Plant Contribution To Be $5000 For Dam

The intention to donate $5,000 to the building of a permanent dam here was made public this week by the manager of the local plant of Nestlé (Canada) Limited, G. W. Gilbert. Mr Gilbert pointed out the donation hinges on a decision to be made by the ratepayers of the village. If they accept the cost of the project, expected to be in the neighbourhood of $50,000, then the company will make the contribution.

The proposed new dam would be placed in the river about 50 feet lower down river than the present dam. It would be of stop-log construction so the flood flow would not be impeded, but it would be one foot higher than the present dam; this would raise the water level in the western reach of the river to Irwin Baker's farm, just east of the Nation River bridge.

The cost of the new project still depends on a lot of "if's and "but's." Preliminary engineering costs are in the neighbourhood of $50,000 but that figure is flexible downward. It is assumed also the Province of Ontario will pay half the initial cost, and with the milk company covering $5,000, the yearly debenture payment by village taxpayers would be only a matter of a very few dollars.

No action will be taken by council until engineering surveys are complete; then tenders can be called, and a final figure arrived at to be ratified by a referendum of the tax payers here.

Conservatives to Choose Ont. House Candidate At Convention

A Conservative convention will be held next month in Spencerville to pick a candidate for the provincial elections expected to be called early next spring. F. M. Cass, Q.C., and present MPP for Grenville-Dundas, has signified his intention to allow his name to stand. He is the present Minister of Highways for Ontario.

An executive meeting, well attended, was held this week in the I.O.O.F. Hall at South Mountain. At the meeting it was decided that the convention be held on November 25 at Spencerville with the delegates registering between 7.30 and 8.30 p.m. It was felt early winter would be the best time to hold the convention before roads become too snowbound and uncertain. General opinion has it that a provincial election will be called early in the spring of 1959.

Local Hydro Pensions off Maintenance Man

Chas. Marcell handed in his resignation Monday night to Chesterville Hydro System. It was away back in July, 1913, when Marcell first worked on the village system. At that time he helped install the first rural and village lines. When the town took over its own distribution system in 1919 he became the village maintenance man. He has held the position ever since.

Following standard municipal practice, Marcell was offered an allowance of $100 a month for the rest of his life; he will retire on December 31. No decision has been made for a successor.

The system business was limited to the decision on the resignation and the passing of minutes and accounts. An easement payment was authorized to Hilton Reid for the location of a brace wire and deadman on his property.

All members of council were present but like hydro, business was light. Bylaws were passed to name polling places and DRO's and poll clerks if there are municipal elections. Names entered are Jack Doering, DRO, B. Gillard, clerk, Poll No. 1; Ronald Lynch, DRO, Mrs Al Kilby, poll clerk, Poll No. 2.

Lakeland Gas Company asked that their village franchise be extended for another two years. This was done. There is no word when natural gas will be available in the district.

The zoning by-law problem came up again and council will endeavour to have a meeting with the village solicitor to get one drawn up before the end of the year.

The following accounts were passed and paid:

Village Accounts

Harry C. Hummel, petty cash, $8.20; Bruce Hartwell, sewers, $6.50; Grant Elliott, sewers, $11.84; Harold Loughridge, sewers, $70; Ross Stata, labour, $18; Chas. McMillan, selecting jurors and travelling, $17.75; Hosea Droppo, selecting jurors, $2; H. C. Private Daniel P. Laflamme

Private Daniel Paul Laflamme, 17, son of Mr and Mrs George Laflamme, Chesterville, has enlisted in the Army and is now completing his depot training with the Princess Patricia's Light Infantry at Griesbach, Alberta. Private Laflamme attended Chesterville High School prior to his enlistment.

Chesterville Branch of Canadian Cancer Society Meet Mrs G. W. Gilbert Gives Report of Toronto Convention

A meeting of the Canadian Cancer Society, Chesterville branch, was held in the library October 21, with 16 members present from Crysler, Morewood, Berwick and Chesterville. Cecil Carr was in charge of the meeting and reports were read by the secretary, the treasurer and the welfare committee.

