Special Meeting Of Council Produces Deadlock Chief Baker Still On Job After Stormy Session

A special meeting of the Village Council on Wednesday night that started out in a routine manner wound up in a name-calling contest that for a while threatened to come to blows. Councillor Hamilton and Constable Baker had a heated exchange of words that left no doubt as to the opinions entertained by both gentlemen. The final outcome was a rescinding of the motion asking for Constable Baker's resignation and on the defeat of a motion by Councillor Hamilton asking for Mr. Baker's immediate suspension, Mr. Baker is still the Village Constable.

After routine business was taken care of, by members present who were Councillors Turner, Carl McMillan and Hamilton with Reeve McMillan in the chair, Police Chief Baker was asked as to whether he would accept orders from the police commission of the village. Mr. Baker expressed himself to the contrary stating that he was taking orders from the council as a whole, from a magistrate or a judge. The Police Commission took a dim view of this statement and tempers became frayed and loud words said. When the smoke had settled somewhat, Mr. Baker left the council chamber and the council looked for a solution of their difficulties in discussion. Councillor Hamilton moved and Councillor Turner seconded a motion that the motion of October 4th asking for Mr. Baker's resignation be rescinded. Passed. Then Councillor Hamilton made a second motion as follows: "That Constable A. A. Baker be paid up to December 31st and dismissed as of tomorrow on the grounds that he has stated that he will not take orders from the police commission, that he will only take orders from the council as a whole, a magistrate or a judge and that he has not fulfilled his duties." The motion was seconded by Councillor Carl McMillan. When the vote was called the "Ayes" were Hamilton and Carl McMillan and the "Nays" were Turner and Reeve McMillan. As the vote was deadlock, the Municipal Act was turned to for decision and the motion was negativated. Constable Baker is still Police Chief.

In conclusion Councillor Hamilton again went on record with a motion. As a member of the police commission of the village he wished the fact advertised that Constable Baker was going to check on reflectors on the rear of all commercial vehicles and trailers The Notice is found elsewhere on these pages in its entirety. Motion was seconded by Mr. Turner and carried.

The meeting adjourned till next regular meeting or the call of the chair.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY HOLDS MEETING

At a meeting last night of the Chesterville Branch of the Winchester District Memorial Women's Auxiliary it was decided that a canvas for members will be held at the time of the hospital opening. No special project will be undertaken until the Women's Institute have completed their project in aid of the hospital.

WE REGRET

Again this week we regret that space, time and power will not permit us to print all the news on hand. Items that are missing will be in next week if possible

CORRECTION

In last week's report of the Chesterville High School Field Day, we stated that Ronona Boyle led the Senior Girls with 31 points. It should have read, Shirley Froats with 39 points.

Power Shut-Offs Save Juice Edging Up To Quota

With the power shut-offs in force for a week now, the word is that we are slowly approaching our quota of 5000 hours. There is still much power to be saved, however. It is only necessary to walk around town after supper and wonder if some of the houses that are lit up from top to bottom like Christmas trees are not a little lax in their efforts to save electricity. And when you put the cat out, don't leave the back porch light on for the rest of the night. He can see in the dark and will only come home if he feels like it.

Troubles of the cut-offs are legion but none of them to date are serious, as reported to this office. This week's issue of the Record will occasion some muttering to those people reading the story, "A Soft Answer - - Plus" when they come to the last paragraph on page nine and find no paragraph there and no "continued" line. It is continued on page ten. In the semi-darkness of the office during one of the cut-offs the last paragraph was overlooked. We apologize.

Annual Convention Dundas Teachers Ass'n

The annual convention of the Dundas County Teachers was held in the Town Hall, Iroquois, on Friday, October 8, at 9.30 a.m.

Rev. C. W. Hutton conducted the opening exercises followed by the singing of "O Canada". Mr. Stanley Waddell, the president, gave a fine address on the "Advantages of a Township School Area." The minutes of the previous convention were read by Mr. H. Hamilton secretary-treasurer. Next, the appointment of committees:

Press Committee: Mrs. Audrey Foster, Miss Maude Edgerton, Miss Marion Smyth and Mrs. Evelyn Gillard.

