Mets Heading West With Backs to Wall

The Morrisburg Mets will hit the borough of Mississauga this weekend with only one purpose — to take three straight games from the powerful Mississauga PCOs and to continue in the OLA playdowns.

Fresh from their triumphant romp through the Eastern OLA sectional playoffs and their win of the O'Keefe Trophy, the Mets seemed to let down badly last week end when they dropped two games here to the Western Ontario Club. The PCOs on the other hand, could do nothing wrong, and the ball was just bouncing for them.

On Saturday night, the Mets in a real shaky start, spotted their adversaries 5 goals in the first period, and although they tightened up in the last two frames and gave a most creditable performance, they were unable to overcome the early lead, and went down 9-6.

On Sunday afternoon, the Mets were really overwhelmed with a 14-4 drubbing.

Both games saw near record attendances, as the Mets fans, the most loyal in the business, turned out in numbers to cheer their favorites on. It is interesting to note here that while this Junior B series was drawing crowds in the neighborhood of 1000 fans, the Senior A final game at New Westminster, B.C., for the Mann Cup, suposedly the best lacrosse in the world, was drawing a scant 600 in the western Canada city.

In both games, the Mets receibed goaling which was better than the average for this league, from their rookie goaler, David Algire, of the Cornwall Celtics, rushed into the breach when the regular goalie, Delbert 'Doc' Jones, was sidelined with an operation to his hand. David performed well with his new teammates, and could in no sense be blamed for either week-end loss.

On Saturday night the visiting team was led by Paul Cioci with 3 counters, John Chelo and Dan Cross with two each; Jim Wedgewood and Ross Burton with singles.

For the Mets, who after spotting the five goal lead in the first period, outscoring their rivals 3 to 1 in the second, and matching their 3-goal output in the final, it was six differtn players: Brian McNairn, Gary Banford, Tom Dawley, Don Mabo, Ralph Duvall and Garth Baker.

The Mets picked up 17 penalties in this contest, against 18 for the PCOs.

Sunday afternoon's game was a one-sided victory for the visitors, and the Mets were ahead only in one department — which didn't affect the final outcome. They had 20 penalties, against 21 for their guests.

Bill Perras led the PCOs in this one with 3goals; Paul Cioci and Dan Cross had two each; Angus Roy, Jim Wedgewood, Glen Branning, John Chelo, Doug Grey, Ted O'Brien and Ross Burton had one eac.

For the Mets, Ralph Duvall, with a pair, Mick Mabo and Gary Hess were the only ones able to count.

Main block to the Mets sharpshooters in this series has been Bill Giesen, the large economy-size goalie for the PCOs who almost fills the net with his body. They will have to devise a way to get around him if they are to prolong the series after Saturday. The schedule calls for games at the new Malton Arena on Saturday night, and Sunday afternoon and evening if necessary.

Getting back to the Mets fans,— a good number of them are planning to make the trip to see their favorites, — win, lose or draw.

And win, lose or draw, this has been a good season for the Mets. Trailing the league for most of the season, they came from behind to win the really big ones. They were the only team in their league which could make the black side of the ledger; and they came on strong when it counted to defeat the league leaders and win the league trophy. They have provided 'exciting entertainment for lacrosse fans from a wide area, and made many new friends and staunch supporters.

Smith's Photo Service has made a picture of the 1969 version of the Mets and copies are available at Charlie's Sports Shop, Morrisburg.

A sizeable contingent of officials of the OLA and fans from Mississauga, including a sports writer and a photographer from the South Peel Weekly, mode the trip here with the PCOs. They all expressed surprise and delight at the outstanding support for the Mets for such a small town. This type of support, they said augurs well for the future of lacrosse in this area.

LEARNING TO WALK WITHOUT SEEING

Learning to walk without seeing is one of the first obstacles posed by blindness. To walk alone, even in familiar surroundings, is a frightening sensation. The white cane offers a blind person a constant companion — a guide and trouble-shooter. The funds raised by your CNIB Campaign, currently being conducted in Morrisburg and area, will provide mobility training so essential for a blind person's grasp of independence. Have you made your donation to the CNIB Campaign?

Cape Breton Economy

The Fortress of Louisbourg restoration being carried out by the National Historic Sites Service will be one of Canada's major tourist attractions and is expected to bring an annual minimum of $10 million to the economy of Cape Breton Island.

