In politics, a neutral is often left to shift for himself.

CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

First it was the late Spring and the ice was just a mite delayed in going out; then the only team coached by Doug Harvey lost out in the semi-finals and there was gloom in the Castle; then Dief took to the trembles and quivers and couldn't make up his mind whether to offer his scalp to the voters or not; and finally he did this week but George had had her kittens by that time and his small production was anticlimatic.

There really wouldn't be too much fun for the politicians if they didn't occasionally have the chance to play it coy and cute. All too often the public sees the M.P. or M.P.P. as a tempting target for a spot of special treatment. Regarded as the fountainhead of handouts, in spite of some notable sayings by some of our leaders about patronage, our members spend most of their time mending their fences with a strong glue of personal attention. To them, and rightly so, falls the dubious pleasure of looking after Tom, Dick and Harry when their business touches on things governmental.

Once every little while, though, things take on a different hue. The battle flags are dusted off, the banners of ancient battles are hung out to air and the wind machines are oiled and greased. Hustings are spoken of as if they are real localities and members gulp gently into the lists of latest babies born in the riding. There is a sudden hustle and bustle about the back rooms of the parties; local party chieftans gird up their flaccid loins and look with questionable pleasure to another sixty days of limelight.

Meanwhile back at the Castle, things are much as usual for this time of year. Elections come and go, but the mess in the moat is always there in the Spring. The v.p. shudders every morning that time is awasting and nothing is done yet about the greenery. We long ago developed a recurring Spring ailment known as "rake's disease." It has to do with an eruption we experience when we get too near a rake. The condition is rarely cured until our affected parts are bathed in the balmy airs of a trout stream or lake. Just yet, the call of the wild is at an ebb; but let the weather warm a bit and the grass start to struggle through the overburden on the lawn, and we are apt to get taken sudden like.

The editor of this family journal remarked the other day the only person he knew who could make both ends meet was a politician answering a question. But we think he forgets himself. We sent out a query by carrier pigeon asking him if he was going to be political for the next couple of months. Back came a succinct and pithy answer: "Etaoin, shrdlu." That sort of language really should be banned from local newspapers. We have heard indirectly, though, he has been seen consorting with certain types of citizen not noted for their stability. He has been getting blue in the face over certain matters and red-necked over other things, until one wonders just how neutral he can get. We await the rupture of his straining gaskets with some trepidation.

Incidentally, have you made your Easter Seals purchase yet? That is a vote for the best help an underprivileged kid can have. Send in the pink envelope now before you forget.

Federal election called for June 18

On Tuesday of this week Prime Minister John Diefenbaker announced his intention of dissolving parliament and holding a general Federal election on June 18. The matter has been one of considerable conjecture for the past few weeks. Mr Diefenbaker made the announcement in the House of Commons.

The riding of Grenville-Dundas has been stirring. The present member, Mrs Jean Casselman, will be running again for the Conservatives. The Liberals have not yet announced a candidate. The president of the local Grit association, John Fischl, spoke to this newspaper Tuesday night. He stated emphatically a Liberal would contest the riding and he would be chosen at a nomination meeting. The young president from Prescott would not reveal the name of the prospective candidate.

No rumours reach our ears regarding any NDP candidates.

Mrs Grant Ouderkirk and Mrs Don Meldrum are to look after tickets for the quilt to be drawn at a later date.

Mrs Alex Rutley and Mrs Elwin Pollock volunteered to look after supplies for the hall kitchen. A sum of money was voted for same.

Mrs Grant Ouderkirk reported on the 4-H banquet held in the hall. A cheque of $5 is to be sent to Riverside pupils for placing first in their division at the music festival. A $2 cheque will be sent to the Senior room of Berwick school. Berwick placed third in their division.

Holiday Good Friday stores open Thursday night

All stores in the village will be closed Good Friday of this week. Easter Monday will not be a holiday here.

It is slowly becoming evident the general public is in accord with the practice of having places of business closed on the religious holy day of Good Friday. Many of the cities of this country are reaching the same conclusions. Those places with a large civil service population will observe the Monday following as a holiday as will the local post office. The local bank has not made any announcement as yet.

All stores of the village will be open Thursday night until nine o'clock in accordance with the village by-law, revised and passed last Fall.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our sincere thanks to all those who were so kind and thoughtful during the illness and death of our dear father, Howard Barber. All your messages of sympathy, cards, calls and floral tributes were most appreciated.

The third annual calf sale sponsored by the Stormont and Dundas Holstein Clubs was held April 7 at Winchester with 21 calves bringing a total of $3,756 for an average of $178.

Top price of $230 was paid by John A. Hunter of Smiths Falls to W. R. McMenomy and Son, Inkerman, for a seven-month-old calf. Three other calves brought over $200; one from Harold W. High School News

Thursday evening the decorating committee went to the hall to prepare for the big combined dance with Winchester. The main accent of the dance was on uniting the two schools. The windows were decorated with gold, black and wine streamers and the crests of Winchester and Chesterville. The backdrop of the stage had a sketch of the new school drawn by Teddy and Michael Sinclair. A copy of the architects' floor plan of the composite school was drawn by Ann Casselman for all the students to see. We were very happy to see such a good turnout of both the teaching staffs and the students. Invitations were sent to Finch and Mountain District High Schools.

