Dr. W. J. Blair, M. P. Rotary Speaker On 'Mediaeval Medicine'

The regular meeting of Chesterville Rotary Club was held in the Library of the Community Hall last Monday night with President F. M. Cass in the chair. Present as guests of the club were Foster Fulton of Shawinigan Falls and Cliff Butterill of Chesterville.

In the business part of the meeting, it was decided to hold the meeting next week at 5.30 so that the members could be on hand for the nomination meeting to be held the same evening at 7 o'clock.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. Butterill on behalf of the sponsor, Mr. Phillips. Dr. Blair is the member of the House of Commons for Lanark on the Progressive Conspervative side of the house. The subject of his talk was, "Mediaeval Medicine".

The world of medicine in mediaeval times was one of guessing and hoping. Medicines had to be compounded of ingredients that were rare, griping and nauseating. Bloodletting and purging were standard treatments for every ailment. In 1685 when Charles II of England suffered what now would be diagnosed as a cerebral seizure in the nature of a stroke, everything was tried on the dying king by the combined efforts of fourteen doctors. These efforts ranged from dawing off a pint of blood right away, through a series of violent purges and emetics to shaving his head and raising a huge blister on his shaven pate. The poor king lasted until morning and then succumbed.

In discussing the curious herbal and other medicines that were in common use in the old times, Dr. Blair mentioned a few. He pointed out that powdered mummy was in common use as an ointment on open wounds and sores. The blood of a virgin was a most efficacious way of quelling the raging seas. Digby's Sympathetic Powders had a great vogue for some time. They consisted of "usznia", which was the moss scraped from the head of a dead criminal hanging in chains, mixed with the fat of a eunuch. A small dollop of this ointment placed on the weapon that had caused the wound was a sure cure.

The speaker showed that a great many troubles in health of the mediaeval times was a matter of diet. Vegetables did not appear on the tables of the well-to-do and as a result meat and pastry were the main dishes with subsequent dire results to the processes of elimination. Present day science has enlightened the public and professions but the practice of herbal medicine and a small dash of witchcraft is still encountered by the doctors. Barbers are not classed as surgeons now, but many people still believe in the combination of a squaw, moonlight, and a handful of weeds to produce a cure in many cases.

The speaker was thanked on behalf of the club by Wm. Barker.

I never wonder to see men wicked, but I often wonder to see them not ashamed.—Dean Swift.

WINCHESTER TWP. COUNCIL RETURNED BY ACCLAMATION

Nominations for the council members for Winchester Township were held last Friday afternoon at Morewood. All the members of the 1948 council were re-elected by acclamation. The list is headed by Harold Durant as reeve, E. B. McMillan as deputy-reeve and councillors Basil Dawley, Kenneth Brown and William Brown.

Farm Forum Held At Home Hulbert Cross

Farm Forum News have not been published lately but forums keep on with their regular meetings. There are several new forums in our county this season, mostly in the Winchester neighborhood and all report satisfactory meetings.

S. S. No. 10, the only forum in the Chesterville area met at Hulbert Cross' last Monday night with seventeen members present. The radio broadcast attempted to determine whether or not our daily, weekly and farm papers carry the farmer's story in a satisfactory manner. The members agreed that farm activities were properly and promptly printed when reports were forwarded to the papers. It was feared that most farm organizations failed to take advantage of the co-operation offered by the newspapers by failing to send in reports.

Another topic, not on the broadcast, which received attention was co-operative medical services. Tentative plans were made to have the forum members, who so desired, join the Stor-Dun-Glen Co-operative Medical Services. This organization is comparable to the Blue Cross with the exception that the policy holders control the company, set fees and determine benefits.

Accident Insurance Sales Under Police Scrutiny Validity Questioned

Two men representing a supposedly reputable firm called the American Farmers Insurance Company of Phoenix, Arizona, spent some profitable time in this community recently and sold accident insurance policies. Checks made out to one of the agents would total somewhere between $1,600 and $1,700.