This forecast by Northern Development Minister Jean Chretien, who will symbolically open a window on 18th century life in Canada when he receives the wrought-iron key to the Governor's Wing of the reconstructed Chateau St-Louis at Fortress of Louisbourg National Historic Park at 2 p.m. on September 8.

The ceremony will mark completion of the first phase of reconstruction of the 18th century French fortress-town on Cape Breton Island, 23 miles south of Sydney.

Keynote speaker will be Jean Chretien, Minister of Indian Affairs and Northern. Also addressing the gathering will be Allan J. MacEachen, Minister of Manpower and Immigration and a native Nova Scotian; G.L.; Smith, Premier of Nova Scotia; George E. Lewis, Mayor of Louisbourg; and Miss Katharine McLennan, honorary curator, Louisbourg Museum. Miss McLennan has contributed to development of the museum for over 40 years, and her father, the late Senator J.S. McLennan, early advocated and supported establishment of the fortress as a National Histoic Site.

The ceremony will be chired by Dr. Peter B. Waite, Nova Scotia member of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada. The key to the Governor's Wing will be presented to Mr. Chretien by John Lunn, Park Superintendent.

Following the official ceremony, guests and members of the public will be led on a tour of the antique-furnished Governor's Wing. The 10-room wing includes the Governor's bedroom, ponelled study and reception rooms, the ricrly-draped Council Chamber; the officers' mess; and the kitchens, laden with cured hams, poultry and cheeses, their cupboard shelves holding authentic implements and containers of 18th century cookery.

The $12 million Louisbourg project, to be completed in the mid-1970's, is already attracting some 200,000 visitors annually.

By the mid-1970's, the choicest and most interesting of the more than a million artifacts excavated to date, ranging from delicate wine glasses to sword hilts and toys, will be organized into indoor displays illustrating the various facets of 18th century life.

The ultimate objective is for streets to have the clutter and smells of historic Louisbourg as cows and hens wander amongst fishermen salting and drying their catch, and bakers tending their ovens in the fortress bakery.

By the mid-1970's it is expected that visitors will encounter within the fortress walls, saff and guides dressed in a variety of appropriate 18th century costumes.

The same attention to authenticity of detail given to building reconstruction will go into the making of period clothing. Garments will be hand-woven and sewn, whale-boned, vegetable--dyed then patched and aged.

BACKGROUND

Construction of the original Fortress of Louisbourg was begun in 1720 and took some 25 years to complete.

Designed to protect French fisheries in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the St. Lawrence River route to French colonial Quebec, the fortress was also a trading center for exchange of goods between Europe, the West Indies, New England colonies and Canada.

About one-fifth of the fortress-town will be reconstructed. Thus the visitor will be able to see Louisbourg as it flourished contrasted with the town in ruins.

Louisbourg was designated a National Historic Site in 1928, and established as a National Historic Park in 1940. Although the park is not officially open, a total of 750,000 visitors have seen Louisbourg between 1962 and 1968. Annual visits increased from 30,000 to 195,000 in the seven-year period.

St. Joseph's Villa Open at Cornwall

What started as a dream ten years ago, became a reality, when the first residents were installed in the St. Joseph's Villa recently. Admitted as the first residents, were miss Exilda Currier of Alexandria, Mrs. Margery Chisholm and Mrs. Ann Cavanagh, both of St. Andrew's West, Mr. William Welsh and Alex Gadbois of Cornwall.

Plans for St. Joseph's Villa were started in 1959, by Sister Ann Burns Home and the MacdoTmaetaoinoin the Administrator of St. Paul's Home and the Macdonell Memorial Hospital at that time. It was realized that St. Paul's Home would have to be replaced, with a much larger and modern building. The new project was tentatively named the McMartin Villa, in honor of the family who formerly owned the property on which the orphanage and now the Post Office is located.

St. Paul's Home was closed in 1963 and demolished with the hope of rebuilding immediately. Its closing left a huge gap in the case of Senior citizens in the community.

Sister Ste-Anne the present administrator of St. Joseph's Villa, was in charge of the closing of St. Paul's Home, continued with the planning of the new Villa. "From 1961 until I left Cornwall in 1967, much time was devoted to planning the type and size of building we would need. We obtained government approval and assurance of a bed grant. Sister Ste-Anne left Cornwall in September 1967 for an assignment at the Other House. Sister E. Quinn was named Administrator of Macdonell Memorial Hospital and she with the help of the Advisory Board, finalized the plans, they saw to the financing arrangement and proceeded to the realization of the present St. Joseph's Villa. "I can still recognize some of my favorite features, it was very interesting to see how close the original plans were followed" continued Sister Ste-Anne, "my sincere thanks goes to Sister Quinn, the Adivsory Board members, and all who helped to the realization of this project.

