Newsbriefs

Beat the GST

Chesterville Record readers can beat the new Goods and Services Tax on their subscription renewals, and save an extra seven per cent in the process, by renewing their subscirptions by Nov. 30. As of Jan. 1, all susbscriptions will be subject to the GST, but if you renew by Nov. 30 not only will you beat the GST (no matter when your renewal falls du e), but we'll give you an extra savings of seven per cent. As of Jan. 1, a one-year subscription will be $19.26. Renew by Nov. 30 and pay only $16.74, a $2.52 saving. And if you renew for two years by Nov. 30, you'll save $5.04.

Payment announced

OTTAWA -- Quarterly payment calculations for producers enrolled in the national Tripartite Stabilization Programs for hogs, cattle and lambs were announced recently by the stabilization committees. Stabilization payments have been triggered for lambs for the second quarter, covering June, July and August. There will be no payments for slaughter cattle, feeder cattle or hogs. Producers and both levels of government contribute equally to the stabilization funds.

Help available

Senior citizens feeling the need for home support services are invited to attend the Meals on Wheels annual meeting Thurs., Nov. 15 to learn what help is available to them. Jean Beattie, county co-ordinator for the Home Support Services for Seniors, will explain the plans of this new umbrella program. At present the program's committee is concentrating on transportation, visitation and snow shovelling but will expand its services if there is a need. The meeting will be held at the LaPrade Centre at 7:30pm Nov. 15.

All kidding aside

CHESTERVILLE - An unexplained Hallowe'en phenomena mysteriously placed a small Honda car on its side on the bridge crossing the South Nation in Chesterville Saturday night. Sgt. Jim Irvine of the Winchester OPP called the incident a prank. "It's a post Hallowe'en thing," he said. The car, owned by Michael Saunders of RR1 Finch, was brought to the bridge and turned on its side. But Irvine said he doesn't know who put it there.

Stereo stolen

CHESTERVILLE - An Alpine AM/FM car stereo was stolen from a Suzuki Samurai at Car-O-Line's Auto's on the weekend. Winchester OPP Sgt. Jim Irvine said the stereo was valued at $200. The thief broke into the vehicle by unclasping the tarp roof, he said. The owner, Colin Abbott, said Monday, he is offering a reward for any tips that might lead to the return of the stereo.

Murder on the road

CRYSLER - Chesterville's Charity Players will be taking their latest comedy-murder mystery on the road. They will be appearing Friday night at the Crysler Community Centre. The mystery, entitled A Seance at Winslow Manor, is being hosted by the Finch Township Branch of the Canadian Cancer Society. Proceeds will go to the Canadian Cancer Society. Tickets are $15 per person and are available from G. Benoit at 987-2810, S. Nugent at 984-2955 and J.G. Benoit, at the Crysler Finch Red and White.

Doctors want WDMH beds kept

Shana Saper
Press staff reporter

WINCHESTER-- In an effort to reverse the decision to close 15 beds next month, doctors at Winchester District Memorial Hospital asked for and got a special meeting of the Board of Governors to re-open the subject.

Last Wednesday, 18 of the 22-member medical staff sent a motion to the board asking them to postpone the announced bed closures slated for December through March - what doctors say is the peak season for admissions.

Dr. David Flowers, of the medical staff, said the staff's main concern is that a loss of beds would hurt services and put undue stress on the medical staff.

In response, the requested special meeting was held Thursday and, according to one of the three medical representatives on the board, Dr. Raymond Dawes, the governors decided to "reassess" the situation.

"The decision to close beds has not been changed but it is being reassessed in view of concerns raised by doctors and the community," Dawes said.

He added the Board will be approaching the Minister of Health to have matters clarified regarding the status of a $2 million start-up grant expected to help get the major renewal program underway.

Two weeks ago, the hospital's executive director, James Egan, called the grant situation "uncertain" because the money had been promised under the previous Liberal government, He said no guarantees had yet been obtained from the new NDP government on whether they would respect the financial commitment.

The Board has now decided to push ahead for confirmation and has asked MPP Noble Villeneuve (PC - SDG&EG) to help them get some quick answers from Queen's Park.

Egan declined to comment on the current impasse with the doctors, saying it would be "detrimental" to continue the debate in the press.

However, contacted by telephone, Dr. Suru Chande stated the medical staff's position remains the same as before. "They are talking about closing 20 per cent of the hospital's bed capacity and that affects the public as well as the medical staff."

But Chande says the problems go beyond closing beds. He blames the current situation on a loss of credibility between the Board, administration, and the medical staff and he adds, "it's time for the Board to realize it cannot hide facts and expect to get along with the staff."

A new meeting between Egan and the medical staff is scheduled for today at which time the question of bed closures will be discussed once again.

According to Chande, the medical staff and the Board have had "excellent relations" over the years. "The time has come to mend bridges."

OPP play role of Ghostbusters

Quiet Hallowe'en in village as police keep youths under control

Yves Cossette
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE - Hallowe'en pranks were kept to a minimum this year as masked youths limited their antics to tossing eggs and setting a bonfire, Hallowe'en night.

Last year masked youths tore through the streets of Chesterville Hallowe'en night smashing windows and signs causing thousands of dollars of damage.

Sgt. Jim Irvine of the Ontario Provincial Police said the Winchester detachment received no reports of damage over Hallowe'en night.

"The whole area was quiet," he said. "I'd like to commend the adult-like actions of the youth."

Only one incident marred the evening. The OPP were given a scare early Hallowe'en night when a Morewood boy was struck by a car while crossing a street. But Irvine said the boy, seven-year-old Christopher Wood, came away with just a few cuts and bruises and was released from Winchester District Memorial Hospital after being treated.

The accident occured as Wood, while trick or treating, darted across County Road 13 and was hit by a westbound car, Irvine said. No charges were laid.

To make sure things stayed quiet in Chesterville, the Winchester detachment of the OPP brought in three officers from other detachments. Two police cruisers, and occasionally a third, were in the village patrolling the streets. An officer from the Long Sault detachment was also on hand with a dog, Irvine said.

The quiet night allowed village business people to breath easier following Hallowe'en night. Colin Abbott, the owner of Car-O-Line Auto's whose business was vandalized last year, came away unscathed Hallowe'en night.

"It wasn't too bad to be honest," he said.

Last year a rock was hurled through a window at his garage. To prevent any vandalism to the cars in his lot, he removed them for Hallowe'en night.

Abbott praised the OPP for keeping the youths under control.

"I think the police did an excellent job," he said.

But he expressed concern over some masked youths who attempted to hurl flares on the roofs of some buildings. That was a potential fire hazard, he said.

Russell Bass, the manager of Becker's on King Street had quite a bit of window cleaning to do the morning after Hallowe'en. The convenience store was a prime target for the egg throwers.

But the store was undamaged.

"I didn't find that this year was bad at all. From what I heard last year was worse than it was this year,' he said.

To make sure the store remained undamaged, Bass stayed behind and guarded the store until 3 a.m.

Village work crews were also out in force Wednesday night patrolling the streets and making sure village property remained undamaged.

"Kick" bruises reeve

Greg Kielec
Record Staff

MAPLE RIDGE - Winchester Township Reeve Claude Cousineau says he was hurt by a figurative 'kick in the shins' from Chesterville Reeve Jim Cook over a dump decision made by the township.

Cook said in the Oct. 17 issue of The Record that he had "kicked him (Cousineau) in the shins" for making a decision on the dump without consulting Chesterville, which runs the dump along with the township and the village of Winchester.

Cousineau couldn't be reached for comment by The Record at the time. On Thursday, he refuted Chesterville Council's claim that the township acted improperly.

At issue was Winchester Township's decision to hire the engineering firm of Oliver Mangione McCalla and Associates to do engineering work involving the dump at a price of $96,000.

Chesterville Council members complained they were not consulted on the matter.

But Cousineau has a different version of the story. He said Thursday that Chesterville Councillor Shirley Coons was present at the meeting when the firm was hired and voiced no objection to the township's selection.

"They (Chesterville representatives) were part of the process all along. They were there," he said.

He added that the township had to get moving on the decision in order to make the deadline date for funding.

Chesterville Council is complaining about the township's decision to hire Oliver Mangione and McCalla, the engineering firm with the most expensive bid. It should be more concerned with what will happen if dumps are not dealt with immediately, Cousineau said.

If the township ignores Ministry of Environment concerns and fails to get its landfill in top operating order, it could face large fines or even have its licence to operate withheld, meaning the dump would close.

"You talk about a kick in the shins. We are going to get a kick in the ass from the MOE," he said.

The operation certificate for the landfill site expired last week and the township has not yet received a temporary certificate of approval, he said. And there is no guarantee the township will receive another certificate, he added.

"Our certificate of approval was, as of yesterday, extinct, it's gone. And what are the Chesterville ratepayers going to say

Drainage tribunal orders ministry, township to correct drain woes

Greg Kielec
Record Staff

MAPLE RIDGE - The Ontario Drainage Tribunal has blamed the Ontario Ministry of Transportation and Winchester Township for drainage woes plaguing township residents near Winchester.

The tribunal has ruled the MTO must pay 65 per cent of the approximately $30,000 in costs incurred so far in a dispute over drainage in the Summers-Baker drain. Winchester Township must pay 15 per cent of the total out of its general funds.

Harry Mussell, a township resident who has fought for years to get flooding woes from the drain resolved, took the matter to the drainage tribunal in 1987. The tribunal recommended the parties resolve the dispute themselves and hire an engineer to determine what action to take.