The question being asked more and more frequently these days is to wonder about the value of the policies written. Upon a little investigation these facts emerge. To our knowledge, out of the hundred odd sales made, only two policies have reached the hands of local owners. The company represented by Jackson and his friend is not registered in Canada as having posted the necessary bond that allows them to do legal business in Canada. No trace at the time of writing can be found of remittances made to the United States for either the applications for the insurance policies or for the payment of the company's money. The Provincial Police have been investigating the situation with a view to clearing it up, but to date have not put their fingers on the two fast moving gents who are selling such a bargain.

If the company and its representatives prove sound someone has bought a bargain. If on the other hand, and evidence points that way, the whole affair is a private money making scheme for a couple of smart operators, then the community is going to be out considerable money.

Nomination Meeting Monday 7 until 8 p.m.

The nomination meeting to be held Monday night in the Community Hall should be a must to attend for all members of the community. The opportunities that will be presented there for the voters of the municipality should not be overlooked if a suitable council is to be chosen for the year 1949.

The past year has seen several clouds of disagreement arise in the handling of our municipal affairs. Some of the clouds assumed a proportion that brought more attention to Chesterville than she was fond of. The chosen representatives of the community are responsible for the running of the town's affairs. Next year's managers are going to be a result of the interest shown at nominations next Monday night. Councillors must be nominated before they can be elected, and everyone has equal opportunity to get his ten cents worth at the nomination meeting. The hall should be full.

Four Club Hockey League For Coming Season

Four centres will have teams entered in the Russell-Dundas Junior Hockey League this season, as the outcome of the meeting of club representatives held last Thursday evening in Chesterville.

Gerald Helmer of Winchester, was elected president and Randall Wylie, also of Winchester, was chosen as the league's secretary-treasurer, at the enthusiastic meeting, attended by representatives from Metcalfe, Winchester, Russell and Chesterville. In addition to the president, Charles McMillan, Chesterville, was elected as the league's vice-president and Dr. F. A. Kinnard, Russell, was named honorary president.

Among the decisions reached at the meeting was a unanimous agreement on the $10 entry fee to be posted with the league secretary on or before December 8.

The single schedule will be adopted and drawn up within the next two weeks to insure all games to be completed before February 15. All teams will compete for possession of the Russell-Dundas trophy, the first and fourth and second and third standing teams playing home and home games.

A league meeting will be held in Russell on December 8, to draw up schedule.

The merchants of Chesterville have donated sweaters for the players.

Club representatives are as follows: Winchester, Harry Keyes and Gordon Coons; Russell, Ellwood Cochrane and William Hill: Chesterville, Hubert Labre and Grenville Fyke; Metcalfe, Lloyd Jackson and Hubert Conlin.

No tongue bites so deeply as an evil tongue.—Sir Philip Sidney.

UNITED EMERGENCY FUND FOR BRITAIN

Several Chesterville girls will have a happier Christmas because they helped those less fortunate than themselves.

Donalda McLean, Shirley McPhail, Denise Brady, Kay and Patsy Durant, Joan Hamilton, Miriam Gilroy, Betty Merkley, Sheila Morris and Pauline Faubert braved unpleasant weather receiving $58.69 as tag proceeds and special donations received by the secretary-treasurer of the W.I. brought this sum to $82.04.

The campaign does not close until December 6th, so any contribution, large or small, will be gratefully received by Mrs. B. Campbell. Special thanks to Mrs. Casselman for boxes and Mrs. D. C. Campbell.

FURTHER NEWS ON DARLING FATALITY

Further news on the Garfield Darling accident of November 20, has reached members of the late Mr. Darling's family in Grantley, in the form of clipping from the Potsdam papers. It seems that the fatal accident occurred when the 1946 Ford crashed into the side of a train at a level crossing. The car was thrown down a steep embankment into a ditch filled with water. The three passengers of the car were thrown out and the car demolished. Mr. Darling suffered a fractured skull.

Eric Casselman Again President Dundas Federation Agriculture

The Federation of Agriculture for Dundas County held its sixth annual meeting at Winchester town hall, Thursday afternoon, with a large representative gathering from the whole county present, Eric Casselman of Chesterville, presided with Donald Robertson secretary. Chief topics discussed were cooperative medical care, and automobile insurance, which were enthusiastically introduced by the principal speaker, Wm. Legault of Moose Creek, secretary of the Stormont Federation. Others who spoke included Arthur Stewart, president of the Ontario Federation.

