: Hockey News :

Over the past week end the Ottawa entry, due to lack of talent and financial assistance folded and were replaced on Tuesday night by Embrun Panthers in a regular scheduled game which Morrisburg won 2-0 on goals scored by Gord McMillan and Pat Brophy. It was a very fast skating and checking game with only 10 minor penalties 6 for Morrisburg and 4 for Embrun, Bob Carkner having his first shut-out of the season, but credit must be handed also to Wayne Hughes of Embrun who was out shot 39 to 22 and was the only reason the score was not higher for Morrisburg. Embrun's new team captain "Terry Kelly" was unable to make a move as his old teammates covered him very tightly.

The Combines travel to Embrun Thursday, December 11th and to Shawville Sunday, December 14th for a 2 o'clock afternoon game.—Their next games at home are Friday, December 19th with Kemptville Royals and Sunday, December 21st at 2 o'clock with Shawville Pontiacs.

Morrisburg Combines handed Renfrew North-Stars a 6-3 loss Sunday afternoon. It was a bad week for the league leader, Renfrew having lost also to Embrun and Shawville.

Combines led 2-0, after the first and then 4-2, Lyle Ellis led the team with a pair of goals, with singles by Bryan Armstrong, Mel Tomalty, Paul Davidson and Pat Brophy. Jim Cotnam picked up 2 for the Stars and one by Gary Eady.

13 minors were handed out, 6 to the Stars.

Combines are still short Big Doug Casselman, who suffered an injury on November 21st.

At a meeting held to discuss changing of the schedule due to Ottawa dropping out, it was decided that all games played with Ottawa be washed out and that the present schedule not be changed until the new year. Look for a revised schedule next week.

Syracuse Stars play in Morrisburg Sunday December 28th for their only game here in the regular schedule. Game time 2 o'clock. Mrs. Phillips, owner of the club assures us that they will have a full line-up due to old rivalries between the two teams. This promises to be one of the best games in town this year.

John Kelly of the Prescott Barons management was the winner of the Grey Cup ticket draw.

Revised standings of the teams and players will be available next week.

Morrisburg Lions after being tied with Prescott for first place, again took over the victory spot with a 7-1 swamping of Winchester.

Lions led 2-0 after the first period and 4-1 after the 2nd. Sam Locke surprised everybody last week with his first goal of his career. Sunday he added his second goal — much to the delight of the team's fans.

Tom Whelan scored a hat trick for the Lions with singles by Roger Morrell, Sam Locke, Brian McNairn and Gary Hess. Rae Armstrong scored Winchester's only goal at 19:45 of the 2nd period to spoil a shut out for young 13 yr. old pee wee, Don McNairn. Don replaced Doc Jones who was on the sick list.

17 minors were handed out, 8 to the Lions plus a misconduct to Gary Hess in the first period.

December 10, Prescott at Morrisburg.

December 14, Metcalfe at Morrisburg.

Morrisburg Lions of the St. Lawrence Jr. B. Hockey League took a firmer hold on first place with a 9-5 win over Cardinal Broncos.—Lions lead the league with 14 pts., Prescott 11, Alexandria and Cardinal 9 each, Winchester 6 and Metcalfe in the cellar with 5.

Lions led 5-2 after the first period and 6-4 after the second. Gary Hess, Ken Morrow and Tom Whelan each scored a pair for the Lions with singles by Bill Lawlor, Roger Morrell and Brian McNairn. — Danny Adams scored a pair for the Broncos with Allan Bailey, Brian Clifford and Rick Farmer supplying singles.

9 minors were handed out, with 5 to the Broncos.

Lions will host teams on December 10th and Metcalfe on Sun. the 14th.

BELL LINES

by Bob Harrison, your telephone
manager

Looking for Christmas gift ideas? May I suggest a few telephone items that could solve the puzzle of what to get for whom and make your Christmas shopping that much easier.

Extension telephone, available in a range of colors and models, are always a hit and offer convenience all year round. Or, for a gift to please the whole family and solve the problem of the "always busy" phone, why not a second telephone with a separate line and a different number? Additional directory listings make good teenage "stocking fillers" and, like extensions and second lines, can be enjoyed throughout the year. Another idea that could be just the thing for someone on your list — a Long Distance gift certificate made out for whatever amount you wish to give.

One of the great things about these items is they can be ordered today and you won't have to tramp through a crowded store looking for them. Just pick up the phone and call our Business Office. Our representative will be glad to help you.

