of this world offer, I want opportunity! And I do not wish to be segregated from mainstream Canada by their 'multicultural' nonpolicies, I want equality and full INTEGRATION into the social, economic, and political life of my country. I have the ability and the strength of character to make my own political decisions. I have rejected the condescending attitudes of the Liberals, and the affirmative action of the N.D.P.

I chose instead a party that judges me as Martin Luther King requested his children be judged "not by the color of my skin, or the dialect that I use, but by the content of my character and quality of my capabilities".

The Reform Party has given me the opportunity to fulfill some of my obligations to my country and all Canadians, and not segregated me into a cultural 'ghetto' as the traditional parties would have.

I have no words that can adequately express my contempt for Ms. Copps and her underling Jean Chretien, and I am sure that the members and supporters of the Liberal party will insist that their leaders (whoever they may be) compare the policies of the two parties and not engage in senseless and insulting name calling. It is obvious that the Liberal elite have decided that it is the Reform Party that is the main threat in the next election and has begun an 'avoid the issues —discredit the opposition' campaign. But I ask the public to reject that type of politics, obtain a copy of our policy book (they're free) and to judge us by its content and not be misled by the prejudice displayed by Ms. Copps.

Yours truly,
Richard Mitchell,
President,
Reform Party of Canada,
Stormont, Dundas
Riding Association

Milton Stewart

Milton Stewart, of RR #2 in Winchester, died Dec. 1, 1991 at Winchester District Memorial Hospital. He was 75.

Mr. Stewart, a retired farmer, is survived by his wife Laura Jean Gillard, whom he married in Morrisburg on Nov. 14, 1938.

He is survived by sons Leonard (Donna) of Winchester, and Garry (Linda) of Chesterville, and daughter Betty (Mrs. Robert Leonard) of Winchester.

Mr. Stewart is the brother of Emmerson Stewart, Arrington Stewart, Edith McMillan and Hazel Duke, all of Winchester, and Velma Shorrt of Chesterville.

He was predeceased by brothers Johnston and Wellington.

Mr. Stewart will be fondly remembered by 9 grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren.

He was a member of St. Peter's Lutheran Church in Williamsburg.

Funeral was held at J.R. Vice in Chesterville on Dec. 3, with Rev. Ross Thomson officiating. Interment was at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Pallbearers were David Stewart, Terry Stewart, Glen Garlough, Richard Stewart, Robbie Stewart, and Rudy Eyndhoven.

Co-owner Isobel Smith had a full house of diners to serve last week at the Chesterville Heritage Cafe

Chesterville Heritage Cafe opens to full house

Elizabeth Moreau
Record News Editor

CHESTERVILLE—The Chesterville Heritage Cafe opened its doors last Wednesday to lunch and dinner crowds that made for a "fantastic" beginning, said co-owner Virginia Patenaude.

Patenaude said over 100 people lunched at the cafe each of the first three days.

"The tables were emptied and filled four times over," she said.

Patenaude said despite the stove breaking down the night before opening day and the toaster blowing up on the first morning of business, everything went smoothly.

"It all happened before lunch, and still we did it," she said proudly. "People were very, very patient."

Patenaude and business partner Isobel Smith did all the cooking for the restaurant, and she said village diners seemed to enjoy it.

"It's like coming to our house," she said.

The women have hired one full-time and one part- time employee to help them handle the crowds.

Patenaude said she and Smith have adjusted to the pace quickly, despite getting barely two hours of sleep on the first night of business.

"We've got the routine down, so it's getting easier," she said.

Shelp sets Maroon up for 5-4 victory

CHESTERVILLE - Although Darrel Shelp scored three goals in the first half, it was his set-up in the second half which allowed Ken Byers to score the game winner for Maroon last Wednesday night.

Byers scored the only goal of the second half to lift Maroon to a 5-4 victory over Green in the Chesterville Men's Town Hockey League.

Byers beat Green's goaltender Pat Brugmans on a play started by Shelp and Dale Hutt, breaking the four-goal deadlock.

