Winter Carnival

Iroquois Winter Carnival 1973 was played in low key, in deference to the neighbouring ones of younger vintage.

In the Civic Centre at 8 p.m. on Friday, acting Reeve Frank Rooney gave the welcome address and turned over the opening Beauty Pageant to the commentator, Bonnie Adair. Judges for the pageant were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Galvin and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Whiteland, all of Brockville. Caldwells' of Iroquois provided the setting and gifts; Beaupre Jewellers, the costume accessories; and the merchants of Iroquois, prizes for the contestants. The girls made three appearances and answered an impromptu question. Queen of the Pageant was Renee Barnhardt who was crowned by 1972 Queen, Anne Summers. The first runner-up was Debbie Delegarde; second, Sherri Fader and third, Jennie Karelse.

Between appearances, the audience was entertained by three tiny kilted dancers, Pam Gowanlock, Tracey Gilmer and Janice McGee doing the Highland Fling; Barry Casselman with accordion solos and Kimberley Wagner with a gymnastic routine. Cindy Mason, Rondalyn and Meridee Adair did the Sword Dance and Gayle Robertson gave a delightful rendition of "The Flora MacDonald".

Renee will be sponsored by the Village of Iroquois in the Miss Eastern Ontario Beauty Pageant to be held next month in Perth.

On Saturday, in Central Park, about 70 Novices and Tykes entertained with hockey. The Girl's Broomball team played against an All-Star Boy's team and the Peewee A's defeated the B's by one score.

Winners of the Ice Races were:

Iroquois W.I. meet

The Iroquois U.C.W. met in the church parlour on Tuesday evening of last week to share a meeting which centred its theme on poverty.

A film was viewed "Challenge for Change" which, although most disturbing, surely "tells it as it is." This was followed by comments from Nelda Brown who convened the evening's programme, from the report of the Senate Committee on Poverty re the Income Floor, guaranteed minimum wage, etc. We may have different opinions on the use (or abuse) of welfare payments and unemployment insurance payments but to see the ghastly situations thousands of families are living with, as revealed in the film, was shocking.

The worship service, conducted by Nelda Brown, assisted by Cora McAdam and Joan Gee, said to the members "You believe from where you are an individual in a small town, you can make no dent in this national and world-wide problem". We can all remember long ago when in behind the counter of every general store could be found a long-handled p pole having at one end two grippers. This appliance was used to reach boxes from the top shelves. By using it, it became possible for the smallest child to reach the farthest shelves. Nothing was beyond his grasp when he used the "reacher". For us the church in our reacher - no problem however great or seemingly remote is beyond our power of influence if we work through the church and its channels.

There were calls and responses made by the ladies who represented The Church and The Church Women.

Hymns sung were 377 and "Lift Me, O Lord into Thy Living Light" by Georgia Harkness.

President Irene Haldane took the chair for the business period with Joan Gee as acting secretary. After hearing past minutes, plans were made for a Lions Dinner on Feb. 26, further preparation made for World Day of Prayer Mar. 2

Joan Gee promoted the use of the 1st Annual Report of Division of Mission and a brief report from Presbyterial Executive announced May 9 as our date for Annual Presbyterial.

The evening closed with tea and a half-hour of fellowship.

On St. Valentin's day, a group of 14 ladies from Iroquois United Church motored to the Brockville Psychiatric Hospital to provide a party for some forty or more patients. There is much to be told about such a visit and to those who participated the personal rewards are great. If any other groups would be interested in a visit there, members of the U.C.W. can tell you what contact to make for follow-through. The hospital staff warmly welcomes the participation of people from districts outside of Brockville and a true gift of the heart is to spend a few hours with what very possibly may be some of our most forgotten people.

Miss Dominion of Canada To Be Special Guest

The 1972 Miss Dominion of Canada, Bonny Brady, will be the special guest of the 19th Annual Miss Eastern Ontario Beauty Pageant at Perth on March 23 and 24. This was announced this week by Murray Stone, the Public Relations director of the Pageant.

For Bonny, it will be a happy return to her home town after representing Canada in four major beauty pageants around the world --the only girl in the world to so represent her country. Bonny has already been Canada's Ambassador of Beauty in the Miss Universe Pageant in Puerto Rico, the Miss International Pageant in Tokyo, Japan, and the Miss World in London, England. On February 26th, she flies to Melbourne, Australia for the Miss Queen of the Pacific Pageant, returning in the early part of March.

