Separate board budget ups residential levy

CORNWALL (Staff) - The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Separate School Board of Education passed its 1981 budget earlier this week and dealt separate supporters an average residential increase of 6.85 mills.

The budget was termed a 'status quo' plan by trustee Peter Van Moorsel. It provides for an increase of $1.1 million to $18.9 million from $17.8 million.

It was noted, though, more than half the increase will be put toward a $196,171 deficit incurred during 1980.

On a $5,000 assessment, the increase translates roughly to $34 more than last year's $198 levy.

Teachers' salaries formed the biggest expenditure, with $6.6 million allotted for the English sector and $4.2 million for the French sector.

Plant operations, at $2.3 million took another chunk out of the budget. Transportation, $1.8 million, was another expensive commodity.

Both plant operations and transportation showed approximately a $200,000 increase over 1980.

On the credit side of the ledger, the lion's share of the revenue will come from the provincial government. Up approximately $2-million from last year, the province will provide $16.1-million of the $18.9-million budget.

Property taxes will account for $2.5-million of the budget and the federal government, approximately $92,500.

The board also discussed and approved an energy study to be performed at 19 board schools by the firm L.J. Tremblay Engineering.

Louis Tremblay, representing the firm estimated an annual saving of $80,000 might be realized as a result of the study and board members noted there was a possibility of recovering the study fee with a grant.

In other business, the board agreed to consider doubling physical education time at a Cornwall school.

President of the Chesterville Rotary Club, Bob Bennett, gives his feet a rest Monday night. The rest is necessary so they'll be in shape to go the 10 miles in the Rotary Walk-A-Thon, Sat., May 9. The annual walk-a-thon starting at the Chesterville Drop-In Centre, is to raise funds for the club's projects throughout the year.

Rotary walk-a-thon answers exercise need

(Staff) - The fresh spring air brings out the athlete in most people and in response to the need for increased exercise the Chesterville Rotary Club will be holding their annual Walk-A-Thon Sat., May 9.

Walkers interested in making the trek will be attempting to walk the ten mile course established by the club. The starting time is between 8am and 9am and the location is the Chesterville Drop-In Centre.

Walkers will be hiking north on Main St., across the bridge and west onto Queen St. The route continues along Queen St., past Highway 43 and past Derk's Farm Equipment (in the old Queensway Tankers building) to the new Nation Valley Bridge. Walkers will cross the bridge and head back to Chesterville along the south bank of the South Nation River. The route brings the trekkers back into the village along South St., and back to the Drop-In Centre.

Everyone is welcome to participate says Rotary president Bob Bennett. Walkers may obtain sponsor sheets from local schools, and boy scouts and any Rotarian. Sponsors are requested to pledge money on each mile completed by the walker.

Those who compete the route will be able to refuel their bodies at the Drop-In Centre where hot dogs and refreshments will be served.

"It is one of our major money-raising efforts over the year and we need everyone's support", says Mr. Bennett.

The money raised will be used for regular Rotary projects he said, like helping the boy scouts, the disabled and crippled children.

So be prepared to get an unexpected knock at your door in the next couple of weeks.

Agricultural study provides data

BERWICK (Staff) - In Eastern Ontario the South Nation River Basin is one of the most highly productive agricultural areas in Eastern Ontario. That was the part of the findings of Weston Graham and Associates Ltd., the consultants doing the agricultural background study for the South Nation River Conservation Authority.

Bill Graham of Weston Graham Associates presented the draft copy of the study to members of the conservation authority and interested area residents last Wednesday in the Berwick Community Hall.

The study was initiated by the authority to identify the opportunities and constraints for agricultural development in the Basin and to provide agricultural development information for water resource management planning in the basin.

Mr. Graham told the small audience that the study didn't reveal anything the agricultural society didn't know but it does give exact data for future use.

The basin is a mixed farming area with dairy being the major form of enterprise, states the report. "Cash crops are rapidly gaining in importance, especially grain corn. Many successful farm operations are a combination of several enterprises or "profit centers" that compliment each other in terms of management, labor and capital - such as dairy and cash crops, or beef, hogs and horticultural crops".

The report divides the study into four sections: the agricultural industry, the socio-economic framework, the agricultural resource base and the commodity production and marketing systems.

Because the processing and manufacturing activities in the basin center around the agricultural community it reflects the importance of farming.

In the socio-economic framework of the basin the study reports:

- the population grew "substantially" between 1961 and 1976, with mainly rural non-farming people being responsible. The farm population has declined and the trend is expected to continue although at a slower pace.
- in 1976 there were more than 509 processing and manufacturing businesses generating a value of almost $2.4 billion in the basin counties, the largest of which is the food and beverage sector.
- the average total farm income in the eight basin counties was below the Ontario average of $7,642 between 1967-77. But the net farm income was higher than the provincial average of $1,845 in four of the eight (Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott and Russell).
- farm production included 1-billion lbs. of milk annually, 8.3-million bushels of grain corn was produced in 1979, barley produced was 1.3-million bushels, mixed grain produced was 23-million bushel. The production of potatoes, tomatoes and cabbage declined between 1976 and 1979 while production of apples, small fruits and sweet corn increased dramatically. "The value of farm production increased by a factor of 3.2 from 1961-1976 - from $53.7-million to $170.2-million, with Dundas, Glengarry and Prescott counties exceeding the increase.
- there are a total of 2,747 farms in the basin with sales of $2,500 or more. The number of dairy farms has decreased from 1971 while the number of cattle, hog and livestock enterprises increased. Poultry farms decreased while field crop farms increased, as did fruit and vegetable farms.

Under the Agricultural Resource base the study reported that:

- the land is productive but the weather only gives farmers about 60 per cent of the working time on the land, "compared with farmers in Southern Ontario".
- the soils in the basin vary widely from light acid sands to muck soils, many suitable for agricultural production.
- 78 per cent of the basin is class 1-4 agricultural land.
- nearly 60 per cent of the land in the basin is used for agriculture.
- just over 8.1 per cent of the basin land is tile drained,

Unique vocational workshop teaches work and life skills

Editor's Note: The week of May 3 to 9 is Mental Health Week in Canada. The Dundas County Association for the Mentally Retarded formed in 1975 as a grass roots movement. It was established to help the mentally retarded and their families in Dundas County live as normal a life as possible. The organization created a vocational workshop for mentally handicapped adults in 1979, called Seaway Enterprises. This is an update on the workshop.

MORRISBURG (Staff) - Seaway Enterprises, in the shopping center here, has come a long way in the past two years, said Judy Bond, manager of the retail store manufacturing plant that employs and trains 30 mentally retarded adults.

When the workshop opened its doors, the women who now make quilts, placemats, toys and other sewn handiwork, had never seen a sewing machine let alone operated one, said Miss Bond.

The woodworking shop began with a drill press and a few hand tools. It now turns out finely-finished butcher block tables, bread boxes and many other pine household items.

Miss Bond has only praise for her staff and the community. She has "a creative, adaptive staff" with a "good sense of humour." The community has been open and helpful along the way.

