11 Members Inducted By Legion Branch As Membership Climbs

With the induction of 11 new members, Chesterville Branch 434 of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., held another very enthusiastic meeting Monday evening where arrangements were made for hockey this winter, a visit by a concert troupe of Ottawa Legionnaires, and the possibility to secure a larger clubroom as the membership has outgrown the Library room used as a meeting place since the Branch was formed recently.

The new Legionnaires inducted were Donald C. Campbell, Leonard J. Moran, Dalton Loughridge, G. Sydney Richmyre, Hubert Robinson, John C. Fulton, Alton Thomas, Bert M. Loucks, E. Johnstone, John R. Craik and John A. Carlyle. Officers officiating at the induction were President, Lyle E. Alford; Vice-President R. H. Fawcett; Sergeant-at-Arms, C. T. Hart and Carl G. Merkley, chairman of the membership committee.

J. Frank Casselman was named chairman of the committee to arrange for the Legion show, his assistants being J. R. Fader, R. Sirvage, F. L. Beckstead, J. R. Craik, J. A. Carlyle, Jas. Fleming, Carl Merkley, Chas. Shane B. M. Loucks, E. Johnstone and Wendall Harper.

Discussing the need for larger club rooms the Executive Committee was asked to investigate and have a report ready for the next meeting on December 2nd.

Plans were discussed for operating a Town League this winter at the Legion Memorial Rink, and each district wishing to enter a team will be represented by a Legion member. The appointment of a committee to operate the rink this winter was left over until the next meeting.

The secretary was instructed to write Mrs. L. H. Doering expressing the thanks of the Branch for the very fine effort in connection with the first annual Poppy Day Campaign, and that she convey the message to the members of her staff.

A vote of thanks was extended to Chas. T. Hart who built the "Broken Column" memorial used at the Remembrance Day Service, on which the wreaths and poppies were deposited in memory of the fallen comrades. The suggestion was made that another year wreaths be deposited by mothers whose sons had made the supreme sacrifice.

Membership in the Branch, which received its charter on October 7th, now stands close to 50. Meetings are held twice monthly on the first and third Mondays.

DUCK TRYING FOR ENDURANCE RECORD?

Dalton Carr has a late spring hatched duck that has been laying since late August and has kept the good work up to date.

Can Andy Clark beat that?

Fire Fighting Demonstration Displays Modern Methods

With a blast from the fire alarm whistle at Nestle's as the signal for starting, a demonstration of modern fire fighting equipment was given on the vacant lot opposite Chas. McMillan's place of business by the C.P.R. tracks, Main street, Thursday evening, by representatives of manufacturers and distributors before a number of firemen from Chesterville, Winchester, Cornwall, Iroquois and interested citizens.

A pile of railway ties, built log cabin style, was saturated with gasoline, and set alight. After a strong blaze had been fanned by the strong northwest wind, the demonstrators went to work with fog nozzles and foam attachments. Three demonstrations were given, and each time the fire was extinguished in a matter of seconds. Water was supplied by the Chesterville Fire Engine. It was estimated only 20 gallons of water were used in each demonstration to quench the roaring fires.

Other demonstrations were given of fire extinguishers in smothering gasoline and oil fires. Especially fast was the $CO_2$ extinguisher, employing carbon dioxide gas under pressure.

Members of the Municipal Council viewed the demonstrations along with the firemen as certain types of equipment are planned to add to the fire fighting facilities, especially to reduce water damage in combatting interior fires.

Following the demonstrations, contests were run off on King street. This programme was curtailed as the Winchester Brigade failed to show up as planned and at the last minute men from the Cornwall Fire Department filled in.

The dance following the demonstration, netted Winchester Fire Department $81.80. The door prizes were won by Miss Lois Cross, Chesterville; Darcy Barkley, Dunbar, and Gordon Smith, Chesterville.

BORN

BARKLEY—At Kingston General hospital, November 18th, 1946, to Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Barkley (nee Marorie Woods), a daughter, (Judith Gail). Both Well.

O Where, O Where Did the Firemen Go? They Promised to Give Us a Show!

Remember the little song "O Where Can My Little Dog Be?"

Fire Chief Gilbert Raistrick of the Winchester Brigade may have been thinking along those lines Thursday night (but the words sounded a bit differently) when his fire fighters couldn't be located at the time competitions with Fire Chief Syd Morris' crew were scheduled.

Winchester Fire Department had arranged for their 2nd Annual Firemen's Ball to be held in the Community Hall as a hall was not available in Winchester. A demonstration of modern equipment and competitions between the fire departments were arranged to precede the dance.

Chesterville's Brigade supplied its pumper, lined up its men, but Winchester's men were not to be found. Some of Fire Chief Cory Moore's men had come up with him from Cornwall, and they pinch-hitted for the contest, which was won by the local boys. But Captain Shy Harper still insists his team lost 10 seconds when Zip Barkley's signal lamp failed to blink.

Map of Eastern Ontario To Advertise Advantages

J. D. Brannen and E. B. Lynch represented The Chesterville Chamber of Commerce at the November meeting of the Eastern Ontario Associated Boards of Trade held in the Chateau Laurier last Wednesday at which 11 member boards were represented.

The association has been negotiating the printing and distribution of several thousand maps depicting Eastern Ontario and its attractions and distinctly marking the centres having Chambers of Commerce or Boards of Trade. A basis of assessment for the member boards as to population was agreed upon and it is expected printing will begin in December.

The maps will be distributed through a central office, to prevent the possibility of overlapping, but each member board may secure a number for its own use.

The President, D. L. Macdonald of Alexandria, emphasized the importance of the Royal Commission on Forestry which will hold sittings in Ottawa on December 5-7. He is preparing a brief for presentation to the Commission and asked that member Boards send him the story as it concerns their locality.