Mrs G. W. Gilbert, delegate to the convention of the Women's Service Committee of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Cancer Society, held recently in the Lord Simcoe Hotel, Toronto, reported the following facts to the meeting:

There are 52 units of the Canadian Cancer Society in Ontario; $1,500,000 has been raised in Ontario for research and treatment of cancer patients.

Funds amounting to $25,000 were raised from "In Memoriam" cards alone.

The sum of $300,000 has been set aside for bursaries and fellowships. To receive a fellowship, a man or woman must have an M.D. degree. A bursary may be granted to a nurse, a medical student or someone in research. Thirty-three fellowships were given in Ontario this year and 24 bursaries. The time spent in using these funds ranges from six weeks to year, or two or three years per individual.

Two hostels have ben built, one in Toronto and one in Hamilton, where out-patients may stay for $4 a day and go to the hospital for treatment.

The Ontario Cancer Foundation will pay transportation for needy patients to the nearest clinic when the physician has confirmed the appointment. The physician may also recommend that an escort attend a very ill patient and the return fare of the escort will be paid by the unit.

Home care will be provided for a patient in extreme need, with no other help available, for one month or a nurse for two weeks.

The Princess Margaret Hospital was officially opened late in September by Premier Frost, built by the Ontario government at a cost of between six and seven million dollars. Its use is exclusively for cancer care and research. It contains a radiation room fitted with a machine similar to the Cobalt Bomb but even more powerful. The operating rooms are used only for minor surgery in connection with diagnostic work. Research scientists from all over the world are working in this hospital. It has seven storeys and a basement and 87 beds, 60% used for patient care and 40% for research.

Mrs F. Moriarty thanked Mrs Gilbert for the fine report and, after a discussion of facts brought out in the report, Mrs Shaver moved that the meeting adjourn.

Legion Draw Winner Local Man

David Zewuster, a woodworker employed at Shutte Sash and Door Factory, held the winning ticket on the new Pontiac given as first prize in the annual Legion drawing here Friday night. He had purchased his ticket from Jimmy Campbell, thus James came in for a small piece of loot in the shape of fifty iron men. Zewuster did not own a car before Friday night.

We understand the winning ticket number was 0301.

The regular bingo saw many lucky winners. A good crowd filled the auditorium, the theatre and the clerk's office. Aside from an occasional faulty loudspeaker the whole affair went along very smoothly.

The winners were:

Harold Windsor, clothes hamper; Mrs Willis Harper, radio; Mrs Carl Merkley, step table; Mrs D. Young, stainless steel cookware; Garland Sharkey, telephone desk; Henry Feeley, ironing board; Mrs Krisjanis, electric fry pan; Peter Lightfoot, lazy susan; Ken Carruthers, table lamp.

Specials: Mrs Cliff Kendrick, chrome set; Evelyn Carr, platform rocker; Mrs Henry Parker, bedroom suite. The door prize of $20 was won by Steven Gilbert.

Rotary Hears Ed Pearson On Duties and Problems Of County Ag. Rep.

Monday night at Chesterville Rotary Club the members listened with interest to a talk given by Ed Pearson, agricultural representative for Dundas county. He was introduced by Allison Graham and thanked by Hubert McCloskey. President Mel Baker was in the chair.

The speaker outlined many of the duties of the ag. rep. He also traced some of the history of the service in the counties of the province and told several local anecdotes and incidents that proved of interest.

A review of farmers' problems in the county touched many subjects. The need for more tile drainage is evident on every side, although the necessary funds to do it are not so evident, the speaker showed. A solid dairy economy is so closely tied to the price of a can of milk, there is often not enough profit left to enter into an $80-per-acre project.

Mr Pearson felt the practice of sowing low grade seed should be revised among the farmers of the county. With certified and registered seed available to all with a guaranteed yield, he felt the use of rejected and low commercial grades in the seed drills was very poor economy.

The speaker concluded his address with words of praise for the voluntary workers and organizations who help with 4-H work. He commended Chesterville Rotary and the committee members who sponsor the Poultry Club for their good work.