More dance tests are being held this week for the girls' physical education mark for Easter. The juniors will be tested on the Polka and the seniors on the second step of the Highland Fling with the turn.

According to the calendar there is only one week until the

Their stores will be closed every night at six with the exception of Wednesday when they will close at 12 noon. Their open night will become Friday night, when the lights will be on until 9 p.m.

All stores there will be closed tomorrow, Good Friday, and open Easter Monday.

Midget baseball team getting organized

Last Monday night baseball came alive for the summer months here. Midget partisans gathered in the local theatre to form their plans and make some important decisions.

Nearly thirty players, prospective players and supporters were on hand. Blake Feeley was chosen as manager with Arnold Sullivan getting the nod as coach. Arden Marcellus was the sparkplug in getting the meeting underway.

Lloyd Fyke who did yeoman work last year with the Intermediates, offered assistance when it was needed.

The midget age group extends to 17-year-olds. The manager, coach and interested players plan a trip to Metcalfe next Sunday. There EOSSA will hold the first meeting of the season to work out league affiliations, preliminary schedule plans and other pertinent matters.

Many hours of patient training and treatment are required for the benefit of crippled children. Specially trained therapists in treatment centres throughout Ontario use their skills in strengthening weakened limbs and backs. Easter Seal dollars make these services and many others possible. The 1962 campaign objective for Ontario, of one million dollars, is the highest amount ever requested—but it must be obtained in order to continue to provide the care necessary for the more than 15,000 crippled children.

This week the first Promotional Sale of the Grenville-Dundas Ayrshire Breeders Club was held. The temporary sale barn of Irwin Holmes at Winchester Springs was the scene. Thirty-five cattle were offered at an average of $221 with the cows averaging $320 The top cow brought $455. She was a 6-year-old consigned by Hilton Buckingham, Kemptville. Mrs Gordon Ouderkirk presided for the business meeting. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The roll call was answered by 24 members and 1visitor. Mrs Ouderkirk and Rev. Rajotte reported on a M. and M. workshop held at Newington. Many interesting bits of information were revealed including the fact that only 3 cents out of every dollar goes for overseas missions.

Plans were made for the Easter Thankoffering to be held on Thursday April 19 in the church with Mrs Hector McMillan as guest speaker. A food sale was also arranged for Saturday, May 5th, on Mrs O. Shaver's porch. Mrs G. Ouderkirk and Mrs W. C. Johnstone will be in charge.

MILKING MACHINE HINT

Flush out your milking machine as soon as you finish milking, say Ontario Department of Agriculture dairy specialists. A delay of even 20 to 30 minutes is enough to start the formation of milkstone. Once milkstone has started to form, you'll need a milkstone remover to clean it out of your equipment.

OPINIONS . . .
OURS AND OTHERS

He served his country well

General Andrew McNaughton has just retired. Although a well known man, it is doubtful if General McNaughton ever received the public acclaim he earned during his long and varied career, says the Cornwall Standard-Freeholder.

General McNaughton was a man who set himself goals and was prepared to spend his life working toward them, without much regard to temporary setbacks, frustration and lack of recognition. Possibly at times he showed a certain lack of recognition of sensitive spots in the thinking of his more politically-minded colleagues. But he did not waiver in pursuit of his main purpose.

What was that purpose? During the later years of his life, in particular, after the end of a career as a soldier and another as a politician, he set for himself and for Canada the goal of improving the usefulness of the great international rivers which are so important a feature of our geography.

General McNaughton became fairly well known in the Cornwall area during the negotiations concerning the St. Lawrence seaway and power project and its construction. As chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission, he was a leading figure in the development of the St. Lawrence which completely changed this part of Ontario.

The Columbia River plan in British Columbia was esually the object of General McNaughton's ambitions for Canada in the closing years of his varied career. It is true enough there are many factors apparently interfering with the realization of that goal and General McNaughton is no longer playing the leading part. But probably he is confident the course he advocated in the Columbia River scheme was and is the right one. Many will agree with him regardless of the outcome as influenced by local political considerations.

General McNaughto n was not personally successful in politics, a field he entered during wartime after relinquishing command of the Canadian Army overseas. He left the political life after serving as Canadian defence minister. Two successive defeats at the polls left him confused and probably embittered toward politics. But it was as a soldier and then as a public servant that he made his most outstanding contributions to Canada. He has left his mark on his country and Canadians should be indeed grateful for his dedicated, brilliant service in their behalf.

Curtains for the I.R.A.

The Irish Republican Army wrote its own obituary, observes the New York Times, when it announced that it was ending the five-year campaign of sabotage and violence, including a half-dozen murders, against Northern Ireland.

The original I.R.A. and its political arm, Sinn Fein, came in like lions, of so many years ago, and now they go out like lambs. They may continue to exist in name; but Sinn Fein was not able to win a single seat in the Dail Eireann in last October's general election. They and the I.R.A. have been condemned by the most deadly of all judgments, public indifference—aside from which the border defences on both sides against the I.R.A. have been very effective.

A revered and, one might fairly say, a glorious symbol of the departing area is the old, nearly blind Eamon de Valera, sitting almost like a statue of a legendary figure of old Ireland in the President's palace. He fought and killed Englishmen in the lurid days of the Easter Rebellion—nearly a half-century ago—and in the civil war. Today he is honoured by English and Irish alike. He did not fight in vain, and this can be said of all those old (they were young then) fighters. But the cause for which they fought was won a long time ago. Their sons and grandsons think of the struggle almost as we do of our War Between the States.

