Bank Manager Sentenced To 3 Years.

Robert Cughan, the former manager of the Farmer's Bank at Athens, goes to the Kingston Penitentiary for three years, the sentence being imposed upon him by Judge McDonald at the conclusion of his trial on a charge of stealing bank funds aggregating $900.

Cughan acknowledged his indebtedness to the amount of over $200, covered by notes and guarantee orders, which he has made good since the prosecution was instituted. The evidence showed that Cughan had taken sums of money from time to time, in addition to falsifying statements. Melvyn Forrest, Cughan's teller, who was also involved, turned King's evidence. He is now awaiting sentence.

Inspector J. G. Fitzgibbon was also a leading witness. He went to Athens two days after Cughan had dismissed Forrest He found that the cash according to the books were $1116,22 short. Cughan had admitted to him that he took various amounts. The amount that was demanded in restitution was about $1400, of which Forrest said he was willing $500. Cughan refused to pay $900, saying that he did not owe it, but was willing to pay the small sums.

Cughan was sworn on his own behalf and saddled the thefts on Forrest, who, in turn, blamed Cughan.

The Colquhoun W. F, M. S. held their annual Thank offering meettng on Friday, Oct. the 14th, Rev. J. M. Tanner of Lancaster, gave a very interesting and instructive address. Miss Flo Gordon of Grantley kindly assisted with an appropriate solo. The offering amounted to over $45.00.

Thos. McFedzean the Winne..

Great interest has been manifested on the bowling green during the summer and upon whom the laurels of victory would fall has been the topic of conversation. Messrs. Lawson, Shirkey, Merkley and many others, and even some of the ministers in town had an idea that it mighr come their way, but yesterday the bomb exploded and Mr. Thos. McFadzean declared the daddy of them all, when he trounced Mr. Fred Merkley to a standstill.

Missionaries Depart

A small company of missionaries for the Methidost Foreign fields left Toronto yesterday en route for their respective destinations. They were:—Rev. C. W. Service, M. D. with his wife and three children Aultsville, Ont., for China, via San Francisco; Rev. O. L. Kilborn, M. D., wife and child, of Toronto, for China, via Vancouver; Rev J. W. Howe and wife of Stanley, N. B. for Japan, via Vancouver: Rev. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Outerbridge, of New Brunswick, and Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Sandby also leave this week for Japan.

Will Give Up Farm For Life Annuity

The Counties House of Refuge problem which has been perplexing the members of the Counties Council of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry for six years past has been practically settled by the Counties' acceptance of the offer of W. A. Craig, who gives his 140 acre farm valued at $13,000 and cash to complete the project, in consideration of an annuity of $1,200 or six per cent. interest on the donation during the lifetime of Mr. and Mrs. Craig, or in any case, not more than twenty years. Mr. Creigs' farm is just north of the G. T. R. depot at Cornwall, convenient to the town's electric light, gas and water supply. This question has been before the Counties Council more or less for half a dozen years and finally last June, in consequence of a threat of a mandamus by certain parties, the Counties appointed a special committee to deal with the question with the above result.

Say, you would look nobby in a Pair of our $5.00 Puritan Colt Shoes. for sale only at the Shoe Store. The only guaranteed patents. Wear them for 90 days. If they crack bring them back. We will give you a new pair.

Dr Reddick Company Affairs Patched Up.

Arrangements have made whereby the property of the Dr. Reddick Mining company will not be sold by auction after all. The company made an assignment some time ago and a liquidator has been appointed in whose hands the property now is. A syndicate was formed to raise the necessary $6,000 which amount the company owed. This syndicate offered to pay off the company's debts, take a mortgage on the property for $6,000 and have a ten years lease of the property, paying the company 25 per cent of the net receipts. A meeting of the directors was held when the offer of the syndicate was turned down. Mr. Bannell Sawyer instead undertook to sell the prferred stock now in the treasury of the cempany. He guarntees to sell sufficient to pay off the debt in three months. There are 218,240 shares of preferred stock in the treasury and it is believed that enough can be sold to get the mine working in six months. Circulars will be sent to the shareholders next week regarding this action of the directors. Thus the Dr. Reddick Mining company with its great number of shareholders in this locality will not go out of action. The inspectors have agreed to wait three months before taking proceedings against the company.

Woman's Institute.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Institute was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. D. Casselman. Thirty-five ladies were present and all enjoyed the interesting and instructive programme.

A paper on "Dinner, How and what to serve," was given by Mrs. Eugene McMillan. The Menu of a full course dinner was furnished and recipes for the same.

Mrs O. D. Casselmrn gave a paper on "Table Setting," accompanied by a practical demonstratoin.

Six names were added to the membership list.

The meeting adjourned to meet next month at the home of Mrs. T. J. McGee.

Personal.

Mr. C. L. Casselman is in Montreal to-day.

Mr. W. K. Farlinger of Morrisburrg, was in town Thursday.

Mr. M. Leslie who has been relieving a number of operators has been transfered to Chesterville for a short time.

Ex-Bank Teller Goes Free.

Melvyn Forrest the ex-banker who pleaded guilty to the theft of money from the Farmers Bank at Athens, and was subsequently used as the leading Crown witness against ex-Manager Robert F. Cughan, sentenced by Judge McDonald to three years in Kingston Penitentiary, was brought before Police Magistrate Deacon at Brockville and discharged on suspended sentence.

In thus disposing of the case, the magistrate stated that he was guided by the youth of the prisoner, his candor in making a clean breast of his wrongdoing, and the further fact that he had made restitution.

The crown concurred in the magistrate's decision.

Two Children Perish.

Two children were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the residence of Mr. Geo. Tremble a farmer residing four miles from North Gower, on Friday last.

Mr. Tremble was working on the back end of his farm, some distance from the house when the fire broke out. Mrs. Tremble was alone with the three children of the family, the youngest of whom, a baby five weeks old, was sleeping on a couch in the kitchen. Another child three years old was asleep in bed upstairs and the oldest, aged five was playing about the house. Mrs. Tremble had occasion to leave the house for a short time to water some cattle. In her absence the oldest boy obtained some matches which in his play became ignited. He threw them in the woodbox, which immediately caught fire and when the little fellow saw the result he ran and told his mother. Mrs. Tremble hurried to the house but it was a mass of flames when she arrived on the scene and she found it impossible to enter. All attempts to rescue were ineffectual and the two younger children perished.

The funeral took place to Richmond cemetery on Sunday, the services being conducted by Rev. Mr. Orr of the Anglican church.

The W. F. M. S. Thank offering meeting was held in the Dunbar Presbyterian church on Thursday evening Oct. 20, when the Rev. Dr. Harkness of Cornwall and the Rev. D. L. Gordon of Russell, delivered interesting and earnest addresses, on Missions, as topics. A mission band exercise "Little Lights" added to the interest of the meeting.