Bonny was crowned the 1972 Miss Eastern Ontario last March 25th, the first Perth girl ever to win that title in 18 years, and went on to become the first entry ever from the Miss Eastern Ontario Beauty Pageant to win the title of Miss Dominion of Canada.

Mr. Stone also announced this week that 22 indicated entries are on file as of Feb. 15th for the Pageant on March 23, 24 with three from Cornwall, four from Richmond, two from Pembroke, three from Perth, two from Tweed, one each from Carleton Place, Brockville, Osgoode, Iroquois, Navan, Lanark Township, Bancroft and Belleville. This marks the first time ever for Bancroft and Belleville entries.

Expected shortly are entries from Kingston, Arnprior, Kars, Smiths Falls, Almonte, Pakenham, Westport, Ottawa, and other centres in eastern Ontario. Any centre wishing entry should contact Mr. Stone at once c/o Box 271, Perth, Ont.

ONE STEP AT A TIME ! !

Last year the Executive Committee of Counties Council at Cornwall put forth a proposal for consideration that three small municipalities in the Counties amalgamate with their nearest township. This proposal will be given study during the coming year by representatives all all member municipalities.

The first reason for such a proposal comes because Counties Council has been growing in number over the years, while the actual flow of work has been decreasing. Perhaps also, better organization at the Counties level of government has had some bearing.

In a sense, the proposal is a start on the regionalization of the Counties to a more viable unit. With about 35 members sitting at the sessions and with a decreasing workload it is inevitable that the size must be decreased in the interest of cost firstly, and in the interest of better government secondly.

Larger numbers do not necessarily mean better government.

Finch, Maxville and Lancaster are the three municipalities that would be affected, each with less than one million dollars' assessment and each with fairly small population.

Municipalities such as Iroquois, while close to the line as far as population is concerned, have a much larger assessment base and therefore more able to meet the demands made by its citizens for community services.

We can see the day when Counties Council will also have to study a further cut in its size, when the Counties will be divided on a different basis than at present. When some form of County Unit will be formed, whether it take in as an example all of Dundas County, or whether the North portion of Dundas joins with the North portion of Stormont, and all the South section of these two Counties joins together. We can see the day not that far off when economics and a changing demand by society will force the issue.

We would sooner see the planning done now while there is still time for adequate planning than to wait until we have to rush in. In the resulting rush of decisions will come a rash of mistakes. These mistakes can be avoided and must be avoided.

The first step will be considered this year and given all due consideration. But while inviting discussion on the first step, Counties Councillors should also keep in mind future problems and future planning so that the first step automatically becomes the right step.

BILL TELLS IT LIKE IT IS

by Bill Smiley

We all have to stand up and be counted sometime, even though we manage to duck out of it until the last trumpet sounds. People who express their honest opinions are not always popular, but I never aimed for that, so here goes. My opinions on some of the burning issues of the day.

Open winters. I'm in favour of them. We've had a beauty this winter, with only a few cold snaps, only a few feet of snow, a peachy January thaw, and lots of sun.

I'd like to say my heart goes out to the skiers and snowmobilers, but it would be a lie. I don't care if their snowmobiles sit in the back yard and rust, or if their skis warp into pretzels. I have normally moved about twelve feet of snow from one place to another by this time of winter. This year I've moved only about three feet, and I'll settle for that.

Men's clothing. Modern trends nauseate me. There's nothing in the stores but yellow and purple shirts, hideous ties that would go with nothing except a wino's eyes, and checkered pants with a flared bottom.

What ever happened to the white shirt, the modest single-shade tie, and the well-cut gray flannels?

Most of all, I hate those great fat ties. They're about four inches wide and made of stuff as thick as a great-coat. Trying to tie one in an elegant knot is about as easy as trying to lace your shoes with half-inch rope.

Nieces and nephews. I'm all for them. We had some of ours for the weekend and it was a delight to see their minds and talents developing. Jennie and Sue played a ripping flute duet, as well as their piano pieces. Little Steven spent the weekend chasing our cat, who was just as anxious to avoid his caresses as he was to give them. Finally, in perplexity, he said, "Hey, Uncle Bill, do you know what kind of cat this is?" I muttered something vague. "She's a scaredy-cat" he stated triumphantly.

Toilets and tires. It never fails, but they do, nearly always when you're expecting guests and need both. Saturday morning, armed with huge shopping list, went out and found a flat tire. The garageman raised his eyes when he had to clamber over two loaded golf carts to get at my spare, in February. Sunday morning, with seven people on deck, the toilet blocked. No plumbers available.