During the first 30 minutes, Shelp kept the Maroon team in the game by drilling in a hat-trick. But it was Kevin Byers' goal that began the team's scoring game.

Rodney Casselman scored twice for the Green team during the opening half, while Ken Carscadden and Shawn Beckstead each potted their first goal of the season to keep the game even.

But the Green team was unable to match their opponent's one-goal effort in the final period of play, as the Maroon team did just enough for the win.

White 5 - Blue 5

Blue fought back from a 4-1 first-half deficit to tie White 5-5 last Wednesday during action in the CMTH league.

Jerrold Boulanger scored Blue's only goal of the first half, while White picked up goals from Gary Klein-Swormink, John Guy, Dwayne Bazinet and Craig Smith.

It was quite different in the second half, as the White team only scored once. Ray Sherrer netted the lone goal of the half.

As the Blue team's defence was holding back their opponents, their offense was en route to a comeback.

Lonnie MacIntosh, Brad Holmes, Don Imrie and Boulanger each scored once to mark the five-goal draw.

Saints cruise over senior basketball Devils

MAPLE RIDGE—St. Lawrence high school's senior boys' basketball team came up with a "Saintly" effort here at NDDHS last Thursday dumping the host Devils 73-33.

Gerry Jean's Devils opened their 1991-92 SD&G campaign winning a road game (50-29) against the Seaway Spartans, but didn't have the offence to challenge the high-flying Saints here on Thursday.

"We can run a zone against a team like Seaway, but not against St. Lawrence. We had to go to man to man and they (Saints) just have some better players," coach Jean explained.

He related to the fact that the Cornwall schools put much more emphasis on basketball and their players have so much more experience on the court than his charges.

Jean also pointed to the fact that his bench was slowed by the flu bug and his number one offensive weapon, Chad Simpson, saw limited time on the hardwood.

"Chad (Simpson) had four fouls early in the second quarter and I had to sit him down and that really hurt us. He was playing well and he calls the offence for me, so that didn't help," Jean said.

"We will just keep working, do what we can and have some fun."

St. Lawrence led 22-11 after the first eight minutes and 46-22 at the half. It was 67-23 after three quarters and 73-33 at the buzzer.

Chad Simpson led the Devils' offence hooping a dozen points, nine in the first half.

Phil Burns hit for three first-half deuces and Jamie Kennedy matched that output with two buckets and two "freebees".

Martin Pancirov nailed a three pointer and a deuce for five points while Chris McDonald tallied four points.

North Dundas hit just four of 17 foul shots.

North Dundas will travel to Cornwall to meet St. Joe's today (Dec. 11) and then play host to the CCVS Golden Raiders here at NDDHS on Dec. 18.

Tip-Off Champs

Junior Devils win annual Tip-off challenge

MAPLE RIDGE - The North Dundas Devils were unbeatable in their own annual junior boys' Tip-off Classic here last Saturday, winning their second consecutive basketball title.

North Dundas got past North Grenville and the Renfrew Collegiate Raiders to take on the La Citadelle Patriotes in the final contest of the tournament.

Rod Merkley and Dan McLeod each poured in 18 points to lead the Devils to a convincing 58-49 championship victory.

Merkley led the Devils to a 13-12 first quarter lead hooping eight points in the first eight minutes.

But the Devils pulled away in the second quarter, outscoring the Patriotes 17-9 to take a 30-21 lead at the half.

Mike Singh sunk two three-points for half the Devils' points in the third quarter, as they went ahead 42-28.

The Devils were outscored 21-16 in the final quarter. But their 14-point third-quarter lead alongside McLeod's 11-point scoring burst in the fourth quarter enabled them to hold on for the title victory.

Sean Salter assisted the Devils' offensive effort by dropping in nine points. Singh added six points, Ryan Buske hooped four and Sean Hachey scored three points.

The Patriotes received an outstanding performance from Ruby Nelson. He nailed in 39 points against the Devils, doing most of the work for the losing team.