The offering amounted to over $27.00.

Commissioners For The Census.

The appointment of 225 census commissioners will be begun very shortly by the government. One will be chosen for each electoral district of the country and recommendations are now being considered. The commissioners will get a lump sum for expenses in proportion to the size of the constituency and a stated sum per head of population for revision of the enumerators' returns. As previously announced there will be no provincial superintendents, the supervision being directed from Ottawa.

It is estimated that the cost of taking and compiling the census will amount to a million dollars. A hundred and fifty extra clerks will be engaged for the compilation.

An interesting feature of the ennumeration will be the fact that no fewer than 536 questions will be involved in the schedules to be filled in.

THE COUNTIES' COUNCIL.

House of Refuge—A Generous Offer—Acceptance Recommended.

(From Cornwall Standard)

The October session of the Counties' Council of the United Counties of Stormount, Dundas and Glengarry opened at the Court House Tuesday evening.

Before calling the roll the clerk announced the election of Ralph Gibson as Reeve of Morrisburg, vice J. H. Meikle resigned on account of ill health. He then read a large number of communications, which were referred to various committees. Among them were the following:—

A letter from the Deputy Minister of Education for Ontario specifying the purposes for which the $500.00 grant to Agricultural Depts. in connection with High Schools or continuation Schools may properly be expended.

Resolutions disapproving of the proposed amendments to municipal Act giving Counties' Council control of all bridges, 50 feet in length and over from the following Municipalities—Morrisburg, Cornwall Town, Cornwall Tp., Matilda, Maxville, Mountain, Roxborough, Charlottenburg, and Osnabruck. Lancaster Village Council wrote that as they were not interestd, they declined to express an opinion on this question.

Among the communications from the Deputy Minister of Education were the following:—

Stating that by-law No. 1585 establishing Chesterville Urban Continuation School district had been approved.

Stating that it would be advisable for the Warden to make a temporary appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. McDiarmid, Public School Inspector for Glengary.

Giving notice of Ministers gratification of appointment of James Froats as public School Inspector for Stormont.

H. Loucks, Morewood, a member of the Morrisburg H. S. Board of Entrance Examiners stating that he had not attended the meetings as he had not been notified of the same.

W. B. Lawson, Chesterville, wrote tendering his resignation as trustee of the Urban Continuation School District of Chesterville.

Aubrey L. White, Depudy Minister of Lands, Forests and mines, wrote asking the Council to submit the name of another surveyor for the Osnabruck-Cornwall Township survey, George L. Brown, who had been appointed, having resigned and returned his instructions.

Mr. Elliott presented petitions from the Winchester Village Public School section, also sections numbers 1 2 5 and 16, 9, 15 and 20 and Sub Division No. 2, asking that the West side of Winchester Township from lots 1 to 12 constitute an Urban Continuation School District.

Mr. Kirby presented a petition from a large number of the ratepayers of Morewood and adjoining sections, asking for the establishment of a Rural Continuation School District at Morewood.

All the above were referred to the Education Committee.

As none of the Committees were prepared to report the Council adjourned till 10. a. m. on Wednesday.

At the Wednesday morning session several additional communications were read and referred to committee.

The Warden invited Mr. Mahlon Bailey of Winchester, an ex-member of the Council, to a seat within the railing.

After a short discussion regarding the work of the session the Council adjourned until 7.30 p. m. to allow the committee to meet.

The Council resumed at 7.30 and after transacting some routine business adjourned to enable the Education Committee to proceed with the consideration of the Urban School petitions.

Thursday Morning

The Council resumed on Thursday morning.

The report of the Education Committee was presented by the chairman, Mr. Gibson.

The committee recommended that the clerk write to the Minister of Education expressing the wish of this Council that Mr. Arthur Brown be permitted to remain as Public School Inspector for Dundas for another year, as in our opinion he is not Incapitated by age or physical disabilaty to such an extent as to warrant his retirement at the end of this year; that the temporary appointment of J. W. Crewson, B. A., to the position of Public School Inspector for the County of Glengarry, rendered vacant by the death of Dr. McDiarmid, be made permanent and he be allowed the same amount for travelling expenses, viz., $210 per year.

A letter had been received from the Deputy Minister of Education approving of the appointment of Jas. Froats, B. A., as Public school Inspector for Stormont; also a letter stating that By-Law No. 1585 establishing the Chesterville Urban School Section has been approved by the Minister of Education.

The regination of W. P. Lawson as Trustee of Urban Continuation District, Chesterville, having been recieved, the committee recommended that W. H. Casselman be appointed to the position for the unexpired term.

A petition had been referred to the committee from the Board of Trustees of Winchester Public School, asking that certain portions of the Township of Winchester, as may petition for same, might be attached to said Village and Union Section in connection therewith, and the same established into an Urban continuation School District. In connection with said petition, nine other petitions were recieved from ratepayers of various portions of West half of Winchester Township, asking to be attached to the Urban District so formed.

A petition was also referred to the committee from Trustees and ratepayers of Public School Section No. 12 (Morewood) of Winchester Township and ratepayers from this portion of said Township, praying that said section and such portion of the township as the Council might see fit to attach thereto be established as a Rural Continuation School District.

With reference to this, the report continued:—We have listened to delegations from the opposing Sections, and having heard Council for the Morewood element and after an afternoon and evening of discussion a compromise was arrived at between the parties and your committee Mr. Elliott and Mr. Campbell protesting on behalf of Winchester and Morewood, at the conclusions reached. As we consider the terms of the compromise fair to both parties and such as will not hamper the usefulness and development of either section, but, on the contrary, will give territory and assessment sufficient to each district to produce beneficial educational results, we recommend that the following portions of the Township of Winchester be attached to Winchester Village and the Union Section in connection therewith (if not already included therein) viz., Lots Nos. 1 to 12, inclusive, in the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, and 7th concessions: Lots Nos. 1 to 9, inclusive, in the 10th. 11th and 12th concessions, the same to be established as an Urban Continuation School District.

We further recommend that all the remaining portions of the said Township of Winchester, not included in the Chesterville Urban School District (as above described) be attached to said Public School Section No. 12 (Morewood) and established as a Rural Continuation School District. We also recommend that the following Trnstees be appointed:—

For the said Rural Continuation School District, Morewood—Eli Belisle, St. Therese P. O. (he being assessed as a Seperate School Supporter); J. S. Kyle North Winchester; Allen Steven, Morewood.

For the Urban Continuation School District, Winchester—J. F. Campbell, Ormond; Norman McIntosh, Winchester Springs; John McCormick, Winchester.

