It's surprising how quickly the seasons come and go.

It seems only a little while since we were building cool suits that would lessen summer's heat.

Now here we are turning out garments to defy winter's cold.

Or a warm comfortable Suit.

No use looking for better ones than we make.

The Late Leslie Tupper.

Friday afternoon our citizens were startled by the announcement that Leslie Tupper, one of our most respected and prominent citizens, had passed away his death occurring at 4 o'clock. It seemed such a short time since he was on the street and at his place of business in the fullness of manhood's strength and vigor.

His illness was of short duration. Monday afternoon he was taken with a chill, and suffered with what seemed like grippe. He went to bed that night, and the trouble gradually increased notwithstanding the best care and attendance. Friday afternoon the end was seen to be near, heart failure having attacked him and at the hour mentioned above, the spirit calmly left the strong and robust body that gave promise of many years of life and usefulness.

Deceased was in his 44th year, and was a son of the late Lemuel Tupper, of Williamsburg. About eighteen years ago he married Alice, the only daughter of Guy Casselman, of Williamsburg, now of this town, who survives him. They had no children. After coming to Morrisburg, he served as clerk in the shoe store of N. W. Davy, and afterwards started a business for himself which has prospered, and which he gave personal and faithful attention. He was always regarded as a man of honor and integrity, and these characteristics won and retained for him the confidence and respect of his fellow citizens, who now all express sympathy with the family. He leaves besides the widow, an aged mother and two brothers. He was a member of the Independent Foresters, and was also a policy holder in the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., of New York.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, services being conducted at St. Paul's E. L. church by the Rev. J. C. F. Rupp, after which the remains were placed in the Mariatown vault.—Heard.

A Cornwall Centenarian.

Cornwall on St. Andrew's Day, Mrs. Alexander Ross celebrated her one hundred birthday, and had many callers who came to congratulate the aged lady on her remarkable health and vigor. Mrs. Ross was born near where the town of Alexandria now stands, on St. Andrew's Day 1805. Her father Archibald McMillan, was a highland Scot, who came to Canada in the latter part of the eighteenth century and settled in the rear portion of Glengarry County.

Town Clerk of Brockville.

The Brockville Town Council, at a special meeting Monday night, considered the question of filling the vacancy created by the recent death of Town Clerk McMullen. There were half a dozen applicants for the position. The result of the meeting was the appointment of George K. Dewey, as town clerk at a salary of $800 per year. For some years Mr. Dewey has been the tax collector of this town. The matter of appointing a tax collector will be considered later.

The Sale and Supper a Success.

The sale and supper held last evening in the town hall under the auspices of the Guild of Holy Trinity Church of this place was a very successful event. The supper was fine and the sale of articles large, with a fair gathering of purchasers. The Guild are very grateful, as they always are, for the patronage bestowed upon them.

John E. Fitzgibbons Dead.

No death has occurred in our midst for some time that has created such a sorrow as that of John E. Fitzgibbons, who died in the Royal Victoria Hospital at Montreal on Monday evening, at the age of 57 years. The deceased was looked upon as being a very healthy and rugged man to the outside world and when it was known that he was taken to Montreal for an operation a few weeks ago it seemed as a surprise to everyone. On examination at the hospital it was found that he was suffering with cancer of the bowels and an operation was successfully performed and everything looked favorable for some time, until other operations were performed, when word was received that slight hopes were held out for his recovery. On Monday afternoon a telegram was received by his brother, Mr. James Gibbons, who left on the 5 p.m. train and got there before he expired, but although he could not speak still he seemed to know him, and a short time afterwards he expired.

About eleven years ago his wife died leaving him with a large family, which he carefully looked after.

Now that the father is taken the children are parentless, but they are all pretty well grown up.

Since the mother died one boy passed away about three years ago. The funeral took place this forenoon where High Mass was said by Father Fleming after which the remains were interred in the McMahon burying ground.

The family have the heartfelt sympathy of the whole community in their hour of trial.

$30,000 For County Roads.

Over $75,000 will have been paid out by the end of this year by the Ontario Government to various County Councils which are inaugurating a uniform system of county roads. The good roads movement throughout the province is steadily growing in popular favor, and over a score of counties are now preceeding with the building of county roads systems according to the provisions of the Provincial Highway Improvement Act. The Act provides that the Government shall assist County Councils assuming and maintaining a system of uniform county roads to the extent of one-third of the cost of construction. This year the expenditure on these systems throughout the province, including the Government's share, has totalled over $300,000.

During the past three years over three-quarters of a million dollars have been spent for these new county road systems. The Government's share amounted to some $225,000.

The Late Margaret Johnston.

After a long illness with stomach trouble, Miss Margaret Johnston passed away Thursday morning, aged 55 years. She was the only surviving child of the late Robert Johnston and was born and lived her life in the house in which she died. The funeral took place from her late residence on Friday at one p.m., services being conducted by Rev. H. Cameron. The remains were placed in the vault at North Williamsburg.—Heard.

The Wonders Of The Body.

Its mechanism, like delicate machinery by even a slight cause is so disarranged as to be practically useless. A headache is no trifling matter because the stomach, kidneys and liver are sure to be affected. To cure the cause of headaches and prevent new attacks, use Ferrozone; it aids the stomach by supplying instantly. Ferrozone braces—gives tone—elevates your spirits. No such health bringer known. Fifty cents per box of fifty chocolate coated tablets at all dealers.

The Ottawa Free Press, the Liberal organ in Ottawa, has changed hands, Mr. H. A. Bate having purchased the property from Mr. Alfred Wood, the late proprietor, for $70,000.

E. P. U. Meeting.

The semi-monthly meeting of the E. P. U. was held at the home of Miss Mary McElroy on Monday evening. A splendid programme was given. Papers on the life of Beethoven and Deschitzky were given by Miss Forward and Miss Casselman. A chorus by the E. P. U. ladies was also well received.

After this interesting and profitable programme was rendered the Editor of the Journal then read monthly edition. The Journal is proving quite a success and is indeed a splendid addition to the already interesting meeting of the E. P. U.

Whittaker's reputation as an Optician is so well established that no one hesitates to consult him. If you want satisfaction call on him at Chester Casselman's store at Chester on Wednesday, Dec. 13th, and Finch on Thursday, December 14th.

A Lucky Man From Finch.

D. D. Cameron, of this place and New Liskeard, is one who has been very fortunate in his experience with silver mines, in New Ontario. Mr. Cameron has been in New Ontario for about three years working at lumbering and whatever he could find to do. In April last, he and two others started out on a prospecting tour, but it was not until June that they had any luck, when they discovered on the property of the Temiscaming and Hudson Bay Company, an exceedingly rich silver deposit. Cameron was digging when he discovered a piece of native silver, and in a few hours the three partners had unearthed a nugget weighing 50 pounds of the pure stuff. Next day they arranged with the company for 20 per cent. of the value of any find that they might make. The value of the company's shares soon rose from below par to $60 a share. It took the whole summer for the partners to reach a final arrangement with the company, but things were recently settled, and each gets $20,000, $25,000 in cash and the balance at the rate of 25 per cent. of the net earnings of the mine, which is valued at a million dollars.

D. T. K. McEwan, of Moose Creek, and John Bancroft, of Newington, are members of the company who own the property.

Mr Borden Will Speak.

The committee in charge of the ceremonies to be observed at the opening of the new Model school at Athens has received from Mr. R. L. Borden, M. P., a letter accepting the invitation to be present on that occasion. Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary will also be present. The opening takes place early in January.

FAMOUS PEOPLE BY FANNIE M. LOTHROP

QUEEN ALEXANDRA

The Sweetness and Charity of England's Queen

Queen Alexandra, whom Dean Stanley termed "the angel in the palace," has for over forty years endeared herself to the hearts of the British people since 1863, when a girl of nineteen in her quaint, little, old-fashioned poplin frock and shawl, she landed at Gravesend as the bride of the Prince of Wales. Her early life was passed in extreme plainness and simplicity, because of the smallness of the family income. When she was born, her father, then Prince Christian, had no hope of ever being King of Denmark, for his relation to the reigning king was so distant. He had nothing but his military pay and his wife's modest dowry. The life in their home, the Yellow Palace at Copenhagen, was pretentious only in name. The daughters, Alexandra and Dagmar, who became Empress of Russia, wore garments of cheap material cut in the plainest style.

When Alexandra was seventeen, the Prince of Wales, while speaking to one of his friends, jestingly asked to see the portrait of his sweetheart. Inadvertently the wrong picture was handed to the Prince, and instead of the face of his friend's fiancée, he saw the likeness of "the most beautiful woman in Europe." The future king of England promptly fell in love with the portrait which led to his marriage two years later.

The simplicity of her early years has ever clung to the Queen; though in the court she has not been of it, and for society she has cared little. Her home circle has been her throne, where she has reigned with sweetness and love. Her kindness, gentleness, tact and generosity have been always at the call of need, and since she went to England has been instrumental in raising or causing to be raised over $250,000,000 for charity.

