Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Fraser Honored

Last Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Fraser, who are leaving their farm south of the village to take up their residence in Russell, were honored by their friends and neighbors with an address of appreciation accompanied by the presentation of a handsome chair. Mr. Fraser made a suitable reply on behalf of himself and Mrs. Fraser, thanking their friends for the gift and the sentiments expressed in the following address:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Fraser:

It is with regret that we learn of your intended departure from our midst, but we are very glad that we have this opportunity to assemble with you once more in your home, to show our glad appreciation of the many pleasant hours we have spent with you in the past. We know we shall miss your presence from our social circle, and we will gladly welcome you back at any future time.

We trust you may have health and prosperity in your new home, and we are sure you will be given a warm welcome by the people of Russell with whom you have lived before. We have always enjoyed your sojourn with us being the good neighbors that you have been.

As a remembrance of the friends you are leaving we ask you to accept this chair.—Signed on behalf of your neighbors and friends.

The evening was spent in music, games and dancing.

Live Stock Judging Demonstration

Quite a successful judging demonstration was held in Mr. Andrew Henderson's livery barn on Thursday and Friday of last week under the direction of W. C. Caldwell, district representative of the Department of Agriculture. Dr. W. E. Baker of Toronto, had charge of the horse demonstration with the horses supplied by Messrs. Baker and Moody. The formers' were a fine pair of Agricultural horses while Mr. Moody's was a growthy Clydesdale four years old. Dr. Baker demonstrated the judging of the Draft horse and also gaye an illustrated talk on the more common unsoundnesses of horses.

On Friday Dairy cattle were demonstrated by Mr. Mode of Vankleek Hill, the Holsteins being provided by Mr. Thos. Allan and the Ayrshires by Mr. S. Kittle. These were in splendid condition and were a breedy lot. Mr. Caldwell is very thankful to the men who supplied the live stock for the demonstration.

A judging competition for the boys was held with twenty-four taking part. The winners were:

1st—Waldon Beckstead.
2nd—Howard Kittle.
3rd—Grant Pickering.
4th—Bert Jordan.
5th—Jacl: Carroll.
6th—Andrew Clement.

There wa a printer's error in the bills for this demonstration (which were not printed by The Record) which the Secretary of the County Board of Agriculture did not notice before sending the bills around, which caused confusion in the days of the demonstration.

Former Member For Stormont Dead

Robert A. Shearer, who represented Stormont County in the Ontario Legislature for one term, died at the General Hrspital, Cornwall, Sunday, where he had been taken on Wednesday to undergo an operation. Mr. Shearer had been ailing for about six years, and declined the Conservative nomination for the Legislature at the last election on account of ill-health. He had been about, however, and attended to his business interests until a few days before being taken to the hospital. Mr. Shearer was born in Cornwall township just west of the town fifty-two years ago, being a son of the late James Shearer. He was a successful farmer up to the time he moved to town, twelve years ago. For three years Mr. Shearer acted as Deputy Sheriff of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, resigning his position to enter the Ontario Legislature. The funeral took place on Monday.

Cut Meat Prices Ten Cents A Pound

From the beginning of this week butchers at Milton, in Western Ontario, will not deliver meat. No telephone orders will be taken and no credit given. This was decided after a conference. At the same time all meats were reduced ten cents a pound. There is much unemployment in the town at the present time and this action now is due to the butchers' desire to protect themselves against bad debts. As the four brick works are shut down until Spring hundreds of men are out of work.

Premier E. C. Drury who was quoted last week end as stating in a speech at Chatham that the Farmer Labor-combination carrying on the present government could not be perpetuated, has issued a denial of any such statement and accuses the daily press of twisting his words to suit their own ends.

Cost of Motor Licenses Advanced

With the cost of living just beginning to come down, the cost of motoring is about to go up. In order to provide revenue for the great highway scheme upon which he is working Hon. F. C. Biggs, Minister of Public Works and Highways, has decided to put into effect an all round increase in motor license fees, which, it is anticipated, will result in an increase in revenue of about $750,000. The higher fees, effective at the beginning of the year, will affect all classes of cars, but the big, high-powered cars will have to pay a bigger share than they have in the past. On the four-cylinder car of not more than 25 horse-power—a class that embraces practically all the light, moderate priced cars—the license fee next year will be $13 instead of $10, an increase of 30 per cent. On the heavier cars the increase varies, but will average between 35 and 40 per cent.