Now that we've dealt with major issues, let's take a look at the minor ones. A great deal of ink and hot air is being squandered these days on two of them: the Montreal Olympics and capital punishment. I'm against them both.

First, the Olympics. Isn't it rather significant that the last two Olympics have been held in the countries with the most booming economies in the world, Japan and Germany? Maybe they could afford them. Canada, in my opinion, cannot.

Our population is too small, and our national debt too big, to take on an international extravaganza noted chiefly for its bickering and back-biting. Not to mention murder in Mexico and Munich.

Who needs the Olympics, anyway? It's a great spectacle, but so were the Roman games, with their chariot races, throwing lions to the Christians, and such thrilling events.

Canada needs the Olympics about as much as it needs another set of Rockies. And they'd cost about the same, and be of as much use. The chief difference is that the Rockies remain, and we can look at them. The Olympics will be here today, gone tomorrow, with nothing to show for it but a big, fat bill.

We had our day, with Expo. We showed the world that we could put on a really big show. And we're still paying interest on the money Mayor Drapeau diddled out of the federal government for that one.

You don't see Britain or France or even the U.S. scrambling to get the summer games. They can't afford 'em. Nor can we.

Prime Minister Trudeau has said that Montreal will not get more than a token support from the Federal government. That is so much you-know-what. There are ways and means and the wily M. Drapeau knows all of them, and some that haven't been thunk up yet.

And the whole concept of amateurism is an international laugh, what with totalitarian countries employing their best athletes in the armed forces, where they can train all year round.

It's probably too late to stop the juggernaut, but it's

Percy McQuaig Dies at Kemptville

Percy Henry McQuaig, a lifelong resident of Matilda Township, died at the Featherstonhaugh Nursing Lodge at Kemptville on February 14th after an illness of nearly three years.

TAX TIPS

(For further information, call the District Taxation Office. If you live in a toll area, ask your long-distance operator for ZENITH 0-4000 and your call will be placed without charge)

Q. How will the average taxpayer be affected by recent changes in the tax laws? To be more specific, how has the law changed regarding the types of income which will now be taxed, and will the taxpayer also get the benefit of deductions from income which were not allowed in the past?

A. Perhaps the most significant change in tax legislation provides for the introduction of a tax on capital gains. Other types of income which are taxed as of January 1, 1972, include Unemployment Insurance benefits, Adult Training Allowances, Research grants, Scholarships or fellowships in excess of $500, payments which an employer contributes on an employee's behalf to a public medical care plan and payments from an income maintenance plan to which an employer has contributed.

Q. What about changes in allowable deductions from income?

A. With regard to deductions from income, the personal exemption has been raised to $1,500 from $1,000 for single persons, and to $2,850 from $2,000 for married persons. In addition, all taxpayers age 65 and over will receive a special exemption of $1,000.

Q. Are there any new deductions which will affect certain groups of taxpayers?

A. Many taxpayers will be interested in new legislation which allows a deduction from income for child care expenses, the cost of moving from one job location to another and an employment expense deduction of up to $150 per year. It might also be well to note that changes have been made regarding the limitations contained in the Income Tax Act for charitable donations and for contributions to a Registered Pension Plan or a Registered Retirement Savings Plan. Formerly, a taxpayer could deduct charitable donations from his income to the extent that such donations did not exceed 10 percent of his net income for the year. For 1972 and subsequent years, the 10 percent limitations was increased to 20 percent of net income. With regard to Registered Pension Plans, the maximum deductible contribution was raised from $1,500 to $2,500 and from $2,500 to $4,000 (or 20 percent of earned income) for Registered Retirement Savings Plans.

Q. I have not received a T4 slip from one of my employers. Should I file my tax return without it?

A. It is your responsibility to file your income tax return on or before April 30 each year. However, before filing your return without a necessary information slip, you should make every endeavour to obtain it. Ask your employer for a T4 slip. If you do not receive a reply before the deadline for filing, then in order to avoid being penalized for filing late, send your return with the income and deductions from this employer estimated. Do not leave this income out when calculating your total income, and attach a note to your return explaining that you do not have the T4 slip and giving the name and address of your employer and, if you have one, your employee number. Unfortunately, the assessment of your return will be delayed pending verification of the amounts estimated by you.