There's nothing to get excited about any more. Partition is resented but the present generation knows that if partition is ever to be ended, it must be by peaceful arrangements. The few score of young toughs who make up the tiny remanant that now lays down its arms used a grand and famous name for their organization, but the Irish Republican Army belongs to history, and it belongs to better men in times that are gone. So does the Sinn Fein.

Arctic exchange with Soviets

There is a touch of irony in the fact that Canada and the Soviet Union get along together best on the only frontier they share—in the Arctic, reports the Montreal Star. There is rather more than a touch in the fact that in this getting-along Canada is very much the junior partner.

Right through the cold war, Russia has continued to transmit its Arctic weather sequences. Combined with the reports from a handful of joint Canadian-American weather stations in the Arctic islands, they have been the raw material for the Western world's forecasting, for it is in the swirling air masses around the pole that much of the weather of North America, the Atlantic Ocean and Western Europe has its origin.

Russian scientific teams camping on ice islands have drifted throuh what are at least technically Canadian waters. Not a cry of alarm has been raised —perhaps because eventually we shall benefit by their research; the exchange of Arctic information continues unbroken.

As Dr Frederick Roots, one of Canada's top Arctic scientists, has pointed out, ',so far we're still on the receiving side" in this exchange. Much of our knowledge of the polar seas comes from freely-available Russian technical journals; our best maps of the area still originate in the Soviet Union.

Some Russian scientists have suggested politely that Canada might contribute more to this common knowledge. Perhaps with more and more technical experts going into the high Arctic each summer, including the men of the polar continental shelf project of which Dr Roots is co-ordinator, we shall be able to. Meanwhile we remain indebted to a supposed opponent for a type of knowledge which admits no boundaries.

SCHOOL MACHINE MAKER TAUGHT LESSON

One of the earlier of the teaching machine manufacturers learned a lesson the expensive way.

Dr James D. Finn, of the University of Southern California, head of a Natiinal Education Association project that surveyed the growth of teaching machines, said that the manufacturer built some machines and placed them in a fifth-grade classroom.

"He forgot how destructive fifth graders can be," Dr Fine said. "He found out."

Ten days later the manufacturer went back to the classroom, picked up the pieces, and went home to build machines that fifth graders couldn't hurt.

Spring has brought a new danger on to the roads — a whole flood of unlicensed operators, many of them operating vehicles for the first time, some of them careless and unskilled. And some of them are no more than 10 years old! Drivers, wach out for young cyclists, asks the Ontario Safety League.

Ontario Legislature Report

By Hon. F. M. Cass, Q.C.

This report is being written just as the Federal budget is being brought down with a general election in the offing and as the Ontario House is coming to the end of its 3rd Session. By the time this is read ,it is most probable that the Federal House will have been dissolved and the Ontario House prorogued.

The final estimates, those of Public Welfare, Treasury, Education and Municipal Affairs, were passed by the House after prolonged debate. Premier Robarts did an excellent job of piloting his Education estimates through the House and demonstrated that despite the heavy load and wide responsibility carried by him as Premier, he still was up to date on all phases of the operations and policies of his Department of Education.

As was anticipated, debate raged loud, furious and wordy on Municipal Affairs with much prominence being given by Opposition speakers to the many cases of Municipal difficulty and conflict of interest highlighted from time to time by Metropolitan daily newspapers headlines. The new Minister, your Member, was given a fair hearing and some reasonable criticism by the official Opposition and was subjected, as was his predecessor, to a very considerable amount of personal abuse and invective by Members of the NDP with very little of a constructive nature to be found in all their many words.

The final bills of this year's Session were introduced and given Committee consideration. Among the more important were several changes in labour legislation, amendments to The Municipal Act, The Assessment Act and Bill 80 or The Metro Toronto Act. In addition, the Minister of Municipal Affairs, your Member, introduced a bill to establish The Ontario Municipal Employees Retirement System. This proposes a province-wide pension plan for employees of municipal corporations and certain of their local Boards including non-teaching staff of School Boards. From the information released by the Department, it appears that the new plan is a very favourable one with fixed contributions and benefits, and completely portable within various government services. It is interesting to note that the acturial consultants to the Department in connection with this matter are The Wyatt Company and the manager of the Ottawa office of this company in charge of this is Mr J. Eldon Davidson, B.Com., of Winchester.

Premier Robarts also introduced an Act to amend The Liquor License Act to bring up to date many of the practices and rules of the Board. It is worthy of note that the proposals of the government preserve the principle of local option which the Liberal Party leader, Mr Wintermeyer, a short time ago in a statement to the House, jettisoned stating that his Party was in favour of abolition of local option in Ontario.

By the end of the week only three Standing Committees, those of Labour, Education and Municipal Law, were still sitting to consider legislation and the work of the House was nearly completed. Private Members were given opportunity on several days of continuing the Budget debate and giving to the House and the public their views on many matters and the views and needs of their constituents. And it is remarkable how many excellent speakers there are on all sides of the House and how many sound ideas are produced in these speakers.

Federal Government Report

By Mrs Jean Casselman, M.P.

Each year the Federal Budget causes a great flurry of excitement on Parliament Hill. For days ahead there is speculation as to what the new tax policies will be, and much speculating as to reductions.

