SD, ND councils give vote by mail option seal of approval

Sandy Bierworth
Record Editor

WILLIAMSBURG - Traditional poll voting has become a thing of the past for Dundas County.

Both North and South Dundas Councils voted during regular meetings over the past week to adopt the vote by mail option for the upcoming municipal election.

The idea of the mail voting system is that by bringing the ballots right to the doorstep of voters instead of having them come to polling booths, more people would vote.

North Dundas Council passed the motion during its regular meeting Monday. Treasurer Bonnie Dingwall said in Ontario municipalities which tried the system during the last municipal election, voter turnout did increase.

Councillor Keith Fawcett told council that in his discussions with residents aged 30 to 80, the idea was welcomed.

The mail vote system will cost the township $1.60 per voter for its' 8,612 voters, which works out to about $20,000. That figure is about $6,000 less than the traditional polling method, Dingwall told council.

No rate increase in North Dundas budget

Sandy Bierworth
Record Editor

WINCHESTER - There is a zero per cent tax rate increase in the 2000 North Dundas budget.

Council passed the budget during its regular meeting Monday night, keeping the zero rate increase the same as last year. That figure is down three per cent from the 1998 tax rate.

In total, the township will be collecting $2,400,847 in municipal taxes this year.

The due dates for the non-capped classes are June 28 and September 27.

The due dates for the other classes will be decided once council hears from the provincial OPTA program.

There are no service cuts this year.

Among the main capital projects for the township is an air filling station for the Fire Departments. The station, which will be located at the Morewood Department, will cost about $20,000.

Road construction will be done on

Residents angry over Hydro bills

Sandy Bierworth
Record Editor

AVONMORE - The Hydro billing issue that has plagued Finch residents since November is not over yet. In fact, at least part of the problem has spilled into Avonmore.

At least two people have had their power cut off over the past two weeks, and a third has probably been paying his neighbours Hydro bills.

Avonmore's Ronda Guindon is upset over a $200 deposit she made on her Hydro when she moved to Avonmore in 1995.

Spring Trade Fair cancelled

CHESTERVILLE - The first ever Lions' Spring Trade Fair has been cancelled.

Club president Gord MacDonald said the decision was tough, but businesses were too busy to commit to the show, which was to be held May 12 and 13.

"I would rather (cancel the show) than have a disappointed public and disappointed businesses," he said.

"I'm really disappointed about this, but the idea is not gone. We're going to try it again next year, but at an earlier date. We're grateful to the exhibiting public for their interest in the show, and their feedback has been helpful in teaching us what we can do next year."

The fall show will run as usual.

The circus is coming to Ingleside!

INGLESIDE - The grounds at the Ingleside plaza are about to be invaded by trapeze artists, clowns and magicians as the Starr Brothers Big Top Circus rolls into town.

The circus, a millennium event presented by the South Stormont Stepping Stones 2000 Committee, is coming to Ingleside May 11 for two performances that promise to wow audiences of all ages.

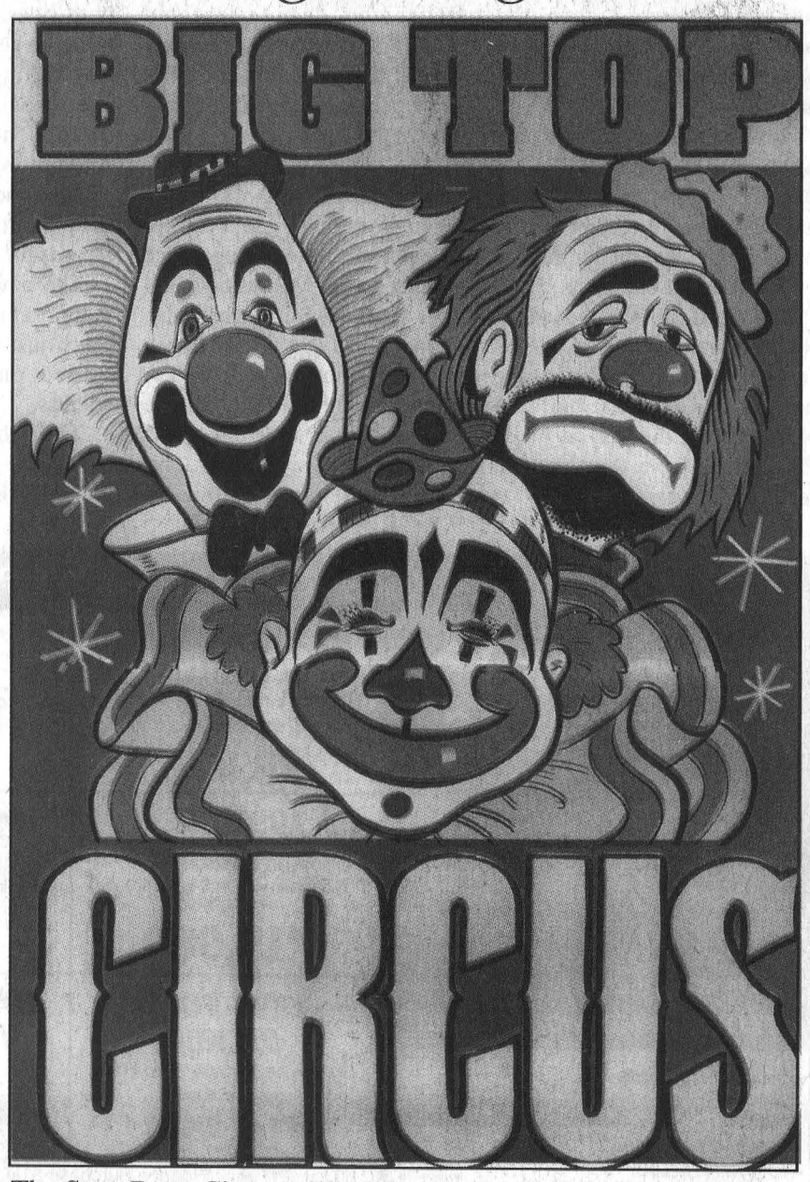
"They're setting up Thursday morning and the public is invited to see the tent-raising circus morning between 8:30 and 10," said coordinator Carson Elliott. "The tent is 182 and 75 feet, so it should really be quite something to see."

Circus performers will also be providing a satellite performance for the seniors at Woodland Villa in Long Sault and the special needs children at John S. MacDonald/Kinsmen School near Cornwall.

"It's going to be an excellent show," said Elliott. "There will be something for the whole family."

He said this is the first time the circus has visited the area and organizers are looking forward to "an amazing show."

Showtimes are 5 and 7 p.m. Tickets are $10 in advance or $15 at the gate and are available at Shannon's Creations and Foodland in Ingleside, Merkley's Big 'M' in Lunenburg, the Long Sault Arena canteen and the municipal office in Osnabruck Centre.



The Starr Bros. Circus will roll into Ingleside May 11.

Dundas residents will vote by mail

"We won't have to rent the polling stations, train the staff to run them, or worry about all those little things that go with poll voting," she said. "But I do think we should have someone visit the seniors' homes and show them how the new system works."