Q. My wife and I are the same age and this year we qualify for age exemption. On my tax form do I claim $1,000 age exemption for my wife as well as $1,000 for myself?

A. No. The fact that your wife is entitled to claim the $1,000 age exemption if she files her own tax return does not affect the amount you can claim as married exemption.

OPP Report

Most poisoning accidents occur to the very young and the very old. In 1970, 66% of all poisoning cases, where age was specified, occured to children under 5 years of age.

Unfortunately, the worse place to store detergents, cleaners, furniture polish, etc., is also the most common: under the kitchen sink. Remember that young children love to explore and they are seldom put off the the harsh smell and vile taste of today's cleansers.

Bedrooms and bathrooms host a variety of potential poisoners, from prescription drugs to toilet bowl and sink cleansers to common headache tablets. Even perfumes and cosmetics are a hazard to be dealt with.

There are medicine cabinets that are not easily opened by children. Don't under-rate your child's climbing abilities. Even if there are no young children in the home, visitors should be taken into consideration. Many prescription drugs and cleaning agents are available with child resistant caps. Buy them, but as an added precaution don't trust them. Never transfer poisons into pop bottles. Keep the substance in its original container, with clearly marked labels, and store under lock and key.

On all cans containing chemicals or other dangerous substances, a coded picture will be shown depicting the contents to be poisonous, inflammable, explosive, or corrosive. Antidotes are also given on the sides of the containers.

In the event of an accident, contact your local Doctor and he will advise what action to take for any product consumed. Keep the container and any residue to aid in identification and, if possible, estimate the amount consumed.

A simple rule to follow: if it isn't food, it's poison. Lock it away.

Fashion News

What is happening to men's shoes? Higher heels, thicker soles and potato toes are the leading stories. The "boot" really started the fashion trend for men. Men accepted the idea of having a boot and a shoe, rather than one pair of shoes. Men, for the first time, took an interest in their feet. The trend toward bell bottoms and baggy pants have also given a great thrust forward to the "fun" shoes. Baggies require footwear that is clunky and bold -- something to get the cuffs off of the ground.

For spring, the half-inch platform on a one and a quarter inch heel is the main item. Boots are slowly dying with ties coming on strong. The layered sandwich type bottoms are great for casual wear with jeans, particularly the wide bottom and baggy type. What are sandwich bottoms? They are soles composed of different coloured stripes such as red and white or blue and black. Also very much on the scene is the use of combined colours on the same shoe. White and burgandy are being featured extensively as a trim effect. Brown and burgandy combinations are very strong.

What about comfort? Would these high heels hurt my back? Not a chance. The heel of course is higher but the sole is also thicker. The angle of your heel to toe is the same as it has been in any other shoe you have owned. The shape of the shoe is more in line with the shape of the foot and the new soles (polyurethane) give a bouncy feeling as you walk.

"Fun" shoes with thicker soles and knob toes are right for this moment. Men want to be stylish, they are attracted to high fashion shoes. Colours are very exciting this year. Even the conservative type of male is accepting the new fashion ideas. A taste of fashion and they will never go back to plain, ordinary shoes. Shoes with "soul" are here, and fashion is here to stay. Join the ranks!

Report From Queen's Park

Don Irvine, M.P.P.

Ever since I became Parliamentary Assistant to the Minister of Treasury, Economics and Intergovernmental Affairs with special responsibility for the development of regional government east of Metro Toronto, I have been flooded with inquiries from the United Counties and adjacent areas about the timing for regional government in this eastern part of Ontario. The recent announcement of the plan for the Whitby/ Oshawa/ Port Hope/ Cobourg area has resulted in even more interest and quite often concern from interested people here. Let me be very specific about t this. There is no present intention of introducing any system of regional government in this area nor are any studies presently underway which would lead to it. Everyone will no doubt understand that the planning involved in initiating broad local government reform is long and arduous and all our present efforts are dedicated to the smooth and successful transition of measures already announced.

Having said that and I hope laid to rest any lingering apprehension of imminent change, I think it appropriate to clear up a few misconceptions and misunderstandings of the government's motives in continuing the regional government programme.

The provincial government has been accused of adopting a "paternalistic" attitude toward municipalities; of seeking to create regional governments which would be subject to the tightest possible control by Queen's Park. Nothing, in fact, could be further from the truth. The objective of our Ministry is, in fact, to create entities which are large enough and financially strong enough to deal initially as equals with Queen's Park and at the same time provide the wide spectrum of services required by the citizens without interference from the provincial government. It is based on the fact that there are, quite simply, too many municipalities in this province operating within century-old organizational structures. The result is that, because of their limited financial base, they cannot afford to maintain the expertise and services vital to a growing economy.

