Finch Players Capably Present "Will o' the Wisp"

The first play to be presented by a Finch cast in Chesterville, "Will o' the Wisp" was well received in the Community Hall last night when the Young People's Social and Dramatic Club of St. Bernard's Parish, Finch, demonstrated their ability in a three-act comedy-drama, directed by Miss Anna Foley, under auspices of the Women's Institute before a full house.

The young pupils of Connaught School, under the direction of Miss Jean Curran, almost stole the show when they appeared between the acts in two dance numbers, the Waltz Quadrille, and an Irish Reel with the little gentlemen dressed in toppers and their ladies in long green costumes. Other numbers were a duet by Miss Jean Curran and Mrs. C. Foley, "Mother Machree" and "They Called It Ireland," as well as a skit, "Casey Takes the Census", by Leo Curran and Stewart Baker, who also gave a song number.

Following the stage performance, the large cast and their friends were entertained in the Library by the ladies of the Institute. Leonard O'Donohue moved a vote of thanks to the Institute for the hospitality, to which Mrs. P. J. Gilroy replied. Peter Manley expressed the pleasure the group had experienced in visiting Chesterville, and stated the Institute, in inviting the group to visit Chesterville, had shown that no organization or community could build a wall about itself for in so doing it would perish, and he hoped they might have an invitation to return.

"The Will o' the Wisp" took place in the home of the poor but proud and charitable Anthony Desmond (Ed Lanigan), in Ireland, who was constantly irked by the money-grabbing Squire O'Malley, (Peter Manley), landlord of the locality, and his nephew Terrence, (Hector Courville), who served his eviction notices. Most of all was he detested by the Desmond's loyal housekeeper Sarah, (Mrs. Ed. Lanigan). and Danny (Leo Curran). Pretty Sheila Desmond (Jean Curran) in her double role as daughter of the house and the Robin Hood type of bandit "The Will o' the Wisp", provided for many of the poor families who found rolls of money under their doors the morning after some rich person had been robbed on the highway.

Sheila was courted by Neil Dacey (Stewart Curran) and Terrence, the former poor but with a loyal heart, while Terrence held out prospects of wealth after his old uncle died. The highlight was the accusation by Terrence of the attempted murder of his uncle by Neil Dacey, proof being Dacey's revolver which Terrence claims to have picked up after Dacey's supposed flight. Shamus O'Brien (Bernard Lynch) one of the squire's victims, turns up with evidence to clear Docey, swearing he had sold the pistol to Terrence the night of the shooting when Dacey had chased the "Will o' the Wisp" to the Desmond home. Making her last ride as the charitable highwayman, Sheila brings in Terrence and forces him to confess but is captured by Dacey. Dacey makes her live up to her promise that she would marry him when he had captured the elusive robber, and brings the play to a happy conclusion.

Assisting characters were Leonard O'Donohue as a constable; John Lynch, a plainclothesman; Mrs. Patrick O'Donohue, Mrs. Catherine Foley, Mrs. Wm. Beehler and Gloria Marleau as the Ladies' Aid.

"Music Appreciation" Programme For Rotarians

Music appreciation was demonstrated to the Rotary Club of Chesterville, Monday evening, by four Grade IX pupils of Chesterville High School Jean Feeley, Agnes Robinson, Lois Turner and Carl Crump, who explained the composition of a symphony orchestra by means of charts and through the medium of phonograph records explained the blending of the woodwind, brass, string and percussion sections. Introduced by Harold G. Bigelow, the young guests were thanked by Herbert Brown.

Business of the meeting was brief. Dr. W. H. Lloyd reported favourable progress in a case his Crippled Children's Committee has in hand, and correspondence was read by the secretary, Gordon Wragg. The president, Walter J. Carr, gave notice of a director's meeting for next week.

Miss Jean Feeley introduced the programme, saying that appreciation of music brought happier hours to many even though they could not read music or play any instrument. Some of the many ways of acquiring this are through the radio, phonograph, church and the musical pages of the daily newspapers.

Using charts depicting the instruments, Carl Crump, Lois Turner and Agnes Robinson explained the part each instrument had in building up a symphony orchestra, and as the phonograph records played a selection by each of the "family" of instruments, the composition of the orchestra was completed, to close with excerpts from "The Carnival of Animals."

At the conclusion of the demonstration, cardboard models of a symphony orchestra, made by the pupils of the High School, were passed around.

Music is taught at the High School by Mrs. Gordon Wragg, and an added feature broadcast each Wednesday afternoon to school classes during the winter months adds greatly to the study of appreciation of music.

SAP'S RUNNING AGAIN

With the cold weather ushering April, one benefit at least has resulted as the maples have started their sap when it was thought the season was well past. One operator at least told The Record he was taking down his buckets on Monday he noticed the sap dripping, and on reboring the trees he has received runs better than experienced during the regular season.

REPAIRS TO NESTLE'S DAM

Workmen are making repairs to the Nestle's dam in the Nation at the eastern village limits in preparation to conserve water for the summer's needs of the milk plant. Cement abutments will be built to support either end of the dam, and a cement apron will be placed to catch the spillwaters. New posts must be welded to the old ones used to support the dam, as many of these were broken or bent last winter when the January thaw sent the ice out before the pipes could be removed. It is understood that three sluice gates will be placed in the dam to help control the water.

Large Attendance Last Night To See Play "Girl Shy"

A very fine performance was given by members of the Morewood United Church Young People's Union last evening when they presented the play "Girl Shy" under the direction of Rev. E. A. Martineau before a packed house in the basement auditorium of the church. Between the first and second acts, Miss Erla Steinburg sang a solo accompanied by Miss Ellice Smith, and following the play Rev. Mr. Martineau was presented with a gift by Arnold Swerdfeger on behalf of the cast.

The cast of characters included Gerald Gardiner as Tom Arsdale, Stuart Moore as Oke Stimson, Edith Swerdfeger as Caroline, Arnold Swerdfeger as Anthony Arsdale, Betty Carruthers as Sylvia Webster, Lawrence Bell as Dean Marlow, Lois Marcellus as "Peaches" Carter, Audrey Thompson as Asma, Phyllis Reveler as Birdie Laverne, Norma Putnam as Barbara Stanford, Dwight Martineau as Alfred Tennyson Murgatoyd, and Harold Irven as Chuck Mayo.

