Survey Will Determine Senior Housing Future

The Ontario Housing Corporation will conducting a survey in Winchester and the surrounding area to determine the need and demand for senior citizen housing in the Village of Winchester, Chesterville and the Townships of Winchester and Mountain.

A research analyst from OHC, the Ontario Government's housing agency, will estimate the number of senior citizens living in these areas whose housing is inadequate or beyond their financial capabilities.

The demand in the area for housing on a rent-geared-to-income basis will be determined from information gathered through advertising, direct mail questionnaires and interviews.

The study which begins to-day (September 12th) was requested by the Council of the above mentioned municipalities. It will include an assessment of economic trends, growth factors and current and future housing needs in the municipality. Senior citizens in these areas will be receiving letters outlining the Government's housing program and asking them if they wish to participate.

Because some interested persons may not be reached by direct mail the OHC urges them to obtain questionnaires from the municipal offices. If the survey shows a need for senior citizens' housing, it will likely be an apartment building, although consideration is given to one-storey units which do not require stairways. All apartments have a living room, bedroom, bathroom and kitchen, and are equipped with stove and refrigerator. Rent is geared to income and the minimum is $37 a month, including services.

After considering the survey report, Council can initiate the program it outlines by adopting a resolution requesting OHC to go ahead. Capital costs are shared by the Provincial and Federal Governments.

Housing on a rent-geared-to-income basis is part of OHC's Home Ownership Made Easy (H.O.M.E.) Program.

Those receiving questionnaires are urged to return them as soon as possible to assist the survey.

The accompanying photo indicates one type of housing which is made possible by the plan and, if results of the survey warrants it, then immediate steps will be taken to institute the program.

Celebrate 69th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Merton Saddlemire of Williamsburg last Friday celebrated the 69th anniversary of their wedding day in the same house where they were married in 1905 by the Rev. Maurer.

Although both "Merton" (94), and his wife 'Edith' (93), enjoy fairly good health they requested that the very special occasion be marked quietly with family members sharing a meal.

Their many, many friends, however, did not forget and highly respected couple were the recipients of a multitude of congratulatory cards, gifts and lovely flowers.

The Press joins in extending congratulations, along with the sincere wish that Mr. and Mrs. Saddlemire may enjoy many more happy anniversaries.

Government Sponsors LIP Program

John Santini, Manager of Cornwall Canada Manpower Centre reports that Manpower and Immigration Minister Robert Andras last week announced that the federal government will sponsor the Local Iniatives Program again this winter.

The main objective of the program will be to counteract seasonal unemployment, especially in areas of Canada where it is most severe. Funding will be similar to that of the 1973-74 program, and Constituency Advisory Groups will again be created.

Applications forms will be available in Canada Manpower Centres during the first week of September. The closing date for applications is the 1st of October, 1974.

Wanted - Brownie Leaders

Winchester 1st Brownie pack may have to fold -- unless.

Unless, that is, leaders can be found. It has been proved over the years that the movement is not only enjoyed by the young girls but also very beneficial.

Provided a few volunteers come forward and offer their services it may be possible to continue and anyone who feels they can help is requested to call either: Mrs. Wilma Ganter (448-3206); Mrs. Tena Savage (774-2242) or Mrs. Connie Crowder (774-3438).

Jr. Council Gives Nod, Jets Remain South Loop

Metcalfe 'Jets' will be back in the St. Lawrence Division of the new restructured Ottawa area Junior 'B' hockey loop.

The season opens in less than two months and instead of the three separate leagues that once operated in the Ottawa Valley the entire area will fall under the jurisdiction of the newly-formed league which is divided into four divisions.

The original draft placed Metcalfe in the North East Division with clubs from Embrun, Hawkesbury, St. Isidore de Prescott, Navan, Buckingham and Gatineau. The Jets management appealed the decision and at a meeting last week the Junior Council agreed to allow Metcalfe to remain in the St. Lawrence Division.

The decision has to be approved by the O.D.H.A. but this is expected to be a mere formality since Junior Council decisions are very seldom questioned.

Williamsburg Council Meets, By-Law Combines Forces With Morrisburg's Scheme

Williamsburg council, at last Saturday's meeting, passed a by-law which, in effect, was an agreement to combine with Morrisburg in taking advantage of the Senior Citizen Housing unit proposed for the village of Morrisburg by the Province of Ontario and which will serve the two towns and the township of Williamsburg.

In other business tile drainage debentures in the amount of $8,000.00 were approved and Bell Canada Ltd. was requested to remove several poles on lot 22 in Concession 6.

The road superintendent reported that over $133,000.00 of the 1974 road allowance had already been used and he was instructed to request approval of a $15,000.00 over-expenditure.

Instant Pool

Main Street, Winchester was, in a matter of minutes, transformed into a series of swimming pools late Monday afternoon.

Crews involved in the street rebuilding programs had gouged out huge craters in preparations for the laying of a firm road-bed and were hardly prepared for the down-pour that struck the village at approximately 4:30.

Within minutes the gullies filled with water and it was reminiscent of the highway conditions along the Nation before the new Cass Bridge was constructed.

Accompanying photo shows one of three such flooded areas, and drivers emerging often found themselves without brakes till linings dried out. Picture was taken looking East from a position directly in front of the Community Park.

INFLUENCED BY ZONE CHANGES

Schools Show Attendance Drop

A survey of 9 area schools, including two high schools, shows a drop in attendance figures in all but three of the schools contacted.

The three that recorded an increase were Winchester Public, Maple Ridge Public and Osgoode Township High School. Increases in both Osgoode Township High School and Maple Ridge Public School were attributed to zone changes while Winchester Public registered a record number of kindergarten pupils.

Maple Ridge, where attendance increased from last year's 230 figure to the present 271, was influenced by the fact both Grades 7 and 8 were transferred from Williamsburg Public School which, in turn, meant reducing the student population at Williamsburg. North Dundas, where the attendance dropped from 1015 to 852, was affected by two drastic changes. That portion of Russell Township which had been attending is now split up. Grades 11, 12 and 13 still come to N.D.D.H.S. but Grades 9 and 10 are now attending O.T.H.S. Then also, approximately 130 students, formerly of North Dundas are now attending the new Tagwi High School.

Osgoode Township High School, with the extra pupil-load from Russell shows an increase of 100.

Complete figures from schools contacted follow:

	1973	1974	CLASSES
Winchester Public School	269	298	(K to 6)
Nationview Public School	389	378	(K to 8)
Maple Ridge Public School	230	271	(7 to 8)
N.D.D.H.S.	1015	852

Metcalfe Public School	546	537

Red Tape Minimized

Land Registration Offices To Handle Speculation Tax Directly

Arthur Meen, Minister of Revenue, announced today that his ministry will be introducing new administrative procedures under the land speculation tax act, 1974. These steps will be of particular interest to lawyers, realtors and related groups across the province. "We have been reviewing the procedures by which lien clearance certificates are issued and believe that significant benefits will arise if we decentralize our operations," he explained.

This new decentralized lien clearance service will be introduced on Monday, September 16, 1974, in all assessment offices in Ontario and in the following 15 Land Registration Offices where we are presently able to make ministry staff available:

Barrie, Brampton, Hamilton, London, Milton, Newmarket, Ottawa, Sarnia, Sudbury, St. Catharines, Toronto, Thunder Bay, Welland, Whitby, Windsor.

"Over the next two months I hope to be able to make arragements to extend this service into all land registration offices in Ontario," Mr. Meen commented.

This decentralization will allow lien clearances required under the act to be issued upon presentation of completed application forms and the necessary supporting documents. In instances where time or circumstances do not permit the filing of completed documents, the lien clearance certificate will be issued upon receipt of an undertaking to file a completed application within 60 days. However, this procedure will not apply to taxable sales by non-residents.

In certain complex cases, it may still be necessary to refer applications for lien clearances to the ministry in Toronto. These applications may be forwarded directly to Toronto or through ministry staff in the assessment or land registration offices.

In these latter instances, where the information is complete and the disposition of the designated land is exempt or where tax has been paid or secured, a lien clearance certificate will be issued from Toronto and mailed back to the applicant within three working days after receipt of the application.

"I'm sure this new setup of our administration will be welcomed since it provides local assistance in obtaining lien clearance certificates and will, I trust, remove much of the inconvenience experienced by people outside Toronto," the minister concluded.