Resolution Committee: Miss Gwendolyn Fraser, Mrs. Kathleen McGinn and Gerald Droppo.

Nominating Committee: Mr. Jack Casselman, Mrs. R. Helmer, Miss Kathleen Morgatroyd, Mrs. Dora Johnston and Mr. Elgin Bowman.

A demonstration of two-part singing by a grade 5 class from Iroquois Public School was conducted by Mrs. Edith Murdock, after which Mrs. Jane Graham, teacher of vocal music in Matilda Township, gave her opinion on what the class room teacher can and should do to supplement the work of the special teacher of vocal music.

Mr Lyall Thorpe, S.S. No. 18, Matilda, discussed practical hand work activities in the regular class room. After this discussion, teachers were invited to submit questions of general or special interest to question box.

At 1.15 the teachers had an interesting and instructive visit to Caldwell Linen Mill.

Mrs. Eileen Beckstead, S.S. No. 10 Williamsburg, spoke on the basic principles of social studies' programme, with special reference to grades 9 and 8. Highlights of the Summer Course in Education were given by Mrs. Flora Mellan, S.S. No. 15, Matilda. The teachers were enlightened by the remarks and instructions given by Mr. W. J Stewart, M.A., B.Paed., Public School Inspector.

The reports of the committees were then read and the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem. Immediately following the adjournment federation meetings were held.

Mrs. Wilfrid Saucier, 86, Mourned By Many Friends

After having lived more than a half century in Chesterville, following her marriage to Wilfrid M. Saucier, Mrs. Saucier passed away Friday night following an illness of some time. During all these years she was held in the highest esteem and her death is sincerely regretted. Before her marriage she was Alice Laurea Burton the daughter of the late James and Ellen McMaster of Williamstown, a niece of the late Sir Donald McMaster of Montreal. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. LeBlanc and a cousin, Miss Minnie Cameron both of Chesterville, a sister, Mrs. J. J. Murphy of Ottawa and Byron Burton, a brother of Los Angeles, Calif.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon in Trinity United Church with services conducted by Rev. W. E. Wright, who took his text from second Corinthians and based his remarks on Thanksgiving for a well-spent life and the reward of everlasting life. The honorary pallbearers were Messrs. Melvin Durant, D. J. McMillan, Percy Gilroy and Lawrence Doering with the active pallbearers being Eric Casselman, Wm. McCloskey, Lyle Marcellus and Haldane Durant.

The choir was under the direction of Mrs. Allison Graham and Miss Addie Campderros contributed the beautiful solo "A Stranger In Gallilee" with Mrs. Graham as her accompanist. Interment was made in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

R. C. DILLABOUGH ADDRESSES ROTARY ON COMMUNISM

R. C. Dillabough, principal of the Chesterville Public School and a Rotarian addressed the Rotary Club of Chesterville at their regular meeting last Tuesday night. His topic was 'Communism and Russia." He was introduced by Charles McMillan and thanked on behalf of the club by J. C. Fulton. Present as a guest of the club was Dr. George Flannigan.

Mr. Dillabough took his listeners on a verbal tour of the great country that is now called the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. He told how the present nation has evolved from the invasions and settlements of the past till today he Russian native represents the end product of half a dozen combinations of races and colors. Today the country has 150 different languages and dialects.

After a look at the historical background of the political beliefs Mr. Dillabough pointed out that the present day Communism was a far cry from the original ideas of Karl Marx. Dictatorship does not allow for too much ownership of state property.

"A truly Christian, democratic and humanitarian way of life," said Mr. Dillabough in conclusion "is the only antidote to Communism."

SCIENCE AND THE FARMER

Probably no single group has benefited more from the march of modern science than the farmers. Science has given them a multitude of labor-saving machines. It has developed new varieties of crops capable of withstanding drought, frost and other elemental scourges. It has come forward with chemicals to feed their starving soils. It has developed a great variety of weed and insect killers which have resulted in increased yields and therefore increased profits. It has created new strains of farm stock infinitely superior to the old standbys of a fading era.