New Cinder Block Building For King Street Section

An addition to King street's business section is planned by Thos. Klingval who will replace the old frame building next to Moran's pool room with a neat cinder block structure. Mr. Klingval recently purchased the property where he has conducted his Memorial Works since coming to Chesterville several years ago.

The new building, 24 by 18 feet, will be set well back from the street to allow proper display of the memorial stones. It will be one-storey, of cinder block construction, and have large windows in the fronts. At the rear will be housed the air compressor, and sandblast equipment planned for the near future,

A native of Norway, Mr. Klingval came to Chesterville several years ago from St. John, Que., and set up business in the old shop that was formerly occupied by S. and A. Peake, tinsmiths. Since then he has built up a substantial business that has become a credit to the village.

SUFFERS CONCUSSION

Muriel Smirle, five years old, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Smirle, is recovering in the Civic hospital where she was taken after suffering brain concussion in a fall downstairs at the home Saturday evening. The child was attended by Dr. W. H. Lloyd who arranged an examination by a brain specialist at the hospital.

Aim For High Standard Throughout Fire Department

Several practical suggestions for improving the efficiency of the Fire Brigade were given at a meeting between members of the brigade, Reeve George H. Barkley and the members of the Municipal Council held in the Public Library, Friday evening, called by the Fire Commissioners for the purpose of discussing the new book of "Regulations Governing Fire Protection in the Village of Chesterville" prepared by the Commissioners and confirmed by Council.

An amendment was suggested to the booklet, that no equipment of any kind be loaned from the Fire Hall, and this will be passed on at the next meeting of Council. Previously, equipment could be borrowed only on the permission of the Fire Chief.

Pumper and Ladder Truck

Purchase of the new War Assets truck for the department was discussed, and the decision made not to mount the pumper on this truck as was originally planned. The pumper which is mounted on a trailer, will be hauled by the new truck. On the truck will be mounted all other fire equipment including ladders, hose, play pies, axes, etc. Procedure will be for the truck to haul the pumper to the nearest fire hydrant to the fire, then continue on to the fire taking hose and all other equipment and remain at the scene. In effect, this will give the fire fighters a pumper and a hook and ladder truck.

The Council was asked to prohibit parking in front of the Fire Hall and assistance will be granted the Fire Chief and Police Chief in policing fire areas. All members of the Brigade will be covered by the Workmen's Compensation Act at the rate of $1500 per year, application for which was authorized at the last Council meeting.

Equipment requested included four smoke masks, rubber gloves and equipment for cutting electric wires, fittings for using smaller hose in fighting house fires, the equalizing of all hydrant valve stems to elminate the necessity for several sizes of wrenches, and the purchase of more coats and boots to equip all members of the brigade.

Regulations

Discussion on the booklet of regulations was lead by Fire Commissioner P. S. Boyd. Points covered were organization and responsibility, fire fighting apparatus, Fire Hall, hydrants, fire emergency routine, fire drills, reports and records, elimination of fire hazards, salaries and compensation. Each member of the brigade received a copy of the booklet.

The wish was expressed that more meetings such as this, the first to be held here, might be held where suggestions could be talked over and the efficiency of the fire department raised to a good standard.

POSITION IN TORONTO

Hubert Harper is now living in Toronto where he has secured a positon. He was discharged at St. Hubert, Que., in March after serving four years with the RCAF.

CANCER IS YOUR WAR

Health authorities say that the fear of cancer is more difficult to combat than the disease itself. This startling statement is made of a disease that is curable in a majority of cases if it is diagnosed and treated early enough. Yet cancer kills more people than any other cause except diseases of the heart, and is on the increase in Ontario. This year, unless something is done, 7,000 men and 7,000 women in Canada will die of cancer.

Something can be done, and will be done to fight cancer—if you make it your war. During the month of April a war against cancer is being waged all over Canada and the United States. Ontario's battle is being carried on by the Ontario Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation. You will be asked to assist the Foundation in raising a minimum of $2,000,000. You may be helping to save yourself, or someone you love, for one out of every six to eight persons now living must expect to die of cancer.

The Foundation has blue-printed a three-year plan to fight this dread scourge. It will provide fully-equipped cancer clinics and prevention clinics at strategic points throughout the Province, and give partial financial aid to those who need it. It will institute research projects that may lead to the end of this second of all great "killer" diseases. Through education, the Foundation plans to teach every man, woman and child in Ontario to recognize the signs of cancer, and to substitute action for fear and ignorance.

The campaign opens the 1st of April and all banks will be receiving centres for donations. Get in this war and fight. You may save yourself from death.

BORN THIRTY YEARS TOO SOON

The cartoon headed "Born Thirty Years Too Soon", appearing in the dailies, often catches a fellow a bit off balance when he realizes the caustic comedy is all too true. And we couldn't help thinking of this caption the other night when we listened to a programme of "Music Appreciation" presented by four first-year pupils of Chesterville High School. The advantages given students today are so far above those of a few years ago that we wish many times we could go back along the trail to wisdom and enjoy the added enjoyments to "readin', 'ritin' and 'rithmetic."

Few would have thought, a generation ago, that radios and movie films, sound pictures, of all things—would be used in public and secondary schools of the small town to add to the education of the children. By this means, the parochial mind is given greener pastures and provided with a glimpse into the deeper and wider learning that brings greater happiness.

Not so many are so situated financially that they can travel and see at first hand the glories of nature and the great concert hall. So our departments of education are bringing these to the schools.

From here on it is up to the pupils to assimilate or disregard this information put up in such splendid packages for their benefit accruing from careful attention to the studies.

CONSUMERS SHOULD BENEFIT FROM HYDRO'S LOCAL SURPLUS

On this page last week, appeared the Balance Sheet and Operating Report of the Chesterville Hydro-Electric System which indicated the net surplus for 1945 as $3,556.13. To date the local Commission has profits of $14,000 invested in securities.

