A PROPHECY THAT WAS QUICKLY FULFILLED

(Toronto Evening Telegram))

While Premier Hepburn was talking about a "back to Niagara" power policy in the last provincial election the Hon. Geo. H. Challies, former provincial secretary, was exposing the ineptitude with which the Premier had dealt and was dealing with the important matter of power supply for the Hydro system. In the course of an address on September 30th last he remarked that Hon. Earl Rowe had not overstated the case when he said that Hepburn control of Hydro had been a disastrous economic calamity.

Mr. Challies in his review of the Hydro situation described the destructive course which Mr. Hepburn had followed after first coming into office and declared that a dangerous situation had been created. He predicted that before another winter had passed it would be absolutely necessary to obtain additional power from Quebec. How necessary is now well understood by the public. After the election of 1937 the Premier made a new contract with Beauharnois and the Beauharnois power thus acquired is being used to tide over the crisis caused by the ice jam in the Niagara river and the enforced closing of the Hydro's Ontario Power plant. Mr. Challies' reference to the need of additional supplies was in these words:

> "Hepburn-Hydro is well aware that another winter cannot pass without desperate efforts being made to secure quickly large blocks of additional Quebec power. It is well known that if last winter had been as cold as usual with the consequent reduced output from the Niagara plants that always follows ice jams, the whole Niagara system serving western Ontario might have broken down. The dislocation to manufacturing and the disruption of business would have been so widespread that economic recovery in Ontario would have received a serious setback."

Mr. Challies recalled the dismissal of Chief Engineer Gaby and other changes that had been made and said that "to top it all off an estimable old gentleman, a former editor of the Globe, was brought from retirement on his farm to act as a puppet Chairman—a yes man for the prefessional politician."

The first major error in the new regime, Mr. Challies noted, was a solemn declaration by Mr. Lyon that none of the 720,000 horsepower contracted to be purchased from four Quebec companies ever would be need ed, the second that a back-to-Niagara policy would render the purchase of Quebec power unnecessary. "Three short years," he remarked, "have shown Mr. Lyon to be wrong in all his major power predictions. The Hepburn-Hydro has already contracted to re-purchase 456,000 horsepower of the Quebec power so lately spurned as not needed."

Mr. Challies declared further that he was certain that no matter who was Prime Minister after October 7, 1937, the first duty would be to reopen negotiations for the purchase of additional power from Quebec.

And that, of course, is exactly what was done. Premier Hepburn asked for the resignation of Charman Lyons and one of the first acts of the new Hydro Commission which he appointed was to make a new contract for Beauhornois power. How wrong the Premier and his then Attorney-General, Hon. A. W. Roebuck, were in their attacks on the original purchases and in the Hydro policies pursued during their early years in office is written in the record of the reversals subsequently made. The fact that Mr. Hepburn finally came to understand the real situation does not justify the irresponsibility and bad judgment which he displayed in the first instance. Ontario escaped only by a hair's breadth from a serious and costly power famine.

25 TRUCKS and AUTOS IN DITCH AT CORNWALL

Water on ice-covered pavement sent no less than twenty-five trucks and autos into ditches after cutting figure eights and other spectacular slides in Cornwall yesterday.

For miles east and west of Cornwall the highway is literally strewn with vehicles unable to move on the glare ice which formed on the highway early yesterday afternoon following a light snowfall and then rain

While police have answered many calls to accidents, there was little property damage and no personal injury reported.

A number of automobiles and trucks were abandoned on the highway and in the ditch for the night when it appeared that they would be unable to get out. Other vehicles were put in motion by highway maintenance crews, which were ordered out at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Sand is being placed on the ice at the most hazardous points, and it is expected that the highway crew will work day and night.

Collisions resulted in little damage, but when the vehicles were brought to stop they were unable to move again under their own power. Tow trucks were summoned to clear the highway, but at points where accidents occurred the highway was blocked for several hours at a time. At the bottom of a hill west of Moulinette, about ten miles from Cornwall three cars landed in the ditch, while another which went out of control half-way down the hill jack-knifed on the highway and tied up traffic until it was removed.

ARTHUR FLYNN APPOINTED COUNTIES' SOLICITOR

Mr. Arthur Flynn, who this week was appointed 'Counties' Solicitor by the 'Counties Council, has the universal congratulations of the people of this community, whom, for many years he has served in public office. There will also be regret within the municipality, that the new appointment compels Mr. Flynn to sever his connection with the office which he has so capably filled. His resignation, coming as it does, at a time when the village is about to enter into contract with the Hydro Electic Power Commission, Mr. Flynn's service and advice, would have been of incalculable value to his native village, in the welfare of which he has staked his whole-hearted ambition. For this reason, we feel that, while he is expected to withdraw from public office, as a public-spirited citizen, his citizenship will continue to prove a great asset by way of co-operation.

As Counties' Solicitor, Mr. Flynn succeeds the late W. B. Lawson, K. C., of Chesterville, who died a few weeks ago. He was born in Morrisburg where he received his early education. He is a graduate of Queens and of Osgoode Hall, having practised in Morrisburg since 1912. He has served the municipality as Reeve for more than seven years, and in 1936 was Warden of the United Counties.

FANNIE LAURA POLLARD

At her home in Toronto, on Monday, Jan. 24th, Fannie Laura Pollard, beloved wife of George Pollard, after a long lingering illness, passed to her eternal rest.

Mrs. Pollard was born in Morrisburg, the younger daughter of the late Charles S. Stata, and his wife, Laura Armstrong, both of United Empire Loyalist stock.

Thirty-one years ago she was united in marriage with George N. Pollard, of Trowbridge, Wiltshire, England. One son was born of this union, Charles Arthur Pollard, who with his father mourns the loss of a devoted wife and mother. Surviving also are one sister and one brother, Miss Carrie Stata of Toronto and C. H. Stata, of Montreal.

The funeral service was held at the family residence, 808 Carlaw Avenue, Toronto, on Thursday, January 27th; interment at the beautiful Pine Hills cemetery, Toronto. The beautiful floral tributes received showed the esteem in which she was held by her many friends and neighbors.

CARD OF THANKS

BECKSTEAD—May we extend our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbours for their kind acts of love and sympathy extended to us in our recent sad bereavement, the loss of a loving wife and daughter. We especially wish to mention Rev. Adey, Dr. Gross and Nurse Trickey for their services, also those who sent floral offerings.

DONALD BECKSTEAD.

Human Tracks In Sandstone Tell Man's Age

May Have Been Made By One Of Our Earliest Ancestors — Found In Kentucky.

Discovery of footprints in sandstone, so human in appearance that they may have been made by one of the earliest ancestors of man, is announced by Dr. Wilbur Greeley Burroughs, head of the Department of Geology of Berea College, Kentucky.

The tracks, 10 in all, Dr. Burroughs said, are about 150 feet above the bottom of the Pottsville formation of the upper carboniferous system. He added that if further investigation now being made bear out present indications the tracks would indicate that the origin of man goes back millions of years beyond the earliest time dreamed of. Dr. Burroughs said he felt certain the sand deposit was not of a later date.

9½ Inches In Length

Dr. Burroughs and William Finnell, a part time employee of the college, reported the investigations of the tracks. They were found on the farm of W. Finnell, William's father, in adjoining Rockcastle County.

Dr. Burroughs described them as showing five large, distinct toes spread well apart. An arch was clearly visible in all the tracks. The width across the toes is six inches and the tracks are 9½ inches in length.

India Federation Thought Desirable

But States Must First Have Freedom of Internal Administration —Unity Must Be Maintained.

With so much attention being paid in India to the prospects of federation it was natural the Viceroy's remarks to the Central Legislature last week at Calcutta should have been carefully read by the Indian public.

Impatience Arises

The Viceroy, the Marquess of Linlithgow, who was chairman of the joint parliamentary committee, reminded his audience that every one of the grounds upon which the federal scheme is being criticized was considered by that committee.

Princes Bargain

Nevertheless the parliamentary committee held that two factors must outweigh all others. One was that the early establishment of federal relations between the states and British India was of the utmost importance for the maintenance of the unity of India. The second was that the existence of a central government capable of formulating economic policies affecting India as a whole was of direct and immediate relevance to India's economic circumstances today.

The natural forces working for a federation in India are very great, and leading princes and British Indian parties have acknowledged that a federation at some time will be desirable. At the moment it is believed some of the princes are bargaining hard, which has caused some impatience in British India.

Air Pact Details Are Now Given

Details of Arrangements Between Canada and the U. S. Are Made Public

Details of the new air pact proposals were made public last week at Ottawa. They were worked out at a conference in Washington last week between Canadian and American experts. The new arrangements when ratified, will replace the aviation arrangement agreed to in 1929.

The new arrangements will be under the following headings: air navigation, reciprocal issue of airmen certificates of airworthiness for export, and the use of radio for aeronautical services.

Apply to All Aircraft

All four arrangements cover flying over continental United States, Alaska and Canada, including territorial waters, and apply to all aircraft other than military, naval, customs or police.

Grant Liberty of Passage

Each country agrees to grant, in time of peace, liberty of passage above its territories to aircraft of the other but the establishment of any regular air service to, over or away from the territory of each country will be subject to specific consent.

Exchange Privileges

Subject to observance of passport, immigration, quarantine and customs regulations, aircraft of the two countries will enjoy reciprocal privileges, and pay the same charges and taxes as each country imposes on its own air traffic.

Certificates of airworthiness and licenses of personnel issued by the competent authorities of either country in respect of its aircraft will be recognized as having the same validity as corresponding documents issued by competent authorities of the other country.

Canada's export trade in fisheries products in the first nine months of 1937 reached a total value of $20,432,000, an increase of 18 per cent. over a year ago.

EDITORIAL COMMENT FROM HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE.