Sister Ste-Anne was appointed as Administrator of St. Joseph's Villa and assumed her duties in the middle of August. Arrangements for opening were made, and on Aug. 27th, five residents, were installed in their new home. "For an institution of this nature, it is always slow to obtain all the necessary approvals from the various Government Departments involved.

Sister Ste-Anne is well qualified for her work as Administrator. She comes to us, from Antigo Wisconsin where she was administrator for one year. In addition to her experience at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, and the Mcdonell Memorial Hospital, in Alberta, Illinois, Montana, and in Chatham, N.B. which Sister Ste-Anne is fluently bilingual, which she feels is an asset for St-Joseph's Villa. "We want to make our guests from both french and english backgrounds feel equally at home in the Villa."

Although every attempt is being made to make the admittance as smooth as possible, there are a few things that applicants will have to do themselves, before admittance. "Application forms are available at the Villa, we would very much like to have an interview with each applicant, and have them visit the Villa, Sister Ste-Anne explained, "It is necessary to obtain a medical examination from their own doctor, and a chest x-ray". Once these steps are taken, the applications are processed, and when approved by the admittance committee, the admittance can be completed. The admission will be on a first come, first served basis, but the Department of Family and Social Services does not allow us to admit more than five residents per week.

It is expected that admittance will be maintained at that level.

Siser Ste-Anne replaces Sister E. Quinn, who saw the St-Joseph Villa to its final completion. Sister E. Quinn, will continue as the Administrator of the Macdonell Memorial Hospital. In relinquishing her duties Sister Quinn said; "This has been a tremendous project, not only for the Religious Hospitalliers of St. Joseph, but for the entire community of Cornwall and area. I would like to particularly mention the work of our Advisory Board, who were so helpful with their time and advise. To the members of the various committee's to the canvassers, who gave so many hours of their spare hours. To all of those who supported us, in making this project a success, we owe our thanks. It is gratifying to realize that our beautiful Villa, was made possible by the efforts of so many people. "It has been a wonderful experience," continued Sister Quinn "and I want to thank all of you for your help and advise.

It is expected that the official opening of St. Joseph's Villa will be about mid-October.

Aprons or diplomas?

Why don't girls just get married, the way they used to? What is this desperate thing in modern society that insists a girl must get a degree or become a nurse or learn a skill, such as punching an adding machine.

Frightened, frantic parents, with the shadow of The Depression peeking over their shoulders, are ramming their daughters, willy-nilly, into something they can "fall back on."

The irony. Of course we want them to get married. Eventually. To a nice boy with a nice job and prospects; a nice home, nice children, a nice neighbourhood and at the end, a nice pension.

But first we want them to have anywhere from 13 to 18 years of "education" so they'll have something to fall back on. We are tacitly admitting that if they do get married, they're going to be abandoned, divorced, or their husbands are going to die at 28. So, they have to have something to fall back on.

Why don't we just let them get married and fall back on their husbands for a living? My wife has been falling back on me for almost 23 years and I'm still in reasonable condition. Even though my back has fallen a bit into my front.

I suppose you think this is just a diatribe. Well, you're right. But there's a reason for it.

My wife and I have nursed and cursed and wheedled and needled our daughter through high school. She hated it in Grade 11, loathed it in Grade 12, and abhorred it in Grade 13.

But by a combination of blackmail, bribery and piteous whining, we made her stagger through the process.

I promised, "If you just get your Grade 13, you can do whatever you want. Go to college. Get a job. Drop dead. But you'll never regret it."

Already she's regretting it. Now she has to go to university, which she's about as much interested in as she is in catching leprosy.

This whole column is inspired (or uninspired) by the harrowing effort of getting Kim organized at university. She thought she might be able to hack university if she had a pad of her own; a grill to burn beans on and burn toast on, and maybe a sleeping bag on the floor, and a few psychedelic posters and a few cockroaches and her cat for company.

This was all right by me. I've slept in barns and box cars. This was freedom from home and parents and all the awful things they represent, such as cleanliness and godliness and so on.

But her mum had different ideas. And her mum, as I have reason to know, is a domineering, forceful, overpowering and illogical woman, like most other women.

So Kim is going to stay in a nice home, with a very nice middle-aged couple. As far as she's concerned, it's getting out of purgatory and into hell.