Announce Stormont By-election

The riding of Stormont will elect a new representative to Queen's Park on Thursday, October 17th.

The Ontario Legislature this week passed legislation permitting an immediate by-election to fill the seat vacated by The Hon. Fern Guindon who gave up his portfolio to oppose Cornwall Mayor Ed. Lumley in the last federal election.

Organizers of all three major parties welcomed the news that the by-election will not conflict with municipal elections in December.

Surprise Anniversary Party Honours Hatcher Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hatcher, Winchester, were completely surprised last Friday evening when their daughters Carol and Sandra, their sons-in-law, George Bell and Lyle Smith and their two granddaughters Lisa Bell and Sonya Smith escorted them to Henderson Hall, Winchester, where friends and relatives had gathered to help the popular couple celebrate the occasion of their Thirty-fifth Wedding Anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Hatcher (nee Dorothy Spidell) were married in St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Halifax, N.S., on September 6th, 1939.

Bill Collins, Toast Master, brought an additional delightful surprise to the couple when by waving a magic wand the attendants of the wedding thirty-five years ago, Winnie Hogan (nee Spidell, sister of Dorothy), bridesmaid, and Lewis Hatcher (brother of Jack), Best Man, suddenly appeared on the scene from a side entrance. They were accompanied, as well, by Ellen Smith, Marion Tizard, (Mrs. Hatcher's sisters) Gerald Tizard, brother-in-law, and Hazel Hatcher, sister of Mr. Hatcher. All had travelled from Halifax, N. S. to make the celebration complete. Others attending the event were from Ottawa, Richmond, Kinburn, Kemptville, Ottawa and the immediate surrounding areas.

Carol Bell and Sandra Smith pinned corsages on their parents and on their attendants (of thirty-five years ago); at this moment, Lisa and Sonya proudly presented their grandparents with engraved wine goblets to help them remember the special occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatcher both spoke words of appreciation to the relatives and many friends who had made their 35th Wedding Anniversary such a wonderfully happy one.

Sturdy Playhouse

Construction crews working on Winchester streets may have difficulty re-claiming this huge tile being temporarily stored on a vacant St. Lawrence Street lot.

Children attending school directly across the street soon realized the potential of the sturdy cement 'houses' complete with windows and 'centrally located'.

Judging from accompanying photo one might assume the little lady of the 'house' is about to have a visitor.

Changes On Business Front In Winchester

Business continues on the up-swing at Winchester and each week changes appear on the commercial scene.

For some it means construction, for others renovation of present quarters and still others find it necessary to make major additions. Here at the Press office work has begun on a restructuring program; the well-known Biccum and McIntosh firm has now settled into new quarters and further down St. Lawrence Street a spacious addition is rapidly taking shape at Deek's Electric, a firm owned and operated by Fred Hagmann.

Road Building

Also, as summer wanes, work is proceeding on the street rebuilding contract. Although huge, noisy machines created traffic snarles and inconvenience to homeowners it is expected before the snow flies the main village thoroughfare will be the envy of surrounding towns.

Accompanying photos show the addition to the Deek's Electric enterprise and also the new location of the insurance firm at the junction of Main and St. Lawrence.

Violence In Amateur Hockey

Report from Queens Park by Donald Irvine, M.P.P.

In the past few years, there has been a disturbing trend towards violence in our national sport-hockey. This violence has reached into the minor leagues and is affecting every player involved. The cases and effects of violence in sport have been a source of increasing concern to a great many people. For this reason, the Ontario Government, through the Ministry of Community and Social Service's directed than an inquiry be carried out to investigate violence in amateur hockey. The commissioner of the Inquiry was William McMurtry. In the next couple of columns, I would like to discuss the findings and recommendations of the investigation.

The initial inquiry involved investigation of violence which took place in a Junior B game last winter between Bramalea and Hamilton. In this game, 189 minutes of penalties were handed out to various players. But all the witnesses of the game said that even more penalties should have been called. Vicious fights which took place were met with only minor penalties, and other fights received no punishment whatsoever. Five players and one team official were injured during the game, and a fight in the hallway of the arena involved players, officials and fans. When the hockey game itself became violent, so did the fans, and at one point fourteen police officers were required in the arena. No one team, or group of individuals was entirely to blame. The violence of the game represented a trend in all amateur hockey - a trend which will continue unless we take immediate steps to control it.

There are many causes of violence in amateur hockey. I would like at this time to outline some of those which were set forth by the recent inquiry. The influence of professional hockey (especially the National Hockey League) was believed to be one of the major causes. It is natural for young amateur players to look up to and emulate the NHL players. Youngsters have been told that the NHL players are the best, and so they try to copy them. And yet the examples which are set by the major leagues are questionable. The NHL has a tendency to stress winning and the use of violence to achieve this goal. Skill and finesse in hockey are secondary to brute force in the professional league. One of the reasons for the stress on violence is the attempt to sell hockey to an audience in the United States which understands brawling more easily than the intricacies of the game. As a result, we see the glorification and admiration of the brawlers - the Eddie Shacks and the Dave Schultzes of the league. With violence so apparent among the professional players, it is no wonder that such behaviour has eroded into the amateur teams.

All the players who were interviewed during the study felt that most advertising of hockey tends to place too much emphasis on fighting and violence rather than on the skill involved in the game. For example, in an advertisement for the NBC Game of the Week, a film clip of a hockey fight was shown.

The structure of the rules in professional leagues further contributes to violence at all levels of the sport. Hockey is perhaps the only game which tolerates and even encourages violence as "part of the game". The professional players who were interviewed stated that they felt great pressure from their peers, and from their fans to stand up and fight. The players believed that they would lose face if they did not retaliate when provoked by an opposition player. Under the present rule system very little attempt is made to prevent provocation, and so fighting is not only tolerated, it is encouraged. A player has no reason to turn his back and refuse to fight.

Many of the players involved in the inquiry played in college or international hockey under the "no fighting" clause. All of them felt that it was more rewarding to play in a league where violence was not praised or even tolerated. Such a "no fighting" rule has been instituted in Ontario in Toronto Public School Hockey. This is an example which the rest of the sport should attempt to follow.

Another cause of violence in amateur hockey is the lack of direction within the minor leagues. The Ontario Hockey Association Constitution does not clearly define the objectives or purpose of amateur hockey, and much more guidance is needed.

The referee in hockey often sets the tone. A game may become violent if rules are not enforced, or are not consistent. Many witnesses of the Bramalea-Hamilton game felt that a failure to call major infractions in the first period contributed to the violence displayed.

The coach plays perhaps the most important role in amateur hockey. He is responsible for motivating his players, and establishing their attitude to the game. Some coaches tend to stress the violent side of hockey rather than the skills which are needed.

Parents also play a large part in influencing the attitude of their children to sport. If parents demand victory at all costs, then a child can receive a distorted view of the game.

In my next column, I will discuss some of the recommendations of the inquiry. These recommendations will have a great effect on amateur hockey in the future.

APPOINTMENT
A & R GREGOIRE

Aurele Provost

Mr. Albert Gregoire, President, A & R Gregoire Automobile Ltd., Embrun, Ontario is pleased to announce the appointment of Aurele Provost to the sales staff. Prior to his present appointment, Mr. Provost held a number of sales and managerial positions in the farm implement industry.

Afternoon Group Meets

The September meeting of the Baptist Afternoon Group met in the home of Miss Elizabeth Stuart.

The meeting opened with prayer and the singing of "Tis so sweet to trust in Jesus".

The devotional was given in two parts. Mrs. Lorne Carkner read the first part and Mrs. Harold Ferguson read from the book of Joel 2nd Chapter - your old men shall dream dreams and your young men shall see visions.

Minutes were read and the roll call was answered with a verse of scripture.

An invitation was received from the ladies of the Vernon Presbyterian Church to attend their anniversary celebration of the Women's Missionary Society. They are celebrating their eighty-fifth since organization of their church.

The study course was on the study of Africa. Mrs. Carkner gave an interesting paper of missionaries discussing the amazing growth of the Christian religion. "Africa", she said, "will soon no longer be called the dark continent".

The closing hymn was "In the Sweet Bye and Bye".

High Voltage Electrician

Usually a "black-out" is frowned on by management and staff alike - but there are exceptions.

One such exception was the 'high voltage' electrician making repairs at the Press office Monday morning. Somehow, despite such inconveniences as dark 'areas' and no air-conditioning, there was nothing but smiles throughout the entire office.