Therein lies the crux of the whole thing. No one can be unaware that we in Ontario live in one of the fastest-growing and prosperous economies in North America. If this growth is to benefit the maximum number of our citizens there is an obvious need for careful economic planning on a province-wide basis. Such planning, including all those safeguards of the quality of life, must be carried out on a regional basis in order to avoid concentrations in particular areas which will first become ungovernable and then unliveable. It would be possible of course for a provincial government to undertake such regional development unilaterally without local participation or responsibility. The charge of "paternalism" would undoubtedly be justified.

This is not the route which this government feels is in the interest of the people. The concept of local government reform, very often through a two-tiered regional structure, is a vital part of regional development and along with province-wide reassessment and updating of the real property tax base, forms the bricks and mortar of effective economic planning and efficient land use. Far from creating more "remote" government, the purpose of the regional government programme is to give to the peol give to the people at the local level the tools with which to control their own future and to build the kind of community in chich they themselves wish to live. The older municipalities simply do not possess those tools.

I'd like to show how regional government works to benefit the greatest number.

Let's take municipal financing. We all know that we have to pay for every service that is introduced in our municipality. Payment for these services is based on our proportionate share of property tax. In addition the provincial government makes transfer payments or grants to the municipalities for a host of various purposes from maintenance of roads to school costs. These grants range up to 75% of total costs in some cases, for example public transit. What happens when a municipality wants to embark on the building of a significant capital project such as a school, a sewer system or new civic building? Large capital projects which cannot be paid for out of a single year's tax revenues have to be financed through municipal borrowing usually (i. e. in the form of debentures). Such debentures are purchased for investment by institution and the general public. This is strictly a buyer's market and a prospective investor will make his selection on the basis of a municipality's ability to maintain interest payments and ultimately to repay the loan. The principal measure of this financial stability is the assessment base. Other factors being equal, the broader this tax base, the lower the risk and more attractive the investment. This results in a lower interest rate. The smaller the tax base, the more difficult it is to place the debentures with investors and a higher interest rate is required to make them appealing. In some cases the tax base may be so small as to make financing by this method impossible. In such cases the people generally will simply have to do without the services that they need and that their neighbours may take for granted. The introduction of regional government has resulted in lower financing costs to taxpayers.

To give you some idea of how important this can be, the average cost of debt service in Ontario municipalities in 1972 was 13.1% of the annual budget. Quite obviously if we can lower the cost of interest we can save a significant amount of tax money. This is only one way in which we can benefit from local government reform.

Atoms tops at Athens

On Sat., Iroquois Atoms came home as champions of the "A" section of the Athens Atom Tournament. In the first round, Iroquois took a 5-1 decision from Morrisburg and then gained a berth in the finals by virtue of a second 5-1 win over Edwardsburg. The final saw Iroquois pitted against Cornwall Township. Our boys came out on top of a 3-0 score and brought home a beautiful trophy.

A 3-0 win over Edwardsburg last Wed. assured the Iroquois Atoms of sole possession of second place at the end of League play. The boys finished the season with 13 wins, 5 losses and six ties.

Sunday night saw Iroquois facing Cardinal in the first game of the ODHA playdowns. Iroquois managed a 4-0 win.

Our Pee Wee "B" team were winners in the Cardinal House League on Sat. morning with a 2-1 victory.

Last Mon. the Pee Wees lost an exciting 4-3 game to Kemptville. Kemptville took the lead early but Iroquois bounced back to tie the score on S. Bueley's goal. Then B. Armstong and L. McKay added one each to give Iroquois a 3-1 lead going into the third period. Lack of bench strength began to tell in the last period as Kemptville worked their way back to a tie and then came up with the winner with about 2 min. left to play.

Morrisburg Tournament proved to be disastrous for Iroquois Pee Wee's. At 8 a.m. the boys lost to Morrisburg by a 7-0 count. Later in the day, the Kemptville team eliminated Iroquois with a big 7-1 win.

On Monday, the Pee Wee's faced off in Cardinal in the first of a two-game total points series for ODHA playoffs. Cardinal were 4-3 winners. Stephen Bueley with 2 goals was the big gun for Iroquois.

