In Aid of the Library

A delightful evening has been arranged for Friday evening Oct. 13th, at the home of Mrs. W. N. Fulton. A novel programme is being prepared, tea will be served and a silver collection taken to help the Public Library fund.

Chesterville Makes Donatiou

At a special meeting of the village Council Monday evening a donation of one hundred dollars was made to the local branch of the Red Cross society toward the fund for relief of fire sufferers in Northern Ontario. The Red Cross society had an unexpended sum of ninety dollars on hand to which the contribution from the village will be added and remitted forthwith to provide, comfort the distressed.

The Red Cross

That the well-known generosity of this community will not fail the fire-sufferers of Northern Ontario has been proved already by the quantities of clothing and bedding brought into the receiving station at Hamilton's store. Donations of cash, too, are being made. In order that all may have the privilege of helping, the time for receiving has been extended to Monday Oct 16th, (inclusive) immediately after which goods will be packed and sent to headquarters. Cash donations will be taken charge of for the Red Cross at both Banks. Acknowledgement of same will be made in the usual way through the Record.

Pleasing Entertainment at Morewood

The Harvest Home dinner held at Morewood on Friday, Oct, 6th, under the auspices of the Presby-Ladies Aid was a great success both socially and financially, the total receipts being $92.00. The concert was opened by singing "O Canada". The chairman, Mr Thos. Coulthart, made a short speech of welcome and in a few well chosen remarks explained the purpose of the meeting.

Mrs. and Miss Jobb played a very pleasing piano duet and responded graciously to a hearty encore. Mrs. Joseph Burgess of Ottawa, then delighted the audience with a number of carefully selected readings, at times convulsing it with mirth by her clever dialect imitations and then holding her audience in tense silence by her sympathetic interpretation of her more dramatic numbers. The applause which followed Mrs. Burgess' various numbers gave evidence of a most appreciative audience. A piano solo by Miss Muriel Jobb, Choruses and delightful solos by Mrs. H. Faulkner and Mrs. W. McQuaig were all heartily encored. The program closed with singing the National Anthem.

Chesterville Folks Anxious For Friends

The terrible disaster that swept over Northern Ontario last week brought many hours of anxiety to those on the outside who had friends and relatives in the burned area. Several families in Chesterville and vicinity had dear ones with whom it was very difficult to get in communication for some time after the fire had spread itself. Mrs. G. H. Hayward, sister of Mrs. F. E. Price with her husband Judge Hayward, were residents of Haileybury, and among the score whose property escaped destruction.

Mr. Pat Masterson, brother of Mr. Jas Masterson, also resident in Haileybury, was less fortunate, losing everything except the clothing worn. His dwelling was in proximity to the hospital which was also destroyed.

In the hospital at the time of the fire, recovering from typhoid fever, Miss Wealthie Droppo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Droppo, was a patient, fortunately removed to safety before the building took fire. Two of her brothers, Tom, six miles north of Cobalt on a farm was not in track of the blaze; while W. J. Droppo, blacksmith, in New Liskeard was fortunate enough to be in the portion of that town not reached by the flames.

Will Chesterville Have a Fire Brigade?

There has been considerable discussion and favorable comment on the suggestion put out by The Record last week of the formation of a voluntary fire brigade. It is almost unanimously agreed that it is the missing link in Chesterville fire protection.

We are fortunate at the present time in having as a resident of the village one who has had an experience of ten or twelve years in an organized brigade in England he carries papers from the mayor of the town and from the chief of the fire department testifying to his ability as a fire-fighter and a highly esteemed member of the organization of the town which he left to make his home in Canada. We refere to Mr. Alfred Morris, well-known to most of our citizens. He has recently entered into business in town on his own account where he expects to make his home.

Mr. Morris has offered his services in effecting the organization and training of six or eight men who will join with him in forming a force of fire fighters. This is a service that should appeal to many of our young men who have many times shown their willingness and ability to fight fire as the occasion has demanded.

Besides the practical side of forming a company of fire-fighters there is also the sporting side to such an organization.

Contests of skill and agility are advertised far and wide every summer as "Firemen's Demonstrations" when much honor and valuable prizes are won by competing fire companies, in the different branches connected with getting certain necessary operations completed in the shortest time. Chesterville has always stood high in athletics of all kinds and without doubt can produce a fire company to rank with the best in villages of the same size.