When council questioned her about educating the rest of the voting population about the new system, Dingwall mentioned that Canada Post is planning to advertise the method province-wide.

South Dundas Council passed the motion during its regular meeting Thursday. The voting alternative will cost the municipality about $25,000.

"It's not cheaper than the polls," Clerk Bill Horner told council. "But it has been proven in other townships to increase voter turnout."

During the last municipal election, only 25 of Ontario's municipalities tried the mail-vote system. So far this year, about 125 municipalities have signed up with Canada Post.

Councillor Cam Martel said the voting alternative trend was bound to hit the local municipalities sooner or later.

"It was bound to happen, if not this election than the next one. It's the new trend; it's going to be the way of doing things soon," he said.

But Councillor Bev Sabourin and Mayor Johnny Whitteker weren't quite ready to take that new step.

"I think people are used to the other way," said Sabourin. "Maybe I'm old, but I like the traditional method better."

"There's a certain amount of fellowship at the polls. I don't think we should be taking this step yet," said Whitteker. "I'm sure it's coming, but there's going to be confusion over the way it works and I think we should wait for three more years."

Councillor Audrey Rooney disagreed.

"Personally, I wouldn't have any trouble voting by mail," she said. "I think if we adopt this, we'll get a higher voter turnout."

Councillor Rowdy Gillard pointed out that the new system would not be without benefits.

"It will benefit the people in the rural areas who have always had to drive to the poll booths but not the people in the villages who can just walk. It will also make it easier for seniors who don't have to worry about coming all the way to a polling station to vote. You have to remember too that the election is in November and the weather starts getting a little unpredictable that time of year."

Rooney added, "Canada Post has guaranteed nothing will go wrong on their part."

Whitteker reminded council that, by voting to accept the mail vote, Canada Post is paid, as opposed to local residents paid to man the polling booths.

Council voted to pass a motion to adopt the Vote by Mail option. Only councillor Bev Sabourin was opposed.

Under the new system, each voter in the municipality will be sent a voter kit containing a ballot, a voter declaration form, instructions and two envelopes. The completed ballot is sealed in an inner secrecy envelope.

The voter declaration form, to be used by the township only to cross the name off the voter list, is signed and placed in the outside, pre-paid return envelope along with the smaller envelope.

The package is then sent as priority mail to the returning office, where the ballots are counted as usual.

Residents will also be able to drop off completed ballots at the municipal office.

WRED's Loan Fund helps small rural businesses

The Rural Enterprise Loan Fund provides loans to women and men who are not considered eligible for credit by main stream lenders due to the lack of credit history , insufficient collateral, or the size of the loan is too small to be considered by a traditional lender. The Loan Fund is for individuals who want to start or expand a rural, small-town or farm-based business.

Loans from $500 - $3,000 are available based on a step up borrowing process. The first loan is to a maximum of $1,000.

"In this way the borrower is able to graduate from the program having established a credit rating and is in a good position to access a loan from traditional sources," explains Sandra Burchell, Regional Manager, Eastern Ontario with Women and Rural Economic Development (WRED).

The Loan Fund is an initiative of Women and Rural Economic Development made possible through partnerships with the SD&G Community Development Corporation and Levi Strauss & Co.

In Eastern Ontario loans are presently available to qualified individuals residing in Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry, Lanark, Leeds, Grenville, and Renfrew Counties.

To apply for a loan or for further information please call Sandra Burchell at 1-800-465-7030 or 258-8336 Ext. 514.

Connaught Road, Shaw Road, Vankamp Road, Fred Street in Winchester and John and Harper Streets in Chesterville.

Surface treatments will be done to Dagenais Road, Dillabough Road, Droppo Road and Cloverdale Road.

The sidewalks along Main Street in Winchester and Cameron Road in Mountain will also be worked on.

The waste management department will be purchasing a new recycling vehicle this year at a cost of $120,000.

The recreation department will see about $212,000 of this year's taxes for a variety of projects.

The Winchester Arena's Olympia room will be rebuilt.

In the Chesterville Arena, work will be done to fix the ice surface walls and to the crack between the roof and the walls.

The arena will also be getting a new brime-line and a dehumidifier.

The Winchester pool will receive a heater this year, and the dugouts at the Chesterville baseball diamonds will be closed in. Lights will be installed at the Winchester and South Mountain diamonds, and Mountain will continue with its soccer program.

Hydro cutoffs anger Finch, Avonmore residents

She was told the deposit was refundable, but so far it has been added to her Hydro bills twice in as many months. And on April 19, just before Easter weekend, her power was cut.

Guindon owns the Rockin' Ronda's Diner in Avonmore and she and her fiancé, Michael St. Denis, moved into the apartment above the business in 1997. She had made another $200 deposit on the restaurant when she bought it in 1996, but once she moved into the building, the original deposit was not credited on her Hydro account.

Instead, it was added to her March bill this year. Guindon paid the amount, less the $200, and was given a receipt stating her account was "paid in full."

But it didn't end there.

On April 19, she picked up the mail and discovered a letter from North Stormont informing her the power to the building would be cut that day at noon, 20 minutes from the time she received the news.

A phone call to township clerk Ray Charbonneau didn't help solve the problem.

In fact, Guindon said, Charbonneau "called the cops on me. But he shouldn't have done that because I never threatened him or the staff. I just raised my voice to him because I was upset and he didn't seem to care that I was about to lose my power just before Easter weekend."

So Guindon turned to Township Councillor Alton Blair, who, despite repeated attempts, could not convince Hydro officials that the bills were paid, and the Hydro was cut.

The matter was supposedly cleared up the next day when Guindon brought copies of her receipts to the township office and her power was restored at 4 p.m. April 20. But by that time, Guindon had lost all her frozen and refridgerated food in her home and restaurant, all the business from customers she had to turn away at the door, and much needed time in finishing Easter cakes for clients and preparing for a catering job for a wedding that Saturday morning.

Now, she plans to demand the township pay for her losses.

But when she visited the office, the township charged her a $130 reconnection fee, as well as the $200 deposit.

The reconnection charge has since been dropped, but Blair is still trying to help Guindon clear up her billing problem.

"I've been kind of working both sides," he said. "I'm just trying to get this thing resolved. The feeling of council is that she owes this $200 because there's no receipt in the Avonmore Hydro books. I showed them her receipts, but they're still looking in the records for them."

The power was cut and the meter removed to a home in Finch just before Easter, but it turned out to be a wrong address.

The homeowners had received a bill for Hydro arrears dating back to 1983, but they had only moved in in 1984. The person who had previously lived in the house is now deceased.

The bill had since been cleared up, but the residents returned home just before Easter weekend to find the power cut. Once the mistake was discovered at the township office shortly afterward, the power was restored.

And because of bookeeping errors in the former Finch Hydro, one resident of the village may have been unknowingly swapping bills with his next door neighbour for two years.

The resident moved to Finch in 1998 and was only recently made aware of the situation.

According to Jim Rowland of the Perth Meter Co. who discovered the problem, the meters were on the right houses, but the bills were accidentally switched because of mistakes in the Hydro books. Rowland turned the situation over to the federal government, and it has since been fixed.