Where agricultural science is leading only tomorrow will tell. But we may be certain of one fact—that no intelligent farmer who wishes to remain in the business can ignore its significance in farm economics.

Primary step in scientific farming is education. Few Canadian farmers are graduates from an agricultural college. Education, therefore, must be done at home. The local newspapers go out of their way to print editorial material of rural nature in practically every issue. Farm magazines are replete with articles about a wide variety of subjects dealing with scientifii agriculture. Radio stations offer a generous slice of their time to farm broadcast.

Available to the farmer, without charge, is the great mass of educational literature from provincial and federal agricultural departments. Industrial firms have produced great numbers of booklets which offer the latest information on scientific farming. The local agricultural representative is another good source of information.

The fact is, there is more solid factual information available to the farmer about his occupation than any other economic group enjoys. Let him use it to the best advantage of himself and his country.

Church News

MOREWOOD UNITED CHURCH

Harvest Home service was held at Morewood United Church on Sunday morning with the minister, Rev. W. J. Copsey preaching from the text, "Bring ye all the tithes into the store house that there may be meat in my house and prove me now herewith saith the Lord if I will not open to you the windows of heaven and pour you out such a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it." Matt. 3;10. The chapter teaches that human happiness depends upon what man does with the Lord's portion. God has a claim upon man's time, his talents and all his possessions. Man can meet this claim by giving freely and gladly worship material, contributions and a life surendered to the will of God. The Ontario harvest of the present year at an estimated value of one billion, twenty-two million, nine hundred and forty-eight thousand dollars, the greatest of all time, should surely prompt a generous discharge of man's indebtedness to the Giver of all good gifts.

The anthem "Offer Unto God Thanksgiving" was rendered by the choir and the solo "Consider the Lilies" was sung by James Shaw.

At the evening service beautifully coloured slides were used to illustrate the hymns "I Come to the Garden Alone", "God Will Take Care of You" and "Will Your Anchor Hold." An illustrated lecture was given entitled "Scenes from the life of St. Paul". Mrs. Sam Barrington presided at the piano.

SIXTY YEARS IN CHURCH WORK

The members of the choir of Morewood United Church met on Friday, October 8th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Steinburg, to honour one of their members, Mr. James Shaw, on the completion of sixty years in church choir work. Sixty years ago on the second Sunday in October, James Shaw was made a member of the choir in the Methodist Church at Carleton Place and has been singing regularly in church choirs ever since. The last eight years he has been a member of the choir in Morewood. Miss Ellice Smith read an address of appreciation of Mr. Shaw's efficient and faithful service in the choir and Mrs. Ford Steinburg presented on behalf of the choir a signet ring. An interesting feature was the cutting of the anniversary cake. It was a large white cake with cream-coloured icing and yellow and green rosettes with the staff notation in blue lines with notes of "Singing in the Old Village Choir" in silver and a large 60 in green. Mr. Shaw sings equally well in Baritone and Tenor and celebrated his sixtieth anniversary in choir work by singing in the choir on Sunday morning the beautiful solo by Topliff, "Consider the Lilies." Mr. Shaw's many friends wish him years of good health and happy years in his choir work.

Elma Women's Institute At Home of Mrs B. Beckstead

The Elma branch of the W.I. met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Burton Beckstead at Beckstead. There were twenty-four members and eight visitors present. Two new members joined.

Mrs. Burrill Beckstead, president, opened the meeting with the singing of the Ode and repetition of the Creed. Letters read by the secretary included a letter of thanks from Mrs. C. R. Robinson, secretary of the Winchester and District Memorial Hospital Board, for the donation sent.

It was moved and seconded that Mrs. J. H. McMillan be our delegate to the annual convention at Ottawa, with Mrs. Melvin Dillabough as alternate, also that Mrs. Oscar Beckstead and Mrs. Wilfred Carruthers be a reception committee at the November meeting.