L. J. Fraser, Renfrew, chairman of a committee inquiring into the publishing of a booklet on Industrial Development in Eastern Ontario, reported on the project. C. L. Norwood, of the C.P.R., is writing the subject matter and has taken a great many photographs. Both railways and the Governmegnt will see to the distribution in Great Britain.

The next meeting will be held in Ottawa on Wednesday, Jan. 8.

ENTERS SANATORIUM FOR TREATMENT

Donnie Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith of Chesterville, is a patient in the St. Lawrence Sanatorium, Cornwall, where he will receive treatment for a condition in his knee which has been causing severe pain.

J. Frank Casselman Pays Official Visit to Renfrew Lions

J. Frank Casselman, Chesterville, Deputy District Governor of Zone 13, District A4, Lions International, paid his official visit to the Renfrew club on Thursday evening, and spoke on the benefits a club receives as a member of the international organization.

Affiliation meant strength, he said, whereas an organization working on its own would probably terminate its existence in two years. If a club was fitted with courage, endurance and strength "all this would flow freely to every other club in the association."

Mr. Casselman said that the benefits a member gained "would open up avenues of self-improvement," and to impress his point he cited presentation of reports, active membership work, impromptu speeches, public speaking and cultural development.

Three new members were initiated and three Renfrew prisoners of war at Hong Kong were present at the meeting.

DOUGLAS HOUGH, NEW PRES. CHS LITERARY SOCIETY

Douglas Hough was elected president of the Chesterville High School Literary Society for the 1946-47 school year at a meeting of the student body. The other officers include: vice-president, Margaret Gilroy; secretary, Marjorie McMillan; treasurer, Ardeth Justus; pianist, Shirley Rowe.

Two students were named as representatives from each Grade. They are: Grade 9A, Elaine McMillan and Gordon Giles; Grade 9B, Elaine Fader and Tommy Moran; Grade 10, Jean Feeley and Burton Beckstead; Grade 11, Hazel Byers and Joseph McMahon; Grade 12, Marjorie Merkley; Grade 13, Eileen Ball and Ronald McIntosh.

NAME WAS OMITTED

In the list of War Veterans honoured by Maple Ridge residents, published in The Record two weeks ago the name of Lloyd Fawcett was omitted as one of the guests of honour who received a presentation.

Massena, N.Y., Masons Exemplify 3rd Degree At Chesterville Lodge

Over 100 members of the craft were present when Massena, N.Y., Lodge A.F.&A.M. paid a fraternal visit to Chesterville Masonic Lodge on Tuesday night. Geo. Haskill, Worshipful Master of the Massena Lodge, was accompanied by about 40 members of the Order who exemplified the Third Degree under the direction of W. Bro. B. M. Elder in a very capable manner.

Other lodges represented in the gathering were Newark, Ohio; New Kensington, N.Y.; Canajohorie, N.Y.; Winchester, Finch, Avonmore, Maxville, Kingsville, Shawville, Russell and Williamsburg.

Lunch was served by the Chesterville brethren after which, under the chairmanship of V. W. Bro. Haldane Durant, short addresses were made by R. W. Bro. P. S. Boyd, W. B. G. Haskill, W. Bro. A. O Robertson, and Bro. R. C. Dillabough.

Among those noted in the hall was H. Wilmot Young, well-remembered showman in this district about 20 years ago who now resides in Massena.

Newington Man Dies Suddenly Returning From Bush Work

Byron Rombough, grocer of Newington village, 15 miles south-east of Chesterville, died suddenly from a heart attack while returning home from the bush Monday afternoon.

He and two young men who had been cutting wood for him, Ted Brownlee and Charles Poapst Jr., were one and a half miles from Newington when Mr. Rombough suffered the attack. He was carried from the car and Dr. Pollock called from Avonmore, but the doctor pronounced him dead on his arrival.

Born at Newington 67 years ago, he was a son of the late Isaiah Rombough.

Besides his wife, formerly Ada Clark of Cornwall, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Crossley, wife of Rev. R. S. V. Crossley, of Almonte. Burial will be made in Hillcrest cemetery, Thursday afternoon, following service in Newington United Church.

CABINET MINISTERS TO VISIT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Hon. George H. Doucett, Minister of Highways and Public Works, and Hon. George H. Challies, Vice-Chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, will attend a special meeting of The Chesterville Chamber of Commerce to be held in the Community Theatre, Friday afternoon at 2.30. It is expected the Cabinet Ministers will discuss the future of Highway 43, the Nation River Bridge in Chesterville, and the question of larger High School areas which has been the subject of considerable study by the Chamber. All members are especially requested to be present.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank many of my friends and neighbours for their cards, letters, flowers and visits while I was a patient in Ottawa Civic Hospital. Mrs. Keith Carruthers.

275-Lb., 10-Point Buck is Bagged By Carl Van Camp of Winchester

Said by the game warden to be "the biggest buck" he'd ever seen come out of the Calabogie district, a 10-point buck weighing 275 pounds, was bagged by Carl Van Camp of Winchester who was in a party with Paul Saunders and Ernie Brown of Winchester, and Don Palmer of Ottawa.

Messrs. Brown, Saunders and Palmer have been hunting together for a number of years, and although this is the first year Mr. VanCamp has joined them, they say he can definitely count himself in after this experience. The large buck was downed with but one shot.

Mr. Brown bagged a smaller buck, and Saunders and Palmer each shot a doe.

In addition, the men came home richer by two one-month-old pups which they hope to train for next year's hunt. They considered themselves unlucky in not sighting a bear as they had hoped to bring back at least one this year.