We would suggest that the Village Council place at the disposal of Mr. Morris and those who will co-operate with him the use of the Fire Hall, provided with heat and sufficient furniture to make it comfortable, for the purposes of a club room for the men who will volunteer as members of a company and agree to take instruction from Mr. Morris in the fire fighting methods he is conversant with.

Mr. Morris has volunteered his services for the good of the village.

The Record would be pleased to receive the names of others who will volunteer their services, when as soon as enough come forward, a meeting for organization purposes can be held and the whole matter discussed from all angles.

This matter needs the encouragement and backing of the property owners, the ones most vitally interested in having their property saved from destruction by fire, and much depends on the attitude they take in an endeavor to provide more efficient fire protection for this place.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

C. W. Casselman.

I wish to express my satisfaction with the settlement of $500 for loss of Cow by lightning insured with the North British and Mercantile Ins. Co. Had I not recently changed my policy I would have received but $75 00 for the loss. I have no hesitation in recomending your Company and yourself as an agent for prompt and satisfactory settlements of fire losses.

Yours truly,

Re-Surfacing Deck of Bridge

A new plan is being tried for surfacing the deck of the bridge over the Nation in town. There is very heavy traffic over this bridge and the heavy planks heretofore used are soon worn away. After repairing the planking a surface two or three inches thick of crushed stone with which tar has been mixed has been laid.

Chesterville High School

A month of the school year has passed already but our High school has made good use of the time and has a good start for a successful year. Since there is a completely new staff in charge considerable work in organization fell to the lot of the new principal but we understand the machinery is all running smoothly.

The enrolment so far this year is 102, made up of 1st. Form—36, 2nd.—27, and a middle school of 39.

The staff consists of Fred J. Barlow B. A., Principal, with Miss Mullet B. A. and Miss Lillian Handford, B A. as assistants.

It is expected that if the pupils, parents and staff co-operate—without which you cannot have successful work—our school will make a creditable showing at the Exams. in June next.

Toronto Traveller Tells of Escape From North Cobalt

How a number of Haileybury people were caught between two fires and had to dash through the flames in motor cars was graphically described by Harvey Ormerod, a traveler for Ramsey Company, of Toronto, photo raphic supplies, who returned Saturday. He had purchased a ticket back to Toronto and was just turning away from the wicket in the Railway station when the building caught fire. "I grabbed my grips and got out," said Ormerod. When I got on the street everybody was piling into vehicles which were heading for Cobalt and safety, so I piled on a wagon. We got as far as North Cobalt and there we found that the fire was worse than in Haileybury. There were four or five wagons like the one I was on, and hundreds of motor cars. But the wagon horses refused to go into the fire. The flames were shooting up to the sky and the smoke was so dense that you could almost cut it with a knife. The horses absolutely refused to run into it, and so all the cars behind were held up. The women then began to show fright, and some of them got out on the road and started to pray on their knees. There were a lot of children praying too. Then it was decided to shoot through it. I got on the running board of a car in which there were seven people. I don't know who the driver was. Then the drivers of the cars stepped on the gas and we shot into the mass of flames. The heat was so intense that people got their faces scorched and a number of the women had their hair singed. In the car were a number of nurses, and they were praying constantly over their beads. It took about five minutes before we were out of it. I thought the gasoline would explode. We didn't know whether we were ever going to get out of it. Finally we got out and went to Cobalt, where a relief train was organized with a few box cars. The doors were all closed tight, and several trips were made back and forth through the flames, taking the people to safety."

Hon J. A. Stewart Passes Away

Hon. John Alexander Stewart, K. C. of Perth, Ontario, Minister of Railways and Canals in the reconstructed Meighen Administration of 1921, died in the Rose Memorial Pavilion of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, on Saturday after a lingering illness. He was taken ill on June 16 and on July 19 went to Montreal. Death was due to anaemia. He was 55 years of age.

Though in poor health for some time, the announcement a few weeks ago that the former Minister of Railways was seriously ill at Montreal came as something of a surprise to his friends. Mr. Stewart, it was stated had gone to Montreal where his wife was ill, and had been stricken by his illness while remaining in that city to be near her.