The Home Economics convener, Mrs. Burton Beckstead, had charge of the programme. Mrs. Stanley Shay of Chesterville, accompanied by Mrs. Wilfred Carruthers, sang "Just a Prayer Away," which was much enjoyed by her girlhood friends here. Mrs. L. H. Doering of Chesterville, gave a very interesting and instructive address on "Food and Food Poisoning." Minor forms of poison mentioned included the natural poisons in some plants, and foods to which some persons are sensitive. The more important poisons include staphylococcus, salmonella, antimony and botolism, all of which can be avoided if sufficient care is taken.

Mrs. Shay rendered another solo, "My Happiness."

The soloist and speaker were introduced by Mrs. Burton Beckstead and thanked by Mrs. Donald Dillabough. "The Maple Leaf Forever" was sung.

Several members joined the Hospital Auxiliary, the donations and fees to be given through the W.I. toward our objective.

Lunch was served by the committee in charge. The meeting closed with "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." The next meeting will be held in the Church Hall on November 2nd.

THE TONGUE

By Philip B. Strong

THE boneless tongue, so small and weak,
Can crush and kill," declared the Greek.

"The tongue destroys a greater horde,"
The Turk asserts, "than does the sword."

A Persian proverb wisely saith,
"A lengthy tongue—an early death;"

Or sometimes take this form instead,
"Don't let your tongue cut off your head."

"The tongue can speak a word whose speed,"
Says the Chinese, "outstrips the steed;"

While Arab sages this impart,
"The tongue's great storehouse is the heart."

From Hebrew wit the maxim sprung,
"Though feet should slip, ne'er let the tongue."

The sacred writer crowns the whole;
"Who keeps the tongue doth keep his soul."

A Decoration

Father was furious; his shaving brush was missing.

"Doesn't anybody know where my shaving-brush is?" he thundered.

"N-n-no," answered a small voice from the nursery; "but Willie's wooden horse has grown a new tail!"

Hallowe'en is coming round again! When your doorbell rings, be ready with this grand Purity Pumpkin pie . . . made with Purity Flour . . . of course! Here's a melt-in-your-mouth pastry recipe.

PURITY PASTRY (enough for 2 pie shells)
Sift together 1½ cups PURITY FLOUR and ½ teaspoon salt. Cut ⅓ cup shortening into mixture with two knives, until it looks like very coarse meal. Add 3 tablespoons ice water gradually, mixing only enough to hold mixture together. Chill dough for 5 or 10 minutes and turn out on a lightly floured board. Roll with a lightly quick motion to ⅛ inch thickness. Press dough lightly into pie plates so that no air bubbles are trapped, and trim off the edge.

FILLING (1 pie)
Beat 2 eggs only until whites and yolks are well blended. Gradually beat in ⅔ cup white sugar, and add 1 teaspoon cinnamon; ¼ teaspoon ginger; ¼ teaspoon nutmeg; ¼ teaspoon allspice, and a few grains of salt. Stir in 1½ cups prepared pumpkin and ¾ cup hot milk. Pour into pie plate lined with pastry and bake in hot oven (450°F.) for first ten minutes, then reduce temperature to moderate (350°F.) and bake for 20-25 minutes, or until filling is firm. Cool and serve with whipped cream or decorate with a raisin face. (Filling recipe may be doubled if you wish 2 pumpkin pies.)

Remember, Purity Flour, specially milled from finest hard wheat—is best for all your baking.

STARBUCK VALLEY WINTER

This story will be broadcast on the CGC at 9.45-10.15 a.m., Friday, October 22nd.

This is a story of modern times, dealing with the adventures of two teen-aged boys who run a trap line in British Columbia. Don Morgan, the principal character, is a sixteen-year-old orphan living with his Uuncle Joe and his Aunt Maude on their stump farm in the Starbuck Valley. Don had his heart set on a new boat for salmon fishing and he is determined to strike out on his own and spend the winter trapping instead of working for wages in the sawmill as his Aunt wishes.