CANADA

Wealth-Producing Purpose

Construction of large water storage reservoirs in Alberta for use in irrigation schemes and as a source of supply for rivers which course through Saskatchewan, will be recommended to the Dominion Department of Agriculture by the advisory committee on water development for Alberta. The principle of establishing such reservoirs was discussed at a meeting at Medicine Hat recently which was attended by Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act officials from Regina. The decision reached was to recommend the idea to Ottawa.

Here we see an opportunity for the Federal authority to develop the great rivers of Western Canada for a wealth-producing purpose other than navigation and to assist the West in a way that will correspond to the hundreds of millions spent on river improvements and canals in Eastern Canada.—Moose Jaw Times-Herald.

Their Names In The Paper

Not again is little Johnny or Sister Susie to see their names in the honor list of their school class in the paper. The department of education has decided against publication, thereby destroying by one stroke of the pen a practice that has been followed since the days of Dr. Ryerson. The thought behind the new order of things is to remove competition from amongst the scholars. Why? Is it not good to have a competitive spirit? Competition is said to be the life of trade, a stimulant to achieve greater things. If the child has no such motive will there not be a tendency to drift, to simply get through the tests, examinations being wiped out, and let it go at that? With competition taken away and names withheld from the papers children and parents will miss much that heretofore has been a great joy. It looks like a mistake, unless something else is to take its place, say for example, reward for effort. — Amherstburg Echo.

The First 'Phone

Mayor R. J. Waterous deserves to be heartily thanked for his prompt and vigorous effort to have Brantford, as the home of the telephone, suitably represented in a forth-coming movie. That the solution was reached here in 1874 is indisputable on the basis of Graham Bell's own testimony, again most emphatically repeated when he attended the unveiling of a memorial here in tribute to himself and the great invention. Meanwhile our neighbors have always stuck to Boston as the place of origin, and they hate to let go of that hallucination. At any rate the Mayor has made a commendable effort.—Brantford Expositor.

Farmer's Right-Hand Man

From his own standpoint, it is greatly to the farmer's interest to have a permanent employee, who is intelligent enough to understand his employer's aims and plans, and is willing to co-operate with him in carrying them out. The best man, of course, for the farmer to hire is one with a family of his own, because he is least likely to throw up his place for some trifling cause.—Guelph Mercury.

Drugstore Aids to Beauty

Any aid to beauty in this world makes it a better world; any delicate use of simple little artifices in the way of cosmetics to reform an unnatural pallor or actually ugly features will always be welcome. But men will welcome with three hearty cheers, as a trend toward real beauty, any show of restraint in application of the top layers of drugstore allure.—Edmonton Journal.

Bonds and Deficits

Fifty million dollars worth of government guaranteed Canadian National Railway bonds were sold in a little over an hour. It is too bad that a surplus cannot be negotiated just as easily instead of the continual deficits.—Brantford Expositor.

A Subtle Hint?

The beaver, emblem of Canada, has been chosen to hold a place of honor on an arch on Ottawa's Parliament Hill. It's a good idea, as the beaver decidedly works a great deal more than he talks.—Hamilton Spectator.

Fight to Bolster League

PARIS.—After a discussion among Foreign Secretary Eden of Great Britain, Premier Chautemps and Foreign Minister Delbos, diplomatic sources stated Great Britain and France agreed to fight attempts to weaken the League of Nations Covenant.

Diplomats said they agreed on a united stand against attempts to kill the sanctions clauses in the Covenant as well as any attempt to have the international organization recognize Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

Germany's capital goods industries are operating practically at capacity.

B — D

THE EMPIRE

The Irish Constitution

Not one jot or tittle of additional liberty is secured to any citizen (by the new Constitution). In fact, it is all the other way about; for the new Constitution contains clauses which may possibly be used to interfere with freedom of speech, freedom of the press, with freedom of associations, and the rights of women. The Constitution has imposed upon the public the new and costly office of president with powers which the titular head of a democratic state should not be given. It has established a new Seanad which is at least as unsatisfactory in the method of election as its predecessor was.—Irish Independent.

Chinese War Enters New Phase

The Chinese managed successfully to delay the Japanese advance for three months, and now, with long lines of communication to be guarded by the Japanese, comes the much-awaited opportunity of guerilla warfare on the part of the Chinese—sudden, sharp attacks and withdrawals, by an enterprising force, never leaving the enemy in peace, keeping him guessing where the next attack will be launched. It is clear that China will be able to get arms, despite the repeated bombings of the railways. Madame Chiang Kai-shek recently spoke of 500 of the latest type of fighter planes and bombers which could outfight and outdistance any that Japan can send, and it is a well known fact that in the interior provinces there are arsenals which are working day and night to supply small arm ammunition. These depots can never be reached by the Japanese and they know it is useless for them to even attempt to do so. Japan can never stop ahese supplies from reaching the Chinese armies, and there is little doubt that much is coming through other avenues, both south and west.—Hong Kong News.

To Rescue Scientists

MOSCOW.—The four Russian ice campers who started eight months ago from the North Pole on an expedition to study Polar weather, this week apparently were nearing the end of their voyage on an ice-floe at the will of Arctic winds and currents.

Tass, official Russian news agency, announced Dr. Otto Schmidt, chief of the North Sea Route, a Government agency, had been permitted to head an expedition to remove the scientists he deposited at the North Pole by airplane last May.

Italian Transatlantic Flight

RIO DE JANERIO, Brazil. — Two Italian Savoia "79" bombing planes, one piloted by Bruno Mussolini, landed here after a non-stop flight from Dakar, Senegal.

Young Mussolini brought his machine down two minutes after his companion, Colonel Attilio Biseo, commander of the squadron, landed his plane. They left Dakar, accompanied by a third plane, with Captain Nin Moscatelli at the controls.

Gold produced in Australia in a recent month weighed 116,363 ounces.

Planet Is Rushing Toward The Earth

But No Danger of Collision Says Toronto Astronomer

A planet, 20 miles in diameter, is rushing towards the earth at 20 miles per second. A collision might easily wipe out a city the size of Toronto.

Let no one be afraid. The end of the world is not at hand. Prof. C. A. Chant of Dunlap observatory, who made these observations, is equally sure there will be no collision. The planet Eros, he said, will be within 20,000,000 miles of the earth this week, but there is no danger of it getting any nearer.

Still 20,000,000 Miles Away

Prof. Chant speaks of 20,000,000 miles as being "close". According to astronomical records, Eros has been as near as 14,000,000 miles.

"Even if it did collide with this planet, it would not mean the end of the world," Prof. Chant stated. "It would be a major catastrophe. You can imagine the effect of a chunk of rock that size travelling at 20 miles a second. But the mass is so small in comparison, there isn't any danger of the earth being knocked off its course."

The earth had a much closer shave last October when another small planet got within 400,000 miles, the professor indicated.

News In Brief

Benevolent Burials

SHANGHAI. — Death has set a swift pace for the Shanghai Benevolent Burial Association's seven morgue wagons.

Disease, starvation and exposure, the association says, has cost the lives of 51,000 Chinee refugees and poor since Shanghai fighting started last August.

Each day at dawn the seven wagons cruise Shanghai's streets to pick up the dead. Bodies are found in refugee camps and throughout the impoverished areas. The association provides cheap wooden coffins and burial in the fields on Shanghai's outskirts.

Control War Industries

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier.—The Loyalist Government has gained control of the war industries of Catalonia, richest industrial region of Spain, under a decree abolishing the Commission of War Industries of Catalonia, it was announced this week.

"New Menace to Peace"

PARIS.—Threats to peace would increase, not diminish, if Germany were given the colonial territories claimed by Chancellor Hitler, a group of French military and political leaders declared this week in an appeal to "all the living forces of the nation," issued through the Colonial Institute.

"It is not well enough known," the statement said, "that the installation of Germany in lands she is asking for, by providing her wih military, naval and air bases, would create a new menace to peace, far from facilitating the maintenance of peace."

High Court Justices

OTTAWA. — Premier Mackenzie King announced last week selection of two prominent Toronto lawyers for Ontario Supreme Court vacancies caused by deaths of Mr. Justice J. H. McEvoy and Mr. Justice A. C. Kingstone.

The appointments follow:

George A. Urquhart, K.C., and J. M. Godfrey, Ontario Securities Commissioner, to be judges of the High Court of Ontario.

Explosives Explode

PARIS.—Fourteen men were killed in an explosion which wrecked the municipal laboratory buildings at Villejuif, where authorities were removing large quantities of grenades seized in the CSAR investigation.

Charged With Murder

LONDON, Ont.—A true bill was returned by a grand jury against Dr. Charles A. Cline, Sr., charged with murder in the death of Mary Wilkinson, London school teacher.

True bills were also returned against Mr. and Mrs. Lauchlin J. Robertson and Mrs. Rachel Stock, all of London, charged with performing illegal operations. No bill were returned against Dr. Charles A. Cline, Jr., and Dr. J. E. McGillicuddy, of London, on indictments charging illegal operations.

Power Plant Damaged

TORONTO.—It will possibly take four months of continuous repair work to put the Ontario Power Plant back into maximum efficiency, Ontario Hydro officials said last week. The generators, which were under twenty-five feet of water, will be found to have suffered some damage, but the chief loss will be in the windings, some of which will have to be replaced.

History's Biggest Air Raid

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier.—More than 400 Italian and German warplanes bombarded Government lines and villages across the entire Teruel front last week-end, loyalists reported, in a merciless attempt to blast a path for Generalissimo Francisco Franco's recapture of the city.

It was believed to constitute the biggest air raid in aviation history.

The planes, dropping bombs by the tens of tons, spread death and destruction without pause from 9 a.m. until nightfall, the Spanish (loyalist) Press Agency reported from Alfambra, northeast of the almost shattered city of Teruel.