Battled Pluckily to Save Hospital

A story of how refugees pluckily endeavored to save the hospital at Haileybury from destruction, was told on his arrival Saturday in Toronto by Mr. G. J. Holmes, who was doing business in Cobalt when the fire broke out. Mrs. Holmes and her daughter were at Haileybury, when Mr. Holmes learned that Haileybury was in the grip of the flames he motored to Haileybury, reaching just as his family were preparing to leave for Cobalt. Mr. Holmes said the wind was fluky, and jumping all over the place with a roar. The fire was just forcing its way through the residential district at a fast clip. It was useless to attempt to combat it. He attempted to get some of his belongings out of his home but was forced to quit, and a few minutes later the bungalow was reduced to ashes

"Realizing that the hospital was in the danger zone, many of us fought the fire for hours in an effort to save the institution. Meanwhile, the patients were being removed. There was no water to speak of. We thought we had succeeded in saving the stone building and sat down to rest after our hard fight. A few minutes later we noticed smoke issuing from the roof. A few minutes later the institution was enveloped in flames. Fortunately we had succeeded in getting all the patients to a place of safety."

"What fool told you to place these papers on that file?" "You did sir." "Well, leave them here—you're discharged for calling me a fool."

Why Fire Prevention Week

The aim of Fire Prevention week is to bring to the people of Canada a realization of two fundamental facts; that the fire loss is everybody's responsibility and that the great majority of fires are preventable through the exercise of ordinary carefulness. The observance of Fire Prevention Week should be concerted universal effort to reduce the unceasing loss of life and property that imposes so stupendous an economic burden upon the country at large. Let us determine to put things in order. Away with the rubbish piles. Banish the plague spots. Remove the hazards. Correct the defects. It is everybody's task. It is a big job, but the objective is so fine and the reward so great that the work is only play. Every man who is ambitious for his city, town or village and who values his home and place of business, will do his part. Pride will challenge his natural indifference and ambition will make his dreams come true. Said Abraham Lincoln, "I like to see a man proud of the place he lives in."

Children Cause Fire

The barns, silos, and all of this year's crops, belonging to Mr. Edmund Duncan on the 11th, line of Ramsay, were destroyed by fire on Thursday afternoon of last week. The loss is between $6,000 and $7,000. The insurance amounts to $2,400. Children playing with matches were the cause of the fire. Mr. and Mrs. Duncan were away from home at the time of the fire and it appears that one of the younger children secured some matches and was scratching them on the silo, when a lighted head broke off and landed in some straw.

A Good Slogan

The time is coming when furnace will be lit and stoves set going. Then may be expected the usual batch of defective flue and defective pipe fires—unless citizens take preventive measures. The Industrial Commission of Wisconsin has issued some very good preventive suggestions. These include providing for a clearance of two feet on all sides of furnaces, boilers and stoves, the covering of exposed woodwork with metal or sheet asbestos, the keeping of woodwork away from one-brick chimneys, the providing of metal receptacles for ashes. The Commission points out that the neglect of such preventives not only endanger property, but what is more valuable—human lives. "Protect your family and home" is the slogan. The advice given by the Wisconsin Commission is just as applicable in Ontario as it is in Wisconsin.

The Leader

It was the custom of the congregation to repeat the Twenty-third Psalm in concert, and Mrs. Armstrong's habit was to keep about a dozen words ahead all the way through. A stranger was asking one day about Mrs. Armstrong. "Who," he inquired, "was already by the still waters while the rest of us were lying down in green pastures?"

Railway News

Montreal. — On August 23rd, George H. Ham, "the Grand Old Man of the Canadian Pacific," celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday and received congratulations from all over Canada.

Vancouver.—Railways in Canada are in an excellent position to handle the bumper grain crop of the prairie provinces. There are also 10,000 cars in the western division of the C.P.R. ready to handle grain moving westward from the prairie grain fields, officials of the railway state.

C. A. Cotterell, assistant general superintendent of the C.P.R. western lines, stated that heavy shipments will be made to the Orient through this port.

Toronto.—American tourists last year spent $75,000,000 in Canada, according to an estimate made in an official report of the Dominion Government's Parks Department.

Last year more than 100,000 tourist motor cars entered Canada; that would mean upward of half a million tourists. This year the number will be much greater, for the tide is growing rapidly. The railways are having a very busy season.

Winnipeg.—After a careful survey of reports received from C.P.R. agents throughout the West, it is estimated that this year's crop will approximate 317,000 000 bushels, according to the weekly crop report of the C.P.R. agricultural department issued here.