Mussell and two other township residents, Keith Baker and Collette Lafortune, were unhappy with recommendations made by the engineer and the cost of proposed work, and appealed to the tribunal in October, 1988 to resolve the dispute. Lafortune was not present at the second hearing and her appeal was subsequently dismissed.

The tribunal had criticism both for Winchester Township and the MTO. It blamed the township for failing to follow proper procedure in approving a diversion of the drain.

"To some extent, the confusion and perhaps a part of the problem arises because the municipality went ahead and diverted the Summers-Baker Drain over the (neighboring Keith) Wagner property without any authority to do so," the tribunal said in its decision released last week, laying blame for the drainage woes.

The tribunal estimated $23,000 was spent by Winchester Township in preparation for tribunal hearings to reach a resolution over the dispute.

Reeve Claude Cousineau estimated Thursday that $30,000 has been spent so far by the township, mainly on engineering, to determine why the drain was not functioning.

If Cousineau's estimate is correct, the township must pay $4,500 out of its general fund for costs incurred so far. The balance of the costs will be paid by ratepayers with property near the drain.

The MTO, deemed a major culprit in the 15-year- long ordeal, will pay $19,500 of the costs incurred. As well, the tribunal has ordered the ministry to correct previous work it had done which has impeded the flow of the drain.

The transfer of 65 per cent of the costs to the MTO will significantly reduce the assessments of area property owners for work proposed for the drain.

Residents, after a previous tribunal hearing and subsequent engineering report, were to pay $49,000 of the estimated $95,000 of work proposed for the drain.

In its recently-released decision on the dispute, the tribunal faulted Winchester Township for allowing a diversion of Summers-Baker Drain West in the mid-1970s without the required completion of an engineer's report.

The township allowed the diversion on the property of Keith Wagner, with consultation with a county engineer, to provide better use of the Wagner property. In the process, a three-foot diameter culvert was placed in the drain, between a five- foot culvert upstream and a five-foot culvert downstream.

Mussell, in 1975, asked Winchester Township Council to replace the three-foot culvert with a culvert of a larger diameter, claiming the small culvert was contributing to flooding on his land. Council refused to install a larger culvert, and after years of bickering, the issue finally was brought to the drainage tribunal.

The tribunal has ordered a larger culvert be installed in the Wagner portion of the drain, but only if deemed necessary by an engineer. And it has ordered the MTO to lower a culvert under Highways 31 and 43 or provide a new outlet for the drain.

It has also ordered that water north of the railroad tracks, east of Mussell's property, be prohibited from flowing under the railroad and into the Summers-Baker Drain watershed.

The decision addresses an MTO culvert under Highway 31 and Highway 43, south of Winchester, dubbed as one of the main cause of problems with the drain.

The MTO culvert, one and a half to two feet higher than it should be, has been blamed by the township and residents as one of the main causes of ponding of water in the drain. The ponded waters become stagnant, infested with vegetation and mosquitoes and only disappear through evaporation.

"We conclude that the primary cause of the problems within the watershed is the Ministry of Transportation of Ontario culvert installed under the reconstructed Highway 31," the tribunal stated in its decision. Harry Mussell, who has been fighting for years to get the flooding dilemma resolved, is optimistic the proposals in the decision will alleviate his flooding woes.

"I'm fairly happy with it," he said. But he was not pleased with the tribunal's decision to have an engineer decide if a larger culvert is needed on the Wagner p ortion of the drain.

"I would still like to see the Wagner culvert up to five feet," he said.

Cousineau said he was pleased with the decision. And although the process took much longer than it should have, he maintained the township acted properly in dealing with Mussell's complaints.

The township had refused, in the mid-1970s, to deal with Mussell's complaints. Cousineau said it would have been unfair to use taxpayers' money to provide better drainage for one resident.

"It was the only way to go...We had several meetings with them (the MTO) and they wouldn't budge on it at all," he said.

Since the MTO would not heed the township's request to lower its Highway 31-Highway 43 culvert, taking the matter to the drainage tribunal was Mussell's only recourse, he said.

He did accept criticism levelled at the township for allowing construction of the Wagner diversion of the drain without an engineer's report. But he added: "It, at the time, seemed like a reasonable thing to do."

The proposals will help another resident on the drain, Keith Baker, who needs better drainage for tile drainage in his farm fields to work properly.

The tribunal placed blame for delays in tribunal proceedings on the engineering firm which was acting on behalf of the township and the MTO.

"The hearing on April 21, 1989 was adjourned at the request of the engineer. Costs of the adjourned hearing shall be granted to the Township of Winchester in the sum of $350 to be paid by the engineering firm that prepared the report or its successor to the Township of Winchester," the tribunal stated in its decision.

"Because of the non-attendance of the engineer at the hearing convened on March 30, 1990 , the engineer or the firm that prepared the report or its successor, shall not be paid any fee for the attendance at the April 21, 1990 hearing and at the May 15 hearing," it added.

Village blamed for road condition

Yves Cossette
Record Staff

MAPLE RIDGE - A Winchester Township man is demanding township council help him restore an unopened road allowance which serves as his driveway.

Brian Boytel told council Monday night he was frustrated with the lack of action to maintain the road which serves as his driveway.

"I'm really getting fed up with it,' he said.

Boytel lives on Highway 43 between Chesterville and Maple Ridge. When he first moved there six years ago, he found the property's driveway was an unopened road allowance which runs north of Highway 43.

Over the past two years the road has also served as an access to Chesterville's new water well and it has for the last two years been the source of Boytel's grievances.

He told Winchester Township council he has repeatedly asked Chesterville Council and the village clerk to ensure the roadway was properly maintained. But he said the portion serving as his driveway is riddled with potholes.

"I'm asking them to grade it and fix it,' he said.

Boytel said until the Chesterville started its water project he had kept the road maintained. But the construction project has made a mess of it, he said.

Winchester Township Reeve Claude Cousinaeu instructed Clerk Nancy Krisjanis to write a letter to Chesterville council urging Chesterville council to address Boytel's grievances.

Deputy Reeve Wyman Barton felt Boytel had a legitimate complaint.

"I feel he is a ratepayer whose life has been disturbed by the construction,' he said.

But he wouldn't place the blame on Chesterville Council.

"I can't put the blame on any particular party," he said.

Chesterville Reeve Jim Cook said Tuesday he understood Boytel's frustration, but said it was up to the consulting firm, Totten Sims Hubicki Associates, which is overseeing the water project construction to ensure the road is maintained properly.

Cook said the village has asked the consultants to maintain the road.

"We have done this and nagged them on it," he said.

He said the responsibility belonged to the consultant until the village accepts the work done on the water project. But the village's acceptance has been delayed because of problems with the pipeline which runs from the well, past Boytel's property, to the village along Highway 43.

Cook blames part of Boytel's problems with the delays associated with the water project which have kept construction crews and equipment near or adjacent to Boytel's property for almost two years. The project was supposed to have been completed last May.

Boytel said he understood the village's problems concerning the pipeline and appreciated Clerk Howard Smith's efforts to help him, but he maintained the village was ultimately responsible for the road.

He said since construction began on the pipeline his property and garage have been flooded because of the poor condition of the road.

He rebuffed a suggestion by Winchester Township Council that he construct a new driveway onto his property from Highway 43.

He said the unopened road allowance has served as the propepty's driveway for more than 15 years.

Barton said Boytel's use of the unopened road allowance was unique in the township, but ruled out any possible opening of the road allowance.

Council periodically turns down requests to open unopened road allowances because of high maintenance costs.

Barton said he hoped once construction was finished on the the pipeline Boytel would be able to get together with Winchester Township Council and Chesterville Village Council to agree on how to maintain the road.

when they have a pile of garbage up on their front lawns."

The MOE no longer has tolerance for municipalities who skirt guidelines in order to save operation costs.

"But the MOE is saying, 'you've been getting off too good too long, here's what you've got to do. Do it now, or else.' And when MOE threatens you, you move."

"They don't care about anybody nickel or diming it for four or five thousand dollars, they don't care about that stuff. They just say 'do it'."

He added if the three municipalites wish to start recycling here, action must be taken. "Are we going to start recycling here or not?" he asked.

The bonfire caused some damage to the road, but Cook was unable to say how much it would cost the village to fix the damage.

But for the most part Cook liked what he saw.

"I'd say it was a better Hallowe'en (than last year)," he said.

Cook praised the OPP for being tactful.

"They were getting out of the cars and talking to everybody, including me. I think they did a pretty good job," he said.

Cook also praised the youths for their restraint.

"And the way the (youths) behaved I liked that too,' he said.

While the older youths were busy tossing eggs, the youngest were able to take part in Hallowe'en Party at the Community Hall. The party, organized by the village recreation director and a host of volunteers, was held as an alternative to door-to- door trick or treating.

More than 100 children at the party were treated to games, prizes and lots of candy.

Literacy council given new name

WINCHESTER - The Tri-County Literacy Council's Dundas satellite has been given a name that should erase the negative connotations that supporters feel the term "literacy" carries.

The local organization, and its new location in the village-owned building at 512 St. Lawrence Street will henceforth be known as the Dundas County Learning Centre.

Local literacy advocates conducted a name-the-council contest at various community functions throughout the summer. And last week, Learning Centre president Sue Hanson Johnson announced that the chosen winner is, in fact, a literacy student, June Garlough of the Chesterville area.

Hanson Johnson also announced an open house for the St. Lawrence Street quarters, where the centre occupies two rooms, will be held on Dec. 8.

