Who Has Winning Ticket

In the drawing for the quilt at the Red Cross social at Grantley on Sept. 6th, the winning number was fifty-one. If the holder of that ticket will present it to Mr. A. Morris, blacksmith at Grantley he will get the quilt.

In The Casualty List

Pte. Irwin H. Beckstead of Aultsville was reported wounded in Saturday's casualty list. He is a brother of Mrs. John McLean of Beckstead. Since going overseas with the 154th Batt., The Record has printed several very interesting letters written by him.

Ault-Phillips

A pretty wedding took place Wednesday Sept. 19th at 10 o'clock at the home of Miss Sargent at Elma, when Miss Arletta M. Phillips was united in holy wedlock to Mr. Charles Edgar Ault of Iroquois. The bride was given away by Lieutenant Sargent of Iroquois. After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served. The bridal party left Morrisburg on the 1 o'clock train for various points in New York.

Many Dead Fish in the Nation

With the appeal to "Eat More Fish" staring at one from almost every newspaper page it is with somewhat of a shock that hundreds of dead fish may be seen floating in the Nation just below the railroad bridge. There are pike, bass, suckers and sun fish floating around in profusion. Close to where most of them are seen a drain from the Condensery empties into the river, but whether that has anything to do with killing the fish we do not know. Up stream above the bridge no dead fish are seen and the further down you go the fewer are seen. Prompt action should be taken by the fishery overseer and if preventable the loss stopped.

Chesterville Man Gets Military Medal For Bravery in France.

Among the names in Monday's paper of those receiving recognition of their bravery in France, is that of Pte. A. J. Barrie, son of Mr. S. Barrie of this place, who has been awarded the Military Medal.

Pte. Barrie threw bombs almost continuously for eight hours while helping to hold a newly-captured trench against a counter attack, which particulars are given officially and as well be found in the accompanying letter are referred to casually by Pte. Barrie when writing to his father. Prior to the breaking out of war the young man had been in western Canada for some time, where he enlisted and went overseas with a battalion from Swift Current.

France, Aug. 27th

Dear Father;—

As it is some time since I have written to you I thought I would write and let you know that I am still getting along well.

We have been having some very hard fighting lately, but I was very lucky as there were only two of us left in my section and I have been recommended for the Military Medal. As there are quite a number recommended there will only be a certain number to be given to my Battalion so I do not expect to get it, but even if I don't it will let you know that I am doing my bit.

We have been having good weather up until lately but this last two days it has been raining most of the time. They have a splendid crop of fruit in this country which we are able to buy quite reasonable, also all kinds of vegetables.

I get the Swift Current papers and from what I can see I do not think that they have very good crops in our district but hope that they will have some and even a poor crop with the present prices they will not make out too bad.

I had a letter and a parcel from Aunt Allie a short time ago which I must answer today, and one from Mary Casey in which she told me that Dan had been wounded. He could not have been in the trenches long as I had a letter from him a short time before from England. I hope that this finds you well and that business is good. Your son A. J. Barrie.

Private R. L. Shannette Receives Severe Wounds

Following a cable received on Aug. 28th by Mr. Alex Shannette of Williamsburg to inform him that his son Pte. R. L. Shannette was seriously wounded on Aug. 18th and admitted to the 18th Casualty Clearing Station came further messages last week from Chaplain and nurse.

Pte. R. L. Shannette received his wounds in a "big successful Canadian drive" and was brought into the Clearing Station, in a very exhausted condition. "Gunshot wounds in face, left arm and both legs with poison resulting from liquid fire," for some days baffled the skill of doctors and nurses but at the time the last message was despatched "the poison was yielding to treatment" and hopes of his recovery were entertained.

His friends will be glad to know that "cheerfulness marred only by regret that he can no longer stand with the brave lads in the front line," is the message that has reached his home friends.

The Youngest Soldier.

It is going to be pretty hard to win the distinction from Chesterville, of having the youngest soldier on the firing line from Ontario. Besides the three already mentioned Pte. Shiels, Carlyle and Countrvman, who are at least seventeen years of age, it has come to our knowledge this week that Pte. John Allen, son of Mr. Geo. Allen, who went over with the 154th Batt. was only fifteen years of age when he joined up and will not be seventeen until next December.

SAFE AND SOUND

An opportunity which is not likely to occur again of purchasing village lots is presented in our advertising columns by W. H. Casselman. To anyone wishing to build their home in Chesterville it should appeal very strongly, and the demand for dwellings is such here now that from an investment standpoint there does not appear to be anything safer or that will pay better dividends.