In one of King Christian's weekly letters to her, he wrote that an elderly lady-in-waiting to the late Queen of Denmark was dying, and that her one wish was to speak again to her dear "Princess Alex." At that time it was impossible for Alexandra to leave England, but a long tender message of love and hope spoken by her into a phonograph, was sent by special courier to Copenhagen. Its arrival a short time before the aged lady's death made her last hours serenely happy.

At Sandringham she led the life of a country lady, finding her pleasure in her children, her pets, her garden, her books, and in ministering acts of mercy. Serene, beautiful, her life has been quiet, though with a thread of sorrow through days of seemingly golden happiness.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1905, by F. M. Lothrop, at the Department of Agriculture.

At the Paris Academy of Science
a curious case of osteomalacia, or

in. in height, had shrunk by degrees
to 3ft. 2in. in the course of ten years. Cases of this kind have almost invariably ended fatally, but the patient now in question is in fairly good health, though there is no possibility of his regaining his former height.

in the middle East diplomacy and existing treaties, including, as Mr. Balfour properly reminds the nations,
The Hague arbitration convention—
soon, we hope, to be broadened and strengthened—will solve outstanding problems without resort to physical force. The Anglo-Japanese, the Franco-Russian and the triple alliances
are guaranties of peace, and equally effective, in a moral sense, are the "understandings" between England
and France, Russia and Germany and France and Italy.

There is no likelihood that Europe
or the western world generally will find itself compelled to form a coalition against a too ambitious power
prepared to trample upon the rights
of its neighbors in pursuit of its own schemes of aggrandizement or empire. In this industrial age, when no nation can live without foreign markets and expanding commerce,
even colonial and imperial ambition,
if at all enlightened, shrinks from war and contents itself with "pacific penetration" and open doors.

The late Moroccan episode caused a dangerous strain in the relations between Germany and France, and for a time a clash seemed imminent. But Germany did not want war, and the controversy was satisfactorily adjusted—so satisfactorily, indeed, that all interest in the conference over Morocco has died out. And now
there is active discussion of improved relations between Germany and France on one hand and Germany and England on the other. The programme of the British liberals, who are expected to carry the country
at the next general elections, includes a good understanding with Germany
without prejudice to France.

The foreign, and particularly the eastern, policy of a constitutionally governed Russia will be practical and sensible, based on recognition of facts and the real interests of the people. Of course, the chapter of accidents is never closed, but the present situation undoubtedly warrants
Mr. Balfour's reassuring forecast.

CONVINCING EVIDENCE.
In the Afghan war in 1878 some British forces under the late Sir Montagu Gregory came upon the only Sikh temple in Afghanistan, and heard the story of the laying of its corner-stone
from a member of the gallant warrior tribe.

A Sikh who had saved the life of the amer then reigning had received permission to erect a shrine. One of the native prophets was invited to be present at the laying of the corner stone of the building, but being unable to accept, he sent four bricks, one for each
corner of the temple, and the message,
"I will be with you in the spirit."

To make assurance doubly sure, the prophet explained that by the sound of the rushing of horses through the air
the people on the scene might time the arrival of himself and his disciples.

"Did you hear them?" inquired Sir
Montagu at this point of the Sikh's recital.

"No, but I saw the bricks replied the native, with perfect composure.

FEEDING COLTS.
Oats lead the list of feeding stuffs,
but shorts and bran and barley,
peas and some corn may be profitably used where economy is important. Steamed crushed oats or barley, thickened with bran, will prove very nourishing and appetizing where colts are suffering from teething. A limited quantity of cooked roots,
mixed with ground grain and bran,
given at night in winter time, daily,
or two or three times a week, will show in a more thrifty general appearance.

KNEW HER GRAMMAR.
The judge's little daughter, although
she had talked several times through the telephone to her father, had never gone
through the formalities necessary in calling him up. The first time she tried it she took the receiver off the hook, as she had seen others do, placed her lips
to the transmitter, and said:
"Hello! I want to talk to papa."
"Number, please," said central.
"Singular," she answered, surprised,
at the question, but proud that she knew something of the rudiments of grammar.

CAREFUL WITNESS.
The Judge—And did the defendant retire as usual on the night of the alleged felony?
The Witness—I won't say the defendant retired as usual, judge, 'cause dat
night his wife mad him sleep in the coal bin.

BOYCOTT VERY SERIOUS

BLOW AT BRITISH PRESTIGE
IN INDIA.

Merchants Have Countermanded
Order for English
Goods.

The trouble between Lord Curzon
and Lord Kitchener has been forced to the background by the boycott of English-made goods, growing out of the partition of Bengal, says a Calcutta letter. The peculiarity about this particular boycott is that it is not confined to the Province of Bengal, which is naturally the most affected by the partition, but it is spreading over the entire Indian Empire. The principal native newspapers are constantly appearing in mourning, and with black borders,
the Bengali colleges have been closed
and re-opened, and closed and reopened again, until one scarcely knows where to find them in this matter of education. At Mawrae,
the merchants, who are enormous distributors of Manchester piece
goods, have countermanded orders,
and declared sales practically stopped. It is too early as yet to decide just what the effect will be upon the manufacturers and exporters
and importers, but if the movement
continues to spread, it will be the greatest blow which English prestige has received in Southern Asia
since the Sepoy rebellion.

The idea of a trade boycott appears never to have entered the Oriental mind until the recent trouble
between the United States and China, when the refusal to purchase
American goods was used with telling effect against the Americans.
But, if directed against British trade
in India, it gives promise of being a thousand times more powerful and dangerous, because of the enormous volume of trade between India and Great Britain, as compared with the trade between the United States and China, and because of the intimate relations existing between the native princes of India and the Imperial forces at London.

THE PRINCE'S VISIT.
The policy of the Indian Government has been freely subjected to criticism in this matter of the partition of Bengal, and a great deal of nonsense has, of course, been thrown out on both sides. But a serious mood has succeeded the discussion of these troubles, which, for a time, proceeded along the lighter vein. For instance, there was a Bengali editor as well known as Mr.
Mitra, late of the Deccan Post, who dismissed the arguments against partition as "a farrago of nonsense." According to Mr. Mitra, the Bengali will not be "a farthing the worse for the change in person, reputation, or pocket." But now it appears to be agreed that as a result of the savage boycott of British-made goods by the natives from princes to peasants, the only thing
which can save trouble of the most serious kind is the visit of the Prince of Wales. And this "trump card"
will be played by the Government of Great Britain and Ireland and the Government of India with consum-mate skill.

WHY DIVIDE PROVINCE?
Two lines of opposition to Lord
Curzon's decision appear to permeate the serious part of the discussion regarding the partition of Bengal. One is that any change in the administration of Bengal was unnecessary. The other is that, even admitting its necessity, it was certainly unwise. The assertion is repeatedly made that the burden of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal has been actually heavier in the past
than it is at the present time, because facilities of communication have transformed the Province, and there is no district now which the Lieutenant-Governor cannot reach
in a single day.

FEAR A MILITARY DESPOTISM.
One thing which has caused alarm
among the petty principalities is the fact that Great Britain for the first time in her history, perhaps, appears to be aiming at the integrity
and the autonomy of a Province.
Heretofore there has been a hedge podge of governments in India. The Home Office at London has simply
taken things as they found them,
and governed them in accordance with the apparent wishes of the people. In some ways it is doubtful whether a wider measure of home
rule has ever been extended to millions of people than was accorded the people of India. It is not too much to say that if Great Britain had found a republic in any of the Provinces, the republic would have been allowed to remain. The fear is everywhere expressed that the military government which appears to be planned for India in the future
will practically amount to a military despotism. And this, too,
despite the fact that Lord Curzon,
Lord Kitchener's rival, is held to be responsible for the partition of Bengal. But it is events and tendencies of the times which the editors of the native newspapers appear to be studying, rather than the character of the men themselves.

One suggestion has been put forward, that the present administration of Bengal should be superseded by that of a Governor and Council
on the plan of the presidencies of Madras and Bombay. This suggestion is defended on the ground that this would be a progressive measure of administrative reform, and would satisfy the patriotic aspirations of the people, so far as the maintenance of the integrity of Bengal is concerned.

VICE-ROYSHIP HAS SUFFERED.
One thing is certain—Lord Viceroyship has been clouded not only by the troubles with Lord Kitchener,
but by this attempt to carry out a measure which is certainly the most unpopular undertaken in years. The reference of Sir Henry Cotton to

"the close of his brilliant career,"
as referring to Lord Curzon, certainly appears to be pitched in a key truly funeral. It is felt here that it is no wonder that the health of Lord Curzon broke under the strain.
After the most popular administration of affairs as Viceroy ever known in India, he finds himself forced into a quarrel with the native population of India over the partition of Bengal, and the Home Government,
instead of standing by him, as might have been expected, in his quarrel with Lord Kitchener over the attempts to make the Government of India more centralized, and to inject more iron, elects to sus-tain Kitchener as against Curzon.
The friends of Lord Curzon say that for a long time past he has been
between the devil and the deep sea,
and without very much shore room
either, and he feels that in leaving India he is not leaving India for India's good—that he is not even leaving India for the Empire's good,
but that he is leaving India for Cur-
zon's good, no matter what the future may have in store for him.