Play kicks off Loonie March to save rain forest

Yves Cossette
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE - A group of Brazilian natives blocking a logging road is confronted by the landowner and his loggers.

The Indians say it's their land. The landowner says according to the law of the land, the land is his, and sends his loggers in to cut more trees.

The Indians are swept aside.

The Indians and loggers were being portrayed by a group Chesterville Public School students in the children's play "A Rain Forest" performed at CPS Friday. The landowner was portrayed by Keith Cole, one half of a two-person theatre troupe from Toronto.

The troupe is part of a Toronto-based company called Erewhon (pronounced air one) Theatre.

They specialize in children's plays. Friday's performance of "A Rain Forest" was staged to help CPS raise money to purchase a piece of the Amazon rain forest in Brazil to protect it from being logged or set on fire.

The Canadian Wildlife Federation is offering an acre of rain forest for $25.

But before the school begins its fundraiser this week, called the Loonie March, school principal Kirstin Gee wanted students to find out why saving the Amazon rain forest was important.

"(We) want to teach children the significance of the rain forest," she said.

The play, she said, was a good way to give the students a graphic picture of the destruction of the Amazon rain forest and why it was important to preserve it.

Students from Morewood Public School were also on hand watching the play.

To an observer watching the play depicting the confrontation between Indians and loggers, the scene had similarites to the dispute between Canadian native groups and the logging industry, a point which was brought up during the play.

Nickie St. John, the troupe's other half , said "A Rain Forest" raises a number of issues.

The most obvious is the environment, but native land claims are also at issue when protecting the rain forests; issues which are also prominent in Canada, she said.

St. John and her partner are touring Ontario schools performing three plays, "Bambi", "Dinosaurs", and "A Rain Forest". Most schools request "A Rain Forest" because they are in the middle of an environmental studies program, St. John said.

The plays involve a good deal of audience participation and after the performance St. John and Cole have a two-part question and answer session.

In the first part, the performers ask the questions to see what the students have learned. Then if the students have any questions, the performers do the answering.

The play, written by Santos Servello, a co-owner of Erewhon Theatre, is the story of a poor Brazilian couple and their niece who barely survive in the slum of a Brazilian city.

A rich landowner offers them employment in the Amazon. They have to grow crops for his livestock, which he keeps there to support his land title. The title lets him exploit the forest for lumber and what he doesn't use for logging is set on fire to clear areas for his pastures.

But the landowner's encroachment and that of the poor farmers and laborers who work for him in the rain forest brings them into conflict with the Amazon Indians, because they live off the rain forest.

Students watching the play also learn the destruction of the rainforest has enormous environmental consequences as it contributes to global warming.

St. John said the play portrays more than just the environmentalist's point of view. The play looks at what motivates all its characters, whether be the landowner, the president of the World Bank, the poor farmers, the loggers, or the Indians.

To do its part to save the Amazon rain forest, Chesterville Public School is launching the Loonie March this week. Students and visitors to the school are being encouraged to bring in a Loonie to help purchase a piece of the threatened rain forest.

For every loonie collected, a piece of construction paper depicting the dollar will be placed on the floor of the school's hallway.

The march will continue until construction paper loonies extend from one end of the school's hall way to the other.

The number of acres of rain forest purchased by the school will depend on the amount of money raised by the Loonie March, Gee said.

Amazonian drama
Chesterville and Morewood Public School students were treated to a performance by Erewhon Theatre of Toronto, Friday. The two-person theatre troupe was performing "A Rain Forest", a story about the destruction of the Amazonian rain forest. Nickie St. John (behind), an actor with Erewhon Theatre, and guest actor Alison Coyle (front), a Chesterville Public School student, portray an aunt and niece respectively in the children's play.

A nations's birth

Sixty-two years this Sunday, at the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, all was finally quiet on the Western Front.

Sixty thousand Canadians had made the ultimate sacrifice, not so much for freedom, nor even to usher in a new age of peace, since the war to End All Wars served merely to set the stage for an even bloodier conflict little more than a generation later.

Ironically, they were cut down in the full bloom of their manhood so that Canada could come of age. The thousands who fell under the hail of machine gun bullets in front of Vimy Ridge or who choked out their final breath in a cloud of poison gas in the stinking trenches at Ypres ensured that when the Great War was finally over, Canada could take a seat at the table of nations, not just as one of Great Britain's far-flung dominions, but as an equal among equals.

Had they not been put in the position in which so many of them were quite literally sentenced to die, Canada as we know it would not exist. Quite possibly, the Statutes of Westminister, which finally granted full-fledged nationhood to the young dominion, would not have been signed and this country would have remained in the political limbo in which it had existed since 1867 for years more to come.

These young men died thinking they were fighting to save Western civilization from extinction at the hands of Kaiser Bill and the Bosch. While the "Huns" may not have been the monsters they were portrayed by the Allied propaganda machine, Canada's fighting men (and the women who supported them) proved to be the equal of any in the world and when left to fight under their own leaders could produce such momentous victories as Vimy Ridge.

Of course, they figured prominently in the Allies' final victory, but the results of the peace far outweighed the results of the war for a young nation. It would never have made a stirring battle-cry "For Full-fledged Nationhood", but what it ultimately achieved is a far more lasting testament to the lives given to make it possible.

From Chesterville's Past

From the Record
Nov. 3, 1910

His seven year old son burned to death and the loss of his great barns, together with the season's crops and farming equipment, valued at $8,000, was the Thanksgiving Day loss suffered by Richard Justus, a prominent farmer, near Winchester. The fire broke out in the morning. It was not known that the little boy was in the barn at the time, and he was not missed immediately. When the flames had entirely consumed the barns, the child's charred remains were found near one of the horses, in the stable where he had perished. It was evident he had been forcing his way to an exit, but was overcome by the flames.

Mr. Pringle Smith of Heckston, near Kemptville, was accidentally shot on Monday and died half an hour afterwards. He was a young man 27 years of age and was entertaining Mr. Albert E. Bullman, a gasfitter, living on Holland Avenue in Ottawa. The two were out in the woods on Mr. Smith's farm hunting during the day and as they were returning in the afternoon they noticed a black squirrel about 60 yards from Mr. Smith's house. Mr. Smith handed the shotgun to Mr. Bullman telling him to shoot it while Mr. Smith kept track of the squirrel. When Mr. Bullman, after putting in the cartridges, closed up the gun, the firing pin must have struck the cap and the cartridge exploded. Mr. Smith intent on watching the squirrel wandered in front of the gun just as the explosion took place and received the entire charge of the shot in his side. He fell to the ground and Mr. Bullman carried him to the house and medical aid was summoned. However, it arrived too late for the unfortunate man died before the physician arrived.

Last Friday, Tommy Thompson, of Connaught, had the misfortune to fall from a roof he was preparing to shingle, several feet to the ground, sustaining a fracture of the ankle. Mr. Thompson was alone at the time and was helpless on the ground when providentially Mr. W.M. Morton appeared on the scene, trying to locate Mr. Thompson. As the former was passing the gate he was hailed and went in to find the injured man badly needing assistance.

In an essay contest for the Aladdin lamp donated by Fulton Bros. to the one writing the best description of it after seeing one, Mrs. Walter W. Steven, of Morewood, proved to be the winner, as announced Saturday evening. The judging was done by Messrs. Geo. Elliot and G.C. Lacey, the name of first choice being sealed in an envelope which was not opened until the appointed hour.

For the first time in the history of the village of Chesterville there will be a deputy-reeve on village council. Although the position was up for grabs in 1978, during the last municipal elections, news of the job wasn't received until the deadline for nominations had passed. As a result, no one ran for the position.

Hallowe'en thank you

Dear Sir:

This letter is being written to express my gratitude to all the people who made the Children's Halloween Party a success.

First, I would like to thank the people who donated the treats for the party. The amount of donations was very impressive.

Second, I would like to thank the local merchants for their support. A number of businesses donated prizes, gift certificates and treats for the party.

Last, I would like to thank the volunteers. These people came out on Halloween night to help supervise children's activities at the party.

With the support of these three groups, the children in attendance were able to enjoy a safe and entertaining Halloween.

Sincerely,

War: What is it good for?

For the Record

Yves Cossette

Remembrance Day. Each year I find myself in a reflective mood come November 11.

I guess that's the whole idea behind Remembrance Day. I have no memories of the wars Canadians fought in. I wasn't around. So what I know about Canadians at war comes from the history books and history courses. My experience of war in general comes from the occasional movie depicting war or actual news coverage of war.

From the latter I've had plenty exposure. Here's what war means to me: death, the maiming of people, homelessness, starvation, and physical destruction; not something I'd aspire to take part in.

This year those images are stronger than ever, because for the first time since I've been around, Canada is on the brink of becoming involved in a war. If the the Persian Gulf crisis erupts, our pilots in Qatar, our sailors in the Gulf near Bahrain are going to be right in the middle of it.

What disturbs me is a recent poll which shows a majority of Canadians in favor of our military involvement in protecting the countries of the Arabian peninsula from the wrath of Saddam.

I find it disturbing that our fighter planes in Qatar are protecting feudal, repressive, police state. Most of the military forces aligned against Saddam are positioned in various countries in the Gulf region, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates, and Bahrain, all countries governed by corrupt, feudal dictators. Kuwait was ruled by a feudal dictator before it was overrun, by another dictator, Saddam.

So why are our forces in the Gulf? To protect democracy? None of the Gulf monarchies are remotely democratic.

Some say our forces are in the Gulf to protect our continued economic well being. Saddam is threatening our oil supplies. But tell that to the mother who sees her son come home in a casket. And anyway aren't we supposed to be reducing our energy consumption?