The shut-down was necessary by a renovation program presently underway, and electrical work was being done by the Patterson Electric firm of Oxford Mills.

The pretty technician is Mrs. Brian Patterson, 21, (the former Margaret O'Dell of Kemptville) and she says working with her husband proves a highly interesting challenge.

"After all", she says, "I'm a housewife too, and on Fridays, I'm the firm's secretary.

Oh, there were a few skeptics in the office when they saw the dainty fingers at work, but they all applauded when power was restored without incident.

IN MEMORIAMS

BLACK—In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Jeffrey Allan who suddenly passed away September 6, 1965.
He's up in that heavenly mansion
With us he could not stay
God needed another angel
And came and took Jeff away.
—Dad, Mom, Debbie, Gordie and Tim. 20c

DUNCAN—In loving memory of a dear Dad and Grandpa, Wilbert Duncan, who passed away September 16, 1970.
There is a gift in life we cannot buy
That's very rare and true

IN MEMORIAMS

It's the gift of a wonderful Dad
Like the one we had in you
The many things you did for us
In your kind and loving way
You gave us years of happiness
No one can take away.
The road of life mapped out for you
Was not an easy one
But on you walked, not looking back
And said Thy will be done.
You worked so hard all through the years
With just one thought in mind
Not of yourself, but those you loved
But you were just too kind.
Nothing could be more beautiful
Than the memories we have of you
To us you were someone special
God must have thought so too.
He looked around His garden
And found an empty space
He then looked down upon this earth
And saw your tired face.
He put His arms around you
And lifted you to rest
In His beautiful garden
Where He only takes the best.
—Sadly missed, Joan, Keith, Kristin, Curtis, Tracy.
20c

WEEGAR—In sad and loving memory of our dear son, Lyn, who was accidently killed September 10, 1972.
No one heard the footsteps
Of the angels drawing near
Who took from earth to Heaven
The one we loved so dear
We never thought to say good-bye
We never thought that you might die
God came and took you to His home
He took just you and you alone
He must of had some plan in sight
To come and take you that very night
Many a time in silence
We shed a million tears
Thinking of the one we loved
But cannot have him here
He left us beautiful memories
He left us his wife and child
They shall flourish here on earth
While he looks at them and smile
For Lyn knows that we shall meet again
We know not when or where
But he knows, we know there'll be no parting
We'll all be happy there
God keep him in your loving care.
—Never forgotten, Mom & Dad.
20c

WEEGAR—In memory of our loving brother, Lyn, who was accidently killed, September 10, 1972.
Though tears in our eyes do not glisten
And our face is not always sad
There is never a night or morning
But we think of the brother we had Never a day Lyn do we forget you
In our hearts you are always there
But parting comes and hearts are broken
Loved ones go with words unspoken
Life goes on we know thats true
But it does not keep us from loving you
God take a message to him up there
Tell him we'll meet him there
Silent sorrow, tears unseen
Wish your absence was only a dream.
—Your loving sister Sharolle, and brothers Denis, Kevin and Tim.

Maybe That's Where We Went Wrong

Gerry Organ, Bob McEwan and Doug Collins were all guests at last Monday night's Quarterback Club and all agreed the press is the club's worst enemy.

"How", asked kicker Gerry Organ, "can we expect to fill the stadium seats when the city's big-name sports writers and sportcasters continue to berate us?"

Both Organ and McEwan agreed that, in their opinion, Ottaw has the worst 'press' in the entire league.

Commenting on the teams apparent inability to score majors, Organ told fans present that they should keep in mind this is the same team that won the championship last year.

"We experienced problems early in the season last year", he noted, "but we later 'put it all together' and came through." "And", thundered Collins who was being chided for wearing bright yellow trousers, "we'll do it again this year."

The weekly quarterback club is sponsored by Metcalfe Curling Club and president Mike Shields has expressed dissappointment that more football fans don't attend. Those who do attend regularly enjoy game films in colour with interesting commentary by players present, and President Mike hopes, as the season progresses, larger crowds will drop in for an evening of kibitzing with the football stars. The next meeting will be Monday night (Sept. 23rd).

Accompanying photo, taken from the press box high above the Ottawa stadium shows the team in action.

"Maybe", suggested Collins after viewing the photo, "that's where we went wrong."

Williamsburg Pioneers

Williamsburg Pioneers wrapped up the first round of their Dundas Fastball League playoffs in Cardinal Wednesday night, with an impressive 9-3 victory, to take the best of seven series 4-1.

Pioneers collected 2 runs in the first inning, 3 in the second, and 4 in the fourth, to build up a 9-0 lead. Ed Orzel hit a 3 run homer in the bottom of the fourth for Cardinal.

Paul Beckstead's 3 run homer, and a 3 run double by Bill Hogaboam were the big hits for the Pioneers.

The Pioneers had 11 hits off loser Ted Hoy, who struck out 10 and walked 6. Winning pitcher, Doug Casselman surrendered 8 hits, while striking out 9 and walking 1.

The Pioneers now advance to the league finals against Brockville "Commercial Stars".

Second game of the series will be played in Williamsburg Friday night. A large crowd is expected to see the stars, a hard-hitting team lead by their big pitcher Roger Hodgkinsen, plus power hitters, Ernie Metcalfe, Gary Bates and Roy Pyke.

Annual Lions Tourney Won By Kemptville

Members of seven area Lions Clubs converged on Winchester last Saturday to compete in the annual softball tournament sponsored by the Winchester Club.

All players were club members and project chairman Gerry Cross reported teams from Metcalfe, Russell, Kemptville, Stittsville, Finch and Quyon, Quebec were on hand for the competition.

Plantagenet failed to send a team.

It was a 'double-knock-out' contest and Kemptville advanced with a early morning bye over the absent Plantagenet entry. They then proceeded to edge Quyon to qualify for a thrilling final match against the host club. The victory over Winchester gave them possession of the lovely trophy donated by Joel Steele of "THE COUNTRY BOY" store. Winchester, as runner-up in the main event, captured the Ken McNulty trophy.

Russell, after losing their first game to Metcalfe, went on to trim Finch and Stittsville and win the consolation trophy presented by Winchester Lions Club.

The event was designed as a 'fun day' for service clubs and it proved just that with a delicious chicken barbecue in the evening and climaxing with dancing in the arena to the music of Garry Cooper and his band.

Committee Chairman Gerry expressed some concern that all clubs had not seen fit to remain in town for the dance, but he suggested that previous committments may have prevented further participation.

Club members and their wives from Quyon, Finch and Metcalfe joined their Winchester counterparts for the evening of good fellowship and all expressed the hope that a similar event be staged next year.

Greely Softball Season Ends, Hockey Begins

The end of the softball season at Greely ushered in phase '1' of the hockey program and, according to one club official, the community will this season have four teams in Carleton-Dundas League competition. Other clubs in the league include Metcalfe, Osgoode, Morrisburg, Chesterville, Winchester, Stittsville and Richmond.

Plans are under way for organization of a Greely house league as well. At the present time a search is on for team sponsors, particularly for the teams in outside competition.

Corn Roast

Softball players and coaches will be honoured at a corn roast on the night of September 20th.

The busy rural community also reports organization programs for both Scout and Guide groups and vistors to Greely note plenty of action on the new tennis court.

Hockey Season Fast Approaching

There can be little doubt the hockey season is fast approaching. (Note Winchester and District minor hockey registration dates in 'Coming Events' column). According to officials the program is scheduled to begin on Saturday, November 2nd.

Two events are being promoted to help finance the project and the first will be the annual Oktoberfest (Saturday, September 14th) when 100 Club members will be supplying food and everyone is assured an evening of fun. A special feature of the Oktoberfest program will see some lucky person named winner of a colour television which is being supplied by MacIntosh Appliances.

Skate-A-Thon

The second fund-raising scheme will take the form of a skate-a-thon on Saturday, November 2nd. Hockey players will be able to pick up entry forms when they register and officials point out that players wishing to participate in the skate-a-thon must first register and pay entry fees. The Association is again looking for coaches, referees and program assistants. Those interested are urged to contact any member of the association.

Can You Swim?

Everyone knows full well being able to swim is a tremendous asset. But if declarations made in a recent Canadian Wildlife Federation report prove factual then those residing here one hundred years from now will have no alternative but to swim. The report follows:

The year is 2065. You died several decades ago. Your children are probably dead too. Your grandchildren, though, are very much alive.