Misfortune Hits Third Time Fire Damages Embrun Bank

When fire swept through the Royal Bank of Canada branch at Embrun shortly before 10 o'clock Tuesday night, it was the third time in seven months that misfortune had struck the small branch.

The blaze, believed to have been caused by overheated furnace pipes in the basement, was quickly brought under control by the Volunteer Fire Brigade under Eugene D'Aoust. The interior of the building, furnishings and equipment were damaged but the bank is expected to resume operations today. A sum of money estimated at $30,000 was in cash in the vault which was undamaged.

Last April 29 two armed and masked men held the manager Joseph Cloutier and his family captive for several hours but were unable to carry out their plan of robbing the bank because of a time lock on the vault. Again last August another holdup attempt by Thomas Ritchie was foiled when Mr. Cloutier fired at the gunman and accidentally wounded Harold Malette, Ottawa taxi driver whom Ritchie had forced to drive him to the village.

Visiting Firemen Remain To Help Fight Real Fire

After setting a number of gasoline fires to prove the efficiency of modern methods and equipment in combatting fires, Chesterville Fire Brigade had a real job on its hands following the demonstration and Firemen's Ball last Thursday night.

Shortly after the dance, the fire alarm was sounded at 2.00 a.m. when a large pile of wooden trays stacked in a vacant lot north of Nestle's plant became ablaze. Fire Chief Cory Moore, Assistant Fire Chief George Hunter and three other members of the Cornwall Fire Department were still in town and with Fire Chief Sydney Morris, took charge of the situation, giving the Chesterville boys excellent lessons in combatting this type of fire, which required flooding as the seat of the fire was well down in the pile of wooden boxes.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank my many friends and neighbours who remembered me with a lovely gift, before going to the hospital. Donnie Smith.

HUNTING SEASON TAKES ITS TOLL

Once again the hunting season has called its devotees to the woods in search of venison, and again it has taken its toll of human life and serious injury. Regardless of the amount of teaching, hunters will persist in careless habits and in shooting before they are certain of what their target really is.

A glowing example of carelessness was reported of a couple of young men shooting at what they thought was blood showing on a bear they had wounded. Their bullet went through the red hunting cap of an older companion and neatly parted his hair. The latter has sworn he's had enough and will never go hunting again. We can't say that we blame him after that exhibition.

Then there have been the cases of leaving rifles loaded. How often has that ill-fated sentence been heard: "I didn't know it was loaded"? An Ottawa man got into the rear seat of his car last week and was seriously wounded when a rifle lying on the floor discharged its bullet into his leg as a jar tripped the trigger.

Such carelessness brings grief into many homes and remorse to the hunter responsible. Observance of a few commonsense rules can remove the chances of it occurring to us or our homes.

ARMY MEDICAL OFFICERS PRAISED FOR WORK

The fine work of the Army's Medical Officers during the last war received recognition this week, praise they earned well combatting the diseases so rampant in other conflicts. It is due to their untiring and earnest study that Canada's armed forces went through the mud and filth of Europe with such a negligent amount of illness.

The troops sometimes crabbed when they had to line up before the M.O. to get their shots of TABT or what-have-you, but they knew the needle-wending M.O. would be their standby after they hit the enemy's shore.

We don't know of any serious epidemic in Canada's armed forces. The filth and dust of Normandy in the hot summer of '44 brought a serious form of dysentery but it wasn't many days before the M.O.'s began dishing out packets of "sulfa" pills that brought quick and sure relief. The doses were great, and so was the feeling of thankfulness from the sufferers.

Contemplating the mud and water that was the lot of the Canadians in the Low Countries, we marvel that hundreds didn't die of pneumonia or kindred diseases. Certainly, if they endured the same conditions in civilian life there would be serious trouble.

To a glorious band of men goes a tribute well-earned, and expressed by every man who donned the King's uniform.

RECKLESS DRIVING WITH TRACTORS

Some operators of the modern, high speed tractors, appear to be under the impression that the rules of commonsense driving on the highways and streets do not apply to them. But accidents are just as painful and costly to tractor drivers as to ordinary, run-of-the-mill motorists.

Yesterday we saw one machine tearing down street and around corners at a very reckless pace—loaded with four or five boys of high school age. Perhaps they did not realize the menace to traffic they were creating, but with cars, trucks and large numbers of school children on the street at that hour the danger was terrific. Perhaps a bit of parental discipline and a talk by their teachers would clear up this situation before an accident occurs.

Municipal nominations are not many days away, being set for tomorrow, Friday afternoon, in the Township of Winchester, and Monday, December 2nd, in the village of Chesterville.

Should we touch wood? Boy, this weather is something we have dreamed about. Maybe the North American continent is getting warmer, as we read the other day.

Canadian Youth on Parade

By W. HUBERT DIXON, B.A.

W. Hubert Dixon, B.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Dixon of Chesterville, was recently named President of the Niagara District Guidance Association at a meeting held in St. Catherines, and has 11 schools under his jurisdiction. He has been teaching in Stamford High school for the past year.

The following letter was written by Mr. Dixon for The Niagara Falls Evening Review, November 9, as the final article during Education Week.

* * * *

Young Canada is on parade. The energy of the present, the hope of the future, what are they like? Some are tall and some are short. Some are graceful and some are awkward. Some seem to be mature beyond their age, and others are children.

There are those among them who swing along in the full glory of adolescent strength and beauty, with chins up and dreams of conquest in their eyes. Others, with timid feet and bowed heads, appear to have difficulty in keeping up with the procession.

These young people represent all degrees of economic security, or insecurity. They are the products of many national, cultural and religious backgrounds. As they move along we realize that they possess great potentialities for good or for evil. Unless their ardor has been dampened by unfortunate childhood experiences, they are equipped with boundless energy and enthusiasm and are looking to us for help in achieving the ideals and ambitions toward which they are striving.