KEEPING HEALTH IN MIND

"Keeping Health in Mind" is a monthly newspaper column made possible with the help of the Chesterville Record and the clinical staff of Tri-County Mental Health Services, a community program of the Cornwall General Hospital.

Minding the Body, Mending the Mind

This book is based on the groundbreaking work at the Mind/Body Clinic at New England Deaconess Hospital, Minding the Body, Mending the Mind show you how to take control of your own physical and emotional wellbeing. The clinic's dramatic success with more than 2,500 patients – with conditions ranging from allergies to cancer – is vivid proof of the effectiveness of this understanding of mind and body – and its power to transform your life. Using a unique blend of mental and physical exercises, the author, Dr. Borysenko teaches you how to elicit the mind's powerful relaxation response.

Recent major studies indicate that approximately 75% of visits to the doctor are illnesses that will ultimately get better by themselves or for disorders related to anxiety and stress.

The importance is building the skill of becoming aware of how to mind the body. The book describes how to elicit the relaxation response through meditation, breathing and stretching exercises. You learn to shift your physiology, gaining control of the stress response, as well as learning to let go of tension in the musculoskeletal system. These basic skills begin to train you in the art of observing your mind. In mastering this you gain the ability to live in the moment rather than being wrapped up in memories of the past or worries of the future.

When the relaxation response is called on, heart rate and blood pressure drop. Breathing rate and oxygen consumption decline because of the profound decrease in the need for energy. Brain waves shift from alert rhythm to a relaxed rhythm. Blood flow to the muscles decreases, and instead, blood is sent to the brain and skin, producing a feeling of warmth and rested mental alertness.

Anyone who has ever sat at home, healthy, well fed, surrounded by loved ones, and suffering from intense anxiety will readily agree that peace of mind is the necessary condition of happiness. But how can we possibly learn to have peace of mind when the mind is by nature restless, projecting its wants and fears endlessly into the past and the future? If we can learn to train our mind to let go you would be able to experience peace of mind.

In her book, the author writes about "mindfulness" – meditation in action which involves a "be here now" approach that allows life to unfold without the limitation of prejudgement. It means being open to an awareness of the moment as it is and to what the moment could hold. It is a relaxed state of attentiveness to both the inner world of thoughts and feelings and the outer world of actions and perceptions. For example, being present with the food when eating, enjoying it rather than thinking about other things.

A side effect of this approach of healing is a reconnection to the values that are most important in life; an openness to love, attitude of forgiveness toward ourselves and others, and peace of mind. Without peace of mind, life is just a shadow of its possibilities. The most beautiful scene leaves you empty if your mind is full of worry.

Minding the Body, Mending the Mind guides us to a new understanding of illness and health and shows how each of us can take an active role in healing ourselves.

Duckies take their annual dip

Sandy Bierworth
Record Editor

CHESTERVILLE - 750 ducks took to the South Nation River Saturday afternoon. Bright yellow, plastic ducks that is.

The Rotary Club of Chesterville hosted its annual Duck Race this past weekend after the popular event was rained out of its originally scheduled date April 22.

The event raised $3,000 for Rotary, which will use the funds for community-oriented projects such as scouts, guides, cancer work and the children's fund. Last year, some of the money raised also went to Winchester District Memorial Hospital.

The ducks got off to a false start when a strong breeze pushed them against the riverbank and helpers had to collect the small racers and dump them into the water a second time.

Duck #518 crossed the finish line at the bridge first, winning $500 for ticket holder Mae Robinson of Chesterville.

Floyd Bradford, also of Chesterville, bought ticket #564 earning $100 for his second-place winning duck.

Ticket number 119 was third, earning holder Paul Bradley of RR 2 Chesterville a $50 prize.

The ducks will be swimming again this weekend in South Mountain and on July 1 in the United States.

Auction to raise funds for cultural centre

The North Dundas Township Cultural/Heritage Centre Millennium Committee will be holding a fund raising auction upstairs at the Winchester Arena at 7pm, Thurs., May 11.

Over 200 items have been donated by local businesses, celebrities, politicians and individuals. Additional items would be welcomed. Included in the auction will be a recliner chair, an antique ice cream maker, an autographed tie from M[illegible] Keeping, gift certificates, a set of Dr. Keon's "greens", a hand-made doll's cradle, English fine bone china cups and saucers, a camera, hand knit items, a Terry Carkner memento, and many other collectibles.

If you wish to donate something for this very important Township project, please call Elizabeth Barton at 774-1637 or Nancy Wilson at 448-1636 so that they may note your donation and arrange for its delivery to the arena.

Proceeds from the auction go directly to the project as all goods and services have been donated by the business community and residents of North Dundas, Hugh Fawcett Auctions, the township, and many volunteers. Sincere and heartfelt thanks go to all of these generous and dedicated people.

Your attendance and continued support will assist in the success of this project which will result in the creation of a Cultural/Heritage Centre in North Dundas.

Finch farmer wins Vegas vacation

Nick Forster

FINCH—Filling out a customer survey at the Ottawa Valley Farm Show earned him a trip for two to gambling mecca Las Vegas, but 32-year-old Brent MacIntyre said he isn't normally a betting man.

"I farm, so I guess I am," clarified the contest winner, joking that there aren't many riskier jobs than farming. "You don't lay it all out at once, you spread it out during the year."

However, MacIntyre is willing to give casino gambling a shot later this year when he travels to Las Vegas compliments of Cyanamid Crop Protection, a farm chemical company. To be eligible for the draw, participants filled out a 1999 Cyanamid Farm information ballot at the farm show.

Brent MacIntyre.

MacIntyre discovered he won the prize in early April.

The Sunquest vacation includes flight and accomodation, for either three nights and four days, or four nights and five days, any time until mid-December.

He's decided to take the second option and hopes Sunquest will extend the return flight so he can visit relatives in San Bernadino, California while he's there.

As for his travelling companion, MacIntyre said he doesn't know who that is yet.

"A lot of people have offered to go," he said, adding he will choose someone before his trip, which he plans to take after harvest in the fall.

Williamsburg gears up for Giant Yard Sale Day Saturday

Nick Forster
Record staff

WILLIAMSBURG—Psst, wanna buy a yard?

Williamsburg's Giant Yard Sale is this Saturday from 8:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., and rain or shine, serious bargain-hunters will not want to miss this annual event.

Organized by the Williamsburg Community Association, the day is perfect for those looking for a good deal, as well as for those who want to free up some space in the house.

"One man's junk is another man's treasure," said community association president David Lapier, adding any out of town people who want to tap into the crowds and sell their wares in Williamsburg this weekend can reserve a spot at the Recreation Building parking lot.

"This is not a fundraiser," stressed Lapier, pointing out the event offers incentive for people to come to Williamsburg and take advantage of numerous yard sales.

To keep shoppers from going hungry, there will be an Oddfellow's Pancake Breakfast at the IOOF Hall from 7 to 10 a.m., a Christian Reform Church Bake Sale at the Byker Residence, a Lutheran Church Barbecue, and a United Church Bake and Yard Sale.

For those traveling to Williamsburg with a baby, there will be a car seat inspection at the Fire Hall from 9 a.m. until noon.