In years past, telephone switchboards often were located right in the home of the Operator. When you rang up "Central" to place a Christmas call in those days, chances were the Operator would leave the turkey, connect your call and be back working on the dressing before you could say "Merry Christmas". Of course switchboards today are far removed from the domestic scene. But even though you won't hear gravy sizzling in the background, you'll find there's a full staff of Operators on deck on Christmas and New Year's to make sure your Long Distance calls get through And don't forget, you can avoid the Christmas and New Year's calling rush by placing your calls in the week between these two big days. Low Long Distance rates are in effect weekdays after 6 p.m. and all day Sunday. And if you are calling from an area with Direct Distance Dialing you can save yourself time by placing your own calls.

And to all our customers, best wishes for the holiday season. May 1970 be a year of happiness for you all.

DONALD C. MacDONALD, M.P.P.,
Ontario Leader
New Democratic Party

The position that private corporations are free to do as they please within the boundaries of the Criminal Code is an old one. Many people in North America believe that corporations must be allowed to make their own rules and regulations, and that any governmental regulation of the economy is an unwise, almost sinful act. Free competition and free enterprise, it is said, must be protected at all costs.

The present Conservative Government in Ontario is very devoted to this notion. Over the past month, the Premier, Mr. Robarts, has made it abundantly clear that his Government does not believe in any interference with the pricing policies of private corporations In the face of highly inflationary price increases in the steel industry and in the nickel industry, the Robarts' regime refuses to even contemplate any action. The mildest proposals which would merely ensure that these companies are required to publicly justify their price increases, are turned down by the Conservataives. Why? To protect free enterprise is the monotonous refrain of the Conservative answer.

Just what is this free enterprise that we are so busy protecting in Ontario. Is it the system that allows a man to set himself up in business where he can use his savings and creative energy to provide goods and services to the public? Of course not. In fact, in Ontario today, it is much harder for a small businessman to get started or to keep his business going. The free enterprise which Mr. Robarts talks about is not concerned with small or medium sized companies, but rather with the giants, with the oil companies, the nickel companies and the steel companies, most of them, incidentally, American owned.

Surely there is no free enterprise involved with these industries. Surely when a few giant producers control a particular commodity, the Government acting as the designated representative of the people, has a responsibility to ensure that these producers operate in the public interest.

Yet, Mr. Robarts doesn't see it this way. He refuses to act, and in refusing he makes it harder for the rest of us, whether we work in an office or factory, whether we farm or own a small business, to keep up with the spiraling cost of living.

In addition, this refusal to be concerned with the actions of large corporations often leads to absurdity. Just last week the Government of Ontario announced that it was going to permit the private insurance companies in this Province to keep monies built up in their premium reserve accounts from medical insurance plans. These reserves were contributed by thousands of men and women who purchased medical insurance. They are obviously no longer needed by the insurance companies now that the Goervnment, through OHSIP, pays the medical bills. Yet, instead of requiring the insurance companies to return this money to the people who provided it, instead of requiring the insurance companies to hand this money, which was not theirs in the first place, over to the public, the Robarts Government chooses to do nothing, thereby allowing these companies to keep this money.

Clearly there are scandalous aspects to this whole position of refusing to make any rules for the large corporations. It has been estimated that the private insurance companies will keep some $30 million by this refusal to act. This is scandalous, and I intend to do whatever is necessary and possible to force the Government to change its mind, and to require the return of the money.

In the New Democratic Party we believe that the Government must concern itself with the economy and the actions of private corporations The public interest, in terms of insurance company reserves, and in terms of unjustified price increases, must be protected.

Report from the Ontario Legislature

by:
Fred M. Cass, Q.C., M.P.P.

Much activity in the House and its Committees kept all Members busy this past week. The present Session has lasted now almost a year and one month and all parties seem desirous of finishing up its business so a new Session can commence early in the new year.

The controversial "dog and cat" Bill (No. 194) was before the Standing Committee on Health during the week with all sides vigorously and vociferously putting forward their views. However, the Minister in charge has indicated that legislative action on the Bill will be completed this Session since no solution satisfactory to all parties appears possible.

The estimates for Education and Highways and supplementary estimates were all accepted thus completing supply for the current fiscal year. Debate on the new Landlord and Tenant Act waxed loud and furious and final details of the Bill remain to be settled in Committee next week as the Government has promised passage of this legislation before prorogation. All in all it was a productive week in the Assembly.

The Minister of Health released particulars of the places in Ontario in which government subsidy was available to assist in procuring medical and dental services. Although no areas in our counties were included, (since we have excellent hospital service available, close to all) many nearby centres such as Apple Hill, Casselman, Maxville and Roxborough do appear in the list.