Reports indicate that the Western crop generally is turning out well. Even in areas where poor yields were looked for, the conditions have proved better than anticipated.

Vernon.—Present indications are that the 1922 British Columbia apple crop will total about 2700 or 3000 cars.

Last season was the province's big crop year, when approximately 3500 cars were packed out.

The C.P.R. has made many provisions to take care of the valley's transportation demands. On nearly every side between here and Calgary refrigerator cars are waiting to be shunted to the packing houses, while houses are well stocked.

Calgary.—While Calvin Coolidge, Vice-President of the United States, was not inclined to talk about trade relations, tariffs or anything of that nature when he arrived here on the Trans-Canada train of the Canadian Pacific Railway, he waxed most eloquent in his praises of Banff and Lake Louise and of the Canadian Rockies along the route by which he had travelled.

"No wonder you Canadians are proud of your mountains," he asserted; "they are magnificent."

The Vice-President spent some time in conversation with J. M. Cameron, general superintendent of the Alberta Division of the C.P.R.

Montreal.—According to a joint circular issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway and Canadian Pacific Steamships Limited, Mr. Allan Cameron is appointed Oriental manager, with office at Hong Kong, effective October 1.

It is understood that Mr. Cameron will be in charge of both traffic and operating departments. The extensive growth in recent years of Canadian Pacific activities in the Orient, with enlarged fleets and services which have added Manila to the ports of call, has involved also the transfer of the administrative headquarters from Yokohama to Hong Kong. Mr. Cameron is familiar with Hong Kong, as from January, 1901, to September, 1905, he was located there as general agent of the Asiatic business of the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company's line of steamers.

Mr. Cameron's first connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway was at Winnipeg as clerk of the local freight office in 1887.

Moose Jaw.—D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, was a visitor in the city for a few hours, while en route to Victoria.

Mr. Coleman made the announcement that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company had leased the last of its terminal elevators at the head of the Great Lakes, on a long term lease, to the Consolidated Elevator Co. interests. The capacity of the elevator is eight million bushels. The lessees will assume possession on September 1.

The leasing of the elevator is in conformity with the announced intention of the railway executives to go out of the terminal elevator business.

Asked as to the completion of the Assiniboia-Lethbridge line gap, Mr. Coleman stated that it was anticipated that the gap would be completed late this fall. Much, however, would depend on whether the contractor would be able to hold his men during the harvest season.

Relative to the grading on the line from Consul, east, Mr. Coleman stated that the first thirty miles had been completed and the contractor was now working on the second thirty miles.

New Fire-Fighter

The number of materials and devices for extinguishing fire in region, but there is quite an orignal touch about a new invention recently demonstrated with success by a British firm. This invention goes by the name of "firesnow," on account of the snow-like liquid which is discharged from the nozzle when the apparatus is in operation. The extinguisher contains two liquids in a plain cylindrical vessel which when turned upside down causes the two liquids to mix and generate gas pressure which expels the stream of firesnow. The material is most effective in smothering outbreaks of fire especially those caused by oils and chemicals. The fire is kept down by the carbonic acid gas and by the thick white fire-proof coating which is formed over the burning material. The firesnow is non-poisonous and may be brushed off when dry. Some of the tests were carried out on petrol, which is one of the most common and dangerous problems which a fire extinguisher is designed to tackle.

Stamp's Medicine

Keep it in your home. It is better than to have an M.D. and Veterinary in your family.

READ THESE FOR PROOF

John Stamp, Winchester Springs.

My wife had Neuritis and the doctor had been here five times and she kept getting worse, until we thought she would die. Stamp's Medicine cured her in one week.

I also had a heifer that had a large lump on her neck and the Veterinary said it would take an operation to remove it. One bottle of Stamp's Liniment took it entirely away.—MILES MARSELLUS, Reeve of Williamsburg Tp.

John Stamp, Winchester Springs.

Stamp's Medicine cured me of Rheumatism and took a cyst off my elbow as large as a hen's egg that the doctor said would have to be cut off and have the bone scraped.—W. J. LOUCKS, Mountain, Ont.

John Stamp, Winchester Springs.

