Rev. D. R. Morrison Inducted At Avonmore On Friday Night Last

The induction of Rev. Donald R. Morrison, B.D., recently of Hallville and Reid's Mills, Dundas-Grenville Presbytery, into the Avonmore United pastoral charge, Glengarry Presbytery, took place on Friday evening last, following a meeting of Presbytery.

Rev. J. B. Howe, of Aultsville, conducted devotional exercises and preached the sermon, assisted by Rev. P. J. Lambert. B.A., B.D., of Apple Hill, who led in prayer, and Rev. Donald McMillan, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Avonmore, who read the scripture lesson. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Willard Wert, organist, rendered the anthem "Ye Gates Lift Up Your Heads."

The secretary of Presbytery, Rev. Donald McLeod, D.D., of Alexandria, narrated the steps leading to the call and the induction ceremony was conducted by Rev. H. M. Beach, B.D., of Finch, chairman of Presbytery. Rev. D. M. McLeod addressed the minister and Rev. W. H. LeGrow, of Newington, the congregation.

Folowing the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. D. R. Morrison, B.D., the congregation which had taxed the capacity of the church auditorium and included visiting clergy, laymen and ladies from the various churches of the district, was entertained at supper in the dining room by the members of the Women's Association of the three congregations.

After supper, Mr. and Mrs. Morrison were introduced to the members and families of their new charge, which includes the United Churches at Monckland and Gravel Hill.

Mr. Morrison succeeds Rev. J. C. Eastcott, B.A. B.D., who is now minister of Livingston United Church, Hamilton.

Rebate On Hydro Bills Forthcoming

FLAT RATES FOR HOT WATER HEATERS REDUCED

Announcement was made this morning by the local Hydro Electric Commission of a refund to be granted to consumers on the September 30th reading, amounting to 20 per cent. of the total net bills rendered against the consumer during the year 1937. This refund, the second in three years, will be received with satisfaction by all local users of Hydro. One-fifth of the total 1937 net bills will mean that most consumers will have nothing to pay for their August and September power and in many cases a substantial surplus will extend to the December reading. Such a refund again illustrates the splendid financial position of the local Hydro system where prevailing rates are among the lowest in the world.

In an interview with the Press this morning, Mr. E. M. Shaver, secretary-treasurer of the local Hydro System, stated that the cost per horsepower to the municipality would remain at $31.00 for this year after substantial reductions a short time ago. Domestic rates remain at 2.4 cents and 1.2 cents while commercial rates continue at 2 cents and .8 cents per kilowatt hour. There is a slight upward revision in Power rates however. The new rate is 2.3 cents and 1.5 cents while the old rate was 2.3 cents and 1.4 cents. Street lighting will continue to cost the municipality $8 per light per year although a refund to the municipality of $215.95 is also announced.

Substantial reduction has been made in the cost of power for the flat-rate water heaters. The former rate of 50 cents per 100 watts per month has now been reduced to 42 cents, making the flat rate for heaters $3.03 for 2 months.

Local hydro consumers have little room for complaint with respect to rates, service or administration of the Winchester Hydro System. Within the past year substantial reductions have taken effect in practically all power classifications. The service charge was removed from domestic consumers; commercial users were given the benefit of reduced rates while the present announcement of a 20 per cent. refund cannot help but be well received by all users of power "Hydro is yours—Use it!" is an apt slogan and local citizens are taking advantage of their opportunities in this respect.

Monday Night's Storm Does Much Damage In Russell and Kenmore Districts. Barns Burned.

Lightning stunned a cow, causing it to fall on a woman, and set fire to the barn on a farm in the Russell district, during a severe electrical storm on Monday at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Wallace Acres, whose farm is four miles north of Russell, was milking in the barn when the bolt struck. The cow toppled on her, but she managed to extricate herself uninjured. The family dog, which was standing outside the door of the barn, was killed. The cow was rescued but the contents of the barn, hay and farm machinery, were destroyed, causing a loss estimated at $3,000. Only $300 insurance was carried.

At Kenmore the home of Miles Hall was destroyed with a loss of $3,500 when it was struck by lightning, and at Metcalfe Joseph Evans lost his barn and the contents, loss being close to $2,500. No one was injured in either fire, and Mr. Evans was able to save his livestock.

MR. HEPBURN VERSUS MR. KING

Talking over the political situation in the Dominion editorially, the Kingsville Reporter recently brought forth some surprising sentences that will prove of interest to our readers. We quote:

"Mr. Hepburn, it can be said without dispute, is under the influence of the big mining men. These very wealthy men, as a group, wish to do certain things. First, they want the income tax kept as low as possible, because they have to pay on very large incomes. Second, they don't want any loopholes in the present income tax laws plugged. Third, they want all possible official assistance to prevent the miners becoming organized. Fourth, they want a so-called "National" government in Canada; which is a polite way of describing a one-party government—a dictatorship, with all organized opposition stifled.....If Mr. Hepburn does leave the Liberal party, will he be able to take many Ontario Liberals with him? We suppose he thinks he will, and he is a very shrewd politician. At any rate, it behooves everyone who is interested in the preservation of our historic parties and of the two-party system that is essential to the operation of democracy, to keep both eyes open. It might not be a bad thing in the end if all the right-wingers got together. Instead of people lining up on a somewhat outworn high-tariff or low-tariff basis, the liberals (with a small 'l') of both parties, and the left-wingers would be forced into line together, while the frankly reactionary members of both the old parties would be in the other group. Mr. Mackenzie King, almost of necessity, would lead the liberal party, and Dr. Manion or Mr. Hepburn would probably lead the party of reaction. Whatever may be the outcome of it all, it is apparent that Mr. Hepburn is carrying on a war within the Liberal Party against Mr. King. His purpose should soon become apparent. But we would be inclined to lay our small wager on Mr. King coming out on top."

One thing is certain, Mr. Hepburn has every appearance of being antagonistic to the present government at Ottawa and his recent outbursts on the St. Lawrence waterways scheme illustrate the point amply. Whether or not he has ambitions of becoming a federal leader is another question entirely and we doubt if the Liberal party in the Dominion are giving much thought at present to such a possibility. A break from the Liberal ranks would leave the Ontario premier without a leg to stand on, for Canadians do not take to radical changes with any degree of enthusiasm. Hon. H. H. Stevens, leader of the one-cylindered Reconstruction party can bear us out in that statement.

However, as the Kingsville Reporter says, Mr. Hepburn and Mr. King are not as close friends as one might expect in two Liberal leaders. But we doubt extremely if the rift will lead to a political revolution in the Dominion.

DEATH IN THE AFTERNOON

A momentarily thoughtless motorist, a high-powered car, a playing child, grinding brakes, a crash, a childish scream, a still, twisted little figure, grotesque and terrifying, a life that ended at seven that might have been saved, says the Gananoque Reporter in a recent editorial.

"These are the elements which enter, too often, into tragedies of the highway; tragedies that might have been prevented. And portraying this drama are grief-stricken, anguished people; parents, brothers and sisters who mourn the loss of a loved one—and, most miserable of all, the hapless motorist whose brain will ever be seared with the torturing knowledge that he has taken a life that might have been saved.

Dramatic, yes, but not exaggerated. True drama revealed by a perusal of accident statistics in any centre of Ontario. The bare figures tell the tale in their own impersonal way, but they do not stress the horror, the needlessness of it all, the grief that must follow as long as life lasts.