It was announced by the Minister of Agriculture and Food that at our Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology a part-time re-training service for farmers has been introduced to help farmers keep up with developments in modern agriculture. It is to be hoped the farmers of our area will hasten to take advantage of this new program so handy to them and so desirable in these days of change.

As this Session draws to its conclusion, a check of statistics by Mr. Speaker shows that there have been 106 Grade VII and Grade VIII school boys from all over Ontario who have served the Legislature as Pages. Of them, four have been from Grenville-Dundas and your Member is anxious to increase this representation and would like to hear from lads in these two grades with 80 per cent scholastic standing who are interested!

Tax Exemption For Bazaars Raised to $5,000

By The Honourable John White, Minister of Revenue

Mr. Speaker, I should like to announce a change in the Retail Sales Tax Regulations affecting bazaars and rummage sales which will be welcomed, I think, by all Members.

At one time these sales were exempted from retail sales tax completely but this exemption was exploited to the extent that some control became necessary to protect legitimate commercial outlets.

This control was achieved by restricting the exemption to those bazaars and rummage sales held by religious, charitable or benevolent organizations at which the total receipts did not exceed $500.

Experience has proven that this amount is now unduly restrictive to those charitable activities which are increasing each year in this Province in number and in volume of sales. For that reason, I am pleased to inform the House that the exemption will be raised from $500 to $5,000 of total sales.

This change will become effective on December 1st, 1969.

Those Christmas problems

DEAR DORIS — Is it better to give a Christmas basket or to give the money to a family? I am thinking of a widowed mother who is getting welfare assistance in order to raise her four children.

She cannot afford any extras, and I'd love to have a hand in making sure that they have a happy Christmas. I just don't know how to go about it, without offending them.

Walking On Eggs

DEAR WALKING — People don't starve — like they used to. Not in Canada. But money can be pretty short for a mother who is raising a family without earned income. She is the one who knows exactly what her children want and need, and the kind of food they will consider a treat.

Visit her as a friend, at a time when you can be alone with her. Ask her to let you share in the fun she will have by supplying a little of the money she is going to spend.

This way the gift is a secret. She and you are in conspiracy to play Santa Claus.

And none of the neighbors can peep out from behind their curtains to see a Christmas basket being delivered to that home on Christmas Eve.

DEAR DORIS — I am a 17-year-old girl, fairly normal in most respects except that I have for some reason developed a powerful crush on my first cousin. He is 19.

I see quite a lot of him in the holidays and until recently, we had a lot of fun doing things together, but now I can hardly speak to him and when we do talk, it's like a pair of strangers meeting for the first time.

I'm dating two other boys intermittently but I can't get worked up over either of them as I am for my cousin. I know it's unnatural and I should forget him, but unfortunately this is biologically impossible!

Can't Stand It

DEAR CAN'T — Who said it was unnatural? First cousins are people too.

What makes it different and sometimes devastating to teenage calm, is the nearness, the informality of the relationship. Because he is your cousin you are thrown together at family affairs, and he is welcomed where you are in a way that no other friend is accepted.

Add to this his two-year advantage over you in polish, and you may well find him irresistible.

Better keep your cool. Go out with heaps of other boys. Crushes have a way of wearing off with competition.

DEAR DORIS — Have you heard about the Sturrock Tours? There is a couple in Vancouver who have been instrumental in getting a heap of elderly people out of their ruts and off on adventures. They call the trips "Passports At Sixty."

Even handicapped people go, sometimes. A woman with arthritis, a man on two crutches, a young woman in a wheel chair (with her own companion helping her); they all flew or sailed far from home, with one of these groups.

I went on one myself and haven't stopped talking yet about the fun I had.

Nearly Eighty

DEAR NEARLY — Yes. And there was a man almost totally blind who went with one group. A good deal depends on the individual — just how much git-up-and-go he has but there are ways to get around, if you've a mind to.

I'll give details about the Tours to anyone writing in.

DEAR DORIS — What happens if an unmarried mother has her baby and then the baby dies a few minutes after birth? Is there a funeral or anything?

Wondering

DEAR WONDERING — Every baby who lives, however briefly, is respected as a sacred living soul. This is regardless of marital or financial status of the mother.

In Catholic hospitals, any foetus which survives past three months is given the right of baptism, even though it has never lived outside of its mother's womb. Non-sectarian hospitals have an equal regard for life, disposing of a child respectfully according to its parents' wishes. This usually means burial by a funeral director.

CHRISTMAS THE MEANING OF

What does Christmas mean:
Much gay and gaudy glitter,
A sip or two from savory cup,
A tingle and a titter?

What does Christmas mean;
A Time To Meet And Greet:
To give to all the old glad hand,
And sophistries repeat?