On commercial vehicles of two tons capacity or less the fee will be $13 instead of $10, with a rate of $6 per ton or fraction thereof on every vehicle of over two tons. One ton trailers will be licensed at $2, trailers up to two tons $5.00, with a rate of $3 per ton on trailers of greater carrying capacity,

Motor busses will be classed as commercial vehicles and the fee based on the combined weight of a capacity load of passengers (seated), the average weight per person being placed at 150 lbs.

License fees for dealers' permits and markers are increased, and a fee of $2 instead of $1 required for a new marker where a car is converted from a passenger vehicle to a truck, in addition to the difference in fees in the two classes. The transfer of a license will hereafter cost $2 instead of $1, and the service cars operated by garages will be considered as "for hire" and pay license fees accordingly.

The revenue from motor licenses this year is something over $2,000,000 and next year the Department of Highways counts upon a return of $2,750,000.

Before any owner of a motor vehicle can secure a 1921 license he will be obliged to answer on the application form whether or not his vehicle is equipped with an approved non-glaring head light device, and if so he must give the name of the device he is using.

By this method the Motor Vehicle Department at the Parliament Buildings will have a record of every car owner in this province who has equipped his car for glare elimination. Since a great deal of investigation and publicity has been given to non-glare lenses by the Highway Department this year it is most unlikely that many motorists in Ontario will wish to admit to the government that they have not an approved device on their car when applying for next year's license,

Fortunes Tossed Away

Most people, it has been said, throw away a fortune in the course of a lifetime through waste in small things, and certainly the "cheese-parings and candle-ends" do count for more than is usually realized.

Take water, for instance. A New York crusade against dripping taps produced some astonishing figures.

In two years alone a saving of forty thousand million gallons was effected by a tax of two dollars for any defective tap. Since such a leakage will waste 1,500 gallons per day, this will be readily understood.

No less considerable is the daily waste of paper.

The Stores Department of the G.P.O once estimated that seventy million telegraph forms were spoiled and wasted every year; and an expert on the Paper Commission has stated that the careful saving of newspapers in every house would effect an economy of nearly £500,000 per annum.

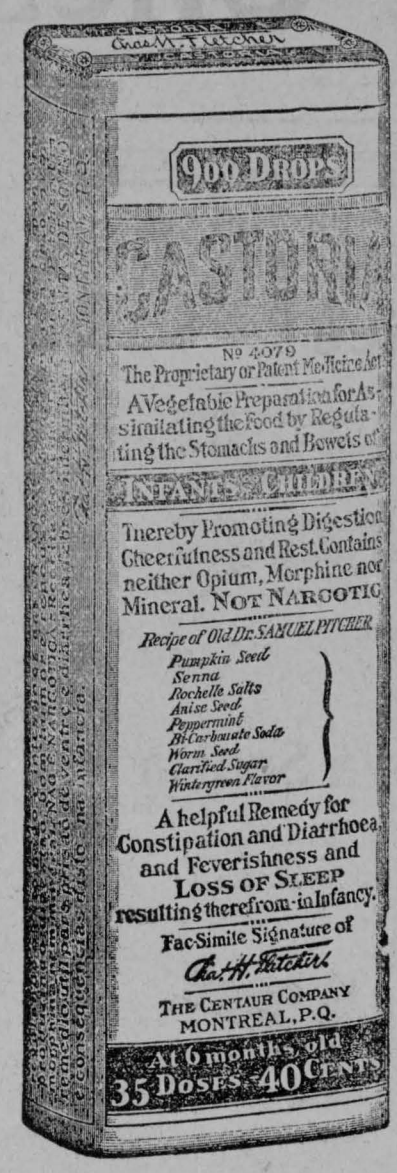

Articles of food habitually wasted are fruit and vegetables. For even in these times much fruit which might be sold or bottled is allowed to rot, either from carelessness or the difficulty of finding a quick and handy market. The thrifty country folk of France immerse their potato crop for a few seconds in boiling water before putting them away and this keeps them sound until the next crop is available,

How many men bother to untie parcels and preserve the string? More frequently the cord is damaged by cutting, and is then thrown into the waste-paper basket.

Some idea of the loss involved may be gathered from the known fact that the rag-pickers of Paris have gathered string to the value of £600 a year from the rubbish-boxes in the public places of that city!

Few articles occasion more waste than the ordinary match. A cigaretie smoker would be surprised to find how many boxes containing forty or fifty matches, he has used in a week.

At the Guelph Fat Stock, this week the Stock Judging team from the County of York carried of first place with a score of 278 points out of a possible 3000.