Some say our forces are in the Gulf to uphold the principle that no sovereign nation's borders be violated by another. But when Saddam invaded Iran in 1980 we made no effort to help the Ayatollah. No, instead the west armed Saddam to the teeth to help him fight Iran, principles be damned.

Saddam Hussein is pretty bad and perhaps a little mad too, but he's been like that for the better part of 20 years, when he first seized power in Iraq by force.

Consider Canada's previous forays into the battlefield. In the Boer War, Canadians helped Britain maintain its colonial rule over South Africa at the turn of the century.

Then they took part in the great European slaughter of 1914-1918. For four years the warring European powers conned their subjects, including Canadians, into going to the battlefield.

Had television existed and be permitted to beam in scenes of the carnage it is doubtful so many men would have volunteered to die for their country or cause.

But whether it's World War I, II or the Korean War, it's clear that many of the men and women in Canada's armed forces believed in what they were doing.

You hear it at the Remembrance Day ceremonies every year. Some of the veterans say they fought for democracy, others fought for their country.

It's no different for the men and women who are serving in the Persian Gulf right now.

But the veterans have another message too. They speak of those who made the ultimate sacrifice. If war breaks out in the Gulf there will be more of those.

Let us not forget the possiblity of ultimate sacrifice while we confront Saddam.

And let us not blindly accept our government's reasons for being in the Gulf.

The Farmer's Wife

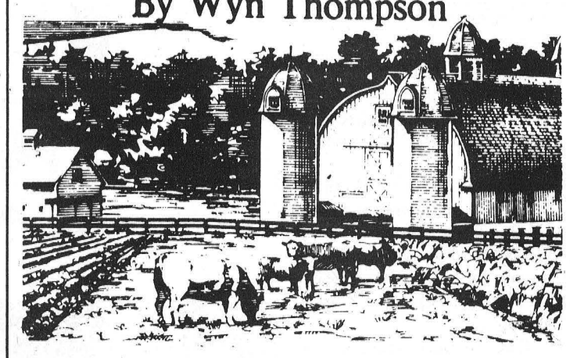
By Wyn Thompson



November brings many a good day. Yesterday was such a day; one of those still, Eastern Ontario autumn days when one is glad of being alive.

I worked all day at cleaning up the flower beds. It was so cold, at first, that I wore my old duffell coat and thick gloves, but by the middle of the afternoon the sun shone warm, and the flies were buzzing on the warm bricks of the house, a pleasant, sonorous hum I like to hear

It was dusk when I came in, and I was tired. I felt the warmth of the house and smelled the soup bubbling in the slow cooker as soon as I opened the door -- surely one of the good moments of life.

Afterwards I spent the evening going over some notes I took at a meeting recently when field naturalist Jeff Harrison presented an introduction to bird watching. The purpose of this exercise was so that I might share with you a few items from Jeff's talk.

Jeff, whose column appears in the Sunday Citizen, and a bird watcher for 35 years, said his interest in birds developed from his interest in ecology -- the environment in which birds function and of which, we are a part.

Bird watching has a long history, it appears, for even Socrates wrote about it. But, there was so little knowledge about the subject that as one bird disappeared and another appeared, it was believed that one was transformed into the other.

It was left to the British scientists and Sunday churchgoers to spearhead an interest in birds. Knowledge came through amateurs, then professionals.

Bird books appeared as people travelled more-to Africa, South America,et cetera. In 1750 a British churchman wrote a book about what he saw as he accompanied a church group bent on enjoying this popular Sunday afternoon pastime.

Although millions of copies of his book were sold, he was ahead of his time. It was in 1900 with the invention of binoculars that bird watching became popular.

Then came the exodus of people from the country to the city and the loss of contact with nature ensued. However, now there is a great resurgence of interest in the natural world.

Taverner wrote the first book on birds "Birds of Canada", followed by Peterson's Guide which revolutionized bird watching. Peterson made it much easier to identify birds.

"Two million people in the U.S.A. have taken up bird watching," noted Jeff. "It's a great hobby because all you need is a pair of binoculars and a bird book. You can go anywhere in the world and still watch birds; no fancy clothes required."

He cautioned that one doesn't need to get binoculars first, though. "Use your powers of observation to judge the size of the bird and the pattern of color."

Apparently birds don't sing a lot, mostly it's the calls we hear. Jeff told us that to get birds to pop out of tree, make a squeaking sound on the back of the hand or make an alarm call by a pishin' or whishin' sound to bring in an unknown bird.

Seventy-five per cent of identifications are done by song and call. He advised us to familiarize ourselves with the area habitat as birds adapt to the environment necessary to them for food."There is no need looking for pine siskins if you have no pine trees," he said.

There are over 6000 species of birds in the world, of which 5000 are perching birds. So, one could hardly run out of birds to watch.

He shared with us Murphy's Laws of Bird-Watching: [1] First Law of Optics: Birds always disappear in that split second when you take your eyes off them to raise your binoculars.

[2[ Muprhy's Law of Motion: A moving bird tends to remain in motion in a straight and predictable line -- until you try to focus your binoculars on it.

[3] Murphy's Law of Attraction: When you 'squeak' or 'pish' to bring in an unknown bird, all other birds in the neighborhood come to the call -- but the object of your attention splits.

[4] Murphy's Law of Listing: That 'staked' bird that everyone says you can't miss -- you will.

[5] Murphy's Law of Reversed Rarity: Once you have finally added an elusive species to your life list, it becomes a veritable nuisance and dozens of them follow you everywhere.

Listening to Jeff talk, I decided that most of us run after things not worth having. If only everyone could get his feet down into the earth.

Not farming necessarily, but at least a little plot of ground, a tree or so, birds, flowers -- even a pot of geraniums on the window sill. It is not a panacea, but it might provide the soil where inequanimity might germinate. In the very least, it is a way to reality: it links man to creation.

We drove in hilly country today. The brilliant foliage of the maples and ashes and birches has disappeared, but the oaks are at their best. With the sun upon them, there are no more thrilling reds in nature. Where there is an intermingling of pines, or spruces, the effect to me is more satisfying in richness of tone than the gaurdier coloring of early autumn.

Lately I have seen several caterpillars and I never fail to stand and stare a while as they pleat and unpleat in their journey past me. "What is it a sign of," my neighbor Sam asks me as he comes upon me busily engaged in this lovely pursuit.

"I haven't the foggiest notion, Sam," I reply.

"There was ice on the flower watering bucket I hadn't put away, I noticed this morning. It was pretty. In fact, it was beautiful when I held it slantwise to the sun, color flared and glinted on it like a fresh, new, little rainbow."

"It's still ice," said Sam, as he continued on his way to see the Farmer.

And I stopped watching, for there were many things to do. Tomorrow or the next day or the week after, the yard, in which the caterpillars were pleating and unpleating as they made their way to somewhere, would be covered with snow.

I grimaced when I thought of it, for winter is forever when it comes to Eastern Ontario. Or so it seems, I said to no one in particular, as I thought, too, of the loveliness of winter, of the silvery whiteness soon to be where the caterpillars now inch their way.

Council confused over tribunal decision

Yves Cossette
Record Staff

MAPLE RIDGE - There was confusion at Winchester Township Council's meeting Monday night over the interpretation of a recent verdict by the Ontario Drainage Tribunal.

The tribunal ruled the Ontario Ministry of Transportation must pay 65 per cent of the approximately $30,000 in costs incurred so far in a dispute over drainage in the Summers-Baker Drain. Winchester Township must pay 15 per cent of the total out of its general funds.

The tribunal also ordered MTO to reconstruct a drain running underneath the Highway 31 and 43 bypass around Winchester.

But some of the verdict's points left township council unclear on what to do next.

Deputy Reeve Wyman Barton said Tuesday he was unsure whether council has to consult a different engineer to figure out how to implement the tribunal's decision.

The verdict means some residents will be re-assessed for the work done on the drain and it means the township has to take corrective measures on portions of the drain to eliminate flooding. Winchester Township resident Harry Mussell fought for years to get the township and MTO to correct a problem in the drain that was causing the flooding of his land.

The verdict's wording, however, says implementation of the tribunal's decision should be referred back to an engineer. Barton said council wants to find out whether it has to hire a different engineer than the one who had carried out the work on the Summers-Baker drain.

Councillors agreed that bringing in a new firm at this stage would mean having to start engineering work from scratch.

"The implication (was) if (council) went and hired another engineer you're looking at...increased costs again," Barton said.

The confusion was enough to prompt township Reeve Claude Cousineau Monday night to call for a meeting with the drain's previous engineer to help council interpret the tribunal's decision.

"Let's make sure we're clear on everything," Cousineau told council.

Up to now the work has been carried out by Bryan Boyd of A.J. Graham Engineering Ltd. of Ottawa. The firm has since been renamed Ainley Graham Associates Ltd. The meeting has been set for Nov. 12.

Earlier on in the meeting Cousineau favored carrying out some of the tribunal's rulings without consulting an engineer. He felt an engineer wouldn't be needed to block a culvert underneath the Canadian Pacific railroad east of Winchester.

The blockade was ordered by the tribunal to prevent water from flowing under the railroad and into the Summers-Baker Drain watershed.

But Cousineau was advised against it by Mussell, who was attending the meeting.

"I think we have to get an engineer to review this whole report" he said.

Mussell said his interpretation of the tribunal's decision required an engineer be involved on implementing all of tribunal's verdict, including blocking the culvert underneath the railroad.