St. Luke's Explorers Hold Hallowe'en Party At Finch

The Explorers group of St. Luke's Presbyterian Church, Finch, held a Hallowe'en party in the Sunday School room on Friday evening under the convenership of counsellors Miss Vera MacLean and Mrs Carl Waldroff. The Children of the Church and their leaders were guests.

Black cats, witches, pumpkins and Hallowe'en streamers decorated the room. After the masquerade parade prizes were given for the best costumes to Brenda Waldroff, witch; Valerie MacMillan, satellite pilot; Kenneth MacDougall, tramp, and Wesley Bell, Peter Rabbit.

Several games, contests and a treasure hunt were enjoyed under the convenership of Janie MacDougall and Bonnie Flegg. Elaine Graham played a beautiful accordian solo.

A short worship service was conducted by Miss Vera MacLean. Scripture was read by Barbara Smith, followed with prayer by Shirley Wiseman. Mrs Carl Waldroff was pianist.

Lunch was served and Hallowe'en treats distributed to 22 children.

Officers of the Explorer group recently elected for the fall term were: Elaine Graham, Chief Explorer; Heather MacLeod, vice president; Judy Ouderkirk, Keeper of the Log; Shirley Wiseman, Keeper of the Treasure.

Beavers at Rideau Demolishing Trees

Beavers have invaded properties of cottagers in the Osgoode-Lighthouse district of the Rideau river. They have felled poplar trees in front of some of the cottages at Little Chesterville although to date the damage is mostly on Winchester and Mountain property owners.

Dudley Craig's cottage, next to the W. O. Dixon "Dixondale" cottage, lost a six-inch poplar last week. The tree was in the centre of the lawn facing the river. The rodents felled it towards the water. The adjoining cottage of Lorne Armstrong, of South Mountain, lost several smaller poplars and another cottager had a trimming job done on a clumb of birch.

Over the weekend Chesterville owners rushed to the river laden with wire netting, old stove pipes and a miscellany of armour guaranteed to discourage industrious beavers. Property trees look like knights of old caught with their tin pants down.

OPINIONS . . .
OURS AND OTHERS

Hallowe'en 1958

Tomorrow night witches will float greasily about on their twiggy brooms providing free taxi service to innumerable black cats. Solitary owls will blink at rattling spectres and graveyards will be as lively as a glass of Alka Seltzer.

Tomorrow night will find the young of Chesterville out to test the generosity of householders; their thump on the veranda will mean the end of more apples, peanuts, popcorn and candy kisses. Dozens of stomach aches will be collected before the rush dies down. The village will finally subside into an uneasy sleep until the real nighthawks take off. Then will occur the yearly rat-race between Constable Shane and those characters bent on filling the village square with junk. Len will be as busy as the fabled paperhanger, but there is no doubt others will be busier.

It is to be hoped pranksters use some common sense. There is little fun in removing steps and inviting disaster to some older person; there is not any fun at all in finding masses of soap over windows and paint.

Hallowe'en is a time for fun, but let's temper the fun with some common sense. Let those with prankish notions wonder who will have to clean up the mess they make and repair the damage they do.

Dam Progress

This week was verified a fact we have had knowledge of for some time. While the knowledge was based almost entirely on rumour, the soundness of the rumour was most authoritative. We are glad indeed to be able to publish this week the fact that Nestlé's will donate $5,000 towards the building of a new permanent dam if the expenditure is ratified by the ratepayers.

Chesterville's dam has been the subject of considerable comment for the past few weeks; the South Nation River Authority is so much interested in it they have authorized an engineering survey made and preliminary drawings of a possible structure to suit conditions here. Their approval of the project also would almost certainly mean the Ontario government would take on fifty percent of the cost of the dam with the town doing the rest.

In a letter to the "Record" printed this week councillor Al Butcher outlines some of the reasons the town needs the village dam. He also notes in rough figures what it would cost the average taxpayer if the scheme goes through. Incidentally the Nestlé assessment, now off the fixed list for the first in ten years, will pick up nearly one-half of the cost of any project that is undertaken by the town fathers.