It is all the more saddening when we know that most of such accidents can be avoided by care on the part of the pedestrian as well as the motorist.

Children should be taught to be careful in crossing the streets or roads, look well to right and left for approaching cars. Better not to play in the streets at all, but if that cannot be avoided—then play carefully. Remember that death may lurk in the roadway.

Motorists, no matter what the circumstances, should always watch children in the roadway. A little one playing on the boulevard or sidewalk may run into the road the next second, and flash directly in front of an approaching car. Then it may be too late to avoid a tragedy that can never be paid for—a life ended at seven that could have been saved.

Take care and caution into your car with you every time you put your hand to your steering wheel. These unseen guests will be the most valuable companions you ever had on any drive, and they won't crowd the car. In fact, you can carry them in your head, but be sure to have them along.

Be always careful. Do your part, whether motorist or pedestrian, adult or child, to lessen the dreadful toll of accidents that snuff out so many precious lives every year on Ontario's streets and highways. If you are a pedestrian—remember that the motorist has rights, and for your own safety, be watchful of traffic. If you are a motorist—always drive sanely and live to drive longer.

A BOLD TRANSIENT

While transients generally have become a great nuisance to the housekeeper, there are a few that are actually a menace. On Saturday afternoon a local lady answered the door-bell only to be confronted by a disreputable fellow who sharply asked for scissors to sharpen. When informed that such work was neither desired nor wanted, the surly tramp demanded money and became vulgar and impertinent in his language. Needless to say the lady was frightened and it was only after suffering considerable verbal abuse that the ruffian was persuaded to leave the premises.

Such characters should be kept in prison for they are a menace to society and it is only to be regretted that the lady in question did not have sufficient presence of mind to communicate with the police at once. The lady of the house would be well advised to keep the outside doors bolted against such rowdies and at the first signs of impertinence summon the police.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Lord Stanley, Secretary for the Dominions, stated recently that "Canada is an autonomous nation, and is not necessarily at war when the Mother Country is at war—that decision rests with Canada." All of which may be very true BUT—it will be exceedingly difficult to convince the enemy that this Dominion is neutral should the Mother Country go to war.

Now that cold weather looms ahead, local residents would be well advised to give the heating equipment a thorough cleaning and overhauling. Thousands of disastrous fires are caused each year because people neglected to clean the chimneys, stove and furnace pipes. Has the heating apparatus in your home been inspected lately? If not, do it now and save yourself the worry of fire.

Another war scare is at its height at the moment in Europe. Germany is determined, apparently, to keep the pressure on Czechoslovakia in behalf of the Sudeten Germans, and has mobilized 1,000,000 men near the Czech border. The burning question at present is "Will Hitler march that army across that line?" One thing is certain in this regard—if the Germans start a march, it is extremely doubtful if they will be permitted to finish it as peacefully as they did in Austria. Chancellor Hitler might find that 1,000,000 men were not enough to see him through the conflict he brought down upon his own head by such a move.

HORSESHOE PITCHING

(Perth Courier)

Horseshoe pitching enthusiasts, of whom there are many in Lanark County, will be interested to know that their favorite pastime is an ancient game, with an unbroken record of popularity extending over a period of 3,000 years. The expert horseshoe pitcher can look with disdain on devotees of such modern fads as golf, tennis and baseball, which may have their points but, in total hours of enjoyment provided to players and spectators during the past thirty centuries, cannot begin to compare with horseshoe pitching, which is far from being purely a bucolic sport.

HITCH-HIKING ILLEGAL

(Smiths Falls Record-News)

There certainly has been an epidemic of hitch-hikers along the highways in this district this summer. No matter which direction a motorist may leave Smiths Falls he or she is bound to be met at the outskirts by someone thumbing a ride. As the Simcoe Reformer states, hitch-hiking has grown out of all bounds in the last year or two.

When hitch-hiking first came into practice, the average motorist considered it an act of common courtesy to give the pedestrian a lift, particularly because the hiker was probably a victim of the so-called deprssion.. To-day the highways are lined with youths and adults of both sexes, many of them well able to pay for their transportation by bus or railway, who prefer to prey upon motorists and who become very importunate in their demands for a ride.

The consequence is that few motorists are troubling to stop and pick up the wayfarers. There have been cases where the driver has been slugged and robbed by his unappreciative guest traveller, all of which makes other drivers skeptical. Perhaps it is not well-known, but the Highway Traffic Act provides "no person shall on a travelled portion of the highway solicit a ride on other than a public vehicle." The penalty for such an offence is a fine of $10.

MAY HAVE SOMETHING

(Trenton Courier-Advocate)

Hon. R. J. Manion, the new conservative leader, must have been stealing a look at this page, for at Barry's Bay the other day he stated that the whole question of relief should be assumed by the Dominion Government at its own cost.

The Courier-Advocate has been suggesting this very thing off and on for some time, but never at any time ever dreamed that a leader of a political party would take it up. If the government were to assume all the costs of relief and appoint its own men to see that it was properly apportioned and paid, we are sure that many municipal councils would give a sigh of relief and would spend the time they now give relief matters attending to other municipal business that requires their attention.

Manion's Barry Bay speech finds little encouragement from the present Ottawa government, but there is time yet. The whole question is so daring and requires considerable thought. At the same time if R. J. Manion is going to lead his party in the next election on such a promise he is going to cut a lot of ice with it and make no mistake about that. And if that same party changes the word "Relief" to Social Security or Unemployment Insurance it might find the backing of the unemployment, many of whom have a bit of pride remaining. So we shall see what we shall see.

THE TRAGEDY OF LOST HORIZONS IN THE PAST

(London Free Press)

This month has seen us pass another milestone since the Great War. One finds it hard to believe that nearly a quarter of a century has passed since that tragic and electric 4th of August, 1914. Things have happened almost every month this year of an international nature, any one of which, 24 years ago, would have been an occasion for war, and even this year the European nations approached this August with clouds hanging low enough to burst into storm almost any day.

How the world has changed in a quarter of a century! It is not the world the soldiers of 1914 knew, and certainly not kind of world they died to create. They went forth on a crusade to make the world safe for democracy. That was held up to them as the supreme and final purpose of the war. It was the war that would end war, and which would establish democracy for all future decades. We believe those who invented the slogans were sincere and hopeful, and no doubt saw these goals on the horizon after the holocaust was over, and as some one has said: "The happiest consequence of the war was the almost universal affirmation of faith in democracy, and its concomitants, social reform and international co-operation." Those who survived this martyrdom of Europe were really inspired by these genuine avowals of earnest idealism, which gave vital promise for humanity, but instead of achievement we are suffering the tragedy of lost horizons.

The war was scarcely over before one of the blackest clouds shut out this ideal horizon we had visioned, namely the cloud of Communism. We are not suggesting that the tenets of Communism are all black. In fact some of them are very worthy, and in so far as they are Christian, they should be embodied in our social order, but some of its attributes such as atheism, bloody revolution and terrorism, which claimed social justice could only come "by cracking open men's skulls," forced the pace of recreation and has assuredly slowed down the progress inspired by post-war idealism.

