Get involved

Fire departments across Canada this week are asking citizens to get involved in fire prevention. Fire Prevention Week is being held this year from Oct. 6-12, and includes a national fire drill today.

Russell parents want school kept French

RUSSELL — Arguing that their culture is being threatened and their children poorly served by an open system, a group of parents are asking the Prescott-Russell Separate School Board to restrict the number of English students entering St. Joseph, a Fench elementary school in Russell.

Jocelyne Seguin and Vincent Marquis, backed by a petition of 200 names, brought their case before the school board in mid-September and sat on a panel with board members and trustees last week at the school where the situation was discussed with more than 100 parents.

The meeting was arranged to allow all concerned a chance to express their views before the board makes a decision. Director Jean Paul Scott said the fate of the school would be decided before registration for the 1986-87 school year is held in May.

Seguin and Marquis read the text of the presentation made to the board earlier, explaining how the French parents found the enrolment at St. Joseph has tilted in the last few years to the point where francophone children number only 60 in the 300-student school.

The request to the board is not the first — in March 1984 a similar appeal was made, with the board opting to retain the status quo — but the parents are trying again "in order to preserve our culture and transmit it to our children."

Officialy, the school is French. All lessons are in French and an admissions committee serves to ensure that students entering have a knowledge of French that allows them to function in class.

But the petition group argues that admissions have become lax and a modified program in the lower grades hinders progress of francophone students while the English polish their French.

The French parents supporting the petition would like to see strict admission requirements that would ensure a solid French school, and a separate school offering French immersion for English students.

Backers of the plan stated on numerous occasions that they had no quarrel with the English, that they were at odds with the board for allowing the school to change so much that the needs of neither group are being met.

But the English parents couldn't agree. Many rose to describe how well the children get along in school, and how happy they are that they can become bilingual. Marquis, who chose to send one of his children to a French school in Embrun to bypass the English influence, said he can understand the feeling of the English community, but remains adamant that education is suffering.

"It's a golden opportunity for (the English children) to learn French and I can understand the parents perfectly," said Marquis. "I would probably do the same thing in their position. But I think the French are getting the short end of the stick.

"We're not asking a great deal, we just want the school to be what it was supposed to be in the first place."

He said the school population would number about 100 if it housed only francophone students. At one time it served only 100 but with the growth of Russell Township all the schools are now resorting to portables, and the petitioners are hoping a new school is built and the language matter settled at that time.

The English parents argued that the time the French children spend at school isn't enough to erode their culture. Several francophone parents added that culture is fostered at home and before the night was over three members of the crowd asked to have their names stroked from the petition in disgust.

The meeting lasted more than three hours, with much of the time spent translating comments from French to English. Board chairman Bernard Clavel raised a stir early in the evening when he was asked to translate what he had said in French. He complied after stating it was the first time that he, as a francophone in a French school, had to translate anything into English.

Although the meeting was charged throughout the night, there were no clashes and board members emerged with the information they were seeking. Director Scott said it was a "good opportunity to hear what the parents want."

He said Russell would definitely be in line for additional school space, but can't predict what the nature of St. Joseph will be next year. The board met in Hawkesbury on Tuesday night to decide what steps it will take in making a decision, and a move to conduct a study of the area seems a likely choice.

It was hinted at the Russell meeting that a study of the Russell area would be used to determine patterns for the next few years to aid in the final decision. A committee of board members, principal Reynald Lapointe, teachers and members of the public was suggested to undertake the study.

The number of parents in favor of a strictly French school, the number of families moving to Russell and impact on culture are factors the study would consider. Regardless of the outcome, Scott said the parents have numerous options.

"I think the fact that the school has grown to over 300 students is a good sign. If the parents aren't pleased with the way the school is, then that's a decision they have to make."

Scott said there are "all kinds of possibilities," including sending English students to Metcalfe and French students to Embrun.

Wanta buy an apple?

Members of the first Winchester Cubs and Beavers braved Saturday's cold, rainy conditions to carry out their annual apple day blitz. David Baker (7 years), Dan Adams (11 years), and four-year-old Larry Bierworth combined forces as they canvassed the village's east end. Adams reported business was brisk but little Larry seemed to be the best salesman, pushing his Macs at $1 apiece. Funds raised on apple day are used to support Scouting activities in Winchester.

Mane event

The 129th edition of the Metcalfe Fair ran last weekend with the weather co-operating for most of the four-day event. Showers hit on Saturday but several televisions were on the fairgrounds and visitors took the opportunity to watch the Blue Jays win their first pennant while waiting for the skies to clear. There were plenty of competitions other than baseball and results of most of them can be found inside.

Empey benefit

Organizers of a benefit for Leroy Empey and family say there are still about 75 tickets remaining for a dance in South Mountain Friday night. The benefit, with entertainment provided by Music Master DJ, is to assist the Empeys following a fire at their home last month. Tickets may not be available at the door, but can be obtained through Dave Bryan or Bob Williams.

Meat exports hurt, NormWarner tells EEC

CORNWALL — Stormont-Dundas MP Norm Warner took Canadian farmers' concerns to Strasbourg, France last week as he delivered a speech to the council of Europe.

Arriving in France Sunday, September 29 accompanied by Liberal senator Renaud Lapointe and Jack Ellis, MP for Prince Edward-Hastings, Warner made a seven-minute presentation during the council's debate on activities of the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD). In addition to discussing the need for greater liberalization in international trade, Warner told the council that European imports are threatening the livelihood of Canadian farmers.

Warner said the Common Agricultural Policy (CAP) subsidizes the production of European farmers. The European Economic Comunity's exports of pork to Canada were up 225 per cent in 1984 compared to 1983, while the EEC's exports of all meats — fresh, chilled or frozen — rose by 305 per cent in 1984 over 1983. "I cannot fail to mention to the European parliamentarians present today the fact that Canada, like Australia, New Zealand and the United States considers the Community CAP system to be a severely distorting element in international agricultural trade," Warner told the council in his speech October 1. "In sum, the CAP has been very injurious to Canadian cattlemen and farmers; it has affected our access to the Community markets; and it has resulted in increased competition for our exports in third world markets."

Warner suggested that the European Economic Community should consider "radical, new ideas" for the reform of the CAP system and give agriculture a prominent place on the agenda for the next round of talks on the General Agreement on Trade and Tariffs, tentatively scheduled for 1986.

The OECD represents most industrialized countries in the world, including Europe, Autralie, New Zealand and Japan, as well as the United States and Canada.

"I was well received," Warner said Friday. "I had some of the other members who were participating come up to me and say 'we certainly agree with some of the points you made,' even if they were on the other side of the fence."

Winchester Hydro workers battled Hurricane Gloria

WINCHESTER — Sheldon McLeod and Wayde Roles were behind enemy lines last week. The enemy was Hurricane Gloria and the lines were countless power lines dumped by the force of the storm that swept along the eastern seaboard of the United States almost two weeks ago.

McLeod and Roles, journeyman linemen with the Winchester Ontario Hydro unit, were called down to the Boston area on Sept. 29 to help repair some of the mess left by the hurricane. They were joined by 30 other Hydro workers from the Eastern Ontario region, several more from the western regions and 103 crews from Quebec.

It was the first time help from Ontario Hydro was requested by the Americans. After arriving in the States the Winchester pair learned that Gloria had brought more damage than her sister Hurrican Hazel did in 1954.

The rescue effort from Canada was requested by U.S. authorities but they forgot to inform customs and the crews were delayed at the Thousand Islands crossing for an hour and a half awaiting working visas.

Once across the border the Canadians ran into the usual expectations that they hailed from the North Pole.

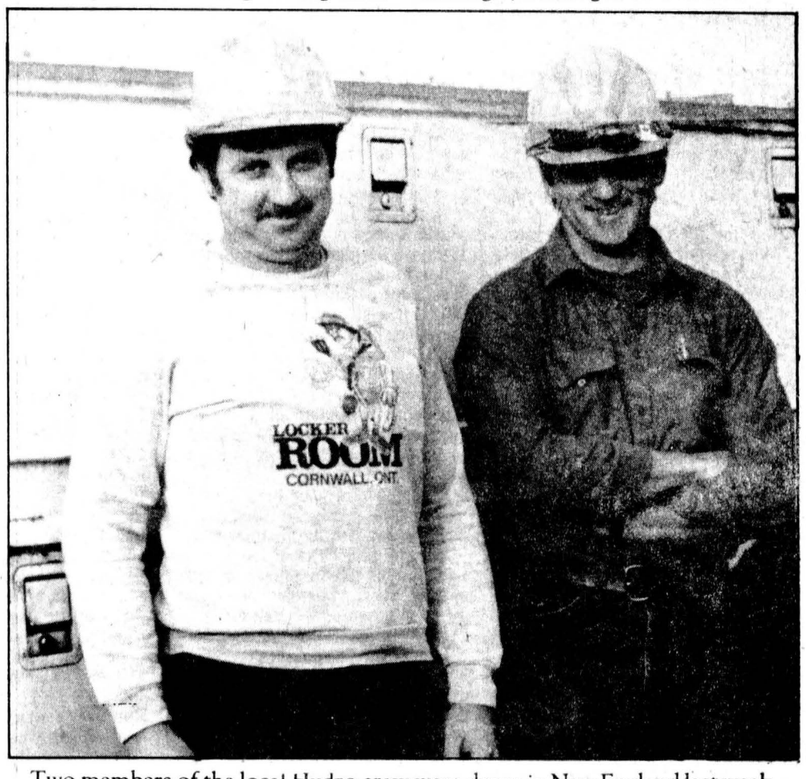
McLeod said the hosts were surprised to find the Canadians spoke English. When they asked how long it took to drive from Canada to Massachusetts, McLeod simply replied that it would have been shorter had they not had to stop to change their snow tires.

The crew from Eastern Ontario concentrated their efforts on the Boston area, though the storm had ravaged the coast from South Carolina to north of Massachusetts. Long Island had been hard hit and 200,000 residents were without power on Rhode Island.

Boston was hit by 100 m.p.h. winds for three hours, but escaped further damage because the storm hit at low tide.

McLeod and Roles, who worked 18 to 20 hour days, said a similar storm here wouldn't have caused as much damage because of superior quality lines.

Most of the crews left the east coast on Friday and McLeod and Roles stayed on a little longer, returning on the weekend.



Two members of the local Hydro crew were down in New England last week helping clean up the wreck of Hurricane Gloria and settle some misconceptions the American hosts had about Canada. Wayde Roles (left) and Sheldon McLeod were the diplomats from Winchester.

SD&G Tories choose delegates for Ontario leadership contest

AVONMORE — Ten local Progressive Conservatives will be travelling to Toronto in November to cast their votes for leader of the provincial party. Most are uncommitted to any of the three leadership candidates.

Chosen at last Friday night's delegate selection meeting, the delegates represent both senior and youth wings of the riding of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. MPP Nobel Villeneuve is an automatic delegate.

Attending the convention as youth delegates will be Grant Groves, a resident of Winchester township and Mariette Frigon. A total of 12 youth party members were present to vote for their representatives. Youth alternate delegates will be Micheline Villeneuve, Moose Creek and Bill Dore, Moose Creek.

Senior delegates elected for the riding will be led by riding association president Gerard Smits, Lancaster. The delegation consists of Grace Langabeer, Morrisburg; Janette Abbey, Lancaster; Yvonne McDonne McDonell, Lancaster township; Jill Alguire, Ingleside; Doug Grenkie, Morrisburg; Basil Dawley, Winchester; Jean-Marc Lefebvre, Alexandria.

Male alternate delegates are Bruno Massie, Alexandria; Archibald McDonnell, Alexandria; James Cook, Chesterville; and Claude Cousineau, Morewood. Alternate delegates for the ladies are in order, Monique McDonell; Beulah Quart, Morrisburg; Elaine Villeneuve, Moose Creek; Liz Grenkie, Morrisburg.

Only one delegate, Morrisburg lawyer Doug Grenkie, has indicated support for any of the candidates. He said at Friday night's meeting he was supporting Larry Grossman in the leadership contest.

The meeting was chaired by eastern Ontario organizer Brian Hocking who told assembled party members "we have to allow this party to unite and it is important at this time to go to the convention and work your very best for the candidate of your choice."

He then told party members to "stand behind you leader 100 per cent as you have in the past."

MPP Noble Villeneuve had a similar message for consituents and party members. Villeneuve, who is supporting Larry Grossman for leader, said all three candidates, Dennis Timbrell; Larry Grossman and Alan Pope were "very, very credible people."

"On the evening of November 16 after we have chosen a new leader and a premier-in-waiting, let's give him our whole-hearted support."

Villeneuve emphasized the need to have a "cohesive party," and to wait out the period of time leading up to an election. He predicted this may occur as soon as next April. He noted Liberal leader David Peterson "has had to make some decisions" and in deciding to raise taxes he said the "chickens are coming home to roost" (for the Liberals).

Firefighting a mutual venture in Counties

Part of the firefighter's job is to rescue accident victims trapped in their cars. Members of the Winchester Fire Department take part in a practice session with extrication equipment. Press Photo—Mitchell

WINCHESTER — Firefighting and rescue services have come a long way in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry and constant upgrading shows no signs of letting up.

The 22 fire departments in SD&G have been members of the Mutual Fire Aid Association for more than 20 years, bringing assistance to neighboring fire scenes and providing backups when departments are called away. The system was designed to save money by providing additional services on a reciprocal basis and co-ordinator Hugh O'Reilly of Cornwall says it has served the United Counties well.

In days gone by a municipality might have offered fire protection for another in return for use of a different service, such as a dump, but today only municipalities with fire departments can be members.

No money changes hands and there is nothing complicated about the service. Any fire chief who arrives at the scene of a fire and decides he needs help can call in a neighboring department for assistance. If additional help is required a call must be forwarded to O'Reilly, who also serves as Cornwall fire chief, and he will then co-ordinate affairs so that the municipalities sending their departments to a fire will be covered by another should a blaze break out while they are away.

O'Reilly said the system has been in place so long here that his job is not very difficult, but meetings are held bi-monthly to keep problems ironed out anyway.

While nothing much has changed in regards to the mutual aid service, the departments of SD&G have steadily improved their equipment reserves and next year will be taking a big step toward better rescue services.

O'Reilly said federal and provincial funds are being made available to municipalities and he fully intends to make use of them. The funds are provided to assist in purchasing heavy extrication gear, which the United Counties plan to disperse among three centres, one in each county.

The province will provide a base sum of $25,000, while the federal government will match the value of existing rescue equipment in the municipality. O'Reilly is currently taking inventory of the existing equipment and plans to have an application for heavy-duty extrication gear in well before the deadline in February 1986.

He said the large number of highways running through SD&G produces heavy commercial traffic that can result in accidents that require extrication equipment not currently available here. Most fire departments already house a basic rescue kit and the new heavy equipment will be stored at three depots, tentatively set for Williamsburg, Long Sault and Alexandria. The new equipment should be in place next year.

Generally, O'Reilly said, the departments in SD&G have done a good job keeping their services upgraded and he credits the municipal councils with realizing the need for expanded fire and rescue equipment. Fires in the past year have been numerous but heavy losses have been avoided for the most part.

Changes in the departments are most notable in the areas of fire prevention. "A few years ago all we did was go in and put out a fire after the fact, but now there is a lot more talk of fire prevention," said O'Reilly. Inspections are far more frequent now and firefighters are more involved in offering advice on how to avoid fires.

A boom in the use of wood stoves in recent years has been a major source of concern because most people aren't aware of how they should be installed. A push on smoke detectors and escape routes is also in effect in an effort to lower Canada's ranking as the country with the highest loss of life in fire-related incidents.

As part of Fire Prevention Week, scores of departments across the country are holding a special session today (Wednesday) at 6pm, to encourage residents to map a route out of their homes in the event of fire.

O'Reilly suggests working out a primary and secondary route of exit and making sure all family members are acquainted with them. As part of the mock emergency a meeting place outside the home should be decided as well to ensure all members are together and to avoid confusion as to whether someone is still in the house or is somewhere else outside the building.

Firefighters across the country are hoping the fire drill will become an annual event, in order to help save lives and make their jobs a little easier.

Co-operation the key

WINCHESTER — In small communities, a disaster can actually draw people closer together. When volunteer firefighters scramble out of bed at 2am to answer an alarm, the sandwiches and coffee flow freely at the scene as neighbors do their part to help out. And when a small rural fire department needs assistance, it can count on help from neighboring municipalities.