THE CHANGES IN RUSSIA

A REVOLUTION HAS ACTUALLY
TAKEN PLACE.

Wholesale Massacres Would Have
Succeeded Had People Been Crushed.

Revolution is not only possible in Russia. The revolution has happened. With the Czar's great proclamation conceding the four freedoms,
subjecting the legislative and executive powers, either immediately or indirectly, to Parliamentary control,
and creating a Constitutional Cabinet, with Count Witte at its head,
the Russian people reached with one stride what it probably requires
very other civilized nation centuries
to secure, writes a St. Petersburg correspondent.

It is undoubtedly true that there will be many setbacks. But as a general proposition the movement
must be forward instead of backward.
Take, for instance, a single case in point. Poland's demand for autonomy was conceded so far as Russia
could probably make the concession,
granting a new viceroy to rule over
that disturbed and unhappy land,
Count Beckendorff, who now represents Russia at the Court of King Edward, is regarded as a fairly good man for this important position. It is said that he has imbibed many liberal views while in England and America, and his appointment is of a character which would pacify the masses and make them believe that something better is to follow. A complete restoration of Poland to the Poles is, of course, unlikely.
First of all, it would imply concert
of action by the three nations that divided it—Austria, Germany and Russia. However willing Russia might be to end the distractions that threatened in that quarter, it is not likely that the Emperors of Austria and Germany would yield even to a popular demand in the matter of the restoration. About the best that can be hoped for the Poles is treatment on a par with that of the peasantry itself.

CZAR ACTED MODERATELY.
Never again could it be said that history does not have an influence upon the affairs of men. The French revolution has certainly had its effect upon both the Czar and the people. So far as the autocracy is concerned, even at the worst, when urged
on by the Grand Dukes, the Czar has refused to yield entirely to the bureaucracy. Probably there has never been an hour when order could not have been restored within one week in all parts of the Empire if the Czar had been willing to order a wholesale shedding of blood. This is one of the reasons why they have persisted and insisted that the Czar
should maintain a show of force.
The Czar was in a position of cruel difficulty—a position such as was fatal to Charles I. and Louis XVI.
Nicholas II. descended from the steps of an autocratic throne at least with his hands stretched out to his people. Practically he has given civic liberty to his subjects—all classes receive the franchise, and the Duma,
or National Assembly, is to have the right of determining the conditions of the new constitution.

PASSIVE RESISTANCE WON.
Though it has been stated that up to the present time there has never been an hour when the Czar could not by wholesale slaughter have put an end to all outbreaks, and established order throughout his Empire,

this statement is proved only of the present. The future was full of possibility. The return of the troops from Manchuria was certain to establish a new order of things, because the minds of these men had been broadened by travel. Added to this was the fact that the Czar had suffered a loss of prestige in his conduct of an unsuccessful war. And already, even before the return of the soldiers from the Orient, the passive resistance movement in Russia
had undoubtedly reached a point at which opposition to it was impossible unless the old bureaucracy had been prepared to face a massacre
upon the most gigantic scale—a massacre greater by far than the Grand Dukes would have insisted could have extinguished the fires of rebellion up to a few weeks ago—a massacre
greater by far than any known in the world's history. It was a careful consideration of subjects like these which undoubtedly moved
the Czar, despite the fact that he must have known that he could have crushed out disorder in the twinkling
of an eye—it was a careful consideration of the future rather than the present or the past which induced Nicholas II. to grant to his people
the political liberties promised.

WILL THE DYNASTY FALL?

The interesting problem at the present time is whether the concession does not come too late to save the present dynasty. Much depends upon how the troops act upon their return from Manchuria. If they are satisfied that the old order of things has passed away, and that a new era
is at hand for Russia, they may count the losses in the Japanese war
as being worth all that they cost.
On the other hand, if they should
add their forces to the revolutionists,
the throne, already tottering, must fall. It is possible that the good sense of the average Russian peasant
may enable him to see that all that he lost for the empire in his fighting
in Manchuria has been won for himself by the series of strikes which which demonstrated the strength of the Russian revolutionary organizations in St. Petersburg during his absence. A year ago, probably—certainly before the war—this grant of freedom might have secured this position of the Czar for an indefinite period. To-day everything has been changed, and the agitators, who have once felt their feet, may not rest content even with concessions which appear on paper at least enormous and unprecedented.

THE CRITICAL MOMENT NOW.
Apparently Russia stands now at the golden moment of constructive compromise, when everything depends upon establishing a sane equilibrium between autocracy and anarchy. But so evenly balanced are the forces of the Empire to-day that a thing like the return of the disappointed soldiers may sweep the Empire into chaos. Much depends upon the determination of educated opinion in Russia to rally round a constitutional throne, to strengthen the hands of a constitutional Prime Minister, to make the fullest use in a responsible spirit of the parliamentary privileges now conquered. What dynasty could not do the economic weapon of a general strike accomplished. Europe itself paused in dumb amazement before the colossal sight of the power that has been overthrown. The four freedoms
granted—freedom of the person, freedom of speech in the press and upon
the platform, freedom of conscience,
and, above all, freedom of conscience,
show how far the old Russia is differentiated from the new. Gone is the censorship. Abolished are arbitrary arrests, exiled by administrative order. Cossack dragnnades, the police invasions of private dwellings,
Political exiles to Siberia and burial
alive in the "stone bags" of Schlosselberg have become like the terrors
of nightmare remembered in daylight. Under the terms of the Czar's proclamation religious persecution is as dead as the Inquisition. Force is not to be employed henceforth
against opinion, but solely and fitly
against all such as the civil magistracy of every free nation exists to suppress.

WHAT HE DIDN'T SAY.
Green—"I thought you said that fellow Skinn was as good as his word?"
Brown—"That's what I said."
Green—"Well, he lied to me about
a business transaction."
Brown—"But I didn't say his word
was any good."

HAS TO.
"The wild goose is one of the bravest of creatures."
"How do you make that out?"
"Because, no matter what happens,
it is sure to die game."

THE RUSSIAN IDEA OF FREEDOM

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS.

Will Find a Certain Cure in the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Rheumatism is a disease of the blood. Every doctor now admits this to be the fact. Doctors used to think that rheumatism was brought on by colds in the joints and muscles. Now they know that cold never started the disease—cold only sets the pains going. Rheumatism can only be cured by curing the bad blood which causes it. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills always cures rheumatism, because they actually make new, rich red blood, which drives out the poisonous acids, loosens the stiffened aching joints and muscles and restores the rheumatic sufferer to health and happiness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured rheumatic sufferers, some of them when they were almost hopeless cripples. Mr. T. H. Smith, Caledonia, Ont., says:—"For a number of years I was badly troubled with rheumatism, and was so crippled I could scarcely do any work. I tried quite a number of medicines, but they did not help me. Then I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertised as a cure for this trouble, and got a supply. After I had taken a few boxes I saw they were helping me, and I continued taking the pills throughout the winter, and am now completely cured. I have since worked out of doors in cold weather without a coat, and did not feel even a twinge of the trouble."

If you are suffering from any disease due to bad blood or disordered nerves, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure you, because they make new rich blood, which goes right to the root of the disease and drives it from the system. That is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure such troubles as anaemia, indigestion, palpitation of the heart, neuralgia, headaches and backaches, kidney and liver troubles, St. Vitus Dance, paralysis, and the special secret ailments of girlhood and womanhood. But only the genuine pills can do this and these always have the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around each box. Sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere, or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE SHAKESPEARE GARDEN.

The estate of the Countess of Warwick, in Essex, possesses a most unique feature. In one part of the grounds is "what is known as the 'Shakespeare Border.' This includes every flower, shrub, and vegetable mentioned in the works of Shakespeare. The collection comprises over two hundred species, and every specimen is labelled, not only with its botanical name, but also with the quotation from the play in which it is mentioned. Altogether it is a quite unique reproduction of the garden and floral history of the sixteenth century. This extensive collection does not include either the forget-me-not, the holly-hock, the fox-glove, or the lily-of-the-valley; for students of Shakespeare will look in vain for mention of these favorite flowers in the whole of his works.

TEETHING TROUBLE.

Best medicine for teething children. They allay the inflammation in the tender swollen gums, correct the disordered stomach, and help the teeth through painlessly. Mrs. T. Nutt, Raymond, Ont., says: "My baby suffered terribly while teething, but as soon as I began giving him Baby's Own Tablets he improved in every way and is now a bright healthy child." The Tablets also cure colic, constipation, diarrhoea, indigestion, simple fevers and destroy worms. They are guaranteed to contain not one particle of opiate or harmful drugs, and may be given with equally good results to the new born baby or the well grown child. Sold by all druggists or sent by mail at 25 cents a box by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ADEPTS AT FRAUD.

Man Marries Two Rich Women and Spends Fortune.

By the arrest of a man named Viard, who opened a marriage agency at Paris, France, and his niece, Mlle. Deons de Lancet, an extraordinary matrimonial swindle has been brought to light.

He succeeded in marrying a woman with $25,000, but in a few months he had spent her money and deserted her. The woman did not prosecute him, but contented herself with obtaining a divorce.