The spread of Communism forced upon Europe, and to some extent upon the world, another cloud that has shut out the hopeful horizon of democracy, and that cloud is Fascism, and its kindred Nazi movement, which have nullified vital Christianity, and which by their ultra nationalistic spirit have made impossible the growth of international understanding and good will, so vitally linked with the growth of democracy. These cults have created a new paganism, and have instigated persecutions which savor of the inquisition, and which belong to the Dark Ages. It seems sad beyond measure that 24 years after the death of our eleven-million splendid men who died in hope of better horizons for their successors, that these clouds should be so constant and so threatening.

We have certainly learned this lesson through it all, that peace treaties hammered out in the heat of hate and revenge, are very imperfect instruments, to help achieve the hopes of any post-war idealism, and it would have been better for the allies; better for our former enemies, and for the world, had our Treaty of Versailles been carefully reviewed each decade since the war, and generously revised, where revision would aid nations to rehabilitate themselves in the spirit of good will rather than feeling they must passionately rearm, and resort to war to obtain some of the things essential for national endurance.

One hopeful thing that came out of that terrific debris of death, was the League of Nations, the greatest achievement of the human spirit since the mediaeval idea of Christendom. One of the supreme tragedies of this decade is the collapse of the league. The cause of its collapse must be carefully studied and if possible removed, so that the league can be revived, and where necessary reconstructed, having as its members, the great powers of the world, east and west, who will not live and legislate for themselves but rather lend their united strength to help the weaker nations, and so in time make triumphant ideals for which millions of young men died, and so restore to their honor the lost horizons of which they saw in the hour of their sacrifice, and for which they were so willing to die.

THE NEW NATIONAL POLICY OF CANADA

(Financial Post)

To appraise the policy of Dominion aid to western wheat growers as mere political expediency is to disregard its real significance as a new national policy.

True, Mr. King has an election to win i 1939. True, some gesture to frayed western morale seemed inevitabl. But the new minimum price wheat policy strikes much deeper.

When drought or disaster visit primary producers such as prairie wheat growers, the public conscience and pocketbook stand ready to help. National wheat policy and prairie relief bills over the past few years attest this fact. But when Nature pours forth her bounty, as she has this year, recourse to public marketing and the public purse for support seem hard to justify.

The only way in which it can be justified is to argue that something must be done to offset the "wedge" that has been driven intermittently over 60 years between primary and secondary industries, by tariffs, labor lgislation and social welfare policies.

Carried to its logical conclusion, this new national policy respecting wheat commits us to put artificial props underneath all primary producers.

If, lacking any local or national emergency, the public purse is to be used to ensure a minimum price to wheat growers, why should we draw the line there?

Are we not equally committed to do the same for our fishermen, our livestock producers, our lumber industry, our miners, our potato and tobacco growers and all other producing groups?

What is to be the end of it all. How long can such a policy of lifting ourselves by our bootstraps continue?

Admittedly it is in the interests of national unity that everything possible be done to balance Canada's manufacturing "centre" against the 'extremes'—economically as well as financialy; to ensure that workers in farm and forest, in mines and on the sea be given equal opportunity with those who work in trade, commerce and industry.

But can Canada raise the level of all her citizens by artificial devices such as a guaranteeed minimum price, without eventually raising her costs of production to a point where export trade—the cornerstone of our economic existence—is jeopardized?

These are questions which make the new national wheat policy a matter of far-reaching significance.

They suggest the time has come when Canada should hold a thorough economic stock-taking to determine whether national policy is being developed today has in fact become a "dead hand" rather than a means to greater wealth and prosperity for all.

CHERISHED MEMORY

He will be remembered till a certain man shall die
As a prince of all good fellows who one day came pasing by;
He has gained a reputation (which will nevermore be lost)
As a friend of joyous childhood and a dime was all it cost!

It was just a whim, I fancy, which possessed him at the time
When he saw him window shopping and he gave the boy a dime,
Gave the lad a dime for candy, and then went upon his way,
But that youngster, grown to manhood, still remembers him today.

He'll be talked about at firesides when the recollections start.
He will be the glorious stranger in a grateful grown-up's heart.
And though he will never know it, since he vanished in the throng,
He'll never be remembered as the prince who passed along.

THE LIAR

When a bunch took a well-deserved beating
For coming to school over late,
He escaped through the fake of a blinding headache;
But since suffers pains in his stomach and reins
Whenever he's harried by fate.

When he flunked on an Algebra paper
The Prof. got the grief for his toss;
Now he can't figure why—being blind in that eye—
His mileage is slow and his gears run in low,
But puts all the blame on the boss.

While watching the winners pin medals
He boasted of deeds he had done;
Now he can't understand why his planes never land
With fame from the start or with booty from Mars
Or happiness out of the sun.

The ultimate doom of the liar
Is not that his word, like an elf,
Hobgoblin or ghost, is held lightly by most;
But a kink in the brain makes his thinking insane,
And he cannot believe himself.

—Harry Amoss.

"A SOLDIER LADDIE"

He was only a soldier laddie
And only a lad 'tis true,
Who left his home and country
To fight this battle for you.

He journeyed there to England.
He travelled then to France.
It was on that field of battle
That he took that awful chance.

Up amongst the deadly bullets,
Then amongst the shot and shell.
Will you ever forget that awful time,
Ah! No, 'twas but a burning hell.

He never thought of flinching,
His thoughts were all for home,
When he lay among the wreckage
In that battle on the Somme.

And there lay he, gassed and wounded,
With life but an only chance,
Will you give a kind thought to this brave lad
Who sacrificed all in France.

You who may ever read this
Perhaps in many years to come
Will give a thought, a kindly thought, friends,
When you hear the roll of a drum.

Of a young Canadian soldier,
Who fought for our fair land,
And let his home and country
To make that gallant stand.
And now I have had my say, friends,
And all that I ask of you
Is to offer a prayer for the tommies out there
Who have fought that battle for you.

—George Elbourne.

"In Lighter Vein"

Mother: How did you manage to break my plate, Betty?

Betty: Well, you see, Mother, I threw down the towel and then I found it was in my other hand.

"Mother," said little John, bursting into the house, "there's going to be trouble at the chemist's. His wife has got a baby girl, and he's had a 'Boy Wanted' sign in his window for a week."

Talking with a young lady admirer, Mark Twain had occasion to use the word "drydock."

"What is a drydock, Mr. Clemens?" she enquired.

"A thirsty physician," replied the humorist.

A candidate for Parliament declaimed: "The people of this country must grow more wheat!"

"How about hay?' yelled a heckler.

"I'm talking about food for mankind," retorted the candidate, "but I'll get round to your case in a minute."

Briggs: You're looking blue, old boy. What's wrong?

Thompson: Oh, my wife has gone into hospital, my son lost his job yesterday, my daughter has mumps, cook has left us, and to crown it all Jenkins beat me 5 and 4 at golf this afternoon.

"And so your son is a cinema actor in Hollywood," said the vicar to the local farm worker. "How interesting."

"Yes, sir," agreed Giles, "'E's bin away four years now."

"And have you seen him at all since he went?"

"Why, yes, sir. 'E's bin home these three last Christmases."

"And did he bring a wife back with him?" asked the interested vicar.

"Every time, sir. And three prettier girls you couldn't 'ope to see."

SEEK OPEN SEASON

The ban on shooting deer in Grenville County, which has been enforced for the past eight years, has resulted in a marked growth in numbers of the animals, with the result that they today roam the wooded acres to such an extent that nearby farmers are petitioning the Lands, Parks and Forests Branch of the Department of Mines and Resources for an "open season" this fall on deer in Grenville.