According to Winchester village fire chief Dalt Kenney, a veteran of 35 years as a volunteer firefighter, the hallmark of local departments is that everyone works together. When the firemen are called to the scene of an accident to help rescue the victims from the wreck, a good working relationship also exists between the police, ambulance crews and the department.

Kenney said the Winchester department recently received a letter from the local police. "It was a real nice letter saying how it was so nice to work with the fire department because they were so easy to get along with," he said. "We've always worked well together."

At the scene of a major fire, Kenney said, the police are often available to direct traffic. At a large barn fire recently, ambulance crews were on the scene in case they were needed.

Most fire departments in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry are equipped with a basic set of tools for rescuing accident victims, while some departments also have heavier and more expensive equipment. Fire departments have an agreement that the heavy equipment is available to the less well equipped departments if it is needed.

We've never been stuck yet in any job we've had," he added. For the last two or three years, the Winchester department has had the basic set of extrication equipment, which includes large and small sets of spreaders operated by compressed air, a cutting tool, and a set of "Come-alongs" — a length of chain with a ratchet, which can be used to free a person trapped under a steering wheel. The department does not have the device properly called the "jaws of life", which is a heavier set of spreaders powered by a small motor, but the Williamsburg fire station has a set.

The informal co-operation existing between the fire department and the public, and with other agencies, extends to the official level as well. Under the Mutual Aid fire program, departments from across the United Counties have pooled their resources to provide increased protection and back-up services for their neighboring communities. "If we had a fire here and needed help, we could call in to the Mutual Aid number and they would handle it," Kenney said. Based in Cornwall, the system is co-ordinated by Hugh O'Reilly, chief of the Cornwall department. Most SD&G departments belong to Mutual Aid and attend monthly meetings.

With the system in place, Winchester firefighters can count on ample assistance if it is needed. At a barn fire on the Osgoode boundary road last month, the Winchester fire department's tanker was joined by six trucks from Osgoode Township, a truck from Mountain Township and an ambulance. If additional water is needed at a fire near Winchester, trucks from Ault Foods can be filled at a quarry west of the village. "I don't know what we'd do without them," Kenney said.

In his 35 years with the department, the fire chief has seen a lot of changes, but one thing still holds true. "When that fire phone rings up there and someone says it's a wrong number, that's a nice sound."

Coverage saves headache

List of possessions, updated insurance best fire policy

WINCHESTER — If there can be any comfort found while watching your home or farm burn to the ground, it would come from knowing you have enough insurance.

Whether you're a farmer, homeowner or tenant, adequate insurance coverage can mean the difference between rebuilding or commiting suicide.

"People are realizing that they have a lot of money invested in their homes and contents and are more conscious about protecting them," said John Adams of Winchester's Summers Insurance. "Thefts in particular. We hear that it happens in Ottawa all the time but when it hits here, people think more about insurance."

Nothing has changed much in home insurance in the past few years: as the value of your possessions increases, your coverage should follow or you'll suffer a rude shock when disaster strikes.

The biggest improvement in coverage came about seven years ago with the replacement cost plan. Before that time depreciation of the house was considered when settling a claim and that would lower the value of any claim.

Nowadays, 98 per cent of all homeowners have the replacement cost plan, which costs about $25 extra. The plan doesn't consider real estate value, but simply covers the owner for whatever amount it would require to replace the house.

Adams said the best method of guaranteeing a proper return is to have a builder give an appraisal of the houe when you buy it. Insurance policies are still available for real estate value and actual cash value, coverages that would consider location of the house and depreciation.

But a home isn't much without the contents and in most cases coverage of contents will amount to 60 per cent of the building's value.

In the case of your belongings, some time spent on inventory now will save future headaches.

"Filling out a list of what you have is a big job but it's worth it," says Adams, "because the first thing an adjustor will ask for is a list."

Whether your possessions are antiques or not, without a list it's impossible to claim you owned them. Adams suggests taking photographs and compiling a list from them. In the case of antiques, an appraiser should be hired to value your possessions, or at the very least pictures taken.

"It's not a bad idea to stand back and take a few pictures because if you get into a situation where you don't know the value it's awfully tough later on."

For farmers, insurance is even more crucial. They have a lot more possessions to be concerned with and the value of assets changes frequently. Livestock is covered in a lump sum, but if a herd changes from grade to registered, the policy must be revised.

Adams said many farmers will purchase new machinery and forget to update their insurance, which can leave them without sufficient coverage. Constant updating is a must.

For tenants, as a rule, Adams said they don't carry enough insurance. "Most people find when they do an inventory that they have built up quite a bit of value. And even then the figure they arrive at is usually low. You don't look to your five-year-old TV and say it isn't worth much. You have to look at what it would cost if you had to buy another one today."

For an insurance policy guarding against fire, theft, vandalism, wind and lightning, Adams said a home valued at $70,000 would cost about $190 a year to insure. Tenants with $15,000 worth of personal property would be looking at about $110 a year.

Bank bailout

With the Mulroney cabinet rocked in recent days by a series of potentially disastrous revelations — the tuna scandal, a cabinet minister's election spending, and another's vacation at public expense — the furor over the collapse of two Canadian banks has been pushed into the background.

However, a judicial inquiry into the callapse of the Canadian Commercial Bank and the Northland Bank will be undertaken, with Supreme Court Justice Willard Estey in charge.

By appointing Estey to head the inquiry, the government is taking steps to ensure an impartial investigation and avoid further political battles. The three parties in the House of Commons are unable to agree on how the commission should be handled, but repeated opposition attacks have not led to a solution.

Ordinary Canadians, who were told earlier this week that they will be bearing the brunt of proposed tax increases, have the right to know how the decision to bail out the Canadian Commercial Bank in March was arrived at. Some $255 million was channelled into the CCB, which collapsed Sept. 1. The Northland Bank was put under the care of a curator the same day, but met the same fate Sept. 30.

In assessing the far-reaching implications of the failure of these banks, Estey, whose inquiry began Oct. 2, will have to hear the testimony of officials from both banks, and from the major chartered banks, as well as from the Bank of Canada and auditors.

Despite the relentless criticism of the government from the Liberals, the banks' failure has implications for them as well. The Tories came to power just six months before the CCB bailout.

Minister of State for Finance Barbara McDougall plans to introduce legislation to pay $900 million to the two banks' uninsured depositors. The Canadian Deposit Insurance Corporation (CDIC) automatically pays up to $60,000 on uninsured deposits, and that bill is expected to reach $420 million. McDougall has so far rejected Liberal and NDP demands to publish the names of these uninsured depositors before they are reimbursed with tax money. She has argued that many small depositors, including several municipalities, would be hurt by any delay.

The best course of action the government can take is to clear the air by being as open as possible on these issues. The findings of the Estey Inquiry should be made public.

Ontario highways minister T.B. McQuesten has ordered that no driver who has been involved in a serious accident will be permitted to drive for a period of 30 days in order to make the highways safer. The minister said the measures were taken because those involved in major accidents suffer nervous sh ck and are a hazard until the stresses have abated. The 30-day suspensions will follow every fatal accident and some non-fatals. After the 30 days a driver will be required to pass another test and demonstrate that he has fully recovered from the shock.

The worst accident in the history of Chesterville claimed the lives of six area people early last Saturday morning. The grop was returning from an evening in Ottawa when their car was struck by a train near Chesterville, killing all of the occupants instantly. Dead are: Howard Beckstead, 69, of RR1 Chesterville; Herbert Irving, 50, of Ottawa; Omer Groulx, 38, of Chesterville; Earl Ouderkirk, 25, of Berwick; Gwendolyn Irving, 19, of Chesterville; Pauline Seguin, 20, of Chesterville.

The first annual Firemen's Ball held at Lannin's Hall last week raised a total of $300. Music was provided by Kirkwood's Orchestra and both round and square dancing was indulged in.

All of the 1,200 citizens of this village and countless other friends were deeply shocked to learn that Mrs. Kenneth Ault had been killed in a car accident Thanksgiving weekend. Her husband, J. Kenneth Ault, and daughter Carol are in serious condition in hospital following the accident Sunday night south of Williamsburg. Five members of a Massena, New York, family were in the other vehicle and were injured less seriously.

Mac Steinburg and Patsy Steele were crowned top male and female athletes at the Winchester High School field day held last week. The pair will head the contingent of hopefuls at the first Osgoode-North Dundas Athletic Association track meet to be held this week in South Mountain.

Winchester Township council has approved plans for a new six-room public school on Highway 43 at Ridge Road. The $130,000 school would serve elementary students from the southern end of the township.

Complaints of gas odor in village homes have been building in recent weeks and the situation almost climaxed with an explosion this week. Gas was found to be flowing freely down the village drain on Main Street and after an inspector was called in the contaminated water was pumped out during a heavy rain down Main Street. It was the first time gas was detected in quantity though residents have long complained of the odor. Cause of the gas entrance has not been determined, but the feeling is that council should get to the source of the problem with utmost speed.

A plebiscite will be held in January for Winchester voters to decide if they want a liquor outlet in the village. A motion to hold the plebiscite was passed at the council meeting this week where the members decided the outlet might improve business in the village by encouraging more visitors to shop here.

Winchester residents should be prepared for increased water and hydro rates following a meeting of council this week. A motion was passed authorizing an immediate increase for water because the new well will soon be hooked up costing the village an added $22,500 a year for 30 years. A special meeting on hydro rates will be held Oct. 20 and the feeling is that rates will have to be increased for 1976.

Letters

Opposed to RC funding

The Editor:

As members of the Federation of Women Teachers Association of Ontario, we are opposed to the extended funding for separate schools. We do not believe it is in "the best interest of public education" to separate young people on the basis of religion through their entire school career.

We hear from many sources the resentment that has been created by loss of jobs, by losing public secondary schools where communities are too small to support both, by long bus trips, by sharing facilities, and by transfer of property.

Our concerns are for smaller schools which barely survived the decline in enrolment which has taken place over the past 15 years. A transfer to separate school of even a few elementary pupils could make these schools marginal. This also means loss of jobs for our teachers. When these community schools disappear, our children may be bused many more miles daily and the community spirit is subdued.

Another concern is for our teachers. We consider that absolutely clear guarantees must exist to assure employees the same employment rights in the separate system as they have in the public system, and that they should be free of all forms of discrimination with respect to employment, hiring and advancement in employment.

To implement this program it will cost $150 million a year. We believe that the money should be used to improve programs at both the elementary separate and public schools. It could also help reduce class size to bridge the gap between elementary and secondary funding.

We dislike the decision of extended funding which has created uneasiness, fear of job loss, frustrations with the political process and perhaps unnecessary anxiety. Most of all we deplore the absence of public debate during the provincial election.

The life of Riley

by Wayne Riley

Kneeling over the toilet, washing out my daughter's diaper, I thought about that saying that says girls are made of sugar and spice and everything nice.

If this stuff was sugar, then the word had obviously undergone a massive transformation in meaning somewhere along the line. Once while attempting to surprise my wife with a dessert of my own making, I left some sugar on high heat too long. Even that smoking, black lump did not smell as bad as what was now between my fingers.

I don't know what I expected when my daughter was born nine months ago. I suppose I thought the stuff would come out in convenient, disposable bags made from some biodegradeable material safe for the environment.

Well, it doesn't. It fills the diaper and oozes out the rubber pants and down a baby's legs. The sweet, perfumey smell that babies are supposed to have is replaced by a thick aroma that keeps you at arms length and forces you to tilt your head back and sideways.

I should tell new fathers here that this is not an immediate thing. Fed on milk for the first few months, babies are like a living air freshener. Put them on your lap in the living room during the winter and suddenly the dry, stale air takes on the freshness of spring.

And then they advance to solid food.

I still remember changing my daughter the first time after her historic change in diet. I went to the crib, the diaper under my arm, prepared to contribute my share in the on-going task of raising the family. Yes, I would let my wife take it easy as I, the man of the house, took care of the business at hand.

I was still about three feet away from the crib when I suspected something had changed. My daughter's eyes were the same color. She was smiling like she always does. What was it? Did my wife give the baby her first haircut?

No, it was an invisible, but noticeable, difference.

"What the... Have they been spreading out in the field again?" I asked my wife.

"No, I don't think so," my wife answered.

I shrugged and bent over to pick up my daughter.

"Oh, geez," I said in a whistle. "Never mind. I think I've just uncovered a fertilizer warehouse."

I gingerly picked her up and took her over to the table. "Oh, boy, this is not going to be fun," I said to myself. I unsnapped her pyjamas. For a moment I stood silently, stunned into paralysis.

I erupted into nervous laughter. "Holy... I don't believe this... Somebody bring me a shovel and an oxygen mask. Heidi, Heidi, you better come out here. I mean, we're talking a serious situation here."

By the time my wife reached the table I had composed myself. Heidi was nonplussed by the whole thing. "Ooo, I bet Caitlin feels a lot better now," she cooed at the baby. It was not the first time that I wondered if mothers received special injections in the hospital to control themselves so well.

Now my wife was looking at me. "You're not bothered by this, are you," she asked.

"Aw, come on," I said with a note of indignity in my voice. "This is my daughter. Why would I be bothered? I just forgot how to fold the diaper correctly. You clean her up and put it on and I'll watch to see how you do it."

"But you've diapered her lots of times," she said.

"Yeah, well, I didn't want to say anything before, but I don't think I've been doing it right. Just show me one more time."

Now I do change the diapers — well, I still let my wife change some to keep her hand in it — and I even give them their first rinsing in the toilet. It has become the easy part of child-rearing.

What has become the more difficult part is trying to control a baby that wants to tear apart the stereo speakers, every magazine and newspaper in the house and your head of hair. You know what they say, you have to maul before you can walk.

During a very tense scene of kitchen renovating, my wife got a call. The washing machine under the phone was running at the time and our drip coffee maker was on top of the appliance while I worked on putting a new counter in.

Caitlin was standing up, holding on to my wife's leg, when she spotted the coffee maker cord. She yanked it, pulling down the coffee maker which in turn knocked out the washer's drain hose while the machine was on its emptying cycle.

The coffee maker, now in two parts, formed islands in the growing pool of water. Caitlin just continued to hold on to my wife's leg, bending down to poke her fingers in the water.

A few nights later, I had Caitlin on my lap, telling a friend how much fun it was to have a baby around. Caitlin was performing perfectly, smiling coyly, grunting and making noises and playing with her toys.

"She's a cutie," I was saying as she put a finger in her mouth and sucked on it. Suddenly the finger slipped out of her mouth, becoming a catapult armed with spit. She got me dead centre in the eye.

Spit is one thing. Sheer pain is another. On the plus side, my daughter doesn't try to bite me. On the other hand, she takes great delight in trying to pull out my hair.

Every man has a weak spot and mine is my hair. My wife quickly discovered that after we were married. When she is on the losing end of an argument, my wife now pulls on the small hairs on the back of my neck to put the odds back in her favor.

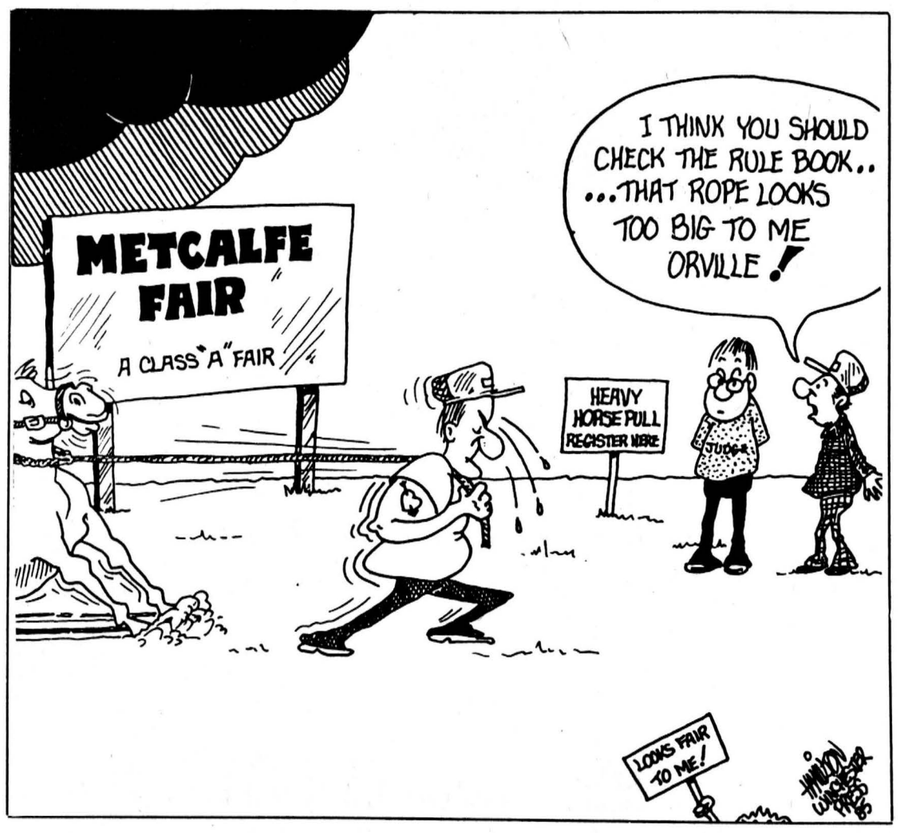
Knowledge of my weak point was obviously passed on from mother to daughter. Caitlin has discovered she can bring her father down to her level, on hands and knees and whimpering, simply by entangling her little fingers in my hair and jerking her arm up and down.