The committee further advised that by-laws be passed to carry out their recommendations.

The report was adopted.

The report of the Committee on Equalization was presented by the chairman Mr. Hamilton.

The committee reported that they had considered the appeal of the Township of Lancaster against the Equalized Assessment made for the present year. After carefully considering the assessment of the township and comparing it per acre with that of other front townships and after hearing the explanation of the Clerk who acted as county solicitor in the Equalization Appeal three years ago, as to the basis of valuation adopted by the Lancaster valuators on that occasion in contrast with that of the other valuators, we have been forced to the conclusion that an injustice has been to the township (solely through their own misplaced confidence) which it is our duty and pleasure to rectify as far as we can. We are advised that we cannot safely amend the by-law after July 1st, and the only alternative suggested to us is for our solicitor (the clerk) and the township's solicitor to go before the Judge and by consent arrange to have a suitable reduction made. We are agreeable to a reduction of 1.21), 994. or from $33.67 to $30 an acre and the Lancaster representative has agreed to accept the same and abandon the appeal. We therefore recommend that our solicitor be empowered to consent to this arrangement before Judge Liddell and to have the assessment varied accordingly.

We have also had before us the assessment of the Winchester Village and have concluded that a reduction should be made, if the Judge feels that he can entertain such an application in the absence of an appeal. We are agreeable to a change of $60,363, making it even $300,000 and recommend that our Clerk as solicitor be authorized to consent to such a reduction.

The report was adopted.

A number of by-laws to give effect to the recommendations of the Education Committee were introduced and passed.

The council then adjourned until 7.30 p. m.

The Council resumed at 7.30 and after a short session adjourned to allow the Finance Committee to complete its report.

Messrs. John McLaughlin, ex-M. P. P. and Ewan Dingwall, former members of the Council, were present and were invited by the Warden to take a seat within the railing.

House of Refuge.

The Council was to have met at 10 o'clock this morning but the special committee appointed to report on the question of erecting a House of Refuge which included all the Reeves, met at 9, and continued their deliberations until nearly twelve o'clock. The committee had a long sitting yesterday, and an offer made by Mr. W. A. Craig was discussed and it is understood that its acceptance was about decided upon. However an amended offer was received this morning and the subject was re-opened and discussed again at great length,

It seems that when a sub-committee appointed in June last to examine possible sites for a House of Refuge were looking over Mr. Craig's farm just North of the town of Cornwall, Mr. Craig made a verbal proposition to them which he afterwards put in writing. He offered to give the United Counties of Stormont Dundas and Glengarry his property, consisting of 140 acres of land, with buildings and farm equipment, which are valued at $13,000 and $7,000 in cash, the Counties to pay to him or his wife during their lifetime 6 per cent interest on the sum of $20,000. The property to pass into the full possession of the Counties on their death.

In the discussion of the offer it was found that special legislation would be required to authorize the Council to enter into such an agreement as the payment of interest might extend beyond twenty years.

In his amended offer received by the Chairman of the Committee, Mr. C. E. Cameron this morning. Mr. Craig proposes to limit the period during which interest shall be paid to twenty years or less if the death of himself or his wife should occur before the expiration of this period.

It is understood that the committee has decided to recommend the acceptance of the amended offer and the recommendation will probably come before the Council this evening.

A proposal to postpone the matter and ask Mr. Craig to allow his offer to remain available until the January session of the Council was voted down by 12 to 7.

The Council stands adjourned until 7.30 this evening. The remainder of the report will be published next week.

AWAKENING OF SCIENCE

TO THE VALUE OF FRUIT

What is "FRUIT-A-TIVES"?

Medical men are just beginning to realize the possibilities of fruit in curing disease. Its action on the liver, kidneys and skin is wonderful. Yet fruit in its raw state is impracticable in treating disease because of the minute quantity of the active or curative principle contained in fruit juice.

A physician in Ottawa, after years of patient work, discovered a process, whereby the medicinal or bitter principle of fruit juice is increased in quantity and thus a more active and more valuable substance is obtained.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit.

Hundreds of prominent people in every section of the Dominion owe their good health to "Fruit-a-tives." Hundreds more are daily becoming stronger and better by taking them. "Fruit-a-tives" is daily proving its inestimable value as a natural cure in all cases of Constipation, Biliousness, Torpid Liver, Backache and Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Kidney and Skin Troubles.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. Sold by all dealers, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

MY NATIVE LAND.

By William Douw Lighthall.

[William Douw Lighthall, K.C., barrister, author, publicist and member of many learned societies, has been a contributor to Canadian letters for many years. He was born in Hamilton, Ont., in 1857 and after graduating from McGill settled in Montreal. He has written both prose works and verse. Of the latter his "Thoughts, Moods and Ideals" is best known. He is also an editor of Canadian poetry.]

Rome, Florence, Venice—noble, fair and quaint,
They reign in robes of magic round me here;
But fading, blotted, dim, a picture faint,
With spell more silent, only pleads a tear.
Plead not! Thou hast my heart, O picture dim!
I see the fields, I see the autumn hand
Of God upon the maples! Answer Him
With weird, translucent glories, ye that stand
Like spirits in scarlet and in amethyst!
I see the sun break over you; the mist
On hills that lift from iron bases grand
Their heads superb!—the dream, it is my native land.

Something Worth Weeping For.

The old gentleman who had seen better days picked the yelling urchin out of the gutter.

"Come, come!" he said. "What's all this trouble?"

An attendant youth volunteered the explanation:

"Please, sir, 'e's lorst 'is glarss alley a-playin' marbles."

"Well, don't cry," soothed the O. G. W. H. S. B. D., patting the still sobbing youngster on the back. "Here's a penny for you to buy some more."

The tears burst forth afresh.

"I wouldn't cry if I were you," urged the benefactor.

"Y-y-yes, yer would," gasped the weeping one, "if you'd b-ben an' lorst yer farver's glass eye."—Answers.

Hooked!

"Pshaw!" exclaimed Miss Yerner "I'm sure we'll miss the opening number. We've waited a good many minutes for that mother of mine."

"Hours, I should say," Mr. Sloman retorted rather crossly.

"Ours? Oh, George!" she cried and laid her blushing cheek upon his shirt front.—Argonaut.

Wasted Worship.

"Aw—will you give this note to Miss May de Sylphington, the—aw—pretty little blond creature with the violet eyes, don't you know, who dances in the ballet?"

"That'll be all right, guv'nor. I ought to know her; I'm her son."—Tatler.

The Thieving Magpie.

A few weeks ago a large tree in England in which several magpies had nested for years was blown down during a gale, and in a hollow which was unsuspected was found over $300 worth of articles stolen from various houses. The principal thing was a diamond ring worth $200. The largest article was a silver backed hairbrush.