NORTH RUSSELL

The terrible accident that occurred at Vars on Monday night when five people were killed has cast a gloom over the whole country, the people being well known here. The only surviving member left of the Orr family is a boy eighteen years of age. The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon for the four, when four hearses wended their way from Carlsbad Springs to North Russell Cemetery and Russell Cemetery. Memorial services were held at Carlsbad Springs, North Russell and Vars on Sunday. The saying that "trouble never comes alone" looks true in the case of Vars, when the night after the accident fire broke out about two o'clock in the morning and burned the Commercial Hotel sheds and stables, Norman Leslie's tin shop and stable, Andy Wilson's stables and his house taking fire several times is badly wrecked, besides two other houses. Telephones were the means of bringing hundreds in from the country and no doubt was the means of saving the village.

Vars is 19 miles from Ottawa and the scene of the auto fatality in which Rev. J. E. Mavity and friends were killed.

First American Prisoners Worth 400 Marks to German Captors

British Headquarters in France, Sept. 16.—German military authorities on the Western front have shown concern about the imminence of the American army's entry into the fighting by offering rewards for the production of the first American prisoners. The general commanding the Eleventh Reserve division recently put the price of 400 marks on the first American soldier brought, dead or alive, into his lines.

This information has been disclosed by the diary of a Prussian sergeant of the Twenty-third Reserve Infantry Regiment. He wrote at the end of July:

"We are supposed to have had Americans opposite us for some time now, and two divisions of Portuguese on our right. The man who brings in the first American, dead or alive, to headquarters has been promised the Iron Cross of the first class, 400 marks and 14 days' leave."

The future of the horse.

As far as the light-legged horse is concerned, he is practically doomed. The motor car has taken his place. Although still of some use in courtship, he will go out of business as soon as the self-guiding car comes on the market.

For a number of years the heavy horse will be in demand. He is keenly in demand at the present time. Prices were never so high. After the war is over, there will be a great demand for them in the countries now ravaged by war.

I have in my possession an official publication from the Belgian Government giving many harrowing details as to what happened to the Belgian horses. The brood mares and foals running in the fields were slaughtered, being often used as targets by the German soldiers. One pure-bred stallion, valued at $10,000, was burned up in his box while the groom, his wife and children were forced on their knees to watch the agonizing death of the noble animal. Then the Germans realized that they were making a mistake in destroying these valuable horses and began to ship them to Germany. They sent their experts to select the best individuals giving to the Belgians for payment orders on the Republic of France, payable at Paris. These orders were in German and were often for the most trifling sums.

I have had interviews with representatives of all the cartage companies in our cities and they say that, so far as they have gone in trying out the motor trucks, they have found the horse more satisfactory and economical. Whether the development of the motor truck, which, until comparatively recent years, did not receive as much attention as that of the passenger car, will be taken up with energy enough to make sufficiently economical to supersede the horse, I cannot say. The heavy farm tractor is a thing of the past. The light farm tractor has come into stay. So far as the horse business is concerned, a man can continue to breed heavy horses without any risk of market failure for at least ten or fifteen years to come.

"As I was crossing the bridge the other day," said an Irishman, "met Pat O'Brien." "O'Brien" says I "how are you?" "Pretty well thank you, Brady," says he. "Brady says I, that's not my name." "Faith, says he 'and mine's not O'Brien.'" With that we again looked at each other, "and sure enough it was naythur of us."

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body. In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown. To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. Free from harmful drugs. Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont.

Eight Grounds For Exemption

Exception from service, under the Military Service Act may be claimed on eight separate grounds. The forms of application, which will be available at post offices throughout the Dominion in the course of a few days, make this clear. The grounds are:—

- (1) Importance of continuing employment in habitual occupation.
- (2) Importance of continuing employment as for which he is perfectly qualified.
- (3) Importance of continuing education or training.
- (4) Serious hardship owing to exceptional financial obligations.
- (5) Serious hardship owing to exceptional business obligations.
- (6) Serious hardship owing to exceptional domestic position.
- (7) Ill-health or infirmity.
- (8) Adherence to religious denomination, of which the articles of faith forbid combatant service.

The form is drafted much after the style of a ballot paper. The applicant for exemption is required to place a cross opposite the ground on which the claim is made. His case will then go to the local tribunal to which proof in support will be submitted.