Mr. Legault said that if farmers would get behind their own organizations in the way labor members supported theirs, they would be assured of more success in their undertakings. The formation of junior clubs was an important function of the Federation, in order to encourage young farmers and keep them on farms. Mr. Legault outlined the formation for the Stor-Dun-Glen Co-operative Medical Association, providing hospital care for farmers.

Members of the Dundas County Federation were urged to support their own local medical association, shortly to be formed. Eric Casselman, the president of the federation stressed the urgency of the continuation of calf vaccination which had been so successful through the county. The success of the T.B. testing program was proved by the fact that only one reactor had been reported. He called for suggestions regarding the Nation River Authority. Mahlon Zeron of Iroquois, president of the South Nation Valley Authority recommended changes to control floods, suggesting that dams and reservoirs be built, and the Nation river dredged west of Chesterville.

Mr. Casselman said the cooperation of farmers situated along the river would be necessary, in reforesting, to check spring floods.

PATIENT IN HOSPITAL

The many friends of Mrs. T. O. Keyes will be sorry to learn that she is again a patient in the Cornwall General Hospital. While her condition has shown some improvement, she is still in a cretical state.

When he fell at his home on Caleb Street, last week, Mr. T. O. Keyes sustained three fractured ribs, which will keep him confined to his home for some time. He was attended by Dr. H. S. Gross. Mr. Keyes' many friends will wish him a speedy and completed recovery.—Winchester Press.

St. Andrews W.M.S Thankoffering Service

The annual Thankoffering service of St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society was held in the church Wednesday evening, November 24, with Miss Jamieson presiding. The service opened with invocation by the president and doxology. Mrs. L. Feeley and Mrs. Geo. Crawford took the devotional period followed by hymn "Zion's King shall reign victorious". The words of welcome were given by the president.

The Women's Missionary Society presented a Life Membership Certificate to one of its Home Helpers, Mrs. C. Weegar who is spending the winter with her daughter in Kingston, a former member and staunch supporter of the St. Andrew's church and W.- was accepted by her daughter, Mrs. wac accepted by her daughter, Mrs. Irwin Cross and was presented by the 1st Vice-pres., Mrs. Jay Bailey. Four Junior Certificates were donated by the Sunshine Mission Band to Florence Daniels, Ola Stata, Audrey Fyke and Audrey Baindesse, the presentation was in charge of Mrs. Rob. Barrie. The dedicatory prayer by Rev. W. H. Heustin.

The offering was presented by Miss Jean Feeley and Mrs. Heustin of the McKay-Douglas Auxiliary.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Ross of Iroquois. She deeply impressed her audience by her plain speaking. The theme of her address was "Stewardship". She touched on most of the Presbyterian Mission fields and their workers not forgetting what was expected by God of the workers in Canada if foreign work is to go on successfully. Following the splendid address her husband, Rev. J. C. Ross showed slides of the British Isles taken while they were there this year and ten years ago. Needless to say they were enjoyed by all, especially those who were present and had come from the British Isles. Mr. Ross threw on a beautiful picture of the King and Queen and all rose for the National Anthem.

Mrs. J. A. Munro was in charge of the service of song, besides the regular thankoffering hymns by the choir a duet was sung "Nearer my God to Thee" by Mrs. Black and Mrs. Cross. A solo "The Lord's Prayer" by Doreen Cross, a granddaughter of Mrs. Weegar.

The words of apprecitiaon and thanks to Rev. and Mrs. Ross and all others who assisted with the services were given by Mr. Heustin and the president.

Hymn "O God of Bethel" and prayer closed a very successful Thankoffering service of 1948.

Into Thy love shall all Thy people come
With glad thanksgiving at the honest home.