As a result, the workshop has grown from producing a hanging shelf and a swing, during its first year, to now boasting one of the finest gift and craft shops in the Ottawa valley.

Seaway Enterprises began approximately three years ago, notes Miss Bond. When it first began setting up it was necessary to operate out of a motel room for several months and out of a basement for another few months.

The building it now occupies, she said, is ideal.

As a part of the shopping centre, she said, the workshop is viewed as a business rather than a facility for the mentally retarded. This is vital. The avoidance of labelling allows the workshop and its members to stand on their own.

As well, its proximity to the community allows the lifeskills clients to participate in the community. Skills such as banking, cooking, cleaning and hygiene are taught in the life skills program. Of the workshop's 30 clients, 10 are involved in life skills training.

The other 20 participate in the work skills program. In the sewing workshop and the woodworking shop, a complete range of gifts and some furniture are produced.

In the sewing workshop, Miss Bond pointed out an example of the enterprising and accommodative nature of her staff. When one of the women could not follow the seam line guide on the sewing machine, a staff member attached a wooden guide to the sewing machine and now all seams are a perfect five-eights inch.

Another example of staff ingenuity, she said, is the fact their paper cutter has never cut a a sheaf of paper! Instead, the quilt squares are cut, several at a time, thereby saving the painstaking work of cutting the individual squares. The result, she said, is the time required to build a quilt has been reduced from six months to three-and-a-half weeks.

The woodworking shop, as well as turning out towel racks, knife racks and the other wooden items so popular now, also refinishes furniture by hand. As such, said Miss Bond, not too many pieces are taken in at one time.

The workshop clients also do collating and packaging when they can get the contracts, said Judy. Naturally, there are not as many contracts of this nature in the rural area as there would be available to a similar workshop in Toronto. This is why the nature of the workshop evolved as it did.

As well, she said, they try not to compete with the community businesses. The gift shop is unique in the area.

Her staff, Terry Mooney and Sandra Ault in life skills and Dave Stewart and Cindy Cooper in work skills are a "rare breed", she says. They have a background in their particular skill (retail and craft) as well as a slant toward social science or MR counselling.

The 'giving' nature of the job means the staff need a self-reservoir. The position is difficult and demands a constant effort from staff members. Schedules often go out the window, she said. When a need arises, it is most often immediate and urgent.

Proceeds of the shop go toward the 20 per cent of its budget the workshop must raise on its own. The other 80 per cent of the work skills program is funded by the Ministry of Community and Social Services, explained Miss Bond. The life skills program is funded at 100 per cent by the ministry.

The 20 per cent to be raised at the workshop represents $20,000 she said. Last year the target was not reached, but she said she expects the store sales to double this year, by indications thus far.

"The more people see the quality of our work, the more old notions go out the window" summed up the manager of Seaway Enterprises.

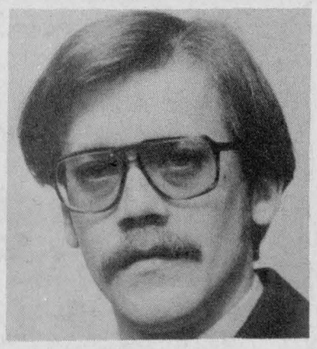
Osnabruck this week

Richard Waldroff



Saudi Arabian oil producers will request a reduction of the world price of oil at the next OPEC meeting. Now, this is a surprise!

This comes about due to the surplus of oil on world markets; oil which has been removed from the earth and has no direction.

The reason for part of the surplus is the high price of energy at retail outlets; people have cut back on their consumption to conserve this precious natural resource.

We as Canadians, are slowly making the moves which will help us conserve and this will pay off. This will make us self-sufficient in the years to come, and keep prices under control as well as reduce the amount of subsidy provided by the federal government.

In order to see these price reductions, we must cut back on our waste of petroleum products. Plan your trips to be most energy effective. If you're at the shopping centre; why not phone home to make sure you haven't forgotten anything. All efforts will help benefit you in the future.

representing 13.3 per cent of the land used for agriculture. About 274,000 acres could be brought into the productive capacity range of Class 1-3 through tile drainage.

- the people in the basin have adjusted to early spring flooding, but the late summer and early fall flooding, which causes the greatest damage has not been brought under control.

- "there are more than 91,000 acres of organic or muck soils in the basin, of which 27,000 acres are in agricultural use. These soils are important in the hydrological cycle of the basin because they act as water reservoirs and source areas for summer flows. Carefull consideration must be given to their potential future uses."

- the amount of herbicides, insecticides and fungicides used in the basin have increased since the early 1970s and are likely to play a major role in sustaining the productive capacity of agriculture in the basin.

- speaking of the commodity production and marketing systems in the basin Mr. Weston noted "No matter how you cut it this is a dairy area and it's not going to change".

The reports states:

- the number of livestock being slaughtered in the area does not meet the demand.

- the production of milk is the single most important agricultural activity in the basin. "In 1976, almost three-quarters of all farmers with sales over $2,500 received the major share of their income from the production of milk. The trend to fewer and larger dairy farms is expected to continue as those with smaller herds retire or leave the industry."

- the production of beef has not been traditionally important in the basin.

- hog numbers in the basin have fluctuated since 1971 with weaner enterprises and farrow to finish enterprises being the most common.

- sheep producers are small in number but dedicated stated the report.

- the number of poultry farms in the basin has been decreasing since 1971.

- grain corn is the major cash crop in the basin with most of the production going into livestock feeds. Crop acreage is expected to expand with more tile drainage. Both dairy and livestock farmers will continue to grow corn as a source of on-farm feed and for cash sale.

- fruit and vegetables growers have a long history of commercial production and marketing of their products in the basin, i.e. the MacIntosh apple.

Proper tools lessen garden chores

MAPLE RIDGE (Staff) - The necessary garden tools and their proper care will lessen the amount of work for any gardener.

So says Anstace Esmonde-White, authoress of "Vegetable Gardening" and contributor to HarrowSmith magazine. Mrs. Esmonde-White, speaking to a small crowd attending a St. Lawrence College gardening workshop at North Dundas District High School last Saturday said tools must be the right size and weight.

Most garden centers don't stock the proper weight tools for different people. For example, women who use tools weighted for a man will tire quickly in the garden.

She recommended putting oil on both the wooden handle and the metal portion of the tool. All tools must also be kept sharp and cleaned after use.

If you have a large garden Mrs. Esmonde-White recommended buying a rotary tiller. Large gardens require the use of the tool more often than a small garden. If your garden is small she advised renting the tool or borrowing one.

The old-fashioned style of wheelbarrow, with one wheel, is being replaced by a two wheel wheelbarrow said the gardener.

The new type is very light, and well-balanced and doesn't tip easily like the old one.

In her own garden Mrs. Esmonde-White uses a stirrup hoe or dutch hoe. The usual hoe, with three prongs, is more difficult to work with she said.

For spray equipment Mrs. Esmonde-White said only large gardens need it at all. It is a necessary tool for large gardens and gardens with fruit trees. She recommended the hand-pressure container.