Application for exception may be made not only by the man himself but by his employer or a near relative. In Great Britain claims for exemption, on the ground of a man being indispensable in his civil occupation, are generally made by the employer who appeals to the tribunal on his behalf. It is felt that such a claim can best be made by the employer. In any event, a man claiming essential occupation would need to have the support of his employer to his claim.

The forms of military report are equally simple. These will be used by men who do not wish to claim exemption and they avoid the necessity of reporting in person until such time as a recruit is called up for service. The declaration reads: "I hereby report myself for military service. I will report myself for duty when called upon by notice mailed to me at —."

Blanks follow for the name and address of the recruit, his status, whether a bachelor or a widower, his present occupation and the name and address of his employer.

Both classes of form are now in the hands of the printer and will be distributed immediately they are available.

Marlboro Farmer's Big Night's Work to Steal Implements

(Smiths Falls Record)

Local police officials and the County Judge have had a case to deal with in the past week that probably is without a parallel in court records in this or any other County. It involved a hitherto trusted farmer of Marlboro township named Walter Dopson, and had to do with the theft of a Frost & Wood binder, a Bain wagon and a fanning mill. These are not articles that are easily stolen, indeed one might almost as well expect a barn to be secretly taken off, and yet one man in one night drove fifty miles and made off with this most unusual haul. The binder, wagon and mill belonged to the estate of the late Donald McDonald and were stored in a barn or shed on the farm in North Elmsley near the Drummond township line. They had not been used for two years. Walter Dopson is a farmer in Marlboro township, four miles north of Burritts Rapids and in some way knew that the things were stored and not in use. He needed just such things in his business and evidently thought he could annex them without the formality of buying them. So on Friday evening a week ago he hitched up a pair of white faced horses to a spring wagon and started off all alone to possess himself of the coveted machinery. He had to drive twenty miles from his home to the barn and then he had a big night's work ahead of him. He had to get the implements out of the shed, oil them and put them together and get away before daylight, and this he did. He hitched his horses to the binder, put the fanning mill into the wagon, tied the wagon to the rear of the binder, then tied his own spring wagon behind that and started for home. The theft was discovered next day and the police in Perth was notified. Chief Phillips was telephoned to late Saturday night and asked to help find out where the stuff had gone to. On Monday he started out and drove over to Lombardy and back by Mott's Mills but got no clue. The same afternoon he started out into northern Montague and a few miles from town he began to hear things. Farmers had heard a racket on the road Friday night but did not know what had made it. Soon he came to a farmer who had got up to see what all the noise was about in the middle of the night and he had seen the strange elongated outfit going by his home. He was on the right trail and it began to get interesting. Further along he found a farmer's daughter who had seen the strange procession passing her home just after daylight and knew the man's name which she gave to the Chief. After that it was easy. He drove right into Dopson's yard and found the whole outfit there. He gave the man time to change his clothes, wrote a note and left it for his wife, who was away for the day, and then brought him back with him. He was taken to Perth for his preliminary trial and was sent up to the Judge who heard the case yesterday. Meantime the man was let go on $500 bonds and the first thing he did was to drive all the weary way back to the barn in North Elmsley with the things he had been at such labor to acquire.

At the trial yesterday Dopson showed that he had returned the stuff and on payment of expenses was let off.

Vandals Attempt To Burn Cornwall House.

CORNWALL, Sept. 16—A dastardly attempted incendiarism was made on the house occupied by Mrs. John Pelky, on Sixth street west, and owned by Mr. Louis Elderbroom, when some unknown vandals tried to fire the house by raising a window on the east side, forcing a piece of apron or skirt under the sash, and applying coal oil and a match thereto. The front and back doors were also soaked with oil, and the side of the house was liberally sprinkled with the fluid.

No attempt was made to set fire to the rear door, but the window sash and clapboards at the east side and the front door were badly burned.

The breaking of the glass in the door and window from the heat of the flames aroused Mrs. Pelky, who was alone with her four young children, her husband being at the front in France. She arose and put the fires out with several pails of water. The fire brigade was summoned, but their services were not required.

Two men were seen near the house a short time previous to the outbreak by a man who was passing to go to work on the late shift at the paper mill, but he did not recognize them. The matter has been reported to the police department.

CHOICE BUILDING LOTS OFFERED IN CHESTERVILLE

Station

C. P. R. RIGHT OF WAY

Bridge

NATION RIVER

The above diagram indicates, approximately, a proposed new street to be laid out in the east side of the Village of Chesterville, which would give access to a double row of 4-acre lots. There is no other location in Chesterville where the street could be opened up so close to the business centre and yet far enough from the noise and dust of our busy little town. The opportunities for drainage are perfect, as there is a fall of seven feet from the railway to the river.