I've never heard of anybody being kicked out of hell, but I imagine she'll manage it within about three weeks. If you have a teenage daughter, you'll know what I mean. They're absolute slobs until they're married, when, by some strange process, they go around emptying ash trays before anyone has used them.

But three weeks of dirty bare feet and a bedroom that looks like a Salvation Army old-clothes depot and a bathroom that looks as if it went down with the Titanic and even that charming, calm landlady will be screaming, "Out! Out!"

However, I guess the trip was worth it. We met a nice lady in the registrar's office who reads my column (hello, nice lady, keep an eye on my beloved). We had a couple of roaring fights with subsequent tears, which is good for everybody.

And we got home, after a fairly disastrous stopover with friends, to be greeted by our other rotten kid, the vacuum cleaner salesman, who has decided to go back to university after two years of drop-out, who has made $3,500 in the last eight months, who has "Maybe enough money to pay my fees," who was just dropping in at the old oil well to see if it was still pumping.

Somebody said, "Life is short and life is sweet." Thank goodness it's short.

Though the Canada Games Arts Festival, along with the Canada Games recently held in Halifax-Dartmouth, has finished in a blaze of glory, the melody lingers on. It was SPRO at a variety concert from St. Patrick's Auditorium featuring such headliners as singer Tommy Ambrose, Acadian folksinger Edith Butler, and The Dropouts, backed by the Dave Woods Orchestra. The show was taped for the On Stage series, September 13. Another popular concert was given by Joan Baez at Camp Fortune as part of the CBC Ottawa Music Festival. Highlights of the show will be heard on Part I of CBC Showcase, September 14. Part II is devoted to music from productions at Winnipeg's outdoor summer theatre, Rainbow Stage.

Germain Cadieux, director of Information Services for the CBC's French network, is leaving the CBC to join the staff of Secretary of State, Hon. Gerard Pelletier as Director of Information.

Montreal writer M. Charles Cohen is "trying to do something no other Canadian has done — work exclusively for the Hollywood market but live in Canada". He's been a major contributor to Canadian radio and TV for many years (his comedy-satire, The Maze, will be broadcast on Summer Stage, September 14) but for the past two years has worked solely for Hollywood, producing two original screen tary on solitude and how it affects people, will be heard on The Art Of Glenn Gould, September 14. This will be the third broadcast of The Idea Of North, which is a notable example of Gould's facility with, and understanding of, the radio medium. In it, he shows that he is a skilled broadcaster,, as well as musician.

Charbonneau and Le Chef, the controversial drama about the power struggle between Duplessis (Le Chef) and Archbishop Charbonneau during the Asbestos strike of 1949, is to be aired again on CBC Tuesday Night, September 16. It is the first full-length Canadian play to be released on a stereo recording and distributed commercially in Canada. Bearing a CBC label and distributed by RCA Victor, the record will be in the stores Sept. 10.

Two new hosts join regulars Pat Patterson and Ed Reid at the start of Matinee's fall season: Helen Hutchison, paperback reviewer for the Toronto Daily Star who's contributed to several radio programs over the past few years, and a Winnipeg lawyer with an offbeat sense of humor, Dan Finkelman. Kinkelman ojined the CBC the day after he was called to the Bar, because he hates getting up early and didn't want a nine-to-five desk job.

DEPARTMENT OF LANDS AND FORESTS

Weekly Report

THE HOW AND WHY OF SITE PREPARATION

Summer is again drawing to a close bringing to an end one of the busiest seasons of the year. Programmes ending include site preparation, chemical cleaning, plnatation assessment, insect and disease control, road construction and picnic site construction, etc.

This summer over 200 acres have been prepared for planting on Larose Forest and on private land under Woodlands Improvement Act agreements. There remains only 20 acres on W.I.A. property and 30 acres on agreement Forest still to be done.

Equipment being used includes 18" and 22" plows pulled by farm tractors, and a 24" wildland plow pulled by a D4 bulldozer. The furrows are plowed approximately 8' apart and all brush is broken down in the process. A solution of 2-4-D is applied to the brush at the same time. In the case of the Wildland plow a sprayer is mounted right on the back of the buildozer. With the smaller plaws a second tractor also with a pawer sprayer follows behind the plow to apply the herbecide.