These are our sons and daughters —Canadians all. The extent to which they, as adults, shall be fitted to meet these responsibilities of Canadian citizenship depends in part upon the kind of guidance that we give them now and the example that we set for them. The future is theirs. What they will make of that future is our responsibility as well as theirs. Perhaps never in history have adults evidenced a greater interest in adolescent psychology and mental hygiene than is now apparent. However, there is danger in the fact that with this increased concern for the welfare of young people there may develop an undue emphasis upon failure, rather than upon success in achieving adolescent adjustment. Our papers are full of articles such as "Juvenile delinquency is increasing daily." "Boy delinquents work in gangs, girls alone." Let us deal more with success than with failure to live up to a good social standard.

To what directing influence does an adolescent respond? Does he respond to precept or example? Can we require a young person to do as we say, or must we expect that he will do as we do? Have we the right to set up one code of ethics for our children, because this code will be of value to them and to society in the future, and at the same time direct our own behavior in terms of individual satisfactions and interests rather than according to group ideals. If we as adults wish to prevent adolescent maladjustment or delinquency, we must be certain that our own behavior is above suspicion.

The majority of young people are confronted by more or less serious problems connected with their home life, their school experiences, their work activities and their social relationship. The factors most commonly cited as those which are likely to predispose toward adolescent maladjustment include the following: parental discord, lack of understanding of adolescent psychology on the part of parents and school faculties, inadequacy of school offerings, inadequate recreational facilities, unwholesome neighbourhood conditions, unpreparedness for vocational activities, or unintelligent job placement.

Those of us whose function it is to help young people achieve a respected and useful place in adult society, cannot be satisfied with the acceptance of certain glittering generalities concerning the adjustment process of all young people. Our task must be more painstaking and individualized. Although good groundwork can be laid by working with individuals in a group, our real guidance must be directed specifically toward each individual and his own personal problems.

We must study and understand each young person with whom we are working. We must become thoroughly acquainted with his inherent nature —his mental ability, his state of health, his degree of emotional stability, his interests, and his habitual attitudes. Moreover, we must know and evaluate his home, his school or his job, his community environments, and the interrelations that exist among them. It is a time consuming job but its value can never be measured in dollars and cents.

It is a common saying that home is where the heart is. It is probably true that the heart is moulded in the home. Psychologists tell us that the first six years of an individual's life are most important. This is the period during which the fundamental attitudes and habits are developed. The child receives his first guidance lessons in the home and it can be concluded that the family is primarily responsible for the kind of person a child ultimately will become.

The Stamford Board of Education realizing the necessity of early guidance work has extended its programme in the schools from kindergarden to placement on the job. This work to augment the valuable guidance work done by teachers and principals. But this work cannot be done by the schools alone—its fundamental work must be done at home and in most cases the fault for maladjustment lies in the parents and not in the student.

Herein lies a task for everyone. Complete co-operation of parents with the schools, and the guidance department. Don't hold back important facts of maladjustment. An ounce of prevention in the elementary schools is worth a pound of cure in the secondary school or in adult life. Complete co-operation of all organizations dealing with youth and an exchange of ideas and information. Complete co-operation of business and industry. We are now training your future workers—your future citizens and leaders of the Dominion of Canada.

Labour Should Tell Its Story

By R. J. Deachman

After all we have made progress in the Dominion of Canada during the last few years, progress in more ways than one. The relationships between the consumer and producer are better than they have ever been before. Business has explained its own position. Publicity has created a new atmosphere. Some of the changes have grown out of criticism which was the fruit of misunderstanding, out of evil and stupidity good sometimes comes.

The banks by telling their story have altered entirely the public reaction to them. They have broadened their service, extended their business, they are now a more closely integrated part of the national life. A recent issue of Harper's Magazine containers a humorous article entitled: "You Wouldn't Know The Old Farm Now". It shows among other things, a farmer, in the old days, going into a bank with fear and trembling to ask for a loan. Now he borrows money as he buys gasoline—it's an ordinary job. He is a borrower, the bank is a lender—that's all there is to it, a mutually profitable transaction.

In early days in Western Canada, "the railways were in the doghouse." The country was growing, it was difficult to make the service equal the demand. Growth was rapid, country was filling up. The railways kept on doing their best. They met the challenge. In course of time the whole scene changed, criticizm gave place to admiration. The railways told their story to the public. Their annual reports depict clearly the work performed. Railways are now service organizations of tremendous size—doing a big job and doing it well, they couldn't do it if they were smaller. We are getting away from the fear of size.

For long years the farmers and stock dealers regarded the packers with suspicion, but the packers have told their story to the public so often and so well that the public attitude has changed, and the fact is now recogized that the packing industry in order to be efficient has to be big and it has to be honest. In the well-known and oft quoted aphorism of Elbert Hubbard, "A crook can run a peanut stand but a great business must be bound together with integrity.

Big business now tells its story to the public as it never did before. Today corporation stocks are more widely held. In a great many of our large institutions the stock holders number more than the workers. Investment in industry is widely diffused. Even where stocks and bonds are held abroad they form the basis theof demand for domestic products. The money paid out in dividends comes back for Canadian goods.

The new atmosphere has been created by improvement in service and then letting the facts be known. The same process should be more widely applied. Everyone knows that the labor unions have a task to perform. They have an objective, a purpose in life, they ought to tell us what it is. It is highly important that we should know more of the service they render to the nation and to their members. Are they organized solely for the purpose of bringing about a higher hourly rate of wages? Does their field and scope cover a wider area? Are they interested in the number employed? Do they consider the total volume of wage payments as well as the hourly wage rate? Are they aware of the fact that at times there are sharp increases of total wage payments with merely a nominal increase or even a reduction of wage rates? Labor should make a clear statement of its objective and the proposed means of attaining it. Labor has never given a clear presentation of its case. In its public relations it is a generation behind the times.