THE NEWS INTERPRETED

A Commentary On the More Important Events of the Week.

By ELIZABETH EEDY

HUMANITARIANISM: Speaking to a capacity audience in Toronto's Masonic Temple last week, Aldous Huxley, brilliant English novelist, essayist and philosopher remarked that the present-day "humanitarian" movement is so widespread that few dogs, horses, cats are allowed to suffer pain or undergo cruel treatment. Yet at the same time, he declared, we sit back and let terrible things happen to our fellow human beings in other countries of the world.

'Twould seem, he inferred, that our sympathies are sadly misplaced.

VIKINGS IN ONTARIO?: A fascinating story of past ages is reconstructed by Mr. Philip Godsell, noted author and Arctic traveller, who is sure that some time during the eleventh century, four hundred years before the advent of Christopher Columbus, the Viking followers of Eric the Red penetrated into Northern Ontario by way of Hudson Straits and the Albany River. Substantiating his belief is the recent discovery near Beardmore, Ont., (125 miles northeast of Port Arthur) of a Norse axe, sword and shield handle which are pronounced by experts to be genuine Viking weapons of the eleventh century.

The find is of great historical significance. It may upset all our previous conceptions of how America came to be discovered and change our history books.

Says Mr. Godsell: "Beardmore, Ontario, may have been the scene of some woodland fight between these hardy Vikings and the Redmen who for the first time gazed upon the palefaces who were eventually to bring about their downfall. The Indians may have looked upon them as Weetigoes, cannibal spirits or visitors from another world."

Some of the Vikings may have stayed there, too, and become the ancestors of our present-day Indians.

$1,000,000 A WEEK: Canada's exports to Japan of war materials and other commodities each week reach a total of one million dollars ($1,000,000).

So when Canadian people talk of instituting a boycott against Japan they have a hard time gaining a sympathetic ear in many quarters.

* * *

SPIRITUAL EXISTENCE: Rev. Israel Harding Noe, of Memphis, Tenn., who was suspended last week by his Bishop for refusing to break a year-long fast in the course of which he lost one hundred pounds, finally agreed to let himself be fed orange juice. His diet fo. the two weeks previous had consisted of a communion wafer and a few ounces of water. Rev. Noe has every intention of returning to the self-imposed fast just as soon as he recovers from his present setback in health brought on by the flu.

The eccentric Mr. Noe is attempting to prove to the world that man can live by spirit alone, without benefit of material sustenance.

* * *

EYE FOR AN EYE: When Spanish rebel airplanes bombed and machine-gunned the innocent populace of Barcelona last week, hundreds of helpless civilians went down to a horrible death, others found themselves alive at the end of the bombardment, but with an arm or a leg missing.

Next day, the Loyalist army planes hit back at the rebels by subjecting one of their cities to the same treatment, the same kind of death.

From now on, apparently, it's going to be an "eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth", until there are no people left on Spanish earth to be wiped out.

* * *

ENVIABLE RECORD: The Republic of Argentina achieved in 1937 the goal sought but missed by most nations throughout the world. It practically eliminated unemployment, reduced taxes, strengthened its financial position to allay inflation fears, and produced bumper crops that brought higher prices in expanding world markets.

* * *

CENTRAL EUROPEAN HAVEN: After the Communist revolution in Russia several thousand white Russians took shelter in the democratic Central European country of Czechoslovakia and founded permanent homes there; after the suppression of the Soviet Republic in Hungary fugitives sought sanctuary in Czechoslovakia; 10,000 liberal-minded Germans and Jews have fled to Czechoslovakia to escape the power of the Nazis since 1933. Now the anti-Semitic drive begun by the Rumanian Government is threatening to send thousands of Jews across the border into Czechoslovakia.

Czechoslovakia, in a precarious situation in Europe, counts Rumania, her ally in the Little Entente, as her best friend. If she now willingly shelters refugees from Rumania, she will be harboring the state enemies of her ally.

Building permits issued by 58 cities in Canada during the first eleven months of 1937 totalled $52,042,087 compared with $38,043,527 reported in the period, January-November, 1936.

100,000 Expected At Corps Reunion

To Be Held In Toronto This Midsummer

The Canadian Corps Reunion for 1938 is under way. Slated to be held in Toronto on July 30th, 31st, and August 1st of this year, preliminary organization work has resulted in the selection by the Canadian Corps Assocoiation Council of a Board of Directors to handle the affairs of the function. The "candid camera" caught the directors at a recent meeting while they discussed some of the problems which arise from the concentration of considerably over a hundred thousand men in one spot for three days.

Well-Known Military Men

Next in line is Lt.-Col. George R. Phily, M.D., now Associate Coroner for the City of Toronto, and one of the first medical men in the Dominion of Canada to volunteer for war service.

A "Westerner" sits on Colonel Philp's left in the person of Colonel Charles R. Hill, who commenced his military service as a private, and finished up as Colonel, D.S.O.

Wielding the "big stcik"—in this case a pencil—sits Major Gordon Dingle, President of the board and of the Canadian Corps Association, and Comptroller of the Massey Harris Company. Enlisting originally with the Queen's Own Rifles at the age of sixteen, he was a sergeant at nineteen.

Number five is Major Hugh C. Ferguson, D.S.O. Joining the 6th Battalion in 1914 he served in France with the 10th Battalion, of which he was second in command at the end of the war.

In Characteristic Attitude

Major T. M. Medland, secretary of the Corps Association and the board of directors, is third from the right.

Puffing the ever-present pipe—he is acknowledged Canada's champion smoke ring puffer—is Captain W. W. Parry, K.C., legal adviser to the Corps, and a prominent Toronto lawyer.

Telling the President how the Sappers used to it is Frank Barber, a member of the Corps Council, for three years President of the Sappers Association, and entertainment-arranger de luxe.

PENSIONED OFF A FIT MAN

Rigours of Police Life Did Not Harm Him

At 50 years of age he was presumed to be beyond the arduous demands of police duties. But was he? Read what he says now—five years after he was pensioned:—

"I am a man of 55 years. It is now five years since I was pensioned off from the ——— Police. I went through thick and thin, day and night in all weathers, while I was on the Force, and am to-day as fit as any man still serving on the Force. People often ask me 'How do you keep so young?' and my answer is 'Kruschen Salts.' I have used Kruschen now for the last 13 years, and I will certainly use these Salts for the rest of my days."—W.J.

The numerous salts in Kruschen provide just that gentle daily aid your internal organs require to enable them to perform their work properly. These vital salts keep your liver and kidneys in top-notch efficiency, so that they help to free your system of poisonous waste matter. The result is a feeling of youthful health and vigour—"that Kruschen feeling!"

Claims Man Is Still A Savage

Not Far Removed From Pre-historic Stage, Famous Author Declares; Changing Conditions Keep Historians Busy.

Booth Tarkington, Indiana's No. 1 author-playwright, discussed the world and its peoples and decided: "We're still pretty close to the pre-historic savage."

"The great body of the people in the world today is not much less self-seeking than those in the world 6,000 years ago," he said in an interview at Indianapolis.

"Countries are swallowing others to get rich by their conquests. The savages did the same. Countries have been built up that way. I doubt if the process is ended."

Nothing Actually New

Tarkington, active at 68, said rapidly-changing conditions had given historians more to write about. But, he added, the novelist and the playwright rarely, if ever, find anything actually new.

"Novelists and playwrights are constantly in a search for the truth, which never varies," he said. "Manifestations of truth change, but the essential things about people never change. Some writers find new views, but those things nearly always turn out to be old. Young people express ideas which they think are new. But many of those ideas were expressed years ago by such men as Shaw and Freud."

Revolt Has Gone Too Far

The mention of "new views" turned the author to "Penrod" and "Alice Adams" to a discussion of what he termed the "revolt against prettiness."

"The revolt has gone to an extreme," he said. "Many persons seem to believe that nice dirty snow is prettier than nice clean snow. It seems unfashionable to think nice clean snow is prettier. A subject has to be dirty to be art, some believe, but we'll get sensible and find the truth again."

For more than 20 years, "Old Faithful", a geyser in Yellowstone Park, has spouted at average intervals of 65 minutes.

Third Generation Company Chairman

Executive Management of Canada Starch Company Limited Continues In Hands of Benson Family.

An announcement of interest is the change which recently took place in the executive management of the Canada Starch Company Limited, manufacturers of "Crown Brand" Corn Syrup, Benson's Corn Starch and other famous starch products.

Mr. George F. Benson is retiring as President of the Company after forty-four years of activity in that capacity—and now becomes Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Company. He is succeeded in the Presidency by his son, Major George F. Benson, Jr., who was Assistant General Manager of the Canada Starch Company and also President of Canada Starch Sales Company.

The new appointment is remarkable as it means that the Executive Management of the Company goes into the third generation of the same family—whose name has been associated with the Starch industry in Canada for 80 years.

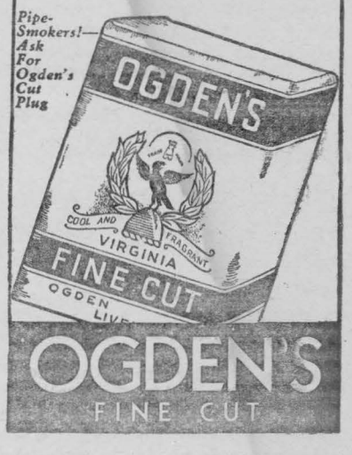

The late W. T. Benson established the business in the year 1858, and shortly after his death, his son Mr. George F. Benson, who now retired from the Presidency was appointed a Director of Edwardsburg Starch Company, becoming President in 1894. On the incorporation of The Canada Starch Company in 1906, he was nominated President and has now completed a total of over half a century of service on the Directorate of the two companies.