Ault captures bronze for low-fat cheddar

WINCHESTER -- Being calorie wise paid off for Ault Foods Ltd. of Winchester at a recent international cheese competition held in Wisconsin.

An entry by Ault cheesemaker Norm Matte placed third in the reduced-fat cheddar class at the Eighteenth Bi-annual World Championship Cheese Contest held in Green Bay.

Matte and his crew have been experimenting with low-fat cheese for five years and went into production this summer for Black Diamond. Their cheese has a fat content of 18.5 per cent, half that of regular cheddar. The gold medal went to an entry from Sweden, while the silver was captured by an entry from the United States. There were 49 entries from around the world at the competition.

In 1986 Ault Foods won a gold medal for the grand champion aged cheddar at Wisconsin. It picked up a fourth place in 1988, again for aged-cheddar.

At the annual Ottawa competition, Ault Foods picked up a number of ribbons: the grand championship for its marble cheese, and firsts for aged cheddar, for July class and for August class.

Awards ceremonies for the world competition are scheduled for tomorrow night (Thursday) in Milwaukee. Both Matte and Rejean Galipeau will attend.

Bear scouting

Three members of the Scouting movement found a bear they could cuddle up to recently but they won't get to keep it for long. The bear will be raffled in a draw to take place Dec. 2 at the Chesterville Senior Citizens party at the Legion, with proceeds to go to the Winchester District Memorial Hospital building fund.

Pictured l-r are Jason Swerdfeger, 9; Nicholas Pelletier, 5; and Chris Whitteker, 13, with the stuffed panda. Tickets sell one for 50 cents or three for $1 and are available from Chesterville Scouts and Cubs and from Beaver leaders.

Nestle's waste recycling program in the works

Yves Cossette
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE - Nestle Enterprises Ltd. is making plans to significantly reduce the amount of waste it sends to the Boyne Road dump.

Plant manager Jim Cummings confirmed Thursday an in-house committee has been set up to find ways to recycle waste produced at the factory. Cummings hopes the committee will produce a comprehensive plan of action by the end of the year.

"It's an ambitious program, but I think it's achievable," he said. "(If implemented it would) dramatically cut down the tonnage that's going to that landfill site and in essence it would make that site viable for a longer period of time."

The food processing plant sends 30,000 kilograms (65,000 pounds) of waste to the Boyne Road dump weekly, he said.

Cummings stressed the planning was still in its initial stages. The in-house committee of six was set up two and half months ago and is working to overcome some of the obstacles involved in recycling, he said.

The committee wants to make sure damaged or excess packaging can be reused and also to avoid storing material for recycling only to find out that there is no way to reprocess it.

The food processing plant has waste materials like glass, cardboard, aluminum, metal, plastics and paper, used to package raw materials sent to the plant and for goods manufactured here. But now the compnay hopes to recycle that material.

Cummings said the committee also hopes the plant can benefit from a recycling program being set up by Winchester Township, Winchester Village, and Chesterville municipal councils.

The three municipalities have jointly purchased two trailer-like containers which will collect certain recyclables at the dump beginning later this month.

Once Nestle's in-house committee figures out what it can recycle, Cummings is planning to ask village council if Nestle can take part in the muncipal recycling program. He expects to submit Nestle's recycling proposal to the village by the end of the year.

Chesterville Reeve Jim Cook said last week any help Nestle could offer in reducing the amount of waste going to the dump was welcome.

Nestle already recycles limited amounts of corrugated cardboard and jute bags which are used to package coffee, he said. And the plant uses recycled cardboard for packaging.

The main obstacle to expanding recycling efforts has been to locate firms capable of handling recyclable waste, he said.

But public demand for more recycling has led to Nestle forming the in-house committee to seriously look at recycling. Cummings said it is time for Nestle to take part in efforts to reduce the amount of waste going to the landfill site.

"I go to the landfill once in awhile myself. It's unbelievable the stuff that you see going into these landfills," he said.

Courts advisory committees looking for volunteers

TORONTO - Attorney General Howard Hampton is asking the public for volunteers to serve on special committees designed to help manage Ontario's new court system.

"Courts management advisory committees will bring together the people working in courts and the public to ensure the system effectively serves the people of Ontario, " Hampton said.

Each of eight regional committees will be made up of two public representatives, two judges, a Crown attorney, two lawyers and a court administrator. These committees will deal with such issues as scheduling courtrooms and sittings, budgets and staffing.

One separate provincial committee will comprise four public representatives, four chief judges, four lawyers and four members of the Ministry of the Attorney General, including Hampton. This committee will deal with the administration of the overall system. Each committee will meet at least four times a year.

The committees are being appointed as part of court reform which was implemented on Sept. 1, 1990.

"We're not looking for people with legal training," Mr. Hampton said. "But we would like applicant's to be committed to helping make the new justice system work by bringing local needs and concerns to committee meetings."

People interested in volunteering should send a letter outlining their qualifications to the Ministry of the Attorney General's

County government restructuring likely delayed

Greg Kielec
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE - The majority of proposed county government restructuring may not take place until after the next municipal election, area municipal politicians say.

Reeves with three area municipalities, Chesterville, Osnabruck Township and Winchester Township, say they think most of the proposed restructuring of county and municipal governments will not take place before fall, 1991.

The reeves say a backlog of studies which must be completed in municipalities before changes can be proposed, will delay restructuring because all studies won't be completed before next fall.

"It looks like it's going to take a long time," said Chesterville Reeve Jim Cook.

He said the problem is lack of government resources to complete all the municipal studies before the 1991 municipal elections. There simply are not enough government consultants to complete all the studies.

Each county government is to do its own study to determine how to operate more efficiently, including the possible amalgamation of municipalities to the effectiveness of governments.

The provincial government is recommending municipalities with less than 4,000 electors, amalgamate with a neighboring municipality or municipalities, said Claude Cousineau, Winchester Township reeve.

The recommendation could mean area municipalities, including Chesterville, could be faced with amalgamation, he said. Amalgamations will likely come under intense fire, but not from the public, from politicians, he said.

"The only people against restructuring are the politicians," he said. "I've heard some hues and cries from politicians already."

There will be plenty of public meetings before any amalgamations take place, and Cousineau predicted the public will favor amalgamations to produce less cumbersome governments.

There are 105 councillors in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Municipalities to oversee a population of about 55, 000. The City of Cornwall has 11 councillors to oversee a population of 45,000, he said.

He already has heard a number of municipal politicians voice opposition to amalgamating municipalities. Politicians are against amalgamation because they fear it may eliminate their jobs, he said.

Cousineau thinks the studies and their proposals will ensure ratepayers get "the biggest bang for their buck" where municipal government is concerned. "I think there are some areas where we can save some money."

But most changes before the election will be cosmetic, such as the retitling of reeves, who will be called mayors after the election.

Osnabruck Reeve Stewart Hart also believes the majority of changes will be delayed until the 1994 election.

Recommendations will likely be implemented slowly and plenty of public input will provided, he said.

An adventure in the Land Down Under

Local Rovers head to Australia for first international conference since '67

Andy McLeister
Record Staff

VERNON -- While some of us hope to escape to the nearest sunny destination for a brief respite from the winter blues, four members of the localscouting movement have slightly more ambitious plans in the works.

They're bound for Australia and the Eighth World Moot, a gathering of Rovers, the highest level in the scouting. The Dec. 26 to Jan. 8 international conference is the first to be held since 1967.

"Oh, yah!" exclaimed Nicole Van Wylick when asked if she is looking forward to her trip down under. "It's getting more and more real as we get closer to the time."

Van Wylick, 18, is a first-year University of Ottawa student. Although her family now resides in Vernon, she still retains ties through the scouting and guide movement to her hometown, Chesterville.

Joining her for the journey to Melbourne, on Australia's northern coast, are fellow members of the First Winchester Springs Camp Sheldrick Rover Group, named for the scouting facilities at Cass Bridge.

Ivan Bowman, 18, of Chesterville, Rick Rodney, 19, of Winchester, and Cassandra Crowder, 19, of South Gloucester form the rest of the local delegation. Bowman attends Waterloo University while the other two are students at Carleton University.

Quite an honor

The four Rovers from this area will be included in a 47-member Canadian contingent.

"It's quite an honor" to be selected for the Moot, said Nicole's mother, Alice. She noted that interest in international conferences to discuss scouting issues has revived partly because this one will be co-ed.

Alice Van Wylick is also chairman of the section committee that is raising funds on behalf of the Rovers who, under scouting regulations, are prohibited from publicly campaigning for the $10,000 needed for the trip on their own.

So far, the committee has raised money through catalogue sales of Regal products, a bingo held during last summer's Winchester Dairyfest, and the sale of hay to Continental Mushrooms of Metcalfe. The next item on the fundraising agenda is a dance planned for this Saturday in the Greely Legion.

The section committee chairman stressed in an interview last week that the Greely dance is not geared for teenagers. As at most adult functions, there will be a cash bar.

As tensions rise in the Persian Gulf, and oil prices increase accordingly, airfares are also beginning to spiral.

The younger Van Wylick said that because of uncertainty in world oil prices, and by extension, costs of air travel, the Rovers have already paid for their seats on a Dec. 6 Continental Airways flight out of Syracuse, NY.

Paid fares in advance

They had put down a deposit when they booked their flight, Van Wylick said. However, the only way they could be guaranteed a firm per-ticket price of $1,504 U.S. return was to pay the full amount in advance.

She said they opted to fly out of Syracuse because of the substantial savings they could realize by going south of the border.