Business institutions have gained much from publicity. It has enabled them to widen their field of activity, to broaden their human relationships. In this effort labor should set an example. Its problem is above everything else a human one. It must be regarded in that way. Labor has a case and it should be presented in the light of modern thought. Labor stands now where industry stood thirty or forty years ago. It has missed all the revivifying influence of modern progress. Labor and industry should march together to lift the standards of mankind.

20 Years Ago

Thursday, November 18th, 1926

As Chesterville's new covered rink is nearing completion considerable pride was expressed by many citizens of town and country with the fine appearance it was making, also in the fact that Chesterville's reputation as a hockey village would become wider known.

The marriage of Eleanor Catherine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Schwerdfeger of Froatburn, to Milburn Hyslop of Iroquois, was solemnized Wednesday at noon with the officiating clergyman being Rev. Jacobi of Morrisburg.

Brock N. Harper, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Harper, was elected by acclamation to the older Boys' Parliament from Dundas for the years 1926-27.

Mr. Joseph Wesley Johnston was elected a member of the session of Chesterville United church last Sunday at a congregational meeting following the regular service.

Mr. Milton Shaver, while cranking his car after the concert Tuesday night, had the misfortune to have his wrist broken when the engine backfired.

A young, stylish woman was extremely vain of the honors conferred upon two distant male relatives. She talked on the subject to all and sundry:

"I have two relatives in the House of Lords. Have you any."

"No," replied one of her acquaintances, "but I have three maiden aunts in the Kingdom of Heaven."

Diamond Anniversary Presbyterian W.M.S. Observed at Dunbar

The 60th Anniversary of the Dunbar Auxilliary of the Presbyterian W.M.S., was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Miles Marcellus on November 13th, 1946, with over forty ladies present from Morewood, Chesterville and Dunbar. The president called the meeting to order at 2 o'clock and the Doxology was sung, followed with prayer by Mrs. Heustin. The devotional period was taken by Miss Helen Jamieson and Mrs. George Crawford of Chesterville. Miss Jamieson took as her bible lesson Timothy 2nd, Chapter 4, ably explaining "Life" as a journey—she stressed the fact that first—God needs ourselves, secondly our service, and thirdly our worship; God alone can save the world, but God cannot save the world alone. Each and every one of us must do our part in "sending the Gospel to every creature."

Mrs. H. McMillan, accompanied by Mrs. B. M. Loucks gave an instrumental duet, and Mrs. MacGregor of Morewood, extended hearty congratulations on 60 years of service, and gave an inspirational talk on "sharing responsibilities. A vocal duet "Nearer My God to Thee" was rendered by Mrs. Archie Black and Mrs. Irvin Cross. Miss Eva Carlyle, who had served as secretary for 27 years gave the review of the society since the inception 60 years ago. Since that time over $7,000 has been sent to Brockville Presbyterial and almost $2000 in bales of clothing, quilts, etc have been sent to the Canadian North West. There have been 17 Life Members, 21 presidents, 10 secretaries and ten treasurers who have served office in those 60 years of work, and today we honour their memory, our officers of the past who were so earnest and faithful in this splendid cause. The offering was taken by Miss Beth Carlyle and Mrs. Brownell gave the offeratory prayer. A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the presentation of Life Membership pins to Miss Evelyn Marcellus from her mother and Miss Doonie Dillabough by her mother, and Margery and Evalene Thom from their aunt, Miss Nettie Thom. These were presented by the Life Membership Secretary of Brockville Presbyterial who also dedicated the presentation with prayer. The giving of a Life Membership Certificate from the Society was to have been presented to Miss Evalene Thom, but she was unable to be present.

Letters of greetings were received from Mrs. (Rev.) George Mason of Bowmanville, Mrs. (Rev.) Maitland of Morrisburg and Mrs. I. P. McIntosh, visiting presidents and past presidents also brought greetings and congratulations from Dunbar Ladies' Aid were voiced by Mrs. Chas. Beckstead and Mrs. Frank Todd. Rev. W. H. Heustin gave an address on "Building a Firm Foundation," pointing out that if built on Christian faith much could be accomplished, and stated the application of Romans 12th Chapter and verse II to missionary work, and we would go forward into a decade to be proud of and that Jesus Christ is worthy of our best. He expressed sincere hope for the success of the societies represented, assuring us of his prayers.

The president asked that the hymn "Blest be the Tie that Binds" be sung and the meeting closed with "O God of Bethel", and prayer by Rev. Heustin. A social hour followed and a dainty lunch was served. A beautifully decorated birthday cake was cut by Mrs. Heustin and those present were asked to take a piece home to any members unable to be present.

BRITISH FIRM MANUFACTURES NEW GRINDING MILL

Among the many new machines designed for the farmer in Britain and overseas is a grinding mill developed by a British firm. The mill, which is made of light alloy, is four and a quarter feet high and weighs two hundred pounds. It is driven by a 1½ horse power motor and petrol or electric motors can be supplied with the machine. It can grind any grain, and any type of roughage such as straw, hay, clover, either individually or in combination. It can be also used to break down lime or fertilizers. Precutting plates chop the material as it enters the grinding screen. In conjunction with an enlarged screen area they enable the machine to grind twice as quickly than existing mills of comparable size. Much less power is used.

Picture shows: Line of mills ready to leave the factory. The mill in the foreground is equipped with 1½ horse power petrol motor. Others have electric motors. Manufacturers are Lipton Products Ltd. of Woburn Green Nr. High Wycombe, England.