The Minister of Finance, his Parliamentary Secretary, his Department, and his own office staff work long hours overtime of the most concentrated work.

It is always surprising that in spite of the number of people involved, the Budget is such a successfully guarded secret. This year was no exception. Not an inkling of the highlights permeated through to anyone.

At first glance, to some, the election budget may have proven dull and uninteresting. Actually it seems to me to be one of the most important budgets we have heard. It is a practical, commonsense business budget. At a time when there is worry that socialistic tendencies may sap the enthusiasm and drive of our Canadian citizens, we have Mr Fleming not only announcing encouragement to the business community, but in a manner which leaves no doubt that Canadian business will benefit from the Government moves only to the extent that it itself responds to them.

Possibly the most important feature of the budget is reduction intaxes on increased sales by manufacturing and processing industries. Provision is made for a 50% reduction in taxes on the first $50,000 of taxable income from increased sales and 25% on the balance. Manufacturing is the best potential for new employment and it also is our source of exports. These new reductions in taxes provide an incentive serving both these purposes. We have an encouraging dovetailing in Government policies in that increased source of exports will team with the very aggressive selling techniques of the Hon. George Hees, the Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Another very important new measure brought about by this budget is a tax incentive for research. The Government is providing a tax deduction of 150% on increased expenditures for scientific research in industry. Great benefits are bound to accrue to Canada in the development of new products. This is a field in which most countries of the world have been very active and considerably ahead of Canada in assisting costly research and scientific development. Research, of course, in spite of any assistance given by the Government or any other source, is best supported by prospects of financial returns. Measures to strengthen the whole of the economy, such as have been introduced, will in the long run do as much to encourage research as accelerated depreciation. Mr Fleming foresees a 7% increase in the gross national product, and he states that none of the portents of inflation which have before accompanied expansion of this proportion, are in evidence, nor are they likely to show while there is so much idle capacity.

FRENDLEE FARM CHATS

By Lillian Allison

"I'll sprinkle the clothes now," I said to myself late Monday afternoon, "and I'll write my column while Marry is milking." Then like a bolt from the blue I realized Harry wouldn't be milking. We had an auction sale on Saturday and there isn't a cow on the place.

It was quite a decision to make. Back in 1898 my father-in-law bought the farm and operated it as long as he was able. Then we took over the job and I've spent the past 21 years as a farmer's wife. Compared with what many farm women do in the way of milking, chores, etc. I've had a fairly soft time of it. I did, however, serve as tractor driver during seeding, haying and harvest and on a one-man farm that was much appreciated.

This year things would be different. My application has been accepted for a Home Economics course in Toronto this summer. That means good-bye to the regular tractor driver. And not just for this year for there will be more and more summer courses for me to take. Harry couldn't manage the hay, etc. alone and he couldn't hire help without a cook. In the end we decided to rent the farm and sell the cattle and machinery. That meant an auction sale.

April 14th looked a long way off when that date was set over a month ago but the days flew by like jets at an air show. Before we realized it it was the week of the sale. The articles to be sold had to be assembled, the cows cliped and things put in order. But the neighbours were most helpful. They gave a hand at baling straw; they hauled machinery into the calf yard; they helped clip cows; and did what they could. Then we waited to see the sun shine on sale day.

It didn't. At five o'clock Saturday morning there was close to half a foot of soft snow over everything. More was falling. Harry came in for breakfast with a face as long as a horse's. I was optimistic. There wasn't much choice. It is next to impossible to postpone a sale so I just hoped for the best. At least it wasn't cold.

About 11.30 the sun came out. But it must only have wanted to look around for by noon it had gone again. The snow had nearly all melted by then and turned the entire area into a mixture resembling mud, glue and water. Then the temperature dropped. The air was cold and damp with an occasional snow-squall.

Soon after noon a few hardy souls drifted in. They parked their cars along the highway and sloshed through the mud and water in long rubber boots. More cars joined the lines. By one o'clock a double line was parked bumper to bumper from the neighbour's on the west to the neighbour's on the east. Had they been in a single line they'd have reached over a mile.

A few women came too but the cool breeze was too much for them. They gravitated towards the house. From the east window we could see what was happening but we couldn't hear. We watched the crowd however follow the auctioner around as if he were the Pied Piper.

Accompanying the crowd were two clerks with pencils and counter check books. As each article was sold one of the clerks recorded his name, the article and the price. The buyer was given the bill and instructed to pay in the house.

My friends have been worrying about the floors for some time. "If it's muddy," they predicted, "your kitchen floor will be ruined." Just in case we laid down some old mats. They worked. There wasn't a spot on the floor at the end of the day. Of course there are many well-trained men these days who insist on taking off their boots before they come inside.

The men who took the money sat at the desk in the den. I wasn't far away for I wrote down the names and addresses of those who had bought purebred cattle to transfer.

We got along well except for a few details. I forgot to get a supply of change and he forgot to bring blank cheques. One trip to town solved both problems.

The other took longer. When we totalled the bills and counted the money we were $200. short. We added and figured and counted again. Still $200. short. We did it again with no better luck. Just when we were about ready to take to the hills we found the error. I had added in a bill marked "cancelled." I'm sure you heard the sigh of relief.

By milking time there were no cows left. By Monday night almost everything was gone. But I still can't believe it. It just doesn't seem possible that we aren't farmers any more. I imagine, though, that as long as we live on the farm (and I hope that will be for a good many years) we will still be farmers at heart.