Another "must" tool is the lawn mower. The mower is used to maintain good garden hygiene. By cutting the grass close to the vegetable garden Mrs. Esmonde-White said weeds and pests will be better controlled.

She also advised adding scissors and a pocket knife to your garden tools.

Have you ever lost a tool in the garden after finishing? So have many others said Mrs. Esmonde-White. She explained that she paints a dash of bright colored paint to her tools to make them easily visible in the grass.

Parties to please your purse

If you would like to have a party but are unsure of how to get organized, the program entitled "Parties to Please Your Purse" will be a big help.

Four great menus from tested recipes are included in this presentation. Your local home economist will show you how to get started, at four different locations on four consecutive evenings.

On Mon., May 4, 1981, Caldwell Hall (behind St. John's Presbyterian Church) 28 Second St., E., Cornwall will be the site. Green Valley Pavilion, Green Valley will be used for the program held on Tues., May 5, 1981.

On Wed., May 6, 1981, the program will be held at Roxmore Public School, Avonmore. The final program will be held at the Morewood United Church, Morewood, on Thursday evening May 7, 1981. Each of the programs will commence at 7:30pm and conclude at 9:45pm.

The menus are simple to prepare, nutritionally-balanced, eye-appealing, and include a good variety of flavours "to please your crowd", as well as suggestions "to please your purse".

The Home Economics Branch of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food has delved into party planning with gusto and come up with some helpful ideas for entertaining.

Work plans, metric charts, tips on how to incorporate economical ways of entertaining are included. The Master Party Planner will help you organize details and bring order to your planning.

We hope to share these ideas with you. Everyone is welcome and admission is free.

SLC awards office the busiest on campus

CORNWALL - One of the busier offices at St. Lawrence College for the next month or so will be the student awards office where Claire Samson, financial aid administrator, is currently receiving applications to the Ontario Student Assistance Program (OSAP).

Mrs. Samson estimates that she will process 600 applications for financial aid this year. Last year about 500 students qualified for financial assistance here.

The average amount of financial aid for college students who are studying at home is $1500, Mrs. Samson said. The actual cost for the same student to attend school for a year is about $2100.

Students from out of town receive an average of $3000 in aid versus actual costs of about $3500.

The amount of aid students are eligible for varies from case to case, and "is based mainly on the need of the student", Mrs. Samson emphasized. "Each case is assessed individually."

Factors that help determine the amount awarded to a student include the cost of the program, books and incidentals whether student is studying at home or not, and, most important, the student's and his family's financial resources.

Students who qualify for financial aid are also expected to contribute toward the cost of their college education, based on summer earnings, Mrs. Samson said. In the case of returning college students, they are expected to contribute $860. Students just out of high school are expected to contribute $430.

Students who do not obtain summer employment will have to show proof that they were registered with a Canada Employment Centre and that they sought employment with at least 10 employers. Those who do not earn enough to pay the total expected contribution will be able to appeal their cases, but must show proof of earnings and expenses.

Under OSAP, students may be eligible for one or more of four aid plans available to Ontario residents.

The Ontario Study Grant Plan will give eligible students up to $5000 per year to study at college or university. The grant does not have to be repaid.

Eligible students could receive up to $1800 per year from either or both of the Ontario Student Loans Plan and the Canada Student Loans Plan.

Loans received under these plans are interest-free while students are in school and until six months after they stop being full-time students.

Under the Ontario Special Bursary Plan, students in serious financial need who are taking post-secondary studies on a part-time basis or upgrading courses on a full-time or part-time basis may receive a bursary of up to $1200 per year. To receive a bursary, the student must be receiving social assistance, be unemployed, or have a low family income.

OSAP application forms and information packages are available at most high schools, and at Mrs. Samson's office and the admissions office at the college.

Applications should be submitted as early as possible, Mrs. Samson emphasized, because it can take up to eight weeks for them to be processed. At the latest, applications should be in my be mid-July if students wish to receive their awards by the time they register in September.

Tagwiscope

by Alan McDonald

Life at Tagwi has been extremely busy in the last few weeks.

On April 13th a group of students represented the school at a typing competition at Tagwi. The girls did very well, taking four of the six trophies awarded.

The next day an Accounting competition was held. At this competition Tagwi earned a first, a second and two fifths.

The commercial department was not yet finished. Wednesday, in a shorthand competition, the girls took a first and a second in the Pitman 80.

The band had a fantastic week. They completed their exchange with the band from Lindsay. The band left the school Wednesday morning and arrived at Weldon school after three. After introductions they were treated to a pot luck supper at the school.

Thursday the Tagwi band went to Peterborough, shopping and roller skating. Returning to Lindsay they attended a dance at I.E. Weldon school.

Friday, the bands spent the day in rehearsal and performed in a concert that night.

Saturday the troop ventured to Toronto and spent the day wandering around the hallowed city.

Sunday the tired troop returned to Tagwi where they arrived at 3:30. Thanks are extended from the band to the parents and teachers who have supported the band through the year.

Don't forget about the blood donor clinic at the school on the 5th of May.

Records discussed at 4-H Beef Club

by Doug Palmer

The second meeting of the Dundas Beef Club was held Mon., night, April 20 in the OMAF boardroom at 8pm.

The meeting opened with the 4-H pledge then led into discussion of record books. Leader John Palmer explained how to fill out your record book and commented that if any problem arose, senior members would be able to help out.

Also discussed were future important 4-H dates coming up. It was also stressed that should a member miss a meeting he is encouraged to go to a make-up meeting, so he does not hurt the club's attendance record.

The meeting was then adjourned and members dissipated to their homes. The next meeting was set for May 11 at Mutual Products.

Fire budget causes fireworks at Osnabruck council

OSNABURCK CENTRE (Staff) - A council meeting held Tues., April 14 drew sparks as Newington fire department members met head-on with Osnabruck Township councillors, here.

The firemen, headed by chief Albert Evans and deputy-chief Neil Rupert, appeared before council to demand an apology from councillor Carson Elliott for a statement he had made which they termed demoralizing.

During discussion of the fire budget, Mr. Elliott disputed the budget increase, saying "nobody asked them to do it". It was round this phrase the conflict centred.

Mr. Elliott defended his statement as true by the fact the word, volunteer, is in the fire department's title.

The fire department members, on the other hand, demanded an apology and retraction, threatening to resign if they weren't satisfied. They differed with Mr. Elliott, saying they are appointed under a township bylaw and have therefore been asked to perform the service of fire fighting.

Mr. Elliott responded he had not said anything out of line, according to the lawyer he had consulted.

The firemen responded they do not consult a lawyer every time they discuss anything with council. They stood firm in demanding an apology.

Mr. Evans pointed out a statement of this nature could have a demoralizing effect on the firemen; he wants to know that when the firebell goes, they will respond.

Mr. Elliott said he meant no slander towards the firemen and certainly wished them to stay on rather than resign.

The fire department said if that constituted an apology, they would consider it as such and the two parties appeared molified.

In other business council accepted the resignation of Frances Bird who will be leaving the area. Mrs. Bird, who has sat on council for two and a half years, will leave effective June 10.