Earnings from the Hydro-Electric System can be used only in repair of the present plant, valued at $22,263.01, or for new equipment. No provision is made for reducing the rates to customers, except through the occasional rebates ordered by provincial commissioners.

If surplus earnings cannot be returned to Hydro consumers,—whose property they should be since the utility is publicly owned,—why, then, can not this money be used for their benefit?

Delegates waited on last year's council requesting that Chesterville's street lighting be improved, and the question has been the root of many a discussion. At that time materials were not available for installing new lights, but after hostilities ceased the Commissioners replaced the 60-watt lamps, (ordered as a war-time power economy) by 100-watt bulbs. The benefit was almost negligible.

Many improvements have been made in lighting since Chesterville's street lights were installed, and this should be a good time to take advantage of these benefits at the same time assisting employment. When the Hydro street lighting expert evaluates our system and makes recommendations (as we know he will) for the improvement of lighting on our streets, this constantly-growing surplus should be put to work for its owners—the consumers of Hydro power.

With some foresight and expert management there is no reason why Chesterville should not be the best-lighted village in Eastern Ontario. The publicity for our town would be of great value, and, more important still, removal of dark spots from the streets would eliminate many danger spots.

HOSPITAL SO CROWDED NEW WING IMPERATIVE

Cornwall General Hospital is marking the end of 50 years of service to the United Counties by launching a campaign to raise $250,000. The money is needed for an extension, which hospital officials say will relieve the serious overcrowding.

Dates set for the campaign are May 27 to June 6, but organization for the canvass already is underway. Prominent persons in all parts of the counties are being asked to assist in the appeal, which will reach as many persons as possible. As one official put it, "the Cornwall General Hospital belongs to the United Counties. If it is going to do its proper job, the general public must give its support."

The need for a new extension was felt keenly in the years just before the war, and has been growing steadily ever since. Now it has reached the point where doctors cannot always get beds for their patients. Less urgent cases frequently have to be put on a waiting list, and at times beds have been put in the halls for emergency patients. Doctors say that more than once, patients have been driven into Cornwall from outside Cornwall expecting to get a hospital bed, and have had to return home and await a vacancy.

If the money can be raised, a new wing will be built on the north-west corner of the present building, and will contain many more beds in private, semi-private and public wards. Final plans have not been completed by the architect, but it is expected that the extension will increase the hospital's present 75-bed capacity by about 50 per cent. In addition, there will be a new surgery, a new maternity ward and enlarged kitchen space.

The present hospital was built in 1897, with money provided by a bequest of $15,000 and by public donations. Since that time, the hospital always has received fine support from the district outside Cornwall. Women's Institutes, fraternal and church organizations have been among its staunchest friends. In 1936 a small addition was built in the west end of the old structure, but within a few years the demand for hospitalization outstripped even that extra space. Now every posible corner of the building, including the solarium, is jammed with beds, and officials say frankly that the situation is getting still worse. Public wards are so crowded that there is danger of spreading contagious diseases. "We make it a rule never to refuse an emergency case" said Miss E. M. Nephew, hospital superintendent, "but sometimes we have to be very hard-hearted."

The campaign committee is headed by W. V. Boyd, of Cornwall, with John L. Cook as vice-chairman; S. E. Fennell, K. C., and W. B. Brownridge are in charge of the organization in the United Counties outside Cornwall; W. A. Lawrence, Montreal, is campaign organizer, and G. W. Ghewy is assistant organizer.

A joke is all right, but when a fellow pulls one that lasts for a week or more it becomes rather boring. Weatherman, please note.

Now that Canadians have won the Stanley Cup and the baseball, fishing and garden seasons are still a little while off, guess we'll have to get out the old cribbage board to while away the evenings.

'Tis said the Fire Brigade members are itching for the first Fire Drill to come round the middle of May so they can get their hands on that new truck. How about the champagne for the christening?

Public Library Service As Rendered In Manotick

(Ontario Library Review)

During the year our library room was painted from top to bottom and as soon as the weather gets warmer and fires are not needed, I am going to make another "raid" on the shelves and clear out about a hundred books of Adult Fiction that have not been taken out for at least five years, and in my opinion is "dead wood".

Our membership is on the increase. Visitors from other villages always comment on the fact that we have the current fiction and non-fiction on our shelves.

I am very pleased with our "baby section." It is a joy to see these small boys and girls come in with their books, and especially one small boy of nine who makes his Saturday evening trip almost a ritual. His mother says he would not miss it for anything. A kiddie of six years brought a book to me last week and wanted to know if I thought it was too young for her. Of course I was very serious about it. We look after these youngsters and the 'teen agers too. They have to be handled carefully, but even if only one a year develops into a real lover of books, I will feel repaid.

We have three subscribers, one a middle aged woman, who lives five miles out in the country, and is cut off for about two months in the winter. The library just about saves her as I give her two months reading directly the road begins to fill in. Then there is an elderly man who lives a mile out of the village. He reads everything except light love stories. I give him three books a week and he comes for them on Mondays in the daytime. Another isolated farm house has two young girls living there, so I choose their reading and they call at the house for them on Friday before they leave for home (they board in the village to attend school, but go home on Friday) in this way I can slip in a good book along with the light ones they want, and sometimes we have good discussions on non-fiction books.

There are several "shut-ins" in the village and we see that they get their books. One of the board is responsible in turn for looking after these subscribers. One villager told me the other day that "the new library was crazy to look after people the way they do. They didn't do it years ago and the library went on O.K."—well times change and the fact remains that we now have a progressive library board, good books and a good circulation, and our circulation figures are no guess work as each day the number of "out cards" are counted before being put away, and a record signed by the one on duty.

It is our intention to retire three board members each year, and appoint three news ones. The new ones being people who have been "helpers" and by "helpers" I mean people who are interested in the work, and offer to keep the shelvs in order, put away books, put paper covers on books. in fact anything that will educate them from the bottom up so that they will become good library board members.—D.M.