RULES FOR WINDOWS IN THE HOME

How much window space would you allow for each room in planning or modernizing a home?

Most building codes accept not less than 10 per cent of the area of a room as the area for windows. But research shows that glass areas should be more than double that amount for proper lighting.

Because windows can affect your comfort both physically and psychologically, the University of Illinois Small Homes Council has worked out a set of new rules to be applied to windows in an ideal house.

"Provide glass areas in excess of 20 per cent of the floor area of each room." That is the first rule. And the experts suggest that much more is desirable, especially for cloudy days.

"Place the principal window areas toward the south except in warm climates where a northern orientation will limit heat from the sun." This rule is based on the fact that the south sky is the brightest. Direct sunlight can also be controlled easier on the south than on the east or west.

"Windows in more than one wall of a room give more effective daylighting than windows in just one wall." Also one large window provides a better distribution of light than the same amount of space devoted to separate windows with dark areas between them.

Extending window heights as close to the ceiling as possible lengthens the depth of light penetrating into a room.

Draperies, curtains and other window hangings should be placed above the head of a window and to the sides of the frame to free the entire glass area for light. "Dark, heavy draperies hung over the sides and top of a window can reduce the available daylight by 75 percent," the experts found. "The practice of pulling window shades one-fourth or one-half way down results in loss of light in the rear of the room where it is needed the most."

When it comes to ventilation, the research showed that more than 10 per cent of the floor area of a room should be matched with windows that open.

"Screen only those parts of the window that open for ventilation," the council advises. "Full screens can absorb as much as 50 per cent of available daylight. Half-screens take up only 15 per cent."

United Counties Council approves $708,008 levy

United Counties council last week brought down a budget calling for a total expenditure of $1,507,000, of which $708,008 will be raised by municipal levy. The levy will be $2,701 higher than last year.

Remainder of the total expenditures will be borne by grants and other revenues.

Greatest projected expenditure is for public works, highways and bridges. Total expenditures here are estimated at $930,000 of which $620,000 will be raised by grants and other revenues, with a Counties' tax levy of $310,000.

Projected cost of general government is $68,000. Grants and other revenues will account for some $8,400 of this total, with the remainder being raised by a $59,600 county levy.

Estimated cost of protection to persons and property is $183,200 of which $102,100 will be raised by grants and other revenues. The remaining $81,100 will come from taxes.

Public welfare costs will reach an estimated $173,600 of which the only revenue is a total of $500 in recoveries. The remaining $173,100 will be raised by tax levy.

Debt charges, including interest and principle on debentures, are projected at $87,238.07. Of this total, an estimated $27,391.59 will come from recoveries from the city of Cornwall . Tax levy will be $59,846.48.

A levy of $10,850 will be laid down for agriculture grants, with other grants totalling $300. An additional tax levy of $750 will cover a grant to the Eastern Ontario Development Association. A total of $1,000 will be made for reforestation.

Cost of maintaining the three registry offices in the United Counties will be $7,000, $2,000 of which will be paid by the city of Cornwall. Projected tax levy to the counties for registry offices will be $5,000.

Health unit costs will require a levy of $41,500.

To most drivers 40 m.p.h. seems "slow". But it can still be a deadly rate, says the Ontario Safety League. In nearly half of all fatal car accidents the travel speed is under 40 m.p.h. and 84% of all accidents are caused by cars travelling under 40. This points up the need to wear seat belts at all times, even for short trips in low-speed urban areas.

William J. Sutherland

The sudden death occurred recently, at Oshawa General Hospital, of William James Sutherland. The deceased who lived with his son at 615 Shakespeare avenue for the past seven years, was in his 90th year.

Born at Finch, Ont., he farmed in the Finch area for many years until his retirement in 1947. He was keenly interested in Finch community life and had many friends in Oshawa since coming there seven years ago. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Mr Sutherland was predeceased by his wife, the former Elizabeth Robertson, in 1952. He is survived by four daughters, Mrs Ross Nephew (Isobel), of Finch, Mrs Jules LaPointe (Irene), of Montreal, Mrs R. Brindell (Lois), of Vancouver, B.C., and Mrs Neil Carlson (Jean), of Brooklyn, N.Y., and a son, Robert, of Oshawa.

Service was held at the Brownlee Funeral Home, Finch, on Monday April 16th at 2 p.m.

Interment was in Grantley cemetery.

KEEPING MILK FRESH

Milk that will keep fresh for a month without refrigeration may be sold in several European countries within two years. It will be produced by a flash sterilization process known in Switzerland as "uperisation" combined with a new bottle filling machine now being manufactured in that country.

Milk is subjected to steam pressure heated to 300 degrees F. followed by rapid cooling to 175 degrees. When the steam evaporates the original quality of the milk remains, so the process does not alter the vitamin content, nutritive value, digestibility, odour, taste, or colour of the milk. The new bottling machine, which will be available in 1963, prevents air from getting to the processed milk.

Newington U.C.W. holds April meeting

The April meeting of Newington United Church Women was held in the church hall on April 12.

The president Mrs Waldroff called the meeting to order with an Easter poem, followed by prayer. In the absence of the recording secretary Mrs Pettit, Mrs Boal called the roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting.

The treasurer's report showed a substantial balance on hand. Mrs Loverin read the correspondence, several thank-you cards and an invitation to attend a Smorgasbord Supper sponsored by Avonmore U. C. W. on May 9th.