In fact, one of your grandsons, whose job took him to Montreal back in 2030, has retired comfortably to a suburb of the city. Now, he is told by government officials that he must move, because in just a few years the city of Montreal will cease to exist! What was one of the world's great cities and much of the rest of Canada will be under water.

That scenario is not science fiction. It may well become reality, according to scientists, when the polar ice cap melts in less that a century. Possibly much sooner.

Increased demand for water has already slowed the flow of fresh water into the northern oceans, thereby increasing their salinity. The higher concentration of salt may melt the ice cap in less than a hundred years says Maurice Strong, Executive Director of the United Nations' Environment Program.

"This could be greatly accelerated as the result of oil spills as one of the world's largest petroleum reserves is exploited there", adds Mr. Strong, a Canadian.

The polar ice caps have stabilized the earth's temperature during the 10,000 years of their existence; without their buffer, the climate could change wildly.

Meanwhile, other factors are already at work altering climatic conditions. Five billion tons of pollutants are spewed into the atmosphere each year.....almost 3,000 pounds for every man, woman and child on earth.

Carbon dioxide gas is drifting to the equator where it is trapping the sun's heat. Particles in the air, on the other hand, are drifting toward the poles where they are causing cooler temperatures. In fact, the melting of the northern ice cap, may be all that prevents another ice age.

Severe droughts in West Africa that have killed hundreds of thousands of people in the past five years, lack of rain in northeast Brazil and flooding on the Indian subcontinent may all be attributable, at least partially, to atmospheric pollution.

This is not the first time the earth's climate has undergone dramatic changes. The Sahara, the world's largest desert, was a lush rain forest until destroyed by severe climatic changes a few thousand years ago.

Don't panic! You won't be here.

Tune Up - Slow Down

Last winter's oil-shortage crisis may have faded, but the longer-term need for fuel conservation is still very much on government minds, reports The Financial Post.

In Ontario, for instance, a provincial government group is looking at various ways to slow gasoline consumption. One idea - and at this stage it's only that - is to introduce a system of compulsory tuneups, to be given at special government test centres. If you didn't already know it, a poorly tuned car uses more gas that a well-tuned one.

Another idea is to reduce motor license fees to a nominal amount, but then raise gasoline taxes sharply, perhaps even doubling them (they're now 19 cents a gallon). That would make motorists think twice about roaring along at a gas-guzzling 80 mph and get them down to a sedate, but more efficient, 55 mph.

Trouble for some businesses, however, is that it might also make many tourists think twice about driving in Ontario.

Editorial "Those Wealthy Farmers" Receives Criticism

Mountain, Ontario

Dear Sir,

If you "city counterparts" (your words not mine) were not so greedy you wouldn't need to pay the prices you do!

The wealthy farmers? Beef at 28 cents per pound against $158 per ton for feed and still rising. The farmers can't even afford to feed what he should to produce the maximum of milk per cow. Don't know where the rest of it goes but surely not in the farmers pocket.

If you attacked the people who won't work but sit home and let us feed and keep them you would have a point. They keep our taxes high and let our crops go to waste because they just don't want to work and probably don't have enough brains for the job anyway.

As for milk and eggs they cost more to produce than your soda pop with no food value. But never a word about the price of that!

Farm wives act as sec. treas. housekeepers, milk maids, laundry women, tractor drivers and jack of all trades and no pay. Even to get the lawn mowed you have to pay some kid $2 an hour. We have to buy our groceries too. You work from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. we work from 5 a.m. to 9 p.m.

So live it up folks it may not last long.

A Farmers' Wife
and proud of it

P.S. since last week feed is $162 per ton and rising.

Dear SIr,

After reading the Editorial "Those Wealthy Farmers" in your August 29th edition of the "PRESS" my blood pressure shot up a few points.

Persons who write articles anonymously are usually ignorant or grossly uninformed and last but not least they are "gutless wonders". Obviously the writer of said article was afraid to reveal his or her name because his facts were based on hearsay or speculative guesses.

Since when does the government subsidize swimming pools? What rubbish!

I agree that the majority of farmers are moaning and groaning today but they have a multitude of reasons to justify their complaints.

Farmers are NOT doing better than their counterparts in the city. The farmer is already dealing with a state of depression; his city counterpart is only dealing with inflation. While workers in all trades and professions and non-workers have received cost of living increases, the farmer's costs have doubled or tripled and his income has either decreased or risen minutely.

I personally know many farmers covering the area from Montreal, Ottawa through to Toronto. Not one of these acquaintances would I classify as wealthy. Show me a wealthy farmer and I'll show you a man who has gained his wealth through means other than agriculture. A large majority of farmers today are living at the poverty level.

So the farmer laughed all the way to the bank with his goverment relief cheque for loss of crops two years ago, did he? The fact is that as soon as the subsidy to the farmer was announced, the price of feed grains jumped from $40 ton to $80 ton almost overnight (and have continued to escalate ever since). Incidently this subsidy did not provide sufficient feed for the average farmers herd for one month. Guess who really was the benefactor of that relief cheque? Not the farmer. The real need at that time was to freeze feed prices. Furthermore we are still feeling the "STING" of that wet disaster year. Healthwise our cattle "fell apart", suffering from nutritional deficiencies due to poor quality feed, especially vitamin D deficiency resulting from lack of sunshine. This caused poor milk production, slow growth in beef, and rickets in offspring, which is still evident in calves born this spring. We're still losing money!

Food is one of man's most basic needs and yet our anonymous writer feels that agriculture shouldn't be subsidized. How about the millions of dollars our government pours into other industries and the unlimited millions on less important issues; bilingualism being a good example?

Anyway as long as the government uses farmers as PAWNS in the political chess game of international trade, dictating prices and exploiting our men of agriculture, then subsidies will be necessary. If farmers were free to run their agricultural businesses on the same basis as all other business in this country i.e. Cost (material, capital, labour) plus profit equals selling price; then the subsidy system could be abolished.

The general mood of farmers these past few years has been discouragement and depression. The agricultural situation is reaching such a critical state now that anger and indignation prevails. This has lead to protect inboycotting, dumping and ploughing under crops. These revolutionary sparks will soon erupt into a roaring inferno if equal rights and equal opportunity are not bestowed on the farmer.

If our anonymous writer feels that the farmer is in such a fortunate position today and enjoying a good life, why on earth isn't he joining our ranks? Why aren't young men joining them?

Come on "Buddy", be a farmer but first of all be prepared for the following.

1. Work a 12 to 14 hour day, 365 days a year; no sick leave and no holidays (not even Christmas).
2. Be at the mercy of the marketing boards, auction block and stock market; which will often dictate that you sell your produce for less than it cost you to produce it.(Incidently all your labor is given free).
3. Be willing to face plague, disease, drought, floods, killer frosts and parasite devastation to animals or crops at any given time.
4. Accept the fact that almost everything you need to buy to run your business, you will buy at "Rip Off" prices.
5. Credit extended to its fullest extent and debt become a way of life; mortgages and bank loans weighing heavy on your shoulders. You will probably have to seek other part time employment to keep your operation viable.
6. Be proud to be a farmer in spite of the fact that most of the general public will treat you like a second class citizen.

Yours Truly,
Dianne Harkin

I Size Up Students, Baby Climbs Up Me

By Bill Smiley

End of summer notes: back to work; babies; the speed limit; and anything else that crops up.

It's good to get back to work. For a month. At first there's a general feeling of excitement as the fall term begins at school Bonhomie among the staff as summer experiences are exchanged and tans are compared. The challenge of facing a hundred and some new faces in the classroom. The fine September weather.

Even the students are happy to get back. For a month. They, too, exchange summer anecdotes, greet old friends, and begin making new ones. There is a feeling of liveliness in the air.

One of the favourite pastimes for the students as school re-opens is sizing up the teachers.

"Yeah, he's not a bad guy, but you can walk all over him. His classes are a mob scene."

"She's a good teacher, knows her stuff, but she's so dull, no sensa humour, it makes your teeth ache."

"He's a real mean (deleated). Makes ya work like a dog.

And so on. They're usually pretty shrewd in their assessments. What they don't realize is that their teachers are doing the same. "There's a bad little devil; have to keep an eye on him. Oh, no, not Joe repeating his year. Why did they put him in my class again? There's a bright girl; good-looking too." And so on.