Holidays

A life of useful and constant employment is the only safe and happy one. If we suffer the mind and body to be unemployed, our enjoyment and conquests are terminated. But there are times when there is need of relaxation from labor, physical and mtntal. Otherwise the body becomes enervated, and sinks into a state of lassitude, rendering it utterly impossible to pursue its work with energy or profit.

The man of business, pressed by all the cares and responsibilities of life, hails with delight a few days of respite from the multiplicity of his duties:

Away from men and towns
In the wildwood and the downs
Where the soul need not repress
Its music, lest it should not find
An echo in another's mind,
While the touch of nature's art
Harmonizes heart to heart.

Holidays are by no means a modern invention. As far back as 776 B. C. we read of an assembly of the Greeks for their famous Olympian Games, which took place every our years. During this time there was a general suspension of hostilities. The contests consisted of racing, leaping, wrestling, boxing, etc., and the reward a simple garland of olive leaves, was much prized by those who were fortunate enough to be victorious.

We also have our national holidays of which I shall only mention a few. The first day of July is a memorable one in the history of Canada, and it is duly observed by our loyal people. We look back with pleasure to the year 1867, when the isolated provinces were amalgamated, thus forming in their united strength, a tower of defence gaainst every foe.

The 24th of May is also recognized by every true-hearted Briton. with feelings of joyful gratitude. On this day, 1819, was born that beloved Sovereign, Queen Victoria, who by the many virtues that adorned her character, is now distinguished as one of the most illustrious monarchs that ever graced the British throne.

We have also a day set apart for Thanksgiving to God for his bountiful goodness and beneficence. When the first fruits and grains are safely gathered in, how necessary it is that all people should unite in this service in response to he beautiful hymn of Alford's:

"Come ye thankful people, come
Raise the song of Harvest Home,
All is safely gathered in
Ere the winter's storms begin
God our maker doth provide
For our wants to be supplied
Come to God's own temple come
Raise the song of "Harvest Home."

—Dorothy Sproule.

RULES FOR AVOIDING MOTOR ACCIDENTS

Following is a valuable list of rules for the guidance of both children and adults in connection with motor traffic, the careful adherence to which would undoubtedly lessen the toll of accidents:

1. Don't ever ride with strangers.
2. Always walk on the left hand side of the road and get clear off the road when you meet an automobile. Give them plenty of room.
3. Don't ever cross a road or highway until you are sure there are no cars coming from either direction.
4. Don't attempt to cross an intersection until you are certain that there is plenty of time.
5. If you see an accident go for help quickly.
6. Keep clear of the wreck. Let the grown-up people give aid to the injured.

Here are some suggestions for drivers:

1. Don't ever pick up sttrangers.
2. Always drive on the right hand side of the road and when you meet a pedestrian give him plenty of room.
3. Maintain a close lookout for persons crossing the road.

YET A FAVORITE

He just does exactly as he pleases always.

He comes in when he likes and goes out when he likes.

He gives not the least help about the house.

He is invariably the first to be astir in the mornings, but he does not attempt to lay and light a fire.

He will sit before the fire for hours, but he ever goes for more coal.

He never wipes his feet before coming into the house.

He does nothing, in short, but eat, sleep and consider his own comfort.

But for all that he is a grand old dog, and we can't help loving him.

"Charity should be the habit of our estimates; fidelity of our self-examination; being and doing good our entire life."—Tillotson.

ACCURACY OF NAVIGATION

An interesting feature about the speed record made by the Queen Mary westward is the precision with which the liners cross the ocean. When the Normandie made the previous record between Bishop's Rock and Ambrose Lightship the log showed 2,900 miles. When Queen Mary made her record she sailed 2,901 miles.

Thus there was only a deviation of one mile in the course taken by these great ships in nearly 3,000 miles. This is remarkable in view of the conditions met with at sea—strong winds, drift and many other things. It is proof of the accuracy of navigation instruments nowadays, including wireless and beam radio. The capacity of modern liners to overcome all difficulties that formerly made an ocean voyage a hard experience for sailors is only equalled by their capacity to run "on time" in all but severe weather or fog, leaving one side of the Atlantic and arriving on the other with almost the same accuracy as trains.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

UNVEILING OF MEMORIAL UNLIKELY UNTIL SPRING

Canada's National Memorial, on Confederation Square in Ottawa, probably will not be unveiled until next spring.

Originally it was hoped that the memorial would be ready for unveiling on Armistice Day, November 11. It was also hoped that the $600,000 postal building would be ready for use during the Christmas rush. At present it seems as if these hopes were too optimistic. For, if the memorial is erected in time, it is unlikely the Plaza widening will be finished.

In fact, it is unlikely the unveiling will take place until the "background" is proper. For an event of this kind with significance to all Canada, the proper setting is necessary. This would mean the unveiling would not take place until the postal terminal was completed, the Plaza widened and the street car tracks relocated.

It was authoritatively learned that the Armistice Day observance, staged under the direction of the Canadian Legion of the B.E.S.L., will be held as usual on Parliament Hill. Possibly the memorial will be the centre of the observance next year.

The most likely dates for the unveiling are April or May.

PLANS ON FOOT FOR GEARLESS AUTO

It is understood that an English company is being formed to promote the invention of a gearless auto. This is credited by Professor Lea to Commendatore Piero Salerni, an Italian engineer living in England.

Plans for this revolutionary automobile, without gears or clutch were recently presented to the British Association for the advancement of Science.

Claims for the gearless car—in which a centrifugal pump replaces the gear box and clutch—are that it would use less gasoline, increase tire mileage and quicken acceleration.

Professor Lea said he based his conclusions on tests of more than 65,000 miles with such an automobile.

Substitution of the pump system for the orthodox clutch and gear box, he said, "results in improvement of performance—in getaway, general acceleration, hill climbing and drive on the open road."

"The driver, over long distances in traffic and climbing hills, is not wearied by de-clutching and gear-changing," he said.

"Mechanical construction of the transmitter is in every way simple and sound; as compared with the orthodox clutch and gear mechanism, it is simpler and less costly and its overall efficiency is apparently greater.

"Its scope transcends the field of the automobile and should include vehicles of every kind driven by internal combustion engines, both of the gasoline and heavy oil type.

BUY AT HOME.

One of the most essential factors in the life of any small town, and particularly those adjacent to large cities, is a hearty spirit of co-operation among the citizens. Local citizens should keep this in mind when canvassed by representatives of large business concerns in an effort to draw trade away from the local merchants.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

A successful man is one who has tried, not cried; who has worked, not dodged; who has shouldered responsibility, not evaded it; who has got under the burden, not merely stood to one side looking at one—giving advice and philisophizing on the situation.

The result of a man's work is not the measure of success. To go down with the ship in storm and tempest is bettter than to float lazily with the current in a canoe. To have worked faithfully is to have succeeded—we leave the results to time. Life is too short to gather the whole harvest.

CHATTING WITH THE LISTENER

Further development and expansion of the CBC so that the artistic resources and aspirations of the Maritime and also the Prairie provinces may be worthily reflected when the Corporation's new 50,000 watt transmitting stations for those regions are completed, was revealed by Gladstone Murray, CBC General Manager, during an address broadcast over the network from Halifax. Mr. Murray spoke simultaneously with Dr. Augustin Frigon, Assistant General Manager, who addressed the French network.