ALONG CANADA'S MINING HIGHWAY

The Larder Lake area, located thirty miles west of Noranda and twenty miles east of Kirkland Lake, promises to be an area of intense activity and interest during the next few months.

Fernland has started shaft sinking, Cheminis is preparing to diamond drill. Barber Larder has started shaft sinking and will be developing underground. Lar-Add will be doing surface work. Pelangio will be diamond drilling. The above, together with the more advanced work on the Chesterville and Kerr Addison, and the mining and milling on the Omega, makes a situation without parallel in Canadian mining development activity.

Alert mining men are watching the situation closely, as from just such operations can develop the big winners that come periodically. Kerr Addison, Moneta and McLeod Cockshutt are still fresh in the public remembrance.

Germany Will Make Leather From Fish

"Ersatz" Process to Manufacture Substitute For Eggs, Flour

A German fishing concern, whose fleet will operate in the North Atlantic off Newfoundland, will be established at Hamburg, to spur the Reich's four-year self-sufficiency plan.

Construction of factories which will extract albuminoid substances from fish and process them for use in the drive for greater quantities of "Ersatz" (substitute) materials also will be started.

The shipping enterprise will be known as the Viking Company. Large, speedy motor-driven fishing vessels, capable of carrying loads of 276 tons, will be operated. Albumin extracted from the company's fishing hauls will be used, if necessary, to replace eggs and other products and in fabrication of substitute wool.

The "German Albumin Company" will operate the factories. "Fish wool," "fish leather" and "fish flour" will be among the products turned out.

Japan May Lose Olympics In 1940

Lord Burleigh, member of the International Olympic Committee, said is London, England, last week, that the question of holding the Olympic games in Tokyo in 1940 is "creating widespread concern."

A decision affecting the venue may be taken at the next meeting in Cairo in March.

Lord Burghley said that there has been nothing like the situation except during the World War. If for any reason, he added, Japan withdraws, precedence will be given to the claims of Helsingfors and London since they were with Tokyo in the last choice when Japan's application was successful.

The fact that 1940 is the 2,600th anniversary of the Japanese Empire was the official reason for the acceptance of Tokyo's claim.

Claims Ears Reveal Human Character

Expert Says Position and Shape Are Equally Important In Reading Disposition

That ears tell character is the conviction of John Clennell, the well-known face-reading expert of the British Broadcasting Corporation and screen fame.

The position of the ear is as important as its shape, he says. An evenly-balanced brain is shown by the ear being placed so that two-thirds of the head is in front and one-third behind. In this case the intellect rules the physical. If the ear be positioned centrally, then the lower desires overrule the intellectual.

What Low-Set Ears Mean

If the ears are placed high, say with the orifice on a line with the eye, their possessor will be of the non-aggressive type, lacking in strong executive ability. But if set low, that is on a line with the nostrils, too much physical energy and brute froce is indicated.

A squarish-shaped ear goes with a character that is firm and energetic; one courageous and enthusiastic. An ear that is fat and fleshy is possessed by those that love the good things of this life, folk who are amiable and social.

Projecting ears often indicate great activity and energy; those set close to the head show the opposite: love of quiet and repose. Ears that are long and narrow reveal ambition; flat, badly folded ears betoken a tricky disposition; deceit is indicated by pointed tips.

The Undying Past

Small ears tell of a refined nature, though sometimes petty and finicky; large ears as a rule show that their possessor is large-hearted. A long ear with a long lobe means long life.

No man is born to be a criminal inescapably. Remove the cause of criminal thoughts, whether it be example, hunger, fear or temptation, and the man descended from criminal stock has every chance of growing up a decent citizen.

A low forehead and a pair of lobeless, ill-placed ears do not automatically brand the accused as guilty. But they will help to bring into the net of justice those possessing them who, having previously been convicted, hope to escape further detection or at least to pose as first offenders.

Confronted with their finger- and ear-prints, their past will surely find them out.

Finds Americans And Britishers Coming Closer

Actor Believes They Are Both Becoming More Human Through Laughing With Each Other.

The Britisher who guffaws at an American joke — but at the wrong point—is a figure of the past, Frederick Leister, the actor, declares.

Conversely, the American or Canadian who is left as cold as a frog in a frozen pool by English wit is vanishing rapidly.

Britons and Americans are tending to laugh more and more with each other, less and less at each other, and the reason for it mainly is that ubiquitous modern art medium, the cinema.

Movies Have Helped

"The cinema has done much to bridge the gulf between English and American humor" Mr. Leister said gravely.

A recent arrival on these shores from Great Britain, Mr. Leister has had abundant opportunity to make laboratory experiments comparing the North American and the Britannic characteristics which a certain Broadway columnist calls a "sersayuma."

In the dual role of leading player and director of British Ian Hay's latest comedy, "The Housemaster," he was in Toronto in January.

Both Sides More Alike

On both sides of the Atlantic, Mr. Leister found that the laughs came at the same time, were of approximately the same intensity and duration.

"It was most remarkable," he said. "In Boston or Toronto I felt just as if I were playing in London."

Patting yourself on the back will not push you forward.

Smiles and Chuckles

A certain justice of the peace who was not over-alert recalled a witness. "My man," he said sternly, "you may ye find yourself committed for perjury. Only a few moments ago you told the court that you had only one brother, but your sister has sworn that she has two. Now, out with the truth."

Lemuel — "May I take you home, Annabelle?"

Annabelle — "Sure, where do you live?"

There seem to be three kinds of workers. For example, when a piano is to be moved, the first gets behind and pushes, the second stands in the front and guides, and the third grabs the piano stool.

RULES FOR HAPPINESS

Life should be filled with love and song,
Who cares when troubles come?
For when a little thing goes wrong,
Just hum.
If clouds do darken skies of blue
And blacken everything,
Take this advice, it's quite the time
To sing.
If the whole world seems very drear
And lonesome all the while,
And you make the skies seem clear,
Just smile.
For when there comes a wretched time
That's full of days so gray,
To make the world get back in rime,
Be gay.

In the good old days of adventure and romance a king's jester one day found His Majesty bending over a basin and washing his face. In a spirit of fun the jester gave the king a resounding kick on that part of his sacred person situated directly behind his stomach. Deeply enraged the king ordered the immediate execution of his audacious jester, but finally consented to pardon him if he would make an apology more outrageous than the original insult. The condemned jester reflected for a moment and then remarked: "Will your Majesty please forgive me. I did not know it was you. I thought it was the Queen."

There was an eminent lawyer in New York, years ago, who was fond of displaying his legal learning, especially to members of his office staff. He was not too proud to give even the office boy the benefit of his wisdom and his experience.

Someone asked the boy :

Questioner — "How much does your boss pay you?"

Office boy — "Ten thousand dollars a year."

Questioner — "What, ten thousand a year for an office boy?"

Office Boy — "Yes, four dollars a week in cash and the rest in legal advice."

A judge asked a prisoner if there was any reason he could name why he should not be sentenced to ten years at hard labour. The prisoner told him he could not think of any, but he was sure his lawyer could because that was why he hired him.

HOLD ANNUAL MISSIONARY SERVICE

On Sunday evening the Luther League of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church held their annual Missionary Service with Mrs. Lyle Casselman, Missionery Secretary taking charge.

The opening hymn was "Christ for the World We Sing."

Scripture lessons were taken by Donald Casselman and Douglas Barclay. Mrs. Casselman gave a lengthy address explaining the work of the Missionary Dept., etc. Different members gave papers pertaining to Missionary Work in Canada and other countries.

Rev. C. R. Cronmiller gave a very interesting paper, which proved to every one present that our contribution very often helps render a great service to some who are less fortunate than ourselves.

Missionary anthem was rendered by choir. After the closing hymn Rev C. R. Cronmiller pronounced the benediction.

MRS. ANDREW BALKWELL

The burial took place Wednesday afternoon in Maple Ridge cemetery of Mrs. Andrew Balkwell of Pembroke, who before her marriage about a year ago, was Erma Jean Beach, daughter of A. W. Beach and the late Mrs. Beach of Winchester, and was quite well known to many people in this district. Mr. Balkwell is also well known.

Mrs. Balkwell was 36 years old. She was an outstanding athlete and for three years had been captain of the Queen's Hockey team at Kingston, as well as taking an active part in sports in Ottawa where she was employed in the Civil Service prior to her marriage. Educated in Winchester Public and High Schools, she was employed as clerk in the Bank of Nova Scotia before entering Queens University, where she specialized in commerce. She worked for some time in Montreal before entering the Civil Service at Ottawa.

Surviving in addition to her father and husband is an infant son; one brother, Fay Beach, of Mossomin, Sask.; one sister, Mrs. Ira Shaver, of Mountain township.

HONOR NEWLY WEDS

A delightfully arranged reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hess, of Williamsburg by about 100 friends and fellow citizens who assembled in the I.O.O.F. hall on Thursday evening of last week. On this occasion in honor of the recent marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Hess their many friends took this opportunity of expressing well wishes and congratulations. During the first part of the evenings program progressive euchre was played the prize winners being as follows: Ladies prize, Mrs. R. A. Merkley; gentlemen's prize, Mr. Elburn McIntosh; consolation prize, Master Chas. Dewland and Mrs. Heber McIntosh. Dancing was enjoyed with music furnished by an orchestra consisting of Mrs. Lyle Casselman, Carl Whitteker and Lloyd Barkley. About 12 o'clock the guests of honor were called to the front of the hall and an appropriate address was read by Mrs. Robt. A. Merkley while the presentation of beautiful and useful gifts was made by Mrs. Alfred J. Casselman, on behalf of their many friends.