What does Christmas mean:
A time of reckless spending:
Buying things that no one needs
Through purchases unending?

What does Christmas mean:
A gorging at the table,
A time for music and for song
Recounting an old fable?

What does Christmas mean:
A giving and a taking?
I'm sure for some 'tis little fun,
But rather sad heart breaking.

What does Christmas mean:
A day for fatter living,
Or does it teach that we should be
More gracious and forgiling?

What does Christmas mean:
Gift giving and receiving?
Is it not better on this day
That we be want relieving?

What does Christmas mean:
Just careless jubilation,
Or does it call for earnest prayer
And solemn meditation?

What does Christmas mean?
A time to Faith renew,
For spreading Joy and Happiness,
And all with Hope imbue.

What does Christmas mean?
That we should practice Love
The Son of God above.
Exemplified by Jesus Christ

Only Industry Gone From Newington

Closing down the Kraft Foods Ltd. plant at Newington and removal of production to Ingleside removes the only industry in the village. The plant manjufactured cheddar and Swiss cheese, the only one in Canada to produce the latter product.

The village is situated in one of the most productive dairy regions in Eastern Ontario, and early attracted the attention of enterprising cheese manufacturers. The first plant was built in 1874 on the road to Finch, and the first one in the village was established by William Wood in 1886.

Its location was on the west side of the creek around lot 25 or 26. In a cheese from this factory was exhibited at the Chicago World's Fair and scored 99½ points out of a possible 100. This factory burned July 12, 1902.

In 1904 Henry Bowman built a factory alongside the New York Central track and station on the east side of the village. His factory produced cheese for 22 years until 1926, when he sold out to Robert Smith, who was also an experienced cheesemaker.

By this time the larger companies were taking notice of the Newington area, and Mr. Smith sold to Kraft Foods Ltd. in 1836. The company soon began what became the sole industry of the illage and the centre of its economic well being.

The old factory proved inadequate for the new owners and a new one was built in the northwest corner of the village in the same year the business was acquired. Milk was hauled to the plant by trucks and since 1959 by bulk tanks as well. As production is transferred to the new plant there are no plans at present for further use of the plant at Newington.

O.P.P. REPORT

If you are a new owner of a motorized Snow Vehicle, remember that there are Ontario regulations respecting insurance, equipment, driving rules and registration.

A motorized Snow Vehicle must not be operated on a highway unless its operator is insured under a motor vehicle liability policy. The owner is required to produce evidence on request. The operator is not required to have a driver's licence, but no one under the age of 16 years is allowed to drive on a highway.

The operator of a motorized snow vehicle must obey the rules of the road.

Motorized snow vehicles are completely prohibited on Highway 401, MacDonald Cartier Freeway.

Extra care should be taken when operating a snow venicle to ensure that no damage is done to property. In past years, fences have been cut and small shrubs damaged or destroyed by thoughtless people whi operating snow vehicles.

We have already heard of people being killed with snow vehicles as a result of being involved in accidents with motor vehicles, — while other people have drowned as a result of snow vehicles going through thin ice.

Ontario Provincial Police in Dundas County patrolled 10,711 miles while working 969 hours. During this time officers laid 32 charges and issued 39 warnings under the Highway Traffic Act of Ontario.

Officers from Morrisburg and Winchester Detachments investigated 1 theft, 2 Break and Enters and 12 miscellaneous complaints. Three persons were charged under the Liquor Control Act of Ontario while one other person was charged with Impaired Driving.

Officers were kept quite busy on our area highways investigating 13 property damage accidents. Provincial Judge's Court was quiet last week with officers spending 22 hrs in court while registering 54 convictions.

Don't wait for an accident to happen to discover the value of seat belts. Buckle up now — for safety sake.

NOW HEAR THIS

On December 8, 31 talented CBC stars took off via Yukon air transport for their annual pre-Christmas jaunt to Cyprus, to entertain Canadian forces (a contingent of the soon-to-be disbanded Black Watch Regiment) stationed there with the United Nations. These show tours, made possible through the co-operation of the Department of National eDfence, the U.N. and the CBC, have been conducted since 1964.

While there, Tommy Hunter and the gang will tape a TV special for telecast January 18. They'll also tape two radio shows for airing Dec 27 on "On Stage", and Dec. 22 on "After Noon". Several tons of equipment — generators, sets, lights, cameras, tape machines and speakers — preceded the flight of the cast and crew.