On Sat. morning, Brockville were visitors and our Novice "A" team came up with a 3-1 victory. Iroquois scorers were M. Nesbitt, R. Shaw and T. Patterson. Brian Froats played another fine game in the Iroquois net.

Social evening enjoyed by local Lodges

Amity Lodge #80 Prescott and Riverside Lodge #145 Iroquois I.O.O.F. enjoyed a delicious Pot Luck Dinner and social evening on Sat., Feb. 10th.

Bro. Harry Gilmer, chaplain, rendered grace before partaking of food.

Bro. Frank Bates, N.G., was chairman for the evening, welcoming those present.

Bro. Clifford Seeley, P.D.D.G.M. of Prescott introduced Mr. Max Barr, our guest speaker. Max is a Grade 12 student of Seaway High School, who was chosen to represent both IOOF Lodges on a bus tour to Ottawa, Montreal, New York City (where they visited the United Nations Sessions) and Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Pa. and returned home by Niagara Falls.

He told of the work of the United Nations and the impressions it had upon the young people of their group.

Max also showed interesting slides of their trip. P.D.G.G.M. Bro. Graham Caldwell moved a vote of thanks to our guest for his interesting report and slides. The evening was spent in playing euchre.

Consumer Price Index January 1973

Statistics released a few days ago show that the Consumer Price Index for Canada rose a walloping 0.8% from December to January. As Statistics Canada reports, "this is the largest increase between these two months since before 1961 and contrasts with an average increase between these two months in the preceding five years of 0.3%."

The January index, at 144.5 (1961 = 100) was 5.7% above a year ago. By comparison, the United States Consumer Price Index registered a 3.4% increase over the twelve month period December 1971 to December 1972. (Latest figures available).

Both food and housing, the main components of Consumer Price Index, showed strong increases last month, advancing 2.0% and 0.8% respectively.

Food consumed at home rose 2.1%. Egg prices increased 7.8%, beef went up 5.8%, vegetable prices advanced 5.4% and milk was up 3.1%. Since last January, the cost of food has gone up by 10%.

The home ownership index last month went up 0.7%, while the cost of fuel and lighting advanced 3.7%.

Classifying consumer price index items by commodities and services shows a 0.3% rise in the services index during January. The rise was mainly due to higher quotations for shelter services. The commodities index jumped 1.1%, primarily because of the 2% increase in food prices. Between January 1972 and January 1973 the total commodities index advanced 5.8% while the cost of the services component increased 5.4%.

The 5.7% Consumer Price Index increase over the twelve month period ending in January is the largest 12 month increase in over twenty years.

The persistence of price inflation in Canada, notwithstanding chronically high unemployment rates, is glaring evidence of the inability of the Trudeau Government to manage the economy.

After a series of disastrous economic policies which bequeathed us a price-unemployment combination worse than at any other time in recent history, the Government seems to be paralyzed and unable to overcome its lethargy.

After years of inflation, commissions, standing committees and studies on inflation, all the Government could suggest was another committee to study food prices.

In the meantime, inflation is rising, and so is the number of unemployed.

The longer action is postponed, of course, the more difficult the problem becomes. It is imperative, therefore, that the Government jolt itself out of its lethargy and start making some use of the studies it has commissioned.

I would like to suggest that the Government could start action by considering very carefully the success that the United States has had with its program of economic controls which has permitted inflation to be reduced in that country from an annual rate of 4% to 3.7% currently. The accelerating trend has been arrested and even slightly reversed.

These results, contrasted with the Canadian experience, have been achieved while unemployment decreased from 6.1% in August of 1972 to 5% in January of 1973 and output advanced from 2.7% in 1971 to 6.5% in 1972.

Surely the time has come for action in Canada!

Winter Carnival Snowmobile Rally

The Iroquois Canadian Legion supported the Iroquois Recreation Dept.'s Winter Carnival by organizing and promoting a Snowmobile Rally. The weather was very favourable for the day's activities, much more so than it was two weeks ago when the Branch held their 4th Annual Rally.

With over sixty machines entered into the competition, all the enthusiasts enjoyed an excellent day of snowmobiling, dinner and dancing to the fine music of George Barkley and his orchestra.

The chicken dinner with all the trimmings was prepared by Norma Claxton of Paul's Lunch.

Assisting in serving the delicious meal were Hazel Anderson, Phil Leckie, Audrey Robertson, Lil Roberts, Mabel Roberts and Norma Delegarde, of the Ladie's Auxiliary of Branch 370, to which the Branch are most grateful for the long hours and much effort they have contributed to both recent rallies.