There is little need to stress further the value of a permanent dam structure for our river. From a practical aesthetic or economic point of view the dam would add considerably to our capital value. It would also serve as a vital unit in the total picture of conservation in the whole of the Nation watershed.

A-Hunting We Will Go

This is the time of the year when the men are separated from the boys and all of a sudden there are more boys around than we can cope with.

This is the time of the year when the usual greeting to more than two gathered at the village pump is: "How many have you shot now?" or "Got your trigger finger oiled?"

There is something about the approach of the deer season that awakens the boy in half the male population of Chesterville and district. The call of the woods is so strong just about now even broken-down editors with a crick in their backs will suddenly become real kind to their hired help and organize more window washing and storm sash brigades than the lady of the skillet ever thought possible. Just about every plumber, garageman, plant foreman and politician about will take to the woods next weekend for a more or less lengthy stay in the bush.

The net outcome of the communing with Nature will be a limited amount of reasonably expensive meat for the deep freezer; there will be a sneaking desire to get back to the kind of pie one gets at home, and after two weeks of bush life, even the pines need a bath.

The people who don't hunt deer, or anything for that matter, shudder to think of the cruelties inflicted on defenceless animals. Far be it from us to deny anyone a righteous shudder. We do know that the human animals we meet on the bush trails are better for their outing away from the voices of conscience and direction. In this modern world of togetherness, it sometimes helps perspective and appreciation to get closer to elementals; a deer camp in the north country is as elemental as anything we know.

FRENDLEE FARM CHATS

By Lillian Allison

Few people, I think, are more deserving of a hearty pat on the back than the New Canadians who have come to our land and have become good, prosperous, happy citizens. I and a lot of people I know wouldn't have the courage to do what many of them have done.

Believe me, I was all ears when the people who stayed with us a few weeks ago told of some of their experiences. I hope they didn't think me nosey when I asked so many questions. For I was interested—very interested.

"You didn't know any English when you arrived here," I said to one chap when he was telling some of the things that happened to him.

"Jst 'Yes, no, please' that was about all. I had a dictionary and had to find in English the word I wanted to say and try to pronounce it." And he told me a very amusing story of an incident that had happened when he arrived in Halifax and how by mispronouncing a word he had been involved in a very embarrassing situation.

"And I didn't learn much English the first year either," he said, "for I worked in a lumber camp where there were men from all over the world each talking a different language. I finally had to go to night school to learn it."

One lady was telling me about an illness she'd had since coming to Canada. The doctor had told her she had to go to bed for two months. Her husband was away from Monday to Friday every week. She was a stranger in Toronto without a relative in this whole country to lend a helping hand. No one cared except the boss' wife who lived some distance away and the landlady who did what she could. And I wondered how I could face a situation like that.

Then the immigrants who come from central Europe have always the worry and concern for their friends and relatives whom they have left behind the Iron Curtain. "My father was a very public-spirited man, always active in politics," one of our guests said. "Now there is nothing left for him. He just spends his time with his books."

"I have never been home since I came to Canada 20 years ago," one lady said. "And I shall never go back. I couldn't stand it. They keep writing me to come for a visit but I keep putting them off. 'We're too busy. My husband can't get away.' I keep making excuses for of course I can't write the real reasons. We think many of the letters are censored." And she told me of an event that had occurred back home that would break any sister's heart.

He and his wife could have gone to Australia, South America of the U.S.A. but they wanted to come to Canada, one of our guests told me. They waited three years at D.P.'s but there seemed no opening to come here. Finally he heard the Canadian government was looking for men to go to a lumber camp. He went to see the official. The official looked at him and laughed. They wanted big men for the lumber camp. Eventually, however, the contract was signed and he started for Caanda the land of promise, leaving his wife with a friend in England.

The lumber camp was 250 miles north of Winnipeg. The snow was deeper than he could have imagined. It was piled up along the sides of the road until it was higher than the bus. "How do you cut trees in snow like that?" the stranger wondered.