The clerk-treasurer, Lois Smith has been in contact with the provincial government, at the request of council, to ascertain the correct procedure required to fill the vacant seat. The first impression, said Mrs. Smith, is the June 10 resignation date will have to pass before any action can be undertaken, but she has no legal clarification on the matter yet.

Council were asked if the Ingleside Citizen's Association (ICA) and members of council could meet as a sewage and water advisory council. Council agreed to sit on the committee following the May meeting of the ICA.

Presentations were received from Kostuch Engineering, McNeely Engineering and A.J. Graham and Associates for the position of drainage inspectator. McNeely Engineering was hired on a per request basis.

The contract for the development road, Concession Nine, was signed with A.L. Blair. Tenders had been opened in March of this year. The contract is worth $119,205.

A bylaw to provide for the cleaning and clearing of yards was passed by council to keep township yards free of dangerous goods and possible accident causing material.

Township roads superintendent Bart Whitton was appointed bylaw enforcement officer for the obstruction of township roads.

A cattle claim of $1,100 was paid to W. Rutley and a poultry claim to D. Plumadore of $8, for one duck.

Forestry follows agriculture in land use

BERWICK (Staff) - Commercial agriculture is the "largest single land use" in the South Nation Watershed but forestry is right behind it in importance.

Those were part of the findings of Arbex Forest Development Co. Ltd. in the background study done by the firm for the South Nation River Conservation Authority (SNRCA). The study, presented to members of the conservation authority here last Wednesday, by Dieter Prins summarizes the forestry situation in the river basin.

According to the study:

-60 per cent of the land use in the watershed is occupied by agriculture. Productive forests, woodlands, and other treed areas account for 25.4 per cent. The study added that "a worrisome feature of the land use pattern of the watershed is the apparent amount of so-called idle land...-there appears to be 83,721 acres of idle agricultural land in the basin."

-there are 250,000 acres of forested land in the basin and 64,375 acres of that are in public ownership, most of which consists of Agreement Forests.

-tolerant hardwood working groups (trees that can tolerate a lot of shade) appear to have higher volumes per acres than intolerant hardwoods (trees that can tolerate only a little shade).

-tolerant hardwood working groups are the most important working group in the watershed. These groups account for 63 per cent of the forest growing on upland sites, and 49 per cent of the working groups on bottomland sites. "The maples are therefore the dominant species within the watershed, accounting for about 68 per cent of the standing timber volume."

-among the intolerant hardwood working groups the poplars account for about 70 per cent of Private woodlands amount to 186,085 acres owned by at least 4,650 individuals.

-only 193,550 acres of land carry some timber of commercial value. "The total amount of timber on the productive forest land consists on 238.5 million cubic feet of timber, or 2.8-million cords. Of the 2.8-million cords, 76.5 per cent or more than 2.1-million cords, is in private hands."

the standing timber volumes.

-in the most important working groups, the tolerant hardwood, trees with a straight stem and no major visible defects, account for 15 per cent to 24 per cent of the standing timber volumes, depending on site conditions. "These trees represent potential veneer log material and consist mostly of maple." Trees which have only two major visible defects with potential for producing medium grade logs, make up 37-46 per cent of the standing volume. And trees that are low grade sawlog material or pulpwood account for 29 to 32 per cent of the tolerant hardwood stands.

-because the forests in the watershed are composed of trees of small diameters the amount of sawlogs that can be harvested today is small. Among the tolerant hardwood working groups trees of pulpwood size make up 72 to 78 per cent of the standing volume, and in the intolerant hardwood groups 56 to 69 per cent are pulpwood size.

-because of the "predominance of small-sized low quality timber in the watershed, the local forest economy is largely a pulpwood-fuelwood economy." There are two papermills operating within an economic hauling distance from the watershed forests, The Canadian International Paper Co. in Hawkesbury and the Domtar plant in Cornwall. The two companies purchase about 10-12 per cent of the annual requirements of the two mills from the area. There are two sawmills operating within the basin and 11 more are situated within 30 km of the basin boundaries. Fuelwood consumption is local in nature.

The study concludes by recommending that, over the short term, advantage should be taken of the pulpwood and fuelwood market. "Both pulp companies will be increasing their procurement of wood in Eastern Ontario. Because of rising energy costs, more rural households will look at wood as an alternative source of energy."

The increasing demand for the pulpwood and fuel wood will "open up new oppurtunities to remove, through improvement cuttings, much of the low grade material present in the hardwood stands which make up the bulk of the forests in the South Nation Basin. An increase over the long term of the quality of the forest will support the rural sawmill industry since the forest land has the capacity to produce 2.5 to 3 times as much timber as it does now."

The study recommends improvement cuts and reforestation to rehabilitate and expand the forest base as it is an essential part of the socio-economic environment of the basin. These long term forest management schemes are beyond the means of the average forest owner states the report.

It called for a joint effort between the government and the forest owners to improve the productivity of the available forest land.

"This is a recognized fact in every nation that has taken the road of intensive forest management to secure the employment potential of its forest industry. The forest owner has the land, and the rural population can provide the labor. The forest owner will need financial and technical assistance to raise levels of forest management in the watershed."

Achievement Night for 100 homemakers

Mary Michels

MAPLE RIDGE (Special) - The 4-H Homemaking Club members of Dundas County have spent the past three and a half months trying to answer the age old question, "Which Came First, The Chicken or the Egg?".

Thurs., April 23, 1981, saw the culmination of the current program. About 100 members attended the Achievement Night at Maple Ridge Public School, Chesterville.

Throughout this project, the members learned a about safely handling and preparing chicken and egg dishes. Some of the popular recipes included Baked Alaskas, Cream Puffs, and Niagara Nice 'N Spicy. Each member had their project manual and recipe file on display for the audience to see. It is to be hoped that everyone in attendance enjoyed the displays.

The chairperson for the evening program was Karen Holmes from the Winchester No. 1 Club. She welcomed everyone to the evening and then introduced the skits, exhibits and demonstrations. Four demonstrations were presented. Winchester No. 1 demonstrated "Eggs: The Original Fast Food" with Kim Fawcett, Jennifer Dawson, and Darlene Jennings participating; Bonnie Wise, Jennifer Sluiskes, and Monica Bongers, all from Winchester Springs, demonstrated the "Roles Eggs Play in Recipes"; "Blender Beverages with Eggs" was the topic covered by Matilda's Jill Murphy, Ute Straube and Brenda Vander Poel; the final demonstration showed us how to cut up a chicken and Kathy Kerr and Robin Empy from Hallville-Mountain No. 2 did a great job.

The three skits were - "The Hen That Laid the Golden Egg" from Chesterville; Iroquois asked us "What's Your E.Q.?", while Ormond reminded us "not to put all Our Eggs in One Basket".