Don and his partner, Tubby, have many adventures, including hunting deer, cougar and wolves. Their paths are dogged by a notoriously dishonest and mean character by the name of Lee Jepson. They learn a geart deal about trapping and have some narrow escapes.

The dramatized portion will be Chapter XI, which deals with the boys' adventures while hunting cougar.

Roderick L. Haig-Brown, the author of Starbuck Valley Winter, is well qualified to write books about the outdoors, because he is very definitely an outdoor man. For the past twenty-five years he has lived on a twenty-acre farm near Campbell River on Vancouver Island. Here he raises chickens, cows, and sheep, as well as plenty of fruit and vegetables, and manages to get time for a good deal of hunting and fishing.

He is a full-time writer and has written a number of other books about this area. His next book, soon to be published, is a sequel to Starbuck Valley Winter and will deal with the adventures of Don and Tubby while salmon fishing.

HOW TO SALVAGE OLD PAINT BRUSHES

When a farmer starts to do a painting job around the farm, as often as not he discovers that the old paint brush has developed a decided kink with hard turned-up bristles and is unworkable.

To salvage stiff old brushes, soaking overnight, preferably in turpentine, is a well-known preliminary. Gasoline is also effective. After the old paint has been softened, it should be scraped off with a blunt knife or combed out with a steel comb or brush. If the first soaking fails to remove the paint, the process can be repeated. Shellac brushes should be cleaned with alcohol, and whitewash and calcimine brushes with water.

After most of the accumulation has been removed, the brush should be scrubbed in warm water with a mild laundry soap—never with a strong soap. The excess water should be straightened out with a scrub brush or comb before completely dry, after which the brush should be wrapped—not too tightly—in heavy paper or cardboard to keep bristles straight. If the brush is dipped in paint before being fully dried, the moisture will make the brush soft and listless.

When a brush is being used every day, it should be filled with paint, and wrapped overnight in several thicknesses of paper, or suspended in a can of water. If used intermittently, it may be suspended in raw linseed oil or kerosene. If stored in turpentine, the brush is likely to become hard. It should never be allowed to rest on the ends of the bristles for any length of time, because it will become warped and the flow of paint will be uneven. With a hole at the end of the handle, a brush may be suspended in the paint from a rod or stick across the edges of the can so that the bristles do not touch the bottom. When put away for a period of time, the brush should be cleaned, thoroughly dried, and stored with the bristles straight.

Annual Dundas Plowing Match At Brinston Attracts Many For Fine Display

The annual competition sponsored by the Dundas Plowmen's Association was held at the farm of Harold Boyd, Brinston. Although the ground was too dry for fancy furrows, the black clay loam of the farm plowed better than was anticipated, and some very fine plowing was shown. Twenty-two tractors and plows and two walking plows competed in the several classes. An estimated attendance of 400 followed the work of the plowmen with interest. Nine year old Bert Whittaker of Chestervville, drew a great deal of attention as he plowed a straight and neat furrow, and handled his tractor like a veteran. Mr. Roy Shaver of Finch judged the plowing and Dr. Douglas McLean of Winchester, placed the teams. W. H. Graham, Agricultural Representative for Dundas, and A. M. Beckstead, secretary, of Chesterville, received the entries.

The officials of the Association are: President, John Falshaw, Iroquois; Vice-pres., Harry Williams, Mountain; Sec'y-Treas., A. M. Beckstead Chesterville.

In the evening, Matilda Rebekah Lodge, No. 342, I.O.O.F. served a banquet in the Memorial Hall for eighty hungry plowmen and their friends. President Falshaw reviewed the afternoon plowing, pointing out the faults and commending the perfect furrows. Reeve Orville Seeley of Matilda, welcomed the visitors. Guest speaker was Douglas Parks, B.Sc. of Kemptville Agricultural College, his subject "New Crops". He mentioned grain corn, grass silage, improved pasture, plant nutrition, soil fertility and new methods of weed control. Frank Casselman of Chesterville thanked Mr. Boyd for the use of his land, the tractor and team owners who supplied same, the contestants who came long distances and the Rebekahs for the sumptuous dinner.