Devils' Qualify

The Devils' toughest challenge in the qualifying round were the Renfrew Collegiate Raiders, but Sean Salter poured in 30 points to give the Devils a 65-49 win, and the right to play in the championship game.

The Devils got off to a quick start and led 19-9 after the first quarter.

The Raiders came back to make a game of it, outscoring their hosts 21-15 to trail 34-30 at the half.

By the end of the third quarter the Devils had increased their lead to 48-40, but in the final quarter the Devils ran up the score for the 16- point victory.

Along with Salter's offensive effort, the Devils picked up 11 points from Rod Merkley and eight from Sean Hachey and Dan McLeod.

Singh hooped four points while Ryan Buske and Jay Cull each scored two points.

In the first jump-off of the tournament, North Dundas whipped North Grenville 55-24.

Powered by Singh's five three-points North Dundas led North Grenville 31-10 at the halftime break.

The Devils added another 19 points in the third quarter while only giving up five points to take a commanding 50-15 lead into the final quarter.

North Grenville made up some ground in the final quarter outscoring North Dundas 9-5, but it was much too little much too late.

Merkley led the Devils' offence, hooping 20 points. Singh added 15, Salter sunk 11, McLeod scored six, Buske swished in two and Brendon Bumbaco made a single point.

Other scores

La Citadelle 57 - Seaway 23; Glengarry 53 - Seaway 24; Renfrew 49 - North Grenville 32; La Citadelle 50 - Glengarry 30.

Unluckly number two

Express lose to Cougars and 72's

FINCH - Two was the North Stormont Express' unlucky number last week in the Eastern Ontario Junior C Hockey League.

The Express played two games, losing by two goals in each one to both the Vankleek Hill Cougars and the Embrun 72's.

At home last Thursday, the Express were on the bottom of a 5-3 decision against the Cougars.

With under two minutes to play, Vankleek Hill stormed to a 1-0 lead.

But less than two minutes later, Roch Benoit tied the game after connecting on a pass from Bob McLeod.

John Mackler and Kevin Villeneuve teamed up to give the Express control when Mackler found the Cougars' net at 3:43 of the second session.

Midway through the game, the Cougars came back and scored the tying goal.

Things looked good for the Express shortly into the final period, when Villeneuve scored the go-ahead goal. Benoit and Mackler assisted for the 3- 2 lead.

Vankleek Hill scored three unanswered goals in the time remaining, to lift them to a 6-4 win.

Embrun 8 - Finch 6

EMBRUN - The Embrun 72's 8-6 win over the Express last Friday helped them take sole possession of first place in the junior C league, while dropping the Express to the cellar.

Although the Express were able to score four times in the final 10 minutes of the game, they were unable to surpass the opposition.

The 72's went ahead 2-1 in the opening period, with the Express' lone goal coming off the stick of John Mackler. He completed a play created by Jeff MacLean and Craig Dennison with 3:44 remaining in the first.

The Express were down 3-1 when Dennison drilled in the puck after taking a feed from Brendon Bumbaco at 8:29 of the second frame.

Embrun held a 5-2 lead heading into the final period, but before North Stormont scored they went ahead 6-2.

At 10:40, Chris Leroux made his move for the Express, scoring on a pass from Dave Lavergne.

It took another 3:11 for Leroux to score again, this time finishing off a play set up by Bumbaco and Dennison.

Embrun erased Leroux's two-goal effort by scoring with 3:50 and 2:57 remaining.

But the Express sparked in the time left, by pulling within two goals once again.

Just under a minute and a half was left when Dave Duprau fired in a feed from Dennison.

Then with 1:15 showing, Troy McNaughton slapped in the final goal of the game with help from Bumbaco and MacLean.

Sheldrick salvages tie for Atom C Demons

CHESTERVILLE—Brent Sheldrick scored an important goal here on Saturday.

Sheldrick's marker, which stopped the clock at 4:50 of the third period, enabled the North Dundas No. Two Demons to salvage a 3-3 tie in an UCMHL Atom C home-and-home series with the Kemptville No. Two Royals.