On December 21, the finals of the CBC Song Market 1969 will be broadcast live from the CBC's Carlton Studio in Toronto, when the four finalists will be waiting breathlessly for the announcement of the lucky winner who'll get $1350 in prize money plus a recording contract. They mark the climax of the 10-week radio series in which 31 songs were heard. The show will feature a medley of songs that didn't make it, and also a medley of songs by one of the judges, the young American songwriter Jimmy Webb, including Up, Up And Away, Galveston, Wichita Lineman and By The Time I Get To Phoenix. The finals will be taped for telecast Christmas Eve.

What would Christmas be without Charles Dickens? One of the Victorian master's less well known stories will be heard on CBC Stage, Dec. 20 — The Chimes, adopted for radio by Len Peterson and set to music by Morris Surdin (the score runs to 55 pages!). Barry Morse stars as Dickens in the role of narrator.

Theatre 10:30 (Dec. 22, 23, 25 and 26) takes a look at the lighter side of the season in A Christmas Collage, a four-part revue written and masterminded by Don Cullen. The cast is headed by the real Santa — in person. The skits provide An Illustrated Lecture on the 12 Days of Christmas and A Summer Works Program for Department Store Santas, among others.

For the 21st year in a raw, Handel's Messiah will be heard on Christmas Eve from Toronto's Massey Hall by the Toronto Symphony and the Toronto Mendelssohn Choir Soloists are soprano Lois Marshall; tenor Leopold Simoneau; baritone Donald Bell; and counter- tenor Theodore Gentry.

Last year Bruno Gerussi featured on his program a Christmas Creole Mass, Misa Criolla, by the Argentinian composer Ariel Ramirez. It was so well received that it will be heard again on Christmas Day. Good music to open presents by.

CBC radio's Christmas fare comes from all parts of the country, from St. John's to B.C. Okanagan Noel is a view of the Nativity through the eyes of the Canadian Indian. It's followed by Parka In: A Pine Tree, original stories and poems about the north, and Christmas With The Friendly People, choral music by northern choirs of Eskimo, Indian and white singers.

While a student at Mountain District High School, Bonnie was active in athletics, drama, school newspaper, student government and other activities. She is also active in church and community groups. Bonnie is presently enrolled in the Faculty of Science at Carleton University where she will major in Chemistry.

The book we'd like most to have on a desert island is one that tells how to make a radio transmitter out of sea shells and gull feathers.

Beware, Pierre, beware

The Sixties may go down as the decade the politicans took on the press.

When Pierre Elliott Trudeau decided to date a girl in London, the British and Canadian press had a field day, interviewing the girl and having her comment on the PM. Mr. Trudeau lashed out at the "snoopers" and issued a veiled threat that if they didn't leave him alone, then perhaps it was time their private lives were investigated.

Neither side backed down but since that outburst, there has been little in the way of interviews with the PM's lady friends in the Canadian press. In fact, when he snuck out of Ottawa early for a date with "Funny Girl", Barbra. Streisand, the Ottawa press corps was caught flatfooted. The public was left guessing on Miss Streisand's opinion of our Prime Minister.

In the United States, the press and Spiro Agnew are going to it with gloves off.

Mr. Agnew has probably been ridiculed more than any vice-president.

Cartoons of Mr. Agnew in the form of a puppet held by the president appear regularly. When Mr. Nixon went on his quick trip around the world, some of the cartoons in the large U.S. newspapers were brutal. The vice-president was depicted as a retarded person who couldn't even be trusted to let the dog out on time.

But starting with a major speech in the midwest, Mr. Agnew has lashed back. Obviously, the president found that it was safer for the vice-president to attack, and the results were the same. The Agnew call to the "silent majority" to speak out, rallied the supporters of the Vietnam war and probably resulted in a crackdown on violence by the organizers of the November moratorium in Washington.

At Des Moines, Iowa, Agnew took on the television networks, accusing them of slanting news coverage and abusing their power over public opinion. What apparently turned him on was the treatment given President Nixon by the three U.S. networks following his Vietnam speech.

"The audience of 70-million Americans — gathered to hear the president — was inherited by a small band of network commentators and self-appointed analysts, the majority of whom expressed in one way or another, their hostility to what he had to say."

Such words coming strictly from Agnew would be dismissed as yet another example of the man from Maryland putting his foot in. But according to Newsweek magazine, the speech was part of a Nixon crusade. In fact, according to the magazine, presidential aide Patrick Buchanan drafted the speech.

Next on the Agnew-Nixon target practice program were the New York Times and Washington Post. This speech was delivered in Montgomery, Ala., and any attack on the New York Times is certain to draw cheers there. After all, didn't the New York Times attack the citizens of Alabama for their stand on segregation, and didn't the governor of that fine state label the brass of the Times "pinkies."