Mr. Murray, speaking in the "Chatting With the Listener" series, announced that the new Maritime station, CBA, is being constructed at Aulac, near Sackville, N. B., and that the surveys that will determine the site of CBK, the new Prairies station, are nearing completion.

The inauguration of these plants will mark the completion of CBC's second instalment of the national plan for high-power coverage. The first instalment was completed last year with the construction of CBL and CBF, two 50,000 watt stations to serve Ontario and Quebec.

Exchange of producers, which already has been carried out to some extent with great success with the Mother Country, will be extended to the Dominions, Mr. Murray stated. He announced that in October Lance Siefking, brilliant BBC producer, will exchange places with H. Rooney Pelletier, manager of the Corporation's Montreal station, CBM. E. L. Bushnell, general supervisor of programmes, also will go to England in October to attend a meeting that is expected to affect the future of Empire broadcasting.

Speaking of the value of the exchange system, not only to broadcasting but to general relations, Mr. Murray told listeners that Laurence Gilliam, who was guest of CBC last spring, already is building Canadian features for broadcasting in the United Kingdom. "These features," he said, "are founded on a first-hand knowledge and enthusiastic admiration of Canada."

Relations with United States broadcasters are increasingly cordial, the best sign being the growing appetite of all three chains for more CBC programmes on their networks. He intimated that a kind fo unofficial programme board for North America has come into existence as a result of the CBC's association with United States systems and added that "plans are in hand for the most elaborate plan of co-operation so far attempted."

The circle of international exchange programmes beyond the Empire and the United States is steadily widening, Mr. Murray announced. Excerpts of opera from Milan are to be introduced by arrangement with the Italian broadcasting authorities, German programmes will continue subject to reasonable conditions of transmission and special programmes from France will be a feature of next season.

The General Manager emphasized a new aspect of the coming season in music in the plan to support leading Canadian symphony orchestras. The Toronto Promenade Symphony Orchestra and the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra already have been broadcast features and CBC will broaden its policy to include the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, the Montreal Symphony Orchestra, Les Concerts Symphoniques des Montreal and the Calgary Symphony Orchestra. By supporting orchestras in existence rather than by creating a central orchestra, as the BBC did in the United Kingdom, CBC is spreading its resources, encouraging local initiative and the public performance of good music, he said. He added that if CBC does its job properly in relation to quality, it cannot allow geography to intervene unduly. Dance music and old time music also will be highlighted in a special way.

Development of dramatic production, especially of plays by Canadian writers, will be carried out and there will be an extension of children's programmes. Talks and talkers are to be handled professionally, discussions on international affairs will be continued in a more ambitious way, and there will be an increase in special event broadcasts. Commentators also will be heard regularly and men and women of various types and walks of life will contribute to a special series, "My Job." Mr. Murray announced that later in the season there will be an inter-city bridge tournament and a spelling-bee. A series of religious broadcasts under the auspices of the National Advisory Committee on Religion, representative of the principal denominations, also will be introduced.

RELEASED CONVICT AIRS HIS VIEWS ON LIFE IN THE PENITENTIARY

(London, Ont., despatch in The Brockville Recorder and Times).

Steak and onions were served convicts at Kingston penitentiary when the Archambault Commission arrived there for hearings, according to a prisoner just released.

But when the Commission went away, the diet just as suddenly reverted to hash, beans, coffee, and porridge, he declares, and the guards took out their spite on the inmates for having to behave so well during the Archambault visit.

Judge Archambault, he says, walked through the cell and dome and asked one inmate: "Didn't they ever serve steak and onions before?" "I don't know—I've only been here four years," was the reply.

The man who makes the charges has an amazing tale of prison life to reveal. He is emphatic in stating serious trouble is brewing again at Kingston and says he wishes to prevent it, if possible. His name is withheld at his request, but he states he is ready to testify before the proper authorities at any time.

The sudden transfer of 140 men to Stony Mountain penitentiary in July was an emergency measure to avert a major outbreak, he charges.

"The trouble began," he said, "just after the Archambault-McRuer commission held its sessions at Kingston. In the past, the old-timers tell me, no prisoner was ever allowed to go direct to any investigator with no screws (guard) around. Pretty soon word was passed along the range (cell tier) that this commission was different.

"We heard that Archambault was for the men and that McRuer was a good listener, but that he kept reading and checking the prisoner's record all the time he was talking. So when we found we could go into the room and open up, practically every man in the prison went up to tell his story. Nothing like that had ever happened before."

Says Spite Prevailed

"But just as soon as the Commission left, the screws began to get tough. They said, "you fellows tried to make it tough for us, now we'll see what we can do for you.'

"The meals got terrible, and they really served us putrid meat. All we got after that was 'covered wagons' (sausages in a dough cover); 'hidden enemies' (pies with no meat in them); hash on a shingle (hash on bread); hunter's stew (you hunt for the meat); 22-shorts and dum-dums (beans of different sizes); mud (coffee); and Sir Harry Lauder's pudding (porridge).

"This dissatisfaction was growing also at Collins Bay. They were building a new prison there and the men were working hard and claimed the food was bad. The prisoners there decided on a demonstration, thinking they would call the situation to the attention of the officials and get it straightened out. They didn't wreck anything and wanted no violence, but hammered and hollered and made a lot of noise.

"The leaders were brought from Collins Bay to Kingston and were paddled. The men paddled lost their remission, and four of them claimed they had their mouths taped with adhesive and were left two to three days in the black hole without food.

"Then the ride got tougher in Kingston, too. One day a man from London hollered: "A screw can steal in penitentiary and he don't do time, but that is what they send us here for—for stealing.' He did not know that a guard was listening and heard him. It seems that in the quarry about 20 gallons of gasoline was missing every night and the prisoners were blamed by the screws. So the men on the gang had to shove the truck out and back every morning and night. That was about two and a half or three months ago."

ONE-ARM DRIVING

The practice of driving along the highway with the arm around the girl friend constituted negligent driving and three motorists in county magistrate's court at Ottawa on Monday morning learned that it was an expensive proposition.

The men were each fined $10 and costs and had their operator's permit suspended for one day when they were convicted of the offence. The charges were laid by Provincial Traffic Officer R. A. MacGillivray of Manotick, who saw the offenders on the Prescott highway. This is not the first prosecution under this section of the Highway Traffic Act in the Ottawa district.

SAYS CANADA MUST PAY HER NATIONAL DEFENCE PREMIUM

Canada must not rely upon her neighbor or sister nations to pay the premium on her national insurance, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of national defence, declared on Tuesday night.

President Roosevelt's "noble declaration" assuring aid if an invader threatened Canada only increased, rather than lessened, Canada's own responsibility, the minister asserted, before a Crown Life Insurance Company convention dinner.

In these disturbed times, insurance is not only for the individual but for the community and for "that entity which is the Dominions of Canada," he said. "In these days of swashbuckling gangsters, surely we cannot afford to be still.

He held the Mother Country had always borne the brunt of maintaining the Empire. Her people were now taxed to the limit, arming to the teeth, "sleepless sentinels on the frontiers of freedom." There is "nothing more magnificent in history.'

In Reply to Toast.