These are the things I will tell my daughter when she gets older and tells me that I don't understand her.

And yet, when I slip into the bedroom late at night and see my daughter sleeping under the blue and white quilt, and my wife asleep in the bed across from her, I realize that I wouldn't change my life with anyone.

Someday my daughter will ask me where babies come from. I won't fool her with stories of cabbage patches and storks. And if she needs to know the biological process, I'll explain the best I can.

But as I look at her now in her crib, touching her hair and listening to her soft breathing, I know that is not the answer. Little babies like this don't come from a biological process. They come from the heart.



Seventh Column

Without a shadow of doubt we could very easily fill this entire space with interesting highlights of the fall fair (Metcalfe) that has been a 'must' on our calendar of events for so many years. And yes, Ernie (Whiteside) we did meet friend Alex (Campbell) at the sheep barn as always, but he didn't have time to talk this time. The old shepherd was explaining to four lovely young ladies how to make snug pantyhose from sheep's wool. Rural fall fairs are billed as agricultural exhibitions with just a touch of carnival atmosphere, and they deliver exactly that. Often think, however, the word "reunion" might be added to all promotional material since the fabulous displays and exciting programs act like giant magnets attracting former residents back 'home' for a weekend of reminiscing. Edging merrily through the milling crowds Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, it seemed around every corner there was someone wondering if we had been there 'back in ...'? Of course, we vividly recall the catastrophic storm of '29 when prize cattle perished while tethered to a tree that was struck by lightning. Certainly we remember when Friday was School Fair Day and all the girls in their white middies and black skirts (there must have been boys, too, but we didn't notice) were competing for the county championship. Note: Good old S.S. No. 11 usually won. And sure Bill (Hall) we cherish the memory of those grand dances in the Drill Shed. Yes Stewart (Whyte) we were standing beside the buggy when you drove past with Mayor Charlotte Whitton to open the '56 fair. Thanks president Dwayne and all those community-minded volunteers who make fall fairs possible. It was good to have M.P. Bill (Tupper) bring greetings from the Hill. Unfortunately, friend Norm (Sterling), due to previous commitments, missed the official opening ceremonies for the first time since chosen to serve the riding at Queen's Park. Number 129 is now only history, but this morning (Monday) secretary Ida (Craig) is already on page 3 of her little book of "suggestions to consider for '86". Hopefully, we'll be there again.

Late Sunday night, as the giant March Midway was being dismantled, a group of equally community-minded volunteers were setting the wheels in motion for another Township of Osgoode Care Centre fundraising dinner/dance. Because the initial canvass goal of $750,000 is now within grasp, this gala evening is being, with genuine optimism, billed as "nearly there". The locale is Greely Community Centre --- the date: Friday, November 15 ---good food --- good music --- good cause. Tickets (size of hall limits the number) are $25.00 each. Better reserve yours today by calling fundraising chairman Gwen Magee (826-2443) or treasurer Dorothy Rodney (821-2485). Perhaps you've noticed the huge 25-foot high thermometer on the building site. That fundraising guide is the brainchild of committee member Frank Boyd and he was up on his ladder Monday morning pushing the mercury (red paint) past the $700,000 mark. Fear not, Frank won't fall. He used to paint the roof of the old lighthouse every spring. Right Ross (McDiarmid)?

Sometimes the most ingenious scheme imaginable can backfire and cause irreparable damage to one's ego. Here's what we mean. We initiated the devilish plan a few weeks ago while socializing with a good cross section of humanity by carefully guiding the conversation into the realm of news media — weekly newspapers in particular Then we 'just happened' to drop the words Winchester Press and, confident everyone would immediately heap praise on this highly intellectual column, we 'just casually' threw in the words Editorial Page. Regret to inform our (obviously damn few) readers that the end results were anything but awe inspiring for this humble scribbler. Oh, sure, we got comments all right. Comments like: "That C.M. sure writes a meaningful editorial", or, "This week in ... is a masterful flashback", or, "Does that comedian Riley really look like that?", or, "Photographer Van Bridger must be terribly lonely living way out there in the long grass, among dilapidated log fences and broken wheels", or, "Gosh that Mr. Hamilton has genuine talent and his cartoons are hilarious". Humiliated, and in desperation, we even directed attention to the 'right-hand side of the page'. "You mean," asked a paid-up subscriber, "where it mentions the brains of the outfit like the Morris boys and Holmes and LaPierre and Hart?" Oh, well, guess we can always find some new friends anyway ... friends more capable of recognizing and appreciating the ultimate in literary perfection.

Two men charged with sexual assault

WINCHESTER — Two area men have been charged with sexual assault following an investigation by Winchester OPP triggered when a Morewood girl complained to her mother that a man had fondled her.

The men have been charged with two counts of sexual assault each and will appear in Winchester court Fri., Oct. 11.

Sgt. Bob Lyon of the local detachment said four girls from the Morewood area were involved with the assaults which occurred between mid-June and Sept. 30, when one girl reported the incidents.

Lyon said the 11 and 12-year-old girls must have been too frightened to report the situation earlier. Rape was not involved in any of the cases, investigated by Const. John Ralko.

A Long Sault man escaped injury last week after he drove through an intersection near Chesterville and rolled his truck.

OPP report that Paul Ruttan, 30, was northbound on County Road 8 south of Chesterville when he missed the T-intersection at County Road 7 and entered the parking lot at Sullivan Construction. The accident occurred at 6am in foggy conditions and is the second crash at the corner in a month.

Ruttan was driving a 1985 Ford pickup that suffered $3,000 damage when he braked and rolled the truck after missing the corner. Lyon said police are attempting to have additional signs posted at the intersection.

Ruttan was alone at the time of the crash and no charges were laid.

Birthday girl

If there's anything nicer than turning 100, it must be celebrating your 101st birthday. Elizabeth Christie did just that with dozens of friends at Dundas Manor last week. Alternative School to hold graduation

CORNWALL — Graduates of the Alternative School here shouldn't feel offended if they don't get an invitation to the school's first-ever graduation ceremony next month.

November 15 will mark the first time a graduation exercise has been held since the alternative school opened in 1978, and the school's records of addresses are becoming outdated.

"All our graduates are welcome," said John Brady, Dean of English Language programs and organizer of the graduation ceremony. "No one should feel slighted if they don't get an invitation."

All students who have ever qualified for graduation have been invited to attend the ceremony, and staff are hoping the more than 170 graduates and their families will be there.

Organizers are asking any graduates who have not received an invitation to contact the school for more information. They hope to know how many will attend by Oct. 25. "If there are some people in the community who know of graduates, we would certainly appreciate their passing the word along," said Brady.

The school, which is now based in the Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational School, serves all of SD&G.

Dundela church could become resource centre

DUNDELA — A church here which has been closed for the past nine years could become the centre for a variety of community services if funding can be obtained, said Brinston United Church minister Rev. Allen Tysick.

"It's in the dreaming stage," Tysick said Friday. "I'm looking at a year before I see any light at the end of the tunnel."

He said the idea of converting the empty church into a resource centre for the community was conceived six years ago when he first came to the area, but took a step closer to reality this fall as a board made up of prominent local people was established.

The committee has drafted a proposal to present to government, and has applied to both provincial and federal governments for funding. Tysick said he has also written to MP Norm Warner and MPP Noble Villeneuve to ask for support.

Tysick said the church could become an employment centre for the Dundela area, as well as a centre for family counselling. The centre could also offer educational programs, he added. Funding for such a project is usually supplied by the province through the Ministry of Community and Social Services, he said, although some funds would also be provided by local community groups. Tysick said he has so far received no commitment for funding. "Right now I'm waiting."

Renovations will be needed before the building can be used in its new role. New wiring and a new furnace would be required, and the church would have to be partitioned into offices and meeting rooms. If nutrition counselling were offered, a kitchen facility might have to be installed.

A public meeting is to be held Oct. 29 to discuss the project. The project committee consists of Rev. Tysick, Matilda Township councillor Charles Barkley, Ingrid Bell and Lois Hanes of the Ministry of Community and Social Services, social worker Carol Thompson, Morrisburg lawyer Royer Mills, Dr. Graham Howes, and Irma Keeler, a resident of Dundela.

Alvin Herman Beardsall

Former Winchester area Ontario Hydro manager Alvin Beardsall died Mon., Sept. 30 at Winchester District Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Beardsall was born June 5, 1903 in Elmvale, Ont., a son of George Beardsall and Sarah Baker. He was area manager of Ontario Hydro, Winchester, for over 25 years.

Mr. Beardsall was predeceased by his wife, Gladys Elaine Carson. He is survived by sons William of Nepean and Tom of RR1 Winchester, daughter Valerie of Ottawa and grandchildren Sean, Susan, Janine and Natalie.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. E. Royle at Vice and Craig Funeral Home in Winchester at 2:30pm Thurs., Oct. 3.

Pallbearers were Adam Meek, Elliot Rushton, Clark Curtis, Herb Allen, Norbert Hutt and Neil Gray.

Interment was at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

'Velma' Mae Harper

Funeral services were held Sat., Sept. 28 for "Velma" Mae Harper of Chesterville. Mrs. Harper died Wed., Sept. 28 at St. Mary's Memorial Hospital, St. Mary's Ont. She was 78.

Mrs. Harper was born in Chesterville, a daughter of Germiah St. Pierre and Ida Mae Dillabough.

She is survived by her husband Lloyd, daughters Betty (Mrs. John Beal) of Toronto; Jean (Mrs. Ray Boal) of Weston; Gail (Mrs. Cecil Thomson) of Lakeside and Barbara (Mrs. Ted Bowerman) of Manitoulin Island, sons Francis of Toronto, Otis of Stratford and Wayne of Scarborough, brothers Delbert of Chesterville, Lyle of Toronto and Lester of Everton, sister Beulah Harper of Williamsburg, 22 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Rick Bombay at Vice and Craig Funeral Home in Chesterville at 1pm Sat., Sept. 28.

Interment was at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Scouters meet

IROQUOIS — The first St. Lawrence District Boy Scouts meeting of the new season was recently held in Iroquois United Church. Over 50 leaders and committee members were present as the nominations and elections were held to fill the offices for the 1985-86 year.

The slate for this year includes: president and public relations, John McAuley, Prescott; secretary, Etta Strong, Williamsburg, and Chris Slater, Prescott as treasurer.

McAuley gave a brief review of the past year, with highlights including the St. Lawrence Regional Conference, hosted by this district, visits to the U.S. Scout Camp in Pennsylvania, and the return trip by our American friends. Some 30 Scouts and leaders attended the Canadian Jamboree in July. Leader training was on the upswing last year as several leaders took their Part 1 and Part 2 wood badge course. In addition, leaders from the Kemptville and 7th Prescott Troop successfully completed their water safety course. Scoutmaster Wayne Tuck from 7th Prescott, also completed a campmaster course.

Last year also saw the district take part in the Trees for Canada program for the first time. About $4,500 was raised through this event with 70 per cent staying in this district.

McAuley reported that one of the highlights for this new year was already here, as he introduced the leaders of a new Scout group from South Mountain. Under the sponsorship of the Matilda and District Lions Club, a Beaver Colony and Cub Pack have started and will be known as 1st Mountain.

Counties officials to tour roads in need of paving

WILLIAMSBURG — Two sections of roads in Williamsburg Township will be at the top of the list for repairs when officials from the United Counties tour the township in two weeks to decide where road construction funds will be spent next year.

At the regular council meeting last Saturday, Williamsburg's municipal officials set out a length of County Road 18, east of County Road 8, and part of County Road 4, west of Morrisburg, as spots that will be toured Oct. 23.

The section on County Road 18 is in need of surface repair, while one-half mile of County Road 4 between Morrisburg and Mariatown is slated for paved Shoulders. Sidewalks were discussed but council decided the shoulders would provide safe walking areas and demand less maintenance than sidewalks.

In other business, council has agreed to a deal between Williamsburg and Morrisburg for shared fire services.

The agreement, for 1985 and 1986, would see the township pay a flat rate of $1,800 this year for fire protection on the first concession north of Morrisburg. In 1986 the rate will rise to $1,900.

In addition to the flat rate the township would pay $230 for the first hour pumpers are used and $130 for any further hours or part hours. In 1986 those figures will jump by $10.

Firefighters involved will receive either $10, $11 or $12 an hour for their services depending on rank.

Reeve Johnny Whitteker also reported at the meeting that the United Counties are considering Williamsburg as a site for heavy extrication equipment to serve Dundas County. Grants are now available for new rescue equipment which will be centred in three United Counties municipalities. Long Sault and Alexandria are also being mentioned as sites for the equipment.

THE CARLETON BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Carleton Board of Education is seeking the services of citizens willing to serve on its

Advisory Vocational Committee

This Committee, consisting of five trustees and five community representatives, was formed to forge stronger links between the Carleton school system and the business/industry/employment community.

The Board offers a wide range of vocational, experience, and co-operative education programs, as well as comprehensive career counselling and assessment at the Career Facility.

The Committee will assist in developing policies and strategies to ensure there is close correlation between these programs and the employment market.

The community representatives appointed to this Committee shall hold office until the expiry of the term for which members of the Board are elected, i.e. from 1 December 1985 to 30 November 1988, and must be ratepayers within the Carleton Board's jurisdiction.

If you have a background in business, industry, labor, or simply have a deep interest in this field of education, we would like to hear from you. Applications should be mailed to:

Brenda Cooper, Committee Secretary
133 Greenbank Road, Nepean, Ont., K2H 6L3 820-1820

Ms. Cooper can also provide more detailed information on the mandate of this Committee. Applications should be received by 8 November 1985.

Faulkner, Gibson wed

Winchester United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding July 6, 1985 at 3pm, when Donna youngest daughter of Jack and Marlene Faulkner and Steven Thomas, son of Jack and June Gibson of Winchester were united in marriage.

Rev. Royle officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Mildred Ross was organist for the occasion.

Attending the bride was her sister Vicky Bolton as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Valerie Armstrong, friend of the bride and JoAnne Gibson, sister of the groom and Virginnia Gibson, niece of groom as flower girl.

Attending the groom as best man was Steve Pemberton, ushers were Richard Faulkner, John Gibson and Gerry Gibson.

Following the ceremony, the wedding reception was held at the Winchester Community Centre.

The couple are now residing in Winchester.

McDiarmid, Acres marry

VERNON — Osgoode Baptist Church, Vernon was the scene of a pretty wedding Aug. 31 when Marilyn Isobel McDiarmid and Robert (Bob) Charles Acres were united in marriage.

Marilyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken McDiarmid, RR4 Osgoode, and Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Acres, Winchester.

Rev. Robert Jones officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mary Ferguson was organist and Calvin Ferguson sang The Wedding Prayer and Perhaps Love during the ceremony.

Kim McDiarmid was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Sheila Anderson and Judy Woods, sisters of the groom, and Connie Vanderlaan. Rebecca Ferguson was flowergirl and Mitchell Anderson, nephew of the groom, was ringbearer.

Best man was Jeff Crerar. Jim McDiarmid and Dan McDiarmid, brothers of the bride, and Lloyd McDiarmid were ushers.

Following the ceremony the wedding dinner and reception was held in the Vernon Community Hall.

The couple are now residing near Vernon, Ont.

Florida fruit at NDDHS

by Danielle Gryspeerdt

MAPLE RIDGE — The North Dundas District High School Fundraising Committee is again launching its exciting "Fresh Florida Fruit Sale".