Plant Soybeans in Rows For Seed Crops

Should soybeans be planted in rows which will permit cultivation, or drilled solid similar to cereal grains? This question has caused much debate as each method is to be preferred as the thicker planting results in a finer stemmed plant. With this method, any weeds which may be in the crop are disposed of previous to their maturing seeds, says C. W. Owen, Dominion Experimental Station, Harrow, Ont.

When soybeans are grown as a grain crop, the problem of weed control becomes greater. With either method of planting a certain amount of weed control is necessary during the early stages of growth. Soybeans compete poorly with weeds at this stage with the harrow, rotary hoe or weeder much can be accomplished at this time. When the plants exceed about six inches in height weed control in drilled plantings is ended and from there on the advantages of row plantings are realized.

The practice of row planting soybeans intended for seed production is continually increasing in the larger soybean growing districts, chiefly for the following reasons: With row planting a smaller amount of seed per acre is required. The reductions in weed growth made possible by this method reduces plant competition and thereby increases yields. The presence of numerous weeds in a crop may interfere with efficient combining operations and at the same time is detrimental to the farm weed control program. With row planting it has been found that a better quality of grain results together with slightly earlier maturity and somewhat higher yields. Where full season varieties are used any added earliness in maturity is an important consideration.

As the spacing of the rows does not appear to be too important, a grower may adjust these to his planting and cultivating machinery. Experiments have shown that either 22, 28 or 30 inch spacings are all satisfactory while 36 inch or wider spacings show some reductions in yield. Taller growing varieties will naturally adapt themselves better to wider rows but little seems to be gained beyond 30 inches. While some expense is added by employing the row planting method, this seems to be well repaid by the additional yields, the better quality of grain, and the accomplishment of further weed control.

WHAT IS IT?

In the Royal Ontario Museum's mail bag are many enquiries. Usually the staff is asked to name or date an object. "Is it gold?" of a piece of rock having a yellowish glint; or, "Is this an 18th century goblet?"

The provision of information bearing on its special fields is one of the public duties of the Museum. Sometimes an answer given to a casual question may open up new vistas to the enquirer. For example, a C.P.R. lineman found some fossils amongst the rock fill of the railway track. He learned at the Museum that they were ancient corals. For the first time he realized how the world of life had extended backwards for millions of years. Bits of rocks became ideas for him.

Mrs. Parker, Maple Ridge Dies In Cornwall Hospital

Attended by many friends from Chesterville and Cornwall and other places in the district, who assembled to pay a last tribute of respect, the funeral of Mrs. Thomas Parker, formerly of Maple Ridge, was held Saturday afternoon from Meldrum's Funeral Home, Cornwall, to Trinity United Church, Chesterville, and Maple Ridge cemetery.

Mrs. Parker had led an active life until she suffered a stroke of paralysis at her home on Maple Ridge last December 1st, when she went to live with her daughter, Mrs. Walter J. Silmser, 17 Third St. East, Cornwall. On December 19th, she entered the Cornwall General hospital where she died on Thursday afternoon last.

She was born at Morewood, a daughter of Jacob Countryman and his wife, Alvina Fetterly, her maiden name being Alma Countryman. Affectionately known as "Mrs. Friday" because of her shopping trips to town on that day, Mrs. Parker passed her 77th birthday on January 11.

Her husband died 20 years ago at Maple Ridge. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Ross M. Young of Maple Ridge, and Mrs. Walter Silmser of Cornwall. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. William Durant of Chesterville, and Mrs. G. D. Gault of Manotick.

A short service was conducted at the funeral home in Cornwall by Rev. W. S. Atchison, minister of St. Paul's United Church, Cornwall. The service at Trinity United church was conducted by Rev. W. E. "Operational Wings" Awarded Posthumously

The many friends of the late Kelly Chambers might be interested in knowing that he has been posthumously awarded the operational wings of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

The following is the text of the letter accompanying the award which was sent to his sister, Mrs. Patricia Bryce, Long Beach, Calif.

"It is a privilege to have the opporunity of sending you the operational wings and certificate in recognition of the gallant services rendered by your brother Warrant Officer Class II P. K. Chambers.

I realize there is little which may be said or done to lessen your sorrow, but it is my hope that these "Wings" indicative of operations against the enemy, will be a treasured memento of a young life offered on the altar of freedom in defense of Home and Country.

Yours very sincerely,
T. K. MacDougall,
RCAF Records Officer."

Kelly Chambers was reported killed on a raid over Cologne, July 4th, 1943.

Future Planning

An elderly couple had been sitting in front of the evening fire a long time without speaking. At last the husband inquired, "What are you thinking about?

"To which the wife replied: "I was just thinking how long we have lived together and that it couldn't go on forever like this and that the time will soon come when one of us will have to go."

"Yes," assented the old man, "but it is no use to worry about that now, Mother."

"No," was the calm reply, "but I was just thinking that when it does happen. I would like to go to California to live."

"Dick" Fawcett Purchases Piper Cub Monoplane

Dunbar is back on the air map again.

R. H. "Dick" Fawcett, well-known owner-operator of the Dunbar Cheese Factory, has returned to his happiest element with the purchase of a new Piper Cub "Special" monoplane after being grounded for some months following the sale of his plane.

The new craft is a "Special" equipped with hydraulic brakes, steerable tail wheel, and seats two in tandem. Identification markings on the yellow and green plane are CF-DAQ. Powered by a "Continental" horizontal opposed motor of 65 horsepower, the cruising speed is 83 m.p.h. Fuel consumption is three and a half gallons an hour and enough gasoline is carried for about 2½ hours flying. Practically no oil is consumed.

The plane will be used for commercial as well as pleasure flying as soon as the runway by the Fawcett home dries up, and Mr. Fawcett has hopes of operating charter flights out of Cornwall in the near future and eventual enlargement of his aviation business.

Flight From Hamilton

Delivery of the new plane was taken in Hamilton and it was flown to Dunbar by Mr. Fawcett with Howard Buell of Gravel Hill, as passenger. Actual flying time from the Hamilton airport was two hours and fifty minutes. Conditions at the take-off were poor with such a high wind blowing than two men were required on each side of the aircraft as it was wheeled onto the airstrip. Visibility was poor but conditions improved as they flew eastward and when they stopped at Kingston for refuelling the wind had subsided.