My wife had Rheumatism so bad that she had to keep her bed. One treatment of Stamp's Medicine cured her completely. I cannot recommend it too highly. —ROBERT BRYAN, Ex-Councillor, Mountain, Ont.

I have hundreds of testimonials like the the above from different parts of the world and they never cost me one cent.

Death of Pliney Ault

Pliney Ault, the little son of Mr. and Mrs Edwin Ault who passed away Sept 25th, would have reached his ninth year had he lived until the second day of this month. Some time previously he had contracted diphtheria which was the cause of his death, necessitating burial the same day with as little delay as possible. Interment was made in the family plot at Brinston, the service being conducted by Rev. W. T. Brown. He is survived by his parents, three brothers and three sisters Charles and Lyman at Crysler and Nolan at home; Mrs. Adam Thompson, Mrs. Stanley Dillabough and Mrs Walter Watson at Aultsville.

What Shall We Eat

The proper diet of mankind is an inexhaustible subject for discussion You can find authority, either admitted or self-proclaimed, on every conceivable side of the question. There are vegetarians and praisers of meat; fruit and nut dietitians and high proteid dietitians; no-breakfast men and hearty-breakfast men. Not only what we shall eat, but when we shall eat it and how much of it we shall eat, agitate the cortices of physicians, dyspeptics, directors of physical training, and amateur efficiency engineers.

A well known medical journal has been polling its professional subscribers on the hotly disputed subject of the breakfast bill of fare. The verdict appears to be in favor of the old-fashioned American breakfast. The "Continental breakfast" that has tried the souls and afflicted the stomachs of so many well-fed tourists from this side of the water got very few votes. The no-breakfast fad, which had a considerable following in its day found no one to speak for it.

"A substantial meal of fruit, cereals, bacon and eggs, toast or as we of the South prefer, hot biscuits," was the prescription of one Kentucky physician, who had in mind not only the sustaining of the body but the reasonable satisfaction of the appetite. Not everyone can deal successfully with hot bread at breakfast. To those who can, current medical opinion would not we observe, deny it. Too few of the doctors mentioned waffles or griddlecakes as an essential part of the morning meal. Was it because most of them came from regions where genuine maple syrup is unknown? Pie had no defenders; the lovers of that matutinal confection must still depend on literary rather than scientific authority. Ralph Waldo Emerson is their best advocate.

Substantial breakfasts for brain workers were recommended by most of the doctors. When it came to the noon meal they divided. Some thought that the chief meal of the day should be taken then. Others spoke for a light lunch and a hearty dinner at night. Some advised the office worker to eat almost nothing at noon, but to make up for it at dinner.

In general the opinions of the medical profession on the subject of feed appear to be far from ascetic. They believe in giving the bodily furnace a fair amount of fuel, and in a generously mixed diet. Of course they are speaking for those who have healthy digestions and who are not obliged to avoid any foods because experience has shown them to be harmful.

Those opinions will not weigh much with people who do not agree with them. Human beings will continue to eat what they like (so long as it agrees with them) at such times of day as are convenient; and, if it seems best to them, they will adopt regiments and practices that suit themselves and perhaps no one else; for as we began by saying, diet is a fruitful source of argument and what agrees perfectly with one is often distasteful and perhaps harmful to his brother.

Passenger Pigeon Located Anew

Orillia Packet; A year ago Benjamin F. Kean reported that he had seen several passenger pigeons in North Orillia. The publication of the statement drew down upon him a torrent of ridicule from the Toronto Telegram. Mr. Kean wants us to tell the sceptic on the Telegram that he now has two witnesses to the presence of passenger pigeons in this neighborhood. On September 13th, Charlie Heavener, who in his youth has killed hundreds of them on the Angus plains, saw ten of these supposed to be extinct birds on the 13th concession of North Orillia, within a mile and a half of where Mr. Kean saw them a year ago. Two days later, he again saw five of them, and was within easy gunshot of two of them. Mr. Wm. Powley, who likewise had often killed the wild pigeons when they were plentiful, also says that he saw two of them at Marchmont this summer, So there you are Mr. Telegram.

Forestry Essay Prize

Scores of school children in every school district of the Dominion are competing these days in the national school essay competition on Forestry and Tree Planting, inaugurated recently by the Canadian Forestry Association.