Between Oct. 9 and Oct. 21 the committee will be taking orders for seedless navel Florida oranges and Indian River pink seedless grapefruit. The small box, 18-22 lbs. of navel oranges is priced at $15; the large box, weighing 36-44 lbs., costs $25. A small box of grapefruit will be $13 and the large box is priced at $21.

All students will be given an opportunity to participate in this sale. They will be bringing home sale forms to take orders from friends, neighbors and relatives. For more information, phone North Dundas, 448-2328.

The customer will benefit from this fresh fruit sale, the committee says, because the fruit is fresher than in any store. The fruit will be available for pickup in late November to early December; just in time for the holiday season.

Defence

Nicole Gosselin of LaCitadelle couldn't cut back towards North Dundas' basket because of the close-checking of Devils' Rhonda McIntosh. McIntosh and the Devils' defence held the Patriotes to just 15 points in the game and blanked the opposition in the third quarter enroute to a 38-15 SD&G Senior girls basketball victory. McIntosh led her team's offence, scoring 10 points.

Hawks split exhibition tests

WINCHESTER — A win over the Morrisburg Lions here Friday night and a loss to St. Lawrence College in the Seaway City Saturday night has evened the Winchester Hawks Eastern Ontario Junior B exhibition record at two wins and two losses.

Here on Friday the Hawks trimmed the Morrisburg Lions of the Rideau-St. Lawrence Division 11-6. Winchester led 5-0 after a period and 8-1 after two. The Lions finally found the range in the final period firing in five goals on young Mike Fawcett of the Midget "C" Hawks.

Saturday night the Hawks were to have played the Cardinal Broncos in Cardinal, but ice plant problems in starch town led to a game with the college team in Cornwall.

That match deteriorated into a continuous brawl and with one of his players already on the shelf, Scott Dexter broke his wrist in Friday's game, coach Tom Kirkwood elected to pull his team off the ice with over a minute to be played.

So upset by the way his young team was run at and batted around, the new coach said he couldn't believe the situation that developed in that game and said he would rather not comment on it, because it would just make him angry again.

Kirkwood said his players skated very well against the older college squad and the performance of both goalies he used, Grant Groves and Mark Winder, was encouraging. Both allowed two goals in the 4-2 setback.

Hawks' veteran Keith Moore said Saturday game was "crazy". "All they (Cornwall) wanted to do was fight. But we stood up to them. Our defence - Pete McGrath, Todd Byrnes and Kevin Henry especially didn't get knocked around."

Winchester's goal scorers in that contest weren't available.

Friday night the Hawks dealt the Morrisburg Lions their second trouncing in as many nights. Here the night before Metcalfe Jets belted the Lions 10-1.

Veteran netminder Jamie McGuire gave up the first Morrisburg goal at 12:27 of the second period when Johnny Morrow scored. Mike Fawcett then took over and surrendered markers to Donnie Black, Jim Bennis (who scored twice in the final period), Scott Robinson and Dave Pigeon. Al McNairn (one of Morrisburg's two over-aged players) drew four assists.

Winchester took a 5-0 lead on the Lions dominating the first period from start to finish. Pete McGrath opened it up scoring on a slapshot from the point at 17:15. Kirk Barkley, Keith Moore, Jeff Thompson and Rene Bongard followed in that order.

Barkley hit for his second goal before Todd Byrnes and Ken Byers scored for an 8-1 Winchester lead after two points.

Moore notched his second goal at 16:46 of the final period and then Mark Smith took over scoring on nice goal-mouth plays with 10:43 and 6:13 left in the game.

Smith, Moore and Kirk Barkley all had two goals for the Hawks. Moore also drew an assist. Rene Bongard scored once and picked up three assists. Todd Byrnes also scored a goal and set up three others. Jeff Thompson and Peter McGrath each had a goal and one helper. Ken Byers fired in the other goal. Mike Harper drew two assists and Gary Klein-Swormink one as the Hawks lathered Morrisburg goalies Dave Black and Andy Cussings.

Forward Scott Dexter broke his wrist when cross-checked into Morrisburg's goal post in the second period. Tim Patterson picked up a five-minute major for cross-checking on the play. Dexter could be lost to the club from four to six weeks.

Following the league's directive on cracking down on stick work, referee Jeff Allan kept a steady flow of players going to the penalty box, handing out 34 minors and one five-minute major to Winchester. He whistled the Lions for 26 minors and three five-minute majors, two for cross-checking and one for fighting, which involved Lions' Dave Pigeon and Hawks' Mark Smith.

Hawks host the red hot Char-Lan Rebels here this Friday night (Oct. 11) in their final scheduled exhibition test.

Winchester will host Metcalfe here on Fri., Oct. 18 in the Alex English Division's traditional Hawks-Jets regular season opener.

Panthers score second shutout

WINCHESTER — Dunbar Panthers, Ormond and Morewood remain undefeated after two weeks of action in the Winchester and District Broomball League.

The Panthers racked up another one-sided decision here Sunday, blanking Newington 8-0. They now have outscored their opposition 22-0 after two encounters.

Ormond bombed the Winchester Raiders 10-0 for their second decision in as many tries.

In another contest, Morewood turned back Toyes Hill Roadrunners 3-1 to keep pace with Dunbar and Ormond.

Last year's runners-up from Finch stopped Crysler 2-1 to win their first game.

Finch and Crysler battled through the first half of their match without managing a goal. Finch took a 1-0 lead at 21:51 of the second frame when Jack Hoogeveen scored from Perry Dewan. Crysler drew even at 16:17 when Pierre LaFrance ripped a John Hopmans relay into Noel Lalonde's cage.

Finch registered the winning goal with 3:45 left on the clock. Dave Dumoulin won the game when he batted home a pass from Henry Pyenburg.

Morewood knocked off Toyes Hill 3-1, snapping the Roadrunners' win string at a game. Gerald Eby put Morewood up 1-0 when he scored from Brian Como at 17:05 of the first stanza. The Roadrunners evened things up at a goal when Dean Hansma pounded home a relay from Bill Veley at 15:31 of the second period.

Morewood snapped the tie with 5:15 left in the game. Bill Moran found net on a play started by Chris McKibbon.

Brian Como added some insurance when he scored with 2:50 showing on the clock. Gerald Eby picked up the assist, his second point of the game.

Ed Leger posted the victory in the Morewood nets while Wayne Hunter took the loss.

Ormond had just seven players to challenge the Winchester Raiders with, but still handled the league's newest team convincingly, winning 10-0.

All seven players had points while goalie Ben Melenhorst posted the shutout. Keith Young led the scoring parade, scoring three goals and drawing three assists. Bill Robinson also hit the net three times, scoring his hat trick in the second half of the game. Dan McDiarmid and Rob Scarth each fired in a goal and drew a pair of assists for three-point games.

Frank Bols and Paul Petersen each scored once. Ian Linton picked up a pair of assists for the winners. The winners scored five times in each half of the game.

Dunbar Panthers posted their second one-sided decision, downing Newington 8-0. Goalie Wayne Pitt registered his second straight shutout. His team led 3-0 after the first period on goals by Frank Heerkens, who opened the gates with a goal at 23:00 and a pair by Laurie Blanchard, who fired in back-to-back markers at 20:00 and 4:12.

Gary Gallinger and Renald Blanchard each scored twice in the second half, opening up the 8-0 final score.

Gallinger had two goals and two assists for the Panthers. Laurie Blanchard scored two goals and one assist while Renald Blanchard scored twice. Frank Heerkens picked up a goal and one helper. Lynn Whitteker scored once and drew a pair of helpers. John Templeton earned two assists for the winners.

Panthers took three of the game's seven minor penalties.

WPS Jr. girls regain soccer crown

WINCHESTER — Shawna Knapp's goal late in the second half of the final game re-instated the Winchester Public School Hawks as Dundas County's top junior girls soccer team.

Winchester nipped Nationview 1-0 in a closely fought "A" division final game here last Thursday as 10 school teams competed in a day long tournament under ideal sunny, warm weather conditions.

Winchester and Nationview finished their three game round robin schedule with undefeated records setting the stage for the championship showdown. On the consolation side, Morrisburg's Green Team emerged with the "B" division title, winning two of their three games.

Nationview and the WPS Hawks battled through the first half of the championship without a goal and it wasn't until Shawna Knapp lifted in a penalty shot high into Nationview's net, late in the second and final period that the 1985 title was decided.

Iroquois held the junior title for two years before they were dethroned by Winchester who won it four years running ('80 through '84). Iroquois Indians got the trophy back last fall edging Winchester 1-0 in overtime but didn't qualify for this year's showdown.

Winchester got the ball rolling in game one posting a 4-0 dicision over Chesterville. Shawna Knapp, Kathy Clark, Judy Hayes and Catie Clapp scored for the Hawks in that win.

Next time on the field the Hawks defeated Inkerman Rockets 3-0 on markers by Lisa Campbell, Kathy Clark and Kim Pollock.

Coach Guy Lacelle and his Hawks had one goal called back on them in a defensive battle with Dixons Corners but finally won that match 1-0 on Kim Pollock's overtime goal.

Meanwhile Nationview Reds were posting victories in their three games. They opened with a 1-0 decision over Elma, blanked Iroquois 1-0 in a second match and qualified for the final shutting out Inkerman 4-0.

It was Knapp's goal in a well played final which finally decided the championship in WPS' favor.

On the consolation side Morrisburg wound up with two wins in three games and the "B" division trophy. They lost their first game by a 3-0 count to the Inkerman Rockets but stayed alive with a 1-0 win over Chesterville. A 2-0 victory against Riverside Heights clinched the trophy for them.

Dundas County senior girls soccer championship was decided Tuesday (Oct. 8) in Morrisburg.

Iroquois will again be the site of the county's annual junior and senior boys soccer tournaments as well as the cheerleading competition. Action is slated to take place this Thursday (Oct. 10) on two fields at the public school and another at Seaway District High School.

Tournament scores

Opening Round: WPS 4 - Chesterville 0; Inkerman 3 - Morewood 0, Nationview 1 - Elma 0; Iroquois 3 - Riverside Heights 0; Dixons Corners 1 - Morrisburg 0.

"A" Division: WPS 3 - Inkerman 0; Nationview 1 - Iroquois 0; WPS 1 - Dixons 0; Nationview 4 - Inkerman 0. Iroquois and Dixons tied at zero. Final game: Winchester 1 - Nationview 0.

"B" Division: Chesterville 2 - Morewood 1; Elma 1 - Riverside 0; Morrisburg 1 - Chesterville 0; Morewood 2 - Elma 0; Morrisburg 2 - Riverside Heights 0. Morrisburg earns four points and wins consolation championship.

North Dundas B-ball gals take pair from Patriotes

MAPLE RIDGE — North Dundas District High School's Junior and Senior girls basketball teams opened their home SD&G season here last Wednesday with positive results. Both Chris Bowen's Juniors and Nancy Wilson's Seniors posted victories.

The Juniors' five-point 31-26 triumph was the second in as many starts for the little Devils. The Seniors' 38-15 verdict over the Patriotes completed the sweep over the visitors from La Citadelle and evened the squad's record at one and one.

The Juniors' win was a closely fought affair which La Citadelle led 9-8 at the quarter. The Devils battled their way into a 14-14 halftime tie and went up by three, 21-18 at three-quarter time. Dundas dropped in 10 fourth-period points to emerge 31-26 winners at the final buzzer.

Linda Hamelin slammed in two points with 6:25 left in the final stanza to give North Dundas a 23-18 lead. La Patriotes came back at 5:45 and closed the gap to 23-20 on a Cheryl Lumley field goal, but the Devils hit on baskets by Kerry-Lynn Thompson, Connie Armstrong and Jenny Lamb to take a 29-26 lead at the 1:46 mark. Connie Armstrong swished her second field goal of the quarter with 52 seconds showing on the clock to make the final difference 31-26.

Although his squad's shooting percentage was a little off, coach Bowen liked the spirit the girls displayed, fighting and staying in the game. He thought the tight finish was a little hard on the heart.

Linda Hamelin and Jenny Lamb paced the offence with six point games. Cindy Chalonski hit for five while Kerry-Lynn Thompson and Connie Armstrong rang up four each. Inge Matthiesen, Shannon O'Reilly and Megan Furness all dropped in two points each as eight of nine Devils collected points.

SENIORS NET FIRST WIN

After a sluggish start to their game Dundas' Senior Devils wound up and buried their opposition 38-15.

"The girls have to be in a game right from the start, really involved, charging in and making things happen, that's when they play the best," explained coach Nancy Wilson after her team's first win. "They (La Citadelle) made us play their game and we were sluggish at the start, but we got going in the second half."

The Senior Devils threw a defensive blanket over the frustrated Patriotes, holding them to just 15 points in the game. La Citadelle led 6-4 at the quarter, but were down 16-11 at the half. Dundas blanked them 10-0 in the third period, building up a 26-11 lead. Patriotes' Larue and Sabourin managed to penetrate Dundas' key for field goals in the final eight-minute session, but at the other end of the court the Devils hooped six two-pointers to win the quarter 12-4 and the game 38-15.

Rhonda McIntosh was top point-getter for the winners, dropping in five two-pointers. Donna Koekkoek didn't connect in the first quarter, but finished with eight points. First-year Senior Tracie McVey hit for another eight.

Norine Milne and Carole Droppo got four points each while Danielle Gryspeerdt and Julie Lamb sunk two each.

The Devils travelled to Iroquois for an afternoon of action at Seaway District on Tuesday of this week. Tomorrow (Thurs., Oct. 10) they are here at home against Bishop Macdonnel Robins.

Carole Droppo wins SD&G golf crown

CORNWALL — Carole Droppo of North Dundas District High School and Andrew Reid of St. Lawrence High School shared top billing here in last week's Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry annual high school golf championships.

Droppo led the girls section of the competition carding a nine hole total of 52 to win low gross honors.

Reid fired a sparkling 78 over 18 holes to lead a field of 60.

Jan Tait of Cornwall Collegiate finished one shot back of NDDHS' Carole Droppo to win runner-up status.

LaCitadelle Patriotes won the competition dethroning the defending champion Raiders from CCVS. The General Vanier Vikings finished third. The team standings are decided by adding the top three boys scores with the top three girls scorers. Boys played 18 holes, the ladies nine. Patriotes scored 515, eight strokes better than CCVS. The General Vanier Vikings carded a third place total of 557.

High schools from the SD&G board sent 60 golfers to the Cornwall Golf and Country Club for the 10th annual tournament.

Local enthusiasm assures football for Kemptville

KEMPTVILLE — John Ahlstedt said if the response at his organizational meeting here on Sept. 26 was strong enough there would be a Midget-aged football team competing in the 1986 season.

Ahlstedt wanted to get an executive formed before he started recruiting players. He has been able to do just that and reported to the Press Monday that football in Kemptville is a definite "go" for 1986.

"Right now we have 37 prospective players from the Kemptville area and another six or seven who called from Winchester to say they are interested in playing," he explained.

Ahlstedt, a high school teacher, says he is now working at Richmond High for six weeks and is talking the program up at the school and feels there is genuine interest.

He also says he has secured the use of the football field and locker room facilities at KCAT in Kemptville and would like to start a winter training program at KCAT.

Details of the winter training sessions which will run each Sunday at noon at the college will be revealed at a meeting to be held Thurs., Oct. 17 in the arena hall here at Kemptville. All players between the ages of 15 and 19 should attend this 7pm meeting.

Coaches lined up for the team's first season include Ahlstedt, Don Graham, Gerry Herrington and Dan Brisson. The executive includes Ted Warren, Terry McCleary and Al McCleary and Al McGuire (to name a few) and they have already selected the team name — the Crusaders. The Crusaders will compete against three teams from Ottawa, the Dukes, Trojans and Norsemen who are now playing against one another in a three-team league.

Ahlstedt would like to attract 50 players to training camp next August and then cut down to a 38-man roster.

He also encourages anyone interested in assisting the new organization at the sponsor or executive level to attend the Oct. 17 meeting in the arena hall.

Rebels undefeated

WILLIAMSTOWN — Char-Lan Rebels of the Alex English Division of the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League got a goal from Mike Lapensee with 45 seconds left in the game here Saturday night and held on to defeat the Alexandria Glens 8-7.

It was the fourth straight victory of the exhibition season for the Williamstown based Rebs.