Viard then succeeded in finding a second wife in a young woman with $15,000. When he had obtained the money he deserted his wife, who, like the first, did not prosecute him, but obtained a divorce.

Viard promptly began a search for a third victim, but meanwhile a young man, the well-to-do Viscount Emanuel de Villefontaine, applied to his agency for a wife. Viard immediately introduced his niece as a very wealthy young lady, and the Viscount became enamored of her. A marriage was arranged, and Viard induced the Viscount to hand him $16,000 and jewelry to the value of $4,000.

Before the wedding could take place, however, certain information concerning the girl came to the ears of the Viscount, and he broke off the match and asked for the return of his money. Failing to obtain this, he applied to the police, and Viard and his niece were arrested on charges of fraud and conspiracy to defraud.

Second Surgeon—No, but I've saved his appendix.

TO HUNT GAME IN AFRICA

EARL OF WARWICK AND TWO COMPANIONS START.

Elephants, Lions, Deer, Gigantic Baboons and Little Apes in Abundance.

The Earl of Warwick, his brother, Capt. Greville, and Col. Pattison have started from London for Uganda for a big game shooting expedition, which will be of several months' duration.

This is by no means the first experience the Earl will have had with big game shooting, for he has brought down tigers in India, and has shot the "grizzly" on the Rocky Mountains. Capt. Greville is one of the best shots of the day, while Col. Pattison is a big game hunter of repute.

It is to the latter that the arrangements of the expedition have been entrusted, and in explaining the idea that the perils which he and his companions were going to face would be very dreadful or that the hardships would be over great.

ABUNDANT SPORT.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "we shall take things as comfortably as we can. From Mombasa we shall go up to Nairobi, which is as far as the rail will take us."

"Seven years ago when I was there, Nairobi was simply a patch of desert land, now it is a city with 10,000 inhabitants, and there are a number of white officials."

"We shall use Nairobi as our headquarters, and make various expeditions from there."

"Some of the country is, of course, penetrable thickets, but we shall avoid this and make for the hills and plains which are really beautiful, and literally alive with big game of all kinds. Nowhere on earth, indeed, can so much big game be found."

"There are herds of elephants, plenty of lions, giraffes, endless deer, and gigantic baboons that wander about, followed by an attendant army of small monkeys, whom they boss."

ALL DEPENDS ON LUCK.

"Our prospects? Well, that is hard to say. There is a large element of luck in game hunting. Night after night one may hear lions roaring all around the camp, and yet not see one for weeks together. I have known men go in search of lions for months, and never catch sight of one. On the other hand, one may bag a couple in the course of an afternoon."

"As we reckon about twenty porters to each of us, we shall number all told about sixty. I dare say we may find our way to spots where no white man has ever yet been, and come across many of the numerous native tribes. I suppose that altogether we shall be away five months."

PERIL IN FLANNELETTE.

Deaths by Burning in London Attracts Attention.

The British Home Office authorities are collecting statistics as to the number of deaths caused by the wearing of flannelette clothing, with a view to legislation on the subject.

Wm. Baxter, East London coroner, made this announcement at an inquest on the death of Dora, who died in front of the fire when her flannelette dressing gown was set alight, and she died from her injuries.

The coroner, after mentioning the official action which was being taken, commented on the peril arising from the wearing of flannelette, and said the number of fatal cases seemed to be on the increase.

A similar cause of death was also investigated by the Preston coroner, a child, three years old, dying owing to injuries received by her flannelette night dress catching fire.

"There is not an atom of flannel in flannelette," remarked the coroner. "Flannelette is merely a name, and the material is all cotton. It is a good deal more dangerous than flannel or ordinary cotton cloth."

THE "COFFEE HEART."

It Is as Dangerous as the Tobacco or Whisky Heart.

"Coffee heart" is common to many coffee users and is liable to send the owner to his or her long home if the drug is persisted in. You can run 30 or 40 yards and find out if your heart is troubled. A lady who was once a victim of the "coffee heart" writes from Oregon:

"I have been a habitual user of coffee all my life and have suffered very much in recent years from ailments which I became satisfied were directly due to the poison in the beverage, such as torpid liver and indigestion, which in turn made my complexion blotchy and muddy."

"Then my heart became affected. It would beat most rapidly just after I drank my coffee, and go below normal as the coffee effect wore off. Sometimes my pulse would go as high as 137 beats to the minute. My family were greatly alarmed at my condition and at last mother persuaded me to begin the use of Postum Food Coffee."

"I gave up the old coffee entirely and absolutely, and made Postum my sole table beverage. This was 6 months ago, and all my ills, the indigestion, inactive liver and rickety heart action, have passed away, and my complexion has become clear and natural. The improvement set in very soon after I made the change, just as soon as the coffee poison had time to work out of my system."

"My husband has also been greatly benefited by the use of Postum, and we find that a simple breakfast with Postum, is as satisfying and more strengthening than the old heavier meal we used to have with the other kind of coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

IN THE GERMAN ARMY.

Draconic Sentence Imposed on Two Soldiers.

A draconic sentence has been passed by a court-martial sitting at Coblenz, Germany, on two riflemen, who, dressed in civilian clothes, the better to avoid recognition, had slipped out of their quarters and, under cover of darkness, gone to a village restaurant, where they knew would find a certain non-commissioned officer, against whom they bore a grudge. Seeing him sitting inside, they threw a stone through the window at him, though without doing any injury.

The court-martial found the accused guilty of participation in a military revolt, and sentenced one to six years' imprisonment and degradation and the other to five years' hard labor, expulsion from the army and five years' loss of all civil rights. No allowance was made for the eleven months the men had been in custody awaiting trial.

The sentence has created great astonishment, and is compared with the clemency so frequently shown by courts-martial to non-commissioned officers proved guilty of treating privates with gross brutality.

C. P. R. ENGINEER'S EXPERIENCE WITH DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

They Brought Back His Strength When he Could Neither Rest nor Sleep.

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 4.—(Special).—Mr. Ben Rafferty, the well-known C.P.R. engineer, whose home is at 175 Maple Street, is one Winnipeg man who swears by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Long hours on the engine and the mental strain broke down my constitution," Mr. Rafferty says. "My back gave out entirely. Terrible sharp, cutting pains followed one another, till I felt I was being sliced away piecemeal. I would come in tired to death from a run. My sole desire would be to get rest and sleep, and they were the very things I could not get. Finally I had to lay off work."

"Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills, and the first night after using them I slept soundly. In three days I threw away the belt I have worn for years. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me."

THE RETORT COURTEOUS.

A barrister named Bushe was trying a case in Limerick before Chief Baron O'Grady, when, in the course of the lawyer's speech, an ass began to bray loudly outside the court-room, the window of which opened on a pasture.

"Wait a minute," said the Chief Baron. "One at a time, Mr. Bushe, if you please."

The barrister presently had a good chance to retort. When O'Grady was charging the jury the ass again began to bray, this time at a greater distance from the court-room window.

"I beg your Lordship's pardon," said Bushe. "May I ask you to repeat your last words? There is such an echo here I did not quite catch your last sentence."

WRECK ON GRAND TRUNK.

Twenty Cars Derailed, Ten Being Destroyed With Contents.

A wreck occurred on the Grand Trunk Railway near Iroquois, just after 12 o'clock, in which nearly 20 cars were derailed and about half that number destroyed, some being smashed into kindling wood. The accident happened just at the bottom of quite a grade, and the cars are piled up in every shape, and the contents are scattered in all directions and will be a total loss. The cause of the accident was a defective rail. The wrecking trains and crews from both east and west were at the scene of the accident in about three hours and got the south track in shape for traffic in a few hours. The north track was completely demolished for a distance of a quarter of a mile, rails and ties being smashed, and new ones will have to be obtained to put in their place. The scene of the wreck is being viewed by hundreds of people from that town and country.

The Odd-Fellows' Entertainment.

The annual entertainment of the Odd-fellows' Lodge of Chesterville, is something that is eagerly looked forward to, and this year was no exception to the rule as to the high order of the entertainment.

The artists were, Mr. Harold Jarvis, tenor; Miss Grace Merry, entertainer, Toronto; Miss Mable Henderson, contralto, Belleville, with Miss Maud C. Bradley, as accompanist of Brockville.

The audience was fairly large, and was made up of the music-loving world which was very appreciative by both the artists and the gathering.

It is needless to mention the fact that Mr. Jarvis captured the audience with his selections, as he has appeared here on several occasions and the oftener he comes the better he seems to be received.

Miss Merry made her first appearance here on Monday evening and she delighted the audience with her talented and popular selections. They were well rendered and heartily received as was shown by the many recalls, which she gracefully responded to.

Miss Mable Henderson, contralto, has a very sweet voice, and was very well received. Her duet with Mr. Jarvis seemed to please the audience best.

Quite a number from Winchester, Morewood, Finch, Dunbar, Grantley, and other places, were in attendance.

On behalf of the Oddfellows' Lodge of this place, we express our great appreciation for the patronage bestowed on our annual entertainment, and the public can keep in mind that it will be the aim of the Lodge, at their next annual, to eclipse all former ones.

GREAT REVIVAL.

Holiness Movement Opens Campaign in Harmony Hall.