All Together, Sing!

Sparrow, swinging on a branch, sang the softest trill,
Low and long it was, full of lovely meaning.
Robin, tugging at a worm, paused and wiped his bill,
Paused and perked his head, stood his feathers preening.
To sing his song it really seemed he had forgotten quite.
A bee that flew from rose to lily lingered in her flight,
Hummed and buzzed and hummed again, tried to give the keynote.
Wren, though busy with her nest, stopped to sing a wee note.
Thus reminded, robin chirped cheerily and sang.
Sparrow trilled his very loudest, sang his sweetest, best.
Wren, upon the arbor perched, looking at her nest,
Sang with robin and with sparrow till the garden rang.

TREE DISTRIBUTION.

The Demand For Government Trees Continues to Increase.

The work of free tree distribution to homesteaders on the prairies inaugurated in 1901 by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior has made steady growth, and by 1909 report of the Superintendent of Forestry (included in annual report of the Department of the Interior, lately issued) is shown to be still on the increase.

For some years past the number of trees distributed each spring has been in the neighbourhood of two and a half millions. The nursery stationed at Indian Head, Sask., had reached almost its capacity, and if the distribution is to be enlarged the nursery capacity must be correspondingly increase.

In the Spring of 1909, 2,570,000 trees were sent to 2,010 applications. In the Spring of 1910 about the same number of trees was sent to 3,173 applicants.

The increase in the number of applicants is also strikingly shown by the fact that in 1908 the average number sent to each applicant was 1,400 while in 1910 the number had to be reduced to 800 The number of trees distributed remained practically the same. The number who recieved trees, however, increased from 1,424 in 1908 to new applications for trees was 2,235, in 1910 this number had increased to 3,835.

Farmers are urged to grow their own maple and ash trees from seed. Caution must, however, be exercised as to where this seed comes from, and, if possible, native seed procured. In the summer of 1918 many Manitoba maples were found to have been killed back, either wholly or partially, during the preceding winter. These had been raised from seed obtained from Dakota and to this fact their inability to resist the weather seems due. The Forestry Branch has previously had similar experiences with seed obtained from Minnesota and from Eastern Canada Failure of the local supply of seed, however, occasionally makes it necessary to resort to imported seed.

Further interesting particulars regarding this work are given in the report above mentioned, which is to be had free on application to R. H. Campbell, Superintendent of Forestry, Ottawa.

For Those Who Exhibit $9,000,00 In Prises.

The prise list of the Eastern Ontario Live Stock and Poultry Show, which will be held in Ottawa, Jan. 16th to 20th, 1911, contains a splendid lot of cash prizes totalling Nine Thousand Dollars The prizes are offered for all the principal breeds of Horses, Beef Cattle, Dairy Cattle, Sheep, Swine, the leading varieties of Poultry and also for Seeds. Most of the classes in the live stock departments are dividedinto sections for animals of the different ages so that young animals do not have to enter an unfair competition against ones that are more matute. As many of our readers are interested in this great educational Show, we give a brief summary of the prize list.

In the horse department there are classes for Clydesdale Stallions (open), Canadian-bred Clydesdale Stallion, Clydesdale Mares, Hackney Stallions and Mares Standard-Bred Stallions, Thorough-bred Stallions Geldings and Maressuitable for Hunters, Pony Stallions and Mares, Heavy Draught Geldings and Mares Beef Cattle prizes are for, Shorthorns, Herefords, Aberdeen-Angus, Galloways, Devons, Grades and Crosses and Export Steers. The Aryshires, Holsteins, Shorthorns, Jerseys and Guernseys and Grades have classes in the Dairy Department. In Sheep the breeds are, Cotswolds, Lincolns, Leichester, Oxfords, Shorpshires, Southdowns, Dorsets, Hampshires Suffolks and Grades and crosses. Grades and Crosses and Bacon Hogs. There are about one hundred and sixty classes in the live and dressed poultry departments. The seed prizes are for, Wheat, Barley, Oats, Peas, Beans, Corn, Potatoes and Timothy Seeds. The amount of prize money offered in each of the departments is as follows:

Horses	$ 2000.00
Beef Cattle	1300.00
Dairy Cattle	1200.00
Sheep	800.00
Swine	800.00
Poultry	2400.00
Seeds	500.00
	$9000.00

Prize lists are now ready for distributation and may be secured free of charge on application to D. T. Elderkin, Secretary, Ottawa, Ont.

Two offers to supply natural gas will be submitted to the Counoil of Ingersoil.

A Good Position.

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or Railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute operates six official institutes in America, under supervision of R.R. and Wireless Officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Cincinnati, O., or Philadelphia, Pa.

Canadian Verse

COLD.

By Theodore Roberts.

[Theodore Roberts, a brother of C. G. D. Roberts was born in 1877 in Fredericton, N.B. He was war correspondent for The New York Independent in the Spanish-American War, and has written occasional verse.]

"Cold," cried the wind on the hill,
"Cold," sang the tree;
Your eyes were blue-grey and still
And cold as the sea.

Cold lay the snow on the land;
Cold stood the pine;
But neither as cold as your hand
Lying in mine.

Ah, Love, has the fire died so soon—
Just smoldered and gone;
A kiss by the light of the moon,
A parting by dawn.

New Grab Bag.

A new grab bag plan that is being tried this year with great acclaim on the part of youthful patrons of bazaars is called the "old lady with 100 pockets."

The old lady is a huge figure (which may be constructed over a large barrel by way of saving time), dressed in a hoopskirt or a wide countrified gown and bonnet and carrying a big cotton umbrella.

In her dress are hidden away 100 pockets, in each of which a little five or ten cent gift is tucked away. On the outside of each pocket is pinned a number, or this may be chalked there. The child paying his dime or nickel specifies what pocket he wishes the contents of, and this is immediately given him. Some one must be at hand, of course, to receive the money paid to the old lady and to deliver up the contents of her numerous pockets.

A BUNCH OF HELPFUL HOWS.

Ready Reference Series That May Come Handy Any Time.

HOW to Keep Out of Jail.—A compendium of useful information for busy magnates, giving the nature of subpoenas, congressional probes, immunity baths (hot and cold) and bold fronts. Not only contains directions for taking a (trust) bust measure, but tells lucky numbers, forecasts the "fine" days of the year and points out the criminal consequences of misappropriating (only) a few paltry plunks. Appendix includes the addresses of the highest priced lawyers and the quickest routes to Europe and Canada.