All members of the various clubs participated in their skits. The four exhibits covered the following topics - "Egg Gadgets and Cooking Equipment" by Hallville-Mountain No. 1, with Stephanie Tanguay, and Norine Milne commenting; Monica Henophy from Riverside Heights commented on "How to Recognize a Fresh Egg"; "Grading Eggs" was Morewood's Julie-Ann Duckworth's topic; and Helene Jaquemet from Winchester No. 2 gave us "The Anatomy of a Chicken". All presentations were well done and provided the audience with interesting and often humerous looks at chickens and eggs.

Another segment of the evening program dealt with the presentation of awards. A Provincial Honor Pin and Certificate was presented to Brenda Vander Poel from the Matilda Club for having successfully completed twelve 4-H Homemaking Clubs.

Two members received their County Honor Certificates and Pins for having completed six clubs. They were Diane Fournier and Rhonda St. Pierre, both from the Ormond Club.

Congratulations is extended to the three award winners. Hopefully, they will continue with their 4-H involvement.

Each leader and member was presented with a silver teaspoon for all their hard work and time spent on the project.

Mary Michels, County Home Economist, commented on the projects completed by the members and on the skit and exhibit presentations.

The project for the Fall of 1981 is entitled "Ready, Get Set, Sew". The focus of this project is basic techniques required for the construction of a vest or skirt. These techniques will not only be useful for this project, but for all future sewing endeavours.

This will be a fun project and any young person who has turned twelve by September 1, 1981, is invited to join in the fun. Watch for the announcements in August.

Mrs. Karen Holmes, closed the evening by telling the audience what 4-H pledge, thereby concluding a very interesting and informative program.

Record Recipes

by Chris Brown

With all my bedding plants poking their heads above ground this week and last, I have started having visions of all the fresh vegies and salads summer will (I hope) bring.

I may have overdone things a little, I notice four flats of cabbage will more than do this humble home.

With the anticipated surplus, I suppose I should start looking up some extra salad recipes.

My two favourite cabbage salads I obtained in vastly different ways. One, ever so easily - just asked my mother-in-law for it! The other was devised through the painstaking trial and error of using up leftovers at a delicatessen I once managed.

When pickles and other condiments are bought in the industrial size jars, there is an inordinate amount of juice left after the pickles are all used. With my middle name, Scrooge, I always felt obliged to find some way to use up the bounty.

As a result, pickle juice and carrot shavings, radishes and basically anything left lying on the counter was fair game.

In the end, though things levelled out and a recipe was decided upon.

BROWN BAG COLESLAW

1 head old cabbage (white) shavings of one carrot several dills cut thinly radishes (slice and chop thinly)
1 cup pickle juice
1 tsp. sugar
finely chopped onion, to taste
1 tbsp. mayonnaise

DOROTHY'S CABBAGE SALAD

1 head cabbage
1 ripe pear
1 cup favorite bean salad
radishes chopped finely coleslaw dressing (purchased)

With both recipes slice the cabbage thinly. It is easiest, I find, to cut the heads in half and then rest the flat side on the table. At the Brown Bag, of course, we had one of those magnificent slicing machines that would eat your hand without looking twice at it. (We called it Beastie).

Slice any vegetables or additions into the cabbage. For the first recipe for myself, I would often thinly slice hot pickled peppers, too, but not everyone shares my taste.

Add the bean salad with the beans intact, do not slice. Core the peach and chop into approximately ½ inch cubes (still big enough to taste when you bite into them).

For Brown Bag, mix all the liquid and sugar together with the mayonnaise to form a dressing. For both recipes, turn the dressing onto the cut up cabbage and vegetables.

I'm not sure if Dorothy's salad gains by standing, but the other certainly does. The flavor seeps through and the cabbage also becomes more porous.

School Guidance Corner

By Don Stephens
Head of Guidance

When you read this column there will be just 30 days before the final examinations begin.

Are you feeling butterflies in your stomach anxiety, sweaty palms, dry mouth or any other strange sensations that you don't usually have? Then you are probably suffering from some of those non specific responses of the body that we define as stress.

The initial response to any kind of stress is alarm.

It is followed by the stage of resistance, a chemical rallying of the body's defenses. The fight is on - even if the body, in effect, is just fighting the mind.

If the threat is prolonged, an exhaustion of resources sets in, as the defense system gradually wears down.

Dr. Hans Selye calls this process the General Adaptation Syndrome (FAS). Different people have different heriditary capacities to withstand stress but when a person's "adaptation energy" has been expended, there is no known way to replenish it.

Selye likens each person' supply of adaptation energy to a nation's deposits of oil, once the man or woman has summoned it up and burned it, it is gone.

Much anticipatory stress has been observed in students confronting examinations, especially when the examinations are critical ones.

Once symptoms began to show up, with many students reporting stomach aches, anxiety, asthma, skin rashes or allergies. On the morning of the examinations, some experienced acute stomach pains, diarrhea or even trouble holding down their breakfasts.

Yet most of the students reported that their symptoms virtually disappeared once they got started on the examination itself. As one student explained, "Taking it is not as bad as anticipating it; you don't have time to worry while you are doing it".

When a person encounters an extremely demanding situation, the first reaction is usually anxiety, a varying degree of alertness, anticipation, curiosity and fear that sets off a search for new information and solution.

The result can be more than the alleviation of anxiety. If one way is blocked, the individual may turn to another, possibly putting together two or more ideas and the outcome may be very productive. It often seems that worthwhile art, important discoveries and inspired performance require the challenging push of stress.

As anxiety mounts the needle approaches the danger zone, however, less welcome symptoms can appear when an individual is faced with a state of overload - with information piling up faster than the mind can process it and no apparent solutions.

His ability to improvise deteriorates, and his behaviour regresses to simpler, or primative responses summoned up from the past. A cautious person becomes more cautious; a fleer flees, a gambler by nature will gamble; a fighter will fight In crises, each falls back on the solution he knows best.

Examinations are often able to cause a stress overload and I am planning a series of workshops at noon hours to help those who feel that examination jitters cause them to not achieve what they feel they merit on their examinations.

Next week I will tell you about the exercises we will do in these workshops and how they will help you. Then its up to you to join the groups to get some real help in handling this type of stress overload.

What would you expect to see at an "Improvisational Olympics" meet? Backflips? Walkovers? Somersaults? Well, all of these are entirely possible, but it is actually a drama exercise, including such events as character plays, space jumps, and silent wrestling.

It challenges students to use their improvisational skills in unusual situations, without planning out the scenes beforehand.

There was no improvising in the accounting competitions held in Cornwall, however - in the Junior division, Dana Gibson tied with Bill Bakker for second, out of twenty contestants, while Nancy Vandenbosch and Luc Bordeau took first and third honors respectively. It was an outstanding performance by all.

Another competition, was the shorthand contest, left Brenda Markwick and Karen Bjergso in the top quarter, an extremely good placing. Final standings, because of close placings, are not yet known.

Yet another business team, the typing contestants, competed at Tagwi last Monday, with Della Casselman placing 3rd and Camilla Cook 4th out of 17 novice competitors.

The school team placed second out of nine: Sandra Corneau and Rhonda Wilson represented us in the junior division, Karen Merkley and Shelly Holmes competed in the senior division and placed fourth out of eight schools.