Value Your Time

Big factories don't pay men to do the work machines will do. They make money by using modern machinery and modern methods.

Farmers who make money use modern methods, too. You shouldn't use hand-power for work a gasoline engine will do.

Get a Toronto Farm Engine. All those jobs that weary you now will become merely incidents in the day's work. Milking, separating, churning, sawing, grinding, sharpening tools, mixing cement, shelling corn, filling your silo—you can do these things quickly and economically.

Toronto Farm Engines are honestly built. Sturdy and simple, they need little attention. Run on gasoline or kerosene.

You can save money, time and trouble by using a Toronto Grain Grinder. Gives you big mill service right on your own farm, at small cost.

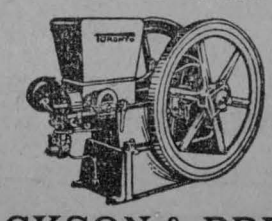

Toronto Saws solve the fuel problem on the farm. Utilize the waste wood on your farm.

Cures Claimed For Missioner

"Cures" which were regarded by the congregation that packed St. Andrew's Church, Montreal, to the doors, as miraculous and were received with the whole gathering standing and singing hymns, were given by sister McPherson, the Ontario missioner.

A Salvationist woman who claimed that she had suffered for years from a tubercular knee, was able to kneel down on both knees for the first time in years and afterwards stepped nimbly across the platform and down the stairs.

She told her audience that her surgeon had recently proposad amputation.

A Mrs. Coates, who furnished her ad dress, came wishing to be cured of a tumour on a limb and stated that she was unable after the alleged cure to place her finger on it.

Several others with hip diseases walked about briskly.

Testimony was also forthcoming from persons who had professed to be cured three weeks ago and who were still in enjoyment of the "cure."

Mistake to Limit Production

Talk of limiting production has been heard occasionally in the past few years, mostly by individuals who fancy they have a grievance against the world generally for poor returns received. It is well to know that when there is a large supply, prices fall, and when short, they rise. Years may be recalled when short crops returned more to the farmers than when there was a larger production. This is a principal that needs no argument for it has been recognized by economists for years. The principal, however cannot be applied to the individual farmer, for it is well known that the farmers whose acres produce the largest crops whose cows produce good flows of milk, are the ones making the most money.

This does not mean farmers who hoe their corn by hand or use unusual methods of caring for and feeding their cows, because such practices may cost more than even the increased production will return.

It means that the farmer who handl s his land well, fertilizes it : the man who breeds good cows, feeds and cares for them properly, is the one receiving the largest returns. Farmers cannot hope to make profit by limiting production of the individual cow or acre. There are fixed charges on every farm which must be met —investment in the land, the cows, equipment ; and the largest profit is made by having the fields and the live stock work efficiently.

Barn of Finlay McRae, East St. Elmo, Destroyed by Fire

Fire broke out early Saturday morning at the farm of Finlay McRae, at East St. Elmo, resulting in the destruction of one of the finest barns in the neighbourhood, and twenty-seven head of cattle, and five horses. Only one horse was saved. The origin of the fire is a mystery. There was insurance of $2,000 on the barn. The loss will be about $8,000.

Later in the day a meeting of the farmers was held in St. Elmo Hall, presided over by Rev. G. Watt Smith, when $1,000 was pledged, and canvassers were appointed to solicit further subscriptions throughout the district in aid of the victim of the fire.

Prize For Roy Weagant

Word has been received that Roy A. Weagant, consulting engineer of the New York Radio Corportion of America, a native of Morrisburg, has been awarded the Lieutenant-Colonel Liberman Memorial Prize, consisting of the interest on $10,000 for one year for the best work of the year tending toward the advancement of radio. Mr. Weagant is a graduate of McGill University, where he studied under Sir Ernest Rutherford. The award was made for his discovery on the elimination of static interference in radio.

Rivalled Feat of Jim Bludso

Emulating the heroic pilot of John Hay's well known poem, Jim Bludso, who, though in imminent peril of his life at the wheel of his burning vessel, declared that "he would hold her nose against the bank till the last galoot was ashore," Captain Thomas Sughue, pilot of the steamer Schoolcraft, which was destroyed by fire Friday morning, remained at the wheel of his burning vessel until he had beached her on Wolfe Island.

However, unlike Jim Bludso's crew, the crew of the Schoolcraft had taken to the lifeboats before the steamer was run on the beach, and the captain alone stayed with the ship. All but one escaped serious injury, but the fire had made such rapid headway that they were unable to secure any of their belongings.