Darrell Hay of the Glens had put Alexandria into a 7-7 tie when he scored with 1:43 left to play but Lapansee's second goal gave the Rebels an 8-7 win.

Frank Sinfield, Don Bissonnette, Roddy MacKenzie, Dwayne Spink, Shawn Blanchard, Mark Jodin and Lapensee (with his pair) scored for Char-lan.

Glen Campbell paced the Glens scoring three goals. Charlie Giroux fired in a pair and Andy McCormick clicked for a single.

Alexandria led 3-0 early in the second period but the Rebs charged into a 5-4 lead before that session was over. Giroux scored twice to give the Glens a 6-5 lead in the third, but he and his mates couldn't hold on.

Last Wednesday night CharLan got two goals from Dwayne Spink in a 5-3 exhibition decision over Cornwall Rocky's Juveniles. Roddy MacKenzie, Mike Cholette and Shawn Blanchard clicked for the other markers.

The Rebels have also tied Alexandria 5-5 and defeated the Winchester Hawks 9-5 in other pre-season tests.

Alexandria also dropped a 7-4 pre-season decision to the Metcalfe Jets last Friday night in Alexandria.

Hustlers gain split

WINCHESTER — Three goals by Pete McKay sparked the Harvex Hustlers to a 8-2 win over Dunbar here in a Sunday morning Oldtimers hockey game. Hustler goalie Kevin Baldwin had an 8-0 shutout going when he left the games in the dying minutes. Gerry Crowser and Gerry McBain scored on Al VanBridger to spoil the shutout.

McKay potted three for the Hustlers while Don Marcellus, Dick Christie, Gary Lapier, Jim Shaw and VanBridger scored singles.

Last Thursday in Osgoode John Bell had the lone goal as Harvex dropped a close 2-1 decision to the Osgoode Pride Seed Oldtimers. Brian Kerfoot was strong in the Pride cage posting the win.

Hustlers will face Barrhaven in Ottawa Thursday of this week and Rhom and Haas here on Sunday.

WPS Hawks '85 champs

Town fastball MVPs selected

WINCHESTER — Members of both the Winchester Men's and Ladies' Town Fastball Leagues were on hand here in the arena hall Saturday night to put the finishing touches on their respective seasons.

1985 marked the first year the organizations have combined their efforts in presenting an awards banquet and the first occasion the Men's Town League has presented individual awards.

Dale Matthiesen, a coach with the Apple Auto Glass Maroons MCed the ladies awards, which featured the introduction of all four teams and the presentation of bronze medallions to the Drewery Darlings and Apple Auto Glass Maroons. The runner-up Aqua Fun squad received silver medallions and the three time champion BP-Wagner team coached by Greg Erwin received gold medals.

Each squad also announced its Most Valuable Player, who in turn, were presented with trophies.

Drewery Darlings MVP for 1985 as announced by coach Gerry Baird was Marion Carkner.

Coaches Bob Hart and Rob Fawcett from Apple Auto Glass Maroons presented their MVP trophy to catcher Peggy Theos.

Dan MacMartin, Greg Marriner and Dale Matthiesen selected Laurie McIntosh and Caroline Duncan as recepients of their MVP honors.

Kelly Walker of the 1985 championship BP-Wagner team was named that team's Most Valuable Player.

League president Janice Casselman presented the 1985 WLFBL trophy to BP-Wagner captain Judy Baldwin and announced the organizations 1986 executive slate which will be headed up by new president Laurie McIntosh.

Marion Carkner will serve as vice-president next season while Judy Baldwin will act as secretary. Bev Shortt will hold the office of treasurer.

WOODS MVP FOR 1985

Chesterville Hotel Blues pitcher Stan Woods was selected as the Winchester Men's Town Fastball League's Most Valuable Player for 1985. The veteran pitcher took his team, in their first season, to the pennant and into the championship finals were they were defeated by the two-time champion Toyes Hill Dynes.

MC Dave Guy called on Brenda Hogaboam of the Royal Bank to present the pennant trophy to Chesterville team rep Dave Arnold who also received the Hotel's MVP team award on behalf of Stan Woods, the evening's only double award winner.

The WTFBL's first team MVP winners were Doug Ferguson of the Dunbar Expos, Gerry Belanger of the FBM Cementmen, third baseman Mitch Hutt of the Legion and infielder Bill Hogaboam of the Toyes Hill Dynes.

Dynes manager James Utman accepted the championship trophy and presented individual awards to his team members.

A special presentation was made to Dan MacMartin for all of his devoted work with the league over the years and was made by Mike Guy on behalf of the WTFBL.

O&DMSL presents trophies to six division champions

WINCHESTER — Representatives from many of the 36 teams involved in the Osnabruck and District Minor Softball League were present here Sunday afternoon as that organization presented regular season and playoff championship trophies.

The O&DMSL in 1985 involved six divisions including Squirts, Pee Wees, Bantam girls and boys as well as Midget girls and boys. Thirty-six teams and 425 players participated over the past summer.

Here in the arena hall Sunday afternoon presentations were made to the regular season and playoff champions.

In the Squirt division Alexandria took the pennant, but Chesterville won the playoffs. Alexandria, Chesterville, Finch, Newington and Berwick took part in this division.

Long Sault won both the pennant and playoffs in the Pee Wee division.

Bantam girls from Finch, Newington and Berwick competed in this section with Finch grabbing both regular and championship awards.

Bantam boys division competition among six entries including Finch, Williamsburg, Winchester, South Gower, Kemptville, Metcalfe and Mountain was extremely keen with Bob Williams and Reg Hyndman guiding their Stage West team to the pennant. Williamsburg with Dennis Whitteker at the helm then won the championship in a showdown with Mountain.

Chesterville girls dominated the Midget girls over the regular season, but were eliminated in the semi-finals by Finch after they had claimed the pennant. Finch then lost out to the champs from Winchester in the championship series.

Finch took regular season and South Gower playoff honors in the Midget boys section. Winchester, Newington, South Gower, Avonmore, Chesterville, Metcalfe and Finch all entered teams.

The league executive consisting of president Dennis Whitteker, vice-president John Ferguson, secretary Joan Schell, treasurer Marion Carkner, thanked all who attended the awards party and reminded everyone the next meeting is slated for April 1986.

Jets dump Lions, Glens to run pre-season string to four

METCALFE — Metcalfe Jets of the Alex English Division of the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League ran their unbeaten string to four games over the weekend, bombing the Morrisburg Lions 10-1 and downing the Alexandria Glens 7-4.

Metcalfe's first exhibition victories were 6-2 and 8-6 decisions over the Rideau-St. Lawrence Division Kemptville 73's.

Jets' coach Pete DeRooy says it is still early, but figures he will have a very competitive team this season. "We have a good corp of guys back. Stu Patterson (goalie) is very keen and will be our only over-aged player this year," he explained.

DeRooy said he only had 10 skaters available for last Friday's preseason test at the Glengarry Sports Palace in Alexandria and five of them were Midgets. Gary Poirier, Chris Bradley, Rick Downey, Todd Wallace and Mike Pratt all didn't play.

"I thought they (Glens) might beat us. I just had two regular defencemen and had to put some forwards back on the blueline, but we still won (7-4)."

The coach reports the Stefuraks (Glen and Barry) are playing very well, especially Barry and figures former Jet and Gloucester Ranger Tim Cavan will be back soon, so he feels the team will be a solid contender.

Stu Patterson would seem to have the inside track on Metcalfe's starting goaltending job. His vast experience in regular season and championship competition will be invaluable to the Jets.

"Stu (Patterson) has been doing a good job, but Tom McKinstry (second year) has been solid and now I hear St. John is coming back from Nepean (Junior A)." St. John and McKinstry shared the goaltending job last year.

It was no contest in last Thursday's game in Winchester as the Jets blasted Morrisburg Junior B Lions 10-1.

Don Gamble continued his hot scoring pace, connecting twice for the Jets. Second-year man Barry Stefurak fired in three and drew one assist. Darcy Provost scored two and set up three for a five-point effort. Craig Barton-Hill scored a goal and drew two assists as did both Todd Wallace and Murray Toll. Dave Warren (two), Chris Rawlings, Glen Stefurak and Jeff Hope all drew assists.

Jets led the Lions 4-0 after a period and 7-0 after two. John Morrow notched Morrisburg's only goal with 9:26 left in the final period. Bobby Deleavey and Todd Prieur set up the marker.

Metcalfe took 18 minor penalties while the Lions were tagged for 14 minor infractions.

Friday night in Alexandria the Jets led the Glens 4-3 after a period as Don Gamble fired in two more goals. Barry Stefurak and Craig Barton-Hill also connected in the opening stanza.

Darcy Provost made it 5-3 for the Jets, scoring the second period's only goal at 9:29.

Metcalfe opened up a 7-3 lead, netting a pair of goals within two minutes of each other early in the final period. Stefurak netted his second and brother Glen added his first.

Andrew Meth fired in the final Glens' goal with 1:13 left to go in the game.

Metcalfe's offence was led by the Stefuraks. Barry scored twice and helped out on two other goals. Glen scored once and earned three assists. Craig Barton-Hill had a goal and two helpers. Don Gamble scored twice and Darcy Provost hit for a single goal.

Jeff Hope, Pete Holmes and Dave Warren picked up assists. Stu Patterson and Tom McKinstry shared the goaltending.

Len Seguin, Charlie Giroux, Andrew Meth and Norm Labillois scored for Alexandria who dropped a close 8-7 preseason game to the Rebels Saturday night in Williamstown.

Jets took 18 of the game's 35 minor penalties.

Metcalfe will host the new Vanier Senators in Winchester tonight (Wed., Oct. 9) at 9pm in an exhibition match. The team will practice this Sunday in Winchester and return to their rink in Metcalfe for a workout on Wed., Oct. 16.

Hollingdrake leads Tagwi in b-ball

ALMONTE — Tracey Hollingdrake scored 58 points in three games here on the weekend as the Tagwi Warriors from the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry High School Board won the fifth annual Senior Girls' Basketball tournament.

Besides Hollingdrake's 58 points, the Avonmore school got 38 from her sister Heidi, 29 from Judy Bender, and a dozen from Judy Baxter.

The Warriors nipped Almonte 39-34 in the championship final after they had downed Gananoque 68-31 and Campbellford 38-18. Tagwi, six and one to date this year, lost to Almonte in the Eastern Ontario A final last year.

In other high school tournament action over the weekend, Bell H.S. of Ottawa defeated Smiths Falls 51-36 in the final game of General Vanier High School's invitational Junior Girls' Basketball tournament in Cornwall over the weekend. It marked the second consecutive tourney title for Bell.

SD&G BOARD PLAY

St. Lawrence Saints, defending SD&G Senior girls' A champs, thumped Glengarry Gaels 58-20 last Thursday. The Saints' Junior team also got their 1985 campaign off on the right foot, nipping the Junior Gaels 44-36.

Marilyn Grant led the Junior Saints with 14 points while Kerry MacDougall and Linda Roy had 10 apiece for the Seniors.

In Junior play last week St. Joseph's levelled its mark at one and one, defeating Char-Lan 26-20. Jill Blasko hooped seven points for St. Joe's.

Rothwell-Osnabruck Lancers won their second straight Senior girls game last Tuesday, dumping Seaway Spartans from Iroquois 59-32. Kelly Dafoe paced the Lancers with 35 points. H. Baird had eight for the Spartans.

The Lancers swept the doubleheader when their Juniors trimmed the Spartans 37-23. Sandra Fleming paced the winners with a big 24-point effort. Krista Duncan netted eight points for Seaway.

Frankly speaking

BIG AL A TRULY GREAT GENTLEMAN

Last week they laid to rest the earthly remains of Al Beardsal, but as long as hydro poles and towers reach to the sky, his legacy will remain with us, and when hydro men gather to hoist a few at the end of the day, the legend of Big Al will no doubt come into conversation. It is well over 50 years ago since the big fellow came to Winchester as a young hydro employee from the Georgian Bay area and moved in with Ma and Pa Fetterly. Hydro was new in those years and as the lines stretched their fingers across our rural area, Al moved up the ladder and soon was appointed manager of the busy Winchester area. Al built his lines with good, hard working men whom he ruled with an iron fist and all the cuss words in the book and even some that he invented to suit the occasion. Yes, on the outside Big Al was as tough as they come, but he could do the job and his men loved him. When you really got to know him, Al was a phony because for all his bluster and toughness, beat a heart as big as his huge chest. In fact, he was a gentle man. Al respected all women, but only loved one until the day he died; his wife Glad, who predeceased him. Glad was a little bit of a girl, but she could twist the big guy around her little finger. In his childhood, the big fellow was raised in a good Christian home and this Christian upbringing stayed with Al until the end and in spite of his act, Al loved his Lord and could quote the Bible with the best of them. He went about his life in the community without fuss or fanfare, but he was always available when we needed lights for a street dance or any help his boys could give. In later years a big joke for Al was all the money he made driving his welfare taxi, yes many miles were put on the old beige car driving the less fortunate free of charge. The big fellow leaves a legacy of thousands of friends and not one enemy for he was dearly loved and respected by all who passed his way. To Vallery, Bill, Tom and the grandchildren, our sympathies, but in the end it was for the best and the way Al would want it. You lost a great dad and grandfather, and we lost a very dear friend. He was a great gentleman.

JUNIOR FARMERS TOURNAMENT THIS SATURDAY

Each fall for the last number of years the Dundas Junior Farmers host their annual broomball tournament. Young boys and girls from all over the valley come to town and they play broomball and have a great time; always lots of laughs and good wholesome fun. In the evening they gather in the upstairs hall where the awards are presented before the evening dance. If you have some time on Saturday or want to do a little dancing on Saturday night, drop in and join them; they are always a bunch of good, young men and ladies.

Devils sweep Seaway

MAPLE RIDGE — Both Junior and Senior Blue Devils soccer squads hit the win column here last Thursday as North Dundas District High School took a pair of SD&G Board boys' decisions from the visiting Seaway Spartans from Iroquois.

Coach Caroll's Seniors recorded their first victory in three starts, posting a 2-0 decision over Seaway. They drew La Citadelle at nil in their opener at La Citadelle and then dropped a 1-0 decision to the Glengarry Gaels in their home opener. Last Thursday's two-goal victory was a big relief for the bewildered Devils' offence who hadn't been able to find the net.

North Dundas' Junior squad finished the day off in spectacular fashion, roaring back from a 3-0 first-half deficit to defeat the Spartans 4-3.

The brilliant come-from-behind effort improved coach Phil Plumb's squad's SD&G record to two wins and a loss.

Seaway kicked three straight goals into Chris Rodney's net in the opening 30 minutes, but couldn't keep a fired up Devil offence off the board in the final half.

Dundas' forward four - John Mackler, Rick Nelson, J.D. VaNoy and Mark McKinley ran rough-shod over the Seaway fullbacks in the second half, drilling four unanswered markers in behind goalkeeper Billy Dodge.

Ricky Nelson drilled in the first Devils' goal on a cross from Mark McKinley. His hard drive deflected down into the cage off the crossbar and cut Seaway's lead to 3-1.

Nelson came right back up the right side of the field and sliced another goal off the lead, making it 3-2 on another hard kick.

J.D. VanNoy kept the ball rolling when he found a seam in the goal area and knocked in the tying goal.

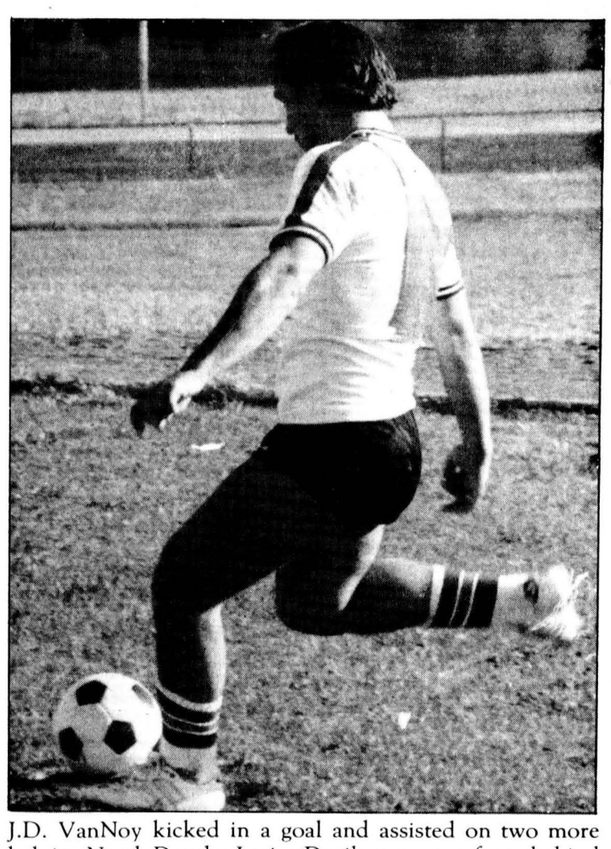
Outside right forward Mark McKinley iced the big comeback when he lobbed a high, drifting shot in the direction of the Spartan goal. The ball dropped in under the bar, over the keeper's head and provided the final margin of victory at 4-3.