"IRON CURTAIN" TAUT, TRUE DRAMA OF AMAZING PLOT

From out of the A-bomb spy headlines that startled the nation a short two years ago, Twentieth Century-Fox has ripped a film story of tremendous power and absorbing interest. Starring Dana Andrews and Gene Tierney with an excellent supporting cast, "The Iron Curtain," which opens Monday, December 6, at the Community Theatre, Chesterville, sets the screen ablaze with taut drama and high excitement as it unfolds its story of the most amazing plot in 3300 years of recorded intrigue.

Milton Krims' screenplay provides an exciting and suspenseful excursion into the dark, subterranean world of espionage and international intrigue. It is a world peopled by master minds and analysts, agents and counter-agents, contacts, couriers and others —big people and small—who are engaged in what is a major industry in the fabulous game of power politics. And the fact that the prize in this instance is the secret of the A-bomb itself, keys the film's interest to this moment, heightening its excitement with every tick of the watch on your wrist.

Unusual Drama

Against the complex pattern of modern espionage, there emerges the gripping human drama of a young man and his wife who, as they become more deeply involved in the mesh of intrigue, are to take the step that is to drastically alter the course of their lives. It remains for this couple—portrayed by Dana Andrews and Gene Tierney—overwhelmed by doubts they never knew could exist, to blow the sensational plot wide open, and in so doing, condemn themselves to a life of fear and hiding. It is the combination of gripping drama and the fascinating and suspenseful machinations of the amazing spy plot that makes for thrilling and unusual entertainment from start to finish.

Dana Andrews brings all the force of his fine acting talent to bear in his portrayal of the bewildered and harassed code clerk, while Miss Tierney is at her best as his determined and courageous wife. June Havoc provides a refreshingly unstereotyped portrayal of a modern counter-espionage agent, while in other important roles outstanding performances are provided by Berry Kroeger, Edna Best, Stefan Schnabel, Nicholas Joy, Eduard Franz and Frederic Tozere.

Hope had been held out until the very last for his recovery and return home therefore it was with deep regret when this community learned of his passing.

He was born March 13th, 1870, a son of the late Mr. Richard Merkley and his wife Fanny Munro. He lived all his life and died on the farm where his grandfather a U. E. Loyalist, one of the first pioneer families of the township located here, then a dense wilderness with only bush trails and a canoe on the river for transportation.

Although the late Mr. Merkley had not been in the best of health for the past two years he gave what assistance he could to his son. Recently he decided to go and have X-rays which resulted in the operation from which he failed to recover.

As a young man he saw all the work on the farm done the hard way, but lived to enjoy the conveniences of all modern machinery and electricity.

The deceased was known by the people of the surrounding country to be a man upright, honorable, hospitable and charitable which made him many friends and a gracious man has gracious friendships.

That he has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often, and loved much, who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of little children, who has finished his course and accomplished his task, who can leave the world better than he found it. The late Mr. Merkley will be remembered for the good he has done and the sacrifices he has made. The influence of his life he leaves to his family. A wonderful heritage. He was a public spirited man who took a lively interest in his community so much so that while he was on the trustee board he favored beatuifying the school and grounds and with that object in view he and his daughter laboured early and late on the landscaping and with the community and board they were awarded three times the silver cup for the finest equipped school and grounds in Eastern Ontario. After that he decided to improve his home surroundings which later proved to be a beauty spot that drew horticulturists and others from far and near to see the magnificent farm flower garden.

He was a valued member of the Red Cross Society during the 1st Great War. When the district awarded bronze tablets to the parents in memory of their sons who had served and paid the supreme sacrifice he advocated that a cenotaph should be erected on the school grounds, a remembrance worthy of the fallen heroes, and there it stands a lasting tribute of a community's love.

The deceased was a staunch conservative and held many offices in his party. A member of Trinity United Church.

The funeral obsequies were held from his late residence to the United Church, Chesterville, Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m., November 24,1948. Rev. Mr. Wright spoke comforting words from the text found in St. John Ch. 14, "I will not leave you comfortless, I will come to you". A solo was contributed by Mrs. George G. Merkley, "Where They Ring The Golden Bells For You And Me". Hymns "Abide With Me" and "Forever With The Lord" were sung. Rev. Vowles of Winchester Springs United Church assisted.