The Schoolcraft was on her way to Kingston from Montreal, where she had delivered a cargo of coal, and was going to tie up for the winter, when suddenly and mysterously flames burst out. The boat was at the lower end of Wolfe Island at the time. Although the fire was quickly devouring the vessel, Captain Sughrue courageously stuck to his post until he was able to land "high and dry."

His bravery, however, failed to save the ship which was completely destroyed.

All girls not dependent on their salaries in the Civil Service at Ottawa are to be replaced by returned soldiers. The case is cited of one girl receiving $2500 a year, who went to work in her own automobile.

Bishop Fallon of London, on his return from overseas was presented by the Roman Catholics of the city with purse of $2,500 and an address of welcome. In replying Bishop Fallon said he would make no personal use of the gift, but would devote it to the advancement of education.

Legend Of Buried Gold

Revival of a legend that in the war of 1812 a large quantity of gold was buried on the property known now as Victoria Lawn Cemetery St. Catherines, a new annex to the city which is to be cleaned up and improved, has started a small stampede of would-be-labourers on the cleaning up job. The story goes that the buried treasure had been intended for the payment of the British troops in Canada, but that the paymaster, upon learning that the Americans had effected a landing in Canada, hurriedly started off to meet the enemy at the border, and was killed.

According to the story, the paymaster carved his initials on a beech tree near the spot where the coin lay. Needless to state, the initals and the tree have both disappeared. The story, however, still lives.

Perfectly Correct

There was a notice in a barber's shop window: "Boots Blacked Inside." A pedestrian halted, read and re-read the notice, then opened the door and said:

"That ought to be shoes. Not one man in fifty wears boots in the summer.

The barber didn't say anything, but after due reflection, concluded that the man was right, and so changed the notice to read: Shoes Blacked Inside." He had scarcely put it up when the same man came along and said:

"No one wants the inside of his shoes blacked. We pay to have the shine on the outside."

The barber puzzled over it a while, and again realized that the man was right again, the next day the notice was replaced by one reading: "The outside of shoes blacked inside."

"That's perfectly correct," said the fault-finder as he came along in the afternoon. "Never give yourself away on the English language again."

Racine Reported To Be In Montreal

Mr. Joseph Racine, notary public of Casselman, who has been missing since November 5, was reported to have been registered in the King Edward Hotel, Montreal, Thursday night, according to information received by his relatives. Mr. E. J. Menard, of Embrun, a brother-in-law of the missing man, immediately communicated with Mr. Racine's brother, who lives in Montreal and an attempt has been made to ascertain if the person at the hotel was their long lost relative, somewhat revived the spirits of the family, and the report is being thoroughly investigated in case Mr. Racine should turn up and remain unidentified. Montreal authorities are investigating the case of the man registered at the hotel.

The Address Label On Your Paper

Occasionally we receive quite indignant letters from subscribers who remit payment for their subscriptions by mail when they do not find the figures changed on the label of the next paper they receive. The reason for it is that corrections of the labels are only made once every four weeks and should the remittance be received immediately after corrections have been made it will not show until after the next correction, which may be as long as five weeks in a few cases. Directly opposite are those whose labels show them unpaid for years, and although repeatedly asked to square the account pay not the slightest attention. It must be easier to pay the small amount once each year than it is to let it accumulate and pay the larger amount at a later date. In the long run it has to be paid even if the courts have to be called upon to make the collection. To those in arrears we again ask that this matter be given attention. If necessary to remit by mail use postal note or money order and retain the receipt you get from the post office.

Gathering in Their Surplus Millions

Complaints are heard from several points along this division of the C.P.R. that stations, ticket and express offices are closed very early in the afternoons, often within a quarter or half an hour of the arrival of passenger trains, depriving the traveling public of all those services when of the most value. The company benefits in the saving of wages which would otherwise have to be paid as overtime to their eight hour-day staff. It is just one more little incident in soaking the public for the railway's fifteen million dollar surplus granted by the Railway Commission through increased rates.

Not All in Ontario

A survey of the farmers in Ohio recently completed shows a net decrease of 60,000 in the number of men and boys over 15 years of age working on farms in that State for the year ending last June. The survey was made by W. F. Callander, agricultural statistician for the United States Bureau of Crop Estimates, and covered from 100 to 200 farms in every county of the State, selected at random. The report shows that for every man who returned to farm life during the year, seven left it for other employment. Based on the returns received, it is estimated that there are now about 410,000 men and boys actually working on farms, compared to 470,000 a year ago, and approximately 500,000 three years ago. Of this number 70,000 were reported to be hired for wages this year, compared to nearly 100,000 a year ago, showing that about half of those who quit farming during the year were hired men.