There is also the annual Cake Walk, where contestants can buy a chance to win a cake. This year it is being held at the Elma Public School starting at 9 a.m.

At the township office from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., the Perennial Plant Sale and Exchange is taking place. This event was held at the end of May last year, but because people generally do their spring planting in May, the sale is one month early this year, said Lapier.

Out of town people are invited to call (613) 535-2264 to reserve a yard sale space.

Budget battles

This week, during its regular meeting, South Dundas Council discussed the 2000 Budget.

The budget has not yet been passed, but council is faced with a tough decision: Raise the taxes or cut services.

Downloading from the provincial government, coupled with the lack of funding to make the new responsibilities workable, has made the budget deliberations even more difficult for an already financially strapped township. And the pain is being felt in municipalities across the township, not just South Dundas.

But in the lower part of Dundas County, extensive repairs to the arena in Morrisburg will mean dipping into the township's reserves, and much-needed road construction, repairs and services are clinching council's hopes to keep rates low.

But before residents get too concerned over the service cuts or increased rates, perhaps they should consider the facts.

At the provincial level, taxes have gone down. And why? Because of all this downloading. So what they're saving in one area, they're losing in another.

Consider too that council was able to keep the rates steady last year, the first year of amalgamation, without any increase.

What council decided to do was to see if it could cut a little bit of the services in several different areas, as opposed to cutting a few services altogether.

It is hoped that the small savings throughout the township's extensive expenditures will keep the tax rates steady for at least another year.

And considering the circumstances, it's probably the best option the township has.

Off The Record

A real Canadian's rant

By Robin Canadian Nationalism Editor

So Heritage Canada minister Sheila Copps is in the States this week demonstrating to the Yanks that we're not Americans by showing them a video of a beer ad. Does that tell you something? That a country finds its identity in the Joe Canadian rant?

At the same time the op-ed pages in the dailies are chock-a-block with letters to the editor complaining about Mike Harris's plan to have students in this province sing the national anthem and pledge allegiance to the Queen in school every day.

One letter in The Citizen Tuesday - from a teach, mind - complained that reciting the oath of allegiance to the Crown is too American for her tastes.

That's what we fought the Revolution and War of 1812 over, sweetheart.

A brain dead butthead from up the Valley carped that singing our anthem and pledging allegiance reeks of Nazi-style propaganda.

What? There's no difference between O Canada and Deutschland Uber Alles? He can't tell the difference between Don Shebib and Leni Riefenstahl?

A student from Canterbury High whined that it's unfair to non-citizens to make them sing our anthem. And it's immoral too, although she never did get around to explaining the immorality of Canadians singing the Canadian anthem.

And there's trains and boats and planes leaving this country every day for those insulted non-citizens.

Talk about a screwed up sense of national identity. People who don't know who they are, what they are and whose only allegiance is to an ad for a not very good beer.

In the North American geo-political context Canada is not so much a country but a 25-year-old unemployed high school dropout who lives in his parents' basement, spending his days playing his N-64 and microwaving KD, and Gentle Reader, I'm dedicating this week's screed to a Joe Canadian-style rant to explain to these poor benighted buffoons just who they really are, and where they fit into the world's real politik.

Like I am Canadian eh? Like, I must be 'cause I'm wearing this flannel shirt. Got it on sale at the Gap, eh? Like, it's not my fault it was made by some eight-year-old Nicaraguan girl who gets like a loonie a day for workin' in some sweat shop. Like don't her parents have a finished basement? And I woulda had a pair of snowshoes except Eddie Bauer is sold out of them Guatemalan models they had on sale last week.

Like, I'm a Canadian, eh? I lip sync O Canada at Leafs' games 'cause I don't know the words.

Like, I'm Canadian, eh? Like, my corn flakes box has English on one side and French on the other but like I went to school in Ontario so I can't read neither.

Like, I'm Canadian, eh? And, like, if Americans are so smart, how come Alex Trebek knows ALL the answers on Jeopardy?

Like, I'm Canadian, eh? Like, I don't know a Brandon or Brian or Brittnee, although I'm sure they're very nice, 'cause like the only time I've ever been anywhere is when my mom and dad took me to Daytona last year.

Like, I'm Canadian, eh? And I've never been to Vegas 'cause they don't have nickel slots like in Hull.

Like, I'm Canadian, eh? And we're the eighth-best hockey country in the world. Did you see what we did to the Japs at the Worlds? And that was just a warm-up for Burkina-Fasso. Like, we invented the game and now we're the world's largest supplier of third line centres and fifth defencemen to NHL teams from south of the Mason-Dixon Like and like me and my buddies like to go down to Hooters and drink Bud and watch Dallas and San Jose fight it out for the Cup. And like my dad's always going on about the Rocket but he's never even seen Bure play.

Like, I'm Canadian, eh? And I come from a country where if you weren't born in the West Indies you'll never win a gold in the men's Olympic hundred.

Like, I'm Canadian, eh? And more of my countrymen signed up to fight for the Americans in Vietnam than are now enlisted in the Canadian Armed Forces. And, like, our government has made our army crossing guards to the world and, like, we're the only ones whose fighter jets are wheelchair accessible.

Like, I'm Canadian, eh? And I belong to the PSAC which guarantees me the right not to work.

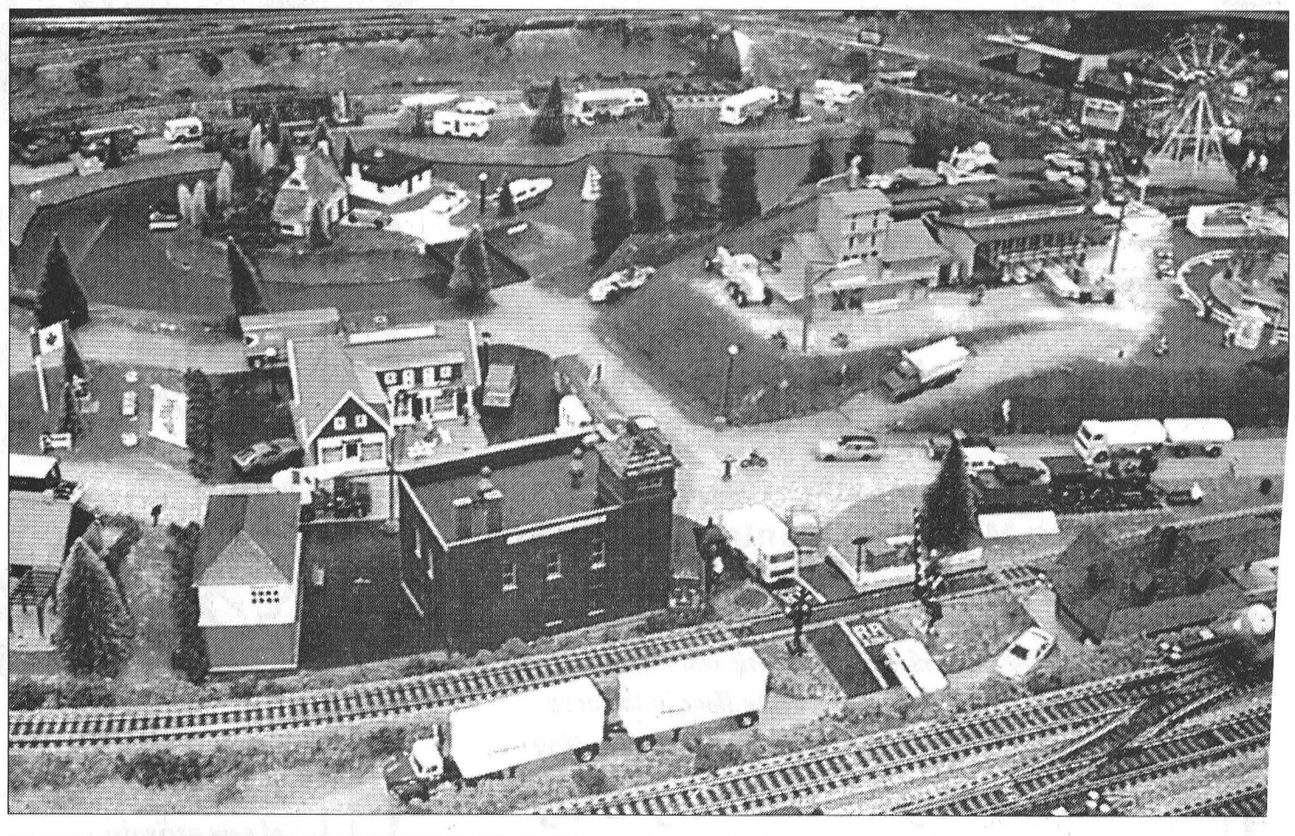
Like, I'm Canadian, eh? And our prime minister caddies for your president.