When the Rovers arrive in Melbourne, it won't be five star accommodations they will be booking into. It will be tenting all the way, except the four days when they will be on "out trips".

Camp Sheldrick Rovers, from left, Ivan Bowman, Nicole Van Wylick, Rick Rodney and Cassandra Crowder will join the 47-member Canadian contingent at the eighth World Moot in Melbourne, Australia, next month.

Van Wylick said she and Crowder will spend their out trips sailing and houseboating. She opted for an activity a bit less strenuous than what the young men have lined up for them because of foot surgery she underwent last winter.

Testing Crocodile Dundee

Bowman and Rodney will be on an adventure that would test the mettle of Crocodile Dundee: hiking, canoeing, bushwalking, and manhandling all-terrain vehicles in the Australian wilderness.

The rest of their stay will be spent in conference with other Moot delegates from around the world. The Moot's agenda will focus on the future of scouting, Van Wylick said.

The four Rovers have years of scouting and guide experience among them, and continue at the 18 years and over level to advance the movement.

Each Rover group takes on a major service project and for the Sheldrick Group, it is maintaining scout facilities at Cass Bridge.

The camp is located on the shores of the South Nation River, on land leased from the South Nation River Conservation Authority.

Planting and growing hardwoods workshop

PRESCOTT - The Ministry of Natural Resources, in cooperation with the Ontario Forestry Association, Domtar Inc. and the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food is hosting a workshop on Planting and Growing Hardwood Trees Sat., Nov. 24 at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, 141 Henry St. West, here.

The workshop will focus on how to plan, plant and maintain hardwood trees and plantations.

Quality hardwood trees represent the choicest product from Ontario's forests. For generations these trees have supplied raw material for the manufacture of high quality veneer, furniture and wood related items. Species such as red oak, white oak, white ash, black cherry, yellow birch, sugar maple and black walnut are valuable hardwoods found growing here in Eastern Ontario.

In addition to producing valuable lumber and veneer, some hardwoods produce edible nuts and several species can be grown in Eastern Ontario.

The unprecedented high demand for hardwood trees for forestry and greening reflects a desire on behalf of many landowners to diversify land use. It is however important to know the species requirements with respect to site, climatic range, site preparatioin, planting and tending.

The agenda for the program will concentrate on these items and will cover several species of hardwoods such as sugar maple, oaks, hickories, ashes, hybrid poplar and edible nut trees. Other topics include stream bank planting with hardwoods and global warming, climate change and the role of hardwood trees.

Anyone interested in planting and maintaining hardwood trees is welcome to attend. Registration will be at the door of the Legion Hall, 141 Henry Street W., Prescott at 9am on the 24th of November. There is no registration fee.

Remembrance Day

NOVEMBER 11, 1990

CANADA

PRIME MINISTER · PREMIER MINISTRE

Remembrance Day serves as a solemn reminder to us all of the many men and women who unselfishly risked their lives in the service of our nation.

In the mud of Flanders during the First World War, our respect as a people who stood in the defence of freedom was earned. Canadians fought with courage and determination, and we have since upheld this reputation in such diverse places as Hong Kong, Ortona, The Scheldt and Murmansk during the Second World War and later during the Korean War.

Those Canadians who fought brought distinction to themselves and our nation. Their loyalty and bravery are without measure and will forever serve as a source of great national pride.

Canadians from coast to coast remain indebted to the men and women whose efforts have helped to ensure the preservation of the values and principles we cherish. This year another generation of Canadians is carrying on this noble tradition in the Persian Gulf.

Today, we salute Canada's veterans for their gallant efforts and pay tribute to a most special group of Canadians. Their great personal sacrifices will never be forgotten.

Little does she know it, but for Madame Zoranga, portrayed by Joyce Corey (left), one of those drinks proves to be fatal. Zoranga, a medium, is brought to the Winslow mansion to get to the bottom of the mystery surrounding the death of Frederic Winslow in a play put on by Chesterville's Charity Players, Friday night at the Legion Hall.

Players stage murder and mayhem for charity

Yves Cossette
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE - It was another polite evening of murder and mayhem with the Charity Players of Chesterville.

This time the location was a haunted house, dubbed the Hallowe'en Mystery Theatre.

The ever versatile players sketched out a plot that had the mostly masked or disguised audience frequently roaring with delight.

The show also had members of Chesterville's Lions Club in good spirits too. The sold-out show at the Legion Hall Friday night means the club could get about $900 in proceeds according to club president Wayne Smirle.

To attend the Hallowe'en Mystery Theatre, entitled A Seance at Winslow Manor, 120 people paid a $15 admission charge for the charity play.

Smirle said the club hasn't decided which charity or charities will benefit from the performance. But he said the money will be put back into the community.

He praised the Charity Players for their performance Friday night.

"I just think it's super fantastic and people seem to have a wonderful time," he said.

For most of the Charity Players, a group of a more than a dozen hobby actors, A Seance at Winslow Manor, was more of the type of comedy murder mystery the group specializes in.

The setting changes, as do the characters, but murder and audience participation are key ingrediants. Because of the audience participation, the flow of the play is quite unpredictable and the actors often resort to improvisation.

"A lot of it is quite spontaneous," said Charity Player Caroline Roberts following the play.

An outline of the plot to A Seance at the Winslow Manor was developed by Roberts and Charity player Tony Glen. But each of the actors is given considerable leeway to develop their character as they see fit.

In this particular mystery one of the sons of the late owner of Winslow Manor hosts a Hallowe'en party. The highlight of this party is to be a seance conducted by the medium, Madame Zoranga. The son wants Zoranga to contact the spirit of his late father, who is believed to haunt the manor, to find out how he died, 10 years ago.

The result is one of those whodunnit mysteries laced with with a good deal of fun. Fun for the audience, because the 120 members of the audience were part of the play. They were the "invited" guests to the seance.

Before the actual seance began there was plenty of dancing, all organized by Winslow manor.

An element of audience participation is a trademark of the Charity Players. So are the occasional references to current issues or local people.

Frederick Winslow, it was alleged, was murdered when he was pushed into an automatic trash compactor, a reference to today's "pressing" environmental issues. One of the characters, portrayed by Tony Glen, was the Winslows' family lawyer from the Weakman and Crass, a little satire aimed at a local law firm.

"We tend to make to make it a little topical of the area," Roberts said.

Bruce Loucks

Bruce Loucks, a retired farmer of Wellington House Nursing, Prescott, passed away Oct. 20, 1990 at the home at the age of 75.

He was born Oct. 1, 1915 in Williamsburg Township, the son of the late Thomas Loucks and the late Nellie McLean.

He was the brother of Bert Loucks of Elma, Gladys McMahon of Montreal, Hazel Bolton of Maitland.

He was predeceased by his brother Donald Loucks and survived by numerous nieces and nephews.

The funeral was held at J.R. Vice Home Chesterville, 2 p.m. Oct. 23, 1990 and was officiated by Rev. Roy Harwood. Interment took place at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

The pallbearers were Ray Loucks, Ken Gray, Bert Loucks, Stephen McMahon, Michael McMahon and Shawn McMahon.

Late goal saves N.S.Express

FINCH - The North Stormont Express Junior 'C' hockey team got off to a fast start, but it was a late goal that kept the squad from losing, last Thursday night.

John Grady slapped in the Express seventh goal with only 2:39 left to play. The goal evened the score between the Express and the Casselman Cambridge Stars. Tim Ouderkirk assisted.

Prior to the contest, both teams were tied for third place in the Eastern Ontario Junior "C" Hockey League. And the seven-goal deadlock leaves the Express's record at 3-2-1.

The Express broke the scoring ice, with just 13 seconds played. John Mackler pounced with assistance from Roch Benoit and Kevin Villeneuve.

The Stars pulled even at 7:50, but Ouderkirk put the Express back in the lead with 3:34 left in the opening period.

Jeff MacLean gave the Express a 3-1 advantage before the first intermission. At the 1:17 mark, MacLean capitalized on a pass from Dave Leroux and Ouderkirk.

The Express rode their way to a 4-1 lead early in the second period. The home-team swarmed around the Stars' net after the face-off, and 30 seconds later Jeremy Logtins put the puck between the pipes.

The Express saw their three goal lead slowly slip to one, before they tallied another goal.

Leroux worked for the Express's fifth marker as he beat the Stars defensive squad to slap in an unassisted goal.

The Express went up 6-3 as captain Ouderkirk netted his second goal of the contest with help from Grady.

The Stars slid one more behind Express netminder Richard Cherrier before the second period buzzer sounded.

With 13:09 left to play in the game the Stars started off a three-goal outburst, grabbing a 7-6 lead, leaving just 6:45 for the Express to make a comeback.

The Stars lead was short-lived, however. Grady saved the Express team from a total defeat, enabling the squad to salvage the point.

The St. Isidore Eagles will be taking on the Express in their next home game, on Thurs., Nov. 8. Game time is 8pm, at the Finch Arena.

A bigger challenge

WINCHESTER - Following two one-sided victories over Morrisburg's two novice teams North Dundas' intermediate novis traveling team is looking for a stiffer challenge.

The Demons, coached by Shawn Chambers has decided to join the senior novice division to provide more of a challenge for the young team.

That decision means North Dundas will have two teams in the circuit, one coached by Chambers and the other by Brian Wyatt.

Chambers' Demons skated to a 12-0 and 11-0 decisions over the Morrisburg squads last week.

In their second game Saturday Tyler Shortt and Jonathan Chambers each bagged four goals. Mike Davidson, Joey Hillis and Ryan Thompson notched one each.