There are left to mourn a loving husband and dear father, his wife, two daughters, Lenora (Mrs. Harry Holmes), Miss Eileen, and one son Lloyd at home and five grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Arthur Bailey, Chesterville and brother Enos Merkley, Nation Valley, and seven nieces. His twin brother Dr. Ellis Merkley predeceased his in 1911.

The immortal spirit hath no bars
To circumscribe the dwelling place
My soul has pastured with the stars
Upon the meadow lands of space
And high above the seas and lands
On peaks just tipped with morning light
My dauntless spirit mutely stands
With eagle wings outspread for flight.

MOREWOOD UNITED CHURCH

The services on Sunday were conducted by the minister, with the Rev. W. E. S. James, M.A., B.D. of the Ontario Temperance Federation as special speaker. The morning sermon was based on the text Matt 7;24-25, "Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken unto a wise man who built his house upon a rock, and the rain descended, and the floods came and the winds blew, and beat upon that house, and it fell not for it was founded upon a rock." Just as an edifice must have a good architect, a good foundation, sound material and excellent workmanship, so good individual and national character must be foundations. Materialism alone is not sufficient. The great Architect and His plans must be recognized and obeyed. No government can build a great nation on profits from the sale or liquor.

The theme of the evening sermon was the effects of liquor on the brain cells and the reactions, physical, mental and moral resulting from numbing of the brain by liquor. The frontal part of the brain is first affected, and may cease to function while the parts of the brain that control the physical and movie processes may be active. The first affected is that part of the brain which is distinctly human, while the parts of the brain that man shares in common with animals may remain active. Thus man under the influence of liquor with only the frontal brain affected is reduced to the level of the beast and as such becomes a source of danger to human security, since the drunk individual is temporarily insane.

Two film strips were shown. One entitled "Dollars and Sense". Showing how gambling, smoking and liquor took much money from people who were thus deprived of material and cultural good that the same money wisely spent could procure. The other entitled "The Chance of a Lifetime", stressing safety precautions by obeying the rules of traffic which should be known and practiced by all. There is great danger from drivers under the influence, since alcohol blurs the vision, slows up physical reaction and increases the danger of accident on city streets and country roads.

The anthem in the morning was "Peace Be Still" James Shaw and Mrs. Popplewell taking the duet parts. In the evening, "He Is Mine".

Many Friends Attend Funeral Of Late Mrs. John Hanes

The funeral service for Mrs. John Hanes, who passed away suddenly at her home in Iroquois, on Tuesday morning, was held at the United Church, Williamsburg, Thursday afternoon. The pastor, Rev. Gerald Fee officiated, and chose as his text "My Peace I Leave With You." He was assisted by Rev. Maitland of Morrisburg Presbyterian Church, who read from First Corinthians 15th Chapter, Verses 50 to 58.

During the service Mrs. Lorne Hogoboam and Mr. Gerald Adams sang very feelingly, "Waiting on Jesus". Other hymns used were "Abide with Me" and "Peace, Perfect Peace". After the service the members of the Matilda Rebekah Lodge performed the last rights of the order.

A kind and helpful neighbor to all in the community, the great number of floral tributes and the large number who attended the service told of the esteem in which she was held and the regret for her sudden passing.

She was a faithful member of the Matilda Women's Institute and a member of Matilda Rebekah Lodge.

Mrs. Hanes was born at Elma in 1895, the daughter of the late Daniel Beckstead and his wife Bella Henderson, and was one of a family of three daughters. She was educated in the schools of the Township and later moved with her parents to Chesterville. Following the death of her father she returned to the farm at Elma. She was married in 1917 to John Hanes who survives with one son, Donald, at home. Other survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Ernest Walsh of Vancouver and Mrs. Albert Beattie of Ottawa.

McLean and Saul Saslove, all of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Barkley, Mrs. Winnie Casselman and daughter Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. Foster McMillan, all of Montreal; Mrs. Sheets, Farrans Point, and George Beckstead of Aultsville.

"Darling," said the Hollywood bride, entering her new home with her new husband, "this house looks familiar. Are you sure we haven't been married before?"