Utterly bewildered for a month are the new kids in Grade 9. They come in all sizes, from tiny shrimps to hulking giants. Some of them come from small country schools. To be dumped in a huge, complex building housing daily about 1,700 people, including staff, is rather frightening for them.

They get lost. That's reasonable; even some of the teachers get lost. But the kids lose their books, forget where their lockers are or if they find them, have forgotten the combination for the lock. They have to unravel all the do's and don'ts of a huge and baffling new system.

But they get sorted out and after a month, they're old hands, just as cocky as all the others.

Now the babies. Thank goodness I'm not a young mother. We've been having a visit from our grandbabby, and when it was over, I felt ten years older.

He's a beautiful child and a healthy one. But he's as active and agile and slippery as an eel.

Unfortunately, his gran had cracked ribs, was in considerable pain and could scarcely hold him or lift him. As a result, she wasn't much good, as an over-sized toy. That's all grandparents are, when you're eight months old. They're far better than a rattle. They're softer (in more ways than one), they make the appropriate noises, they pick you up and kiss you when you fall down, they sing to you and joggle you on their knees, and so on.

Well, Nicov Chen "took a shine", as they say, to me as his new toy, "Ah, look. He loves his grandad". The women would coo, when he'd crawl straight to me, look up imploringly and begin to ascend me as though I were Mount Everest.

His technique was impressive. I was wearing nothing but shorts most of the time. He would reach up from the floor, grab me by the hair on my legs with a grip like an orangutan, pull himself to his feet, grinning with triumph and swaying around, ready to fall, bump his head and start yelling.

Another beseeching look, and I'd hoist him onto my knee. Then he'd turn around, grab me by the hair on my chest, and pull himself up for a little jump, jump, jump, facing me. When he got tired of that, he'd start grabbing my nose and trying to pull it out, or poking at my eyes, or tearing at an ear.

Suddenly, he'd squirm around and want down. On the floor, he'd head, at startling speed and with a demonic grin, straight for a standing floor lamp. He loved it because when you shook it, from ground level, it made a nice jingling sound. It is also heavy enough to brain a baby.

So grandad leaps across the room and grabs the lamp in the nick of time, points the kid in another direction and sinks wearily into his chair. Sixty seconds later, he feels a painful twisting of the hair on his legs, and off we go again. One of us never got tired of this little routine.

He's a happy babby, but, on the occasions when he isn't you could hear him two blocks away. Whenever his Mum went shopping, I baby-sat and enjoyed it thoroughly, but did my sitting in a constant state of fear that he'd get unhappy. I'm glad, once again, that I'm not a young mother, but an old grandad.

Finally, the speed limit. There is a proposal that it be reduced from 70 on the big highways to 55 m.p.h. This was done in the U.S. and Germany, among others, during the oil crisis. There is quite a lot of opposition here. I'm all for it. It's been proved that it cuts the carnage on the highways. Save lives, save money, save energy. How can anyone be against it? And what's the big rush, anyway? It's time we slowed down.

Seeking Satisfaction

By Rev. Dr. Gordon C. Smyth

The deepest concern of human nature is the desire for fulfillment. Usually it is not a problem relating to material resources but to how we may use our powers to realize our potential in what we consider to be our highest purpose.

Some among us mistakenly think that it is commendable merely to cherish an ideal, and that is quite unimportant how we try to reach it. But in the area of moral living it can never be a matter of the end justifying the means since the means influences and indeed determines the character of the end. The resignation of Richard Nixon as President of the United States is a case in point.

Jesus, on the eve of Calvary and in his great prayer for the mission of his apostles, said, "For their sake I consecrate myself, that they also may be consecrated in truth" (John 17:19). Here he named the means that were commensurate in quality and vitality with the ends.

The consecrated life is, first of all, a concerned life. "For their sake....." There Jesus disclosed the greatest spiritual principle by which any one of us can ever live. It cuts straight across the way of life of people in whose lives the springs of love and compassion have become dried up, and a ruthless individualism suppresses any concern they might have for the feelings and rights of others.

On further thought, the consecrated life is a controlled life. Jesus named "truth" as the all-embracing agent that should claim his apostles in every generation. In this case the truth was the Good News that into a world of sin and of dying hopes God had sent his Son to redeem it.

This is no abstract theory. It is history. One day a young Oxford don chose Jesus Christ, and eventually through the consecration of John Wesley, the current of English life was changed. On another day a young factory worker in Blantyre, Scotland, chose Christ and through the consecration of David Livingstone the African black man still sees a love stronger than the white man's sin.

In view of what we have thought thus far, the consecrated life has to be a basically committed life as well. Andrew Bonar once said, "I see that when I dwell at any length of time upon myself, my heart is not profited. But whenever I get a sight of Christ's love, my heart is full of life."

This is a story repeated again and again as men and women see the character of the living Christ unveiled in the preaching of the Gospel and in the Sacraments of the Church. Life's pattern is renewed. Life's purpose is restored. And with a new commitment to Christ and the cause of humanity, they go forth to gladly work until their job is done.

The Seventh Column

Area Lions Club members enjoyed an exciting softball tournament right here at Winchester last Saturday. The local boys proved very gracious hosts and 'refused' to accept any of the honours. President Jim Helmer called it being gracious hosts - - - Kemptville (the winners) described their vanquished hosts another way - lousy ball players. Curiosity prompted us to make some enquiries concerning the highly-rated Metcalfe and District Club squad. Their coach explained it this way:- - "We really encountered no serious competition, but being good Lions we had no choice but to adhere rigidly to the 'LIONS CODE OF ETHICS' which demands we 'aid our fellow men by giving our sympathy to those in distress, our aid to the weak and our substance to the needy'. And goodness knows those Winchester players needed sympathy".

Gerald Cross and members of his committee deserve a sincere 'round of applause' for their efforts in organizing and directing such an interesting late summer activity for district Lions and their families. One of the six Lions International "Objects" reads like this: TO UNITE THE CLUBS IN THE BONDS OF FRIENDSHIP, GOOD FELLOWSHIP AND MUTUAL UNDERSTANDING. Saturday's tournament wasn't planned as a money-making project and wasn't. Maybe the local club even lost a few dollars--but if so those dollars weren't really lost--they purchased for Winchester Lions Club the fellowship and goodwill of neighbouring clubs throughout the entire Golden Triangle. Maybe our boys didn't earn the trophy--but they were "winners" in the eyes of all visitors.

Sometimes there just doesn't seem to be an idea left in the old typewriter and at such times we usually rely on a tip offered by our good friend of 'Below the Hill' fame. "Remember", suggested Dave, "there's always a lead right there in your office, all you have to do is keep your ear tuned in". And by golly he's right! Only last week a computer operator offered this bit of wisdom. "It's been scientifically proved that age can be determined by the hardness of the eyes---except where bank managers are concerned."

Ma Bell should give some serious thought to making changes on the information page of her directory. Inside the front cover in big red letters, are the words 'EMERGENCY CALLS', and directly underneath space is provided for subscribers to fill in numbers for such possible emergencies as 'Fire', 'Police', 'Doctor', or 'Hospital'. But then in a further effort to be helpful the following message is set out in bold black type: "OR you may dial "0" [zero] and give the operator details of the emergency". If it's a real emergency we have a better suggestion - borrow a bicycle and deliver your message in person. Our usual experience after dialing '0' is to listen to eight or ten rings and then forget it. We've always wondered how many times that "zero" phone would actually ring before the 'emergency' operator really answered. Last Saturday, attempting to make a 'collect' call, we decided to find out. Settling down in a comfortable chair we dialed '0' and waited -- and counted. That far-off signal rang in some distant office 127 times -- and no one answered. We still don't know when the 'emergency' operator answers, but now our readers will understand when we suggest using an 'emergency' bicycle.

An editorial which appeared in our August 29th issue and entitled "THOSE WEALTHY FARMERS" has created the anticipated reaction. (See Letters to the Editor.) Some readers apparently assumed the comments were originally written by someone without the courage to sign his or her name. In fairness to the writer we must point out that such was not the case. Although no name was signed, as such, the writer did definitely identify himself (or herself) by virtue of being the Editor of the paper in which the "Editorial" appeared -- 'THE TOWN AND COUNTRY'. We welcome more replies from our farmer friends who, much better than a city editor, know the 'score'.