How to Break Into the Best Society.—An abridged (whist) edition for climbers. Tells you how to be introduced properly to big money, how to conduct yourself when it is talking, how to enter a room when it is present, how to detect the odor of burning money and how to "call" on easy money. Tells the name of the one you will divorce. Profusely illustrated with 23,456 designs of family crests; can be made to your measure and fitted right at home.

How to Be a Perfect Lady.—A condensed guide to ballistics for ladies; full explanations how to hold a brickbat, how to poise it gracefully and how by hurling it to disarrange the stolid British stare of a cabinet minister. Polite hints on smashing windows. How to have your "fling" with (stepping) stones (to prison). What not to wear in jail. Simple lessons in discouraging the unwelcome attentions of policemen. Our method insures perfect results.

How to Keep a Cook.—The book you will eventually buy. Contains the green book of the Registered Lady Cooks of America. A brief synopsis of the bylaws of organized cookery. Formulates the latest demand of a living wage for angels in the kitchen (life size), including the use of the family automobile, old age pensions for cook and dependent kinsfolk, daily shopping tours, the opera box on "Salome" nights and the privilege of attending suffragette lectures at Marble House. Tells under what circumstances cooks may be allowed to give monkey dinners to their friends without infringing on the essentials of good society. A manual of authorized conversation with the angel (approved by the union). Our book contains 50,000 fancy designs of imported domestics, actual colors, shades to suit, faces cut princess with graduated flounces.

How to Take a Flier.—The up to date book on aerial etiquette. What every high flier should know. Explains with diagrams) the dangers of taking a "drop too much" when the airship gets "tipsy," what to do when you strike a hard cloud, how to avoid air sickness, how to keep your machine "tuned up" to the music of the spheres. Complete instructions for making a hit when the ship collapses. Outlines the best method of buying a $30,000 dirigible at 5 cents a week. Glossary of latest list of flighty fads. An air directory for airish people.—Life.

The Old Game.

Alexander Shaw, a labor contracter of Arnprior was buncoed out of $500 by two confidence men at the St. James hotel, Montreal, on Monday night. Near the Bonventure depot he met a man who asked him if he could tell him the name of the street. Shaw said he would not as he was a stranger They soon developed an acquaintance and were presently joined by a third party who was apparently a friend of the first man. It was the old story. All three went into a hotel, the strangers matched coppers for a little devision and Shaw looked on. To make the game interesting a bet of $10 was made, the wager later being raised to $100 Soon one of men had lost all his available cash and he turned to Shaw for a loan, of course assuring him that he had the money up stairs. Shaw obliged him with a loan of $500 and pretty soon the men tired of the game and under pretence of going upstairs to get the money to return the loan the strangers slipped away and that is the last the Arnprior man has seen of his friends or his money.

Died At Dunbar.

After an illness, extending over a year, Mrs. David Webster of Dunbar, passed away on Saturday Oct. 22nd, at the age fifty-seven years and ten months. Born near Ashton, Carleton Co., Mrs Webster came to Dunbar about 33 years ago and has lived in that section ever since. Throughout her whole life she has been an active and energetic woman, a kind and helpful friend and neighbor, who will be greatly missed, not only in her home but also in the church and neighborhood. During her illness she bore the weakness and suffering wifh patient hopefulness, always anxious for the comfort and well-being of those around her.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, David Webster of Dunbar, two daughters, Martha and Margaret at home and four sons, Albert M. of Perdue Sask. Earnest of Ottawa, Edwin of Venn, Sask., and Charles at home. To these the deep sympathy of friends and neighbors is extended.

Among the floral tributes was a wreath from the Dunbar Auxiliary of the W. F. M. S., of which the deceased was for some years treasurer.

The funeral took place from the late residence on Tuesday morning at half-past ten to Dunbar Presbyterian church, where the services were conducted by the Rev. George Mason. Interment was made at Grantley.

CRIPPEN TO BE HANGED NOV. 15.

Lord Chief Justice Conducted the Trial in a Most Masterly Manner.

London October 22—Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen the American practitioner and medical agent, was to-day found guilty of the murder of his wife, the actress, Belle Elmore and sentenced to death. When the jury returned and announced that it had found the defendant guilty Lord chief Justice Alverstone asked the physician if he had anything to say. Crippen replied in a low voice; "I still protest my innocence."

The chief justice then donned the black cap that has rested near him through the trial and pronounced sentence of death.

Addressing the condemned man Lord Alverstone said.

"You have been convicted on evidence which can leave no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man that you cruelly murdered your wife and then mutilated her body.

"I advise you to entertain no hope that you will escape the consequence of your crime. I implore you to make all peace with Almighty God."

When the lord chief justice concluded a policeman stepped forward and in the hush that had fallen over the court room led Crippen from the dock.

Crippen will be hanged on November 15.

The trial of Ethel Clara Le Neve as an accessory after the fact in the murder of Mrs Crippen will begin on next Tuesday.

Richard Muir in the closing speech for the prosecution, said that the defence had relied largely on the theory that Crippen was to kind-hearted to commit murder. Counsel pointed out that the defendant had however, lived for months a life of hypocrisy, mocking the grief of his wife's dearest friends.

The prosecutor's address occupied little more than an hour. He concluded by saying that the prosecution had proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the body found in the Crippen home was that of his wife—Belie Elmore, the actress—and that none but the prisoner could have cut up the body and buried it in the cellar.

Lord Chief Justice Alverstone gave his summing up of the case as soon as Mr. Muir had concluded.

The justice describes Crippen as an extraordinary man whether guilty or innocent. If guilty he had covered up a ghastly crime in a ghastly way, and it was believed in a brutal and callous manner. If he was innocent it was impossible to fathom his mind as he was absolutely indifferent to the charge of murder. He had taken no step whatever to prove his innocence. Crippen the justice declared undoubtedly was a liar and had lived an immoral life but he added the jury could not convict the defendant on that score. It must be quite convinced that the human parts found were from the body of Belle Elmore and that her death was caused by a wilful act of the prisoner.

Sentence was suspended in the case of Forrest, who pleaded guilty to stealing $400 from the farmers' Bank at Athens.

Twenty-Five Years Ago.

It was Thanksgiving evening
In the town of Chesterville;
There was to be a party
Where a fair young maid did dwell.

The company assembled early
At the hour of half-past eight,
And there awaited patiently
Of the oysters to partake.

The fire it was lighted, the water to make hot,
And everything was ready to put them in the pot,
When, having no suspicion, this fair young maid did go
Straight in the parlor her love to see you know.

But while there too long a time she spent
Until aroused by her faithful dog she to the kitchen went,
When great to her surprise she found the oysters gone,
And wrung her hands, she says, Oh my! I know who to blame it on.