(Ottawa Citizen December 2.)

The Holiness Movement congregation of Ottawa opened an eight days' convention in Harmony Hall today. For the next week services will be conducted at 10 o'clock in the morning 2.30 in the afternoon and 8 o'clock in the evening. The morning services will be conducted by the ministers of the movement in the city and district, and the afternoon and evening session will be conducted by Bishop Horner. Already many members of the movement from outside the city have come to Ottawa to take part in the services and each of them on their arrival brings news that large numbers of the members of their churches will attend the meetings. Bishop Horner said today that he expected this to be a great series of meetings and he believed that after a few days the hall would not be able to hold all who wished to attend. The room at the rear of the hall will be used for private devotional services.

During the summer a vigorous work was carried on by the Movement. A ministerial camp meeting, and a laymen's camp meeting were held early in the summer at Chesterville. These were followed by similar ones at Shawville, Cobden, Ivanhoe, Ormstown and Huntingdon. In these places the Movement owns permanent camp grounds. New grounds of six acres were purchased for this purpose in Huntingdon, costing $600, and at Chesterville several acres were added to the grounds at a cost of $1,000. During the mid-summer months Bishop Horner made a tour of Manitoba, holding meetings which were very successful. Since the convention, held here early in November, similar conventions have been held in Shawville and Pittsford.

At the close of this convention the bishop will take charge of a series of meetings at Watertown, N. Y., and after that a convention at Montreal.

No remedy could be more prompt and agreeable than Dr. Hamilton's Pills. No matter where you go you'll hear of the grand cures they make. Writing from Ottawa Mrs. M. E. I formerly had bilious attacks about once a month—used Dr. Hamilton's Pills and obtained grand results. My stomach has been put in good order and my health greatly improved." No medicine better for men, women or children. Try Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00 at all druggists.

Brockville, December 2.—The death occurred last night in the General Hospital of Albert Breese, one of the promising young farmers of this district. The other afternoon he had ridden one of the farm horses to an enclosure on the farm, to drive out some horses that were pasturing. Just what occurred will never be known, for he was alone. It is supposed he fell from the horse he was riding, and was trampled upon by the others. He dragged himself to the house, and later was removed to Brockville. An examination showed that the base of the skull was terribly injured. Breese was only 33 years of age and unmarried.

Ogilvie's Reputation goes into every barrel of Royal Household Flour

If Royal Household Flour were not as good as Ogilvie's say it is, who would be the greatest loser?

You would try it once—if it were not good you would be a small loser, perhaps.

But Ogilvie's would probably lose your custom.

They would also lose the custom of every other woman who tried it and of thousands who had never tried it but had been told that it was not as represented.

Therefore Ogilvie's must make Royal Household Flour the best flour because they stake their reputation upon it, and if you and thousands of others found it was not the best, Ogilvie's would ruin their business.

So Ogilvie's make Royal Household Flour the best flour, in their own protection. Incidentally that is your strongest protection—it guarantees you the best flour because the brand carries with it Ogilvie's Reputation.

Pain About The Hips.

It is a common complaint with women. The right treatment is Nerviline, which penetrates to the seat of the pain immediately. Nerviline warms and soothes the affected parts, draws out the irritation and pain, allows the patient ease after one rubbing. No liniment so economical and safe. Nearly fifty years in use, and the demand immensely greater every day! Nerviline must be good.

Will not save a diseased tree. Whatever it is that threatens the life of the tree must be discovered and attacked directly. It is the same with rheumatism which has been considered incurable in advanced stages because the ordinary remedy instead of going at the root of the disease simply prunes the branches. The trouble is in the bone or joint and must be got at there, must be driven out. This is where the preeminence of Tuck's Rheumatic Bone Oil comes in over all other remedies. It goes straight at the root of the trouble in the quickest and most direct way, penetrates to the bone and effects a sure, permanent and speedy cure. Here is what one sufferer says of it:—

Pruning the Branches

Dear sir—You ask me if Tuck's Bone Oil did me any good. I can tell you that it did. It cured me of rheumatism and nothing ever helped me for neuralgia until I got that. I suffered everything for years from rheumatism and at times I thought it was going to my heart and would kill me. All my neighbors know how I suffered and they all know that Tuck's Bone Oil cured me, because I tell everybody I see. I took small doses of it, about four drops in milk, and I had it thoroughly rubbed into my legs which were both affected. It seemed to penetrate right to where the pain was and even the first application gave me relief, but the grumbling pain came back in a few hours. I kept on using it and before I had used all of the fourth bottle I was completely free of rheumatism. During this time I had a terrible attack of neuralgia. I used Tuck's Bone Oil and got almost instant relief. I am willing for you to use this in any way you like because I think your Bone Oil should be known by everyone.

Marian Mayfield

Or, The Strange Disappearance

CHAPTER XVIII.—(Continued).

And thus, while Jacqueline fancied she had a new admirer, Dr. Grimshaw feared that he had a new rival, and the holy fathers hoped they had a new convert—Thurston laughed at the vanity of the elf, the jealousy of the Ogre, and the gullibility of the priests—and sought only escape from the haunting memory of Marian, and found it not. And finally, bored and ennuied beyond endurance, he cast about for a plan by which to hasten his union with Marian. Perhaps it was only that neighborhood she was afraid of, he thought—perhaps in some other place she would be less scrupulous. Satan had no sooner whispered this thought to Thurston's ear than he conceived the design of spending the ensuing autumn in Paris—and of making Marian his companion while there. Filled with this new idea and this new hope, he sat down and wrote her a few lines—without address or signature—as follows:

"Dearest, forgive all the past. I was mad and blind. I have a plan to secure at once our happiness. Meet me in the Mossy dell this evening, and let me explain it at your feet."

Having written this note, Thurston scarcely knew how to get it at once into Marian's hands. To put it into the village post-office was to expose it to the prying eyes of Miss Nancey Skimp. To send it to Old Fields, by a messenger, was still more hazardous. To slip it into Marian's own hand, he would have to wait the whole week until Sunday—and then might not be able to do so unobserved.

Finally, after much thought, he determined, without admitting the elf into his full confidence, to entrust the delivery of the note to Jacqueline.

He therefore copied it into the smallest space, rolled it up tightly, and took it with him when he went to Luckenough.

He spent the whole afternoon at the mansion house, without having an opportunity to slip it into the hands of Jacqueline.

It is true that Mrs. Waugh was not present, that good woman being in the back parlor, sitting at one end of the sofa and making a pillow of her lap for the commodore's head, which she combed soporifically, while, stretched at full length, he took his afternoon nap. But Mary L'Oiseau was there, quietly knotting a toilet cover, and Professor Grimshaw was there, scowling behind a book that he was pretending to read, and losing no word or look or tone or gesture of Thurston or Jacqueline, who talked and laughed and flirted and jested, as if there was no one else in the world but themselves.

At last a little negro appeared at the door to summon Mrs. L'Oiseau to the upper, and Mary arose to the room.

Professor scowled at Jacqueline from the top of his book for a little while, and then, muttering an excuse, got up and went out and left them alone together.

That was a very common trick of the doctor's lately, and no one could imagine why he did it.

"It is a ruse, a trap, the grim idiot! to see what we will say to each other behind his back. Oh, I'd dose him! I just wish Thurston would kiss me! I do so!" thought Jacqueline. "Thurston," and the elf leaned toward her companion, and began to be as bewitching as she knew how.

But Thurston was not thinking of Jacqueline's mischief, though without intending it he played directly into her hands.

Rising, he took his hat, and saying that his witching little cousin had beguiled him into breaking one engagement already, advanced to take leave of her.

"Jacqueline," he said, lowering his voice, and slipping the note for Marian into her hand, "may I ask you to deliver this to Miss Mayfield, when no one is by?"

A look of surprise and perplexity, followed by a nod of intelligence, was her answer.

And Thurston, with a grateful smile, raised her hand to his lips, took leave and departed.

"I wonder what it is all about," could easily untwist and read, but I would not do so for a kingdom!" said Jacko to herself as she shaking her as if he would have shaken her breath out. But Jacko had finished chewing up the paper, and she swallowed the pulp with an effort that nearly choked her, and then opening her mouth, and inflating her chest, gave voice in a succession of piercing shrieks, that brought the whole family rushing into the room, and obliged the professor to relax his hold, and stand like a detected culprit.

For there was the commodore roused up from his sleep, with his grav hair and beard standing out all ways, like the picture of the sun in an almanac. And there was Mrs. Waugh, with the great-tooth comb in her hand. And Mary L'Oiseau, with the pantry keys. And the maids, Maria, with the wooden tray of flour on her head. And Festus, with a bag of meal in his hands. And all with their eyes and ears and mouths agape with amazement and inquiry.

"In the fiend's name, what's this matter? What the d—l's broke loose? Is the house on fire again?" vociferated the commodore, seeing that no one else spoke: "what's all this about, Nace Grimshaw?"

"Ask your pretty niece, sir!" said the professor, sternly, turning away. "Oh, it's you, is it, you little temptress? Oh, you're a honey-cooler. What have you been doing now, Imp?" cried the old man, turning fiercely to Jacqueline. "Answer me, you little vixen!—what does all this mean?"