We know it's too late -- the marrying season is almost over. But who knows? Maybe the following will prove valuable to those making plans for next spring. Remember girls the following three statements were all made by the same handsome devil but at three different stages of life. Before Courtship: "I think that women are a lot stronger physically than men are." During Courtship: "Be sure and wear your rubbers dear, I don't want my little baby doll catching cold." After Marriage: "For gosh sakes take a couple of aspirins and shut up."

Pose Strategies For Survival To Environment Conscious 4-H'ers

60 4-H members recently attended a National 4-H Environmental Conference entitled "Strategies for Survival" at McMaster University, Hamilton, Ontario from August 25th through 29th.

Karen Hansen from Metcalfe, Ontario was one of the delegates chosen to attend this conference.

During the conference, five major topics of international interest were discussed. These were population, food production, non-renewable resources, management of the environment and industrialization.

The Program Moderator for the conference was Mr. Ken Lefolii of the CTV Television Network.

The sessions began with the topic of population. The guest speaker was Professor Milton Freeman of McMaster University, who said that our global problem of overpopulation is interlinked with food production, the use of our natural resources, pollution and industrialization. He stressed the importance of curbing our needs, giving the underdeveloped countries an opportunity to raise their standard of living.

The second speaker was Mr. Douglas Daniels, an economist with I.D.R.C., who talked about food production. In his speech he said that governments must take more interest in agriculture in the future. Canadian farmers can look to higher prices for produce in the future because great demand will be placed on their ability to produce. World grain reserves are diminishing while the demand for food continues to grow. Mr. Daniels urged the delegates to get personally involved and urge governments to provide support to developing nations.

Mr. Ronald Ritchie, ex vice-president of the Imperial Oil Company, was the third guest speaker. During his talk on non-renewable resources, Mr. Ritchie said that Canada must develop new resources of energy to remain economically sound. With research, Canada will have energy for centuries. Mr. Ritchie expressed the view that the underdeveloped nations of the world who represent four-fifths of the world's population, may pose a threat in the future. The desire of these people to obtain a way of life similar to that of the developed nations may be the threat. The real question posed by Mr. Ritchie was "How long will these nations continue to tolerate their present conditions?"

Dr. John Robinson, of Guelph University, stressed that agriculture is the chief source of pollution. He pointed out that farmers unintentionally contaminate water sources with chemical fertilizers. The farmer has the choice of maximum crop yield or contamination of the environment, said Dr. Robinson. The delegates were informed that for a man to live without affecting his environment it would require 1300 acres for each person rather than the one acre per person which is the present rate. He predicted that in the future. it would be more profitable for a farmer to sell his grain than to use it to produce animal protein. Dr. Robinson commented that this could mean higher meat prices.

The final speaker of the program was Mr. Larry Higgins, an economist with Ontario Hydro. He addressed the 4-H delegates on Industrialization. The purpose of economic development, he said, is to provide the individual with the opportunity to control the life he wants to live. Too much or too little industrial activity could have a damaging affect on his ability to control his life style. The poor of the world do not have this ability to control their lives. Mr. Higgins warned however, that if care is not taken, over industrialization, the quality of life may suffer from social disorder and pollution.

4-H Survey...

$25. To Help Pollution

Twenty-five dollars is as much as most Canadians are prepared to pay to eliminate pollution.

This is one finding from a scientific survey of 400 Canadians done by 60 4-H Club members from across Canada. The 4-Hers pooled their findings at a conference on the environment at Hamilton's MacMaster University, August 25 to 29. Those questioned in the survey came from a wide variety of occupations and professions representing both urban and rural communities.

While a relatively large number 34 per cent, were willing to spend up to $100 to be rid of pollution, only 15 per cent would consider spending $500 or more.

Of six world problems identified by the survey, the largest number of respondents felt inflation was the most serious. Overpopulation and world food shortage came a close second and third, with pollution, atomic warfare and energy shortage finishing in that order.

Only nine per cent of those questioned believe the energy crisis and other recent shortages are real. Some 91 per cent felt they are at least partially created by international powers. At the same time, only one in four felt Canada should not share her natural resources with other nations.

Of the 400 responses to the 10-question survey, less than 14 per cent realized that virtually all of the world's agricultural land is now under cultivation and only one in four realize the world's population is growing at 200,000 people per day.

KCAT Bushlot Experiment

A bushlot feeding experiment conducted through last winter at the Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology has demonstrated the ability of Holstein steers to withstand winter conditions when no housing is available. Mr. Graham Hooper, head of the Livestock Production Section of the College, states: "We knew that Holstein steers performed well in our feedlot facility, and we were anxious to see if they were capable of making acceptable weight gains in the bush."

Three groups, each of 12 cattle, were used in the experiment, conducted from late October until the cattle were ready for shipping. Two groups were in separate bushlots with only a thick cedar bush for cover. The third group was fed in an open-fronted pole barn on the campus.

Group 1 in the bush received corn silage supplement by shelled corn at one-half percent body weight, and urea-molasses to lift the protein content to 12 percent. Group 2 in the bush received high moisture ear corn mixed with urea-molasses, as did Group 3, which was housed in the barn. Feed was available to all animals 24 hours a day. Free-choice mineral supplements and trace-mineralized salt were also provided.

"Obviously the cattle on corn silage did not gain as quickly as those animals on grain rations, but they did produce a 300 percent increase in returns over the cost of feed," points out the researcher. The bushlot group on grain gained better than those in the barn, but "it was an insignificant amount".

Both outside groups of cattle stripped the bark off most of the cedar trees, and a means must be found to prevent this in future experiments. The trial will continue for several winters in an attempt to determine what types of problems might arise if the system were adopted on a continuous basis.

FARM NEWS

Protection For Fall Seeding

Farmers who direct-seed forages in the fall may now insure their planting against establishment failure.

Under the New Seeding Plan, available from the Crop Insurance Commission, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, a farmer may protect himself against all weather hazards, including winterkill, which might damage his new seeding. Insurance purchased to protect seeding this fall extends until May 30, 1975. In the event that new seeding does not become established and is destroyed by the farmer, the indemnity to the farmer is $17.50 per acre for each acre destroyed. A four-acre minimum applies. The cost to the farmer is only 50 cents per acre, but all acres seeded in the fall must be insured.

Many farmers were not able to seed down all the acres they had planned this past spring. As a result, they will be seeding their forages this fall to ensure a continuing supply of hay and pasture in 1975. Today's high cost of forage seeds means that the investment a farmer has in his new seeding is considerable. The government-sponsored Crop Insurance Program allows the farmer to protect that investment at very little cost.

For more information, farmers should contact their local crop insurance agent or The Crop Insurance Commission, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Ontario M7A 1B7.

Applications must be made by September 15, 1974, even if the seeding is planned for some time later in the fall.

Junior Farmers Attend Camp

Rina Beuman, representing Dundas County; Robert Shields, representing Ottawa-Carleton; Lorraine Eadie and Brad Sullivan representing Russell County, were among the area Junior Farmers attending the Provincial Leadership Training Camp at Geneva Park on Lake Couchiching last week.

During the week, each member was expected to provide leadership to the program, in various ways whether it be planning the evening social event, vespers, developing a new song or working on one of the many other camp activities.

A large portion of the week's program was devoted to "personal" leadership development through a series of discussions and group experiences. Sessions on communication, social recreation, public relations, program planning, conducting effective meetings and numerous other topics of importance to local Junior Farmer Clubs were a key part of the camp.

On return to their home communities, delegates are expected to make use of their new skills and abilities in their local Junior Farmer program.

The Junior Farmer Leadership Training Camp is conducted by the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Egg Facts

Truth And Misconception Of Egg Marketing

"Almost everyone seems to have an opinion to express about egg marketing in Canada, but some basic facts are being ignored," Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan said today.

He listed a series of misconceptions, and offered facts to contradict these opinions.

1. Misconception: Egg prices are too high.

Fact: Egg prices are lower than general food prices or prices for all commodities within the Consumer Price Index. The egg price index for July stood at 148.6 for Grade A large eggs at the retail level, compared with 190.2 for all food items and with 168 for the overall Consumer Price Index.

2. Misconception: Egg prices have not come down from 1973 highs.

Fact: Eggs are one of the very few commodities in our economy which have come down in price since January. Egg prices have come down by six per cent at a time when food prices in general rose by six per cent. The index for eggs dropped from 158.7 in January to 148.6 in July. During the same period, the Consumer Price Index rose from 157.6 to 168.