He had $1.50 when he arrived in Canada. He worked for a year in the camp, paid his bed and board and bought a ticket for Toronto. When he arrived there he had 50 cents. But he was in Canada and his wife would come soon. What more could he ask?

The young chap from France found life a little easier, I think. Two years ago he had saved enough money for a trip home. One thing he insisted on, the other salesman told me, was that he take along his car—a 1951 model. The boss argued. The young fellow insisted. Finally he and the car were aboard the steamer bound for France.

When he landed he found that gas was so expensive (about $10 a gallon) he couldn't afford to drive it. So he simply parked it and brought his friends to see it. That was his reason for taking it anyway. It was a symbol of his success.

And my hat goes off to the new Canadians who can conquer the problems of language, customs, loneliness, etc., and become good, prosperous, happy citizens.

Letter to the Editor

Chesterville, Ontario,
October 27, 1958.

Editor,
The Chesterville Record,
Chesterville, Ontario.

Dear Sir:

The long discussed, often criticized and often advocated permanent dam for Chesterville has finally reached a point where all that is required is the approval of the ratepayers of this community for its ultimate completion.

As has been noted in the local newspaper, the cost of this project would be in the vicinity of $50,000, with the Ontario government paying 50% of the total sum. This of course leaves the town of Chesterville the sum of $25,000 to pay. It has been recently confirmed that the Nestlé (Canada) Ltd. plant will, on the approval of the project, donate the sum of $5,000 towards its construction.

The question now may be asked, "Why do we need a permanent dam in Chesterville?" In answer to this, there are several disputable points. I will not attempt to avoid the fact that in the past and at present Nestlé (Canada) Ltd. has been dependent upon the river as a source of water for its continued operation; but, there are many families in this comunity who are dependent on the continued operation of the Nestlé plant, many of whom are not direct ratepayers and are not entitled to vote for or against a permanent dam. For the future success and expansion of this town, I think that they should be given every consideration.

In the past, for the benefit of all, we have been blessed with a source of water for fire fighting purposes, which not only gives us all a feeling of contentment and security but low insurance rates.

The question has been asked (and I quote) "Why do we not look to sewage disposal rather than a permanent dam " My stock answer to this is in the form of a question, "How can you operate a sewage disposal plant without water?" Some answers to this question are, drill wells!

Now I ask you: Can you fish in wells? Can you float a boat in wells? Can you justify the cost of drilling these proposed wells when we have, in my opinion, a far better future potential for water in the river? Will a well or wells that might possibly give us an adequate supply of water improve the appearance of our town? Will wells improve or assist conservation of water in this area, or for that matter, in Ontario?

Let's face it! Water from down below has to come from above. To my mind, water down 600 feet doesn't look as good as water on the surface, in a river lined with trees and disturbed by pleasure-seeking potential sailors.

In the long-range plan of the South Nation Authority, it is hoped that in the very near future the Rideau River will be tapped into the Nation to give a year 'round flow. The details for this proposal are not at present available but it is an ever-present possibility that we cannot afford to miss.

Chesterville Dam, in my estimation, is just another step towards completion of a dream of many conservation minded people in our community who have worked so hard to see its completion.

For you fishermen, there has been some talk of removing the Crysler Dam and relocating it below the bridge. If my memory serves me right, fish and game men in this district have always maintained that if the fish gate at Crysler was operative, we would be well away for a weekend's entertainment of fishing close to home.

The above is just another step in this long-range program that can be shortened by your approval of a dam for Chesterville.

The proposed dam would be six feet high, one foot higher than the temporary Nestlé dam presently installed. This will give us a considerably larger supply of water to carry us through dry years such as was experienced in the summer and fall of 1957. We have also ben troubled in the past by property owners further up the Nation who complained that the present dam was a cause of the flooding of drainage of their property. This problem has been overcome by a thorough survey of the river, to the extent that drawings will prove to those interested that the addition of one foot to our present dam would raise the water to the level of Baker's farm below the first iron bridge. The proposed dam is designed primarily of a system of flood gates that will accommodate flood conditions that might have been experienced over the past ten years.