DEATH OF LINDEN BOAL

It is with deep regret we announce whose sad and sudden death occurred at the Canada Starch Co. plant at Cardinal on Wednesday, November 13th. The late Mr. Boal was born at Sandtown where he spent most of his life. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John R. Boal. He was twice married, his first wife being Miss Violet Campbell and his second wife, Miss Elizabeth Ann Heafy. Linden, as he was called, was liked by everyone. He was a kind husband and loving father with a kind disposition, making him many friends who will miss him greatly.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his sorrowing wife and three children, Ray of Finch and Viola and Donnie at home; one brother, John of Ottawa, and two sisters, Eva Scott of Massena and Mrs. Graham Silmser of Cornwall.

The funeral was held from his late home at Cardinal to the Wesleyan Methodist Church at Newington, where a very impressive service was given by the Rev. James Bain of Cornwall assisted by the Rev. Mr. Weaver of Newington. Hymns sung were "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me". Mr. Willis Waldroff sang "Goodnight Here and Good Morning Up There".

The floral offerings were many and beautiful, which showed the esteem in which the late Mr. Boal was held.

Pall bearers were Earl Helmer, John Hehir, Ross Scott, Harry Gove, Thorald Whiting and Millen Mattice.

We extend our sympathy to the sorrowing wife and family, also to the brothers and sisters and other friends and relatives in their sad bereavement.

NEW FORMS OF BLOOD TRANSFUSION

Blood transfusions are being used more and more in new ways for treating every kind of imaginable disease. An outstanding success has been achieved by a Blackpool doctor in combating rheumatism. The blood with which the doctor injects the patient is not drawn from a healthy person, but from the patient himself. The blood is then exposed to the rays of an ultra-violet lamp and is finally put back into the rheumatic patient.

Reception to Newly Weds At Williamsburg

On November 5th a reception was held at Paul's Dance Hall at Williamsburg in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Barkley. About 11.30 the address was read. The couple was presented with a studio couch and a purse of money. Many gifts were received from friends and relatives.

The following address was read by Mrs. Gerald McMillan:

Dear Emerson and Marjorie:

We, your friends and neighbours, have gathered here this evening, to congratulate you on your recent marriage. It is the ardent wish of all that God will continue to be your guide along life's road and that the future years hold happiness and prosperity for you.

You Marjorie, have always lived among us and during those years we have learned to love and respect your many fine traits of character. Your helpful manner should prove an excellent asset to your new partnership. We greatly admire your selection of a husband, and feel sure that he will be forever worthy of your love.

Emerson, you have lived in our community all your life and we have been able to view with satisfaction the development of your truly fine character. You have been a wonderful neighbour, and have always been able and willing to extend a helping hand. Your ideals have been of the highest standing and you have proven this again to us in your excellent choice of a life partner. We are grateful that you will be living near us, so that we can call you "Our Neighbours".

As a small token of our esteem, we ask you to accept these gifts. May they be a cheerful reminder of a pleasant evening, spent among your friends and may health continue to knock at your door.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbours, Mr. Rae Weegar, Mr. Gerald McMillan, Mr. Hugh McMillan, Mrs. Wm. Dillabough, Mrs. Maurice Beckstead, Miss Beatrice Herriman.

With words of appreciation Emerson thanked them on behalf of his wife and himself for the beautiful gifts and asked everyone to come and see them at their home in Elma.

All joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows".

BUCKETS OF MONEY

Strange things happen at Post Office counters. One of the strangest was when an old farmer handed a bucket of money over the counter with the remark that there was a thousand pounds ($4,000) "for the Bank and National Savings". The somewhat dazed clerk, more used to bags than buckets as money containers, counted the money and found only £900 ($3,600). The farmer asserted that he had counted the money only that morning, and he was sure it was £1,000 ($4,000). The clerk made another count and still it was only £900. The farmer then had a brain-wave: "The wife has given me the wrong bucket."

Attended by many friends of the family, the funeral of Mrs. George Wells was held Wednesday afternoon last week, from her home in Aultsville, to Trinity United Church and the United cemetery there. Mrs. Wells died in hospital in Brockville, Sunday morning. She had been in failing health for some time.

The service was conducted by Rev. Roy McEachern, who paid tribute to Mrs. Wells as a church member and home worker, she being devoted to her home and family rather than a worker in organizations of the village.

Hymns sung during the service were "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me".

Pall bearers were James Young, Bernard Gillard, Charles Dafoe, Jas. O'Shaughnessy, Reuben Gallinger and George Beckstead.

Relatives and friends were present from Winchester, Chesterville, Morrisburg, Cornwall, Ottawa, Finch and the surrounding district.

Many lovely floral tributes were placed about the casket by relatives and friends. The family received many messages of sympathy.

Mrs. Wells was born in Chesterville on January 24, 1873, and passed her 73rd birthday last January. She was a daughter of James Edgerton, her maiden name being Jennie Margaret Edgerton. She was married to Mr. Wells in 1902 and since made her home in the Aultsville area.

Life in Poland Bleak Under Russian Masters Speaker Tells Rotarians

"Anyone with a leaning toward the Russian way of life should spend some time in Poland to appreciate our democratic methods," declared John R. Fader, local horseman, who spoke to the Rotary Club of Chesterville, Monday evening, of experiences on a voyage to Poland with a cargo of UNNRA horses. Russion soldiers enforce regulations at the point of the bayonet, and Communist censorship blankets every phase of life—schools, movies, and so on.