Mr. Pickwick Found Jailed in the Pound

BARDELL VS. PICKWICK—the unhappy but righteous Mr. Pickwick, defendant in the famous breach-of-Promise case, is seen in the office of the lawyers Dodson and Fogg. (An illustration by "Phiz" from The Pickwick Papers.)

Many's the time Mr. Pickwick had passed the village pound near Dingley Dell and felt sorry for the assortment of woebegone livestock languishing there in the mud. But sorry was no word for his feelings the day he woke up from a comfortable snooze—induced by quarts of cold punch—to find himself prone on a wheelbarrow in the pound, rubbing elbows with stray cats, returning the insolent stares of many dogs, and striking up a nodding acquaintance with some disreputable-looking geese.

And to make matters worse, hoodlums were collecting around the pound, bawling insults at poor Mr. Pickwick's dejected little figure shut up inside. "For shame, Guv'ner, 'ere's something to keep you company!" cried one, as a large and smelly egg broke over Mr. Pickwick's chubby features.

But before long the redoubtable Sam Weller descended on the pound and covered up Mr. Pickwick's embarrassment with loud Cockney threats for the assembled mob.

Going home to Manor Farm, in the reassuring company of his host, Mr. Wardle, faithful Sam, and the other Pickwickians, Mr. Pickwick learned the reason for his shameful experience:

Early that morning, when Mr. Wardle had suggested a bit of shooting and a cold lunch on One Tree Hill, everyone leapt at the chance for frisking about in the bracing air and absorbing some of the famous Wardle punch. Even Mr. Pickwick, lame as he was with a sudden attack of rheumatism, went along, trundled in a wheelbarrow powered by Sam Weller.

As they sat exhausted but happily eating, not one of the party gave a thought to the fact that they were trespassing on the land of that fierce little military man, Captain Boldwig. Mr. Pickwick twinkled merrily, comfortably awash with punch, and Mr. Winkle was even emboldened to suggest more shooting. As they were leaving, Mr. Pickwick's gentle snorts attracted their attention and they decided to let him sleep awhile.

And that's where Captain Boldwing and his keeper found him, cuddled up in the wheelbarrow, looking less like a trespasser with every breath. The Captain felt duty-bound to assert his position and arrest the interloper—after all, his wife's sister was a marquis. So he had little Mr. Pickwick, still asleep, wheeled down to the village and installed in the pound.

"We seem destined to enter no man's house without involving him in some degree of trouble," reflected Mr. Pickwick hours later, little guessing that Fate's evil eye was still fixed on him. At that moment he received a nasty letter from the lawyers Dodson and Fogg, stating that they had been instructed by Mrs. Martha Bardell (Mr. Pickwick's landlady) to commence action against him for a breach of promise of marriage, for which the plaintiff placed her damages at fifteen hundred pounds.

"It's a conspiracy, a base conspiracy" fumed Mr. Pickwick, bouncing up and down on the sofa. But while he kept insisting that the whole affair was simply ridiculous, he couldn't help remembering that Mr. Winkle and Mr. Tupman had once come upon Mrs. Bardell reclining in his arms while he "soothed her anguished tears away." And when he saw that Winkle and Tupman couldn't help remembering, too, he felt very shaky indeed, and determined to go right round to see Dodson and Fogg without further ado.

If you're on hand when the Pickwick Club meets Monday, December 6th, you'll hear more about Mr. Pickwick's hunting experiences—in the fields of rabbits and grouse, and love. Broadcast time is 8.00 p.m. on Dominion.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Gift shopping should be done according to plan. Too often we are carried away at the last moment by the "on the spot glamour" of expensive, impractical gadgets. Do not be too easily diverted from the items on your shopping list.

Take time to consider what the recipient will think of the gift two weeks after Christmas. A high priced article is even more costly if it has beauty but lacks durability. For example, a blouse for your sister: a solid colour will cost more than white in the identical material while a print design will cost more again. It requires an additional process to add colour and the dye itself costs extra while the design in the print costs still more. Quoting a merchandising expert, our friend suggested that we should consider, whether usefulness and decorativeness balance each other.

Your key to intrinsic value lies in the answers to three basic questions: Of what is it made? Secondly, how is it made? Thirdly, what is the quality of workmanship?