Congratulations are also due to Chris Hansen for winning an honourable mention at the Science fair in Cornwall last Saturday and to the golfers who responded to the appeal for school team members to compete in inter-school tournaments in June and September.

Co-ed Basketball results are in from the semi final games: Green defeated Gold, Red defeated Black 13-8. The final game with Green vs. Red was on Tues., April 28 .

Competitions have been frequent in the last week, but North Dundas has been successful in them all.

Thanks to the teachers who spent time coaching the students, and taking them to the contests, North Dundas has always done well and, we hope, will continue to do so in the future.

Thanks also goes out to all parents and friends who helped the Athletic Association in their magazine campaign. They raised a grand total $2,136.42.

The only bad news is that the students failed to reach their goal and, as pre-arranged, they must now suffer a pie in the face from the teachers. Don't forget to duck!!

Stormont 4-H Horse Club

By Robbie Stephenson

The first meeting of the year for the Stormont 4-H Horse Club was held at the home of Mrs. Harvey Provost with 16 members present.

The activities commenced with an informative quiz, in which each member had to identify different pieces of horse equipment and tack.

Mrs. Frank Dupuis and Mrs. Harvey Provost, the club leaders, then called the meeting to order and the election of officers took place under the supervision of Mr. Bill Van Loo (the agricultural representative's assistant and co-ordinator for the 4-H program of Stormont.)

The club officers elected were as follows:

president - Elizabeth Whitten vice-president - Dane Dupuis
secretary treasurer - Kelly Gates press reporter - Robbie Stephenson club exhibit chairman - Lillian Provost float committee chairman - Louise Gravelle youth councillors - Wilma TePlate and Louis Mainville.

Afterwards, the club leaders served a delicious lunch which was enjoyed by all.

The next meeting will be held at the farm of Mr. Frank Dupuis on May 12, 1981,

Winchester Band begins fund-raising

WINCHESTER (Staff) - It doesn't matter what your taste in music includes, a June Jamboree should be able to satisfy it. Presented by the Winchester and District Concert Band, the jamboree will feature the Capital City Chorus, (a group of 65 barbershop singers as well as two barbershop quartets), the Winchester District Dance Band, and the T.O. Disco.

The complete entertainment package will be presented Fri., June 5 in the Chesterville and District Arena. Tickets, available from any member of the association as well as many of the area merchants, are $6 per person. The price includes a free lunch and bar facilities.

The band association formed officially in June, 1980. Members and patrons come from every part of Dundas, Stormont, and Carleton Counties.

The aim of the band is to develop many varied cultural activities beginning with a stage band, which doubles as a dance band when necessary. The nucleus of the band was composed of area musicians and high school band members who wanted to develop their musical senses in a different direction than the high school program had offered.

Later a program, sponsored by St. Lawrence College, to teach area adults how to play concert instrument was begun.

With the aid of grants from Wintario and a loan from the bank the band association bought $30,000 worth of instruments and equipment to develop their dream.

Now the debt has been reduced to $6,000, an amount which must be raised in the time left to equal the Wintario grant. The association realized that the onlymethodof wiping out the debt is through direct solicitation and fund-raising. The June Jamboree is a direct result of that fund raising drive.

Other activities being planned include bake sales, car washes, and 50-50 draws. Until the association can raise the necessary funds to meet their financial obligations such groups as a concert band, a choir, and a theatre arts troupe have been placed on the back burner.

Tell children to play safely...away from hydro wires. Touching or coming close to hydro wires can be fatal.
If kites or model airplanes contact overhead lines, even touching the string or control wire can cause serious injury.
If a pet runs up a hydro pole, never climb after it. Wait for the animal to come down by itself.

the editor's notebook

One of the most enjoyable facets of spring is the little bit of "gardener" it brings out in all of us. Now that we are on daylight savings time again, and it is light outside until early evening, and now that the sun shines much brighter (when we aren't being beseiged by April showers), and now that garden centres have begun to display the latest in tomato hybrids, barbeques and lawn mowers the feeling of wanting to till the soil, deposit young plants into holes in the ground, and try the latest in fertilizer comes over most people.

Now is the time of year when countless numbers decide this year they're going to have the most bountiful vegetable and flower garden in the neighbourhood. The thoughts of weeding on a most precious Saturday off never enters the mind.

The urge to tend the soil is so strong at this time of year that the thoughts of tasting fresh, tender vegetables predominates all our thinking. And most magazines and seed catalogues show pictures of flower gardens that would make any home look like a million dollars. Ah, what they could do for our house...

Not only are the plants for gardening (where will we put that flowering crabapple tree?) enjoyable but actual buying and planting is a spring-time lift.

The rest of the season, though, determines if you are a spring-time gardener or whether you have two green thumbs. The remainder of the summer requires a back that doesn't mind bending over stubborn weeds, fingers that love to work their way through the soil, and an attitude that looking after the lawn and garden is more important than golfing, swimming, or cycling during these short Canadian summers.

It is the full season that determines the dedicated gardeners. - mary macdonald - chesterville's past

FROM THE RECORD
May 1, 1941

With returns practically all in the hands of the County Chairman, P.S. Boyd of Chesterville, the contributions of Dundas County to the Canadian war services fund have now been over-subscribed by more than 100 per cent, pledges now totalling slightly over $8,300.

Persons pledging future payments will be billed direct from the Toronto headquarters and payment should be made to Toronto and not to the banks as it has been explained the banks have not the time and facilities to take care of this collection.

Complete returns are expected for publication in the Record next week.

After experiencing few fire alarms in the past four years, Chesterville had two fires within 24 hours at the weekend that resulted in total loss at both premises. Saturday at the noon hour fire destroyed two hay stacks at the farm of Ronald Curran adjoining the High School property and at 1:40am Sunday, the Greer building was discovered ablaze.

Firemen were delayed in getting water on the Greer building, a store and dwelling attached, due to the fact every length of hose had been used in saving two small sheds at the hay stack fire. As the hay was still smoldering it was decided to keep the hose laid ready to return the water on in case the wind, should shift and endanger a barn and houses in the vicinity. When the second alarm sounded a truck brought 300 feet of this hose while the remainder was being wound on the reels.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Greer and infant son Harry narrowly escaped death by climbing out an upstairs window when fire destroyed their home and grocery store early Sunday morning. Mr. Greer dropped from the window, the baby was dropped to the waiting arms of a man below and Mrs. Greer came down a ladder quickly brought to the scene.

Spring seeding is general over almost all the district now, and the weather is continuing mild and some days almost summer heat is being experienced. This district has not had a good rain for some time, and while it is permitting farmers to keep on the land, soft water is becoming quite scarce.

With the theme of the program developing into Carry On as that popular Canadian war song was used in several numbers, the Children's Festival presented in the Community Hall by pupils of Chesterville and district schools in aid of the Red Cross was a decided success Monday evening. Financially also it did exceptionally well with $80 being realized.

Drills, choruses, vocal and piano solos, recitations and plays were included in the program presented by St. Mary's Separate, Chesterville Public, Maple Ridge, Limerick and Frood schools.