Mr. Hess, on behalf of himself and Mrs. Hess made a fitting reply expressing thanks for the gifts and address. Refreshments were served by the ladies after which dancing was continued. At a late hour all dispersed for their homes after expressing good wishes to the newly wed couple.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Haines of Shanley spent Thursday at Mr. and Mrs. W. Carker's.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam R. Hamilton spent Friday at Mr. Ed. Hamilton's, Brinston.

This community was shocked to learn of the sudden death of a well known person in the name of Mr. Norman Swades at Prescott. We extend our deepest sympathy to his two sons, Gawn and Norval of this place in the loss of their father. Mr. Swades spent most of his life in this district. His wife, formerly (Jennie Gilmer) predeceased him about ten years ago. He left here to visit his uncle, Mr. Hill, about a month ago, and was seized with a heart attack from which he never recovered. He leaves a host of friends who will miss him. A number of friends from this district attended his funeral on Saturday.

DISTRICT ODD FELLOWS VISIT CONNAUGHT LODGE

Over 300 Odd Fellows of Harmony District, with large representations from Prescott, Cardinal, Iroquois, Morrisburg, Williamsburg and smaller centres, gathered in Brinston last Friday night Jan. 28th, to celebrate with Connaught Lodge No. 440, I.O.O.F. the 25th anniversary of the installation of that lodge.

The new community hall in Brinston, of Matilda Women's Institute, was packed to capacity at seven o'clock when members of Connaught and visiting brethren sat down to a sumptuous banquet. After the dinner, Rev. E. C. Lacey, of Brinston, presided as chairman over a lengthy program, main item of which was the presentation of 25 year jewels to 17 charter members of the lodge.

Ernie Mills, Iroquois, D.D.G.M., of Harmony District, proposed the toast to the District, and this was responded to by Alex. Pratt, N.G., of Amity Lodge, Prescott; Mr. Browning, N.G. of Regal Lodge, Cardinal; H. Hamilton, P.D.G.M. of Riverside Lodge, Iroquois; W. Casselman P. G., of Zeta Lodge, Morrisburg, and Rev. Wm. Lister of Williamsburg Lodge.

Bruner, of Ruthven, Grand Secretary W. Brooks of Toronto and Grand Herald Chas. H. Ranson of Prescott, by Chas Plumb of Prescott, Past Grand Patriarch of the Grand Encampment of Ontario, who as guest speaker, gave a paper on Old Fellowship. On behalf of Amity, Mr. Plumb also presented the celebrants with a life size photograph of the late F. S. Evanson, past grand master, under whose term Connaught Lodge was maintained in this district. Clifford Pitt, N.G., of Connaught, accepted the photo for the lodge and expressed sincere appreciation.

Then came the feature of the evening when E. A. Cook, of Prescott, P.D.G.M. of Regal Lodge, Cardinal, made the presentation of 25 year jewels to the 17 charter members of Connaught, who have continued their active membership. Mr. Cook gave a short review of the history of the district as well as the part played by the veterans of Connaught in the upbuilding of their lodge. Bro. W. Boyle replied on behalf of the charter members.

The veterans honored with jewels were:

Ray Johnston P.G.; Ray Count Andrew Bell, P.G.;; Howard Bell P.G.; O. A. Irvine, John Adams, Jas. Barton, Peter Locke, Rumsey Peterson, Arthur Bell, P.D.D.G.M. Ed. Doddridge, P. G.; Chas. Strader P.D.D.G.M.; Robert Fader, P.G.; P. W. Payne, P.G.; D. L. Hamilton, W. W. Reynolds, Orrin Strader, P.G.

News And Information For The Busy Farmer

Furnished by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Principals of Grading

The grading of farm products is based on the principle that it is sound business to classify live stock in such a way that the consumer will be able to recognize and purchase quality products, and that the price premium which the consumer will pay for the better grades should be returned to the producer of them. Practice has proven the value of the theory involved in the grading principle. Grading activities have been a tremendous incentive to quality production, with resultant price benefit to producers.

Gather Eggs Often

Eggs should be gathered at least twice a day, and three times daily is better during hot weather. The time of one gathering should be just before dark or as near to it as practicable. This last gathering may not produce a great number of eggs, but since broody hens will commonly search out the nest containing eggs after the day's laying has ceased failure to gather late in the day is a common source of distinct deterioration.

Each gathering should be placed in the coolest part of the cellar if no other cool spot is available, as soon as gathered. Eggs should not be put into cortons or cases immediately if this can be avoided. The ideal container for cooling eggs is a wire tray. A wire basket if the next best, and perhaps the most practical. These baskets are waste paper containers.

Feed A Balanced Ration

If there is one thing more than any other the importance of which is stressed in hog feeding, it is hat grains alone are not enough to make good hogs, and that for the production of the select bacon type hog it is important that a balanced ration be fed.

In many parts of Canada, particularly throughout the Prairie Provinces, there is an abundance of cheap grain feeds which as they stand are unmarketable, but when fed to live stock quite attractive prices can be realized. Where grains grains alone are fed the live stock product is seldom satisfactory and to get worthwhile results a protein supplement must be included to balance the ration.

Skim milk or buttermilk in some form is the ideal protein supplement in hog feeding. These, however, are not always available but because these are not available is no reason why other equally good forms of protein supplement should not be used. A very fine type of pork can be produced through feeding tankage, a by-product of the packing industry. This provides an annual protein supplement ideal for hog feeding, and at the present time this can be obtained essentially at cost.

Breeding Troubles

Following long winters with deep snow, as this winter promises to be, a great deal of trouble is usually experienced with hairlessness in young pigs, goitre in calves and lambs, and joint ill in foals. It is suggested that these troubles may be traced to a lack of iodine in the thyroid gland of the pregnant female, and losses from this cause may be avoided by feeding nodine, in the form of potassium iodine.

Potassium iodide has a generally stimulating effect, toning up the whole system, and exerts a particularly strong influence on the generative organs. Females which are apparently non-breeders will often become pregnant after this drug has been administered for a few months.

For cows, dissolve two ounces of potassium iodide in a cup of warm water, sprinkle this solution over 100 pounds of salt spread evenly and in a thin layer on a clean floor, and mix well. When the salt is dry, place it in a box where the animals have free access to it. For ewes, follow the same method as for cows.

For sows, dissolve one ounce of potassium iodide crystals in one gallon of water, and mix one tablespoon per sow daily in the feed or drinking water. For mares, give each mare a half a teaspoonful of potassium iodide in the feed grain or water on the first and fifteenth of each month.

THE STORY OF EYESTRAIN

The twelve little muscles attached to the eyeballs serve to move the eyes in any desired direction and at different distances.

The eyes are focused at the near point by two little muscles, one inside each eye, which control the thickness of the lens in each eye, thereby adjusting the focus to any distance.

With normal eyes, all thes functions work in harmony and there is no strain.

SKY GIRL

By NELLIE GRAF

Elinor Ames tries to escape the heartbreak of her postponed marriage to Dr. Norman Rogers by becoming an air stewardess. Dr. Rogers' mother approves an alliance between Norman and wealthy Francine Bayless. Norman is jealous of Jack Newton, the pilot who helped Elinor get her job. Leola Rogers, Norman's sister, is in love with Jack, but they have quarreled. Leola disappears, but wires Elinor a mysterious message not to fly again until she has seen her. Elinor, however, leaves on her regular flight. A foreigner, Valdmirz, is aboard. He carefully guards two small green bags and goes into a frenzy of anxiety when a silver plane is discovered following them through a heavy fog and storm. Elinor watches, fascinated, as a human figure creeps out on the wing of the silver plane, now flying beside them.

CHAPTER X

As Valdmirz sprang at her, Elinor sought vainly to elude his clutching fingers. They closed about her throat. The hoarse muttering of the man was in her ears.

"Those explosives — the papers — they mean life to my country. Life or extinction!"

He was choking Elinor, pounding her head against the wall. Jack tugged at him, kicked his shins, pried at his fingers.

Finally, he got the man away, forced him into the corner and held him firm.

"You, you rat!" Jack shook him roughly. "Where did you get the papers and the explosives? Answer before I break that window and toss you out after your bags. Answer!"

"The Cathney Powder Company—" the fellow began.

"Cathney Powder Company!" Jack and Elinor exclaimed simultaneously.

"Yes, Ned Cathney was to receive a million dollars if—"

Jack and Elinor started at each other. Both thought of Leola, her strange message to Elinor, her frantic wire to Norm, her disappearance afterward.

The puzzle began to fit and form a pattern—a pitiful pattern, with Leola as the victim. She must have escaped Ned, found Norm, and come to warn them.

"Who employed you?" Jack shot the question at Valdmirz.

"My government." The man's teeth ceased to chatter momentarily. He made a pretense of standing erect.

"What's the name of it?" Jack asked.

"I'll never tell that." The man did not cringe or whimper now. "My country faces a great war. They need this explosive. They won't have a chance unless"—he wrung his hands —"the formula and explosives reach them. And I've failed!"

"Go on—tell your story," Jack commanded.

Spies Watching

Valdmirz moistened his lips, rocked back and forth. "It's a formula belonging to your government. We had to have it, and Cathney offered to sell it. When he had it perfected, I was chosen to deliver it."

"But why did you choose a plane?" Jack asked. "Didn't you know there was more danger of an explosion?"

"Yes, but there are many spies from other countries watching. Trains and automobiles aren't fast enough or safe enough."

"And to think the Cathneys," Jack spoke scornfully, "would lend themselves to a thing like this. Betray their own government."

"For a million," Valdmirz said scornfully, " a man will do anything."

"Get a pencil, Elinor," Jack said, "and paper. Write out the man's story. We'll have him sign it. When this scandal comes out, it's going to take more corporation lawyers than Chicago holds to clear the Cathneys."

As Elinor got paper and pencil, she noticed the co-pilot was signaling. She answered.

"They're radioing all over about us," he exclaimed. "Tell Jack to get up here and send a message."