P. S. Boyd, introduced Mr. Fader, stating that while he had been engaged in several businesses in the district, the speaker was best known as a horseman, and it was in that calling he was chosen by the Federal government to purchase horses in the West for UNNRA. Mr. Fader served four and a half years with the Canadian Forestry Corps in Scotland, before transfer to No. 1 Despatch Coy., 1 Canadian General Reinforcement Unit, where he was promoted to the rank of Company Sergeant Major and was awarded the British Empire Medal.

After securing his horses, Mr. Fader said they loaded the 807 beasts at Montreal in 3½ hours, September 4, and left the same day on the voyage to Poland. Off Iceland difficulty was experienced with fog and icebergs, but later the wind picked up in their favour. Close inspection was made daily of the horses tied up on three decks and while 160 were suffering from distemper as the ship pulled away from Canada every one recovered and the complete cargo was delivered to Polish officials of UNNRA. This was declared a record by the officials, who said the quality of the Canadian horses was superior to previous shipments from other countries.

Rounding the Orkney Islands, at the northern tip of Scotland, the ship proceeded through the North Sea, the Skaggeraks, still infested with mine fields, and into the Baltic toward the Polish port of Nieuport, near Danzig and Gdynia. After reporting to the harbour officials, a crowd, all in uniforms, swarmed aboard, including Russian soldiers, most of them carrying rifles.

Under the Russians

After inspection, the staff of 32 were given passes and allowed to go ashore. Mr. Fader and the chief engineer visited Danzig on Sunday afternoon and saw German girls at forced labour clearing away debris from bombed areas, working in bare feet on the rough surface, guarded by Russians. Their wages in Polish paper money were equivalent to 12c a day.

Gdynia, a city of 150,000, was built up from a village of 500 after the last war by the Germans and the city missed much of the bombing of this last war. They were guided by a Pole who was very careful not to speak to them when riding on the trolley or bus because of the fear of Russian spies who were everywhere. he said. He had been arrested four times previously and questioned by the Russian police after guiding Americans about the Baltic Port.

They enjoyed excellent meals in the restaurants, said Mr. Fader, and he believed there was plenty of food, and clothing, in the country but it was in the hands of the black marketeers — who seemed to embrace every class of the population. Their guide declared Poland would never rise again under Russian domination, and only by aid from Great Britain and America could the Poles regain liberty. They haven't the heart to rebuild their homes and villages as they realize progress would benefit only their Russian masters. What money they can save is hidden, so afraid are they of another war. Their guide admitted his people had become so confused they were developing into a quarrelsome, thieving people, and his prayer was to escape with his family to the Berlin zone and the British or American troops.

Leaving Poland the following morning, the ship again made the route north of Scotland, and after seven days at sea was ordered to its home port at Savannah, Ga., because of the impending shipping strike. The captain had planned on loading another lot of horses at Montreal for Trieste.

Thanking the speaker, past president Walter J. Carr, said we could be mighty glad we were living in a country with a democratic government, and not under the heel of dictators.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Come December if fruit cakes and puddings are not already on your shelves, they should be on your conscience. You should not put off this baking much longer, especially if you want the most luscious flavour which requires some time for seasoning.

We have made small amounts because our butter and sugar quota is low. However, smaller servings will make our special treats go farther during the festive season—we hope.

DARK FRUIT CAKE

½ cup butter, ¾ cup brown sugar, ¾ cup seeded raisins (cut), ¾ cup currants, ½ cup citron (sliced thin), ½ cup molasses, ½ tsp. lemon extract, 2 cups flour. 2 eggs, ½ cup milk, ½ tsp. soda, 1 tsp. cinnamon, ½ tsp. allspice, ½ tsp. mace, ¼ tsp. cloves.

Cream butter, blend in sugar and beat in eggs. Sprinkle fruit with 2 tbsps. of the measured flour. Add sifted flour and spices alternately with milk and molasses to the butter mixture. Fold in the fruit. Bake in greased deep pans for 1¼ hours in electric oven at 325 degs.

WHITE FRUIT CAKE

1 cup butter, 2 cups sugar, 5 egg whites, 4 cups sifted cake flour, 4 tsps. baking powder, 2|3 cup orange juice, grated rind of 1 orange, 1 cup seedless raisins, ½ cup mixed candied peel (shredded), ½ cup of candied pineapple (shredded).

Cream butter and sugar until very light. Beat egg whites until stiff, then add to the butter mixture. Work in the flour, sifted with baking powder, alternately with the orange juice and rind. Fold in fruit and almonds. Turn into greased and lined loaf pan 8x8x3 inches. Decorate top of cake before baking if desired, with candied cherries and whole almonds. Bake in an electric oven at 350 degs. for 1½ to 1¾ hours.

BANANA WALNUT CAKE

½ cup shortening, 1½ cups granulated sugar, 2 eggs (well beaten), 1⅞ cups sifted cake or pastry flour, ½ tsp. salt, ½ tsp. soda, ¾ cup sour milk or buttermilk, 1 cup banana pulp (2 to 3 bananas), 1 tsp. vanilla, 1 cup chopped walnuts.

Cream shortening thoroughly. Add sugar gradually and cream the mixture until light and fluffy. Add beaten eggs and beat well. Sift together the flour salt and soda. Add to the sugar mixture alternately with the combined sour milk, banana pulp and vanilla. Beat after each addition until smooth. Lastly add the walnuts. Pour into a greased and lightly floured 8x8x2-inch loaf cake tin. Bake in an electric oven of 350 degrees for 50 to 60 mins. or until done.

CARROT PUDDING

1½ cups crumbs, 1 tbsp. shortening or ½ cup fine chopped suet, ¼ tsp. salt, ½ cup grated carrots, 1 tsp. baking powder, 1 cup molasses, ½ cup chopped prunes, ½ cup raisins, ½ cup chopped figs or evaporated apples, ½ cup ground nuts, ½ lemon.