Flying Since 1928

Dick Fawcett can be counted as a veteran in the flying game, for his first flight was made in 1928 as a passenger with Leavens Brothers who barnstormed Eastern Ontario up to a few years ago. He became a member of the Ottawa Flying Club in 1937 where he received his pilot's license and before the war had secured his commercial rating. His first aircraft was a Taylor Cub which he switched in 1940 to a Piper Cub 50.

When war was declared, and the Ottawa Flying Club took over the task of giving elementary flying instruction to RCAF cadets, Dick Fawcett became one of the original instructors, being stationed at the St. Eugene school. In this job he was a member of the RCAF on loan to the Ottawa Flying Club. He became Flt. Commander of the school and in June, 1943, joined the ferry wing of RCAF Transport Command. By this time he had secured his commission and promotion to Flying Officer. After ferrying planes from Winnipeg to the East Coast and with no hope of getting overseas, he became a civilian in 1944 to become a test pilot with Norduyn Aircraft Limited near Montreal.

When the OFC resumed activities at Uplands Airport last fall, Dick became Chief Flying Instructor, but had to resign this position in the latter part of February in order to devote more time to his cheese manufacturing.

CANCER

CAN BE CURED

The newest precision tube x-ray machine for treating cancer costs $100,000.

1000 Canadians die of cancer every month. Cancer specialists are convinced that the majority of these lives could be saved if proper treatment were given in the early stages of the disease.

That is the aim of the campaign against cancer now being organized in Ontario—to cut down this costly loss of life now being exacted by cancer.

It is proposed to establish cancer clinics at suitable centres throughout the province where all who suspect they may have cancer may be examined, and receive the proper treatment if necessary.

Plans are also under way to pay a portion of the cost of treatment of cancer, as well as travelling expenses, for those needing financial help.

The third objective of the campaign is an energetic program of cancer research in Ontario with the aim of discovering a specific cure for cancer, or for some means of preventing the disease.

Cancer research carried on to date has been entirely inadequate. It is estimated that less than $100,000 is being spent in the whole of Canada on cancer and related subjects.

Cancer can be conquered. If science is able to organize sufficient forces against the scourge of cancer, the solution will sooner or later be found.

Your contribution is needed—to cut down the death rate from cancer now—to carry on the search for a method of ridding the world of this dread disease.

This appeal is for an objective of $2,000,000 to provide for a three-year program of cancer research, treatment and province-wide service.

Death In Cornwall Of Daniel Johnston

With many relatives and friends in attendance to pay a final tribute of respect to an esteemed resident, the funeral of Daniel Johnston was held Friday afternoon from Meldrum's Funeral Home, Cornwall, to the vault at Woodlawn cemetery.

Mr. Johnston died at his home, 715 Pitt street, Cornwall, early Wednesday morning of a heart attack, although he had not been in the best of health for some time.

The regard in which he was held in Cornwall and throughout the district was reflected in the many who called at the funeral home to offer sympathy to his wife, son and daughter. Friends were present at the funeral from Cornwall, many points in the district, as well as from Massena, N.Y. Mr. Johnston was a native of Roxborough township, where he was born 80 years ago, and where he was a successful farmer until he retired in 1927 and went to Cornwall to reside.

The service at the funeral home and vault was conducted by Rev. C. W. Lynn, pastor of the Revival Tabernacle. Hymns sung during the service were, "Does Jesus Care" and "No Night There". Miss Eunice Young played the piano accompaniment.

Pall bearers were C. R. Baker, Harold Helmer, Aden Thompson, Arnold Johnston, Lloyd Ashley and Frank Montgomery.

Many lovely floral tributes surrounded the casket, sent by relatives and sorrowing friends. The family received many messages of sympathy.

Forty-two Local Patients Treated In Cornwall General

All parts of the United Counties have a stake in Cornwall General hospital's plans to build an extension figures released by the Board of Governors show. Out of a total of 2,183 patients treated at the hospital last year, a high percentage came from points outside Cornwall.

Dundas County had 219 persons in the hospital last year. Morrisburg had 72, the largest total, and others were distributed as follows: Iroquois, 7; Winchester village, 28; Chesterville, 42; Matilda township, 7; Mountain township, 17; Winchester township 18, and Williamsburg township, 28. Glengarry county had a total of 315 persons hospitalized and Stormont county, including Cornwall, had 1,559. Rural parts of Stormont accounted for about 322 patients. There were another 46 patients from other places in Canada outside the counties and 44 from American communities, mainly Massena, N.Y.

W. A. Lawrence, campaign manager, reported this week that the organization of the campaign, which takes place from May 27 to June 6, was making good progress in the districts outside Cornwall. Arrangements have been made to hold organization meetings in many districts. "I have already been told of many persons who were brought to Cornwall for treatment in the hospital and had to be turned away because there was no room," he said. "People everywhere are realizing the need for the campaign."

Slogan for the $250,000 drive is "Very Truly Yours," intended to impress on the people of the United Counties that the Cornwall General Hospital is really their institution. The hospital receives no grants from the federal, provincial or municipal governments, except payments for indigent patients. Control is vested in a panel of nearly 500 life governors, composed of every person or organization that has donated $100 or more to the hospital. The life governors meet annually to elect a board of governors, which operates the hospital.

"Speaking to all residents of the United Counties, I can say that Cornwall General Hospital is indeed 'Very Truly Yours' " said S. E. Fennell, K. C., chairman of this year's Board of Governors. "If you do not supply the funds for this badly needed addition, I am certain no one else is going to do it."

In loving memory of Tpr. Berry, Wilfred R. G., of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, who lost his life in action on the 13th of April, 1945, in Olderbakoope, Holland.

Funeral of the Late Mrs Minnie Durant

Death claimed one of the oldest residents of the district when Mrs. Minnie Durant, widow of the late Allan Durant, passed peacefully away on Sunday afternoon, March 31, 1946, at the advanced age of 84.

Her maiden name was Mary Elizabeth Ouderkirk and she was born at Morrisburg, the younger daughter of the late Henry Ouderkirk and Mrs. Ouderkirk.