Lop-sided victory

Crites sparks Tagwi Warriors win

GLENGARRY - Julie Crites poured in a game-high 26 points to lead the senior Tagwi Warriors to a 41-24 SD&G High School victory over the Glengarry Gaels on Tuesday, October 30.

The lop-sided 41-24 decision was due to Crites' excellent performance. Her points alone would have awarded the Warriors the win.

Crites started off her scoring string by connecting for two deuces in the opening quarter, leading the Warriors to a 7-4 advantage. Tracy McNicol hit for three Warrior points.

The second quarter saw Crites better her performance. Crites increased the Warriors' lead by dropping in six, to give Tagwi a commanding 16-7 advantage before the intermission.

In the third quarter, the Warriors slapped in a 15-point total with Crites nailing nine.

The Gaels hooped six points trail 31-13.

The Gaels out-scored the Warriors in the final quarter, 11-10, but the game had already been lost.

Warrior coach Mike Nalepa said "They (the Warriors) played excellent defence."

Nalepa said he was pleased with Crites' performance. "It's nice to see she's back in the swing again."

In the past, Crites has been known for her high-scoring games, but this season has not had as much success under the basket.

Helping Crites out with the scoring was Kristi Poirier with six points. Laurie Fergusson hooped four, Tracy MaNicol connected for three and Susan Konink made a deuce.

Alyson Graham was the Gaels' high scorer, tallying 11 in a lossing cause.

A little defeat

The Glengarry Gaels took an early lead over the junior Tagwi Warriors and held on to win 37-28 on Tues., Oct. 30.

During the first quarter, the Gaels tripled the Warriors' performance to take a 12-4 advantage. Jody Cain and Susan Poast each had a deuce for the losing squad.

Poast connected for three points in the second quarter, while teammate Andrea Villeneuve slapped in four.

The Gaels nailed nine of their own to lead 21-11 lead before the half-time buzzer sounded.

After the third quarter of play, the Warriors cut the Gaels lead to seven. The visiting squad duplicated their first half performance by dropping in 11 points to end up on the short end of a 29-22 score.

The Warriors scored six in the final quarter but their defence allowed the Gaels to hit for eight.

Warriors coach Don Perrigo said, "We had trouble against Glengarry. Glengarry played very well, they surprised us."

Perrigo added that in their previous match-up against the Gaels, on Sept. 27, the little Warriors won by a 32-27 margin.

"We had trouble defending. They managed to get inside a lot," Perrigo said.

Perrigo continued by saying the Warriors' offense also had its difficulties. "We missed our usual four or five lay-ups and we put ourselves out of the game verly early."

The Gaels topped the games scoring list, while the Warriors' Jody Cain led her squad with eight. She was the third highest points-getter of the contest.

Susan Poast hooped seven of her own, Amy Stephens nailed in six, Andrea Villeneuve sunk four, while Carrie Libbos and Kathi Poirier each had a deuce.

Sr. Novice Demons tie opener

KEMPTVILLE - North Dundas battled the Kemptville Royals to a 4-4 tie in their Upper Canada Minor Hockey League season opener.

The senior novice Demons got off to a slow start and fell behind 2-0 but rallied twice and carried a one goal lead into the final frame.

Only a deflected goal late in the third period prevented North Dundas from salting away a victory.

Justin Gravelle pocketed two goals for the Demons while Becky Kleinswormink and Brad Filion bagged singles. Chris Wyatt and Marty Link earned assists.

Gregg Griffith turned in a strong effort in the Demons' cage.

In exhibition play Sunday North Dundas dropped a closely-contested 4-3 decision to the Russell Braves.

Rory Moriarty, Steve Mattice and Justin Gravelle notched North Dundas' goals. Jessica Dillabough, Jeff Beck, Brad Filion, Daryl Toonders and Becky Kleinswormink earned assists.

Jordan Dale Hill has joined the team as a defenceman. Kevin Fields took his turn between the pipes and faced intense pressure from Russell's shooters.

Jr. 'C' Flyers add two more defeats to winless record

CHESTERVILLE - Winless.

The Chesterville Junior 'C' Flyers are playing their way towards a losing season.

Last week in Eastern Ontario Junior 'C' Hockey League action, the Flyers added two more defeats to their winless record. The squad is now playing with 0-9-0 record.

On Monday night, the Embrun 72's counted a 7-6 victory over the Flyers. Six members of the Flyers club did not last until the final buzzer, while four of the 72's skaters were also unable to finish the game.

Eight skaters were ejected from the game because of fights that occurred throughout the contest. The Flyers' Rod Casselman, Jason Major, Kent Young and Tony Holmes were charged with a game misconduct penalty. Chris Holmes received a match offence, while Don Marcellus committed a game misconduct.

Giroux Marc, Ryan Philippe, Savage Danie and Murphy Mathieu were that 72's skaters the didn't play till the end, due to fighting.

Perhaps the greatest challenge the Flyers have to overcome is the constant changing faces within the organization. Four new players have been signed to the squad, as roster changes take place every week in the hope of improving the team's strengh.

Forwards Jason Major, Denis Ouellette and Michael Godard along with goaltender Guy Charbonneau were signed last week.

Both Ouellette and Godard scored two markers against the 72's, giving the Flyers players and fans thoughts of a victory that never materialized.

A slow start allowed the 72's to create a 3-0 lead during the first period of play. The home team gave up the goals within the opening nine minutes.

The Flyers finally hit the scoreboard at the 16:38 mark of the second period as Ouellette slapped in an unassisted goal.

Tony Holmes chopped the 72's lead to one with 13:10 showing on the clock. Holmes capitalized on a pass from Kent Young and Tim Holmes.

With markers at 12:02 and 6:41, the 72's regained their advantage, but before the middle period closed, the Flyers hit the 72's net for two more.

Godard converted his first goal for the Flyers with 3:19 left in the frame, connecting on a pass from Major.

It only took Tim Holmes 43 seconds to net the Flyers' fourth goal. Young assisted on the marker, which narrowed the 72's lead to one.

The 72's scored twice to prevent the Flyers from an opportunity to even the score, and took a 7-4 lead.

Ouellette netted his second goal of the contest with only 7:39 left to play. Ray Sherrer provided the set up.

The Flyers' last goal of the game came off the stick of Godard as he took advantage of passes from Ouellette and Sherrer, with 5:29 showing.

NEW MEMBERS

Ouellette joined the Flyers last week, after spending the start of the season with the Winchester Junior 'B' Hawks.

Jason Major, started his Jr. 'C' campaign with the Russell Lions. Major also recruited Godard, an Ottawa native.

Charbonneau played between pipes of the Embrun 72's at the start of the season. He has now taken over the position that was once held by Martin St-Denis, who is now back with his home team, the Russell Lions. Matthew Giles was the first starting goaltender for the Flyers, but was sent down to the midgets after St-Denis was signed.

HISTORY

The Chesterville Flyers travelled to St. Isidore Sun., Nov. 4 to take on the leagues' top club.

The Eagles tore the Flyers apart 16-3.

Tony Holmes came up with two of the Flyers' goals while Ray Sherrer marked a single in the losing cause.

Gonderman shines in Devils' 71-25 victory

MAPLE RIDGE - The North Dundas Senior Devils punished the Rothwell-Osnabruck Lancers 71-25 here last Friday.

The Devils tallied a 71-25 point victory, lifting their record to 7 wins and a loss.

Sandy Gonderman was the main scoring power of the Devils. She had an easy time nailing 20 points.

The game was really no contest. The home team took charge from the beginning, never allowing the Lancers an opportunity to get into the contest.

The Devils doubled their opponents eight points during the opening quarter. Gonderman hit for six to lead the Devils to a 12-8 lead.

The Devils hit for only 12 in the second quarter, their weakest offensive showing of the game, but it beat the Lancers' eight point best.

Gonderman scored another six points while Vicki Gryspeerdt counted her second four-point quarter. The Devils held a 28-16 lead when the half time buzzer sounded.

The Lancers third eight-point quarter, along with a strong 22-points performance by the Devils, widening the scoring game.

A 50-24 advantage was captured by the Devils after third quarter action. Gryspeerdt led the Devils best offensive showing with seven points. Brenda Koekkoek put in her best performance of the contest by dropping in five.

In fourth quarter action, the Devils played a tight defensive game. The squad held the Lancers to one point.

Raffaella Malaguti hit for three deuces to lead the Devils' final quarter scoring. The home team connected for a 21 point quarter, ending the encounter with an amazing 46 point difference.