The survey also shows an estimated total of 29,000 vacant habitable houses on farms this year, compared to 18,000 a year previous. That part of the report covering the number of abandoned farms has not been tabulated. The investigation also shows that of the total number of farms in the State which changed hands last year, 80 per cent. were purchased by actual farmers who are living on them, while only 20 per cent. were purchased for speculation or by men who purchased them to rent to others. The bulk of the farms sold were purchased by native Americans, except in the northeast counties, where the purchase of many farms by persons of foreign birth is reported.

The Unknown Dead.

England has many noble monuments but only one national shrine. Westminster Abbey is the heart of the British nation. The spot on which it stands has been hallowed by religious associations since Roman times, and the present building has seen more solemn and impressive ceremonies than any other building in the world. There the sovereigns of the empire are crowned, and there are held the funeral services that mark the finis of their little chapters of history. There many of them are buried, and hither, to fellow with them for all time, are borne the ashes of the great dead from every field of human achievement.

With that sense of what is fitting and that instinct for spiritual values that have always been the great strength of the nation, Great Britain on Armistice Day laid another body in Westminster Abbey; not, this time, the body of one whose achievements for the race have been recognized and set down to his honor, but one whose name is known to no living man, and never will be known; the body of an unidentified British soldier who fell in battle, and whose remains were brought home to his native land from France.

The place of burial had been prepared and a cenotaph was covered with a veil, Just at eleven o'clock—the hour when the firing ceased two years ago—the veil parted, and for two minutes all England stood uncovered and silent. The solemn service gave expression to what no man would have ventured to put into words, and the Unknown Dead was one of the immortals of England.

No more beautiful or spiritually significant tribute was ever paid to human dust. It was the public acknowledgement by a nation of the debt it owes to those whose services by their very magnitude made any pay impossible. It was also a personal acknowledgement to every family from which a member remains still missing and unaccounted for that their country recognizes their sacrifice and is grateful and will not forget; for there is not one such family that cannot and will not comfort itself with the thought that its own dear dead is that unknown soldier of the Abbey.

Forever unknown, forever mute, he will be known wherever men use his [illegible] tongue; and to generations [illegible] he will sp[illegible] of patriotism [illegible]nd sac[illegible]re eloquently [illegible]ke before.—

Your Victory Bond.

Some people who are bemoaning the fact that their Victory Bonds are not to-day worth their face value in the open market, are forgetting some things.

Everybody who bought Victory Bonds entered into a contract to loan the Government of Canada—their own Government—a certain sum of money for a certain number of years for the purpose of carrying on the war in defence of Canada. The purchase of these bonds was a patriotic duty.

The Government agreed to pay interest on this money and to repay the loan in full on the expiry of the specified term. The Government of Canada will carry out its part of the contract to the letter; the purchasers of the bonds should endeavour to keep their part of the contract

If any purchasers find themselves financially unable to fulfil their share of the bargain, they can pass the obligation to others. The difference between the face value of the bonds and the price at which they can sell them now, is simply the price they pay for being relieved of their contractual obligations.—Ottawa Journal.

Interesting Fact Regarding Fox Raising

Some interesting facts regarding fox farming are forthcoming from the Veterinary Director General, Dr. Torrance. In an article in the Agricultnral Gazette of Canada for Novemder he tells us that the main difficulty connected with the raising of foxes in captivity is the protecting of them from disease. It is noticeable that the female instead of giving birth to a litter of four or five at a time, as she does when free, rarely produces more than two, the average for the farms in Prince Edward Island being at the rate of one and a half. Individual fox ranchers, however by care and improved methods do succeed in securing an increase of three or even four per pair. With a view to making this success more general, unber the direction of Dr. Torrance, research work has been undertaken. Land and epnipment have been acquired, two scientific experts from the Health of Animals Branch employed, six pairs of foxes from the Island ranches furnished and a small laboratory fitted up for the studying of the diseases and parasites that affect the animals.

Perfectly True

The two comrades were in a poetical frame of mind·

"Here's one to you, Jack," said Tom. "In the dark and dreary sky, a silver lining you will spy, waiting till the clouds roll by."

"Not bad," retorted Jack, "but here's a better one: Last night you were on a night-shift—I took your girl for a stroll."

"It doesn't rhyme," put in Tom.

"I know that," said Jack, "but its a fact, all the same."