Seaway tried to get a draw out of the match and tested Dundas' keeper (Chris Rodney) and his fullback line but couldn't manage another marker.

SENIORS

In the Senior match, Dan Gibson posted his second shutout in three starts, but finally emerged from a match on the winning side as his mates scored twice, their first two goals of the season, and downed the visitors 2-0.

Chris Johnston netted both goals for the Seniors.



J.D. VanNoy kicked in a goal and assisted on two more helping North Dundas Junior Devils to a come-from-behind victory over Seaway Spartans last Thursday. VanNoy and Mark McKinley sparked the Devils to a 4-3 decision.

North Dundas notebook

by Lisa Graafland

MAPLE RIDGE — With a bit of depressing weather — rain, fog and chilly temperatures — spirits have been a bit dampened lately. But with the help of new activities to venture into, new teams to try-out for, and more events occurring every day, smiles can be seen on most faces as students dash from one place to another throughout the day.

As previously promised, more inner school activities have begun. The more serious students have joined Mr. Graham's Diplomacy Club during activity periods. For those who enjoy basketball or cheering for their house, the girls have begun house league basketball with the juniors playing on Tuesdays and the seniors on Thursdays.

When it comes to school teams, the girls basketball teams have been giving North Dundas a good name. Both the senior and the junior teams won their home openers against La Citadelle, the senior game with a score of 38-15 and the junior game with a close one of 31-26. The boys soccer teams couldn't quite cut it during games against St. Lawrence. The juniors were defeated 5-0 and the seniors 2-0. Better luck next time.

Finally, Mrs. Sharkey and Mrs. Kelly are holding tryouts for the girls soccer teams. With a good turnout, lets hope for a couple of strong teams.

Various events and activities to participate in have been sprouting up. Our social convenor, Chris Lynch, provided the Grade 9s with an orientation day when they participated in such events as a tug-of-war. The winning team was the homeroom 9C.

Nominations for head boy and head girl were held this week. Those vying for the title are Damian Laflamme, Rob Baldwin, Brian Carscadden and Mark Armstrong for head boy. Heather Rose, Leslie Edwardson, Carolyn Anderson, Norine Milne and Marnie Lamb for head girl. Good luck to all.

Last but not least, another staff-student challenge was held in which the teachers defeated the students in football with a stroke of luck scored that winning touchdown.

MacDonald - Van der Linden

Elton and Margaret MacDonald, P.E.I., are pleased to announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Victoria, to Gerald, eldest son of Gerald and Eda Van der Linden, Metcalfe. Wedding to take place Nov. 2, 1985. Open reception at Vernon Recreation Hall that evening.

Provincial historical plaque unveiling slated for Nov. 23

VERNON — The regular meeting of the Osgoode Township Historical Society was held at the museum Tuesday evening, Oct. 1. The date for the unveiling of the provincial historical plaque honoring Alexander Cameron Rutherford, born in Osgoode Township in the Ormond area was chosen. It will be Saturday afternoon, Nov. 23.

A.C. Rutherford was the first premier of Alberta and the chancellor of its university. Elizabeth Price of the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture will be at the museum Thursday evening, Oct. 17, to meet with the board of directors and other interested persons who are arranging the event.

The society, as is its custom, will have a booth at Metcalfe Fair. A group of 19 people, studying Ontario architecture, will be billeted by members of the society for 'bed and breakfast' on Oct. 13. The society has received a grant from the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture to assist in Heritage Organization and Development for the year 1985-86. The grant was based on expenditures in 1984 in publications and extension activities.

Patti Mitton, a former employee of the Public Archives, is taking a course at Algonquin College in registration and museum artifacts. Patti and Elizabeth Stuart will be attending a day-long workshop at Prescott on Oct. 10. Parks Canada is arranging the hands-on instruction in preserving artifacts. Later in the month there will be a LACAC meeting at Baxter Conservation Park in Rideau Township.

The society continues to assist people from near and far in the search for their roots. In the last month visitors included McDiarmids from the Cornwall area, early emigrants from near Killin on Loch Tay, Perthshire, Moffats from Cumberland looking for their Robinson ancestors, many in Dundas, McDonalds from California descended from Donald McIntosh of Ormond, McConnells from Colorado descended from Hugh McConnel recorded in the 1851 Census of Winchester Township. One branch was in Osgoode. From each searcher the society obtains invaluable information about the patterns of history in our early development as a young country.

School board details enrichment program

ELMA — Parents from all over Dundas county gathered at the Elma School gymnasium Monday night to hear details of the county school board's newest program. The participants at the meeting were a little special because all had been invited by the board in order to understand the enrichment program currently underway in SD&G.

Children identified under the program were also present to hear what lies in store when they attend classes at Elma School commencing in late October.

One day a week, explained board consultant Joan Findlay, students who have been identified as demonstrating abilities in advance of their age group will attend classes at Elma. They will be taught by Irene McLean and will be bused from their schools.

"This is not a reward for good behavior," Findlay told the assembled parents and children," and it is not a punishment. It's just that some students have abilities in advance of what the others have."

"Their needs must be met too and under the regulations of a provincial law they have a right to special attention."

Once identified the children may attend enrichment programs throughout high school as well. The current program is mainly centered around the elementary students, though.

A tentative schedule has been drawn up and grade four will attend Elma on Monday; grades five and six on Tuesday; grades six and seven on Thursday; and grade eight alone on Fridays. The students will bring their own lunch to school and activities for them will be co-ordinated for the lunch period as well. The largest class could comprise 25 students but is anticipated there will be no more than 18 in each class.

THE CANADIAN JOBS STRATEGY.

WORKING OPPORTUNITIES FOR PEOPLE.

It is clear that Canadians need more jobs and businesses want to develop and expand. That's why the Government of Canada, in co-operation with the provinces, territories and the private sector, has initiated a comprehensive new Canadian Jobs Strategy.

The Jobs Strategy is a fundamental change in the way we invest in our most important resource - the people of Canada. The built-in incentives of the strategy encourage employers to develop new jobs and establish training programs which will lead to skilled and lasting employment.

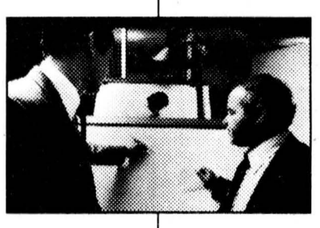
A COMPREHENSIVE STRATEGY TO CREATE SKILLED AND LASTING EMPLOYMENT.

Today's highly competitive and rapidly changing job marketplace has left many Canadians frustrated and unable to find satisfying and lasting employment. At the same time employers are often unable to hire people with the specific skills they need. The new Jobs Strategy now offers a flexible and comprehensive set of programs to bring together the needs of workers and employers and open up new working opportunities through training and on-the-job experience.

The Strategy is composed of six programs which are aimed at very specific and real difficulties being experienced by people looking for work in communities all over Canada. The programs assist people who have been displaced by technological changes in the workplace, young people looking for their first job, women re-entering the workforce, and individuals experiencing long-term unemployment. People who are having a hard time getting a suitable job will find programs in the Strategy to aid them in gaining skills which will make them more employable now and in the future.

SKILL INVESTMENT

To prepare and train Canadians for future jobs and to guard against their skills becoming obsolete due to technological change, the Skill Investment program will give employers and employees the chance to adapt to changing conditions which can threaten job security. The program encourages employers and employees to work together to develop training programs for their mutual benefit. The program is flexible enough to meet the needs of individual employees. Training courses may be taken on the job or at any training institution.



JOB ENTRY

The first job after school, or after a long absence from the workforce, is often the hardest to get. Job Entry will make it easier for young people to move from school to work and for women to re-enter the job market. This program will help break the vicious circle of "No job because you have no experience and no experience because you can't get a job." Practical training will be provided for up to one year through government support to individuals, employers and community groups. It will give individuals a solid base of marketable skills, by providing a combination of training and direct work experience.

JOB DEVELOPMENT

When some people are out of work for a long time, it is often because the skills they do have are not the skills that are needed out there in the job market. To help Canadians who are experiencing long-term unemployment, Job Development projects assist businesses and communities to provide training and practical work experience which will build up an individual's marketable skills and improve opportunities for lasting employment.

SKILL SHORTAGES

The Skill Shortages program will help employers develop skilled labour to increase productivity and competitiveness. To encourage employers to train Canadian workers in skills for which there are shortages, training assistance programs have been created. The Government of Canada will cover many of the employer's direct costs for training in job categories in which work is available, but for which there are currently too few skilled Canadians.

INNOVATIONS

The Innovations program looks to the future of the Canadian workplace. It will act as a catalyst to tap the creative resources of the Canadian people and stimulate new initiatives for revitalizing Canada's labour market. Innovations provides financial assistance to individuals and groups who have pilot and demonstration projects which test new solutions to labour market problems. There are no predetermined limits on projects, and proposals may address regional concerns, or issues which are national in scope.

COMMUNITY FUTURES

The Community Futures program will be developed to better understand, anticipate and respond to the impact of social and technological change in communities.

The program will address the real and pressing needs of communities by becoming involved in initiatives proposed from within the community itself. The particular strengths of a community can be the basis of its economic resilience, and the Community Futures program will build on these strengths by providing timely support and resources.

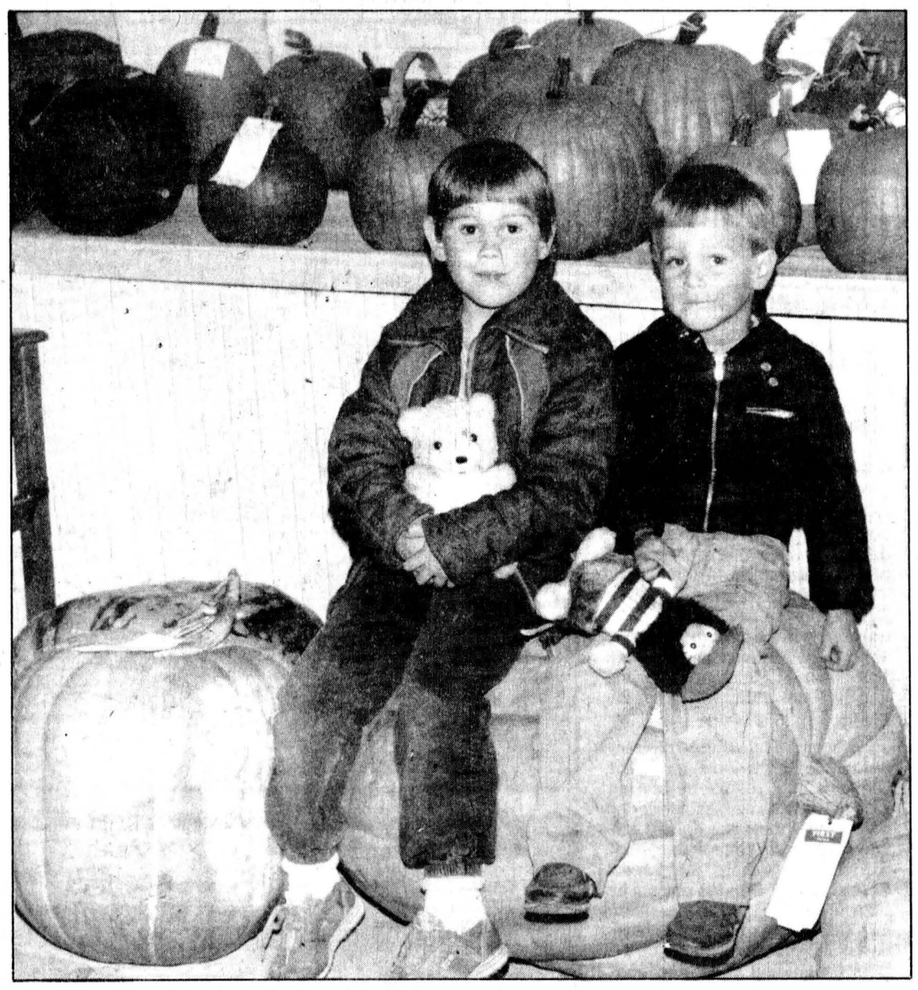
Exhibitors the winners at Metcalfe Fair



Anyone for pumpkin pie?

The Metcalfe Fair 'Pumpkin Committee' had planned to display the exhibits on an elevated stand, but these whoppers were too heavy. Enough for about 1,000 pies, but the boys in photo had a better idea — jack-o-lanterns. Press Photo—Rowan

Lorne Waddell tops crops section

METCALFE — Judging began Thurs., Oct. 3 on the wide variety of crafts and produce in the exhibit hall at Metcalfe Fair.

In seed grain classes, Lorne Waddell of Edwards placed first in classes for a peck of oats, peck of barley and 12 ears of corn. Alvin Quinn of Metcalfe placed first for 12 ears of silage corn.

Champion hay was submitted by Stewart Switzer of Metcalfe, and John Loney of Edwards won Reserve.

In the vegetable classes, Daphne Gee of Metcalfe was top exhibitor, with nine firsts. Allan Kittles, Ramsayville, was runner-up. Annie Barkley of Inkerman took the prize for the most unusual vegetable, while Don Harrison of Osgoode had the largest pumpkin.

Top exhibitor in the fruit classes was Bert MacAdam of Metcalfe.

Winchester's own Ault Foods was top exhibitor in the cheese classes, and also had the highest aggregate scoring and Grand Championship. Balderson Cheese and St. Alberts were runners up.

Crerar Honey of Vernon topped the entries in the honey classes.

Organizers reported 27 entries in the antiques class. Gerald Mackie of Edwards provided a threshing demonstration, with assistance from Winston Bellinger, who provided the tractor.

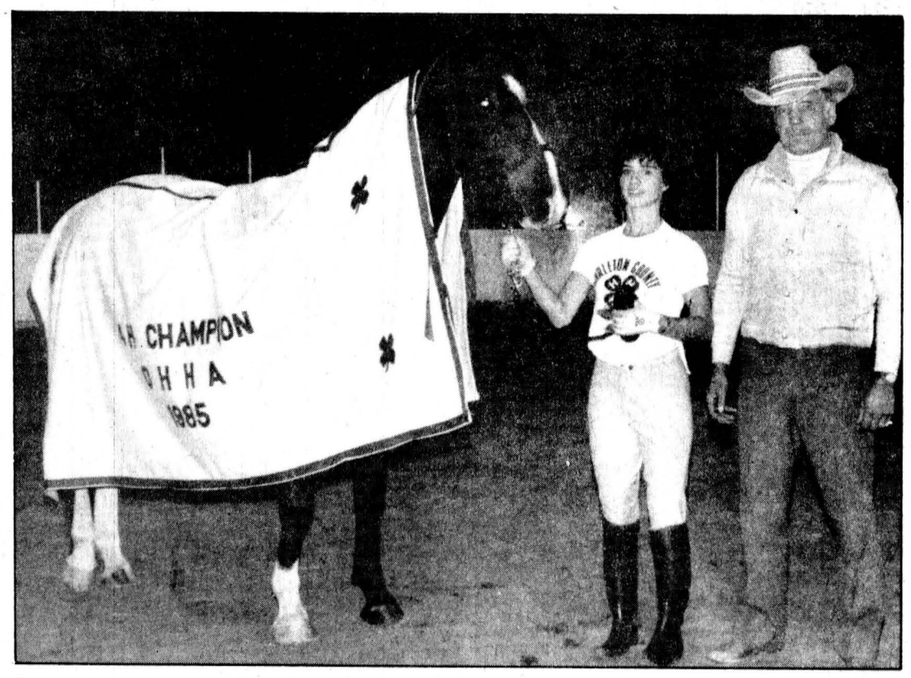
Under baking, the Robin Hood Celebrity Cookie Jar Contest was won by Audrey Little of RR1 Winchester. Susan Hoodestad of Metcalfe entered the Grand Champion bread, with championship cake and pie submitted by Donna Cooper of Edwards and Nelda Isaac of Metcalfe respectively.