A tip of the hat goes to George Jackson of Iroquois Enterprise Ltd. who provided the supplies necessary at the various check-points in the trail. A thank you goes also to Keith Banford and his crew who laid out the trail and maned the check-points.

To these people, plus several others including many Legionnairs we say thank you for your thoughtfulness and goodwill in making the Rally a huge success.

The grand Champion of the day was Alan Bailey, who was presented with the Iroquois Village Trophy by Chairman Helen Smith.

Second runner-up was Louis Kardos and he was presented with a trophy by the Branch's Past President, Ray Delegarde.

Third runner-up was Dale Roberts and he was presented with a trophy by Vice-President Ken Easter.

Door prizes were donated by several local and area business establishments to which the committee wishes to thank for their generosity and community spirit.

The door prize winners were:
Kay Brown - Arctic Cat jacket by Ken Strader.
Michael Shaver - Alouette jacket by Lee Shaver.

News & Views

by Leo DeBellefeuille

Following last week's column on lacrosse, this week we will attempt to present a brief history of hockey.

The game of ice hockey originated in Canada. In crude form, however, play was begun in the 1870's at McGill University, Montreal, where students formed rules and applied some of the principles of Rugby football.

A hard rubber ball was first used and play, as later, was with sticks and on skates. The number of players in a game was not jli was not limited, provided the sides were about equal. Within a very short time, it was found that the sue of a rubber ball was not practical. A player, getting a good swing at the ball, could send it for considerable distances, thus causing long delays in the game until recovery was made.

To overcome this objection, a student cut a piece out of the ball and improvised what since has developed into the regulation hockey puck with two parallel flat surfaces. In time, the game was moved indoors and more and more regulations were adopted. The size of the team was gradually decreased from the original "no limit" to 9 players, and finally 8, 7 and then the present 6. Later, after the game spread to every province in the Dominion, it moved to the United States and then to Europe. Play in Canada was strictly amateur for many years. In the 1890's Lord Stanley of England donated $50 for the purchase of a cup, ownership of which was emblematic of the amateur championship of Canada. It became known as the Stanley Cup. In 1909 the leading teams organized the National Hockey Association, a professional group which was the forerunner of the National Hockey League, organized in Montreal in 1917. The Pacific Coast League, set up in 1911, also was professional.

The operation of these two leagues meant that most of the outstanding players had become professionals.

When the two leagues conducted a playoff in 1912, the Stanley Cup was awarded to the winner after the pros convinced the trustees that there were no major amateur teams left in Canada. The Sir Montague Allan Cup then replaced the Stanley Cup for competition among the amateurs.

Hockey first was introduced in the United States in 1893. However, the game did not attain wide-spread popularity until 1924 when Boston gained the first U. S. franchise in the pro N. H. L. Boston was soon followed by New York, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Detroit.

In the very earliest days of pro hockey, players were paid $1,000 to $1,500 a season.

There you have the score - lacrosse versus hockey. To you, be the judge. What is Canada's National Game?

Five of the hockey clubs "Bep" Guidolin coached previously, fired him. He is the type that will perhaps become a success in the N. H. L.

Bobby Orr, Wayne Cashman and Nick Beverley of the Bruins played junior hockey for Guidolin in Oshawa. He also at one time was the coach of the Belleville McFarlands in the old Eastern Canada Senior League.

At that time, his present "boss", Harry Sinden, was an opponent, playing for Whitby Dunlops.

Gary Doak will be lost to the Detroit Red Wings for three weeks with a knee injury. Big Pete Mahovlich of the Habs, for a similar injury, will be sidelined for six weeks, as will Stan Mikita of Chicago.

Bob Murray, captain of the Cornwall Royals, has had the cast removed from his broken leg. However, the team doctor is not satisfied with the recovery and feels that Bob may not see further action this year. That could spell trouble for the Royals in their hunt for a second Q. J. H. A. title and Memorial Cup.

Did you know that:

The Vancouver Canucks amassed 1371 penalty minutes in 1970-71?

The Boston Bruins scored 399 goals in 1970-71?

The Boston Bruins scored 121 points in 1970-71?

The late Terry Sawchuck registered 103 shut-outs in 21 seasons?

George Hainsworth of Montreal Canadiens scored 22 shutouts in 1928-29?

Tony Esposito registered 15 shutouts for Chicago Black Hawks in 1969-70?