"He'll be up in just a minute," Elinor replied. "The most important thing just now is the story we're getting from Valdmirz."

As she rejoined Jack, Valdmirz was jabbering, "They'll kill me. I've failed. They'll torture me to death."

"We won't let them near you if you'll tell us what we want to know."

"There's no more," groaned Valdmirz. "You," he turned to Elinor in resentment, "threw the bags away. But they would have exploded, we were so high and the lightning . . . the lightning . . . a glorious death — but this, this is failure . . ."

For a while his words were an indistinct jabber and then, "The white pellets. I took them. The white pellets will beat them. And," he snarled at Elinor, "I'll be dead before I sign your paper."

Elinor wrote hurriedly and held the paper before the man to sign, but he slumped forward, unconscious.

Dramatic Landing

The plane was now circling over the Bellefonte airport. Elinor forced an antidote down the man's throat. They'd have to rush him to the hospital when they landed. He must live to sign the paper!

It was a dramatic landing. Company officials and pilots rushed out to meet them.

"Why didn't you signal? We thought you were lost, or worse. Chicago's frantic."

Everyone was talking at once. Passengers climbed out. They flocked about Jack and Elinor and Grimes, praising them.

Jack gave crisp directions. "Get an ambulance. Sick man."

As if they had dropped from the skies, a mob of reporters appeared, milled about. They lost their usual boredom in a flash, came to avid attention. Here was a story!

Heroine stewardess. Pilots real heroes. Spies, adventure! Intrigue! A government's betrayal. A great millionaire caught in the web of his villainy. A mystery plane that warned and sped away after a girl had fallen from it. And did someone say the pilot of the mystery ship was the sweetheart—no, no, the former sweetheart of the stewardess. Romance! Oh, this story had everything.

They pounced upon Jack, got Grimes in a corner and held him bodily. Following the half-distracted Elinor to the ambulance, one fellow, more daring than the others, managed to climb on top of the car and shouted questions down at her as they moved toward the hospital.

"Hey, was the fellow in the silver ship your sweetie? Is that guy Valdmirz dying? Did he confess? Has he croaked yet?"

At the hospital, Valdmirz came back to consciousness slowly. Elinor sat by his side, tense and alert, the paper and pencil in her hand.

Bride Has Snake For a Neckpiece

Modern "Garden of Eden" Ceremony Held Near Tampa, Fla.

With snakes entwined about their necks, Hazel E. Carpenter of West Palm Beach and Joseph S. Brantley, of Arcadia, Fla., were married last week in what they called a "modern Garden of Eden ceremony."

The scene was a snake farm on the outskirts of Tampa. Rev. John R. Branscamb, pastor of the First Methodist Church, performed the ceremony.

A Six-Foot Brute

The bride wore street clothes, and for a neckpiece a six-foot Indigo snake. The groom used a de-fanged rattlesnake about his collar.

"We'd been planning to get married for several months." Brantley said, "but we never could get up courage to the point of going through with it. But Hazel—that's my wife now—said she'd read somewhere that the surest way to get over being scared of something was to do something more dangerous.

"So we picked out this way."

Spinach Is Liked By Most Children

Comes the day of disillusionment to those who have pictured youngsters turning in disdain from a dish of spinach.

The news today is: They like it.

A survey of 22,416 children between the ages of six and 16 showed that spinach, with 24 per cent. of all the votes, led the list of favorite vegetables on the boys' side of the table.

The girls put spinach second to corn, which topped 30 per cent. of the lists.

Accent on the SOUTHERN

When we think of the South, we think first of all of the hospitality for which it has been famed. And hospitality means food before anything else. Even the thought of Southern specialties makes one's mouth water — fried chicken, candied sweet potatoes, baked ham and corn breads. These are the proud cookery traditions which have given the South a unique place in song, story and the hearts of those who love good food.

However, you don't have to live in or even visit the South to develop a taste for their food. Even in these Northern climes, corn bread with a real Southern accent is popular in many homes. Here are a few selected recipes which helped to build the reputation of the South but which any housewife can use to build up her own reputation as a hostess.

Southern Spoon Bread

¾ cup cornmeal
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter, melted
1 cup boiling water
1 cup milk
2 eggs, well beaten
2 teaspoons baking powder

Place cornmeal, salt and butter in bowl, add boiling water slowly and beat until smooth. Add milk, eggs and baking powder. Mix well. Turn into a greased casserole or pan, 8 x 8 x 2 inches, and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 40 to 50 minutes.

Peter Pan Ears of Corn

1 cup cornmeal
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup boiling water
½ cup sifted flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
1-3 cup milk
1 egg, well beaten
¼ cup butter or other shortening, melted

Combine cornmeal, salt and sugar. Stir in boiling water and set aside to soll slightly. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, and sift again. Add milk, egg, and shortening to hot meal, then add flour, beating only enough to dampen all flour. Bake in a greased corn-ear muffin pans in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 20 minutes. It makes 12 ears of corn.

If you have never made CORN GRIDDLE CAKES, these will delight you.

1 cup sifted flour
¾ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ tablespoon sugar
1 cup boiling water
½ cup cornmeal
2-3 cup buttermilk or thick sour cream
1 egg, well beaten
1 tablespoon butter or other shortening, melted

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda, salt, and sugar, and sift again. Pour boiling water over cornmeal and stir until smooth. Let stand 15 minutes. Add milk and egg. Stir only until smooth. Combine with flour. Add shortening. Bake on hot, well-greased griddle. Serve hot with syrup. Makes 18 cakes.

While on the subject of Southern dishes, and in case you haven't had it for a long time, try a baked ham soon. There is nothing to equal the delicate, flavoursome tenderness of a home baked ham.

Baked Ham

Scrub ham with stiff brush and, if necessary, wash in a solution of ¼ teaspoon soda to 1 quart water.

Immerse ham in a kettle of bboiling water or water and cider. Reduce the temperature immediately and add seasonings, as bay leaf, cloves and peppercorns, also onions and carrots. Simmer gently for several hours, or until tender. Do not allow water to bubble. When ham is cooked, rub with brown sugar, insert whole cloves about 1 inch apart, and bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) long enough to brown (usually 45 minutes to 1 hour). Crumbs may be mixed with the brown sugar.

No list of Southern dishes is complete without Johnny Cake.

Johnny Cake

1¼ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon soda
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup yellow corn meal
1¼ cups sour milk or buttermilk
2 eggs, well beaten
3 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, soda and sugar, and sift again. Add corn meal. Combine milk and eggs. Add to dry ingredients, mixing well. Add shortening. Bake in a greased pan, 8x8x2 inches, in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 40 minutes, or until done.

They Ate Noisily For Emily's Sake

Gourmets at Formal Luncheon Where Emily Post Spilled Berries Covered Up Her Error.

Emily Post, who lives in a glass house of etiquette, spilled a spoonful of berries on the tablecloth at a formal luncheon last week.

It was a heart-stopping moment. Ninety-two members of the Gourmet Society of New York, pretended not to notice. They went right along eating, crunching their Chinese celery a little more noisily to cover the confusion. A waiter said "Jeez!"

Mrs. Post came through it all right. She laughed it off, gently, and when she got up later, after the dessert of Spanish Rinosa cheese and Japanese toasted crackers, to deliver a little lecture on "Table Manners" you would have thought that nothing had happened.

An "International" Meal

Mrs. Post declaimed against hostesses who have themselves served first, cocktails before dinner, smoking between courses, and the recent innovation, attributed to the experience of having watched Frenchmen eat, of tucking the napkin under the chin.

The Gourmets called it an "international dinner." The food and wines were selected from the best offered by all the nations on earth. There were Russian hors d'oeuvres, French ragout, English pheasant, Belgian sauerkraut, American wild rice, Swiss alligator pear, Danish persimmon, Italian salad, Indo-China lichee nuts, Norwegian chocolate cheese, and Swedish lingerberries. Miss Post spilled the lingenberries.

Cure for Hiccoughs

Eating too quickly or swallowing food that is too hot are the commonest causes of hiccoughs, which follow spasms of the muscle separating the chest from the stomach. This muscle acts as a kind of bellows when you breathe.

As a rule, hiccoughs are not serious, but if they persist for a long time they can cause great discomfort. The ordinary hiccough can usually be stopped by holding the breath, but if this does not have effect try a long drink of cold water. Another way to stop an obstinate attack is to pull the tongue out and hold it out for about a minute.

Stockings

Interesting Facts Disclosed About An Essential Feature of Dress

A museum for stockings is to be established in Apolda, Germany, where stockings have been made for three and a half centuries.

On the sidewalks of London is conducted the business of mending runs in ladies' hosiery. The lady whose stocking is being mended rests her foot on a footrest provided by the woman who does the mending.

Cobwebs were used by a Frenchman in 1740 to make stockings. A spider's web consists of silken strands.

Once Were Leather

Artificial silk used in ladies' silk stockings is made from the same chemical as gun powder. Incidentally some stockings for summer wear have been chemically treated to repel mosquitoes.

Stockings made from the inner tubes of automobile tires are sold in Turkey, Syria and the Balkan States.

Before knitting and weaving were invented leg coverings or stockings were made of leather.

The length of the silk thread used in one pair of women's hose is about 3¾ miles.

Why Women Go In For Dress

Psychologists Say It Is For Men, Other Women, for Themselves

Women—at least some of them — primp because they feel the need of a pick-me-up after "blue spells" or spats with their boy friends. Others put on fancy frills to punish their husbands by making them pay the bills, one of three psychologists said. Another view—and this from a woman —Miss Agnes Sharp, chief psychologist of the Psychiatric Institute of the Municipal Court, at Chicago, was that women dress just to capture the interest of the male.

2 Steps in Fighting Discomfort of COLDS

No family need neglect even minor head colds.