The defence minister spoke in reply to a toast to International Co-operation and Goodwill proposed by Hon. E. L. Patenaude, as a slogan desirable not only for commercial enterprise but for all good citizens of the world.

He voiced the hope in conclusion, that out of the shifting issue of these dark times would ultimately emerge two principles: "The freedom of our people and the solidarity of our Empire, and the restoration of peace."

At the outset, Mr. Mackenzie took occasion to express his own tribute to the chairman, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, new president of the company.

"There are many occasions when we can be Canadians before we are politicians," he said. "I want to pay my tribute to the great contributions of Mr. Ferguson as prime minister of Ontario, the banner province of the Dominion, and to his great services as high commissioner in the United Kingdom."

Hubby: Don't bring me any more bills, dear, I can't face them.

Wife: You needn't, darling, I only wanted you to foot them.

Good manners are impossible without self control. In the school room, on the playground, at the dinner table are countless opportunities for the practice of self control, courtesy and consideration of others.

Negro Mammy: Ah want's a ticket for Virginia.

Ticket Agent: What part of Virginia?

Negro Mammy: Go 'long, man! Foh all of her, o' co'se. Da's her settin on dat suitcase.

GREAT VARIETY IN PLACE NAMES

Canada holds a lot of surprises for the traveller in its place-names. A young scots bride, for instance, coming here to make her home, would be most astonished to find a place called Cooking Lake in Alberta. But she would be still more astonished should she idly turn over the pages of the time-table on the long journey across the continent and discover that she could almost do her household shopping from the list of stations in her hand.

Coffee she would find in Quebec. and Cereal in Alberta. Dotted across the continent would be Mace, Bannock, Edam, Desert, Carrot, Creek and Charcoal. Cooks she would discover in Ontario, and a Butler on the prairies. A Cardigan would show up in the Maritimes, a Press in Alberta—and, believe it or not, a Draper in Alberta.

All the qualities she hoped to show to her young husband in their new home would appear before her eyes as names of stations—Enterprise, Bright, Quick, Radiant, and Resplendent. Even the precious stones in her ring would stand reflected in the place-names of Diamond, in Quebec.

The eternal cry of the house-wife—"There's so much to do that I hardly know where to begin," would show up in the place-name of Begin, in Eastern Canada.

And wonder of wonders, to enable her to titivate herself at the first sound of the footsteps of her returning husband, a Glass would show up in Manitoba, and in Alberta would appear a Mirror.

Old Country schoolboys, on their tours to Canada, she would notice would also find much in the voluminous time-table to stir their blood and fire their imagination. Agincourt, Alma, Amiens, Air Base, Arms and Armada would be a few of the places en route.

The scientist, too, travelling to catch a glimpse of an eclipse in mid-Pacific, could also discover an Aurora, a Blue-sky, and also a Decimal, but hardly any use to him in his astronomical calculations.

For the legal-minded there is a place called Equity. For the statesman, Alliance, Conquest, Hope, and Balfour, Bonarlaw, Asquith and Baldwin Crossing.

The naturalist could discover a Buzzard or an Elk. The literary-minded could choose from Barrie, Balzac, Carlyle or Cowper or many other names The humorist would find an Amos (but without any Andy), and Ceepeecee, Yamachiche, Kazabazua, and all kinds of tongue-twisting names.

A Scottish mariner from Glasgow, steering his way across Canada as a passenger, would be a bit confused to find a Clyde in the middle of the prairies, and an Ailsa Craig hundreds of miles from the sea. As for finding Ardrossan, Saltcoats and Arran in the middle of fields of waving wheat, it would make the puzzled mariner cock a weather-cock.

These and all sorts of interesting names the young Scots' bride on journey westwards would find in the time-table in her hands. If her name were Aggie and that of her young husband Angus, she would find these places on the Alberta and Ontario maps.

Perhaps Canada's Barrhead, Busby, Aberdeen, Dundee and hundred of others of Scottish-named towns and settlements might make her feel not so far away from home after all. And the greatest thing in the whole world to her on her Canadian adventure, Love, she would find out on the prairies in Saskachewan.

PART OF THE SO-CALLED "WRECKAGE"

What shall we tell the young man today? That question was partly answered by W. J. Cameron on the Ford Sunday Hour:

Tell him he was fortunately cast by birth into a land where everything he has in him can come full circle. Tell him he lives among a people where men grow big doing big things, or doing lesser service in a big way—a country that has only 6 per cent. of the world's population and 71 per cent. of the world's automobiles; 6 per cent. of the world's population and 52 per cent. of the world's telephones; 6 per cent. of the world's population and 44 per cent. of the world' radios; 6 per cent of the world's population and 30 per cent. of the world's railroads; 6 per cent. of the world's population and double the life insurance of the rest of the world's. More children in the schools, more homes owned by families, more college opportunities than anywhere else. This is part of the so-called "wreckage" the elder generation is leaving him. Don't say these are merely material things—they are the visible symbols of spiritual wealth. Tell him that this is a country where men with no capital but their hands, their overalls, an idea, and an urge to serve their generation have always had a wide field, and never before so wide as now.

SEEK OPEN SEASON

The ban on shooting deer in Grenville County, which has been enforced for the past eight years, has resulted in a marked growth in numbers of the animals, with the result that they today roam the wooded acres to such an extent that nearby farmers are petitioning the Lands, Parks and Forests Branch of the Department of Mines and Resources for an "open season" this fall on deer in Grenville.

SPECKLED TROUT SEASON EXTENDED TO SEPTEMBER 15

Announcement was made yesterday by D. J. Taylor, Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries, that the open season for speckled trout in Ontario will be extended until Sept. 15.

The department feels that the Provincial hatcheries have expanded their program to the point where now their annual propagation and subsequent restocking of lakes and streams with this species of fish can well justify the two week extension from Aug. 31.

THERE WERE NO CHOCOLATE BARS IN THE "GOOD OLD DAYS"

They talk about the "good old days" before the motor car and airplane, before the sales tax and income tax, before cash and carry and bobbed hair, says the Toronto Globe and Mail. But were we as well off, and how many of us would like to revert to the old ways?

Fifty years ago—

There was no motor delivery.
There was no mechanical refrigeration.
Grocers had no meat slicers.
There were no computing scales.
The original type cash register was just making its appearance.
Canned foods were "infants in arms."
There were no package teas.
Long counters kept the customers away from the food.
There were no parking restrictions.
Women wore bustles and trailing skirts on Sundays.
There was no bobbed hair.
The elite went to church with a coach and pair.
Oil lamps were used for illuminating store interiors, and what pathetic lights they gave!
Chickens were sold by the pair.
Eggs were bought sight unseen—no gradings.
Butter was purchased in long rolls, cut off and sold by the pound.
There was the odd peddler or two.
There were no electrically operated coffee grinders.
There were no jelly powders or canned fruit juices or package cheese.
We had the slow-pays, the irresponsibles and the delinquents.
Biscuits in barrels provided free lunches for customers.
Farmers' wives made lye and their own soap.
And baked their own bread.
Salt was sold in barrels and big bags.
There was no milk in tins.
Candy sticks and conversation lozenges were the main "peace offerings."
There were no corn flakes or package cereals.
Soups were made at home from "left-overs."
There were no metal caps for glass jars.
There was no vegetable shortening.
Women wore high boots and low heels.
There were no strained fruits or vegetables in cans.
Dates all came in bulk.
There were no 'early closing' by-laws.
There were no Dionne quintuplets to let the rest of the world know what children should eat.
The washboard provided the housewife with Monday's exercise.
Matches were all 'strike anywhere.'
But the girls didn't smoke cigarets.
There were plenty of so-called "price cutters"—either that or they were good merchandisers.
And we couldn't enjoy a chocolate bar.