Like, I'm Canadian, eh? And Gord Downie plays the best air guitar since Joe Cocker, eh? And Gordo still likes Brown Pops and Joe has taken the cure.

Like, I'm Canadian, eh? Protested Kosovo by trading in my Yugo. Gotta yused Lada for it.

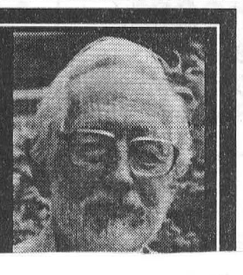
Like, I'm Canadian, eh? And so are Alanis and Shania and Diana. And Toller. And kd. (Hey, that's cool, a chick with a sense of humour. Named herself after Kraft Dinner. She could be one of the guys.) But, like, where's all the guy singers?

Like, I'm Canadian, eh? And I have this annoying habit of ending every sentence with "eh", eh? And it's a corruption of the British "aye", meaning yes, and I end every sentence with it because I'm looking for your approval, yes? And when I say it I end the sentence on an up-note in what linguists call "final phrase shift", 'cause like I really, really want you to notice me, eh Uncle Sam?



Cross Roads

By Clarence Cross



The road I lived on in my youth was lined with Smiths, with one exception. From east to west there was Bill Pitcher and his wife Catherine Smith: then Ingram Cross, whose mother was Elizabeth Smith; then Oscar Foster; then Smith Brothers (Malcolm and Ralph); then Ken and Albert Smith; then Fred Smith; and finally, beside the White Crossing of the CRR, Hulbert Cross, whose grandmother was Elizabeth Smith. Letters to the editor

Thank you, it was an honour

To the Editor:

We would like to offer an preciative thank you to Paul Surprenant, Marcel Chenier, the Avonmore Community Athletic Association, fairboard members, as well as our relatives and neighbours who organized the Night of Honour and Tribute on April 7 for Yvette and myself.

We must limit the number of names, because being human, we will surely miss someone. However, we want to mention:

Murray Barkley for his superb effort in the preparation of the address, organizing and introducing each roaster. He really kept the heat on through the evening.

Lily Worrall for her fine contributions, cameraman Volgar Loos, piper Erin Blair, the Moose Creek Creekettes choir, limousine provider Bob MacGregor, Louise and Danny Conway for their toe-tapping entertainment, Prestige Catering for the excellent dinner served, and Linda Wood who shared the blessing. And also the girls in charge of decorating.

A special thanks to all who sent and/or presented congratulations and recognition: Prime Minister Jean Chretien, MPP John Cleary, Denis Sabourin for MP Bob Kilger, North Stormont Reeve Archie Byers, Councillor Alton Blair.

Glenda Lafortune of the Heart and Stroke Foundation, the Canadian Cancer Society and Sharon Nugent, Knights of Columbus-Bishop Brodeur Assembly, Roger Moquin and Fred Leroux.

Lastly and most importantly, all the relatives, friends and neighbours who attended to make this celebration so special.

In closing, if for some reason, during my years in this community, I have offended anyone, I apologize, and I ask to be forgiven, so we can begin the new millennium in peace and happiness.

Not everyone was welcome at dance

To the Editor:

A recent classified ad published in the Chesterville Record said 'Everybody welcome' at the Tri-County Country Dance at the Chesterville Legion.

But at the dance, somebody told my nephew to go and sit down. He likes to dance and have a good time. He was very dissapointed. I think some people are very rude.

How would you like to have a son or daugther who is a little retarded? He is still a human being—I asked for his money back and these women sat there and laughed. They didn't give him his money back.

He went for a good time, and that's the way he got treated. He is a nice 26-year-old-boy. Too bad this man thought he was perfect.

I have been going to the Chesterville Legion for 20 years. We go to Dixons Corners, Williamsburg, South Mountain, Roebuck and Iroquois to the dances and nobody has ever told him to go and sit down. But you meet all kinds of people.

Ingleside Foodland owners Martin and Pat Timmers are excited about the construction project to double the size of their full-service grocery store.

Ingleside Foodland to double by Victoria Day long weekend

Sandy Bierworth
Record Editor

INGLESIDE - For the second time in as many years, the grocery store in the Ingleside plaza will double in size.

Construction is underway to bring the Foodland store's retail space to between 7,000 and 8,000 square feet from where it currently sits at 4,000 square feet.

Owners Martin and Pat Timmers, who took over the full-service grocery store three years ago, doubled the building's size two years ago by adding onto the east side. This time, the addition is being constructed behind the store.

The change will more than double the size of the produce section and expand the deli and bakery section of the store. The staff room, coolers and stock room will be moved to the back of the building, where a second floor will be added to the back section.

Construction is expected to be completed during the Victoria Day weekend in May. And despite the recent snowstorm and damp weather, construction is on schedule.

The store was formerly a Foodtown outlet and joined the Foodland family, under the Sobey's name, at the end of January.

"It's a larger grocery store program," explained Martin Timmers. "Joining Foodland allowed us to provide more services and selection to our customers."

While the store is growing, the community-minded atmosphere will remain the same, said Pat Timmers.

"Everyone I've talked to loves the idea of having more space and bigger specialty sections," she said.

"Also, we're hoping the added space will give us more room to make our historical pictures more visible to our customers."

The pictures show various scenes from Ingleside's past, including shots of the town being constructed and photos taken of houses and people from the Lost Villages.

"We like to think of this as the community's store," said Martin Timmers. "And the support of the community through all this has been overwhelming."