"Better ask 'the gentlemanly professor' why he seized and nearly shook the head off my shoulders and the breath out of my bosom!" said Jacqueline, half-crying, half-laughing.

The commodore turned furiously toward Grim. Shaking a woman's head off her shoulders, and breath out of her body, in his house, did not suit his ideas of gallantry at all.

"By heaven! are you mad, sir? What have you been doing? I never laid the weight of my hand on Jacqueline in all my life, wild as she has driven me at times. Explain your brutality, sir."

"It was to force from her hand a paper which she has swallowed," said Dr. Grimshaw, with stern coldness regarding the group.

"Swallowed! swallowed!" shrieked Mrs. Waugh, rushing toward Jacqueline, and seizing one of her arms, and gazing in her face, thinking of poisons and of Jacko's frequent threats of suicide. "Swallowed! swallowed! Where did she get it? Who procured it for her? What was it? Oh, run for the doctor, somebody. What are you all standing like you were thunderstruck for?"

Dr. Grimshaw, start a boy on horseback immediately for a physician. Tell him to tell the doctor to bring a stomach pump with him. You had better go yourself. Oh, hasten; not a single moment is to be lost. Jacqueline, my dear, do you begin to feel sick? Do you feel a burning in your throat and stomach? Oh, my dear child! how came you to do such a rash act?"

Jacko broke into a loud laugh. "Oh! crazy! crazy! it is something that affects her brain, she has taken. Oh! Dr. Grimshaw, how can you have the heart to stand there and not go? Probably opium."

Jacko laughed till the tears ran down her cheeks—never, since her marriage, had Jacko laughed so much.

"Oh, Dr. Grimshaw! Don't you see she is getting worse and worse. How can you have the heart to stand there and not go for a physician?" said Mrs. Waugh, while Mary L'Oiseau looked on, mute with terror, and the commodore stood with his fat eyes protruding nearly to bursting.

"Go, oh, go, Dr. Grimshaw!" insisted Mrs. Waugh.

"I assure you it is not necessary, madam," said the professor, with stern scorn.

"There is no danger, aunty. I haven't taken any poison since I took a dose of Grim before the altar!" said Jacko, through her tears and laughter.

"What have you taken, then, unfortunate child?"

"I have swallowed an assignation," said the elf, as grave as a judge.

"A what?" exclaimed all, in a breath.

"An assignation," repeated Jacko, with owl-like calmness and solemnity.

"What in the name of common sense do you mean, my dear?" inquired Mrs. Waugh, while the commodore and Mary L'Oiseau looked at the astonishment they did not speak.

"Pray explain yourself, my love."

"He says—I swallowed—an assignation—whole!" repeated Jacqueline, with distinct emphasis. Her auditors looked from one to another in perplexity.

"I see that I shall have to explain the disagreeable affair," said the professor, coming forward, and addressing himself to the commodore.

"Mr. Thurston Wilcox was here this afternoon on a visit to your niece, sir. In taking leave he slipped into her hand a small note, which, when I demanded, she refused to let me see."

"And very properly, too. What right had you to make such a demand?" said Mrs. Waugh, indignantly.

"I was not addressing my remarks to you, madam," retorted the professor.

"That will not keep me from making a running commentary upon them, however," responded the lady.

"Hold your tongue, Henrietta. Go on, Nace. I swear you are enough to drive a peaceable man mad between you."

"Well, what next?"

"On my attempting to take it from her she put it in her mouth and swallowed it."

"Yes! and then he seized me and shook me, as if I had been a fine-bearing little plum tree in harvest while he was at it."

"I served you right, I begin to think you little limb. What right had you to be so little hussy?"

"Assignation," said the professor, "know—Nace, professor, what's that?"

"Tell us, Nace, what's that?"

"That's what we call contents of pursue me—obloquy would rest upon my memory. All these things I could bear, were it necessary in a good cause; but here it is not necessary, and would be wrong. But I speak, not of myself—I ought not, indeed, to do so—nor of Edith, whose head would be bowed in humiliation and sorrow—nor of little Miriam, whose heart would be half broken by such a desertion. But I speak for the cause of mortality and religion here in this neighborhood, where we find ourselves placed by heaven, and where we must exercise much influence for good or evil. Wait patiently for those happy years, that the flying days are speeding on toward us—those happy years, when you shall look back to

Be excellent, Thurston, be noble, be god-like, as you can be, if you will; it is in you. Be true to your highest ideal and you will be all these. Oh! if you knew how your Marian's heart craves to bow itself before true god-like excellence!"

There is nothing so tiresome as a woman who is vain of her beauty—unless it is a man who is vain of what he is pleased to call his brains.

DON'T THROW MONEY AWAY

The Chatham Incubator and Brooder has created a New Era in Poultry Raising.

The setting Hen as a Hatcher has been proven a Commercial Failure.

The Chatham Incubator and Brooder has always proved a Money Maker.

No. 1—120 Eggs
No. 2—120 Eggs
No. 3—240 Eggs

THE CHATHAM INCUBATOR—Its success has encouraged many to make more money than they ever thought possible out of their chicks.

Every Farmer Should Raise Poultry

Almost every farmer "keeps hens," but, while he knows that there is a certain amount of profit in the business, even when letting it take care of itself, few farmers are aware of how much they are losing every year by not getting into the poultry business in such a way as to make real money out of it.

The setting hen as a hatcher will never be a commercial success. Her business is to lay eggs and she should be kept at it. The only way to raise chicks for profit is to begin right by installing a Chatham Incubator and Brooder. With such a machine you can begin hatching on a large scale at any time.

You can only get one crop of your fields in a year, but with a Chatham Incubator and Brooder and ordinary attention, you can raise chickens from early Spring until Winter and have a crop every month. Think of it!

Quite a few farmers have discovered that there is money in the poultry business and have found this branch of industry to be profitable. They have installed several Chatham Incubators and Brooders after trying the first.

Perhaps you think that it requires a great deal of money to get into the poultry business. We know that we made a mistake in this regard. To raise chickens with a Chatham Incubator and Brooder, if so, you are greatly mistaken. Your wife or daughter can attend to the machine and look after the chickens without interfering with their regular household duties.

The market is always good and prices are never low. The demand is always in excess of the supply and at certain times of the year you can practically get any price you care to ask for your broilers. With a Chatham Incubator and Brooder you can start hatching at the right time to bring the chickens to marketable condition when the supply is very low and the prices accordingly high. This you could never do with hens as hatchers.

We know that there is money in the poultry business for every farmer who will go about it right. All you have to do is to get a Chatham Incubator and Brooder and start it. But perhaps you are not prepared just now to spend the money. This is why we make the special offer.

IS THIS FAIR?

We know there is money in raising chickens. We know the Chatham Incubator and Brooder is a money maker. We know that with any reasonable effort on your part, you cannot but make money out of the Chatham Incubator and Brooder.

We know that we made a mistake in the past and that in every case the payments were not cheerfully and promptly, and that in many cases money was accompanied by letters expressing satisfaction.

Therefore, we have no hesitation in making this proposition to every honest, earnest man or woman who may wish to add to their yearly profits with a small expenditure of time and money.

This really means that we will set you up in the poultry business so that you can make money right from the start, without asking for a single cent from you until after 1906 harvest. If we know of a fairer offer, we would make it. Write us a post card with your name and address, and we will send you full particulars, as well as our beautifully illustrated book, "How to make money out of chicks." Write today to Chatham.

Small Premises Sufficient For Poultry Raising.

Of course, if you have lots of room, so much the better, but many a man and woman are carrying on a successful and profitable poultry business in a small city or town lot. Anyone with a fair sized stable or shed and a small yard can raise poultry profitably.

But to make money quickly, you must get away from the old idea of trying to do business with setting hens as hatchers. You must get a Chatham Incubator and Brooder.

It is a very simple thing to get a fair start in the right way in the poultry business, we make a very special offer which it is worth your while to investigate.

BLOODSHED IS IMMINENT

Socialists Declare That Armed Rising is the Only Plan.

Troops Are Being Drafted Into St. Petersburg. Mutinies Among the Troops.

WITTE IS POWERLESS.

The London Times prints a despatch sent from St. Petersburg Saturday night, saying: "A combined meeting of the unions will be held on Saturday night to decide the question of a general strike. The decision will probably be in the affirmative. Troops have been drafted into St. Petersburg, and bloodshed appears to be imminent. The advocates of repression argue that prompt action is necessary. Otherwise the workmen and peasants will become too strong. The Socialist parties, for the first time on Friday evening, held a joint meeting and decided that an armed rising is the only resource. Matters are drifting rapidly into complete anarchy. Count Witte is quite powerless to stem the tide."

The Odessa correspondent of the Times says he returned there from Sebastopol Saturday. He belittles the navy mutiny, and says the reports of thousands of casualties are absolutely untrue. The damage to the cruiser Otkachoff was severe. With the exception of the torpedo-boat destroyers, the other ships were barely touched. A certain number of mutineers were destroyed when escaping from the burning Otkachoff. Lieut. Schmidt, the leader of the mutineers, is a prisoner. Hardly any damage was done to the town, which was restored to perfect tranquillity when he left on Friday evening.