So Agnew was applauded when he pointed out that other papers gave front page prominence to support from both parties for President Nixon's Vietnam policy. "Yet the New York Times, which considers itself America's paper of record, did not carry a word. Why?

"If a theology student in Iowa should get up at a PTA luncheon in Sioux City and attack the president's Vietnam policy, my guess is that you would probably find it reported somewhere next morning in the New York Times."

(Actually, the Times missed one edition with the story on Congress support.)

The media are hitting back at Agnew, just as many did at Trudeau when he tried to gag the press on tours and to shut off news sources in government.

The CBC National News, we thought, gave Agnew the best shaft. Don Harron said a big fire in Maryland had not been reported by the CBC.

"The library of Spiro Agnew was destroyed in a fire. What's worse, both books were burned and he hadn't even started to color one of them."

Beware, Pierre. Quit when you are ahead!

FINAL MEETING FOR THIS YEAR IS HELD BY HOSPITAL AUXILIARY

Thirty-four members from the various units of Chesterville, Golden Valley, Melvin-Annable, Metcalfe, Morewood, Ormond, Summers-Cass Bridge, and Winchester answered the Roll Call at the last meeting of the year for the women's Auxiliary held in the Board Room of the Memorial Hospital in Winchester on Thursday last.

Short but pithy reports from Legris and Mr. Stel showed the affairs of the hospital to be in flourishing condition with an 87.5 per cent over-all occupancy: 834 outpatients treated and 811 treatments in Physiotherapy, to mention a few relevant figures. Mr. Stel announced that the hospital had been awarded again the Certificate of Creditation as a result of a survey conducted in August 1969 by the Canadian Council on Hospital Creditation. Posters are out announcing the particulars of a Home Nursing course, conducted by St. John's Ambullance and leading to a certificate which will qualify the holder for a position in many of the welfare agencies such as under V.O.N. or in nursing homes.

Mrs. Max Boyd, Director of Volunteer Services, reported that Morewood members had just completed their two-month's tour of duty, to be followed by the Winchester unit for December and Jan. Mountain unit will man the tuck cart for January.

The chair man of the Purchasing Committee, Mrs. Ledgerwood, showed the value of the auxiliary in providing extra equipment for the hospital when she announced the purchase of two items, an incubator for Pediatrics wing and indoor-outdoor carpeting for the front entrance where it is badly needed.

Mrs. Lyle Marcellus, Chairman of the Historical Committee, had on display valuable records of the growth of the hospital since its beginning in 1948, which are to be kept in a special cabinet in the Hospital Records Room. One key to this cabinet is available from the front office for anyone interested in research.

Further activities in the area units were: a dessert party in Golden Valley, netting over ninety dollars and a food and candy sale in the cafeteria after the meeting by the Morewood unit bringing in over thirty dollars. Card parties, bridge and euchre, are currently in progress in Chesterville with results to be announced on their completion.

A striking quillt, made and donated by Mrs. Percy Durant, was on display and tickets are available from all area directors, the draw to be made early in the New Year.

Mr. H.P. Stel, at the conclusion of the business meeting, showed excellent slides of his summer trip to Holland and England, with a humourous running commentary.

Coffee and cakes served in the cafeteria by Miss Legris, assisted by Mrs. Harold Lannin, brought to a close a busy and enjoyable meeting under the capable direction of the president, Mrs. Colin MacGregor.

DEPARTMENT OF LANDS AND FORESTS

Weekly Report

WHY NATURAL RESOURCES EXTENSION?

According to G.A. Soucie's article "Some Expectations in Forest Land Use", a baby is born in the United States every twelve seconds and a new car is produced every five seconds. In Ontario there aren't as many babies born or cars produced as this, but there certainly are more people with more leisure time using our natural resources every year. This expanding mobile population is largely urban in character, depending heavily on rural land resources for food to eat, raw materials for manufacture in their factories and clean water and unspoiled forests to enjoy. In addition, the biggest percentage of this population is nuder thirty years of age. These factors when combined create an unprecedented demand on our natural resources of soil, water, trees, plants, fish and animals.

In order to make everyone aware of the importance of their natural environment, the Department has been carrying out a comprehensive extension programme in several phases of natural resources management for many years.

In the years ahead because of the nature of our population, and our advanced way of living, natural resources management will be more important than ever before. The Department of Lands and Forests urges everyone to co-operate in this vital management program.