The land where this new section may be opened is already well underdrained and it is composed of the very best soil for garden purposes.

The new street would parallel King and Albert streets and intersect Emma, Ralph and Water streets and a residence on it would be within a few minutes walk of the C.P.R. station, Post Office, Condensery, banks, churches, business places and schools.

The price for the first ten lots will be $200 each and the first purchasers have choice of location.

School Shoes & School Clothes

The boy who is clothed and shod satisfactorily at this store to-day will shortly be a man and it is the man's trade we want eventually. School Shoes require to be of the best material to stand the wear and tear that they get, but the makers are tempted and some of them fall to making them of the spongy, scrappy stock. But not for us, thank you. We know these shoes and know they will give the most wear for the least money, not only for the boys but the School Girls as well. Boys' Clothes get the same attention and we are well fixed to fit your boy for either High or Public School.

Pte. W. S. Baker Tells of Battle When He Was Wounded

Liverpool, Sept. 1st, 1917

My Dear Wife :

Well, as I am still in bed and nothing to do, I will write you a few lines and try and tell you more about how I was wounded. There was a big drive on a little bit to the left of Lens or just in front of Loos. The drive was made and it was a big gain. Forty-eight hours after we went up and took their places and of course Old Fritz was trying to get the trenches he had lost back again. We went in at night and he had shelled all day and that night, Aug. 17th, he came over or tried to come three times but we drove him back every time. About four o'clock on the morning of the 18th a shell burst a little too close to me so I got a piece of it in my right knee. It was not much or at least I did not think so at the time, so I walked about a mile and a half to a dressing station and from there was sent to a base hospital. As soon as the doctor at the base saw it he said "England for you, old boy." You bet I was surprised as well as glad to hear that. I expect I will have to go back to France again but it will be some time as they generally keep you here for a month or two after you get out of hospital. I guess I will be in here for two or three weeks yet. It is nice here, only two things lacking, stamps and writing paper, until today when a Red Cross worker came to see us and gave us paper and stamps.

Do not send any money as by the time it would get here I may be out and I will get paid and will have plenty.

I tell you, we get lots to eat here with eggs or bacon, bread and butter and porridge in the morning, and meat, potatoes, vegetables and pudding for dinner. At six o'clock we get eggs or meat and jam and bread and butter and coffee. Then again at eight we get a cup of cocoa and bread and butter and cheese so you see we live good and the nurses are nice too.

It is some time since I had a letter and I suppose it will be a little while yet as they will all go to the battalion and then come back again.

I am writing this in bed with a night shirt on just like Frank M. used to wear. Your loving husband, W. S. Baker. 634006, Ward C4 Mill Road Infirmary, West Derby, Liverpool, Eng.

Former Chesterville Boy Receives Splendid Appointment

The following from the Sault Daily Star refers to the youngest son of the late Samuel Smith.

"Mr. A. S. Smith, who for the past six years has been representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture in the District of Algoma, has been appointed Superintendent of the Dunbar Agricultural School near the American Soo, it is announced. Mr. Smith is at present in Saskatchewan judging live stock, but Dr. Dickinson, of the board of the Agricultural School, told the Star to-day, that no hitch is anticipated and that while the school would not open until October 1st it was expected that Mr. Smith would take up the work there about a month before.

During his residence in Algoma Mr. Smith, who is a graduate of the Agricultural College at Guelph, has been an active and energetic worker and his departure will be felt by all sections of the District. His labors have done much to raise the standard both in live stock and in agriculture and have brought the farmers into closer cooperation. Nowhere, has the success of his work been more noticeable than in connection with the rural school fairs, which since they were inaugurated by him in the district, have developed remarkably and have increased the interest of the school children in farm life giving them at the same time a knowledge of scientific methods."

Second Crop of Raspberries

On Saturday evening Mr. Wellington Ball brought to the Record Office a nice bunch of ripe raspberries picked that day at his place. There were three branches heavily laden with ripe fruit, green fruit and blossoms. If this weather holds out for a few days the yield from the second crop would be quite considerable.

Losses from Smut Greater than Appear

Some fields of oats recently examined in Dundas county by the Commission of Conservation were found to be badly smutted. On one man's farm diligent search was made and not one smutted head was found. He has thoroughly treated his seed oats for the last three years. On another farm where untreated oats were sown, smut was very prevalent. This farmer estimated that he had from 5 to 10 per cent of loss from smut, but actual and careful count of certain areas demonstrated that 37 per cent of his grain crop was lost from smut. This may seem startling, but the loss from this cause is generally greater than it seems. The straw which bears smutted heads is stunted and they are low down in the crop and not easily seen, so that there is a loss both in grain and in straw.