BREAKFAST CHAIRS

Buy a few rubber crutch tips at the ten cent store and place on the bottoms of all the breakfast chair legs, if the flooring is linoleum. These will prevent the chair legs from making ugly dents in the linoleum, and also avoid much noise when moving the chairs around.

HINTS FOR THE FARMER

CUTTING ALFALFA FOR SEED

In parts of Eastern Canada suitable for alfalfa seed production it was formerly the practice to cut the first crop for hay and the second crop for seed. In the best seed producing areas the first crop is now taken for seed which is cut in August. In Western Canada the cutting of the first crop for seed has always been the practice followed.

A decision which is sometimes difficult for the grower to make is in regard to the proper time to harvest the crop for seed. Since alfalfa seed does not mature evenly due to the prolonged blossoming period, a plant may bear pods varying from ripe, which are dark brown in color, to green and immature. Because the ripe pods shatter easily, there comes a time when more seed is being lost by shattering than is being replaced by the ripening of the green pods. Just before such a time is reached is the proper time for cutting. This will be when about half to two-thirds of the pods are brown. Much of the immature seeds will mature in the swath.

In seasons when a hay shortage is imminent the grower may be compelled to take the first crop for hay and if the second crop is podding up well it may profitably be cut for seed. The decision as to when to cut this crop should be decided by the average date of the first fall frosts for the locality. If the crop is cut after a severe frost, not only is the germanability of the seed lowered but the sample will contain much discolored seed resulting in a lower commercial grade.

ALFALFA INCREASES PRODUCTION

The alfalfa plant is remarkable for its ability to increase production along more lines than one. As a soil building crop it has few rivals. Its deep rooting characteristic enables it to make use of plant food reserves in the sub-soil, and being a legume, it enriches the soil with nitrogen through the action of nitrifying bacteria of which it is a host. The alfalfa in the rotation improves the fertility of the soil, with resulting increases in the production of other crops. The deep-rooting habit also enables this crop to grow vigorously and produce freely in spite of prolonged periods of dry weather.

The nutritious quality of alfalfa hay is recognized and highly prized as a means of increasing production with all kinds of livestock. In addition, it is one of the most productive of hay crops. In those parts of the country which enjoy a long enough growing period, the crop can be cut two and three times a season, producing large tonnages per acre, and thus increased production is obtained over plants that can be cut but once.

Even the more northerly parts where the season is short and only one cutting can be made, large yields are obtained. For instance in Northern Ontario, where it is not yet considered advisable to sow this crop alone, the addition of a few pounds per acre of alfalfa to the usual hay mixture, has been found very worthwhile.

The 1938 Edition of The Canada Year Book Now Available To Public

The publication of the 1938 edition of the Canada Year Book, published by authorization of the Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The Canada Year Book is the official statistical annual of the country and contains a thoroughly up-to-date account of the natural resources of the Dominion and their development, the history of the country, its institutions, its demography, the different branches of production, trade, transportation, finance, education, etc.—in brief, a comprehensive study within the limits of a single volume of the social and economic condition of the Dominion. This new edition has been thoroughly revised throughout and includes in all its chapters the latest information available up to the date of going to press.

The 1938 Canada Year Book extends to almost 1,200 pages, dealing with all phases of the national life and more especially with those susceptible of statistical measurement. A statistical summary of the progress of Canada is included in the introductory matter. This gives a picture in figures of the remarkable progress which the country has made since the first census of the Dominion was taken in 1871, sixty-seven years ago.

Attention may be called to some of the more important features of the present volume.

In Chapter I, which treats of Physiography, a revised article on the Geology of Canada appears at pp. 16-27; Part III, Seismology, last published in the 1931 Year Book, is brought up to date this year; and a special article, "The Flora of Canada," prepared by John Adams, M.A. (Cantab.), Division of Botany, Experimental Farm, Ottawa, appears at pp. 30-59 as Part IV. In Part VII, which deals with Climate and Meteorology, a new section and tables on Times of Sunrise and Sunset in Canada are given.

At pp. 78-90, an additional Part on Historic Sites and Monuments in Canada is added to Chapter II. A section on the Government of Canada's Arctic Territory has been added to Chapter III at pp. 92-93, and at pp. 110-119 the provincial legislatures from 1924 to the present are tabulated, tying-in with the series from Confederation to 1923 published in the 1924 Year Book.

A special feature of Chapter VIII, Agriculture, this year is the article appearing at pp. 223-230 dealing with the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Program inaugurated by the Dominion Government to alleviate the conditions brought about by the incidence of the recent agricultural crisis in the West, and to provide for permanent improvements in areas suffering from drought and soil-drifting.

All the space that could be spared in Chapter XIX, Labour and Wages, has been given to a summary review of Labour Legislation in Canada, which appears at pp. 787-796, and to an extended treatment of Mothers' Alowances by individual provinces.

In addition to the special features mentioned, some progress has been made in filling in the new framework of Chapter XVIII, Transportation and Communications, as it was recast last year, but unfortunately certain of the statistical series are not yet complete. The section of Chapter XXI, Public Finance, which deals with Capital Investments in Canada and Canadian Investments abroad, has been completely revised and a new series of historical statistics on a comparable basis, which entirely replaces all earlier figures, is now presented for the years 1926 to 1935 at pp. 896-899. In Chapter XXIII, Currency and Banking, the tables concerning Loan and Trust Companies have been recast, statistics regarding Small Loans Companies separated therefrom, and a separate section on Small Loans Companies added: the business of these companies has now reached considerable proportions and in view of the special legislation governing their incorporation and operation, the separation is desirable. The review of life insurance given in Chapter XXIII has been rounded out by the inclusion of text and tables covering the business of Canadian companies abroad and Chapter XXV, Education, has been recast, both in regard to textual treatment and tabular presentations.

A list of special articles appearing in past editions from the year 1922-23 to 1937 will be found at page vi immediately preceding the map of Canada.

There are over thirty maps and charts contained in the volume, and two photo-gelatine inserts illustrating the sections on "The Flora of Canada," and "Historic Sites and Monuments," respectively. Three lithographed maps are included.

Persons requiring the Year Book may obtain it from the Kings Printer, Ottawa, as long as the supply lasts, at the price of $1.50, which covers merely the cost of paper, printing and binding. By a special concession, a limited number of paper-bound copies have been set aside for ministers of religion, bona fide students and school teachers, who may obtain copies at the nominal price of 50 cents each.

WATCH OUT FOR FALLS

The best way to avoid falls, states a bulletin issued this week by the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations, is to form the habit of looking out for the things that cause falls. Here are some of the causes to watch out for, especially when you are carrying something:

Grease, oil or water on floors or steps; Loose or fixed objects on floors or stairs; Loose material that is apt to shift under foot; Uneven floors or floors in poor condition; Worn or broken treads on stairs or steps; All make-shift supports—boxes, barrels, chairs, tables; Unguarded floor openings, and loose covers over floor openings; Loose planks in scaffolds or porches; Blind corners and dark places; Walking without looking carefully ahead; Shoes with turned-over heels or loose soles; Heels catching in cuffs of long trousers; High heels catching in skirts or overcoats on stairs; Leaning too far out of windows.