The smaller plows are used on abandoned farmland where he brush is light. The wildland plow and bulldozer make a formidable combination and can be used in heavy brush areas and on low and rolling terrain. Anyone who has operated a sprayer on the back of a bulldozer over rolling country will tell you that it is not the most enjoyable way to spend a day. Drawing the big plow the bulldozer can knock down undesirable trees up to about 4" but over that size they tend to spring back and close he furrow again.

The purpose of furrowing is two fold. First it allows the trees to be planted in the spring above the high watertable. This way the roots are not drowned out by the excess water. The furrows made also aid in draining off the excess water and in thus lower the watertable. Secondly the turned-up furrows create a better micro-site for the young trees. Competition for nutrients, light and suppression by shrubs and vegetation is reduced to a minimum.

There is no doubt that site preparation for planting is a very beneficial and important part of our silvicultural programme because it leads to better tree survival and this reduces the possibility of refill planting and maintaining he plantation.

RETIREMENT OF DEPUTY MINISTER OF HEALTH

The Deputy Minister of National Health, Dr. John N. Crawford, retires this week after a lengthy and distinguished career of service to Canada.

Born in Winnipeg in 1906 of a pioneer family, he graduated as M.D. from the University of Manitoba in 1930. He became a member of the staff of the Winnipeg Children's Hospital and the St. Boniface Hospital, and was a lecturer in Pediatrics at the University.

Commissioned as a Lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps (militia) in 1933, he was called for active service on the outbreak of World War II in 1939. After service in the West Indies, Major Crawford was appointed Senior Medical Officer of the Canadian forces despatched to Hong Kong in October 1941. With the rest of the garrison, he was taken prisoner by the Japanese.

While in prison camp he managed to establish a makeshift hospital which provided the only treatment available to allied prisoners until their release nearly four years later. For this he was made a Member of the Order of the British Empire.

Lt. Col. Crawford was posted to Ottawa in April 1946 as Director of Medical Research at Army Headquarters. He served subsequently as Deputy Director General of Medical Services, and as Executive Staff Officer of the Canadian Forces Medical Council, with rank of Brigadier. In 1953 he was awarded the Efficiency Decoration.

In 1956, Dr. Crawford retired from the Army to accept appointment as Director General of Treatment Services, Department of Veterans Affairs, and later became Assistant Deputy Minister.

In September, 1965, he was appointed Deputy Minister of National Health, Department of National Health and Welfare.

Dr. Crawford has represented Canada at international conferences for the revision of the Geneva Conventions, and at annual assemblies of the World Health Organization. He led the Canadian delegation to the 1969 Assembly of WHO. He is the author of numerous articles and technical papers on military medicine and nutritional disturbances of prisoners of war. Long associated with the Order of St. John in Canada, he is a Knight of Grace of that Order. He has also been active in community affairs in Ottawa, and served as Chairman of the Public Service United Appeal in 1968.

Dr. and Mrs. Crawford will be honoured by the Minister of National Health and Welfare, Hon. John Munro, and colleagues at various functions on the occasion of retirement.

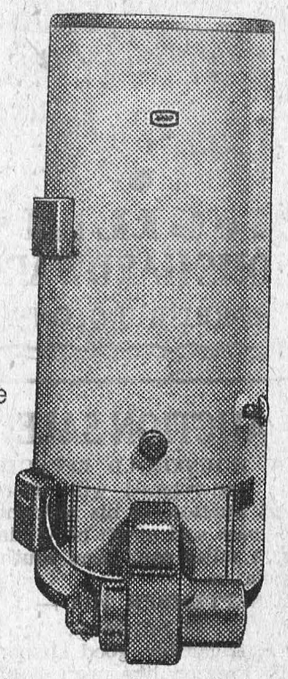
Your Texaco home team presents its new hot water service.



An oil-powered Texaco water heater provides more hot water faster than any other comparable type of unit. Four times faster than gas and eight times faster than electricity.

And it costs you less. Oil is simply the most economical way to heat cold water. A 30-gallon Texaco water heater will heat 115 gallons of hot water per hour.

It's the best kind of hot water service. It's yours for just pennies a day.

We'll see that you always have the home comfort you desire. Day and Night.

Our teamwork keeps the water hot.