A despatch to the Standard from St. Petersburg says that the banks decline to consider any new business. Money is available in limited quantities for privileged customers only. The capital is threatened with a money famine.

GUNS TRAINED ON BARRACKS.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says: "The most elaborate precautions have been taken in view of a feared outbreak. The troops and naval battalions here have been completely carried over by the revolutionists. They have been deprived of their arms. They are almost out of control. At a meeting of officers at Tsarskoe Selo on Friday it is stated it was resolved not to fire on crowds when ordered. It is asserted that quick-firing guns have been trained upon the barracks of the Horse Guards."

It is learned from a high authority that the situation in the Baltic provinces has grown exceedingly grave, and that the troops at Riga and neighborhood are in open mutiny. At the War Department it was declared that the outbreak was confined to reservists, who were insisting on their immediate discharge. The officials refused to furnish details.

At Kieff there has been serious street fighting between mutinous sailors and Cossacks and between workmen and bands of the "Black Hundred," scores of persons have been killed or wounded. Martial law has been proclaimed.

NO CONNECTION.

A despatch from London says: "With the exception of crippled communication with Warsaw, there is now postal or telegraph connection between Europe and Russia, except St. Petersburg. The capital itself is completely isolated from the remainder of the empire, unless the report is true that the Government has established wireless communication with Moscow. Nothing is known of what has happened in Southern Russia since Admiral Chouknin reported the suppression of the mutiny at Sebastopol."

Assuming the accuracy of the rumored plot at Tsarskoe-Selo, it seems part of the reactionaries to stem to indicate a desperate effort on the evergrowing revolution from below by a dictatorship and military violence, with the probable crushing of the helpless nominal sovereign between the two forces. No less grave possibilities are the reports of a financial panic and the drain of gold from Russia, which are causing hints that unless the Government is able to raise money it may be compelled to omit payment of the interest on the State debt due in January.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Telegraph says the banks are refusing numerous kinds of business that was done as late as Thursday. Among others are transactions of forward delivery proposed by foreigners holding Russian securities, who are anxious thus to ensure the rate of exchange of the rouble. The Volgansk Bank and other financial institutions declined these transactions, giving as the reason that unless the amount was equal to $50,000 they could not do business, but when that amount was agreed to they still refused.

DANGEROUS PANIC.

All kinds of rumors are prevalent, and the panic is assuming an absurd as well as a dangerous form. The extreme press organs have frightened the lower middle class investors, who are making a run on the savings banks. The outflow of gold from Russia continues, while the influx is very insignificant by comparison. This fact and the systematic endeavors that are avowedly made by certain sections of the revolutionists to ruin Russia economically may cause most serious results in the future, which will take years to remedy.

The panic is wholly disproportionate to the real condition of things, although the outlook is distinctly unpromising. The only remedy is ready money. The only way of getting gold without encroaching on the reserves is a foreign loan or heavy exports. The Government has thus far heroically and successfully upheld the rate of exchange to manifest advantage of foreign investors.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the London Daily Mail says the Central Strike Committee has decided to paralyze the Government by blackening the imperial credit. All Government loans negotiated abroad in the future will be repudiated in the event of the quite probable annihilation of the present Government. There is a plan to seize forcibly all the gold deposits. The strikers' motto now is to destroy confidence abroad in the Government's financial position, reserving physical force for a date in the near future.

FEELING NEED OF MONEY.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says: "There are many indications that financial disaster will overtake Russia shortly. There were no buyers on the Bourse on Thursday, and it was absolutely impossible to sell Russian bonds."

Government loans on Friday dropped to 77, a price lower than any reached during the war with Japan. There are many rumors that the Government is feeling the need of money. It is stated that the whole staff of the Finance Department is working late preparing schedules of present and prospective national finances, in view of the necessity for meeting in February the short loan contracted with the Mendelssohns of Berlin. It is declared that the immense losses caused by the mutinies and strikes, following the war expenses, are depleting the treasury alarmingly. A proposal is said to have been mooted to close the State Bank shortly if the drain continues.

The czar on Friday signed a manifesto abolishing martial law in Poland.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says: "The Minister of Marine has received a telegram from Sebastopol stating that the Black Sea fleet, having overhauled the cruiser Otkachoff, called upon her to surrender. The mutinous squadron, which had replaced the Cross of St. Andrew with the red flag, responded by hoisting the signal to engage. The North battery then received orders to fire on the squadron, but the artillerymen took sides with the mutineers, refused to obey orders, and turned their guns instead upon the town, and upon the Southern battery particularly. Half the town was destroyed."

The Otkachoff also sank the auxiliary cruiser Dnieper, while the Potemkin and three torpedo boats went ashore.

During this time the Bragsbat Regiment took the North fort, storming it at the point of the bayonet.

Lieut. Schmidt, who was in command of the mutinous ships, was mortally wounded, and on ascertaining this the mutineers decided to surrender, which they did at 5 o'clock. Five thousand men were killed or wounded during the fighting.

The Ministry of Marine has received additional confirmation of the news that the mutineers have surrendered.

According to the Slovo, the mutineers themselves began the attack. After waiting until 3 o'clock in the afternoon for a reply to the demands of the mutineers, which included the convocation of a Constituent Assembly and the immediate realization of the reforms promised in the imperial manifesto, Lieut. Schmidt opened fire on the city from ten vessels. Vice-Admiral Chouknin replied from the loyal warships, and Gen. Baron Mellor Gakomelski from the southern forts and with the coast artillery. The mutinous sailors used rifles and machine guns upon the entrenched infantry.

ODDS WERE TOO GREAT.

The fight, the Slovo says, lasted for two and a quarter hours. The mutineers made a heroic struggle, but the odds were too heavy, and when the Otkachoff, battered to pieces and on fire, sank with the cruiser Dnieper and a transport, Lieut. Schmidt, who was mortally wounded, surrendered the mutinous squadron, and the mutinous sailors on shore hauled down their flags to the Brest and Bielostock Regiments.

The Listo says that the conspiracy which led to the mutiny, went on under the noses of the officers, and that even Vice-Admiral Birilief, the Min-

BALFOUR CABINET OUT

The Liberal Leader Called By the King

Lord Roseberry Will Not Be In the Ministry—General Election Soon

London, Dec. 5.—The resignation of the make-up of the new Cabinet and Prime Minister Balfour and the King's that John Morley will be one of the chief advisers of Sir Henry in drawing up the list of his official family which will be presented to his Majesty.

Mr. Morley himself is considered likely to go to the Indian Office, and it is probable that Herbert Henry Asquith will be Chancellor of the Exchequer. The Foreign Affairs portfolio will go either to Lord Elgin or Sir Edward Grey, though the latter is considered likely to be made Secretary of the Colonies. Aside from these there is a degree of uncertainty.

The meeting of the Privy Council, which was set for Wednesday morning, has been postponed to a later date.

It is probable that the Liberal leader has already completed his Cabinet, though this must be left to surmise.

It may be stated as certain that Lord Roseberry will be entirely ignored in

FLEET OF ICE-BREAKERS.

Mackenzie & Mann's Lake Superior Link.

A Sault Ste. Marie despatch says: "It is said that Mackenzie & Mann, the railway promoters, contemplate as one of the links in their scheme for a transcontinental line the placing on Lake Superior of a fleet of ice-breaking car ferries. The idea is to keep navigation open during the winter months between Port Arthur and Batchawanning Bay, the latter a splendid harbor on Lake Superior about thirty miles from the Sault. Thus the company would have almost direct line from Edmonton to Ottawa, for in connection with the proposition to place the car ferries on Lake Superior is that taking over the rights of the Montreal & North Shore Railway, which was one of the old schemes."

The M. & N. S. Railway right-of-way is between Sault Ste. Marie and Port Arthur, on the main line of the Canadian Central Railway, a short distance north of the "Soo. From Searchmont a line would be built in to Batchawanning Bay."

It is stated that a fleet of car ferries could be placed in commission on Lake Superior at one-tenth of what it would cost to build a railway line around the north shore.

IMMIGRANTS TORTURED.

Lured on Oyster Boats and Finally Murdered.

A Philadelphia despatch says: "It was discovered on Wednesday afternoon that upward of five hundred immigrants within the last four years have been kidnapped and sent to torture on the oyster boats in Chesapeake Bay, and many of these are believed to have met their death on these boats. The full report of this discovery will unearth a tale of crime that has no equal in the story of shaghaing. Certain policemen are believed to be party to these crimes, and evidence, expected within a week, will show, it is said, that they winked at, connived and shared in the graft. There is little doubt now that the bodies found in the Delaware from time to time, and designated by coroners' juries as 'found drowned,' were those of men actually murdered on oyster boats."

MYSTERY OF AN OLD SHOE

Bones of a Man's Foot Found in Northern Ontario Woods.

A Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., despatch says: "A shoe found twenty miles north of here in the woods, which contained the skeleton of a man's foot, has been brought to this city. No other sign of the body was left. It is believed to be part of the remains of some explorer who went into the woods nearly a century ago, as the oldest settlers say they can not remember when that kind of shoe was manufactured, although they can remember one or two parties that wore them when they were boys. The sole is of wood, fastened to the uppers with wire. An iron rim runs around the sole and heel."