Questions as to the forest resources of Canada, the damage done by forest fires what trees to choose for planting and how to plant them are being asked by a multitude of young people and the resultant information is being applied to the essay competition. Three substantial cash prizes are being given each province and the effect of the national effort to stimulate juvenile interest in the forest resources of the country and the multitude benefits of tree planting has secured the hearty endorsation of all the departments of education which are giving every co-operation.

Native Trees An Asset To The Farm

If a man values the pleasure and comfort of his family, he should make every possible effort to enrich, beautify and broaden country life, and in achieving these ends he will increase his own health and happiness manifold. If boys and girls are to be kept on the farm, their impressionable years should be filled with enrolling pictures thrown upon nature's canvas—the earth. Country life can be made infinitely more charming and satisfying by the presence of trees.

Comparatively few farmers appreciate the economic value of trees growing on their farms They prevent the surface soil from washing away, protect his herds and flocks from rains and storms and temper the chilling winds that sweep across the home grounds. Why not begin planting trees to take the place of the forests that had such a modifying influence on the climate? Some of the old timber lots were really not well placed; they did not shelter economically. Now why not begin planting trees to take their place? Why not put out small timber lots that will break the winds of winter and some day make good timber for use on the farm?

One Reason Paper is Dear

Originally and because of the apparently unlimited extent of the forests, paper mills were located with less reference to the forest than to available waterpower, transportation and market. Not until the forests were pushed back, until it became necessary to bring wood considerable distance by railway or by water, did the mills begin to consider the importance of their relation to a permanent supply of wood. The construction and operation of a mill involves large capital outlay. It is figured roughly that it costs approximately $50,000 per daily ton of production to construct a modern paper mill. This large investment in plant is making it increasingly necessary to insure for the mill a satisfactory supply of raw material. When pulpwood costs from fourteen to eighteen dollars a cord, it becomes a serious matter for the manufacturer to have to add from four to ten dollars a cord for freight. These very difficult problems making up the question of a permanent supply of raw materials for paper mills are causing many paper manufacturers to turn to the practice of forestry as the only solution of their problem of raw material.

Profit Over Feed Cost of $10.55

A. H. White has issued the monthly report of the test of cows that is being made in herds of members of the Peel Milk and Cream Producer's Association. A cow in the herd of A. F. Hillock gave the high production for the month of 1,630lbs. A cow in the same herd also made the record for butter fat, with 52.7 lbs, from 1,550 lbs of milk, testing 3.4 per cent A cow in the herd of Mr. Joseph Dolson tested 4.3 per cent, and produced 51.3lbs from 1,194 lbs of milk. Other figures in the test were; Number of cows, 132; average milk production, 704.6 lbs; average test 3.69 per cent; average fat production, 26; average value of production, $13.20; average cost of feed, $2.65; average profit above feed costs, $10.55.

Hopeless

Two little girls were comparing progress in catechism study:

"I've got to original sin," said one "How far have you got?"

"Me?" Oh. I'm beyond redemption," said the other.

Incorrigible

"You heard me say my prayers last night, didn't you nurse?"

"Yes, dear."

"And you heard me ask God to make me a good girl?"

"Yes."

"Well, He ain't done it."

Just So

Jones—A $10 bill doesn't go far these days, old man.

Smith—Oh, yes it does. It goes so far it never comes back.

Lets All Start Paying Up

The first day of the month arrives, as scheduled by the almanac, and then to save the merchants' lives, I toddle up the street and back. Escorted by the village band, I climb up Main Street's asphalt hills. It's good to see the grocer's face when I arrive with check on tap it's good to see the glad glad smiles chase themselves across his haggard map. And from the furrowed brow the shades of trouble flee away, when, I would pay him for the cow I bought in tragments day by day. The weary baker seems quite gay and heaves no more his heartsick sighs, when I invade his mart and say. "I'll pay you for those concrete pies." Oh, many books have told us how to make this world a better place, to speed the optimistic plow, and light up mourning face. And doubtless all such schemes are fine, and Pollyannas cut much grass; but I contend this scheme of mine will all the other schemes surpass, I might invade the merchant's store and say a lot of sunnythings, and he would rate me as a bore, and throw a score of bricks and things. His heart is sick with grievous woes, and trade is slack, he's needing cash; and sunshine words and spiels like those appear to him as tawdry trash. But when I say "By heck! Produce your bills—I'll pay it now," he promptly falls upon my neck and plants a kiss upon my brow.—By Walt Mason.