TEXACO HOME COMFORT

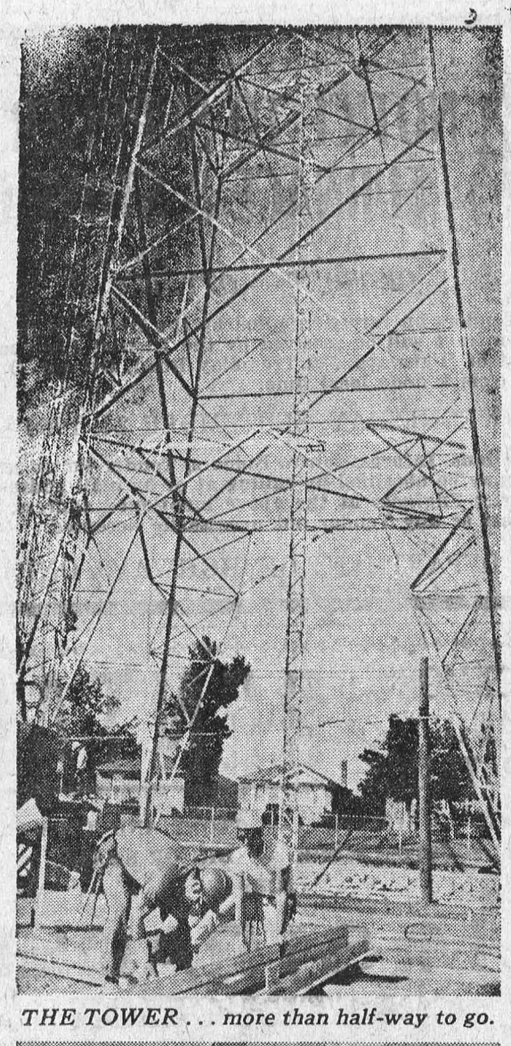
'It's a job'

That's the way the wives describe the work that Noel Gaudreault and Alcide Leroux do high above the ground.

At present this micro wave hydro tower is 125 feet high. When completed it will soar 300 feet with four 10-foot-wide discs mounted on top for picking up micro wave signals.

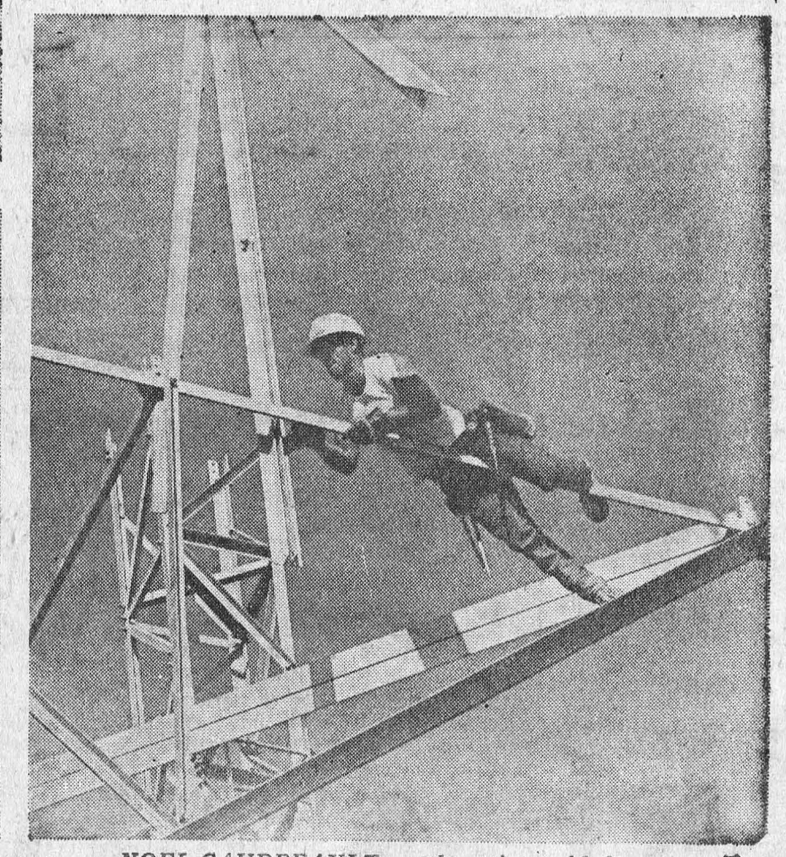
The Montreal men are employed by Dominion Bridge Co. They will continue working on the tower until it reaches 175 feet when another crew will take over.

Each day they must climb up and down the tower. They do not ride the crane because it is against safety regulation, according to Alcide, who has been in the high steel business for 10 years.



THE TOWER . . . more than half-way to go.

ALCIDE LEROUX . . . the long climb.



NOEL GAUDREAULT . . . the artistry of balance.