In the final game of the two-game set Saturday afternoon in Kemptville the Demons over came some slow and sloppy ice conditions and came up with an exciting match against the Royals only to come out on the wrong end of a 2-0 score.

Kemptville' Brandon Gray beat Demons' Bobby Hamelin for the winner at 4:39 of the second period and Scott Urquhart iced it with an insurance goal with 5:24 left in the final frame.

Both Demons' Hamelin and Kemptville's Jason Briggs played sold goal for their teams in a close- checking contest.

Kemptville took a 2-0 lead in the first period of the morning game here in Chesterville with Philip Bond bagging both goals scoring unassisted at 12:30 and 3:45.

Bond's third goal came at 8:46 of the second gaving Kemptville a comfortable 3-0 lead.

North Dundas finally got untracked in the final frame and rebounded with three goals and the 3-3 tie.

Marty Link finally cracked Jason Briggs' goose egg scoring unassisted at the 11:30 mark.

Chad Johnston's unassisted goal came at 10:25 and closed the gap to 3-2.

Brent Sheldrick then netted the tying goal with 4:50 left on the clock. Marty Link and Devon Cinnamon did the leg work on the goal.

Pee Wee B Demons overpower Smiths Falls Bears

CHESTERVILLE—A five-goal second period blasted the North Dundas Pee Wee B Demons to an 8-1 UCMHL victory over the Smiths Falls Bears here last Thursday.

North Dundas' goaltending duo of Darryl Beck and Darryl Burns and their defence proved to be almost perfect as they didn't make a mistake until the game was almost over.

The Demons' zero finally vanished when the Bears' Matt Bennett scored with just 53 seconds left on the clock.

North Dundas out-shot the Bears 25-10 en route to their win.

Matt Foley gave the Demons a 1-0 lead scoring from Ryan Filion and Craig Holmes with 3:28 left in period one.

Zack Gauvreau started the second-period barrage scoring with 9:24 left. Andrew Carkner made it 3-0 scoring at 7:47. Chris Mann hit the target at 6:36, Tylor Copeland upped the lead to 5-0 scoring at 1:36 and Chris Mann's second goal made it 6-0 1:21 before the end of period two.

Craig Holmes scored with 3:58 left in the game and Ryan Swerdfeger's unassisted marker made it 8-0 with 3:14 showing on the clock.

Captain Stephen Henderson (3), Chris Mann, Copeland (2), Foley, Craig Holmes, Ryan Filion (2), Mike Casselman and Wesley Mcleod all earned assists.

Pee Wee Demons split weekend games

CHESTERVILLE—Last weekend produced mixed results for the North Dundas Pee Wee C No. Two Demons.

Here in Chesterville last Friday the Demons dropped a close 2-1 UCMHL decision to the visting Athens Flyers. Terry Wagner was the only shooter finding the target for North Dundas and his goal came at 8:10 of the first period.

The Demons had better luck on the road in Kemptville the following day skating to a 5-1 win over the Royals.

Jeff Esposito lost his shut out by a goal while Andrew Roach and Derik Gates each slapped in two goals. Scott Dellaire scored a goal and engineered another. Navin MacDonnel (2), Martin Constapel and Roach all assisted on goals.

Junior Devils too powerful for Saints

MAPLE RIDGE - It wasn't one of their better games, but the North Dundas junior Devils still managed to soundly defeat the St. Lawrence Saints 67-41 here last Thursday in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry junior boys' basketball league play.

Defensively the Devils were tough, but offensively they were having some problems passing the ball.

"Our passing was pretty poor," junior Devils' coach Mark Lewis said. "It was a pretty ugly game, but you have to be happy with a win.

A recent flu bug also took its toll on the Devils. Throughout the week, players missed morning practices which help them prepare for an uncoming game.

"We played like we'd been practicing all week," Lewis said. "(But) the guys were missing practices because of the flu."

Although the coach wasn't particularly pleased with the Devils' performance he said St. Lawrence was the toughest opposition they had faced so far this season.