A Maine Woman who has been estranged from her father for six years has learned that he has fallen heir to fifty thousand dollars, and is now trying to patch things up. The newspapers report that other members of the family, who likewise, have been "enstranged" from the old man, are also "trying to get in touch with him." "In touch" is just the right expression— the one perfect phrase for which the De Goncourts were always seeking.

An Unknown Reptile Seen in Marsh in South Hastings

The Bancroft Times in its issue of last week has the following item in reference to the appearance of a huge reptile in North Hastings.

Considerable commotion has been caused among the residents of Fort Stewart district over the appearance of a huge reptile which gave chase after a young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Prentice recently.

This huge reptile appeared in what is known as Conroy's Marsh, near the Burned bridge, on the Mississippi branch bridge, township of Raglan, county of Renfrew. Miss Prentice was in the act of putting a halter on a horse when the reptile suddenly appeared and made for her. In its course it ran under the horse frightning it away, leaving her with the halter in her hand. The girl, frightened also made haste, the monster giving chase, but not being able to run quickly she managed to get a place of safety and soon reported the occurrence to members of her family. This strange occurrence brought old residents out who have investigated and who are baffled to know just what species of animal it is, as it has failed to put in an appearance since.

From the description given by those of the residents who have investigated, the monster appears to be seven feet long making a trail in the mud about ten inches wide, with foot prints at either side about three inches across and from fourteen to fifteen inches apart, similar to that of a crocodile or an alligator.

Those who have investigated are under the impression that this monster has escaped from some show park along the Ottawa River, followed up stream to the Madawaska River and landed in Conroy's Marsh where last seen. The Marsh is an excellent feeding ground for a reptile as described, there being plenty of frogs and grass snakes.

Residents who have lived in the district for over forty years have never seen track to an animal similar to this before and all who investigated will vouch for the truth of the above.

Willing

"I was awfully sorry to hear that your father's partner died last night," said Tompkins to the business man's pretty daughter. "I am sure he will be missed.

He was still thinking about the matter when he left his fair companion and made up his mind to see the girl's father without delay.

After expressing his sympathy in a few chosen words, he suggested that it might be found possible for him to take the former partner's place.

"An excellent idea!" replied the business man. "I'm quite willing if you can manage to fix it up with the undertaker."

One of the recent "demonstrations" to trap the unwarry investor is that of the man with a cheap substitute for gasoline—something he says he can produce for only a few cents a gallon. The inventor fills the tank of an automobile half full of water and adds his mysterious fluid. The car runs, for what he added was wood alcohol. The chemist is a good man to consult before buying stock in a cheap gasoline company.

Bottle of Tea And Sandwich To Carry Him To North Pole

Amundsen to hop off on seventeen hundred mile Areoplane Flight, relying only on the invigorating and sustaining qualities of Tea and a Sandwich.

Word was received from, E. J. Ward, Government School Teacher, at Wainwright, Alaska, who is in Seattle, Washington, that Captain Roale Amundsen and his pilot Lieutenant Omdahl will hop off from Wainwright the latter part of May or the first of June to fly across the North Pole to Spitzbergen.

Amundsen plans, Ward said, to make the flight of approximately seventeen hundred miles across the polar solitudes in one jump, carrying for subsistence only a thermos bottle filled with hot tea and a sandwhich. Captain Amundsen feels the stimulation and invigoration given by pure, fresh tea will sustain him and his pilot while making his unprecedent Artic flight.

Ward said Amundsen and Omdahl were building their winter quarters at Wainwright before he left They consist of a cabin on the beach near the School House. They were well supplied with food and fuel.

The schooner "Maude" Amundsen's exploration ship, according to Ward is drifting northward on the Ice Floe at such a speed that the explorer is expecting that the ship may cross the Pole and reach Spitzbergen in a year, although it may take longer. The "Maude" has a supply of provisions to last seven years.