CHLORFORM MOTHER.

Miss Anna Hall's Method of Relieving Suffering.

A despatch from Cincinnati says: Miss Anna Hall, who recently attracted wide attention by advocating at a Philadelphia convention that persons hopelessly sick or suffering be chloroformed, wanted to practise her theory on her own mother, according to testimony given on Thursday at a hearing over the contested will of Mrs. Murcey Hall, Miss Hall's mother. Mrs. Simcoe, a witness, said, she had frequently heard Miss Hall beg the attending physician to let her administer chloroform to end her mother's suffering, saying that death was inevitable and it was cruelly to prolong her life. The doctor refused, saying: "You are a thousand years ahead of your time."

FATAL SHIPPING SEASON.

One Hundred and Forty-Nine Lives Lost on the Lakes.

A Detroit, Mich., despatch says: "The Journal on Friday says 149 lives have been sacrificed, over 70 ships wrecked and a loss of nearly $7,000,000 has been sustained in the three big storms on the great lakes this season. That this is the most disastrous season in the history of shipping on the lakes is beyond doubt."

MONTREAL PORT REVENUE

Returns Show Increase of $31,746 Over Last Season.

A Montreal despatch says: "During the season of navigation just closed the revenue of the Harbor Commissioners amounted to $310,402.88, an increase of $31,746.39 over 1904. Of the total received $186,500 was from imports, an increase of $18,500; from exports, $79,500, an increase of $7,500, and from local traffic, $44,402.88, or an increase of $7,746.39 over the preceding season."

ALL THIN, PALE WOMEN.

Can Learn The Cause Of Their Nervous, Used-Up Condition.

With women, ill-health is usually traceable to nerve exhaustion. Feeling run-down and tired most of the time is nature's warning that more nerve-force is required.

You must build up, nourish the body, vitalize the nerves, get more flesh and blood.

It's the abundant nutriment and building material in Ferrozone that enables it to cure so many sick women. It increases the appetite, adds weight and strength restores lost color and develops a surplus of energy and nerve force that defies sickness of any kind. There is living proof in Mrs. Daniel Ferguson, Jr., of Prescott, Ont. Read her statement:

"A year ago my health failed. I grew thin and exceedingly pale. At times I was prostrated with nervous and sick headache. All day I was tired. At night it was difficult to obtain restful sleep. My appetite was variable and indigestion bothered me considerably. I became morose and suffered from heart palpitation. You could scarcely believe the benefit I derived in one week from Ferrozone. Color came back to my cheeks. My vitality and appetite increased renewed nerve force and better spirits came also. Ferrozone did a world of good and made me well."

Remember This: No alcoholic stimulant can nourish and build up like Ferrozone. Fifty cents per box or 6 boxes for $2.50. At all dealers or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

BERNHARDT ROTTEN-EGGED.

Two Hundred Quebec Rowdies Attacked the Famous Actress.

Quebec, December 5.—Madame Sarah Bernhardt left by the C.P.R. for Ottawa about 12.30 this morning and will probably take away a very bad impression from this city. She gave three performances which filled the auditorium to the doors, but although she highly pleased her audiences, she apparently displeased a number of hoodlums in this city on account of an interview she gave yesterday to a number of newspaper men. The interview appeared in L'Evenement this evening and was uncomplimentary to Canadians. This was sufficient to start tonight's row, which however, did not amount to much.

When the performance was concluded the audience went away, but about 200 young hoodlums hung around the doors and as Mr. Max, one of the performers made his appearance, he was struck with an egg. A detachment of about fifty policemen had mustered behind the market hall and duster down to the auditorium. A squad of ten proceeded to the C.P.R. station. This stopped the riotous trouble at the auditorium and as Madame Bernhardt got into her sleigh she was applauded. However a number of hoodlums had proceeded to the station and as the tragedienne was driving down rotten eggs were thrown at her but she fortunately escaped, but some of her company, in open sleighs, received several of them. The gang was kept out of the station and disappeared as soon as the members of the company got on board the train.

LLOYD SENTENCED.

Defrauding New Market Barrister Gets Eighteen Months in Central Prison

Toronto, Dec. 5.—In the Court general sessions this evening, T. H. Lloyd, the defaulting barrister of New Market pleaded guilty to the charges of misappropriating trust funds. Judge Winchester to-night sentenced Lloyd to eighteen months in Central Prison. The prisoner, who had cast anxious glances at the judge while the latter was giving his decision, allowed a heavy sob to escape him when he learned his fate. The indictments to which Lloyd pleaded guilty were stealing $900 entrusted to him by Benji Fairbairn, Robert Belfry, and Hanna Weddel; stealing $1,512 received from the estate of the late William Louit, and stealing $2,275 received from the executor and executrix of the late David A. Weddel.

The first passenger train left Edmonton for Winnipeg, over the C. P. R., yesterday morning.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

THE MAN OF PEACE.

The hasty word may bring us woe; Far better is it left unspoken. He who in answering is slow Will find his head at night unbroken. So count one hundred by the clock And in the counting try to stutter And take a walk around the block Before an unkind word you utter.

If in this manner you behave, You ne'er will be the man who loses; By acting thusly you may save Your face from many painful bruises. For who could ever pick a fight And mix up hair and hide and leather With one who kept his face closed tight Or only talked about the weather?

So when you're tempted to get gay, Don't argue with a man and brother; Though you may think it hard, don't say In your opinion he's another. Just bear a smile froze on your face And bear with patience all abuses. Remember, silence is the ace, The king, queen, jack and both the deuces.

Improving the Men.

Wizard Burbank, who trains the radishes to say "Thank you, kind sir!" when they are pulled and makes the strawberries grow so large that they have to be picked with a derrick, says that it would be a very simple matter to produce a perfect man.

Fond mamma with young hopefuls who are headed for the White House might not think this such a hard matter, but the rest of us would like to be shown.

No two of us would agree as to what constituted a perfect man, but there are a few points we might all be willing to specify as absolutely necessary.

In the first place he should be able to write passes on all of the railroads.

Also willing. He should carry around cigars in his pockets for his friends—we will take it for granted that the perfect man wouldn't smoke himself—and he should never be in a sorry-but-I-only-brought-down-car-fare frame of mind when a needy one tried to touch him for a small loan. These would do for a starter, but as to the absolutely perfect man each judge would look in the glass and see a few points that would have to be reproduced before the marvel could be pronounced flawless.

Showing Them the Way.

The heathen in their blindness Bow down to wood and stone. Although our patient messengers A better way have shown. To cure that awful blindness A way we now prepare By shipping to them spectacles At sixty cents a pair.

When Pride Has a Fall.

"It is but a step from the sublime to the ridiculous." "Yes; particularly if the step has a banana peel on it."

Not of the Same Family.

"Do you think the emperor of Japan is a brother to the sun?" "No; from all accounts we hear there are no spots on him."

That Barks Him.

A self-made man may win his spurs In office, field or trench, But he does hate to go against A bill of fare in French.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

For the man who is riding on the water wagon the scenery isn't so much for the first few blocks.

A man is long on friends when he is long on the long green.
A man is sixteen for one year, and a woman is sixteen as long as she says she is.

When Indian summer is good it is very, very good, and when it is bad you wish some Indian would come along and take it away.

The woman who has to wear her hat two seasons is apt to grow forgetful of her religious duties.

The man who is trying to invent a new language should go out and let the bees sting him a few times.

One of the greatest lessons a man can learn is that the bookmakers are not in business for their health.

When a policeman is standing on the corner a thief may consent to take even so small a thing as a hit.

So far as we have heard, it has not yet been discovered for what great and all wise purpose the man who butts in was created.

A small man is usually in the habit of looking at himself through a magnifying glass.

A Talk About Headache.

Husband—What will cure my wife's headaches?

Doctor—There are several drugs that will stop headache, but they affect the heart, nerves, and stomach.

Husband—Is there no safe remedy?

Doctor—Yes; there is the vegetable remedy, Zutoo Tablets. Most women are discarding the drug cures and using this. It is the only safe remedy I know of.

Husband—Is it used for anything but headaches?

Doctor—Yes, many women are using it to stop monthly pains; some use it to break up colds.

Nine out of every ten men have been guilty of transgression against nature in their youth. Nature never excuses, no matter how young, thoughtless or ignorant they may be. The punishment and suffering corresponds with the crime. The only escape from its ruinous results is proper scientific treatment to counteract its effects.

The DRAINS, either by nightly losses, or secretly through the urine, must be stopped—the NERVES must be built up and invigorated, the blood must be purified, the SEXUAL ORGANS must be vitalized and developed, the BRAIN must be nourished. Our New Method Treatment provides all these requirements. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers disappear; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and dependency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face falls an clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and sexual systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. The various organs become natural and many. We invite all the afflicted to call and consult us confidentially and free of charge. Cures Guaranteed or no pay. We treat and cure: Varicocels, Blood Disorders, Stricture, Gleet, Emissions, Urinary Drains, Spermatorrhea, Unnatural Discharges, Kidney and Bladder Disorders.