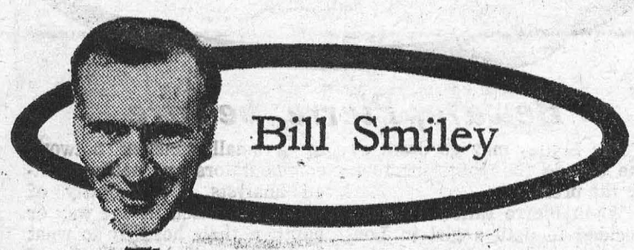
DAIRY HERD WORKER'S COURSE

A course designed to train low income farm operators for employment as Dairy Herd Workers on larger Ontario dairy farms, will commence on Monday, January 12, 1970 at the Kemptville College of Agricultureal Technology. The course will operate 5 days a week for 10 weeks.

Men who are having difficulty in maintaiming an adequate income from their present farms may apply for this course but they must signify their willingness to move to any place in Ontario to accept work. Most of the large dairy farms where help is required at the present time are in Central and Western Ontario.

This course will be financed by the Canada Department of Manpower and Immigration under the Occupational Training for adults program. Persons wishing information on this program should enquire from their Agricultural Representative or the ARDA Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, Box 789, Kemptville, Ont.



They earn their keep

This column is dedicated to my namesake, Bill Smiley, a high school principal in Saskatchewan. He doesn't even read my column, bad cess to him, but his wife does.

Recently, she forced him to listen as she read a column in which I hurled a dart into the raw hides of school administrators. It made him write, but it was a friendly letter and it's nice to hear from you, Cousin Bill.

He must be a cousin. The Smileys, five brothers of them, came out from Ireland during one of the periodic potato famines and with the skill and foresight that has always characterized the name, chose some of the most meagre land in Canada on which to strike it rich.

The crops were mainly stones, with an occasional bonanza of boulders. Most of them had enough dim Irish wit to get out and move West, but my grandfather, with nine kids and no wife, stuck it out and the old family farm is still there in Pontiac, Quebec, pushing up its annual crop of milkweed, burdock and fieldstone.

Cousin Bill must be a descendant of one of the Smileys who went West and starved during The Depression, instead of staying home and almost starving.

We've lost contact completely. But I did meet a chap, Bev Smiley, directly ahead of me in a line-up on a troopship coming home, who turned out to be a son of my father's first cousin, Joe, who went West. Isn't this fascinating?

However, this is not a family history, though I know you're intrigued. It is a heart-felt expression of sympathy for high school principals, like Cousin Bill.

A high school principal is usually a normal human being (though not always) who is caught, not between two grindstones, but four. Grinding from above are the schoolboard and the parents. From below, he is whetted to a fine edge by teachers and students.

Either he emerges keen as an axe, or ground to a pulp. The odd one is smart enough to quit and go back to the classroom before either happens. But most, driven by the insatiable greed of their wives, keep at it until they are punchy.

This is one of their hairiest times of the year. After three months of unbelievable chaos, they have finally got the big, brutal, awkward, maniacal machine, that is a modern high school, running with only the odd fit or start. (Be careful there, linotype operator)

The Board has cut off all expenditures until the new budget is struck in January. The students are becoming unruly. The teachers are completely browned off with Board, principal, students and each other. In short, everything is normal

Then the poor old principal gets three or four resignations from his staff. They are from people who are ill, fed up, or merely going out of their minds.

Where do you pick up, in December, an art teacher who can double in typing? Or a German teacher who is a whiz at German but weighs 200 and must coach the basketball team? Or a history teacher who can pick up a welding class without doing a Nero?

Somehow, they find bodies to put in front of the kids and the show goes on. And the principal takes another giant step, not for mankind, but toward his first coronary.

Bless you, chaps, and have a happy Christmas. It's a job I wouldn't touch with a 20-foot Hungarian, let alone a ten-foot Pole.

"Three years ago, we were caught in the squeeze of rising prices—both of us working and still not really able to save—or have the things we wanted.
"Then we made an investment.
"We invested in chinchilla ranching with the Chinchilla Guild of Canada.
"We found we could start a chinchilla ranch in a spare room—or even our basement! The animals are clean and quiet—and there's no odor. They require very little attention, so we can ranch in our spare time.
"But the dividends are full time.
"For us, it was the answer.
"Yes, an investment in chinchilla ranching through the Chinchilla Guild of Canada might be the answer . . . for extra income . . . for full time income. And you can start for as little as $700 down.
"If you're seriously interested, fill out this coupon and mail it to me today. I'll see you get the full story. No obligation of course.

Ketosis is Metabolic Disorder

Winter is coming and many dairy cows have been moved into their Winter quarters. Moving in with the cows will be ketosis (acetonemia). This seems like an appropriate time to discuss this disorder so that perhaps ketosis can be better understood.