Mrs McGinn, U.C.W. representative to Board of Stewards, recommended that the parsonage Committee purchase several articles needed at the parsonage.

Mrs J. E. Thompson, chairman of th social committee thanked all for helping to make the Fashion Show a success. Discussion followed on a Flower Show now being planned for early June. The social committee is to complete the arrangements.

Several of the ladies will assist at the C.G.I.T. banquet to be held in the near future.

A motion was passed making a cash donation toward the new chairs recently purchased for the hall. The members joined in singing Happy Birthday to Mrs S. Moke, who celebrated her birthday that day. Mrs Jas. Webber presented Life Membership pins and Certificates to Mrs Harley Weegar and Mrs J. E. Thompson. In making the presentation Mrs Webber commended both member for their faithful service to the W. M. S. ,also Mrs Thompson for her work with the Mission band for some years.

Mrs Jack Sherman conducted a very inspiring Worship service for this Easter Thank-offering meeting. Using as her theme "As the Sower Sows, the Giver must Give," assisting in this part of the meeting were Mrs Webber, Mrs Smith, Mrs Vance and Mrs Evans. Mrs Loverin was at the piano and accompanied as several hymns were sung. She also accompanied Mrs Gordon Ross as she sang, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go." The scripture the parable of the Sower was read by Mrs McGinn.

Lunch was served and a short social time enjoyed.

SAVING SPACE

One of the best assets any home furnisher and decorator can have is a sharp eye for space —an ability to spot usable space where casual observation doesn't reveal it.

A wide shelf under a window and stools to fit it take up very much less floor area than a table and chairs. It can set up a very pleasant beginniug for the day, as a place to eat breakfast while enjoying a view outdoors.

Rice consumption in Japan averages eight ounces a day per person.

Hospital Auxiliary meets at Winchester on Thurs.

Forty-two members representing 10 units answered roll call of the April meeting of the Hospital Auxiliary last week. Mrs J. D. Campbell presided.

Following the reading and approval of the minutes of the March meeting the treasurer's report was given showing: Receipts for March, $296; disbursements, $220.89; total balance, $8,322.91; Memorial Fund, $785.55.

Miss Legris, R.N., director of nursing, gave her monthly report, stating 326 admissions, 344 discharges, 127 outpatients and 18 inpatients.

The Auxiliary decided to purchase a new ice machine that is badly needed to supplement the present one. This will cost approximately $1,600.

Mrs Ledgerwood, who has in the past made extensive enquiries on the purchase of a memorial table to hold the memorial book, has been given full authority to go ahead and order this table and to choose the best one from the blueprints shown to members at the meeting.

Inkerman unit will look after the food cart for the month of May. The annual Auxiliary fair will be held June 16.

A very impressive display of hand knitting, crocheted and fancywork was donated at the meeting from various units and a large assortment from the Winchester C.G.I.T. This work will be for sale in the hospital showcase. A better and larger library will now be available to patients due to the kind donation of 200 books and shelves from Mrs D. W. Sutherland, of Morrisburg.

After a business discussion, the meeting was adjourned and lunch served to the ladies.

Mrs Wm. B. Casselman

Mrs William Bridges Casselman, a resident of Morrisburg and "The Churches," East of Morrisburg, for more than 80 years, died Friday, April 13, at the Rupert Nursing Home, Newington. She had been in ill health for some years. She celebrated her 90th birthday a few days prior to her death.

Born at Waddington, Annie Alice Summers, she went to Morrisburg with her parents, James Edward Summers and his wife, Melissa Wells ,as a young child. She was educated in area schools and prior to her marriage to the late William Casselman, 66 years ago, at East Williamsburg, she worked as dressmaker at Morrisburg.

She leaves one son, Milton Casselman, at Morrisburg. A daughter, Eileen, predeceased her some 20 years ago. She also leaves one brother, Ralph Summers, at Chesterville, and one sister, Mrs Aime Laurin (Martha), Montreal, and five grandchildren.

The funeral was held on Monday, April 16, from the Jarvis Funeral Home at 2 p.m., to St. James Anglican Church, Morrisburg, with Rev Cyril W. Earl officiating. The body was placed in the vault to await burial in St. Johns Cemetery, Riverside.

Trinity United Messengers hold meeting

On April 9th, Trinity United Church Messengers met in the Sunday School room.

Games were played as the children gathered. A hymn and prayer opened the meeting. The offering was received and dedicated by Kathy Fulton. Roll call and minutes followed.

Mrs Marcellus told the story from "Timmy's Team." The Messenger's Motto, prayer and a hymn were presented by Mrs Docksteader, assisted by Jim Lapp, Marlene Merkley and Nancy McMillan.

The children mounted these items on coloured sheets. "World Friends" magazines were distributed and a candy treat of Easter eggs was enjoyed.

BOTH RAN AWAY

Both drivers whose cars were involved in a collision in Toronto recently jumped out and ran away from the accident.

Police were chasing one car along a one-way street. A side-swipe collision occurred when a sports car tried to pass it.

Witnesses said the driver and the passenger in one car leaped out and fled between two houses. The other driver ran down the street. Police arrived too late to catch any of the fugitives.

Both cars had been reported stolen.