She rushed in the parlor and the information gave
When up spoke her gallant lover, those thieves they shall not live;
They ran out in the darkness and searched both high and low,
But broken-hearted soon returned more oysters for to buy.

A word of warning now we will give before it be too late;
Never mention any names for fear you make a mistake,
But keep your kitchen door well barred and get a larger dog
Or you will miss your oysters, no matter how you guard.

CHORUS:
Oysters! oysters! oysters!
Was the cry;
Oh! who stole the oysters?
This pretty maid did sigh.

Old Will Tangle In Court.

The will of the late Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald, of Cornwall will be construed at Osgoode Hall next Monday. This will begins: "I commit my soul to the hands of my Creator, by whom, I believe I was sent here for his own purposes, and as to His estate I will dispose of the same as follows:

Mr. Macdonald died on June 1, 1872. His widow. Mrs. Mary Caristine Macdonald, survived him until Oct. 9, 1909. Under the will the widow recieved an annuity of $1,200. What the trustees want to know is: What persons are entitled to share in the distribution of the capital now in their hands?

Two daughters, Mrs. Adele Pemberton and Mrs. Louise Appleby, are plying for a construction of the will, as the trustees have declined to divide the capital, from which the $1,200 was paid, until the court has indicated the rightful claimants

"That no girl under 16, or boy under 12, be allowed on the streets after 9 o'clock p.m., except in the company of their parents or some responsible person." This is a resolution passed by an association for the prevention of crime in Ontario. The assocation met at Guelph recently and this is one of the resolutions passed. There are people who think restrictions of this kind are an unnecessary and warranted interference with the rights of the parent, but observation in regard to to the matter shows that such regulations would be benefical in Brockville. There are parents who do not seem to have proper conceptions of their duty, and it is the duty of the state to step in and protect itself as well as the child.

The annual speech day was held at Trinty College School, Port Hope.

Farewell To Mr. And Mrs. Doran.

A number of the members of Knox church, Crysler, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Doran to say farewell on the eve of their departure from Crysler to Smith's Falls, where they will reside in future. Mr. Doran had been an elder for many years in Crysler Presbyterian congregation and Mrs Doran took an active part in the work of the church. It was largely through her efforts that the branch of the Womans Foreign Missionary Society was organized in connection with the church fourteen years ago. After an enjoyable evening spent in games and other amusements, Mr. Doran was presented with a handsome mantel clock, Mrs Doran with Bagster Bible, Miss Ida with a ladies cabinet, and the following address was read;

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Doran:

"We the congregation of Knox church, Crysler, on this the eve of your departure from our midst, hereby present you with these small gifts as a tangible proof the esteem in which you are held by us. We regret very much being obliged to say farewell to both of you. We have appreciated your earnest efforts and good example in everything pertaining to the welfare of the congregation. Your unassuming manner and gentleness together with your faithfulness, have always been noble incentives to us, and we believe that wherever your lot is cast your influence will be felt for good, and we know that our loss will be others gain.

On behalf of the congregation.
James Pollock,
Session Clerk.

Mr. W. G. Arbique, Tenor, will appear at the Music Hall, Thanksgiving night Oct. 31st.

Ethel Le Neve Acquitted.

London October 25.—After a trial lasting but a few hours in the Bailey Criminal Court, today, a jury found Ethel Clara Le Neve not guilty as an accessory after the fact in the murder of Cora Belle Crippen, for whose death her husband, Dr. Crippen, will die on the gallows on November 15. Miss Le Neve was in love with Dr. Crippen and slept in the house on the night of the day following the day upon which the doctor murdered his wife and buried the dismembered parts in the cellar of his Hilldrop Crescent home. She accompanied Crippen in his flight to Canada and with him was arrested and indicted

The citizens of Orsen, a town in Sweeden, have no taxes to pay, because their shrewd forefathers planted trees on all available land. The sale of timber pays the town's expenses, and judicious replantings keep up the supply. The town of Orillia, Ont., some time ago purchased a considerable tract of waste land outside the corporation and has began an experiment on the same lines as the Swedish town. When the tax collector comes around, what a fine thing if we could all take to the woods.

James Bates was found guilty at London, Ont., of starving his wife and infant son and beating the woman; he was remanded for sentence.

Two children of Duglas McCormick of West Williams got into the corn crib and ate some Paris green they found there. One is dead and the other dying.

John A. McDonald fell into a silo near Wyoming and was fatally injured.

THE TWO STORY HAT.

Paris Says We'll Wear It This Season.

CAP AND HAT COMBINED.

The freakishness of one hat does not seem to be sufficient for the purposes of the milliners this season, for they have launched a two storied, double decker arrangement with which to lure their customers and to raise the price of their wares.

This latest confection is, as you can see from the picture, a cap of dainty lace or tulle, sometimes both, worn under a big hat. When the large headpiece is removed milady still is fascinatingly pretty in her mob cap. It is said that this two story hat will be very popular for matinee wear, but when one does not care to burden the head with a second covering the same effect may be arrived at by means of a lace ruffle sewed inside the crown of the hat.

Dowager Queen Losing Interest.

Alexandra, the dowager queen of England, is said to have changed greatly since the death of King Edward. The loss of her husband, the falling away of the social interest that formerly centered about her and the loss of prestige have hurt her greatly. She shows the sorrow and care in her face that for years preserved its wonderful freshness and appearance of youth. Her deafness has become more marked, and it has caused her to retire more and more within herself than formerly. Years ago she was wonderfully vivacious and light hearted. She was interested in outdoor sports, being a skillful skater, an interpid horsewoman and an enthusiastic follower of the hounds. Despite the fact that after the birth of the princess royal she was left with an affection of the right knee joint, she did not give up horseback riding. Instead she learned to ride on the other side. But all these things no longer appeal to her. She is content to take her airing in a carriage or take a gentle stroll about the grounds.

New Bed Covers.

Among the smartest of the new bed covers are those of printed dimity or French stamped damask. These are made with a border in gay colors to match the wall decoration and on top of the bed have a large wreath or oval of flowers.

The covers are made long enough to hang over the bed, almost to the floor all around, and are drawn up over the bolster roll.

Another good looking cover is in cream colored embroidered net over a figured damask in all over pattern. The toning is a soft ecru. This, too, is brought over the roll that is used by day.

Many women who have cotton spreads patched by their grandmothers are bringing them out in this day of printed covers. This is only possible when the coloring is harmonious, as many of the old quilts show wonderful stitchery and little taste. Those quilted in all white in intricate designs are artistic even to modern notions.

Inexpensive Table Pads.

A woman who feels she cannot afford a heavy silence cloth to place beneath the linen on her dining table can make the same most inexpensively.