The numbers were all well done and the large audience was very well pleased as expressed by the lengthy applause.

The idea of the festival is one to be commended as it gave a show that was different and brought the best talent from the various schools, numbers that had been performed at concerts prepared by the various schools Christmas and Easter.

A new board of directors was elected by members of the Rotary Club on Tuesday evening, comprised of Walter Carr, P.S. Boyd, O.L. King, Warren Markle and R.C. Dillabough.

FROM THE RECORD
May 3, 1951

Last Thursday evening members of council and members of the Chesterville Chamber of Commerce met in the Clerk's office of the Community Hall to discuss a suggestion made to buy space in an Ottawa daily newspaper to advertise our town and district.

The idea man for the occasion was a representative of the Ottawa Journal who explained the plan that is being to bring out a special supplement to the edition of May 8 or 9, that will carry display pages telling the story of all the towns in the Ottawa Valley.

The project is aimed at those industries that are thinking of locating in the area, and it hoped that the review of facilities offered by the communities in the spread will proved interesting to new projects and new industries.

If we can make reasonable connections with a wandering freight car, this office will turn into a bedlam for the next three days. A composing machine to replace the old lady that is setting these lines will be installed and the old machine will be retired. The new Intertype will tip the beam at around two tons and with some outside help we expect to pop it in through the front window and manhandle the unit to the back of the office.

The present machine has been on the go in this office since 1922 and has been a faithful part of the business. The new one will be considerable more modern in its make up and will have additional features that should turn out even better work.

Last week these columns reported the presence of wandering coon, who paid our town a visit to our part time press operator. This week we should like to mention a pair of fat healthy beaver but we will keep the location under our hat.

Last week these columns reported the presence of a wandering coon, who paid our town a visit to our part time press operator. This week we should like to mention a pair of fat healthy beaver but we will keep the location under our hat.

The writer and a friend of his made a call in a certain locality within easy distance of the town not so long ago to investigate some beaver cuttings that were brought to the office. Little hope was felt that the wary animals would be seen but it was a nice day and the weekend.

After looking the water over for awhile and finding ample evidence of the busy animals' work, the edges of the pond were investigated more closely. To the surprise of the conoeman, there sat a full grown beaver, calmly surveying the intruders. When the boat sidled to within ten feet of his look-out. The Beaver sank out of sight without any fuss, only to re-appear a few minutes later in the same spot.

Last night at 11pm, the piercing wail of the fire siren turned the townspeople out in a rush. A truck parked at the rear of Jim Brannen's house the old Lawson residence, had suddenly started to blaze. The fire was quickly under control, thanks to the prompt arrival of the brigade under the direction of Fire Chief Sydney Morris.

The annual clean-up day of the municipality of Chesterville will be held next Wednesday afternoon, May 9.

All refuse and trash, if piled at the roadside will be taken to the Village Dump.

the farmer's wife

by wyn thompson

It is Easter Monday evening and I have just come in from covering the peas. What a cold snap! I looked with sympathy at the budding tulips but resisted covering them for fear of breaking the stems. They are close to the house so I will hope for the best.

Sarah is eight years old today and has just been over for afternoon tea with me. Where have all the years gone? We played the Muppet Show game and checkers. I find she is introducing me to Star Wars, Buck Rogers, the Bionic Woman and the like. Not quite my cup of tea if I were left on my own but, I must keep up with the times. I definitely decided this as I watched the Space Shuttle the other morning. And what better way than through the eyes of grandchildren.

With the threat of heavy frost for the night hours and the announcement of the interest rate hitting 18 per cent I decided it was time to salute the farmers of the world. It is difficult to define a farmer. He is sometimes referred to as a 'drag on the market', a freeloader, or in better moments, a good citizen.

"A farmer is a paradox, and the reasons in part, are that:

He is an 'overall' executive with his home his office!

A scientist using fertilizer attachments!

A purchasing agent in an old straw hat!

A personnel director with grease under his finger nails!

A dietitian with a passion for alfalfa, aminos and antibiotics!

A production expert with a surplus, and a manager battling a cost-price squeeze!

He manages more capital than most of the businessmen in town.

He likes sunshine, good food, country fairs, dinner at noon, auction sales, his neighbours, his shirt collar unbottoned, and above all, good soaking rains at regular intervals.

He is not so much for droughts, lack of drainage ditches, so-called experts, throughways, weeds, the eight-hour day, insects, or helping with the housecleaning.

Farmers are found in fields - ploughing up, seeding down, rotating from, planting to, fertilizing with, spraying for, and harvesting. Wives help them, little boys follow them, the Ministry of Agriculture often confuses them, city relatives visit them, salesmen detain them and wait for them, weather can delay them but it takes heaven to stop them...Might as well put up with him - he is your friend, your competitor, your customer, your source of food, fibre, and young citizens to help replenish your cities.

He is your countryman - a denim-dressed, business-wise, fast-growing statesman of stature.

Canadian farming has developed rapidly since the end of the last war, and especially the decade. To be successful, today's farmer must have many talents.

He is probably producing enough to feed between twenty-five and fifty people. He has much more money invested in his farm than many small businesses - a larger investment per worker than many industries.

On the important decisions he must make almost daily during the rush season rests the fate of his yearly profit. Added to this he is tired out from the rush of work and heat.

For example one of his worries may be: a pen of hogs are ready for market, the price has dropped, the heat is searing. What should he do? Hold them - risking some loss in grade, loss in shipping due to heat, more labour and feed costs while hoping the weather will cool and the prices go up?

Another example of a decision he must make: sixty acres of harvesting left and three custom jobs promised, the weather just right for combining and a main part of the combine breaks. He can repair it himself for $200 but would have to await delivery of the parts (which often takes up to two weeks) and then spend his time fixing it.

It's an old combine and only a matter of time until there will be another breakdown. He hasn't the ready cash and wonders about approaching the bank manager for a loan to buy a new one. With a perishable crop waiting this calls for immediate action - other businessmen can usually ponder the step a few days.

At such times I wish we could still follow Peter McArthur's advice, "Farming is one of the finest occupations in the world if taken in moderation.

May is just a breath away. May in Eastern Ontario usually opens with apple blossoms and closes with lilacs, My Farmer's Almanac says to sow the hardy vegetables when apple blossoms show pink and the tender ones when the first colour appears in the lilacs. Well we shall see!

I read on and find that "If May is misty, expect a hot June and a good harvest." I sincerely hope so!

However, a tiny bit of May should be saved to forget the demands of work and to go out and experience the delight of apple blossoms. It occurs to me now that it is a good thing for any parent to stop now and then and wonder what memories they are giving their children. Or their grandchildren, for that matter. We all try so hard to leave real property, but memories are property too.

Even in May, the evening chill is with us. I go out and putter about, I check the rhubarb and bring in enough for breakfast stew. I pick up a few twigs from the lawn, and toss a ball a few times for the dogs.

If I am real ambitious, I may pull a few early weeds. Otherwise I just sit on the gallery stairs and dream. I go in with the rhubarb.