The best specimen in sewing and knitting was entered by Linda Ripley of Metcalfe. Winner of the highest number of points in the same class was Dora Smits, Navan. In knitting and quilting, Dora Smits collected the highest number of points, while Angelic Ebbers of North Gower won the prize for the best craft.

The Canada Packers Quilt was won by Annie Barkley of Inkerman.

Marjorie Stearns was top flower exhibitor, while Jane Conn of Winchester showed the best potted plant.

Organizers report a large number of entries in the junior division. The highest number of points in the age six to 12 range was accumulated by Kari Acres of Vernon, with Kim Todd in second place. In the 13-19 age group, Julia Jeacle of Metcalfe won the most points and Jodie Hovestad of Metcalfe placed second.



Sabine Mueller's horsemanship skills earned her the 4-H championship at Metcalfe Fair last Friday — but her horse Never Too Late picked up the new coat. The Reserve Champion was Jayne MacIntyre. Heavy horse exhibitors come from far and wide

METCALFE — The Metcalfe Fair heavy horse show was held Fri., Oct. 4, beginning at 11am.

The champion Clydesdale mare was shown by Gordon and Stan Carruthers of Carp. John Heatlie of Brownsburg, Que., showed the Reserve.

Champion Percheron mare was shown by John Kirby of Chute-a-Blondeau, Que., and the Reserve Champion by Robert Kirby, also of Chute-a-Blondeau.

Walter Sparks of Nepean had the champion Belgian mare, while Stewart Crabb, Stittsville, placed second.

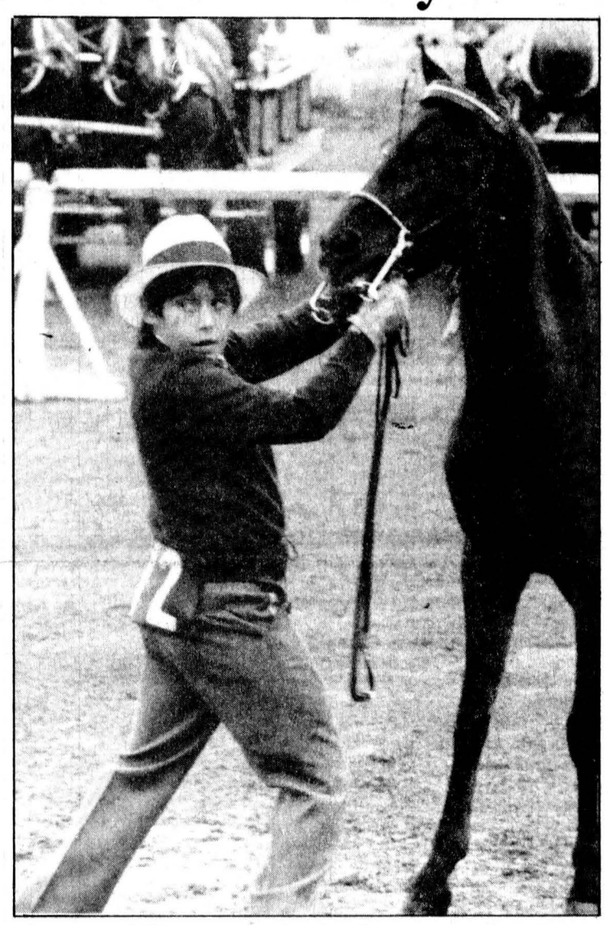
William Brass had the champion Clydesdale stallion, and Gordon and Stan Carruthers won Reserve.

Owner of the champion Percheron stallion was K.R. Crawford. Reserve went to Trevor Wilson.

Stewart Crabb showed both the Grand Champion and Reserve Belgian stallions.

Keith and Jay Drynan placed first in the unicorn hitch class. Stewart and Brian Crabb entered the winning four-horse team, while the top six-horse team was the entry of Keith and Jay Drynan.

4-H Achievement Day



A pony exhibitor eyes judge for favor.

METCALFE — Ten area 4-H clubs representing a total of 119 youngsters took part in the 4-H Championship Show at Metcalfe Fair Friday.

Herb Henderson of the Stittsville club was named champion dairy showman, with the reserve going to David Eastman of the West Carleton A club. In beef showmanship, Kirk Bradley of Gloucester was Grand Champion, and Shannon Crawford of the West Rideau Valley club was Reserve.

In individual breed showing classes, results were as follows:

Jerseys: first, Jennifer Hyland of West Rideau Valley; second, Ian Payne, East Rideau Valley.

Ayrshires: first, Trudy Hughes, Metcalfe; second, Heather Campbell, Metcalfe.

Holsteins: first, David Eastman, West Carleton A; second, Chad Cavanagh, West Carleton A.

Prize Ayrshires

Donald and Ken Rose of RR2 Mountain had another fine showing at the Metcalfe Fair. Eileen Rose (centre) with Grand Champion Elm Brae Liberty Elizabeth was presented with the Kenneth Campbell Memorial Trophy from Stella Campbell, while Marjorie Rose shows Reserve Champion Rosayre Lenora.

Roses capture Ayrshire honors

METCALFE — Donald and Ken Rose of RR2 Mountain continued the winning ways of previous years as they walked away with top honors at the Metcalfe Fair Ayrshire Show Friday night.

The Roses showed the Grand Champion, Reserve Grand Champion and Junior Champion of the show, and placed first in the Breeder's Herd class for a group of four animals bred and owned by the exhibitor.

Grand Champion was Elm Brae Liberty's Elizabeth, the show's first place mature cow, while the Roses' Rosayre Lenora took Reserve and first place in the Best Udder class.

Junior Champion was the Roses' Rosayre Desdemona. Bonnie Brae Idelle, shown by Neil G. Kittle of Winchester, was Reserve Junior Champion.

Nine exhibitors showed 48 animals, with James McQuat of Brownsburg, Que, placing the winners.

Class-by-class results in the senior division were as follows:

Two-year-old: first, Rosayre Freda, Donald and Ken Rose; second, Fairburn Paprika, William D. Dean and Sons, third, Bartonleigh BBK Brandy, Jeffrey G. Linttell.

In the Breeder's Herd class, McEwen placed first, with Nooyen second and the McGregors third.

Farm update

DFA executive

The DFA elected a new executive last week at the annual meeting held in South Mountain. Heading the group for the next year are, back row, left to right, Steven Barkley, Matilda co-ordinator, Marion Graham, Mountain co-ordinator, Ted Van Moorsel, Williamsburg co-ordinator, Andy Driscoll, Winchester co-ordinator. Front row, Rhonda Schneckenburger, secretary, Herman Jansen, president, Max Sabey, vice-president.

Dundas Federation re-elects executive

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — There wasn't a single ballot cast, but the Dundas Federation of Agriculture has a new executive nonetheless.

The change in personnel was made at the annual meeting held last Wednesday in South Mountain, where president Herman Jansen was returned to office by acclamation.

A crowd of 150 was in attendance for the dinner and guest appearance of Del O'Brien, and most were content to take in the affair rather than get involved with elections.

Max Sabey of Mountain Township was the sole candidate for the vice-president position and he will serve the Dundas federation for the upcoming year.

Filling out the executive are the four township co-ordinators, also acclaimed. Ted Van Moorsel will handle the duties for Williamsburg Township, Steven Barkley takes over for Matilda and Marion Graham will co-ordinate activities for Mountain Township. Andy Driscoll was selected to head Winchester Township.

Regional directors, charged with linking the county federation with the provincial network, were also chosen last week. Gordon Garlough will continue as the director for Dundas South and Alvin Runnalls will serve Dundas North for the upcoming year.

The annual convention of the OFA will be held in Toronto the last week of November and six delegates from the county have been selected to attend. For Dundas North, Henry Van Den Broek, Marion Graham and Ken Carkner will be representatives, and for the southern section, Ted Van Moorsel, Brian Armstrong and Steven Barkley will carry the banner.

Perennial agriculture ministry fieldman Gerry Carey ran the elections and, though he had an easy time of it, he was rewarded by the membership. Carey has taken a job with the ministry that will take him from the Leeds, Grenville and Dundas circuit he served, and the DFA thanked him for his years of work here. Several former presidents of the DFA, including Ken Carkner, Hugh Blaine, Clifford Howse and Martin Schneckenburger, presented Carey with a gift.

Local support for protests

WILLIAMSBURG — Farmers in Ontario are hoping the efforts of agricultural groups and sympathetic politicians will reverse the direction of two recent government projects that threaten the future of the industry.

At the annual meeting of the Dundas Federation of Agriculture last week, director Gordon Garlough authored two resolutions that spell out the local federation's opposition to the impending spills bill legislation and a recent drainage report that belittles the value of drainage projects in Eastern Ontario.

Both resolutions were supported by the crowd of 150 and Garlough will take up the cause again at the Ontario Federation of Agriculture meeting in Toronto next week.

Of major concern to Garlough is the spills bill which was passed in 1979 by the Conservative government but lay dormant until this summer when the Liberals took over and pursued the matter in earnest. The legislation has enormous implications for farmers, though Garlough feels they aren't the target of the new laws. Farmers are the victims of poor planning and many could be wiped out if changes aren't made.

Garlough said the new spills law is the result of public concern over accidental spills of substances such as PCBs. The bill would make the owner of the substances absolutely liable for damages regardless of where a spill occurs and whose fault it is. A farmer who orders a substance and has it spill en route to his farm would be liable for all costs involved in cleanup and legal matters.

"Our major concern is the part that says the owner is liable rather than the organization at fault," said Garlough. "In any other situation I know of, the liability is assessed by the courts according to who the court feels is responsible."

As the bill stands now, farmers would have no option but to pay damages and seek retribution through the courts from the party actually responsible. Insurance companies have indicated risks are too high to offer any security to farmers, and companies selling the dangerous products would make sure farmers pay for the products before delivery to protect themselves from liability.

The result would ruin any farmer involved in a damage suit, said Garlough. "Farmers would have to pay damages up front, and while they might be able to get the money back through the courts in about five years, any situation like that would wipe a farm business right out, you wouldn't have to worry about the five years."

Garlough is not optimistic that any changes are in store for the bill before it takes effect Nov. 29 "As far as I know the provincial government hasn't shown any willingness to back away from its intentions. From the contacts we've made, it appears the bill is going through as it was made, period."

Hearings concerning the bill were held in late August, but Garlough who attended one in Kingston, said the panel discussing the matter was more interested in advice on how to implement the bill rather than its contents.

While opposition to the spills bill appears to be in vain, Garlough expects the Environment Canada report on drainage can be successfully contested. In short, the report stated that much of the $11 million spent through the five-year Eastern Ontario Subsidiary Agreement was a waste. Grants through the joint federal-provincial program supplied farmers with two-thirds of the funds for drainage projects and the authors of the report stated that much of the land effected was inappropriate and wouldn't have been drained if farmers had been required to cover more of the costs.

Federations of agriculture across Eastern Ontario disagree, stating that the report is full of inaccuracies. Agriculture Minister Jack Riddell has joined the opposition and recently demanded that Environment Canada withdraw the report and issue a public statement in explanation.

"The report was obviously done by people who don't know agriculture and aren't aware of everyday facts of life," said Garlough. "I hardly know how to describe it, but the way they used the information was simply incorrect."

Garlough said the land inventory sources used to indicate that some of the land wasn't appropriate for drainage weren't accurate enough for the government to issue a fair statement. He said the sources couldn't provide for accurate translations to farm scale or field scale.

"It would be like taking a globe of the world and trying to measure in its scale the distance between Winchester and Ottawa. It's absurd."

Garlough said the immediate effects of the report would be to cut funds for drainage and make future drainage improvements prohibitive through costs. He added that the report neglected to acknowledge the other effects of drainage, most notably improved water quality and erosion control.

He said indications from the government on the drainage issue also reveal little interest in reversing a decision, but with the support of local politicians and the agriculture minister, he maintains a certain amount of optimism that the report will be withdrawn.

Need urban understanding

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — The plight of today's farmer has to be related to the urban community if an understanding is to be reached and the fortunes of those working the land improved, says Del O'Brien, chairman of the Ontario Agricultural Council and part-time dairy farmer in Pembroke.

O'Brien made his remarks to a crowd of 150 at the annual meeting of the Dundas Federation of Agriculture held last week in South Mountain.

O'Brien added that the enlightenment should come soon, before a movement toward ignoring farmers is left to solidify. He wasted little time with pleasantries and launched into a review of the recent history of agriculture in Canada and what lies ahead. He stressed that the future is in the hands of farmers.

"We (in the farming community) haven't got as many friends as we've had historically," said O'Brien, quickly adding that SD&G MPP Noble Villeneuve is a friend. He said that Villeneuve, who was in attendance, "is a great talent - who is always fighting for the cause of farmers."

But for the most part, farmers are on their own, said O'Brien. While remaining the backbone of society, farmers have now reached a point of financial desparation that forces them to drive a message home with the urban population, which O'Brien says lives in an "artificial" world.

"The farm story has to be told so the urban population can understand and appreciate the role that farmers play economically and socially."

The story is not a pretty one. Technology since the Second World War has progressed so much that production far exceeds demand. Marketing schemes are a shambles and farmers strive to produce more and more to meet debts, while returns for goods continue to drop.

Between 1956 and 1978 farmers increased productivity by 500 per cent, meaning it requires one-fifth the work it used to. But in that same time farm incomes have only increased from $480 million to $650 million.

Today, in real dollars, farmers are only making two-thirds of what they earned in 1970. O'Brien said the problems were inevitable in the only business where management is not practised.

He said no other group has suffered the deminished income of farmers, that the situation "flies in the face of all the laws we've ever heard of."

Adding significantly to the financial nightmare of farmers is the amount of capital tied up on the farms, and the forces acting on the values. To keep up with demands, farmers have borrowed $6 billion between 1956 and 1978, but the total income in Ontario now is $800 million, just enough to cover the interest on those loans.

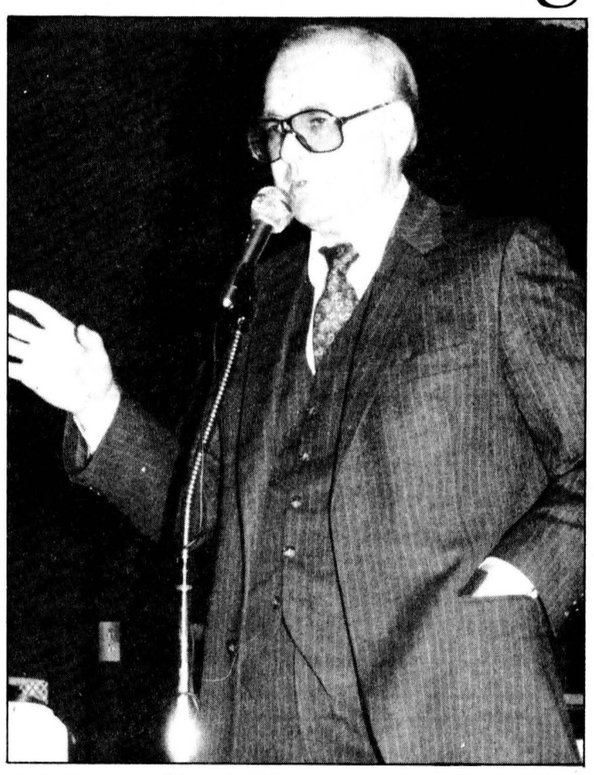
O'Brien said the rules of farming were rewritten in 1972 at the world convention in Rome. "They told everyone to farm, farm because the world was going to starve. People came away from that figuring farming was going to be better than OPEC."

With attractive interest rates in the 1960s and '70s, farmers got used to borrowing. Times were good for a while, said O'Brien, because inflation raised the value of a farmer's assets, but high interest rates and deflation have now halted the party. Asset values are down to the point where lost equity was three times the total farm income in 1982 and 1983.

"The experts can't figure out why production is so high when the prices are down," said O'Brien. "Well, every farmer knows why. He's still got a debt to pay and if they cut the price in half he has to produce twice as much to cover it. Supply and demand doesn't work."

O'Brien said the only way to survive is for Canadian farmers to get together, set up a marketing system of their own, based on established practises, that controls production and prices.