Let her take two layers of cheesecloth or some washable material, put between them several layers of paper (the larger the sheets the better), overcast the edges of the cloth and knot with fine thread here and there, just as one does a comfort. The cost is small, the paper gives the necessary body and protection, and there is no woolly fiber to stick to the glossy surface of the table when a hot dish is put upon it.

He—When he removes all the photos of actresses and professional beauties from his mantelpiece and sticks up the portrait of his rich aunt instead.—Illustrated Bits.

For the Children

Interesting Family of Five Clever Boys.

One of the most interesting families in the diplomatic corps and, for that matter, in the whole city of Washington is that of Count de Buissert, the minister from Belgium. The children are great favorites at the national capital, where they have become known through their skill as linguists and musicians. The children are all boys, and there are five of them. Even the youngest is a good musician, for their education began at an early age. On occasions when the count and countess entertain the youngsters are often called upon to show their skill in music, and so well do they perform that their efforts have won universal commendation.

Who Was Touched?

The two players who know the secret remain in the room long enough for the trick to be made sure.

One stands in a corner, and the other in the middle of the room calls out, "Ebenezer, do you hear?" Ebenezer says nothing, but listens attentively to hear who among the company speaks first. The other partner repeats the question, and still no answer. Some one will be likely to make a remark soon, and then Ebenezer will rouse up and answer, "Yes, I hear." "Then leave the room," says the other player, and Ebenezer goes out. The partner then makes a great show of choosing which one he shall touch, but of course ends by touching the person who first spoke after the game began. This done, Ebenezer is called in to say who was touched, and every one is puzzled to know how he can tell.

My Lady's Toilet.

The players are all seated except one, for whom no chair must be provided.

Each player takes the name of some article of a lady's toilet—her necklace, chain, bracelets, rings, comb, gloves, hat, shoes, gown, etc. One stands in the center as lady's maid and says, "My lady is going out and wants her hat." The hat must instantly jump up and spin around. If she forgets to do so she pays a forfeit. Each article must spin around when "wanted." Occasionally the lady's maid says, "My lady wants her toilet changed," when all the players must rise and change seats. In the scuffle the center player tries to get a seat. If she succeeds the one left chairless becomes lady's maid for the next turn.

The Ticket Collector.

One of the boys in the back of the room was evidently thinking of something besides his lesson.

So the teacher, merely to attract his attention, put the question:

"Harry, can you tell me where Noah was when the animals were going into the ark?"

"S'pose he was takin' tickets," was the prompt response.

Corner Ball.

Four players stand on the four angles of a square and the four adversaries in the center. The ball is passed from one to another of the players in the corners and finally thrown at the central players. These last, if they can catch the ball, may fling it back. If the player in the corner hits a central player the latter is out, and vice versa.

Points For Mothers

The use of "soothing sirups" is much more general than is supposed. Ignorant mothers are the worst offenders, especially those who must go out to work and who resort to these deadening drugs to quiet the children during their long absences. While it is pitiful enough to hear the wails of a neglected child, it is even more pitiful to see the stupefied child sleeping off a drug debauch provided by its own mother.

The children of the rich often suffer through the practices of their nurses, who wish to secure exemption from their care and so put them into an unnatural sleep. Once found out, instant discharge should follow without a recommendation.

No offense can be more contemptible in the eyes of the law or of society than making drug inebriates of little children. It is simply a process of slow poisoning, which at the same time establishes a habit, affects the mentality and injures the baby. A child brought up on "soothing sirups" is dull and lethargic. Many a mother who complains her child doesn't "get on" in school is herself responsible in that she fed him on these compounds to keep him quiet while she worked, a dear bought freedom. Under the food and drug act the United States courts are making it evident that a label accurately stating the contents of a "medicine" does not imply liberty to advertise it as not injurious and recommend it as remedy for ills it cannot cure. A man recently was fined $100 for selling a "toothing sirup" containing morphine and chloroform, though the label indicated these drugs and the amount. Dr. Wiley declared the stuff mislabeled because the label declared no bad effects would follow its use and that it was "a sure remedy for all ailments incident to babies from one day old to two or three years." The federal court sustained the chemist, and the proprietor will have to take his "sure cure" off the market or continue to pay fines.

It will not hurt the baby half as much to cry as it will to dose it with "soothing sirups." Crying is lung exercise. Opium is deadening and deadly.

Mother's Value.

This happened years ago, but it is worth repeating. In a certain home was the overindulgent mother of three daughters. You can just imagine what the week's washing was with dresses for all of those girls, each with three or four petticoats, besides many other articles. This mother did the washing, ironing, cooking, baking and about everything imaginable, and the daughters—well, they were "cultured" and did not do very much of anything except eat the good meals and wear the clean clothes. One day the father called the mother aside. The two had a long talk, and he admitted he was not able to hire a domestic. The next day the usual complaint was made by the girls about the poor dinner, and the mother quietly got up, went to her room, dressed and came downstairs. She carried a heavy suit case and stopped long enough to tell the children that she hoped they would have a better meal the next day. Their father took her to the station, and she was away from home one month. Every one of those girls learned to cook, bake, scrub and look after the house, although they admitted that for a week they lived on baker's bread, lemonade, quince preserves and either salmon or sardines. It was a hard lesson for them to learn, but they knew the value of their mother.

Postures of Children.

In a recent lecture to mothers and teachers on incorrect postures of children the speaker spoke of inturning feet and the means of correcting them. But turned toes and feet, she said, are the result of training, and if the mother finds a tendency on the part of her child to turn the toes in she must resort to training to remedy it. This consists in developing the outer muscles by proper exercise.

Of the physical training of the child from birth the lecturer said that, excessive crying being accepted as harmful, the average mother therefore assumes that all crying is harmful and should be suppressed. This is faulty reasoning. The natural crying of a baby is really a means of development, as by crying the lungs are expanded and the relations between circulation and respiration are thus established and strengthened.

STORIES OF CROWS

Natural History For Youths About Three Birds.

AND SOME RARA AVIS VERSE.

One That Wanted to Be a Nightingale. Good to Eat In Russia—Full of Mischief and Useless, but They Are Cute.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.]

A crow had a nest in an oak,
And his life went along with a poke.
He'd a wife to advise
And talk to him wise
And indulge now and then in a joke.

UP to thirty years ago the crow was to be found in thousands in every state east of the Mississippi river. Then the farmers began to thin him out, and there are many localities where he can no longer be found. Naturalists call him the most useless bird on earth. He isn't handsome to look at, he has the harshest kind of a voice, he is destructive, and he is not food for man. It is a matter of wonder why he was created at all.

That crow had the pick of the land.
There was always plenty at hand.
From sunrise to set
He was eating, you bet,
And his way it was balmy and bland.