Brown the crumbs and mix them with the fat. Salt the carrots which have been grated or put through the meat-grinder, and add them to the crumbs. Next add the molasses, fruit, nuts, lemon juice and grated rind. Mix all together well and stir in the baking powder. Turn into a well-greased mould and steam for four or five hours. Serve with a raisin sauce.

STEAMED GRAHAM PUDDING

½ cup ground cracklings, 1 cup molasses, 1 cup sour milk, 2 cups graham flour, ½ cup corn meal, 4 tsps. baking powder, ½ tsp. soda, 1 tsp. salt, 1 cup seeded raisins, 2 tbsps. white flour, 1 tsp. cinnamon, ½ tsp. each, mace. cloves, allspice, ginger.

Mix and sift the dry ingredients, except the white flour. Add molasses and milk to cracklings. Combine mixtures. Mix white flour and raisins and add to mixture. Turn into greased mould. Cover and steam three hours. Serve with caramel or lemon sauce.

TAKE A TIP

1. If you have trouble making light poultry stuffing try adding a pinch of baking powder. You'll find it especially helpful now that we are using potatoes instead of bread.
2. Try roast chicken with an apple and raisin stuffing for a new flavour. Cut 3 large apples in large chunks and mix with a handful of seedless raisins and 1 tbsp. butter. Stuff and roast chichen in usual way.
3. Save and clarify meat drippings, place them in a container with an equal amount of cold water. Bring to a boil, remove from stove and cool. The fat will solidify and rise to the top, the impurities will settle on the bottom of the pan. This fat makes good biscuits, pastry, gravies or sauces such as creole—good for frying, too.
4. Sugarless hot fudge sauce: Melt 2 squares baking chocolate in top of double boiler. Add ½ tsp. salt and 1 cup light syrup. Blend until thickened. Serve warm.

Is Research Meeting Farm Needs?

The Dominion Experimental Farms Service celebrated its diamond jubilee this year. In sixty years the Experimental Farms have grown from the original five established in 1886, to a chain across the country of 29 Farms and Stations, 6 sub-stations, 8 Laboratories, 157 Illustration Stations and 51 District Experiment Sub-Stations.

Great changes have taken place in Canadian agriculture in these sixtv years. The amount of land used for farming has increased fourfold. Land sown to grains such as wheat, oats and barley has increased from 15 million to 57 million acres. The number of hogs on farms is now about seven times what it was in 1886.

This tremendous growth in agriculture was given many a push forward by the research work of the Dominion Experimental Farms. Through the discovery of marquis wheat—early maturing and hence frost-evading—the prairies were enabled to become the "Bread basket of the world." Later wheat varieties—Renown, Apex, Thatcher, Regent, Redman—have the same hard quality of Marquis but in addition are rust-resistant. Now there is also a sawfly-resistant wheat called Rescue.

But wheat has been only one of the fields of activity of the Experimental Farms. They have also developed suitable varieties of hybrid corn, tobacco, sugar beets, soybeans. They have done a great deal of valuable work on varieties of fruit, on soil conservation, on animal breeding and animal nutrition, on weed control and insect pest control, and many other problems of agriculture.

Other agencies besides the Dominion Experimental Farms are active in agricultural research. Some of these are Dominion—the National Research Council, the Economics Division and the Science Service of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Some are Provincial—the Experimental Farms of Provincial Departments of Agriculture and the Colleges of Agriculture. And some are private organizations and commercial firms such as the canning companies.

The subject of agricultural research wlil be discussed in National Farm Radio Forum on November 25th. The question will be, "Is Research Meeting Farm Needs?"

In 1944, of the 472 Canadian factories engaged in the manufacture of wooden furniture of all kinds, 208 were located in Ontario. ### NOT UNDERSTOOD

By Thomas Bracken

Not understood? We move along asunder.
Our paths grow wider as the seasons creep
Along the years; we marvel and we wonder
Why life is life? And then we fall asleep—
Not understood.

Not understood? We gather false impressions,
And hug them closer as the years go by,
'Till virtues often seem to us transgressions.
And thus men rise and fall, and live and die—
Not understood.

O God! that men would see a little clearer,
Or judge less harshly where they cannot see;
O God! that men would draw a little nearer
To one another; they'd be near Thee—
And understood.

Making Elaborate Display Chinese Ceremonial Robes

Close to a hundred elaborate Chinese costumes will be displayed in the Chinese Fresco Gallery of the Royal Ontario Museum, November 7th to December 1st. The show has been made possible through the generosity of the Robert Simpson Company, and many of the costumes were their gift to the museum.

The gorgeous colours and exquisite needlework represent the wealth of the Chinese court throughout the centuries of the Ching dynasty, which toppled in the Chinese revolution of 1911.

The wealth of design combined with the stylized embroidery was strictly controlled by custom. Those rich embroideries were not merely decoration. Each motif had a special meaning, and the number of dragons and even the number of their claws was significant.

The women's costumes show what court ladies wore, both in summer and in winter. Special embroidery stitches used will be demonstrated in large scale models, along with explanations of the symbolism of the designs.

A complimentary exhibit in the adjoining gallery will display such things as fans, hats, shoes and embroidered furnishings. It will be a priceless opportunity to see this extensive collection displayed all together.

RETURNS FROM FLORIDA

Miss Madge Campderros of Montreal and Miss Addie Campderros of Ottawa were week-end guests of Miss Betty Bolster. Miss Madge Campderros returned recently from a visit with her brother, Mr. Ramon Campderros, and Mrs. Campderros, in Tampa, Fla., spending a week-end enroute home with Rev. and Mrs. R. A. Thompson, Charleston, S.C. Her mother, Mrs. R. M. Campderros, who accompanied her to Florida is planning on spending several more weeks there.