The Devils took a 15-12 lead after the opening quarter, and at the halftime break led 37-19.

North Dundas increased their lead in the third quarter by outscoring the Saints 16-9, taking a 53-28 lead into the final quarter.

Both clubs played evenly in the fourth quarter, as North Dundas scored just one point more then their opponents.

Sean Salter once again led the junior Devils' offensive attack, sinking 29 points toward the winning game.

Rod Merkley hooped 13 points against St. Lawrence, while Dan McLeod made nine. Sean Hachey added six, Mike Singh sunk five, Jason Ball scored three and Jay Cull rounded out the Devils' scoring game with two points.

Hillis scores five goals towards Atom C Demons 7-2 victory

WINCHESTER—Joey Hillis' hat trick sparked the North Dundas No. One Demons to their eighth straight UCMHL Atom C victory here last Friday.

Hillis netted two first-period goals and another in the second and assisted on two other markers as North Dundas kept its undefeated string alive at eight games with a 7-2 win over the Kemptville No. 3 Royals.

In their previous outing the Demons used another Hillis hat trick to deal the Morrisburg Lions a 5- 2 loss.

Hillis' first point of Friday's match with Kemptville at 9:46 of the first period as he assisted on Ryan Moss' goal. Kemptville tied it up 1-1 40 seconds later when Chris Clark beat Jesse MacLean.

But it was all Demons as they scored three straight and led the game 4-1 after a period. Ryan Thompson broke the tie scoring from Rory Moriarty at 7:30. Hillis then scored unassisted goals at 6:46 and 6:17 to put the Demons ahead for good.

Hillis' third goal came on a feed from Moss at 7:38 of the second and made it 5-1. Rory Moriarty's unassisted marker, 25 seconds before the end of the second, increased the margin to 6-1.

Moss connected from Hillis with 3:05 left in the game and made it a 7-2 final.

DEMONS 5 - LIONS 2

In their previous home game the Demons took a 3-0 first-period lead and added two third-period goals en route to a 5-2 win over Morrisburg.

Hillis (9:27), Ryan Thompson (4:59) and Hillis again with just 29 seconds left opened up North Dundas' lead.

Rory Moriarty (2:47) and Hillis (1:59) hit for third-period goals.

Lance Lepage and Bobby Paradis replied for the Lions, scoring in the final 3:31 of the game.

Scott Millar (2), Thompson and Hillis all earned assists for the Demons.

Midget Demons still winless in UCL hockey

WINCHESTER - The North Dundas Midget Demons are still winless in the Upper Canada Minor Hockey League.

At home last Thursday, the Demons lost a 4-3 decision to the Kemptville Royals. On the road Sunday, they were dropped 4-1 by the Smiths Falls Bears, increasing their winless record to seven games.

Although the Demons had plenty of chances during their seventh game of the season, Jason Ouellette was the only skater to score against the Bears' goaltender Allan Costello.

But by that time the Demons had already given up two goals to the opposition.

After a scoreless first period, the Bears needed only 1:17 of the second to hit the scoreboard.

Demons' Pete Decooman was serving a two-minute penalty for roughing when the Bears scored the go- ahead goal.

At 8:16, the Bears made it 2-0, scoring shorthanded.

Ouellette scored his final goal of the season on a power play, putting the Demons right back into the game. Troy McNaughton and Martin Pancirov set up the play that was finished off at 8:46 of the second period.

The Bears added another goal with just 1:26 played in the final period. Then a power play goal at the 4:56 mark iced the win. David Sears was in the sin bin for high sticking.

The Demons did a bit better at home, just one-goal short of a tie against the Royals.

It took just over a minute of play for the Royals to take the lead, but the Demons rallied to a 2-1 lead before the first period ended.

An unassisted goal by Brendon Bumbaco tied the game up at the 8:29 mark.

But with just over three minutes remaining in the period, Troy McNaughton drilled in a feed from Jason Desormeaux to put the Demons ahead. Bumbaco also drew an assist on the play.