Here is what to do: Take two "Aspirin" tablets when you feel a cold coming on—with a full glass of water. Then repeat, if necessary, according to directions in each package. Relief comes rapidly.

The "Aspirin" method of relief is the way many doctors now approve. You take "Aspirin" for relief—then if you are not improved promptly, you call the family doctor.

● "Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

MADE IN CANADA

The psychologists came out of separate mental huddles on the question of why women go in for self-adornment on a big scale, after Prof. Joseph T. Casey, of the philosophy department of De Paul University, had said that women primp because of other women.

"Woman," said the professor, "is far more concerned about reactions from members of her own sex."

But Mrs. Evelyn Mills Duvall, psychologist, asserted women wear skyscraper hats and keep up on the latest styles because "way down deep every woman dresses to satisfy herself."

Lost Love Better Than None At All

More than 50 per cent. of the students at Victoria College, University of Toronto, favored losing at love rather than being loveless in their vote last week after a debate on the subject:

"It is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all."

The vote was 80 to 37 and here's some of the reasons:

G. J. Aldridge, fourth-year student: "Loving and losing fulfils the highest functions of the university."

W. H. Howard, third year: "I approach the subject with an open mind—and open arms. Necking is a petty aspect of love, but a gripping question."

TIRED or NERVOUS? Is bile doing its work?

Your liver is lazy, that's why you feel so rotten half the time. Your system is not getting enough bile. Your head aches, your back aches. Your food doesn't digest properly. It stagnates and decays for lack of bile. Bile is a digestant and an antiseptic. Your liver should produce 18 to 36 fluid ounces of bile every 24 hours.

Tanol Tablets will make your liver do its work. Based upon a small proportion of Calomel blended with certain other useful medicinal ingredients, Tanol Tablets act promptly and directly upon the liver, stimulating the flow of bile. They are easy to take and provide a safe, easy way of using calomel, probably the most effective liver stimulant known. They are not harsh. But they are efficient. Your druggist has them. 50c. (a)

Sunday School Lesson

LESSON VI
CHALLENGING THE SOCIAL ORDER — Mark 2:13-22

Golden Text — "I came not to call the righteous, but sinners." Mark 2:17.

The Lesson In Its Setting

Time — Early summer, A.D. 28.

Place — The teaching recorded in verse 13 and the call of Matthew took place along the shore of Galilee, presumably near the city of Capernaum; the feast given by Matthew in honor of Jesus took place in Matthew's home in the city of Capernaum, at the northern end of the Sea of Galilee.

"And he went forth again by the sea to the sower, the lily, the bird. He custom, when teaching, was to point to the sower, the lilly, the bird. He is no pale recluse emerging from a library to instruct. "And all the mutitude resorted unto him, and he then taught them."

A Follower of Jesus

"And as he passed by, he saw Levi, the son of Alphaeus." This man is certainly to be identified with Matthew, which is the name he uses in his own Gospel in referring to himself (9:9). A number of men in the New Testament had two names; generally one was used in speaking of their life before Christ found them, and the other of their life after they became disciples of Christ, though not exclusively so. "Sitting at the place of toll." Matthew was a tax-collector, located in a city through which passed a great deal of traffic, long caravans carrying the rich goods of the Orient down into Egypt, and returning to Mesopotamia laden with Egypt's treasures and agricultural products. There was a tax and duty upon all imports and exports and on all that was bought and sold, bridge-money, road-money, harbour-dues, town-dues, etc. The taxes of Judaea were levied by publicans in Judaea, and paid directly to the government, the officials being appointed by the provincials themselves. The publicans were chosen from the native population because they would know the ways of the people better. For this position they had to pay their superiors a certain sum, and everything else they could squeeze out of the people would go into their pockets. Jesus of Nazareth, the carpenter's son, knew Matthew the publican quite well. Perhaps only too well. He had often been in Mathew's tollbooth with his mother's taxes and with other poor people's taxes. "And he saith unto him, Follow me." Possibly Matthew had come to loathe the life of dishonesty and blackguardism in which he lived. He had long heard of Jesus and had seen the mighty works he did. He had caught sight of a higher and nobler life, and that vision had created such a disgust with his present existence, that, he loathed himself. Jesus' standard of life was one of honesty, purity, a life free from all hypocrisy and insincerity, empty of graft, marked by kindness and unselfishness. Now Matthew, himself, mands to know that, if he should ever accept this invitation, it would mean walking out of the tollbooth never to come back again, and giving up at once the profession which was his living. "And he arose and followed him." From this simple statement we see that Matthew had absolute confidence in the Lord Jesus Christ; he believed that the ideals and principles of Jesus were, though he was not living them, absolutely right, the very truth of God and he was a man of quick decision; he knew that there were things more important in life than money.

Sitting At a Feast

"And it came to pass, that he was sitting at meat in his house." From Luke's account we know that this feast was not in Jesus' house, but in Matthew's house. "And many publicans and sinners sat down with Jesus and his disciples; for there were a great many, and they followed him." 'Publicant' is a Latin word meaning the great officers who formed the Roman revenue and paid into the public treasury the sum agreed upon by contract with the government. They sublet the tax-gathering to agents, and these agents engaged local officers, the publicans of Scripture to collect the dues. The sinners who were here were citizens of Capernaum who probably kept away from the synagogue more or less of the rabble of the town. A 'disciple' was fundamentally a learner, one who especially attached himself to a teached and became one of his ardent pupils.

Question His Conduct

"And the scribes of the Pharisees." The Pharisees were the sect that adhered not only to the law, but to the rabbinical interpretation of the law, which gradually formed a traditional code by the side of the unwritten law. Their scribes, therefore, would be the rabbis of the party that specially believed in the rabbis. "When they saw that he was eating with the sinners and the publicans, said unto his disciples, How is it that he eateth and drinketh with publicans and sinners?" In the Orient, if two men voluntarily broke bread with each other, dividing, say, a loaf between them, then they became, as it were, united, one with another, in friendship. Consequently when Jesus sat down and actually ate with publicans and sinners, the significance of it all was that he was willing to make them his friends. The Pharisees refused even to come in contact with the type of men gathered around Matthew's table that day, and for Jesus not only to have contact with them, but to actualy sit down and eat with them, instantly marked him, in their sight, as one outside the law, unworthy of their confidence.

"And when Jesus heard it." The criticism of the Pharisees was not spoken to Jesus, but to his disciples, but their words were uttered in a tone loud enough for Jesus to hear them. "He saith unto them, They that are whole have no need of a physician, but they that are sick; I came not to call the righteous, but sinners." Jesus admits that the people with whom that day he is eating and drinking are 'sick,' i.e. they are 'sinners.' The Pharisees never lifted a finger to heal sinners of their sins; for this purpose had Jesus come, and by his so doing these Pharisees themselves would have to acknowledge that his righteousness was far above theirs.

Why They Fasted

"And John's disciples and the Pharisees were fasting; and they come and say unto him, Why do John's disciples and the disciples of the Pharisees fast, but they disciples do not?" The Pharisees fasted of their own accord twice in the week in their pretense of holiness. In not asking his disciples to fast Jesus of course in no way contradicts the law. From Matt. 6:17 we see that Jesus was not opposed to fasting as such, when done for the proper purpose and in the proper way. The disciples of John really asked for enlightenment. The Pharisees wanted to discredit Jesus.

"And Jesus said unto them, Can the sons of the bridechamber fast, while the bridegroom is with them? as long as they have the bridegroom with them, they cannot fast." John the Baptist himself (John 3:29) said that he was the friend of the bridegroom, and by saying this he designated Christ as the bridegroom himself. The bridegroom was now with them. It was no time for the disciples to mourn and to manifest their spirit of mourning.

"But the days will come, when the bridgegroom shall be taken away from them. And then they will fast in that day." The Greek word here translated 'taken away' implies a violent death. Jesus had previously hinted at his death and here he directly points to it, though it will yet be two years before he shall die on the cross.

"No man seweth a piece of undressed cloth on an old garment; else that which should fill it up taketh from it, the new from the old, and a worse rent is made." Discard the old entirely, and accept not merely a bit of the new, but all the new in its completeness. Not a new patch, but a new robe. The old robe is the Judaism of that period. It was useless to try to patch this up with a bit of the teaching or practice of Jesus.

"And no man putteth new wine into old wine-skins; else the wine will burst the skins, and the wine perisheth, and the skins; but they put new wine into fresh wine-skins." The containers referred to were made of the skin of the goat. When these were new, they were elastic, but the old skins were dry and hard; hence the folly of putting wine which would ferment into skins which did not expand. The patch illustration gives the outward aspect of the truth that Christianity cannot be tacked on to the old law.

Where Christ comes, there comes change; old forms and ceremonies will not suit. Old things pass away and all things become new. Even man becomes a new creature. Life must be different where Christ is found. The new faith, the new attitude to God, will require new forms. To confine the new in the bonds of the old is certain to mean trouble, perhaps disaster and loss.

Witchcraft Caused 100 Years' War

Queen Elizabeth Was Once Nearly a Victim of the Black Art

As old as time, witchcraft has played an important part in history, and has, indeed, been held responsible for the Hundred Years' War.

In 1333, Robert III of Artois, having quarrelled with King Philippe VI of France, decided to put an end to his enemy by the practice of witchcraft. He made lifelike wax images of the king and queen, the idea being that by uttering certain magic words and at the same time sticking pins into the images, he would cause the persons they represented to die.

Had this pin-sticking been carried out, and the king heard of it, it is quite possible that he would have died, for so superstitious were people in the Middle Ages that the power of suggestion alone often proved fatal.

However, the plot was discovered, and Robert fled to England, where the opportunity occurred for him to try other methods. He approached Edward III, persuaded him to claim the French throne, and the Hundred Years' War was the result.