TIPS ON HOW TO SELECT FOUNDATION COWS

Size: A big cow usually has greater roughage capacity, overall strength and vigor than her smaller sisters. The price you'll get for her after her working days are over will be higher, too!

Feet and Legs: Look for well-rounded feet, straight legs and strong pasterns.

Udders: Look for good-quality udders with strong attachments. Udders that are wider in front and have large front teats are difficult to milk by machine.

Dairy Character: A dairy cow should possess the strength, vigor and ruggedness to finish her lactation in good condition.

Body Capacity: Good spring of rib; a big, capacious barrel; plenty of width between front legs are signs that a cow can handle large quantities of roughage. Usually broad-muzzled cows are the best feeders.

Disposition: Try to find a cow that has a sweet, calm, patient disposition.

And when you buy her...

Feed for Profit. This is just another way of saying Feed Purina. Why not call this week, or give me a call—I'd like to tell you how any cow in your herd may become a better milker through Purina's Dairy Program.

The BIBLE TODAY . . .

One third of the bulk of the four Gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John is taken up with the narration of the events leading up to the death of Jesus, His crucifixion and His resurrection. This emphasis is not lost on the new Bible readers. Because these events seize at once upon the mind of the person reading the stories for the first time and cast light upon all the New Testament story as well as forming the basis of an understanding of the Christian faith, the Bible Society has always published not less than a whole Gospel in any new translation.

An illustration of the carrying out of this policy is the recent publication of Mark in Diola, a language spoken by 250,000 people, (of whom 5,000 are Christian and 50,000 non-Christian literates), who live in the coastal area of Casamance, Senegal; and also in Mambya, spoken by a tribe numbering 35,000 (of whom 7,000 are Christian literates) living in Rhodesia. Matthew in Sora, spoken by 250,000 people in the Ganjam and Koraput districts, Orissa, in North Cameroon has also been published recently.

William Hillis Moad, 81

The death occurred in Toronto last Friday of a member of a pioneer Chesterville family. Word was received from Mrs Clarence Andrews that her father, Wm. Hillis Moad, had passed away. He died in Toronto where he spent most of his long life after leaving this town.

Mr Moad was a brother of the late Helen Moad and the youngest son of the late Henry Moad and the late Amanda Merkley. He was a carpenter by trade and during his working years built many fine homes in the Rosedale and North Yonge sections of Toronto. He was married to the late Emily Beatrice Keyes.

NEW FURNACE DEVELOPED ON JET LINES

A new type of furnace, described by engineers as the only really new heating design developed in the last 30 years, is being tested at the University of Manitoba.

Complete with spark plug and developed on the ram-jet principle used in the German V-1 rockets during the Second World War, the mechanism was designed by a Canadian working for a British subsidiary firm in Toronto. A licence to manufacture it has been granted to a Winnipeg steel and machinery fabrication firm.

Tests to date at the university show the furnace has an efficiency of more than 95 per cent, compared with about 85 per cent for the conventional gas furnace, 75 per cent for the average oil furnace and about 50 per cent for coal and wood burning units.

Better dehorn those calves before fly time if you plan to gouge them, says Prof. G. E. Raithby, of the Ontario Agricultural College Animal Husbandry Department. Some of the horn sores are almost certain to become infected with maggots during fly season.

Be wary of taking chances with short-tempered sows, especially around farrowing time advise Ontario Department of Agriculture swine experts. Sows with pig can be vicious and will mangle a hand or leg. Always carry some protection when it's necessary to go into the pen with such animals. A light gate or hurdle, or even a scoop shovel will do the job.

SHORTIE SKIS COMING

Next Christmas, you may find a pair of "shortie" skis in your stocking, writes Beatrice Riddell in The Financial Post. The two-and-a-half footers, now the rage in Europe and the U.S., are just starting to make their appearance on Canadian ski slopes. Next year, retailers say, they're likely to provide added pep to the already booming ski equipment business in Canada. They're a big attraction for businessmen as well as novice skiers, youngsters and oldsters, because they're easier to turn, easier to control and safer.

EVERYBODY EATS - TRY THESE

By Helen Graham

MEAT MAGIC

MEATS ARE SUCH AN IMPORTANT PART of our meals that the whole menu us usually planned around them.

Look for delicious and different ways of serving the less expensive cuts. Although usually less tender, they are as high in food value as those pieces which cost more. For best results long, slow cooking at simmering temperatures and in moist heat is required. Braising or stewing is recommended.

In the recipe below 1 pound of cubed lamb, beef, or pork may be substituted for the chicken.

Curried Chicken for Four

6 chicken wings
2 tbsps. butter
1 large onion, chopped
1 to 2 tsps. curry powder
Dash of chili powder
1 cup stewed tomatoes
1 large potato, diced
1 cup hot water

Cut the chicken wings apart at the main joints. Place the butter and onion in a saucepan over medium heat. Lightly brown the onion. Blend in the curry and chili powders. Add more, if desired. Add the chicken, stirring until well coated with the curry mixture. Cover, and cook over low heat for 15 minutes, stirring when necessary. Add the potato, tomatoes and hot water. Simmer until meat is tender. If desired, thicken the gravy slightly with corn starch blended with a little water.

Serve over fluffy rice.

Stuffed Cabbage Rolls for Six

Carefully cut out the stem end from a medium cabbage. Cook in boiling salted water for 10 minutes. Drain and cool.