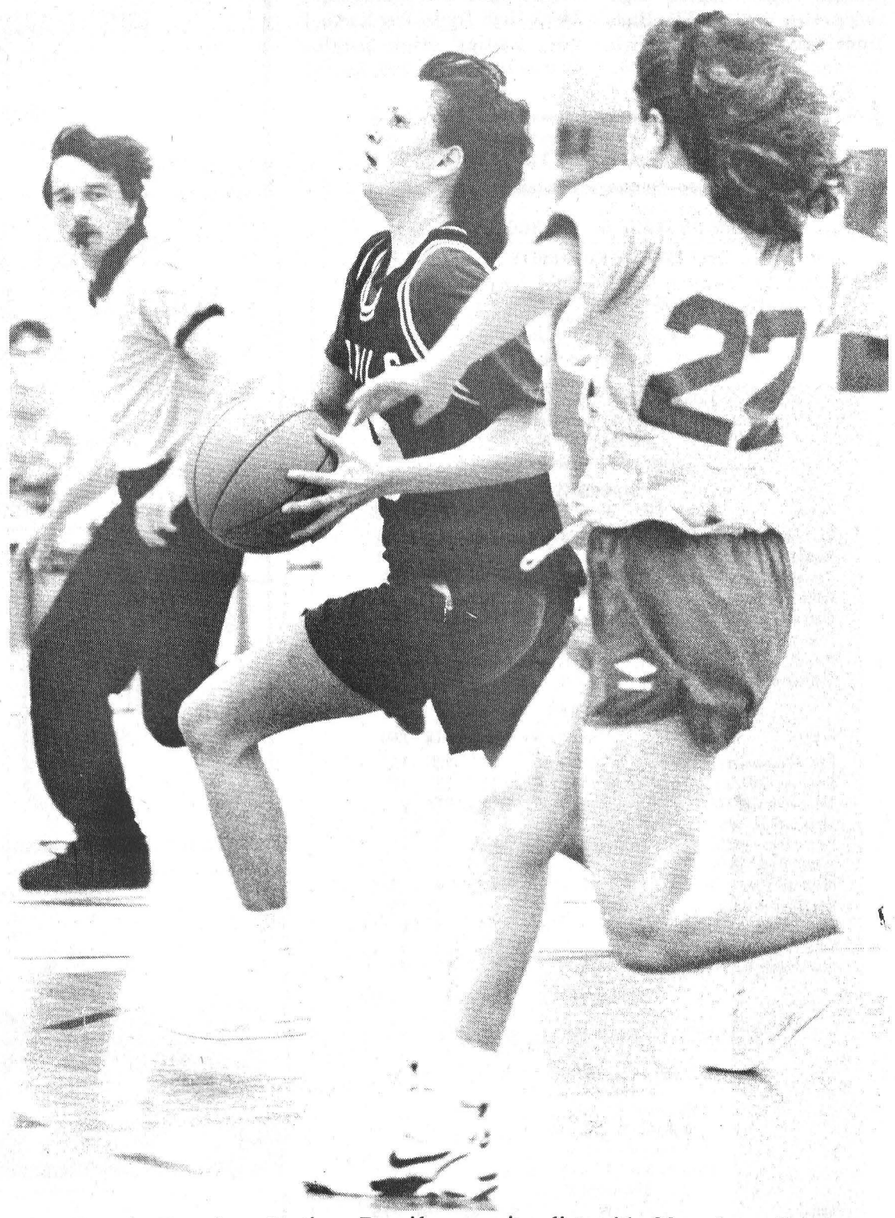
"I was impressed with the ball handling," Devils' coach Peter Fortin said.

The girls were taking advantage of all scoring opportunities, he added. "They were taking advantage of every break in play."

Fortin also reconized the powerful performance by Gonderman.

"Sandy Gonderman was hitting just about every basket she tried for, and she was really agressive on the court," Fortin said.

Gonderman had her best offensive game of the season, ringing 20 points. Gryspeerdt dropped in 17, Malaguti sunk 10, Koekkoek nailed in nine, Shealyn Summers hit for five, Katie Carkner and Ellen Constapel each counted four points, while Dawn Page had a deuce.



The North Dundas Senior Devils destroyed the Rothwell-Osnabruck Lancers, 71-25, at home last Friday. The Devils' Sandy Gonderman led the squads scoring list with 20 points. Gonderman played for her highest scoring game thus far this season.

EXERCISE: WHAT ARE THE PAYOFFS?

Exercise is a natural stimulant that promotes the optimum efficiency of some of our bodily systems. It improves the operating efficiency of our muscles, lungs, circulatory system, and heart. It aids our digestion and cuts down on the bone-mineral loss associated with aging. It can actually restore lost efficiency to these systems, so it contributes to body age reduction and reducing our risk of degenerative diseases of the heart and circulatory system.

Exercise makes us look and feel younger. Appropriate exercise is fun and leaves us with a pleasant sense of physical well-being. People who exercise regularly tend to sleep better, and use less sugar, caffeine, alcohol, nicotine, and other drugs.

Regular exercise tones our muscles, and improves our appearance. Above all, exercise can help us to feel better about ourselves as we see our appearance improve. It can help to reinforce a positive self-behaviour cycle.

Exercise helps us to avoid injuries and recover from injuries. Because any physical injury is very stressful, anything we can do to prevent bodily mishaps will reduce stress demands. For most people who lead sedentary lifestyles, a regular and balanced exercise program is a good way of avoiding injury. And, because most exercise programs promote good coordination, the more coordinated we are, the safer we are in our everyday life.

Exercise relaxes our mind and body. In a stress reaction, our muscles tighten, ready to protect us. Unfortunately for many people, this stress-induced muscle tension becomes chronic. And when tight muscles become very uncomfortable, they effect our performance, whether on the job, or even when trying to relax. That's why stretching exercises are so important for relaxing tense muscles.

Exercise relaxes our mind by allowing us to focus on something other than our problems and worries, thereby releasing pent-up emotions as well as physical tension. Therefore, exercise can be one of the most effective relaxation techniques there is.

Exercise helps rid the body of stress-induced fatigue acids. Fatigue acids, especially lactic acid, build up in the body because of stress. Our muscles become tired and heavy, our energy level drops, and we feel "wiped out". A good aerobic exercise session lowers the level of these fatigue acids in the body, which is why many people experience a second wind after a good workout.

For most people, increased activity poses no health problem when it is phased in gradually. Even so, it is always wise to check with your physician before you start, and to let them know what kinds of activities you'll be doing. Your physician can steer you towards the best exercise programs according to your medical limitations. He/she will not only want to know about your progress, they'll be able to tell!

Positive exercise works for you because it is an active expression of an increasingly positive sense of self. We aren't only interested in muscle building, we're interested in self-building. Each time you jog, visit the gym, or play a sport, you are building your positive self-image, which is essential mentally, emotionally and spiritually.

My Silent Achievers this week are all of you who were such good sports as to wear Halloween costumes to exercise class. Some exercises will never be the same!

We are so very lucky to be able to do it for ourselves.

Demons off to slow start

WINCHESTER - North Dundas Atom C No. Two Demons have dropped a pair of Upper Canada Minor Hockey League contests to start their 1990-91 campaign.

The Demons played Kemptville's No. Two squad on Oct. 25 and came out on the short end of a 7-3 verdict.

Scott Dellaire fired two of his squad's three goals while Ryan Moore connected for the single. Brent Sheldrick drew an assist on one of Dellaire's markers.

In their other encounter the Demons scored first but lost a 5-1 decision to the visiting Metcalfe Mustangs.

Scott Dellaire notched his third goal in two games scoring from Andre Meeks but that was North Dundas' only goal.

Vikings' ahead of Voyageurs in point race

WINCHESTER - The Morewood Vikings are hanging on to the top spot in the Winchester and District Broomball League, while the Voyageurs have fallen one point behind.

The Vikings' 6-1 victory over the Toyes Hill Roadrunners last Sunday, puts them on top of the league's point race. Thus far into the season the squad has counted 12 points, while the second-place Voyageurs have 11.

The Vikings' Chris McKibbon was the first to get past Hills' netminder Brian Melenhorst. McKibbon slapped in a pass from Larry St. Pierre and Frank Bols with 17:04 showing in the first period.

St. Pierre counted one of his own at the 11:42 mark. He made the play with assistance from Guy Marion, giving the Vikings a 2-0 half time lead.

Brian Como started the second half with a pair of goals. He hit the net at the 20:01 mark to make good on a pass from Marion and Larry Shaver. Como's second goal came 53 seconds later. Gerald Eby and Marion created the play.

With 10:28 left in the contest, Lou Proulx put the Vikings up 5-0. Proulx connected on a pass from Brian Thatcher.

The last marker of the game came off Thatchers' broom. He made it 6-1 with assistance from Marion and Como. There was only 4:08 left to play in the contest.

Voyageurs 7-Manotick 1

A hat-trick performance by Steve Boucher led the Voyageurs to a 7-1 victory over the Manotick Merchants last Sunday.

The Voyageurs got an early jump on the losing squad. With just 23 seconds played, Gary Gallinger scored with assistance from Boucher and Barton Heagle.

Heagle was the next to beat Manotick's goaltender Danny Lairs. The 2-0 lead came at 13:53, with assistance from Gallinger.

The Voyageurs had counted a 5-0 advantage over Manotick when the first half buzzer sounded. Steve Hendley, Boucher and Gallinger slapped in a goal each for the victorious squad. Geoff Corry counted two assists while Meryl Patterson and Heagle marked one each.

Boucher netted his second goal in the Voyageurs' win as he took advantage of a pass from Corry with 18:23 showing in the second half.

Todd O'Connor destroyed any hopes of a Voyageur's shut-out when he slapped the ball between the pipes. O'Connor got Manotick's only goal without assistance.

Ormond 4-Winchester 0

Tony Vanderlaan and Bill Timmins scored twice in an Ormond's victory over the Winchester Merchants.

With just 2:07 played, Vanderlaan connected on a pass from Dan McDiarmid to give Ormond a one point lead.

Timmins made it 2-0, 1:13 later. Bill Robinson assisted on the play.

There was no scoring for the next 45:35, until Timmins slapped in his second marker of the evening. Brent Taylor assisted the goal with 1:43 left in the contest.

Vanderlaan tallied his second goal of the game with just 18 seconds left on the clock. McDiarmid counted his second assist on Ormond's fourth marker.

Prescott 3-Newington 0

The Newington Knights are still looking for their first win in the Winchester District Broomball League.

Prescott Road counted a three-goal shut-out against the winless Knights last Sunday evening.