The Royals bounced back to take control of the contest, scoring three times in the second period before the Demons connected for their final goal of the game.

With 1:46 left before the second break Phillip Brisebois drove the puck into the Royals' cage after picking up a feed from Murray Link.

Junior Panthers nip Warriors

CORNWALL - The Tagwi Warriors lost a tight battle against the St. Joseph's Panthers last Wednesday in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry junior boys' basketball league action.

In the final minute of play the Warriors came within two points of their rivals, but then gave up another point from the foul line, giving the Panthers a 39-36 victory.

"They're just starting to find themselves," junior Warriors' coach Joe Stelmach said.

But he added the team still needs work, especially on foul shots.

During the game, the Warriors had 24 chances from the foul line but were only able to drop in eight points.

Although the Warriors were weak from the line, their opponents were having just as much difficulty sinking free throws. The Panthers scored 11 of 32 shots.

The Warriors blew away their competition in the first quarter to take a 22-13 lead. But by the half the Panthers had cut their deficit to a single point. The halftime score was 32-31 in favor of the little Warriors.

The Panthers went ahead 44-42 after three quarters of play, then outscored the Warriors 15-14 in the final quarter to post the 59-56 win.

Todd Stelmach led the Warriors' offence, sinking 19 points. He was also perfect from the line.

Mike Tyrell contributed 12 points to the Warriors' offensive game, Jamie Norman hooped eight and John Poapst added five points.

"I'm quite impressed that we did that well against them," Stelmach said, adding the team was without two of their starters.

Stelmach said the team really missed the offensive strength of Brian Johns.

"If he was there, he would have made the difference."

The absence of two starters gave the Warriors' bench a chance to start in the game, and Stelmach said he was pleased with what he saw.

"The rest of the team took over," he said.

Saints 97 - Warriors 59

The St. Joseph's Panthers showed no mercy to the Tagwi Warriors last Wednesday in the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry senior boys' basketball play.

The Saints outscored the Warriors 60-30 in the second half to post a 97-59 win.

Senior Warriors' coach Larry Poirier said he is pleased with the performance of his club, although the score was lop-sided.

"We did surprisingly well. Last year St. Joe's was ranked number six in the province of Ontario for double-A schools, and we scored 59 points against them. So I was really pleased," Poirier said.

The senior Warriors kept themselves in the game during the opening half, and led 14-10 after the first quarter. But at halftime the Pathers had rallied to a 37-29 lead.

The Panthers outscored the Warriors 27-17 in the third quarter to take a comfortable 18-point cushion into the fourth quarter.

St. Joseph's was unstoppable in the final eight minutes of play, as they clobbered Tagwi 33-13 for a 97-59 total.

By the fourth quarter the Warriors had ran into heavy foul trouble. John Wood and Stefan Uhr had fouled out, while Kevin Poirier, Dean Canham and Cyril Dixon had four fouls against them.

The lack of players on the bench combined with foul problems resulted in a weak defensive effort in the final quarter, allowing the Panthers to run up the score.

Warriors' Dean Canham excelled on offence, scoring 23 points. Rod MacKillican sunk 19, Kevin Poirier added 12 and John Wood scored five points.

Mike Clarke led the Panthers with 27 points.

Basketball Lancers win season opener

INGLESIDE - The Rothwell-Osnabruck Lancers opened their regular season with a win for both the junior and senior squads last week during action in the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry basketball league.

The junior Lancers nipped the Glengarry Gaels 47-42, while their senior counterparts topped the Gaels 54-30.

Paul MacIsaac led the way for the senior Lancers, hooping 16 points.

Senior Lancers' coach Ray Glenn said MacIsaac was the offensive power in the game, but defensively Shawn Peever and Ken MacLeod played an exceptional game.

"They controlled the boards for us," Glenn said.

The Lancers got off to an early start, and by the half they led 24-15.

Rothwell-Osnabruck outscored Glengarry 10-5 in the third quarter, taking a 34-20 advantage into the final quarter.