"I'd like to go round the world some day," I venture as I snip the ends and ready it for the pot.

"I don't see how we'd have time for it," says the Farmer firmly.

Getting ready

Two organizers of the Connaught Rod and Gun Rifle Competition Ken Holland (left) and Mike Hunt look over two rifles in preparation for the competition which will start on Wed., May 6.

- staff photo -

Rifle competition for Club

CONNAUGHT (Staff) - Are you a rifle owner looking for a place to test your shooting skills? The Connaught Rod and Gun Club may provide the solution.

The Club is sponsoring a rifle competition which commences Wed., May 6 and continues on the first and third Wednesday of each month until Aug. 19.

The competition is to give area rifle enthusiasts a local location where they could shoot since there are no other rifle clubs in the immediate vicinity.

There will be three classes; 22 calibre (open sight), high powered (open sight) and high powered (scope). The 22 calibre is from a distance of 30 yds. while each high powered rifle class is from 100 yds. It's off-hand shooting only, which means no leaning or kneeling.

Each night's scores will be recorded and will be averaged out at the end of the year in preparation for the 'Shoot-Off'. It will be held on a Sunday in mid-September with the shooter being grouped in with others who accumulated the same sort of an average score during the season.

Trophies and awards will be handed out to the winner in each class. It should be noted that a shooter is not restricted to one class.

To be eligible for the 'Shoot-Off' in the 22 calibre class a participant must accumulate 16 rounds in four nights (a minimum of four rounds a night.) There are five shots in a round.

In the high-powered rifle competitions one must fire off 12 rounds in four nights (three shots in a round). Attendence is manditory at a minimum of four of the eight shoots because, as Mike Hunt a competition organizer puts it; "Four shoots gives you a pretty good idea on your ability."

Don't worry if you can't make it to the first shoot or even the second because as long as you participate in four you're eligible for the 'Shoot-off'.

The price is certainly right. A fee of $4 per class is being charged (so, you pay $8 if you enter two classes). Both men and ladies are welcome to test their marksmanship and awards to the gals will be presented at the end of the season.

Each night's shoot begins at 7pm and goes until a half-hour after sunset. Shooters are asked to supply their own rifle and suitable ammunition. Although it's not not manditory those competing in the two high power rifle classes may want to bring along some ear protection.

As an extra bonus, there will be a regular meeting of the Connaught Rod and Gun Club back at the clubhouse with anyone welcome to attend.

Safety will be strictly enforced during, not only the rifle competition but at all events at the club. In past years the Ministry of Natural Resources, sponsored by the Connaught Rod Club, has conducted a gun safety course which culminates with a test for a gun licence. One must be at least 15-years-old to try for the licence.

If there is sufficient interest in such a course for this season, it may be reinstated.

Located on Concession Rd. 7, four miles east of Chesterville and four miles west of Berwick, the Connaught Rod and Gun Club has been operating since the early 1960's.

Events at the Club include fishing derbys in the spring, rabbit hunts and turkey shoots in the fall. Membership has exceeded 100 this season. A fee of $5 entitles you to fish and wildlife game prizes.

The 1981 executive is president Grant Kelly, secretary Rick Cormier, treasurer Dave Howat and membership co-ordinator Ken Holland.

For further information on the rifle competition call, after 7pm, 984-2553, 984-2225 or 984-2805.

If you want more information on events at the Connaught Rod and Gun Club call Hubert Casselman at 984-2553 or Grant Kelly at 448-3050.

"Heart Fund" support means fighting for heart health.

Flyers still competitive despite numbers

(Staff) - "We had a fairly good season regardless of the numbers. At least we're still competitive."

So said outgoing Chesterville and District Minor Hockey Association President Mac LaSalle at the season's final meeting of the CDMHA.

Despite having less than 100 players registered for the 1980-81 campaign, Chesterville's minor hockey squads certainly held their own.

The Novices coached by Dick Henderson and Lester Holmes won the championship of a tournament held at the Chesterville Arena on Carnival Weekend. They also captured the consolation crown of tests at Winchester and Morrisburg.

It was obvious from the start of the season the Atom Flyers under the guidance of Peter DeRooy and Bert Beckstead were a team to be reckoned with.

The Atoms came out on top in 22 of the 24 games they played. They were on the short end of the score only once and that was against Winchester.

Chesterville's offence was led by scoring champion Ross Giles' 40 goals and 73 points. John Mackler ended up fourth in the scoring derby with 26 goals and 55 points and Jason Groves found the target 32 times and accumulated 48 points.

Bobby Van Delst anchored the defence and the goaltending tandem of Chuck Droppo and Steve Conley allowed a mere 51 goals.

The Atoms swept by Metcalfe in the opening round of the playoff and took a pesky Winchester squad in three games to win the division title.

In tournament action, the Atoms won championships in Morrisburg and Finch.

The Peewee Flyers steered by Bernie Harper and Dale Marcellus had a topsy-turvey season. They finished third in their division behind Metcalfe and Russell with 11 wins and six ties in 24 games.

The Peewees seemed to have hit their stride during late January and February but unfortunately they were beaten in the first round of the league playoffs.

There were several bright spots on the team, one of them being winger Rudy Witteveen, who for exhibiting clean play was rewarded the Sportsmanship trophy by the Carleton-Dundas Minor Hockey League.

Rudy finished fourth in division scoring with 20 goals and 24 assists for 44 points. The main scorer for the Flyers was Mike Harper, who notched 39 goals and 25 assists for 64 points, good enough for second spot. Things look up for the Peewees, who will be equipped with several graduating Atoms next year.

After a slow first half, the Bantam Flyers caught fire from January on. They finished with 10 wins and three ties in 24 games placing them in third spot in league standings.

The season's highlight for Gary Barkley's crew was their outstanding performance at their own tournament which they won. The big hurdle was a 6-3 victory over powerhouse Winchester in the first game of the tournament.

Excellent goaltending is a key to any team's success and that was provided by Greg Van Dellan and Grant Groves who were called on to make many game saving stops.

The scoring punch was provided by Mark Smith with 30 goals and 23 assists in league play. Overall Mark lit the red light 84 times and added 55 helpers for 139 points. Kirk Barkley finished second in the overall team scoring stats with 36 goals and 36 assists for 72 points.

Along with their victory in Chesterville, the Bantams won the Consolation title at a tournament in Cardinal.

This past season was a rebuilding year for Mike Coyle and the Chesterville Midget Flyers. Playing in a tough division with limited amount of players didn't help the Flyers cause. However, with the talent now going through the ranks, the potential for a strong team in the future is there.

If an agreement is reached with the Winchester Minor Hockey Association regarding uncarded B players being able to play in either association, then Chesterville would probably be able to form more than one B team.

Finch Mixed

The Finch Mixed League held a year-end banquet on Saturday night. Front row (l-r) Playoff Champs - Ila McElheran, George McLean, Rita Raymond with Lillian Droppo and Archie Lamb, absent. Back row - League Winners, Glen Raymond, Betty Shaver, Phyllis Vollrath, Ursula Thompson. Absent - Bob Ouderkirk (captain).