Sincere tribute was paid to her memory by the largely attended funeral held in the Dunbar Presbyterian church on Tuesday of which the deceased was a faithful member, also a charter member of the Women's Missionary Society and Ladies Aid. The service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. W. H. Heustin who spoke comforting words on "Lessons of Life" stressing the need of service, cheerfulness and love.

She leaves to mourn her loss one son, Harvey, with whom she resided; two daughters, Mrs. Delbert A. Dillabough and Mrs. Cora Merkley; two grand-daughters, Berneyce and Doonie Dillabough, all of Dunbar, and one brother, William H. Ouderkirk, of Drumheller, Ont.

The beautiful floral tributes adorning the case were testimony of the high esteem in which she was held.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Burnice Froats, Walter Merkley, Robert Marselis, and Ralph Barkley.

Interment was made in Williamsburg cemetery.

SHORTAGE OF SCHOOL BOOKS LIKELY AGAIN NEXT YEAR

With the current shortage in textbooks likely to continue next year due to the prospects of no increase of paper quotas for publishers, the principals of High School have been urged by the Department of Education to help avert this shortage.

Pupils should be encouraged, says the memorandum, to take care of ther textbooks so that as far as possible they may be used again. Whenever possible, steps should be taken to provide for the transfer of books to those who will need them next year. Experience has shown that arrangements for this purpose should be made before the close of school. Some schools have student organizations to set up book exchanges, and in other cases local book sellers have undertaken the resale of textbooks.

During the past year publishers have experienced greatly increased orders for books, and at the same time paper has been strictly rationed. Increased enrolment and the requirements of the courses for service personnel are two factors involved in this increased demand for books.

POTATOES FILL IMPORTANT NEED

With the world shortage of foodstuffs and urgent demands for maximum production during the coming season, the importance of planning for this year's potato crop should not be overlooked, says R. E. Goodin, Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture. A good supply of high quality potatoes, following the crop season, would supplement short supplies of cereals and other food products.

Potato growers would be well advised, says Mr. Goodin, to give special attention to their potato crop this year, by way of using good seed, providing sufficient amounts of plant food, and protection of the growing plants from insects and disease. Experience has amply shown that potato growing has now become a very specialized business.

From the standpoint of growers obtaining profitable returns, careful consideration should first be given to selection and preparation of suitable soil, also the use of labour saving machinery and the amount of attention which might be given to the production and marketing of the crop. With labour supply short, and seed and fertilizer also none too plentiful, plans should be made to use these important requisites to the best advantage. Substantial cash outlays are required to get the crop under way, and most satisfactory returns may be expected by growers who secure above average yields per acre. Not more acres, but yield per acre is the objective that many Ontario growers have decided to follow this coming season.

In order to supply consumers with potatoes, 5,406 carloads were brought into the Province of Ontario in 1945. Of this amount, 2,229 carloads were imported from sources outside Canada. Substantial amounts have also been arriving since the beginning of the present year and additional supplies will be required before the 1946 crop is available.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the many friends for their kindness and expressions of sympathy in our recent sad bereavement. Special thanks to the neighbours for their help and flowers, also Mrs. John Servage for spray of flowers. Melvin Hummel and family.

Modernize Cheese Making Counsels Mr. Kennedy

In a recent address in the Ontario legislature, Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, said that cheese producers can make millions of dollars for themselves by abandoning 90-year-old methods. For nearly a century, he said, they have tended to sell cheese green and unripe before it reaches its finest texture. The practice arose in pioneer days when farmers had to sell cheese as soon as made in order to get cash. "With modern facilities for curing and storing," said Col. Kennedy, "there is no reason why our producers should not hold our cheese until it is fully ripened and cured." When this is done, he said, domestic consumption will advance by leaps and bounds.

He also advocated better feeding methods in hog production. "If our feeding methods were up to our standard of breeding," he said, "we would be in a much better position to meet world production." Canada, he claimed, could equal Denmark's standards if farmers used the knowledge and information on feeding methods made available to them. He dealt at some length with world food shortages which, he said, were the greatest of modern times.

A story of "Old Hickory"

Jovial, witty James Maher, whose duty it was to tend the White House grounds during President Jackson's administration, had a fondness for good liquor which sometimes got him into difficulties with his exalted boss.

One day the President sent for Jim and with evident regret said "I am a friend of yours, Jimmie, but I have warned you often, and this time I must turn you out."

"Why, what's the matter now, General?" inquired Jimmie.

"I am told that you became disgustedly intoxicated at the Yellow Tavern yesterday," the President sorrowfully replied.

"Why, now, General," reasoned Jimmie, "if every bad story that is told against you was believed would it be you putting me out or me putting you out?"

Jimmie stayed.

How the Wounded Come Home

There is an old tradition among sea-faring men that a ship has a soul.

A sailor will speak with affection of the ship he rides. Songs and stories are legion about the love of men for their ships.

If this is so, the Lady Nelson must have a beautiful spirit. She has been used as a hospital ship for so long that her very name calls up pictures of wounded men coming home. She has recently made her 60th crossing of the Atlantic as a mercy ship.

Talking to an officer who served on a few of her trips we found that all the bread consumed on her many voyages is baked aboard ship. There are two bakers who turn out the nearest to home-made bread you could ever find, besides hundreds of dozen buns. Incidentally they bake about 700 loaves a day whch is a lot of dough in any language.

He remarked laughingly "you ought to see the boys go for it, it's the first real white bread they've seen in many moons."

To Chief Steward Buckles goes the honor of providing for the returning men. He says "when you serve a nice brown pork chop, mashed potatoes, vegetables with a couple of slices of the fresh bread, topped off with ice cream, the eyes of the boys are lovely to see.".

Butter is rationed only to the extent that there is no waste. Each one receives a fair-sized pat, bed patients are allowed slightly more.

On a recent trip when they served fifty thousand meals, they were still using fresh milk that they had taken on at Halifax when outward bound.

The Lady Nelson has huge refrigerators and milk is kept at a much lower temperature than you would use in a home. The cream is skimmed off from day to day and given to the ulcer patients, the remaining milk is given to the boys to drink.