The results of the competitions were as follows:

Walking plow, single furrow, in sod: 1, Lloyd VanDusen, Mallorytown; 2, Hector Cuerrier, Maxville.

FARMERS-ATTENTION

GROWERS WANTED: A long established Wholesale Fruit Company in Ottawa is anxious to build up a source of supply for fresh Raspberries within a 75-mile radius from Ottawa. Truck shipment.

To encourage a limited planting of new high yielding patches, a well known nursery is sending a special representative of many years experience in commercial production to personally interview and educate interested farmers in raspberry culture. This should result in higher unit yields, longer patch life, less hand labor and when translated into dollars at normal prices a relatively high ratio of profit is assured.

Because of present shortage of good planting material, bookings can only be made for SPRING PLANTING 1949, limited to one acre.

If genuinely interested in berry growing as a sideline to farming, write Box 457, Campbellford, Ontario, on or before October 18th, giving location of your farm. Our specialist will call later and completely analyze the business, soil requirements and preparation, up-to-date cultural practices, cost of planting, estimated yields and profits per acre. Late replies cannot be covered.

HANDS AT WORK... for ONTARIO

ONTARIO'S products are desired and purchased by people all over the world and the capacity to produce such goods largely determines the economic welfare of every man, woman and child within her borders. Because the sale of every article produced in Ontario brings valuable dollars into this Province, we all are more assured of job security . . . and we and our children can have more of the better things in life. To produce such goods in sufficient quantities, skilled labour is vital. That is why every single one of us should be glad that war veterans are constantly being trained to provide the skilled hands so needed by Ontario industry. They receive ON THE JOB training under expert instructors in our Ontario factories.

This training, provided through the co-operation of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, the Federal Department of Labour and the Ontario Department of Education, starts veterans on the road to skilled craftsmanship. Taught to use their hands in such jobs as routing, etching, stripping, burnishing and finishing, they will eventually become photo engraving craftsmen. Because of the increasing importance of this trade, every effort of these newly-skilled workers helps to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and contributes to the welfare and happiness of all her citizens.

THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO)

"A SOFT ANSWER - - PLUS"

By Islay M. Wicham

At her switchboard in a rural office, Judy once again straightened her slim shoulders, plugged into the nearest glowing signal, and asked, "Number, please?"

"Where have you been?" a gruff voice demanded, "I have been waiting an hour!"

Judy broke in the right note of sympathy and helpfulness in her tone. "I am very sorry you've been kept waiting, we've been very busy. What number would you like?"

"I dunno, I've forgot. Let's see, here it is, 4225. Hey there, no it isn't, it's 4522."

Judy wrote 4522 on her ticket. "Your number, please?"

'What "

"The number you're phoning from." An uncomfortable silence followed. "Do you know the number you are phoning from?"

"I dunno." The voice sounded sulky now. "Hey, Mary, what's this number?"

Time passed, so much time that Judy shut her key and answered another signal. She immediately received a blast that lasted fully two seconds. "Yes," she asked brightly, "Did you find the number?"

'Yeah, and why don't you stay on the line. I have a train to catch."

"Certainly." Judy's voice held slightly less sugar, but was still determinedly bright. "I'll have your call in a moment." She dialed, heard the receiver click up, timed her ticket and turned to another call. Her usual pleasant tones restored, she had just said "Number, please," when she became aware that 280 was ringing madly. She hurried back.

A series of explosions smote her ear. She gathered from the general trend that he had got the wrong number.

"I'm sorry,' she apologized. "Didn't you ask me for 4522?"

"Of all the inefficient.....! Do you think I have all day to wait for you?"

Judy swallowed the temptation to bite off her mouthpiece and lose him. She drew a deep breath, then dialed as she had before, 4522. A click and a cool voice announced sweetly, "Dr. Hassenwaffer's office. Good morning."