More than 4,000 visit Long Sault Arena for first-ever South Stormont Trade Fair

Sandy Bierworth
Record Editor

LONG SAULT - About 4,200 people visited the first ever South Stormont Trade Fair at the Long Sault Arena over the weekend, exceeding the expectations of organizers and wowing event coordinator Carson Elliott.

"I'm just on cloud nine here today," Elliott said Monday. "I can't believe the turnout we had. We've had nothing but positive feedback from everyone who went and there isn't a single exhibitor who said they don't want to come back next year, so there's definitely going to be one next year."

About 1,400 people came to the show Friday night, and Saturday saw a steady stream of visitors.

There was even a lineup outside the door Saturday morning for the Cornwall Township Lions Club's Showcase Breakfast

He said the newly formed South Stormont Chamber of Commerce may be taking the reins in organizing next year's event, but after the resounding success of this year's show, Elliott said he doesn't think planning next year's will be very difficult.

"It was a team effort though," he said. "I couldn't have done it without council, the township recreation and the chamber of commerce."

There were 70 exhibitors in the 95 available spaces, most of them from the township, and 15 more were left on a waiting list.

Among the main attractions were Grandpa's Fantasyland, a model train display housed in a 24 by 8 foot mobile trailer featuring a Canadian landscape at a scale of 1.87, and a Fire Safety House just outside the arena that gave participants a first-hand experience of the amount of smoke there is in a house fire.

Obituaries

Peter Arnott

Peter Arnott of Morningside Court, Morrisburg, died April 27, 2000, at Winchester District Memorial Hospital following a 10-month illness. He was 68.

Mr. Arnott was born June 13, 1931, in Toronto to the late Peter and Jenny Arnott (nee Ritchie).

He is survived by his wife and best friend Freda Arnott (nee Byers). They were married June 18, 1983 in Toronto.

He is also survived by his former spouse, June Arnott (nee Shepherd) of London.

Mr. Arnott's family moved to Timmins when he was very young because his dad got a job working in the gold mines. His family then moved to Sault Ste. Marie a few years later and Mr. Arnott lived there until he moved to Kingston to attend Queen's University.

After attending Queen's, he moved back to the Toronto area, where he lived for approximately 35 years before he relocated to Morrisburg in 1988.

Mr. Arnott retired in 1991 from his position as president of fundraising for the Easter Seals Society of Ontario.

He was a member of the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 48 in Morrisburg.

He loved to walk and started each day off with a walk through the Morrisburg Plaza and along the St. Lawrence River.

He was an avid golfer and he enjoyed discussing and finding solutions to almost all of the world's problems during his frequent visits to Bo's Barber Shop in Morrisburg.

His positive attitude, his outgoing personality and his overall zest for life, which endeared him to so many, will be greatly missed by all those who knew him.

Mr. Arnott is survived by sons Patrick (Judy) of Burlington and Peter Jr. (Chris) of Oshawa and by daughters Mary (Ken) Millard of London and Martha (Bruce) Deacon of Cambridge.

He is also survived by stepsons Darrell (DeeDee) Johnstone of Calgary, Donald Johnstone of Vienna, Ontario, Dwayne Johnstone of London and Douglas (Krysta) Johnstone of London.

Mr. Arnott will be deeply missed by his former daughter-in-law Liz Johnstone.

He will be sadly missed by grandchildren Kristine, Kailee, Dale, Blair, Madeline, Spencer, Sacha, Jackson, Christian, Carissa, Tim, Ashley, Cody, Lacey, Autumn, Jessie, and a great grandson, Alexander.

Mr. Arnott is also survived by cousins Bob, Archie and Neal Houston.

He was predeceased by two sisters in infancy.

Funeral services were held at the Marsden and McLaughlin Funeral Home in Williamsburg on April 29 and were officiated by Rev. Roy Harwood.

Interment was in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Honourary pallbearers were Orval Delage, Danny Rice, Cam MacLennan, Archie Byers, Edsel Byers, Stuart Byers, Linden Byers, Floyd Elliott, Dwayne Froats and Don Johnston.

Pallbearers were Patrick Arnott, Peter Arnott Jr., Ron Botham, David Johnston, Dwayne Johnstone and Douglas Johnstone.

Donations to Winchester District Memorial Hospital or the Canadian Cancer Society would be appreciated by the family.

Adam Brock Barkley

Adam Brock Barkley, a resident of Elma for the past 89 years, passed away very peacefully at Winchester District Memorial Hospital April 15, 2000. He was 89.

Born December 24, 1910 at the Elma homestead, he was a son of the late Adam Barkley and the former Orpha Cougler.

On April 22, 1944, he married Enid Barwick of Montreal at the home of her grandparents in Chesterville. She predeceased him in 1988.

Mr. Barkley was a member of the Williamsburg United Church.

He was also predeceased by nine brothers and three sisters: Morton, Hugh, Arvilla, Raymond, Bruce, Luella, Ward, Milton, Broder, Annetta, Harold and Dwight.

He will be greatly missed by 14 nieces and nephews and their families, several grand nieces and nephews and a cousin and family by marriage.

He was predeceased by two nephews.

Mr. Barkley lived all his life (until his hospitalization two months prior to his death) at the family homestead north of Elma. There, he farmed for many years with his brother Dwight. Because of his love of the land, he never moved from the homestead. In later years, he gave up full-time farming but always enjoyed his huge garden and cutting his wood.

He was well known among family and friends for his generosity in giving away too much produce from his garden. This gave him great pleasure.

Mr. Barkley loved visiting family and friends until he lost his hearing approximately five years ago. This curtailed that activity but he accepted this loss well. Always, he was grateful to have good eyesight and that he could have a driver's license and enjoy his truck.

His minister, Rev. Sandy MacPherson, delivered a very appropriate eulogy. He emphasized the fact that Mr. Barkley was the only one of the 13 children who stayed at home and "kept the home fires burning."

Indeed he did, always making sure he kept more than a year's supply of wood ahead in his wood shed.

Thus has ended another chapter in the book of Barkley history. His family will always remember him for his stoic, independent and generous manner.

Friends were received at the Chesterville Funeral Home on April 18. Funeral service was held on April 19 at the funeral home. Hymns played during the service were "In the Garden" and "The Old Rugged Cross."

Interment followed at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Charles Barkley, Donald Barkley, Francis Barkley, Dean Barkley, Ronald Barkley and Eddie Barkley.

Honourary pallbearers were Alister Deighton, Gary Pemberton, Tom Henderson and Arthur Thom.

Donations to Winchester District Memorial Hospital or the Heart and Stroke Foundation would be gratefully appreciated by the family.

Neil Leland Brownell

Neil Leland Brownell died peacefully May 2, 2000, surrounded by his loving family at Lakeridge Health, Oshawa. He was in his 69th year.

Mr. Brownell was the beloved husband of Joyce for 44 years. He was the dear father of Valerie (Bill) McGarry, Lee (Michelle), Diane (Dave) Munro and Roy (Teresa).

He was the dear 'Poppa' of Neil, Jacob, Andrew, Jill, Alex, Brett, Ian, Claire and Alistair.

Mr. Brownell is survived by his brother Boyd and sisters Lila and Ina. He was predeceased by his brother Keith. He will be sadly missed by his nieces and nephews and many friends.