In the past, since the advent of the present Nestlé dam, each February the dam was removed to accommodate the ice and peak flood flow. When the river had reached its lowest ebb, which is approximately the month of June, the dam is replaced. In the interim, February to June, the river flow dropped to an alarming level, laying bare unsightly objects and unsavory odors.

With a permanent dam with control gates, the flow of the river, or run-off, could be retarded at an earlier date, subsequently giving a controlled level of clean water for a longer period. This would result in a subsequent soaking of the underlying strata which supplies our household wells.

The decision, for or against, is obviously yours. Please consider it carefully.

Looking to the future, let us not miss the boat on the Nation!

Sincerely,

A. L. Butcher,
Councillor.

Mrs Osborne Grandaw

One of Finch community's oldest residents, Mrs Osborne Grandaw, died in Winchester Memorial Hospital after a short illness. She was in her 82nd year.

Born at Billings Bridge November 17, 1876, she was the former Christena Maria (Dollie) Wood, daughter of the late Hiram Mood and his wife, Janet Davies.

Following her marriage to Osborne Grandaw March 2, 1901, they farmed at North Valley until 1940 when they moved to Finch Village. She was a faithful member of North Valley United Church.

Mr Grandaw predeceased her April 25, 1955. Her only daughter, Leila, predeceased her April 16, 1954. Her only remaining sister died in February, 1957.

Mrs Grandaw was a member of Chalmer's Woman's Association and the Women's Missionary Society.

She leaves to mourn her passing her son-in-law, Cecil J. Runions, and grandchildren, Gladys, Eileen and Cecil Osborne Runions.

The funeral was held Monday, October 20, from her residence to Chalmer's United Church where the service was conducted by the Rev James Hamilton. It was attended by many mourning relatives from Canton, N.Y., Potsdam, N.Y., Ottawa, Cornwall and North Valley.

Hymns sung were "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "We Cannot Think of Those As Dead."

Floral tributes were many and beautiful, showing the high esteen in which she was held in the community.

Pall bearers were Elmer Flegg, Jake Grandaw, Charles Hart, John Grandaw, Glenn Hollister and Ewart Neville. Burial was in Pleasant Valley Cemetery.

WHITE PYTHON

Serato, the only white python in captivity, is to go to Paignton Zoo in Devon, Eng. It was caught by animal collector Peter Ryhiner in eastern Bengal.

Scientists say a white python appears about once in 1,000 years. Serato means "white miracle."

Pasture Championship Won by County Farmer

Hugh Blaine, Mountain, has been declared champion in the first provincial-wide pasture competition, over 264 entries. Mr Blaine will receive the Canadian Seed Trade Association Trophy and a cash award from the Ontario Soil and Crop Iprovement Association.

In the Dundas County competition, sponsored by the Dundas Soil and Crop Improvement Association, the lush pastures on the Blaine farm gave a slight edge over the well-managed fields of Gerald Adams, Williamsburg. Mr Blaine was then selected as regional champion in Eastern Ontario over the winners in seven other counties.

In the provincial competition finals his pasture management program was declared winner over other regional winners, Mac Logan, Oxford County; Roy Brothers, Huron County, and Clarence Simms, Victoria County, by a panel of judges.

Pasture is the most valuable crop in Eastern Ontario and in winning the award Mr Blaine adhered very closely to all recommended practices of pasture establishment and management. Contestants were judged on their entire pasture program on the basis of rotational grazing, fertilizer application, manuring, harrowing droppings, provision for early pasture, balance of grass and legumes, freedom from weeds, shade and water. not over or undergrazed, clipping, and thickness of stand.

Mr Blaine attributes much of his success to the method of establishing his pastures coupled with adequate application of manure and fertilizer. In establishing pastures a seed mixture consisting of ladino clover, alfalfa, brome grass, timothy and meadow fescue is seeded on well prepared ground with a companion crop of oats seeded at one bushel per acre.