Pins Stuck in Wax Images

Queen Elizabeth was once nearly the victim of witchcraft. A waxen image of herself was found with a pin stuck through it. So frightened was she that she took to her bed, and the services of Dr. Dee, a famous astrologer and alchemist, were secured.

He operated a number of charms, pronounced formulas and spells and th,e "danger" was happily averted.

The use of waxen images has always been one of the favourite forms of killing an enemy by witchcraft, though the method of sticking a pin through them is not the only one. Another is to place the image before a fire and allow it to melt a little each day.

Persecutions, Burnings

If the spell works successfully, the victim gradually pines away while the process is going on, and dies as the last fragment of wax melts. This method is still practised in the uncivilized depths of Africa and in some of the Pacific islands. In these places, the victim, if he knows that, somewhere, someone is bewitching him in this way, almost invariably dies.

There are, of course, many other methods. Early in the seventeenth century, two sisters were burnt at Lincoln, England, for practising witchcraft. Servants of the Duke and Duchess of Rutland, they, together with their mother, hated their employers, and resorted to witchcraft in order to be revenged upon them.

An American aviation mechanic who says his name is "just Alabam", because that's where he came from, tells how Japanese bombers have been destroying so many "Chinese planes" lately.

"They're keeping a Chinese carpenter busy at the airdrome making wooden dummy planes," Alabam' said. "The Chinese go out at night and put them in fields that look like airfields, then the Japanese come along the next day and blow them up. They must have blown up an awful lot of them."

Movie Star Dust Radio

By VIRGINIA DALE

These are stirring times in radio, motion pictures and newsreels for all three have reached a new high peak of achievement. With the Toscanini symphony concerts the National Broadcasting company have deservedly won the greatest audience response and the highest tributes from music critics, composers and musicians.

In the field of fictional motion pictures "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," Walt Disney's first feature-length fantasy, is a glittering and shining milestone. Any day now, Dopey, the little dwarf who never learned to talk because he had nothing to say, will take his place in your hearts along with Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck.

Walt Disney

Paramount and Warner Brothers are going to remake some old pictures of theirs, having failed to find any new story material as good. Paramount has selected "The Letter" as the first starring vehicle for Isa Miranade, famous Italian actress. This story, a spine-chilling thriller by Somerset Maugham, was first filmed some ten years ago, and was an outstanding success among early talking pictures. Warner Brothers feel that it is high time to film "Trilby" again. This time Claude Rains and either Anita Louise or Olivia de Havilland will play Svenhali and Trilby.

When you read that so-and-so made a film test in New York and was sent to Hollywood under contract to make pictures, it may not sound impressive. It should, however, for last year out of 52,000 applicants, only 56 won contracts. Variety, the authoritative trade paper of the theatrical world, checked up and found that of the 52,000 applicants, only 6,050 had auditions. Among these 360 were given screen tests. The most spectacular successes among the young players sent to Hollywood a year ago, are Frances Farmer, Don Ameche, and Tyrone Power.

Motion-picture producers are now scurrying around trying to think of a new formula for making musical pictures, because they can't go on making them bigger. "Rosalie" stretches the eye of the camera to its utmost limits. It has armies of dancing girls, platoons of singers, it has airplanes, boats, football players, it has more of everything than you have ever seen crowded into one picture. A lovely newcomer, Ilona Massey, whom you have probably heard on the radio, makes you want to see and hear more of her. Nelson Eddy works valiantly with all his heroic and vocal might.

Infinitely less pretentious, but generous in the array of public idols it introduces is Republic's "Merry Go Round." Gangsters led by Leo Carrillo take over a recording company, and then the fun and noise begin. Mixed up in the proceedings are Joe DiMaggio, baseball star, Gene Autry and his cowboy band, Kay Thompson and her radio chorus, Cab Calloway and Ted Lewis and their bands, singing Phil Regan and Tamara Geva. The story never tries to make sense, just goes jocularly along its way with blasts of music from crooning to hi-de-ho.

May Know Secret Of Keeping Fruit

Process Used By Winnipeg Man Does Not Include Chemicals Or Freezing

Hope that a retired farmer of Winnipeg has hit upon a process of preserving fruits and vegetables so that they will retain life and freshness for a period of months, without freezing or without use of chemicals, was expressed to the concluding session of the Fruit and Vegetable Jobbers' Association convention at London by Harold Smith, Winnipeg. Mr. Smith, who said he thought this man, Joseph McCandless, native of the British Isles "might have something," pointed out that if true this method might greatly increase the use of Canadian grown products, making many importations from the south unnecessary.

Mr. Smith said he did not know what the process was. But he said it would be investigated and assured the convention that if found sound, no effort to keep it out of use would be tolerated.

BLACKHAWKS BOW TO MIGHTY MAROONS IN FIRST START; MORRISBURG GIRLS DEFEAT CARDINAL, 3—2

Entering the Town League competition Wednesday night, Blackhawks, a newly organized team of young hopefuls, held a 3-2 lead in the first period, and then blew their lead when the big red team put on the pressure to go down on the short end of a 4-3 count.

In the first game of the evening, an exhibition affair, a local girls' team defeated the Cardinal girls 3-2. This was a better game than most girls' teams have shown here, yet, the girls all putting more team work and zip into their play. Ruth Mattice, Audrey Fraser, and Leola Laurin counted for the locals and the Thompson sisters, Georgina and Margaret, scored for the Cards.

The lineup:

Cardinal: Goal—Isabel Roland, defence, Margaret VanCamp and Grace Darling; Forwards, Dorothy Serviss, Margaret Cook, Margaret Thompson; subs. Marion Small, Betty Toye, Jean Cook, Georgina Thompson, Elsie Johnston, Barbara Palmer. Coach J. Simms.

Morrisburg—Goal, Mrs. J. Hunter, Defence Irla Deeks and Mrs. McMillan; .Forwards, Audrey. Fraser Leola Laurin, Sarah Murdock; subs. Marion O'Shaughnessy Eva Cassell, Minnie Taylor. Coach Dannie Locke. Referees, VanCamp, Cardinal; Smith, Morrisburg.

SECOND GAME

The Blackhawks showed up for the second game minus the services of Elliott Timmins, their goalie, who was ill. Into the breach stepped John A. MacDonald, off the second string defence, and although outlucked on the last goal, an easy shot which just trickled into the net. John turned in a very creditable performance. The Hawks were also without Lank Carr and Charlie Tuttle. They all showed the need of a great deal of practice between now and the next game, but with that added should be the equal of any team in the league. Maroons seemed to have a hard time to get up steam, but once they got going they found the range without too much difficulty. The red defence gave the Blackhawks recruits from Glen Becker a rather rocky ride at the start of the game, but they got back a receipt for everything they handed out. The Blackhawks have unearthed a real find in Dick Mallen and Art Tindal. Both these boys played heads up hockey all through, and while Tindal hooked two counters to Mallen's one, Dick saw more action than any other man on the team—and that's saying something. He was going great guns from start to finish, and with a little practice the forward line of Mallen, L. Laurin, and A. Tindal will at next game, show to better advantage.

The lineups:

Maroons: Goal, Dillon; Defence McIntyre and Dillabough; Centre Hutt, Wings, Gamble and Eamon; Subs. Schell, Millward, Smith, W. Casselman.

Blackhawks:— Goal, MacDonald Defence, Beckstead and E. Casselman; centre, Mallen; wings, L. Laurin and P. Laurin. Subs. D. VanAllen, C. VanAllen, Aikman, Cameron, A. Tindal.

Referees: Paul Smith, Geo. Tindal.

Scorers—
Blackhawks—
1—D. Mallen (C. Beckstead).
2. A. Tindal.
3. A. Tindal (Mallen, Aikman).

Maroons—
1. Schell.
2. Eamon.
3. Gamble (Hutt).
4. Gamble.

HERE AND THERE ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

The local girls seemed to have the Cardinalites well under control at all stages of the game. They outscored their adversaries 3-2.——The ice was in poor condition again and it was difficult to keep the puck from rolling.——Denzil Dillabough has many a time been dubbed the "League Bad Man." In our opinion, Dillabough takes as much as he hands out. After the game Den. declaired he would not fight again unless there was a better crowd.——Cecil Hunter (big chief of the Maroons), looked like a "white hope" as he took an active part in the squabble at the end of the game——Maroons are improving steadily and may yet prove a contender—Hawks looked like winners for a while but they were unorganized.——Johnny Hunter, coach, and Art Laurin, manager of the "Dark Horse Entry" had a problem on their hands to ice a team.——Timmins, the goal tending star of the league, and several other stellar Hawk performers were absent through illness——They say this is not an alibi.——He sings! He sings! Charlie Weegar was noticed in the side-line singing "Sweet Someone".——The style of hockey has improved greatly——Dick Mallen made a starry comeback after a two-year layoff to count one goal and one assist for the Hawks. Art Tindal did his part, scoring the other two. Fraser Schell is showing up well in Maroon colors.——Next week the Town League hockey will be played from six to seven o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday, instead of both games on Wednesday night as usual. The arrangements had to be changed on account of the carnival on Wednesday night at the arena. Blackhawks will figure in both these contests as they are slightly behind the other entries in the number of games played. On Tuesday night, the Hawks meet the league-leading Red Wings and on Thursday night they take on the dashing M. C. I. The students fresh from their examinations will be gunning for a victory. Be on hand for these games, and help support your favorite team. The admission for next week's games is only ten cents; children five cents.

President George Tindal would do well to secure some competent referees before the next game. All last year the league was hampered by unsatisfactory officiating. One of the referees on Wednesday night, when the Blackhawk manager complained to him of some highsticking on the part of a particular Maroon player, stated: "They have to do it in self-defence."—Not particularly encouraging to those who are endeavoring to promote clean sport.