In the last eight minutes of play, the Lancers sunk 20 points while only giving up 10 to record a a commanding 54-30 victory.

Randy Paquette assisted MacIsaac on offence, dropping in 10 points. Peever sunk nine, Andrew McEwen added eight while Brad Wannamaker scored seven points.

Juniors Lancers win

Rob Murray hooped 31 points to lead the junior Lancers to a 47-42 victory over the Glengarry Gaels in SD&G junior boys' basketball play.

Murray had his greatest success underneath the hoop. And his rebounding ability racked up the points for the Lancers.

Junior Lancers coach Robert Thompson said, "Rob didn't take all the shots, he made most of his points inside rebounding. He got a lot of rebounds under the basket scored a lot underneath."

Although Murray led the offence, Thompson thought the win was a result of a total team effort.

"The whole team played quite well defensively. Nobody was really outstanding."

But he added, "A lot of guys had chances to score but the ball just wasn't going in for them."

The Lancers led 13-10 after the first quarter and increased their advantage to 25-20 by halftime.

Glengarry outscored Rothwell-Osnabruck 11-8 in the third quarter to trail by two points (33-31) with just eight minutes to play.

But the Lancers bounced back to win the final quarter 14-11, taking a 47-42 victory.

Murray received offensive help from A.J. O'Connor and Tim Currier, both scoring three points. Jeff Wannamaker, Micheal Starzacher, Steven Telewiak and Shane Cosstick all scored two points each.

Vitamin C...The Simple Truth

First and foremost, we should remember that vitamins are potent bioactive substances. We should think of them like drugs. But unlike the illegal ones, they are absolutely essential to life.

Among their many tasks, they insure proper functioning of our nervous system and heart, promote good vision, create strong bones and teeth, and form normal blood cells. While they do not directly supply energy, without them our body could not convert the food we eat into energy. Since our body cannot manufacture its own vitamins, we must get them either from our food and/or from supplements, depending on our individual needs.

No other vitamin does as much for as many systems in our body as vitamin C, also known as ascorbic acid. Without this micronutrient, our bodies would quite literally fall apart.

Vitamin C helps produce collagen, the intercellular "cement" that give structure to our muscles and the tissues of our blood-vessel system, as well as our cartilage and bones. Vitamin C also contributes to the health of our teeth and gums, and aids in the absorption of the essential mineral, iron. Deprived of this substance, we would probably disintegrate segment by segment. Almost makes you want to eat an orange!

Of all the vitamins, ascorbic acid has the strongest positive effects on our immune system. The more C in our diet, the greater the weight of our vital immune-system tissues such as our thymus and lymph nodes, and the more efficiently our thymus works preparing our blood cells to fight bacteria and viruses. Vitamin C also helps our body produce antibodies, the fighter proteins that do battle with foreign infectious invaders.

Because of its immune-boosting action, vitamin C has long enjoyed the reputation of preventing the common cold. Actually, that's not quite accurate. Researchers have only been able to document that C lessens cold symptoms. As early as 1979, it was shown that C supplements can reduce cold symptoms by 14 to 21 per cent. The relief is directly due to immune-enhancing power of C. Vitamin C also plays a crucial role in healing by helping the body rebuild the skin and tissues that are damaged in a wound, in the process sealing out infectious germs.

Stress, anxiety and excitement all accelerate the depletion of vitamin C. Vitamin C status has also been found to be poorer in psychiatric patients who have high levels of anxiety. Low C levels are thought to be related to a number of psychological systems —including fatigue, lassitude, depression and in some cases paranoia.

The high concentration in our brain suggests a possible crucial role for the vitamin in mental function and behavior. In short, if we are under psychological stress, and who isn't these days, C may stand for: Cool, Calm and Collected: (More on this wonderful vitamin later...)

My Silent Achievers this week are any of you who have managed to escape the seemingly endless strains of 'flus, colds and viruses making the rounds...SO FAR!!'

We are so very lucky to be able to do it for ourselves.