The crow will eat most any kind of meat and any kind of seeds. He will

THE ONE THAT FELL IN TEE SAND.

snap up a frog, oyster or clam. No matter how rank or rancid his food is, he enjoys it. Let a farmer plant an acre of corn and leave it unwatched for a day and a flock of crows will scratch up every kernel. It was to scare the crows away that old suits of clothes stuffed with straw were first placed in fields. The bird's appetite is so good he will gobble down a quart of shelled corn at one time. The agricultural bureau estimates that every crow damages the farmer $10 worth during the season. It's in the winter season that the bird has a hard time, and many freeze and starve to death.

No shotgun was pointed at him
As he sat on the fence or a limb,
No club broke his neck,
No stone did him wreck,
But he suddenly took up a whim.

Funny End of Lawsuit.

A curious lawsuit took place in the state of Ohio some five years ago on account of the crows. The farmers of a certain county were pledged not to feed them during the winter, thus leaving them to die, but a certain man with a kind heart bought many bushels of corn and invited all crows to come and feast three times a day. There were days when a thousand crows assembled and when their cawing could be heard for a mile or more. They got through the winter all right, but the good man who made it possible had ten lawsuits for damages. The matter hung fire in the courts for a long time, but it was finally decided that as there was no law against killing a crow there could be none against saving his life.

His song was a farreaching caw,
Like a spike that is grated by saw.
'Twas a caw and a screech,
And a mile it did reach,
And 'twas not forbidden by law.

A German naturalist named Breitzie started out a few years ago to make a songster of the crow. He took young ones and slit their tongues and put them in cages with canaries and other singing birds, and for a time he thought he would be successful. Then when the young crows got their voices it proved to be something more shrill and screechy than the notes of their fathers and mothers. The crow isn't born with the right kind of throat for a warbler.

The whim that got into his head
Was, instead of going to bed,
To sing with all hail,
Like the sweet nightingale,
And tickle the old farmer Jed.

Crows Can Caw, That's All.

It was believed for a long time by naturalists that the crow could be taught to talk as well as or better than a parrot. Men spent months actually trying to make scholars and teachers, but all they ever got out of Jim Crow was his caw. He was keeping quiet and letting them do the talking. Many of them were put in cages with parrots, but the parrots did all the swearing.

"It never can be," said the wife,
"You're no singer, you bet your crow life.
The farmer will scoff,
The gun will go off,
And there'll be a row and a strife."

Russia is the country of crows. Some thirty years ago a duke offered a reward of $1,000 to cook crow so that the peasants would like the meat. Russian, French and German cooks competed. They baked, boiled, stuffed, broiled and made potpie of Mr. Crow, and they used all sorts of seasonings to make him taste like chicken or turkey, but after experimenting for weeks he was still crow and nobody would eat him. A dog might get hungry enough to pick the bird's bones, but it is known that a fox turns away from them with a wry face.

"I'm running this singing, my dear,
And don't you get on your ear.
I've filed up my voice,
And I'll make him rejoice
And bring out his wife for to hear."

As bad as men dislike the crow they give him credit for his cuteness. In a locality where they have been shot at no sooner does a man appear with a gun than the crow is away at his best speed. The same man can walk out with a stick on his shoulder and the bird will give him no attention whatever. He knows what's bad for him, and in that he is ahead of most human beings. The noise of a brass band will drive every crow away within hearing. In that he has advantage over man. Man wants to get away from the music, but has no wings to fly with.

And he went as the gloaming drew nigh,
And he sang from a maple tree high.
'Twas a screech and a caw,
A sort of haw, haw!
As if reaching up for the notes.

As to the longevity of the crow, he has been known to live twenty years, or as long as a goose, but in most cases crows die under the age of five years. They get tired of their own voices and want a change.

He was warbling away like a band
When Jed, with a gun in his hand,
Came out, and he fired
Be-caws he was tired,
And down came the crow in the sand.

And when he didn't return home that night Mrs. Crow went looking for her own breakfast and said, "If he's a nightingale he's surely a dead un."

The Horse and the Man.

[A fable that is no fable.]

Once upon a time an Employer bought a Horse and hired a Man.

The Man worked Twelve, sometimes Fourteen hours a Day.

The Man would Gladly have Worked only Eight hours a Day, but his Employer Kicked against such Short Hours.

The Horse Never Worked more than Eight Hours a Day.

The Man took Good care of the Horse—Fed him Regularly, Curried him every Day, furnished him a Good Bed of Straw and was Kind to him.

The Man got what was Left after his Employer had Eaten; he slept in the Attic, where the Snow blew through the Cracks.

The Man Raised his Hat every time he met the Horse.

"Gee whiz," said the Man one Day, "I Wish I Was a Horse!"

Ottawa, Jan. 16-20 '11

The purpose of the show is to give to the farmers of Eastern Ontario the results of the practical experience of those who have made a close study of the breeding, feeding, rearing and marketing of the classes of live stock and poultry most profitable to the farmers. This is accomplished by having at the show high class exhibits of Horses, Beef Cattle, Dairy Cattle, Sheep, Swine, Poultsy and Seeds, and by supplementing these object lessons with addresses by experts in which they tell how the best can be produced profitably.

Many who have attended past Shows say they got pointers worth many times the money and time expended in attending.

Scott—Summers.

A happy event took place at the residence of Mr. Adam Summers Winchester on the afternoon of the 12th, inst., when his third daughter, Margaret became the bride of Mr. James Scott Melvin Settlement. The bride was given away by her father the nuptial knot was tied by Rev. J. Webster under an arch of evergreens, the wedding march was played by Mrs R. B. Casselman. The bride was gowned in white silk trimmed with lace, her tulle veil being fastened with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of carnations. After the ceremony a sumptuous repast was partaken of by a hundred guests. Among the many presents received by the bride was a gold watch and chain from the groom, the latter's gift to the organist being a brooch. The happy couple left on evening train for Ottawa, the bride travelling in a suit of blue cloth with white hat. On their return Saturday evening a reception was given them at Mr. Scott's Melvin Settlement.—Press.

A splendid article appears in Engineering News of New York city, of Oct. 9th, from the facile pen of E. A. Forward, of Iroquois engineer in a charge of construction describing the St. Andrew's Movable Dam and Lock on the Red River at Lockport, Man. By means of photos and diagrams Mr. Forward gives technical information of immense value to engineers. This famous piece of engineering skill and enterprise was undertaken and compleated this year by the Dominion Government and on July 14th Sir Wilfred Laurier attended the opening ceremonies. Mr. Forward is to be congratuled. For boldness of conception and magnitude it ranks as one of the greatest engineering works of the continent.

Our own Pat Page has returned to town for the winter. He's a jolly Pat.