All provisions are taken on at Halifax with the exception of oranges and other fresh fruits that are sometimes taken on at Algiers for the return trip.

There are four diet kitchens for the wards. On her last trip she carried 300 bed patients and this is a fair average. The walking wounded eat in the main dining room.

Practically every known drug is used, over 300 standard medicines, exclusive of tablets. Of these, there are 125 different kinds from a sugar-coated pill to aspirin, and mepacrine for malaria. There are over 500 items on the drug list alone.

Most medicines contain sugar, from the cough mixture with its extra heavy percentage, to salines for intra-venus feeding.

Cotton plays a big part on hospital ships. There are miles of bandages, crinilines, plaster of Paris gauze, flannelettes, huge supplies of absorbent cotton.

The Lady Nelson uses over 500 sheets a day and 500 pillow cases. As a trip runs 8 to 10 days you get some idea of the number of sheets required for one trip, which is approximately 5 thousand sheets and 5,000 pillow cases, with extras of course.

Most of the men sleep in cots, two to a tier, the more serious cases have small beds attached to the flour.

Over 2,000 blankets are in use. These are changed every. Not only washed but sterilized.

For its campaign to raise $250,000 for an extension, Cornwall General Hospital is using the slogan "Very Truly Yours". That's a good slogan and a worthwhile object. Hospitals are not government institutions. If the public they serve don't provide the money for expansion, no one else will.

Receives Quilt From Catholic Women's League

Mrs. John Manley of the Catholic Women's League, recently received the following letter in appreciation of a quilt received in a parcel from Canada, on which was Mrs. Manley's name.

Purley,
Surrey, England.

Dear Mrs. Manley:

I felt I must write to thank you for the many hours you must have surely spent in making the beautiful patchwork quilt, to which I found your name attached when it was presented to us a day or so ago.

The design is a very attractive one and the workmanship most beautifully done.

We were living in a block of flats in Carshalton when it was hit on two occasions by flying bombs..

My husband insisted on my taking our wee baby son, then aged six weeks to Norfolk, where we have friends. This was before the official government evacuation scheme was got under way, so that I didn't have any more bomb experiences and was more fortunate than many others who had to stay in the danger zone and endured repeated bombings.

We were fortunate enough to find a house here in Purley last November and had almost quite forgotten those dreadful days when we received a letter from the W.V.S. at Carshalton urging us to call for free gifts from Canada for those people who had been bombed out.

The people of this country have a very real affection for you all in Canada. Before the war there were many who said with conviction that if England should be involved in war again Canada would not so readily come to her assistance this time. But, how well their words were belied! And now, when we are all feeling the aftermath of those long desperate years and when almost each day brings fresh news of a depressing nature about food or clothing, or fuel, we know and have been told that Canada again is ready with all the help she can give us. How grateful we are.

I remember with a warmth of affection many Canadian boys I knew before and after I was married and never once did I see any of them behave in a way which might detrimentally reflect on your country.

Thank you very much, once again, for the lovely gift and for all that you and the other ladies of your League have done to help us here.

Yours sincerely,
Constance Mary Key.

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD

Relations between local residents and the Canadian troops stationed in England during the long wait for D-Day were usually pretty good, as is proved by the numerous war-brides who have come to Canada or are still awaiting passage. But occasionally there was an untoward incident.

For example, there was the poor English widow who complained to the colonel of a Canadian battalion that, of her flock of sixteen hens, only seven remained. She couldn't prove that his men had taken them, but her suspicions were strong.

The colonel was sympathetic and promised to do what he could. On battalion parade next morning he spoke to the men.

"Men of the Blank Battalion," he said, "complaint has been made to me by Mrs. Jones that several of her hens have been stolen. Now I know that army rations get pretty tiresome, but I wish you would remember that the English aren't nearly as well fed as we are. Besides, it's a particularly mean trick to steal chickens from a person like Mrs. Jones, who has only a small flock and needs every one of them. I'm not accusing anybody, but I hope you'll all bear this in mind."

Two days later, the colonel's orderly again announced Mrs. Jones. She came to report that her flock had mysteriously increased to 29 hens.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! This column is written in reply to the many requests concerning the preparation and cooking of fish. In spite of the scarcity of canned fish, supplies of fresh or frozen fish are available.

Don't be critical of the frozen fish. Freezing preserves the fresh flavour and enables you to store it in the freezing unit of the electric refrigerator until you wish to cook it. When cooking frozen fish, the best results are obtained if it is allowed to thaw sufficiently to cut into steaks. Allow a few minutes longer cooking frozen fish—about eight minutes extra baking.

Before we discuss ways of preparing fish, may we remind you that it is important to know which kinds are fat and which are naturally lean, especially when the diet is low in fat. The common fish containing oils are: herring, mackerel, salmon, smelts, whitefish, mullet and haddock. Lean fish are: bass, bluefish, cod, flounder, halibut, perch, pickerel, pike, lake trout and catfish. Oil fish are best for baking; dry or lean fish require fat; and some moisture to prevent the skin from bursting or sticking.

Methods of Cooking Fish

Baking Whole Fish: Split the trimmed fish down the backbone so that the fish will lie flat. Place in oiled baking pan skin side down. Sprinkle with salt. Cover with finely prepared bread crumbs sprinkle with milk. Bake in an electric oven of 425 degrees for 15 to 30 mins. according to the size of the fish.

A 3-pound fish requires 15 to 30 mins. and a 6-pound fish 25 to 30 mins. If the fish becomes too brown before cooking period is up, reduce the heat.

Baked Whole Stuffed Fish: Fish to be stuffed should weigh 3 to 5 pounds. Clean, scale and remove the head and tail if desired. Sprinkle with salt inside and out. Stuff and sew. Place in an oiled pan and bake in an electric oven at 400 degs. 12 mins., then reduce heat and bake 30 to 40 mins. according to the thickness of fish. Allow 10 mins. for each pound up to 4 pounds and 5 mins. for each additional pound.