Ontario Farmers Taking In Swine

Some farmers have been quick to grasp the lesson for 1921 in the sharp decline lately in the number of breeding sows. A canvas of hog breeders in Ontario in the last two weeks shows that the trade in young stock to replenish the supplies on farms has not for many years been more active than this Fall. One well-know breeder in Ontario states that he is almost sold out. With twenty-five years' knowledge of the Canadian bacon trade he attributes this to the fact that farmers have come to understand that there is "sure money" for the man who can breed for litters next Spring.

Yet the awakening has to go further. In some sections of the Prairie Provinces the drop was as much as 60 to 75 per cent., compared with two years ago. In the Eastern and Maritine Provinces also marked reductions have been recorded. Not until every farmer understands that it is best ao keep or secure and to breed at once his normal number of sows will conditions begin to be steadied.

The importance of a quick recovery cannot be over-emphasized. The great harvest of feed grains now available will largely be disposed of at a loss if not feed to livestock. Prices for hogs to-day compare more favourably with the prices of grains than for some time and the demand exceeds the marketings. Canadian overseas markets demand steady support if they are not to be lost.

In no line of livestock is the supply so cut down. It is already certain that the hog prices and consequently bacon prices will remain comparatively high next year.

Whatever is done to restore supplies must be done quickly. The breeding season for pigs begins in the first week in November and continues only until about the middle of December, If the opportunity is allowed to slip the recovery in numbers will be so retarded that our present cheap feeds will be still more cheapened, leading to loss.

Worst Famine in Forty Years

A calamity of the first magnitude has befallen the Chinese people in the form of the worst famine in forty years. More than fifty eight millions of people are affected over a territory seven hundred miles long and three hundred and fifty miles wide.

There are nearly two thousand deaths daily and the situation is growing worse hourly. The outlook for the Winter is appalling and threatens a monumental tragedy. Only the most prompt and most generous assistance from all parts of the world can avert the most serious catastrophe in the history of modern China.

Two hundred million dollars are needed most urgently to save even a portion of the afflicted people from death.

The famine area consists of three hundred and fifty-two districts in the Provinces of Chih-Li and Honan, where forty millions are starving, with fourteen millions at the point of death whom nothing will be able to save.

The above information comes from a very authentic source in very close touch with conditions in China. The deepest and most poignant tragedy prevails in the stricken area despite the recent series of soaking rains which have transformed the countryside, in which, however, nothing edible is growing.

The crops of the entire countrysides have failed, and there is no hope for relief from the ground until next June at the earliest.

The peasants are selling their last remaining bits of their clothes and furniture, and even their children for a few dollars in order to purchase seed for the new crop. Authentic cases are recorded in the village of Hwang Lo, in which one hundred families resided, and which is now almost deserted, in which boys, girls and intants in arms have been sold, the boys for two dollars and the girls for two dollars and fifty cents. The remainder of the people are eating roots, husks, chaff, bark thistle, tree leaves and meat of mules too old to be sold. Cholera is prevalent.

Similar conditions prevail throughout the stricken area. Terror is injected into the situation by the operations of bandits, who are now scouring the country, robbing the stricken inhabitants of their last slim possessions. The heads of families are poisoning or drowning their wives and families and then killing themselves to avoid certain death by starvation or at the hands of the bandits.

The famine is a result of the Spring crop failure, due to the deficiency of snow during the Winter time and the lack of rain in the earlier months of this year, resulting in no seed for the Autumn crops.

While all this has been happening the rest of China is highly prosperous, and the volume of foreign trade exceeds all rec.. but no aid has been given the affl.. their richer neighbours, and even the Government is not very energetic in relief work, spending more time ..tempting to collect the taxes which ..people are unable to pay.

Reforestation Demonstration Tracts

The Provincial Minister of Agriculture has, through the district representatives of the department, announced a plan for the establishment of plots in the different townships of Ontario showing the benefits that may be gained by a system of reforestation of tracts of unproductive land with trees suitable to the situation, which in the course of years will become a valuable wood lot.

If a municipality will secure a tract of from five to ten acres and have it fenced properly, the Government will develope it as a demonstration of what can be done in making an otherwise useless piece of land bear in the course of a number of years a valuable stand of timber.

The government will bear all the expenses in the developement while any profits accruing will go to the township.

The secretary of the Cornwall Cheese Board reports that during the past season 3,185 boxes of white and 52,177 of colored cheese were sold on the board at an average price of 26½ cents. $1,246,984 was the amount received for the cheese.