3. Misconception: Egg prices have risen at an abnormally fast rate.

Fact: Prices rose in 1973, but the price increase was brought on by shortages caused by producers being driven out of business by extremely low 1971 and 1972 prices. In 1971. producer prices for Grade A large averaged only 25.3 cents per dozen, the lowest price in 20 years. In 1973, prices averaged 32.2 cents per dozen, and prices were only lower than that twice in 20 years.

4. Misconception: The Canadian Egg Marketing Agency (CEMA) has not made management and administrative improvements.

Fact: Administrative mistakes have been made in the management of the national egg marketing plan. This is, however, the first agency of its type. Corrective actions have been taken each time that problems have arisen, some dating back to well before the issuance of the January report of the Food Prices Review Board. More specifically, egg prices have been reduced, a complete review of operations of the national agency and provincial marketing boards has been undertaken, and provincial supply programs are being overhauled.

5. Misconception: The federal government has paid $10,000,000 to "bail out" CEMA.

Fact: The federal government has brought about $1,300,000 worth of processed egg products. Prices paid ranged from 25 to 28 cents per dozen on a fresh egg equivalent basis. The purchases were made for the World Food Program, out of the regular budget of the WFP, and only after it was determined that the WFP had a use for the products. The amount purchased is equivalent to about 40,000,000 shell eggs, or about one per cent of total annual Canadian egg production.

6. Misconception: The regrettable destruction of eggs due to quality loss in storage will be a "cost" to consumers.

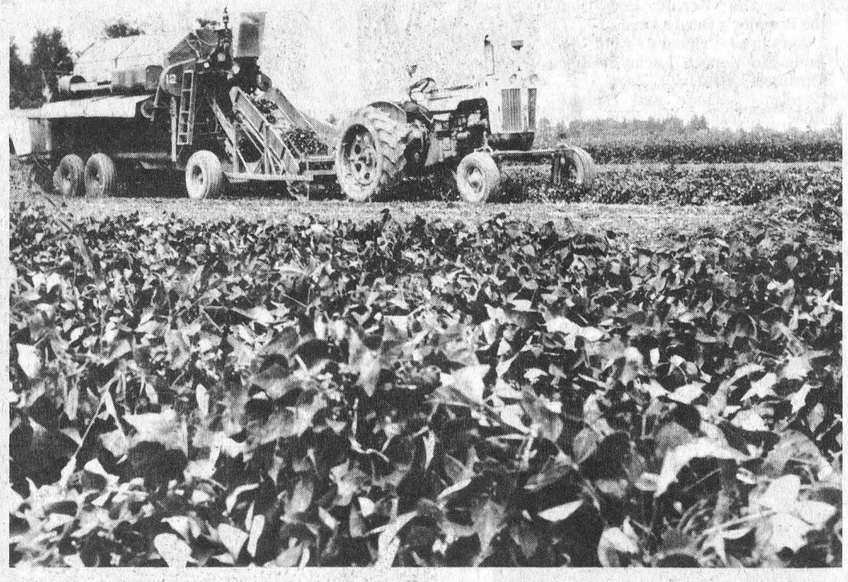
Fact: These eggs were owned by producers, and had quality been maintained, the returns from their sale would have gone to producers. This is their loss, and not an increase in price to consumers.

7. Misconception: If too many eggs are being produced, it is easy to cut back production.

Fact: Production decisions are made many months in advance of the actual production date. Once hens are in production, cutbacks can represent severe losses to producers as hens that are worth $2.50 to $3.00 as layers are worth only 20 to 30 cents as salvage.

8. Misconception: Consumers are being forced to pay the price for the loss in market price for eggs that are removed from the fresh egg market and diverted to processing.

Fact: The producers absorb the loss in market price. To the extent that consumers pay "higher" prices for fresh eggs because of surplus removal programs, they pay lower prices for processed eggs, which are used to produce bakery products, etc. Producer prices cannot be set "too" high, because imports or other foods will replace Canadian fresh eggs. Over the long term, producer prices cannot be set too low, or producers will be unable to maintain production. This is a very narrow price range.



Bean Harvesting Gathers Speed

Ontario's southwest, with its long growing season and favorable weather, produces the majority of the field bean cash crops grown in this province. Mechanical harvesters such as this one help the province's farmers speed up harvest operations, so that the crops are taken at their peak of maturity.

This lima bean harvester, in use near Chatham, is in the midst of a bean harvest estimated at more than 1700 acres in 1974. Much of the harvest is destined for processing plants in Ontario, for freezing, canning or to be made into other bean products. Mechanization helps field bean growers ensure that the beans reaching the consumer market are the best quality available.

Chesterville Fair Records Shattered

There may have been years when Chesterville's mid-week annual fall fair was in danger of fading into history -- but that was all changed last weekend.

Favoured with three consecutive days and nights of ideal weather records toppled in most departments.

Day '1' of the fair, usually considered by fair-goers as a 'nothing' day, saw close to a thousand people viewing the giant midway, the exhibit hall laden with the fruits of the harvest, and the well-groomed livestock being prepared for the show ring.

Saturday the turn-styles literally whirled as a crowd, estimated at 3,000, milled through the gates, and again on Sunday, attracted by the tractor-pulling event, another 2,000 paid admission.

Cattle Classes

Top winners in beef classes were Bradbrook Smith and Harold Lannin while red ribbon winners in the holstein classes included Gerald Jans, Moose Creek; Gordon Bustard, Ormstown; R. Fawcett and Wm. A. Carss, Ottawa; and Carl Smith, Chesterville. Gerald Jans won the Breeder's Herd award.

Ayrshires honours went to Doug MacKenzie, Lachute; Roy Simmons, Finch; John P. Bradley, Lachute and Donald Rose, Mountain. Roy Simmons took home the breeder's herd award.

In the Guernsey division Ivor Williams, Kars; Malcolm MacGregor, Crysler and Peter Cochrane, Almonte were big winners with Malcolm MacGregor winning the breeder's herd red ribbon. Lorne Farrell, Belleville, North River Farms, Lachute and Floyd Dingwall, Berwick, exhibited the best in the Jersey classes with North River Farms taking the breeder's herd honours.

Horse Events

George Shoniker, Cornwall, Mrs. J. Woldreft, Newington and Lorne Crawford showed the best in light horse classes and Grant Hodges, North Gower had the best in heavy horse classes.

The Spirak stables, Winchester, earned a major share of prize money in pony divisions.

Pictures

There are no age barriers at fall fair time and it's all fun for the little ones whether speeding recklessly on a midway ride or enjoying an afternoon nap in the warm sun.

The little 'gunner' appears to have lost sight of his assailant while the little lady has obviously concluded that as far as fall fairs are concerned, she can take them -- or leave them.

IMPORTANT TIP

An important tip to any one considering the purchase of a new car this year.

BEFORE YOU BUY ANY 1975 CAR, MAKE SURE YOU KNOW WHAT KIND OF FUEL IT REQUIRES.

Some 1975 cars will be equipped with catalytic converters which are emission control devices requiring the use of more expensive unleaded fuel.

With the exception of one optional engine*, all engines in Ford of Canada's 1975 model cars will operate on any type of gasoline...regular, premium or unleaded.

Ford of Canada's decision to minimize the need for the converter reflects our very real awareness of the limited availability of unleaded fuel in Canada. Further, the buyer of a 1975 Ford built car will be able to avoid the cost penalty for unleaded fuel. They will be able to stop with confidence at any pump, any station, anywhere in Canada.

In addition to the convenience of fuel availability, improvements in operating economy will be made possible by a combination of engine adjustments, axle ratio changes, a solid state ignition system, the introduction of steel belted radial ply tires as standard equipment and a lessening of the routine maintenance requirements. These changes will be introduced on all Ford of Canada 1975 car lines.

Tourism means jobs.

This is what Ontario is doing to keep the tourists coming.

Tourism is good for Ontario. Tourists take nothing away except happy memories, but they leave plenty of money behind them.

That's why your Ontario government seeks to attract visitors to our province, and asks for your help in making them feel welcome.

Already, tourism is Ontario's 3rd largest industry. It provides jobs for over 154,000 people, quite possibly including you and your neighbours. What's more, by 1978 Ontario expects to play host to enough visitors to create 85,000 additional jobs.