Globally, the rules aren't fair because European farmers are heavily subsidized, creating a state of no control and extreme surplus. O'Brien said the world markets are closing on Canadian producers, and it is imperative that our farmers act now.



Del O'Brien addresses DFA

In the present situation, Canada will not be able to compete on the world market, but the problems at home can be resolved. "Our world markets are closing because our costs of production are higher, it's simple. If the only rule is, where can we get the cheapest food, then we're done now. But we haven't got much more time to save the situation here. The mood of the electorate won't let us change things if it isn't soon. They want everything for nothing," said O'Brien, stating that farmers received 60 cents from every consumer dollar spent in the 1960s, and now get 28 cents.

While most of his speech was far from a morale booster for local farmers, O'Brien did reinforce the basic ideals of farm life. Those raised on the farm are ingrained with a fortitude that is not present in a city upbringing, said O'Brien.

"Those raised in the city don't have the support of farm life. It's a product of living far from the land and far from the soil.

"On the farm it's a cause and effect life but in the city the rules are all different. We learn that hard work makes farming succeed and in the city the reality is the opposite. It's the best cheat on the block that wins, life is artificial."

Time to tour test plots

NEPEAN — Again this year, OMAF co-ordinated corn variety trials to test the top performing corn varieties that were planted in the major corn producing counties of Eastern Ontario.

Now is a good time to tour such plots to observe the performance of the different hybrids planted in the trials.

There are 14 trials planted throughout Eastern Ontario. All the plots have the same 21 varieties of corn, within the 2500-2700 corn heat unit rating. A check variety is planted between the test hybrids, to help minimize any field variation when calculating the final yields. The plots will be weighed off with electronic weigh wagons, provided by the participating corn companies.

Variety trials in the counties of Carleton and Lanark can be found at Garnet Ralph's, Richmond; Bill Livingston's, Baseline Road, RR6 Ottawa; Wendell Gourlay's, Con. 5, Huntley; Art Gillan's Proven Line, Fitzroy; Don McRae's, Mississippi Road, Carleton Place; and a no-till planted trial at John Miller's, Conc. 1, Bathurst, near Perth.

Brinston Shakers hold 4-H meeting

by Leslie Hamilton

BRINSTON — The Brinston "Long John Shakers" opened their second meeting on Sept. 30 with the 4-H pledge.

The secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting. We then measured each other and our leaders Anna Smail and Antonia Meerakker helped everyone to pin and cut out the patterns on their material.

Before the meeting adjourned at 8:30pm it was decided that our third meeting would be held at Nationview Public School on Mon., Oct. 7, 1985 at 6:30pm.

THE INCREDIBLE VERSATILE 200 SERIES 4WD BIDIRECTIONAL TRACTOR.
EVERY WHEEL RESPONDS TO THE CHALLENGE.
Efficiency. It's become an all-important challenge to today's successful farm manager. That's why the VERSATILE* 200 Series tractors make good sense.
They're the only true 4WD tractor in their horsepower range (85 and 100* PTO hp—63 kW and 75 kW). Unlike 2WD and 2WD with mechanical front wheel assist, the VERSATILE 200 Series delivers constant, even drive to every wheel, resulting in a gain of up to 35% more traction over the conventionals.
Add to that, increased flotation, less soil compaction, greater fuel savings, better braking, even tire wear, earlier spring starts, and you've bought yourself a tractor that delivers the ultimate in efficiency. As well as value for money.
The 200 Series tractors are powered by dependable, Cummins four cylinder, turbo-charged diesel engines. They're driven by smooth, infinitely variable HYDROTOUGH™ drive, with a 3-speed range transmission for optimal lugging power. And they have a unique BIDIRECTIONAL™ design with a revolutionary 180° TURNABOUT CONSOLE™, so you can always see exactly what you're doing.
Pulling or pushing, in the yard or in the field, the VERSATILE 200 Series has the competition beat, coming and going!
Come in and challenge me to demonstrate the tractor of tomorrow!

LAST CHANCE FOR GAS
It's getting colder. You can feel it and you've probably turned up your thermostat already. If you heat your home with oil, the cold weather means two things: you'll pay top dollar to heat your home; and it's nearing the time when the frost prevents NC Gas from installing a Natural Gas line to your home.
WHOLE HOUSE COMFORT
So why wait another season? Why not install Natural Gas now and do something special for your family with the money you'll save.
To help you decide to call NC Gas, remember these points:
- you can save up to 50% of your home heating bill with Natural Gas;
- NC Gas will install a Natural Gas furnace or conversion burner free for a year.

Winter Fair sale to help charities

OTTAWA — Some of the less fortunate people in the National Capital area will benefit from the livestock auction sale at this year's Ottawa Winter Fair, Oct. 9 to 13 at Lansdowne Park.

A share of the gross returns from the sale, scheduled for 7pm Friday night, Oct. 11, in the Cattle Castle, will be donated to one of the area's soup kitchens. CFRA's popular morning host "General" Ken Grant, will wield the auctioneer's hammer for the sale of the Grand Champion Steer at the sale.

Ottawa Winter Fair President Ivor Williams says he expects a good turnout as the 83rd annual fair offers a good variety of events to appeal to both urban and rural visitors.

Horse shows will occupy the Civic Centre arena for most of the time starting with the judging of line classes at 8am on Wed., Oct. 9. The climax of the show will be the $3,000 President's Cup jumping event and the popular six-horse hitch heavy horse show on Saturday night.

Sunday at 12:30 the western horse clubs of the Ottawa valley take over for a show that features the finals of the valley queen competition.

The two exceptions to the timings of horse shows in the Civic Centre are the Holstein Show at 10am Thursday and the 4-H Championship Calf Show at 10:30am Friday.

The Ottawa Winter Fair is the finale of the fair season in Eastern Ontario and attracts the best of the championship-quality livestock and crops from the farming communities.

Judging of seeds and farm produce takes place on Wednesday at 1:30pm. 4-H lambs will be on show in the Cattle Castle at 7:30pm on Thursday, followed by judging of market lambs. Breeding sheep will be judged at 11am on Friday.

Cattle shows, other than Holsteins, are in the Cattle Castle: Jerseys and Guernseys at 10am Saturday; Ayrshires at 1pm Saturday. Simmentals will be judged at 4pm Saturday and the remainder of the beef breeds will show at 12:30pm Sunday.

The only swine entered will be the 4-H Club Junior Barrow Show at 11am Friday in the Cattle Castle.

The Eastern Ontario Bird Breeders Association poultry show, wild fowl exhibit and rabbit show will be in the coliseum, where there will also be an agriculture educational exhibit.

Events of interest to the homemaker will take place every day at 2pm in the salons of the Civic Centre highlighted by a fashion show at 7:30pm Thursday with entertainment provided by the Ottawa Police Male Chorus.

Other entertainment will include the Old Time Fiddling Contest starting at 1pm Saturday with finals at 7:30pm and a step-dancing competition at 1pm Sunday with the finals at 4pm. Joe Teevens and Goodtyme Country will play for dancing Friday night.

The fair will also have a large assortment of commercial craft displays as well as exhibits of the valley's maple products, cheese, wool and apples, and local handiwork.

The Women's Institutes will operate a tea room and the Ladies' Committee will have an apple pie and cheese booth.

Admission for children 14 years and under is $1. The regular adult entry fee is $4 with a special $3 rate for senior citizens. Larger families can benefit from the special family rate of $10. As usual, there is free admission on opening day, Wed., Oct. 9.

Farmers' Olympics winners

Bare bones tractor here

Recognizing the tough economic conditions facing the North American farmer, Massey-Ferguson has introduced the MF 283 "cost cutter" tractor.

This 67 PTO horsepower (manufacturer's rating) utility tractor has a manufacturer's list price of under $17,000.

"Farmers still need new tractors, even in tough times, and we have to produce them at prices they can afford," said John H. Ruth, General Manager of North American Tractor Operations for Massey-Ferguson, Ltd.

Overall, the MF 283 is equipped to do the job, yet is very competitively priced for the farmer who wants a lower cost tractor with the same high quality and performance of all other Massey-Ferguson tractors, Ruth said.

Designed for economy and ease of operation and maintenance, the tractor features a four-cylinder, direct-injection Perkins diesel engine and an eight-speed manual transmission with two reverse speeds and half of the eight forward speeds in the important two to seven MPH working range.

Overall length of the MF 283 tractor is 146.6 inches and the width is 82.9 inches. The tractor's wheelbase is 84 inches.

Agri-Food kickoff

During a tour of the 1985 International Plowing Match in St. Thomas, OMAF minister Jack Riddell, right, presented Premier David Peterson with a copy of this year's official Agri-Food Week poster. Agri-Food Week, Oct. 7-14, is designed to increase the consumer's awareness of the role of agriculture in Ontario.

Agri-food celebration grows

WINCHESTER — Special events are being held across Ontario this week as the province celebrates Agri-Food Week, Oct. 7-14.

The official kick-off was held at College Park in Toronto at noon Mon., Oct. 7. A rural team headed by Ontario agriculture and food minister Jack Riddell competed with an urban team in a number of events, including an apple peel-off, a milk chugging competition and an Ontario wine-tray race.

Many other special events are to be held across the province to call special attention to the important role of agriculture.

According to Carleton County Rural Organizations specialist Joanne Newman, the agri-food theme will be promoted in the county from Oct. 8-19.

Newman will be demonstrating techniques of microwave cooking emphasizing Ontario food products, at the Ottawa Winter Fair Ladies Program. Three sessions of "Ontario Foods in the Microwave" will be presented Oct. 8, 15 and 16 at Richmond, Metcalfe and Kemptville respectively.

Kathy Simpson, Rural Organizations Specialist for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, will be giving similar demonstrations later this month. Sessions will be held Mon., Oct. 28 at St. Raphael's Parish Centre; Tues., Oct. 29 at the Chesterville Fire Hall; and Wed., Oct. 30 at the Christian Reformed Church Hall at Eamer's Corners.

In Carleton County, producer groups will set up and man a display at the Bayshore Mall on Oct. 17-19. The Carleton Pork Producers, Carleton-Grenville Cattlemen and Eastern Ontario Sheep Association, District 10, as well as the Carleton Milk Committee, will be handing out free brochures. Agri-Food Week lapel buttons, posters and fact sheets will be given out to the public.

Knit-Wits meet

by Pamela Giles

MOUNTAIN — The second meeting of the Hallville-Mountain No. 2 4-H "Actionwear" club was held on Wed., Oct. 2, 1985, at the home of Anja Berends.

At this meeting, "Measuring Up", members found which pattern size they required. The club learned about choosing fabric, buying notions, and were given hints on fabric preparation.

The Knit-Wits next meeting will be held at 7pm, on Wed., Oct. 9, 1985, at Mrs. Berends' residence.

Ethel Benson Baird

Ethel Benson Baird of Ottawa, and formerly of Kinburn, died Thurs., Sept. 19 at home. She was 95. Mrs. Baird was born in Dalmeny, the daughter of the late Wm. Alexander McConnell and his wife, Margaret Ann Stewart.

She was predeceased by her husband, Edwin Wesley Baird, and is survived by daughters Kathleen, Phyllis and Lois of Ottawa and son Gordon (husband of Edna) of Kinburn. She was predeceased by a son, Oren. She was the grandmother of Gordon (husband of Lynn), Janet and Harold and great grandmother of Jason.

She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Annie McVey of Winchester, Ont., and was predeceased by two brothers, the late James and Stuart McConnell, and four sisters, May Stanley, Bessie Campbell, Ella McConnell, and Katherine McNee; she is also survived by several nieces and nephews.

The funeral was held at the Tubman-Kennedy Funeral Home in Carp, on Sat., Sept. 21 with Rev. M. Baldwin officiating, assisted by Rev. W.H. Legrow. Special music was rendered by Mrs. Wendell Styles, Kinburn. Interment was at Diamond Cemetery. The pallbearers were Gordon Baird Jr., Harold Baird, Jim Kennedy, Stewart Rivington, Kevin Stevenson and David Cavanagh.

Erma Morrison

Erma Morrison of Chesterville, a former resident of the Winchester area, died Mon., Sept. 30 at Ottawa Civic Hospital. She was 62.

Mrs. Morrison was born Sept. 15, 1923 in Inkerman, a daughter of the late William Richmyre and the late Joanna Jackson.

She is survived by her husband, Gerald Morrison, son Garnet Edgerton of RR1 Inkerman, granddaughter Tracey Edgerton and brother Sid Richmyre of Vancouver, B.C. Mrs. Morrison was predeceased by her first husband, Garnet Edgerton, in 1953. She was also predeceased by a brother, William Richmyre.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. William Daw at Vice and Craig Funeral Home in Chesterville on Wed., Oct. 2 at 2pm.

Pallbearers were Bert Droppo, Keith Blaine, Bill Richmyre, Joe Morris, Angus Hurley and Roy Meldrum.

Interment was at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Howard Lloyd Presley

Vernon resident Howard Lloyd Presley died at the Ottawa General Hospital on Thurs., Sept. 26, at the age of 69 after a battle with cancer.

Mr. Presley was born Jan. 11, 1916 in Clarence, Ont., a son of the late James Presley and Ida Wylie. He married Edna Sharkey of Cumberland in June 1952 and moved to a farm in the Vernon area in 1954 and retired to Vernon in 1979.

He is survived by his wife Edna, and sons Keith and Bruce, daughters Grace and Janice of the Vernon area and Rosemary Reoch of Toronto and three grandchildren, Shannon Reoch, Adam and Jason Presley. He is also survived by his brother Arden of Wendover and sisters Luva Smith of Cumberland, Lora Angus of Alliston and Vina Brown of Vankleek Hill.

He was predeceased by sister Mildred Smith, and brothers Horace and Irvin.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Jones at Duncan Funeral Home, Metcalfe at 2pm Sept. 28, 1985.

Interment was at Springhill Cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS — We would like to extend a special thank you to the Scott family and our family for the party given to us on the occasion of our 15th wedding anniversary. Thanks to friends, neighbors and relatives who attended the party. Your good wishes, cards and gifts were deeply appreciated.
—Sincerely, Rueben and Elsie Scott 26

CARD OF THANKS — We would like to thank everyone who helped make our mixed party a success. Special thanks to Bruce and Sharon for all they did.
—Gary and Dana 26

CARD OF THANKS — We would like to express our sincere thanks to relatives, family, friends and neighbors for the cards, flowers, gifts, phone calls and visits Carl received. Your help and support while Carl was in the Children's Hospital was greatly appreciated. To Dr. Adamson for his help, a very special thank you.
—Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Loucks and Carl 26

CARD OF THANKS — The family of the late Erma Morrison, wish to thank relatives and friends for the floral arrangements, cards, messages of sorrow and contributions to charity at her time of passing. Special thanks to Dr. Prefontaine, Dr. McLean and all other doctors and staff of A4 Ottawa Civic Hospital, Vice and Craig Funeral Home, Jim Daniels and the pallbearers. To Pastor Bill Dawe for his comforting message. Mrs. Bernilda Droppo and family for providing the lovely lunch after the service. These acts of kindness will long be remembered. 26

CARD OF THANKS — The family of the late Mrs. Annie Shane are gratefully indebted to our friends and neighbors for their expressions of sympathy, acts of kindness, floral tributes, donations to worthy causes, and for the many Mass cards received. Thank you also to Father Appelman for his visits and prayers. Such thoughtfulness and kindness were much appreciated and will always be remembered.
—Marguerite, Mary, Murray and Freida 26

CARD OF THANKS — Thank you very much Dr. Adamson and nurses for looking after me so well while I was in the Winchester Hospital. Thank you everyone for my cute cards, gifts, treats and visits. Special love and thanks to Laurie, Randy and Ashley for helping me so much.

In Memoriam

HAMILTON — In loving memory of Iva who passed away on Oct. 12, 1983.
I had a wife with a heart of gold,
Who was more to me than wealth untold.
Without farewell she fell asleep
With only memories for me to keep.
If she could have spoken before she died
These words she would have replied.
This life for me has truly passed
I loved you to the very last,
Weep not for me, but courage take
And love one another for my sake.
—Ever remembered by husband Stanley and Family 26

MELDRUM — In loving memory of a dear father, father-in-law and grandfather Lorne Kenneth, who passed away on Oct. 9, 1981.
Down the pathway of memories,
We gently tread today,
Our loving thoughts are with you,
As life goes on its way.
—Always remembered by Roy and Maralene, Keith and Norma, Gladys and Sharon, Fred, Laura Lee and Gordon. 26