Funeral services will be held at the Northcutt Elliott Funeral Home Chapel in Bowmanville May 5. Cremation to follow.

Memorial donations to the Lake Saint Peter United Church or to the Canadian Cancer Society would be greatly appreciated by the family.

Bob Graham

South Nation Conservation has lost its popular chairman Bob Graham, who passed away April 26, 2000, after a short illness. His life was celebrated Saturday at St. Andrews United Church in Bishop's Mills.

An SNC member and booster for many years, Mr. Graham played an active role in developing many of the agency's policies and practices.

He was also a vocal supporter of Conservation Ontario, which groups together the province's 38 conservation authorities.

A retired engineer, Mr. Graham, 76, devoted as much of his time to humanitarian causes as he did to conservation. When he wasn't working at one, he was usually working at the other, said SNC general manager Dennis O'Grady, adding Graham's contribution will be sorely missed.

"Bob was an ideas man with a common sense approach," O'Grady said. "A lot of his ideas have been put into practice here."

SNC vice-chair Kevin Grace added that Mr. Graham was always a leader in discussions of SNC issues and implementation of SNC policies.

"I don't think many members of our board took decisions without first digesting what Bob had to say," Grace said. "And Bob always had something worthwhile to say."

Mr. Graham was also an enthusiastic backer of SNC staff members and highly appreciative of their contribution, which he never failed to single out, O'Grady said.

Often representing the Kemptville Rotary Club, Mr. Graham made several trips to Central America where he played an instrumental role in housing and other improvement projects.

An ongoing project in El Salvador will be named in his memory and the family has asked that contributions in his name be made to the club to help carry on his work.

He leaves behind wife Joyce, brother David, four children and six grandchildren.

Fittingly, the family presented a spruce seedling to each person paying his or her respects.

Harold Evert Ouderkirk

Harold Evert Ouderkirk died at Winchester District Memorial Hospital April 27, 2000. He was 84.

Mr. Ouderkirk was the beloved husband of Sybil J. McMillan.

He was the dear father of Jean (Richard) Young of Ingleside, Linda (Mick) Deveaux of Chesterville and Brian (Sandra) Ouderkirk of Chesterville.

Mr. Ouderkirk was the dear brother of Ema Rae of Winchester and Hubert Ouderkirk of Chesterville.

He was predeceased by Walter Ouderkirk, Margaret Ouderkirk, Reta Ouderkirk, Evelyn Stewart and Sheldon Ouderkirk.

He will be sadly missed by his eight grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held May 1 at the Chesterville Funeral Home.

Interment was in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Donations to the Canadian Cancer Society would be appreciated by the family.

Chesterville Legion to recieve tax break on yearly basis from ND

Sandy Bierworth
Record Editor

WINCHESTER - The Chesterville Legion's municipal taxes will be written off on a yearly basis, North Dundas Council decided Monday.

The decision was made after Legion president Vern Williamson, accompanied by member Harold Sharkey, visited council during its regular meeting to discuss the possibility of receiving a break on their taxes to help offset the cost of paying for the new Legion building.

As per council's request, Williamson presented tax write-off information about other Legions in the region, including North Grenville, Russell and Cardinal.

Council was originally discussing the idea of entering into a 10-year, one time only agreement with the Legion for tax-write offs, but Mayor Claude Cousineau felt the issue would be better dealt with on a yearly basis.

"You did build a new building and it has been a burden because of all the unexpected costs," he said.

"There's no question that all the Legions and the other groups in our area do very good work. They give back to the community, and we should try to help them whenever we can."

The new building has not yet been assessed, but is estimated to be worth about $315,000, meaning the municipal portion of the taxes would be around $1,500.

Council passed a motion to write off the taxes on a yearly basis.

Williamson will have to make a written request to council every year for the break.

The motion will be brought back before council once the exact dollar figure of the taxes is known.

Region's literacy rates below average, SS told

Sandy Bierworth
Record Editor

OSNABRUCK CENTRE - More than 45,000 adults across the region do not have a high school diploma. And now, the A+B=$ coalition in Vankleek Hill is urging local councils to help do something about it.

The organization is in its second year of a Literacy and Economic Development Project being conducted across SD&G, Cornwall and Prescott-Russell that aims to raise awareness of the literacy problem, changes attitudes to keep youths in school and make literacy and training more available.

Micheline Ouellette of A+B=$ visited South Stormont Council Wednesday night to make a presentation on behalf of David Sherwood, coordinator of the project.

She said that 35 per cent of the 130,000 adults in the region have not graudated from high school. Of those, about 15,000 are between the ages of 19 and 44, another 15,000 are aged 45 to 64 (of whom 7,000 have less than a Grade 9 education) and another 15,000 are over 65. These statistics, she said, fall "well below the provincial average."

She added that low literacy rates have an effect on the local economy.

"78 per cent of people with a secondary school diploma are in the work force, but only 43 per cent of people without high school education are working. And 66 per cent of people on Social Assistance have not completed high school," she said. "Improving literacy in our region would in turn attract new businesses, create more employment opportunities and increase the municipal tax base. It would also mean better health and a lower crime rate in your municipality."

The project has received provincial and federal funding, as well as the support of local MPPs and MPs. It is administered by the Literac Services Planning group.

Ouellette said the focus now is to get communities involved.

"We're not asking for money," she said. "All we're trying to do is make people more aware of the problem and work with each community towards a solution."

She urged council to write a letter or adopt a resolution of support, help recruit learners and tutors and provide resources, such as volunteer time, meeting spaces and used equipment.

She told council the organization is hosting a Plain Language Workshop in Cornwall in June to teach participants how to write flyers, articles and pamphlets so that everyone can understand. While the exact date and location have not yet been set, council expressed interest in having some staff members attend. The workshop will be open to the public and costs $25 per participant.

Reeve Jim Brownell thanked Ouellette for her visit.

"This council has always been very strong in supporting literacy in our township, and and as an educator, I know exactly what you're talking about" he said, referring to his teaching position at Longue Sault Public School. "I commend your organization for what you do for the community in helping those who need it and I hope the literacy in our area can be improved in the near future."

Council passed a motion to support A+B=$ in its Literacy Project. To find out more about A+B-$, contact Davi Sherwood at (613) 674-2042.

Pesticide use, strip clubs turn heads at council tables

Sandy Bierworth
Record Editor

OSNABRUCK CENTRE - Rules for pesticide use and allotment of strip clubs were hot topics at two local councils last week.

Motions from the City of Nepean and the town of Richmond Hill were on the agendas for South Stormont and South Dundas Councils, requesting support in bids to urge the provincial government to allow municipalities to regulate pesticide use on all public and private land, and to ban strip clubs in the township.

At the South Stormont table Wednesday evening, the idea of regulating pesticide use on private land did not sit well with Reeve Jim Brownell.

"If a critter is chewing on my garden, he's going to get it, and I don't think anybody should be regulating what I do with my lawn," he said.

Councillor Brian Gravely agreed. "I don't think we should be the ones who decide whether pesticides are used on private property."

But Councillor Ray Fenton felt such a bylaw would have more benefits than drawbacks.