A worthwhile goal, certainly. But how can all this be accomplished? Here are some of the things that your Ontario government is doing:

We're making loans for the development of tourist facilities—through the Ontario Business Incentives Program, Ontario Development Corporation, Eastern Ontario Development Corporation, and Northern Ontario Development Corporation.

Ontario now has Tourism specialists in London (Eng.), Los Angeles, Frankfurt, and Tokyo.

We are working with airlines, railroads and bus companies to promote the pleasures of Ontario.

We are striving to bring conventions to smaller as well as larger communities, and to resort areas, especially during off seasons.

We are supporting your local Travel Associations, with ample money to promote local tourism.

We are promoting the attractions of our Province by advertising throughout Ontario and nearby U.S. states.

You can help us welcome visitors by greeting them in a friendly manner, and showing them genuine hospitality.

Encourage visitors to come back, and to bring their friends.

If we all do our share, we can increase the number of tourists who come here, and that's not only good for the tourists—it's good for Canada, good for Ontario, and good for you.

Ed. Lumley Cuts Ribbon Opens New C.C. Extension

"This is a striking example of what can be accomplished when three levels of government work together for the common good of the community."

These were the opening remarks of Cornwall Mayor Ed Lumley who spoke briefly to the large crowd assembled before he cut the traditional ribbon and declared the new addition to Morrisburg's Community Centre officially open.

The Mayor, who will be leaving his post this fall to take his seat in Parliament, congratulated Morrisburg and the surrounding community for having such a spacious and modern addition to the busy centre.

Community Centre Board Chairman, Bill Dillabough, was Master of Ceremonies for the brief but impressive ceremony and Morrisburg Reeve Earl Baker explained how the giant addition had been financed.

Reeve Baker noted the centre had been erected in 1962 at a cost of $152,000.00

"Our debenture debt on the original structure will be paid off in two years", he said.

Mr. Baker went on to explain that cost of the addition, recently completed was $181,280.00.

"Such an expenditure would not have been possible", he continued, "without grant assistance, and we received an L.I.P. grant amounting to $83,479.00, as well as a Community Centre grant of an additional $20,000.00."

"Consequently", the Reeve concluded, "our debenture debt on this beautiful structure amounts to only $77,800.00."

Community Represented

Representatives from all community organizations were present to mark the occasion and enjoyed a guided tour of the spacious dressing rooms, modern canteen and clean roomy lobby with an excellent view of the entire arena area.

Mr. Lumley is shown in the accompanying photo addressing the gathering and also, in the other picture, chatting with council members following the official opening. Left to right are: Reeve Earl Baker; Deputy Reeve Ed Jones; Community Centre Board Chairman Bill Dillabough; Councillor Carlton McInnis; Councillor Bob; Bright; Cornwall Mayor Lumley and Morrisburg Clerk-Treasurer Lloyd Barkley.

Williamsburg UCW Plans November Bazaar

Williamsburg U.C.W. members held their September meeting in the church hall with Mrs. Linden Barkley in the chair.

The meeting opened with the poem, "So many faiths, so many creeds" followed by Hymn 441.

Fourteen members answered roll call and heard an up-to-date report on renovations to the parsonage.

Following discussion it was decided not to have the anniversary supper in the fall but instead to conduct a canvass.

It was noted the annual fall bazaar and covered dish supper will be held on Thursday, November 14th.

Mrs. Gerald Adams and Mrs. Clifford Knapp were in charge of the devotional and the meeting closed with members repeating the 23rd Psalm in unison. Following the meeting a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Russell Miller and Mrs. E. L. Deeks.

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

Just turned 11, Bobby really wants to be friendly but, fearful of being rejected because of things that have happened to him, he holds back to let other people make the first advances.

Bobby is a likable youngster with dark eyes, freckles and reddish brown slightly curly hair. He is in good health but on a controled diet because a recent medical test indicated he could develop diabetes. He wears sturdy shoes for flat feet that do not interfere at all with his mobility.

Though Bobby has the ability to do average work in school, he is not doing so just now, perhaps because he feels insecure. He is in Grade Five. His interests are those of a younger boy and he chooses children younger than himself as playmates.

Bobby likes to ride his bike but otherwise prefers indoor games such as cards and puzzles. He is interested in space and sorry there are no more trips to the moon to watch on television. He is friendly with a horse at his foster home though a bit nervous about riding it.

This lad needs warm, demonstrative parents. He will be a fine son for a mother and father who can help him believe he is truly a member of their family. Such an adoption will be a godsend for Bobby.

To inquire about adopting Bobby, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2. For general adoption information, please contact your local Children's Aid Society.

Dies In Toronto

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Arthur Baker on the death of her brother, Willard Barkley, who passed away at the Toronto General Hospital on August 23, 1974. Brother-in-law Dwight Perault passed away in Brockville General Hospital on August 25, 1974. Mrs. Baker has returned home from the Winchester District Memorial Hospital.

Maxville Enjoys Concert And Dance

Under the sponsorship of the Glengarry Old Time Fiddlers' Association Angus MacKinnon and his Scots Canadians from Toronto presented a fine concert and dance at the Maxville Community Hall last Saturday night. New to the group was M.C. George Dick who has just come over from Scotland and settled in the Burlington district -- he kept the audience entertained with a novel collection of stories and anecdotes.

The Glengarry Pipe Band marched in to give the evening a rousing start with their Pipe-Major David Danskin and accompanied by Pipe Major John MacKenzie.

Among the happiest guests in the hall were the large group from Maxville Manor enjoying their customary complimentary tickets, and there were also a good many visitors from the United States for the evening.

The band accompanied three of the senior MacCulloch dancers ... Lori MacGregor, Patsy Campbell, and Brenda Kippen ... in a lively Sailors' Hornpipe, then Irene King came on stage to welcome all with the lilting "Come In, Come In." With her clear strong voice she had everyone joining in "Northern Lights", then a tender "Auld Scotch Mother Of Mine". There was a good turn out of old time fiddlers -- Ray Couture, Malcolm Dewar, Donnie MacLeod, Cyril MacDonnell, Fred Leroux, Lucien Ranger, two junior members .. Darrell MacLeod and Ian MacLeod, and the accompaniment was Ian D. MacLeod drums, and Mrs. Clara MacLeod piano.

Angus MacKinnon and the orchestra accompanied Deborah MacCulloch in a brisk tap dance, then Angus himself gave a demonstration of his birtuosity on the violin with a lovely selection of Robert Burns' songs from the Ayre country. Guest singer Peter Glenn was prevented from coming at the last minute by a throat infection -- but a very acceptable replacement was Constable Bill Vipond of Summerstown who is always popular with Maxville audiences. His fine baritone is particularly to the gay "Here's to the Gordons", "Farewell to Nova Scotia" and "Hey for the Tartans". There was a special announcement of the evening of dancing in Ottawa this week, in aid of the Johnny Mooring Memorial Fund.

MANUFACTURER'S LIST PRICE—Nearly all manufacturers use a pricing method to distinguish their various-quality tires one from another . . . List Price, Guarantee Price, Suggested Price, Guide Price. In advertising, some even say "Regular Price" or just the word "Price". These are seldom final selling prices, rather image prices—a base from which to discount.

NO CHARGE for TIRE INSTALLATION when you buy our Dill or Schrader Valve at the regular catalogue price of $1.00. We must install our new tire and valve together. "A tire isn't new unless the valve is too!". Static-Balance, tire and wheel, $1.00, Dynamic Balance, $2.50. 5% Discount for Cash in lieu of Bonus Coupons.

POLYFLEX—Nearly a hundred thousand of our Polyflex tires are piling up millions of carefree road miles for our customers—and giving more miles per dollar invested than we ever thought possible. Polyflex saves on vehicle wear and tear too—preserving running-gear, helping shock-absorbers last longer, and of course, providing a more comfortable ride for driver and passenger alike.

†Compact Sizes: 2 Nylon body plies + 2 Glass Belts

4 body plies of Du Pont 66 Nylon + 2 Glass Belts = 6 plies under tread

THE 4 + 2 CONSTRUCTION provides 6 undertread plies for extra strength. That doubles up the sidewall plies too. Naturally 4 + 2 construction costs a lot more to make and is seldom offered for sale elsewhere, let alone at as low a price as ours. Your slight extra cost represents an investment that will pay off many times over: more tread miles, and more gas miles.