There was an omnious silence, then "I don't want a doctor. I want a TAXI. a TAXI!"

Judy shut her eyes a brief moment. "Are you sure that you have the right number? I've dialed that twice now. I'll get the correct number from Information." She did this, having to split her connection, as 280 was ranting wildly.

"I have the right number now. I'll ring that."

Mmmph." the voice sounded sheepish now. "I would have got it myself if you hadn't got me all mixed up."

The sound of dialing once more, then: "Reynolds Taxi." There was no sound from 280.

Judy prompted. "Go ahead, there is your party." Silence. Complete silence. "Speak to them sir, there is the Reynolds Taxi." No sound at all.

280 had hung up!

"Give me strength," Judy thought, as she asked the taxi to stay on the line a moment. She rang back on the 280 line

"I have the taxi on the line," she said, "Do you wish to speak to them?"

"Of course," he rasped, "What do you think I called them for? Hello, Hello there. Send a taxi at once to.. Hey, are you there? Hello, hello, operator! You didn't get them at all. Of all the ....."

"They have hung up by now," Judy said crisply. "I shall have to ring them back now."

"You never got them in the first place!" 280 sounded sick almost to the point of nausea. "Lame-brain women. why don't they put men operators on?"

This time to Judy's horror, the dial gave a busy signal. She tried to explain. It was no use. The voice grated now with an icy fury.

"Listen, you! I have a train to catch in seven minutes, and I've lost a $10.000 contract for the firm! I am, now," the stream of words gained momentum and volumn, "going to try and RUN, run, mark you, all the way from 60 Herkimer Street to the railway station! And it's all your fault! I ought to sue!"

Darned fool, Judy thought her ears smarting from the noise. If he hadn't yapped so much, he could have had his taxi. She felt dejected, and she felt mean. I hope he breaks both knee-caps running, she seethed. Suddenly a picture of the Company movie that she had just seen flashed into her mind—especially the scene where an operator had smiled into her mouthpiece, her voice warm, her efficiency smoothing out difficulty with a mean customer. Whereupon that furious gentleman actually simpered back at her, a changed man. Little hearts shot with arrows appeared in a blurb over his head. It didn't seem to work for Judy, but then she thought the girl in the movie looked as if she felt sweet clean through. That girl in the movie would never have lost the good will of that man. She would have thought of something.

Suddenly an idea hit Judy. Even yet she could turn away the wrath of 280. She was not sure of the ethics of her next move, but nevertheless, she dialed very quickly.

"Reynolds Taxi."

She spoke fast. "This is Judy Crawford of the Bell. Will you please go at once to 69 Herkimer Street, and go from there to the railway station? A man has just left from there to catch a train and hurry. He has only five minutes left.!"

"Don't worry, Judy, he'll get that train. Reynolds Taxi always gets their man!" He banged the receiver.

Judy wondered what happened all afternoon. Did 280 catch his train? True she hadn't the joy of seeing him simper at her, a changed man, but she felt oddly elated. Somehow, she couldn't smother a feeling of pride, that she, like the girl in the movie, had been an asset to the company. She thought suddenly of the effort that goes into the making of good will and courtesy. She suddenly felt a new respect for Judy, as if she were now akin to those girls in the hundreds of magazine advertisements watching, helping, efficient. She might never know if her effort was appreciated, but Judy felt happier.

Nearly a week later, Miss Carter, the chief operator entered, smiling. In her arms was a large box.

"Judy," she spoke with a trace of excitement and more than a little curiousity. "What have you been doing? The florist just came with this.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Hearty homespun foods are popular when the family get together. The fragrance of bacon and corn bread on a chilly October morning is something to awaken happy memories of days when breakfasts were meals to be reckoned with; of country kitchens with wood crackling in the stove; of children shuffling through piles of gold and crimson leaves.

People like to remember the old family traditions but they are particularly nostalgic about the dishes mother used to make—the pies, the biscuits, the pungent pickles and similar delights. These hearty foods belong to fall menus.