To help on busy shopping days, we suggest quick cooking dishes, that will save electricity too.

Liver and Onions.
Scalloped Tomatoes.
Gingerbread Muffins and Applesauce.

Cream Potato-Cheese Soup.
Cold Meat and Macedoine Canned Vegetables.

REQUESTED RECIPES

Mrs. T. G. asks for:

Glazed Fruits

2 cups sugar, 1 cup water, 2|3 cup light corn syrup, small fruits or sections of larger fruits or whole nuts.

Make a syrup of the sugar, water and corn syrup. Boil, without stirring, to the hard crack stage (300 degrees). Remove the saucepan from the element and put it into an outer pan of boiling water to keep the syrup from hardening. Drop in the well drained fruit or the nut-meats, a few at a time. Skim out and place on heavy waxed paper to dry.

Mr. R. F. asks for:

Holiday Fudge

2 cups white sugar, ½ cup corn syrup, ½ cup water, ¾ cup candied cherries, 2 eggwhites, ¾ cup blanched almonds, 1 tablespoon almond or lemon extract.

Put the sugar, water and corn syrup into a saucepan. Stir it while it dissolves over the heat, then let it boil without stirring to the light crack (265 degrees). While it is cooking, beat the whites of eggs stiffly and when the syrup is ready pour it over them, beating constantly. Cool slightly (on window sill). Beat until creamy, add nuts, cherries and extract, and pour into buttered tins.

Mrs. M. J. asks for:

Butter Scotch Stick

¼ cup butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 egg, ¼ cup broken pecan meats, 1 cup sifted flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

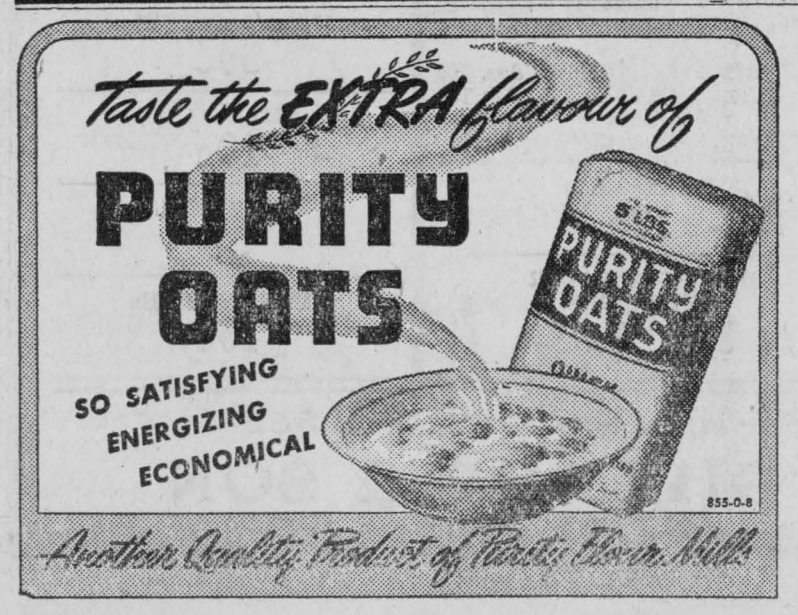

Melt butter in a saucepan, add sugar and when well blended remove from the electric element and cool, in the saucepan, until lukewarm. Add unbeaten eggs to mixture and beat well. Mix flour, salt and baking powder, and add to the sugar mixture; then add the nut meats and vanilla. Spread the mixture in a shallow pan lined with plain paper which has been greased. Bake 30 minutes in a hot electric oven (400 to 450 degrees). While hot, cut into strips an inch wide and four inches long. This recipe makes about two dozen.

Mrs. S. S. asks for:

Gingerbread

½ cup shortening, ½ cup boiling water, 1 cup molasses, 1½ teaspoons ginger, 1 teaspoon soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2½ cups flour.

Melt the shortening in the boiling water. Add molasses. Sift the dry ingredients together and add them to the mixture. Beat vigorously. Put in a greased muffin tin and bake in an electric oven (350 to 375 degrees) 25 minutes.