The field is pastured lightly when the oats reach a height of 10 to 12 inches. When the oats are pastured off, the field is clipped, livestock removed and the field pastured again when growth is well established. Rotational grazing, adequate fertility and not over grazing will then maintain dense stands of clover and grass mixtures. These practices allowed Mr Blain to stock 68 head of Holsteins, including 30 milk cows, on 36 acres of pasture. When it is considered that food nutrients cost four to five cents per pound for grain two to 2½ cents per pound from hay and only two-thirds of a cent per pound from good pastures, the value of good pasture management is readily seen.

Judge for the county competition was Hubert Avery, Brockville; regional competition, J. W. MacRae, Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture; provincial competition, Dr W. E. Tossell, O.A.C., Guelph; George McLaughlin, Elmcroft Farms, Beaverton, Ont., and D. L. Parks, Field Husbandry Division, Kemptville Agricultural School.

Mrs Mary Beckstead

Funeral services were held at Trinity United Church, Ingleside,, recently for Mrs Mary Ellen Beckstead. Rev S. B. Profitt conducted the service. Burial was made in St. Lawrence Valley Union Cemetery.

Widow of the late Ross Beckstead, the deceased was born Mary Ellen Froats at Chesterville on May 15, 1894, a daughter of the late Jacob Froats and his wife, the former Itheria Hummel.

Mrs Beckstead was a resident of Aultsville from 1900 to 1957 when she moved to Ingleside.

Mrs Beckstead is survived by three sons and two daughters. They are: Irvin, of Kingston; Ardeen, of Ingleside; Barton, of Brockville; Mrs Lloyd Lalonde (Vaughn), of Cornwall, and Mrs Jack Gillette (Maxine), Brighton, Ont.

Pall bearers were Lloyd Marcellus, Sanford Wells, Wesley Robertson, Ernest Canough, Wesley Beddingfield and Keith Snider.

Hymns sung were "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross."

A member of the United Church, Mrs Beckstead was active in women's organization and the Women's Institute.

EVERYBODY EATS- TRY THESE!

SOUFFLÉ

FOR A LIGHT SUPPER OR LUNCH there is nothing more acceptable than a souffle. Most of us are familiar with cheese souffle, but have you tried mushroom or asparagus souffle? Salmon or tuna or any left-over fish will make a tasty light souffle.

Cheese Souffle

3 tbsps. flour
½ tsp. salt
Few grains pepper
3 tbsps. butter
1 cup milk
3 eggs
¾ cup grated cheese

Make a thick white sauce with the first five ingredients. Remove from heat; add yolks of eggs, well-beaten, and cheese. Chill; fold in egg whites beaten until stiff. Turn into a buttered baking dish; oven-poach 40 to 50 minutes. Oven temperature 300 degrees. Serve at once.

Fish Souffle

3 tbsps. flour
3 tbsps. butter
½ tsp. salt
Few grains pepper
½ cup milk
3 eggs
1 cup cooked flaked fish such as salmon or tuna

Make white sauce; add beaten egg yolks and fish. Chill; fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into buttered baking dish. Oven-poach 35 minutes. Serve at once with tomato sauce.

Mushroom Souffle

½ cup mushroom soup
½ tbsp. flour
¼ lb. fresh mushrooms
1 tbsp. butter
1 tbsp. hot water
Salt
2 eggs
½ tsp. baking powder

Add flour to mushroom soup in top of double boiler. Cook till thick. Cool. Wash mushrooms carefully; chop fine, using stems and all. Put in a pan with butter and hot water. Add salt and cook about 10 minutes. Beat egg yolks and add to soup mixture. Add mushrooms and mix well. Beat egg whites until stiff, adding baking powder at the last. Fold eggs whites into mushroom mixture and pour into unbuttered baking dish. Put dish in a pan of hot water and cook in 350 degree oven 50 minutes.

Asparagus Souffle

1 can condensed asparagus soup
¾ cup grated cheese
4 eggs

This is a very easy dish to make. Heat soup over hot water, stir in cheese. When cheese is melted, remove from heat. Add beaten egg yolks. Chill. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into soup mixture. Turn into buttered casserole. Oven poach in 300 degree oven one hour. Serve at once.