A Boy's Malicious Act

Criminal viciousness is the charge which should be laid against the boy who threw a lighted cigarette at Enid Laking, daughter of R. H. Laking of town, Saturday evening. Miss Laking was coming along Victoria Street and when in front of R. J. Gallaugher's store she passed three young fellows, one of whom was smoking a cigarette which he took from his mouth and deliberately threw at her. The three boys immediately ran away. Miss Laking continued walking, never thinking the cigarette had struck her and went in Hill's store. She had not been in there long when Geo. Hutchinson said he could smell smoke. So sure was he that he called Ambrose Bergin who agreed that something in the store was burning. Mr Munshaw was called and all three commenced to look for the fire. Coming out from behind the counter. Mr. Hutchinson said. "Enid, I believe you are on fire," and turning the girl round he saw smoke raising from the folds of her middy, a white duck one rolled into folds at the bottom as all the girls are wearing their middies now. Mr. Hutchinson picked up the cigarette stub, still aglow, out of the girl's clothes and turning down the folds of the middy pressed the fire out of the frabic. It was discovered that the fire had gone through three thicknesses of the middy and burned its way into a woollen skirt. The girl's long hair, in a braid, reached below the firey spot, but escaped being singed. The girl's father when asked if he intended to prosecute said. "But would it do the boy any good? I havn't seen him since, but when I do get my eyes on him I am afraid my hands will go on him too."—Alliston Herald.

Kootenay Indians Baseball Champions

An Indian baseball team which won the championship of East Kootenay, at Lake Windermere, B.C.

The Kootenay Indians who played such a prominent part in the pageant arranged in connection with the David Thompson Memorial celebrations at Lake Windermere, B.C., are not only expert riders and canoemen, but have recently taken to baseball with wonderful enthusiasm. At the Lake Windermere District Fall Fair they played against a white team for the silver cup offered by Randolph Bruce, a local mine owner, winning it with a score of seven to five. The accompanying photographs show the team in their day clothes, and in their baseball rig-out. The team is captained by Dominic Nicholas, who is seen standing immediately behind the cup, and is supported by Martin Sam, Conrad Short, Christopher Joseph, Frank Whitehead, Noah Alpine, Gabriel Paul, Joseph Eugene, and Jerome Joseph. The Kootenays are one of the healthiest and most athletic tribes of Indians in America, the records of David Thompson over a hundred years ago intimating that they have always been a fine upstanding set of men. In the old days they were famous hunters, but now they spend more of their time farming and are adepts in the use of irrigation. During the pageant they appeared in wonderfully fine costumes, rich in blues and purples, and harmonious reds, making a display which greatly impressed their white brethren. Every Kootenay Indian is a born horseman or horsewoman, and the horses they breed are of fine quality.

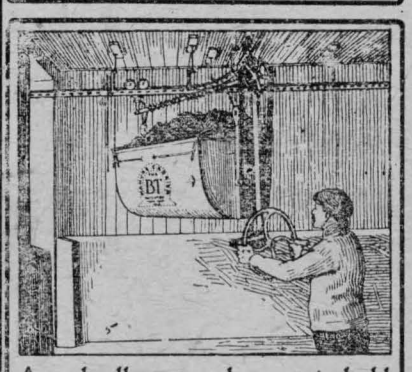
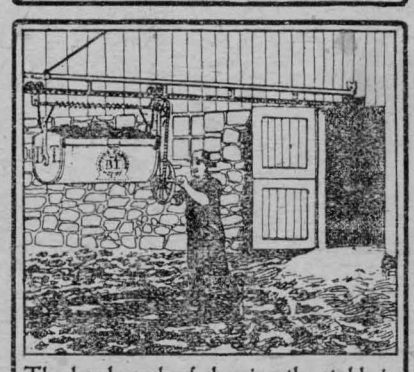
Day in and day out, the hard work of cleaning the stable has to be done. Stable cleaning with a wheelbarrow is a monotonous, hard, disagreeable chore. It is hard to wheel a heavy wheelbarrow load through a muddy yard and up a slippery plank. And the worst of it is, this hard, disagreeable chore has to be done every day.

It is practically an impossibility to get the manure far enough away from the stable. The conditions in the yard make it impossible. Manure piles right up close to the stable give off ammonia fumes that spoil paint and woodwork, rot harness and at the first opportunity breed flies.



A wheelbarrow does not hold much at a load, which means many trips before the work is done. The BT Carrier holds three times as much as a wheelbarrow. It will tackle 800 lbs. in one load.



The hard work of cleaning the stable is cut in two with a manure carrier. It runs on overhead track so it does not matter about the state of the yard. No planks to lay; no snow to shovel; no more pushing to the top of the pile with a wheelbarrow.