Sautéed or Pan-Fried Fish: This is a quick method of cooking fish. Small or medium fish are best for this purpose—large fish should be cut into pieces for serving. Roll in salted flour, cornmeal, or fine crumbs. Use enough cooking fat or oil to completely cover the surface of the pan. Heat oil until hot but not smoking hot, brown fish on one side, turn and brown on the other. Fish is cooked when easily pierced with a fork.

Fried Fish (deep fat): This method requires a pan one-third full of oil, therefore only specific inquiries will be answered.

Boiled Fish: Whole fish may be boiled, but it is more satisfactory if cut into servings. Dried or lean-meat fish are best for boiling. Servings are put on a pie plate and placed in a saucepan over which is poured one quart of water containing 3 tbsps. vinegar, 2 tsps. salt. (A quart of boullion is a good substitute for vinegar solution.) Fish is boiled for 5 mins., then simmered for 6 to 10 mins. depending on the thickness. The liquid is used for making sauce—thicken and season with onion, parsley, mushroom, chopped egg, cheese, tomato or spices such as capers.

Steamed Fish: Pieces of dry-meated fish are cooked tender in a steamer, allowing 10 to 15 mins. per pound. Sauce is the finishing touch for this dish, too.

LENTEN SPECIALS

Feature cottage cheese as an entrée accompanied by baked potatoes and browned parsnips.

There are countless egg dishes: poached, scrambled, curried, fried, cooked-in-shell, stuffed, baked in gravy, fried in deep batter, soufflés, omelets, fondues, and variations of these.

Dried beans and peas are protein foods too. Thick soup seasoned with a small amount of onion and celery rounds out a meatless dinner. Our pioneers were grateful for boiled dried vegetables seasoned with a dash of cayenne.

Milk and cheese make a simple casserole the mainstay of any meal. If your oven does not keep a constant temperature, make a cream sauce of whole milk in preference to homogenized; this will prevent a curdled looking scallop.

Vegetables are in ample supply. It is easy to provide a vegetable plate of three or four varieties, but smothering each mound with butter just can't be done these days. Here's what to do: drain off the liquid from a can of beets, heat to boiling and stir in two tablespoons of flour mixed to a paste with water, add 2 tbsps. vinegar and 3 tbsps. brown sugar to make a good sauce. Canned peas are delicious heated to simmering point in their juice in which a bag containing a half teaspoon whole spices has been steeped. In the water from a tin of cut beans we slice two to three thin pieces of orange . . . Of course, cheese flavours any vegetable if it is melted (not cooked) on top of a precooked casserole . . . And concentrated cream soups are about the easiest way of enriching any lenten meal.

List of Veterans' Names For Civic Welcome Home"

Preparations for Chesterville's Civic Welcome Home for its war veterans has reached the point where the list of names of veterans has been prepared by the committee. This list appears on page six of this issue of The Record, and has been published for the special purpose of requesting those concerned to check detail of number, rank, name and Theatre of Operations, and also any omission of names.

Detail must be correct on this list, as the information shown will be used for the engraving of the framed individual scrolls to be presented to the veterans at the banquet planned for the event. Not until this list is complete and the scrolls completed can a date be set for the welcome. When details are completed, invitations will be sent out to the veterans and their wives, friends or next of kin. As it now stands, the list contains 157 names.

Plans for the Welcome Home include the banquet and presentations, followed by a dance in the Community Hall. It is planned a substantial fund will be given to the erection of a Legion memorial.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Olsen and Mrs. August Olsen attended the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Casselman arrived home Tuesday evening after having passed the winter in Victoria, B. C.

Miss Pearl Beckstead of Orillia, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Orval Colquhoun and other friends and relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. George Beattie and Mrs. Harold Droppo were guests for dinner on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barkley, near Iroquois. On returning home the former were accompanied by Mr. Beattie's sister, Mrs. G. E. Earle, who is recovering from her recent accident and is spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. Beattie.

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Beattie of East Farnham, Que., are giving a dinner next Tuesday, April 16th in honour of the 68th wedding anniversary of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beattie. The other members of the family are invited but it is not known how many can attend.

VISITING HERE AFTER 10 YEARS SPENT IN SOUTH AFRICA

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Fulton are visiting in Chesterville after spending 10 years in Durban, South Africa, where Mr. Fulton represents the Massey Harris company. They will visit with relatives in Chesterville and district over the Easter season, and after Mr. Fulton spends some time in Toronto with company officials they will return to South Africa.

Mr. and Mrs Fulton have found a decided contrast in weather here with the sub-tropical climate they have experienced in their South African home. Except for a few weeks of hot, humid weather, they say the climate there is very agreeable once one becomes accustomed to the living conditions.

During the war years many Canadian airmen passed through South Africa, and Mr. and Mrs. Fulton had the pleasure of entertaining one Chesterville boy, Clifford Coyne. Assisting at a canteen, Mrs. Fulton spotted the Chesterville home address of Clifford Coyne and immediately got in touch with him, with the result he spent a week enjoying their hospitality.

TABLE TALK

In spite of the butter shortage and wheat shortage, a customer in one Winnipeg restaurant recently complained to the manager that he was not satisfied with getting only two slices of bread with his dinner. So the next evening the restaurant provided the customer with four slices of bread. Still he complained, so at the next meal he was given eight slices. "Not enough," he said. "Well," said the manager, "if you'll come back tomorrow evening we'll make certain to satisfy you."

When the customer came in again the manager had a loaf of bread cut in two and put before him. The customer shook his head sadly, complaining, "You've gone back to two slices."

Refreshments were served by several of the ladies.

Many messages of congratulations were also received. Among those received from a distance were messages from Rev. J. B. and Mrs. Howe of Athens and Rev. J. C. and Mrs. Eastcott of Hamilton. The beautiful guest book in which the names of the guests were recorded was designed by Mrs. Edgerton Barkley and Mrs. Graham McPherson.

IN MEMORIAM.

FETTERLY: In loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. Mary Lenora Fetterly who passed away April 11, 1945.

See the land, her Easter keeping,
Rises as her Maker rose,
Seeds so long in darkness sleeping
Burst at last from winter snows.
Earth with Heaven above rejoices;
Fields and garlands hail the spring;
Shaughs and woodlands ring with voices
While the wild birds build and sing.