BRAN CORNBREAD WITH BACON

1 egg
¼ cup sugar
1½ cups milk
1 cup cereal bran
¾ cup cornmeal
1½ cups sifted pastry flour
4½ tsps. baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ pound diced side bacon

Grease a 9x9 inch cake pan. Preheat electric oven to 400 degrees. Beat egg and sugar together, add milk, bran and cornmeal. Sift flour with baking powder and salt and sift into first mixture. Pour into prepared pan. Arrange bacon on top and bake 30 minutes. Eight servings.

As a supper dish serve this with scalloped tomatoes or a creamed vegetable cooked in electric oven at same time as cornbread.

CHICKEN LOAF

Choose a 5-pound rather fat hen and have it disjointed. Barely cover the pieces with water. Add a few sticks of celery, a small onion, sliced, and two or three pieces of parsley. Bring to boil and then simmer gently until meat falls from the bones. When cool enough to handle, cut meat into small pieces and add the meat to 1 cupful white bread crumbs, 1 cupful milk, 1 cupful of the chicken stock, strained, salt and pepper to taste and ½ teaspoon celery salt. Stir in 4 well-beaten eggs; pour into greased shallow pan, place pan in pressure saucepan and cook 20 minutes at 10 lbs. pressure. To serve, cut in squares and serve with mushroom gravy made from remainder of chicken stock and sautéd mushrooms.

Serve with hot potato salad, cranberry jelly or some of your red currant jelly, mixed green salad, pickles and celery hearts.

MOCK MINCEMEAT

1½ cups seeded raisins
4 medium apples
1 orange
(grated rind and juice)
½ cup cider
2|3 cup sugar
½ tsp. cinnamon
¾ tsp. cloves
2 crushed graham crackers

Cut raisins. Peel, core and slice apples Combine raisins, apples, orange rind, juice and the cider. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Add sugar, spices and cracker crumbs. Stir until well blended. Cool thoroughly before using as pie filling. For a 9-inch pie.

CREAM FILLED SQUASH

Cut 2 pepper squash in half and scrape out the seeds and stringy portion. Place in pressure cooker with large whole scrubbed potatoes. Cook potatoes and squash together 10 minutes at 10 lbs. pressure. Remove as soon as cooked. Pour the following creamed mixture into squash: To 1 cup cream sauce, add 1 cup of chopped cooked meat and season with salt, pepper and a dash of nutmeg.

INDIVIDUAL LIVER LOAVES

½ pound liver
1½ cups mashed potato
2 tbsps. chopped onion
1 tbsp. chopped celery
½ tsp. salt
1 egg, beaten
½ cup milk

Parboil liver 5 minutes, and then put through food chopper. Combine liver, potatoes, and seasonings. Beat in egg and milk. Turn in greased muffin tins and bake in electric oven at 375 degrees for 20 minutes. Heat a can of vegetables and bake 4 apples at the same time to conserve electricity.

WILLIAMSBURG TOWNSHIP BUCKTHORN DAY, OCT. 23.

Due to the ravages of rust on grain crops, which is intensified by host plants of which Buckthorn is one of the worst, the residents of the municipality of Williamsburg Township are requested by the Municipal Council, following a resolution passed at a council meeting held on the 2nd day of October, to set aside October 23rd, 1948, to be known as Buckthorn Day.

Every resident whether rural or urban is requested therefore to set aside this date to desetroy in whatever way possible all Buckthorn shrubs on his or her property, or to assist others in the campaign.

Please remember this date, October 23, 1948, and join with your neighbors to destroy this greatest of rust host plants.

Your county weed inspector Mr. E. G. Summers, Winchester, will upon request, give you further information on the identity of the shrub and the best methods of combatting it.

Judy, puzzled but intrigued, opened the box. Inside, their cool beauty against the white wrapping lay the most gorgeous red roses she had ever seen. She lifted out the small card, and her eyes shone. It read, "From a bad tempered and impatient customer who has learned a lesson. Also thanks to you, I got the contract!"