Beware of just putting accidents down to "carelessness," warns the I. A. P. A. buletin. That attitude doesn't help the accident just passed and cannot prevent another occurring. What is there to do about it? "Find the Preventable Cause." Experience is a hard taskmaster, so why not try prevention?

THIS MONTH'S STAR RECIPE

Crab-meat Salad

1 pkg. salad gelatin (aspic)
1 cup boiling water
2 eggs
1 tbls. sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 tbls. onion juice
2 tbls. lemon juice
½ cup flaked crabmeat
½ cup chopped celery
1 tbls. chopped parsley

by Betty Barclay

METHOD

Dissolve salad gelatin in boiling water. Beat eggs slightly. Add sugar and salt; add hot gelatin mixture slowly, stirring continually. Add onion juice and lemon juice; chill until mixture begins to thicken then add crabmeat, celery and chopped parsley. Pour into mould and chill until firm.

8 servings.

In future I shall feature one recipe as my "STAR" for the month. Salads are certainly desirable for hot weather so the above has been selected for this month's honors.

Easy to make, economical, delicious, healthful and not too heavy—what more could one ask for in a summer dish? Try the recipe today and see whether or not you agree with my choice. I think you will, for this salad will undoubtedly prove a novelty to both family and guests. It is something that gives a touch of "distinction" to an otherwise ordinary meal. The "Star" is awarded to Crabmeat Salad without the slightest hesitancy.

VETERINARY COLLEGE TO RESTRICT REGISTRATION

No United States freshmen will be admitted this year to the Ontario Veterinary College, it was announced this week. Increased enrolment of Canadian students has forced college officials to restrict registration to Canadian applicants. In past years United States students have attended the college in large numbers.

WHAT, NO SODAS!

There were no soda biscuits sold in 1885, a Montreal man recalls. Not even out of the old cracker barrell. The nearest to them were the Boston biscuits, which were three-quarters of an inch thick and after being heated, were split in two and buttered.

RAMSAY FARMER LIKELY TO LOSE HIS AUTOMOBILE

According to recent information from the Department of National Revenue in Ottawa, the car sold to Byron Bowland of Ramsay, by Bud Dupius, an American, who was well-known in Darling Township, was stolen in the United States and it now appears the purchaser will lose both car and money spent on it.

Dupius is being held in Ottawa on charges of selling smuggled cars to a number of people in Lanark County and other parts of Eastern Ontario. In each case traced by the Department, with the exception of the Bowland one it was found that Dupuis had bought the cars in American cities, smuggled them into Canada and sold them.

Under these circumstances the buyers, who had made the purchases in good faith, were allowed to retain possession of the smuggled machines upon paying duty on them. This would have been done in the case of Mr. Bowland but police investigation disclosed that the car sold to him had not been bought in the States but had been stolen on the streets of Detroit. It had then been brought here by way of Windsor. The owner of the car in Detroit carried theft insurance on the machine which was paid in full. The insurance company now is asking for return of the car.

In selling the car to Mr. Bowland, Dupuis was accompanied by a man well known to the prospective purchaser. But even then he hesitated to buy because he did not know anything about Dupuis. This difficulty was surmounted when Dupuis produced an affidavit taken before an Arnprior lawyer to the effect that the machine was free of financial encumbrance.

The whole series of transactions which finally landed Dupuis behind the bars was of a nature that the Department is constantly investigating as it is a comparatively easy matter for crooks to buy cars on the other side of the line and bring them into the Dominion free of duty under the tourist regulations.

But all such cars are carefully registered at the border and the time comes eventually when failure to pass them out of the country, officially, at border points, starts the wheels of the Customs Department operating. By means of a complex system of sleuthing, cars are run down whereupon they are taken from their owners. If sold on the other side and it is shown the purchaser in Canada acted in good faith, he is allowed to retain possession by paying duty. But if the machine happens to be stolen, as in the case of Mr. Bowland, it must be returned to its original owners in the States under a reciprocal arrangement between the two countries.

S. SCHOOL ATTENDANCE DOWN

Demoralizing effect upon minister and people alike of a growing sense of economic injustice; the influence of Sunday motoring, radio and amusements, a lack of interest on the part of parents and other adults, a lack of religious conviction and evangtlistic passion on the part of teachers and officers; and growing secularism and materialism—these were blamed for the decrease of 8.66 per cent. since 1932 in enrollment and attendance at United Church Sunday Schools, in a report being prepared today for presentation by the Board of Christian Education to the General Council of the United Church of Canada, opening in Toronto, September 21st.

"Public schools of Canada also show a decrease of 3.37 per cent." the report stated. "Other denominations show similar or still larger decreases. It is exceedingly difficult to secure an adequate number of teachers who will take their work seriously, particularly men teachers for the boys of the Sunday school."

Interest and activities among adults in the church show steady increase. Sessions and other official groups are assuming larger responsibilities for the religious life of the congregation. Adult Bible classes are gradually increasing in numbers and in usefulness. Young people's work is maintaining its high standard of organization. C. G. I. T. work is progressing favorably. Church vacation schools are reaching more than 20,000 children each summer to their great profit and enrichment in physical, social, intellectual and religious ways. One thousand leadership training groups or classes were held last year with a total enrollment of 25,000 Sunday School workers, the report states.

CANADIAN FIRMS WILL BUILD PLANES

Aircraft firms will unite in operations with plants at Toronto and Montreal to assemble bombing planes for the British Government, under a scheme agreed upon between the British Air Mission and the Canadian Government, it was learned from a reliable source at Ottawa recently. The parts for the bombers will be supplied by the Canadian manufacturers, and an independent committee will be set up to operate the new company.

The operating company will be managed, according to the informant, by a prominent Montreal executive of a pulp and paper company. The Board of Directors, who will operate the company in co-operation with the British and Canadian Governments, will compromise two Montreal bank heads and a leading industrialist of that city.

The Assembly plants will be built, one at or near Malton Airport, Toronto, and the other in the vicinity of St. Hubert Airport, Montreal. Under the scheme, although final details have not been completed, the building and equipping of the plants will be financed by a group comprising all, or most, of the Canadian banks.

GOOD CROPS IN THIS DISTRICT

Although, generally speaking, the crops in Winchester and district cannot be described as exceptional, they are very good and all things pertaining to the harvest are in excellent condition. Agricultural authorities tell us that the grain yield is excellent. The grain, in both yield and quality, is far above that of last year.

During the last while, the corn has stretched out and some fine ears have been produced and offered on the local market. The apple crop bids to be fair and roots are doing well. Pastures are dry in some places, good shape in others and, on the whole, are described as "not bad."

Threshing is pretty well completed hrough this area, and the after-harvest cultivation has progressed more than is usual at this time of year.

In fact, the whole outlook is much better than usual and farmers have no cause for complaint regarding their 1938 crops and harvest, insofar as the Winchester district is concerned.

BUY AT HOME.

One of the most essential factors in the life of any small town, and particularly those adjacent to large cities, is a hearty spirit of co-operation among the citizens. Local citizens should keep this in mind when canvassed by representatives of large business concerns in an effort to draw trade away from the local merchants.