"What if you're spraying that stuff and your neighbour next door has a dog? You're poisoning everyone around you when you use pesticides," he said.

"I wouldn't spray if there was a dog running around next door," Brownell replied.

"I think it's about time something was done," Fenton said. "We've been poisoning ourselves for years with this stuff."

Brownell asked Fenton how he felt such a bylaw would be enforced. Deputy Reeve Jim MacGillivray backed him up.

"We already have a thousand bylaws we can't enforce, what makes you think we're going to be able to enforce this one?"

Because Councillor Heine Bruining could not be present for the discussion, council decided it will bring the motion back to its May 10 meeting.

In South Dundas Thursday morning, feelings about the issue weren't much different. Council agreed the motion would be easier to pass if it didn't include private land.

"I'm in favour of cutting it out on public parkland," said Councillor Bev Sabourin. "There are kids who play there and they roll in the grass and could easily ingest this stuff."

Mayor Johnny Whitteker agreed.

"What this would mean is anyone who wanted to use pesticides on their lawns would have to come to the township to get a permit."

Councillor Rowdy Gillard reminded his councilmates that the issue also included "pesticides that farmers use on their crops," adding he didn't think it was in council's best interest to regulate pesticide use.

Council deferred the motion.

The Town of Richmond Hill wants the provincial government to allow municipalities to say no to strip clubs.

Right now, municipalities have no authority to prevent a legal business from operating. But South Stormont and South Dundas Councils made it clear they would like to have more of a voice in the matter.

"I'll support this motion," Brownell told South Stormont Council.

"It gives council the power to say no. Right now, we have two areas in the township zoned for this kind of thing."

Council passed the motion.

At the South Dundas table, the flow of jokes and puns over the issue didn't inhibit the discussion.

"Can't we regulate this by zoning? Couldn't we zone a piece of land with the exemption of porno parlours or whatever you call them," asked Councillor Audrey Rooney.

Clerk Bill Horner told her council doesn't have a say in what kind of business operates in the municipality if it's legal.

Council decided to find out more information about regulating businesses and the outcome of such a motion and bring it back to its May 11 meeting.

Accident cause power, phone outage

ELMA—The lights went out around Elma about 2 p.m. Thursday when a pick-up truck veered into a ditch on County Road 7, bounced off a fence, hit some trees, and smashed into a hydro pole.

"Ontario Hydro and Bell Canada were both notified," said OPP Constable Al Lummiss, explaining the 1998 Ford truck's collision briefly affected the area's power and telephone services in the vicinity of Dillobough Rd.

The truck's driver, a 21-year-old Morewood man, escaped serious injury, said Lummiss.

"At this point, the investigation is still not completed."

Her memory is our keepsake,
With which we'll never part,
God has her in His keeping,
We have her in our hearts.
Remembered Always,
— Junior and Sheila

CARDS OF THANKS

BARTHOLOMEW - Many thanks to our family, friends, and relatives for the cards, calls, visits and gifts we received on our 50th Wedding Anniversary. It was a day we will always remember.
— Gord & Marion Bartholomew
39

WHITFORD- BISAILLON- We would like to express our deepest gratitude to the many relatives and friends who sent cards, flowers, donations, food, etc., following the loss of Fay. Your support and heartfelt wishes were greatly appreciated in our time of sorrow. Special thanks to the nurses and residents on the 8th floor west of the Ottawa General Campus Hospital, to Dr. Siren for your kindness and care.
— Jean, Floyd, Peter and family
39-1

THANK YOU - The Chesterville Community Mixed Dart League would like to thank Ron Fawcett and the Faucett for hosting and contributing to our league this past winter. To Wendy and Carole, thanks for putting up with us all year. A special thank you to the Heritage Cafe for putting on an excellent meal at our year-end banquet.
39

MCMILLAN - We, the family of Marjorie McMillan, Gail, Verne, Donna and Debbie, wish to express our sincere gratitude for the many floral tributes, cards of sympathy, food, kind words and phone calls. We thank everyone for the generous donations to St. Luke's Lutheran Church in Dunbar and Winchester District Memorial Hospital. We would also like to thank ever so much Dr. Adamson for his care and compassion, the staff and nurses of Winchester Hospital during mother's stay in hospital. Our special thanks to Red Cross Homecare (Jan & Barb), Respite (Wendy, Eileen and Tracy) and Dundas County Hospice (Reina) all helped to ease the load. Also many thanks to Marsden, McLaughlin Funeral Home for their services, and St. Luke's Lutheran for the luncheon following, which were greatly appreciated.
— Debbie, Donna, Verne and Gail

Riverside Rollers honour top bowlers

The Riverside Rollers, the Friday night Chesterville Bowling Lanes recreational league, held its awards night and banquet at the Heritage Restaurant Sat., April 15.

In addition to handing out regular season and playoff hardware, the league held draws for a number of gifts which ranged from $100 gift certificates to Mike Dean's Superstore to coolers, kitchenware, fire extinguishers, gardening tools, and a clock radio. Each bowler won a prize.

League members extended a special thanks to Mike Dean's, Cherished Teddies, Chesterville Bowling Lanes, the Heritage and the league executive for making the year and banquet such a success.

The league's new executive is made up of president Guy Pilon, 448-1717, statistician Abe Douma, 448-2122, and treasurer Carole Dignard, 448-1531.

The 1999-2000 league champions were Abe Douma, Mike Dean, Carole Dignard and Guy Pilon. Playoff A champs were Dave Hendsbee, MayLynn Hendsbee, Ron Moore and Janet Douma. Playoff B champions were Paul Osborne, Pat Pilon, Phil Gasser and Denise Sunderland.

Individual trophy winners were Liz Spiller, women's high average of 186; Brian Casselman, men's high averge of 192; Denise Sunderland, women's high single of 285; Guy Pilon, men's high single of 285; Pat Pilon, women's high triple of 691; Abe Douma, men's high triple of 771; Nancy Dean, most improved woman bowler with a 16-point increase, and Guy Pilon, most improved male bowler with an increase of 25 points.

New members are welcome when the league resumes play in September. Anyone wishing to join the Riverside Rollers can contact one of the executive members listed above.

Embrun takes broomball crown

HALIFAX - Embrun Sports has picked up where the fabled Embrun Plumbers left off, winning the Canaadian National Men's Broomball Championship at the recent tournament here.

Embrun Sports went undefeated in round robin play and beat New Brunwsick 1-0 in the semfinal before dumping Quebec 5-1 in the gold medal game.

All the provinces except British Columbia were represented at the national title tourney.

Embrun Sports will represent Ontario at the 2001 national championships, to be played in Calgary next April.

Poachers pursued

Seaway Valley Crime Stoppers needs your help with the Ministry of Natural Resources investigations of fish poaching in the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Counties. Illegal fishing activity usually increases when popular sport fish such as walleye, yellow perch and northern pike migrate to their spawning grounds every spring. The fish become very susceptible when they congregate in large numbers at these spawning sites. Disturbances to the eggs or removal of spawning fish at this vulnerable time can reduce future available fish resources. It is unlawful to take or attempt to take fish from fish sanctuaries or to take these sport fish anywhere by means other than by angling. I.E. spears or perch cages.