Ted Lindsay of Detroit Red Wings spent 1,808 minutes in penalties in regular season play and 2002 including playoffs?

California Golden Seals suffered 53 losses in 1970-71?

Bill Masienko of Chicago scored three goals in 21 seconds against New York in 1952?

Andy Hebenton, while with New York and Boston, played 630 consecutive games from 1955-to 1964?

Andy Bathgate scored 11 goals in 10 games in 1962-63, the longest consecutive goal scoring streak before Bobby Hull scored 15 goals in 10 games in the 1968-69 season?

The Montreal Canadiens amassed the most penalty minutes - 96 in one period against the Toronto Maple Leafs in 1953? The Leafs, incidentally, picked up 88 minutes in that same period. 184 minutes in one period!

The line of Phil Esposito, Ken Hodge and Wayne Cashman scored a total of 140 goals in 1970-71?

Syd Howe scored 6 goals for Detroit against New York in one game in 1944 and Red Berenson of St. Louis also got six against Philadelphia in '68?

Gordie Howe, after playing in the N. H. L. for 25 years has set records too numerous to list. Some of them are Most games: 1687 - Most goals: 786 Most assists: 1023 - Most points: 1809, excluding playoffs.

Also has won the Hart Trophy a record 6 times?

That, hockey buffs, are a few records I thought you would like to hear about in the annals of present and past performers in the N. H. L. To conclude, allow me to present these two outstanding plays.

I have seen the super stars do something super and make it look easy. But if I had to pick one individual's outstanding performance, I would say that Ken Dryden's save on Jim Pappin in the 1971 Stanley Cup was the greatest ever. The Black Hawks, in the final game, had blown a lead but were coming back strong. The puck came out from behind the Montreal net to Jim Pappin who was standing in front of the net at the right side. He got away a fast shot in what looked like an open net. Dryden was to the left. He reacted quickly, stuck up his long leg and made a reality out of the impossible by stopping the shot. Montreal went on to win the game and the Stanley Cup - thanks to Ken Dryden.

Unemployment unchanged from last month

The number of unemployed (which in no way represents the unemployment picture in this area) remains unchanged from last month, i. e. 1079.

The Prescott Canada Manpower Centre, which covers all of Grenville county and half of Dundas county, has received exceptional benefit from the Ontario and Federal Winter Works Programs. The Ontario Tree Cutting Program and the Ministry of Natural Resources have hired 156 workers; the municipal Winter Works Programs have hired 7; the Federal LIP program has required 30 and the Federal TOJ program has required 13, for a total of 206 clients placed on Winter Works Programs. It is expected that well over 100 will be required in the coming month to fill the needs of the Winter Works Programs.

R. C. A. Ltd. has experienced lay offs over the past few months which now totals 250. Other industries have a demand for workers which would easily offset the lay offs. The majority of industries are stable and experiencing good production capacity.

Baby Pigs

When you consider what you have invested in the new-born litter at birth, and that nearly 25% of all baby pigs die during the first 7 days, doesn't it make a lot of sense to reduce losses caused by baby pig scours?

Prevention is made simple with SHUR-GAIN DIAL DOSER . . . for easy, accurate, no waste treatment. And very economical too . . . about 9¢ a dose.

Active ingredients in SHUR-GAIN DIAL DOSER are Bacitracin and Streptomycin . . . a combination of antibiotics proven to effectively fight scours. Be ready when those next litters are due. Pick up your supply from our SHUR-GAIN ANIMAL HEALTH SERVICE display.

IN MEMORIAM

Gilmer - In loving memory of our dear father James W. Gilmer, who passed away Feb. 21, 1972.
Memory drifts to scenes long past;
Time rolls on, but memories last.
Sunshine passes, shadows fall;
Love's remembrance outlasts all.
The Family

Armstrong - In loving memory of my dear wife, Hazel Armstrong, who passed away on Feb. 18, 1972.
Some where back of the sunset,
Where loveliness never dies,
She lives in a land of glory,
Mid the blue and the gold of the sky.
Her life is a beautiful memory,
Her absence a silent grief.
She sleeps in God's beautiful garden,
In the sunset of perfect peace.

If the citizens of greater Montreal were told that they, personally, had to foot the bills for the games, M. Drapeau would probably wind up at the bottom of the St. Lawrence River, with all the other sewage dumped in it.

Oh, yep. I'm against capital punishment, too, but I've run out of space. Maybe next week.