Ketosis is a metabolic disorder and is therefore not contagious nor caused by any organisms. It occurs when a cow's production exceeds her feed intake and mobilizes her body reserves. Fat stores are mobilized in such great quantity that the liver will become fatty and unable to function properly leading to the production of a high LEVEL of ketone bodies. The problem then seems to be initiated by the drain on the blood to supply the necessary sugar to make milk lactose. Sometimes, the condition develops from underfeeding a high producing cow after calving, fat cows at calving time or underfeeding energy or protein. This mobilization of fat is reflected often by a decreased appetite, thus compounding the problem. Also, it has been estimated that one-third of all ketosis cases are complicated with something like retained after birth, uterine infections, milk fever and hardware disease. In these cases, these problems must be eliminated before the cow will recover.

10 days to 6 weeks following calving is when you're most likely to get a ketotic cow with 3 weeks being the most critical time.

A lack of appretite is generally the first symptom; refusing grain first then silage. If offered hay, she MAY eat a little. Most cows with ketosis appear dull, listless and depressed, although some may react "nervously". Lack of co-ordination can occur with the cow weaving when she walks. Of course with the decrease in appetite, she loses weight and her milk production goes down. It must be stressed that these symptoms can be expressed from a slight to a severe degree. Ketone bodies will also be present in the milk and urine.

Prevention becomes very important in regard to ketosis. Some guides to follow are:

1. Avoid having cows Excessively fat at calving. Have the cows in good condition.
2. Give good quality roughages to the cows picking out the best hay for borderline ketosis cows.
3. Bring up her grain ration to meet her production requirements. Most cows can be on full feed in 10 days.
4. Poor quality grass silage high in butyric acid should be avoided.
5. If heavy grain feeding is necessary — feed grain more than 2 times a day.
6. Be certain that sufficient protein and minerals are present.
7. Do not rely on molasses or sugar feeding for prevention or curing of ketosis.
8. Feeding 4-8 oz. day of propylene glycol or sodium proprionate in the grain just before calving for 6 weeks may be helpful in individual problem cases.
9. Make certain that the cow has a clean manger to eat from and that exercise, proper ventilation, and general comfort is provided for.

Treatment of cases

A veterinarian can best decide how to treat individual ketotic cases. It can be noted that research in this field is progressing rapidly to where a possible cure for ketotic cows will be available soon. The Central Experimental Farm in Ottawa is hopeful of its method utilizing a carnotine injection plus a glucose solution in the vein. Pennsylvania State University reports that they have found a ketosis treatment, utilizing methionine—like compounds but more research is necessary to make it conclusive.

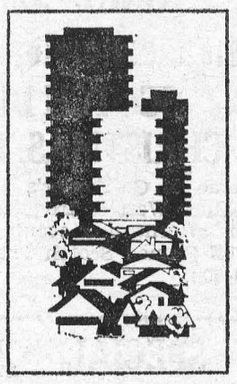
RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY TAX REDUCTIONS FOR 1969

A Special Notice to Tenants and Landlords



Tenants in apartment buildings should receive a little extra money this month under the Ontario Government's property tax reduction system. The system eases the burden of municipal and school taxes on homeowners and tenants. In effect, the Province is paying part of the property taxes for each eligible house and apartment.

Tenants should receive their reductions on or before December 31. Many tenants who vacated premises earlier in the year will have already received their reductions.

Here is what should happen:

IF YOU ARE A LANDLORD...

You must pay the full reduction to tenants who have occupied your premises throughout 1969. Payment must be made on or before December 31, 1969.

A tenant who moved in during the year and is still occupying your premises must receive one-twelfth of the total reduction for each month of tenancy. It must be paid on or before December 31.

A tenant who moved out during the year must receive a similarly proportionate amount within 30 days of the date he terminated his tenancy or on December 31, whichever is earlier.

If a tenant is in arrears, the tax reduction may be deducted from such arrears. However, the reduction must not be withheld because of damages or losses.

IF YOU ARE A TENANT...

You should receive your reduction from your present landlord on or before December 31, 1969.

If you moved out of an apartment during the year and have not yet received your share of the reduction, you should contact your former landlord immediately to make sure he knows where to send your payment.

Tenants in apartment buildings such as duplexes and highrises are usually eligible for the tax reduction. Tenants of flats or basement apartments in houses may not qualify because the premises they rent are not separately assessed. For example, roomers are not eligible. If you are unsure of your status or eligibility, contact your municipal tax office.

IF YOU ENCOUNTER PROBLEMS...

You should either telephone Toronto 363-7501 or write the Municipal Subsidies Branch, Department of Municipal Affairs, 801 Bay Street, Toronto 181. Officials are available to assist you.

Pamphlets outlining details of the 1969 tax reduction system can be obtained on request.