Mix together 1 cup cooked rice, 1¼ lbs. ground meat, 1 well-beaten egg, 1 tbsp. finely chopped browned onion, ½ tsp. salt, and a dash of pepper.

Separate the cabbage leaves. Cut out the heavy section of each rib. Put a spoonful of the meat mixture in the centre of the leaf and roll up. Fasten with a toothpick. Brown lightly in a heavy pan.

Spread the extra cabbage leaves in the bottom of a greased baking dish. Carefully place the browned rolls on top. Add 1 cup of tomato juice. Cover and bake in a preheated 350 degree F. oven for 30 minutes, or until done.

Liver Loaf for Four

Simmer 1 lb. of beef, pork, or lamb liver in 1 cup boiling water for 10 minutes. Drain. Grind liver and 1 medium onion in a food chopper. Add 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 slightly beaten egg, water in which the liver was simmered, ¼ cup parsley, salt and pepper to taste. Mix well.

Grease a baking dish and add mixture. Bake in a pre-heated 350 degree F. oven for 1 hour or until brown. Serve with Creole or Mushroom Sauce.

Creole Sauce

Brown 2 tbsps. minced onion and 4 tbsps. minced green pepper in 2 tbsps. butter. Add 3 tbsps. flour and mix until smooth. Add salt and pepper to taste. Add ½ cup canned tomatoes, ¼ cup sliced mushrooms (if desired) and cook for 2 minutes. Gradually add 1 cup of stock or water and heat to boiling.

Breaded Braised Chops

When purchasing, allow ½ to ¾ lb. bone-in chops per serving or 1/3 to ½ lb. boned. Although one-inch thick chops take longer to cook, they look better than do thin chops.

Season both sides lightly with salt and pepper. Then dip first into flour, then into beaten egg, and finally into dried crumbs.

Brown slowly but thoroughly in melted fat until golden brown on both sides; this will take about 15 to 20 minutes. Add about ½ cup boiling water to tomato juice. Cover and braise in the oven or simmer slowly for about 45 minutes longer—until the internal temperature reaches 185 degrees F. or until no suggestion of pink is left. Turn several times during cooking. Season lightly.

Fried apple rings make an excellent accompaniment. Cut several Ontario apples into ½" to ¾" slices. Sprinkle with sugar, either white or brown, and saute in hot fat until tender on both sides.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS—

Easter holidays and then only four weeks until the June exams begin. Before this is the annual formal dance and plans for this are underway. The formal will be quite special this year, because it is the last for Chesterville High School.

Several of the High School students took part in a world-wide mathematical test along with about 4,659 contestants participating. The results of these tests were received recently. One of our Grade Thirteen students, Arne Vilmansen, did very well. He was among the top 6% in his marks. Good work, Arne!

Last week a display case from the Royal Ontario Museum came to the school. It contained three trays of African weapons, utensils and clothing and a fourth contained bronze figures, wheat, linen and shards of pottery from an Egyptian collection. Mr Graves showed these items to many of his geography classes. They were found most interesting.

IN MEMORIAM

MacMILLAN—In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, W. A. MacMillan, who passed away April 16, 1961.
No one knows our heartaches,
Only those who have lost can tell,
Of the grief that we bear in silence
For the one we loved so well.
Wife, Daughters, Sons and Grandchildren.

Among about 2,000 species of mushrooms, experts can find many edible varieties.

IN MEMORIAM

HOY—In loving memory of our dear sister and sister-in-law, Fern Hoy, who passed away April 23, 1960.
We lost a sister with a heart of gold,
Dearer to us than wealth untold,
Happy, smiling, always content,
Loved and respected wherever she went;
Always thoughtful, willing and kind,
What a beautiful memory she left behind.
Always remembered by Hubert and Beryl, Bill and Neita. 30

IN MEMORIAM

HOY—In loving memory of a dear daughter, Mrs Ray Hoy, who passed away April 23, 1960.
In tears we watched you sinking,
We watched you fade away;
Our hearts were almost broken,
You fought so hard to stay.
But when we saw you sleeping
So peaceful, free from pain,
We could not wish you back
To suffer that again.
Sadly missed by Father and Mother, brothers Ray and Rex.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to say a sincere "Thany you" to my friends, neighbours and relatives for the many visits, treats and cards while I was a patient in Winchester Memorial Hospital. Special thanks to Dr D. G. MacMillan, Dr D. Justus and hospital staff, also to Rev A. Williamson.
Delbert MacMillan. 30

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Berwick U.C.W. and W.I., Finch U.C.W., Signet Chapter No. 272, Township council, clerk, road superintendent, relatives, friends and neighbours for lovely cards, gifts, flowers and treats I received while ill at home and in hospital. Special thanks to Dr McMillan, nursing staff and Rev G. Rajotte.
Mrs Johnson Ouderkirk.

IN MEMORIAM

LAPIERRE—In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Charles LaPierre, who passed away April 21, 1946.
We lived in hope, and prayed in vain,
For God to make you well again.
He decided that we should part,
He eased your pain and broke our hearts.
Your memory will never grow old,
It is locked in our hearts in letters of gold.
Always remembered by wife Ada, Fleming, Margaret, Germain, Theresa and grandchildren.

IN MEMORIAM

McLEAN—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs Garnet McLean, who passed away April 21, 1960.
The pearly gates were opened,
A gentle Voice said "Come,"
And with farewells unspoken
She gently entered home.