The formalin treatment is cheap, easily applied and entirely effective, if properly done. This year, in thousands of fields, the losses from smut will actually exceed the amount of seed sown. The cost of treating the seed amounts to only a few cents a bushel and no one can afford to lose even two or three bushels per acre when the cost of treatment is so small.

Women Must Save or Soldiers Starve

When the Food Controller was appointed it was generally supposed that the action was in response to a growing demand that the prices of foodstuffs should be lowered. There was and is a general suspicion that these prices are being artificially controlled for the benefit of the middlemen, and it was argued that if private interests could regulate prices in their own behalf a Government official clothed with sufficient authority could regulate them in behalf of the masses of the people. It may be that Hon. Mr. Hanna will come to that phase of the problem before long, but it is important to bear in mind that it is not this phase of the question with which he is now dealing, and that the campaign that is launched to-day urging housewives to save certain foods is contemplating only one thing—the conservation of these foods for the men at the front, and for the people of England, whose supplies may otherwise be insufficient.

The housewives of Canada are not urged to save food so that they may save money or reduce the prices of food, though there may be an indirect tendency in this direction. They are asked to save food so that our soldiers may eat it. If they have to rise from the table with appetites not wholly appeased they are asked to remember that their inconvenience or even discomfort is nothing compared with what our armies are called upon to endure. Nor is very drastic action demanded. It has been estimated that if every household saved one pound of flour per head per week the surplus would be enough to ensure an ample supply for export. In the pledge cards which are being circulated, The Food Controller says that normal consumption of wheat must be reduced by 25 per cent.

In order that Canada and the United States may be able to send to Great Britain and our Allies the 460,000,000 bushels that they require.

A similar reduction must be made in the consumption of beef and bacon. "The men in the trenches will go hungry if you fail them," warns Mr. Hanna, and surely no more ought to be said on this head. If bacon were only ten cents a pound and beef five cents a pound it would still be a vital necessity to conserve the supply, so without regard to the fact that prices are abnormally high, and without regard to the belief that profiteers are taking advantage of the needs of the people, the consumption of beef and bacon must be reduced. It is pointed out that there is no necessity for the people of Canada to go on short rations. They have plenty of substitutes for beef and bacon in other meats, fish, eggs and fowl; and for white bread in cereals, whole wheat bread, which is recommended by Dr. Hastings, Toronto Medical Health Officer and in the hundred and one dishes that can be prepared from corn, rice, etc.

We are also advised to eat perishable products, and it was to promote their consumption that a ban was placed on the selling of canned vegetables some little time ago. In reply to the suggestion that the people at home should go on eating as before the war, while the soldiers be permitted to eat the substitutes, it is only necessary to say that the substitutes cannot be preserved or packed and shipped as readily as white flour, bacon and beef. A soldier cannot be expected to get up in the morning and prepare a pan of Johnnycake, for instance. And while whole wheat bread may be more nourishing than the ordinary white bread, if the soldier prefers the white bread and there is not enough to go round then the soldier must have first preference, and we folks at home ought to be willing to eat what he doesn't want.

The war has forced many economies upon the people of Canada, but even yet it is said that $50,000,000 worth of food goes into the garbage pails of the nation every year. To waste in these days is a crime, for the sufferer is not the person who wastes, but the person who may go hungry because of that waste. We must eat up the scraps. The old-fashioned doctrine of the clean plate must be preached again. Housewives who have entrusted the whole duty of buying and preparing the food to servants must recognize that they have a personal responsibility in the matter. The work of the women of Canada is of vital importance. They must do the saving; the men must do the financing and the fighting. They ought to remember that Britain is on food rations and is thriving on them, that every household from the King's down comes under the restrictions that have been found necessary if victory is to be assured. The women of Canada who have already shown such magnificent spirit, have it in their power to strike a blow for the Allied cause comparable to the blow their sons and brothers struck at Vimy Ridge.

Now Is The Time To Select Seed Corn.

Now is the time to prepare for the selection of the seed corn. The world is crying for increased grain production. One of the least expensive and easiest ways to help increase production is by the planting or sowing of the very best quality of seed. Before cutting commences is the best time to select the ears of corn for seed.

Go into the field with a bag, and from the strong sturdy hills with large perfect ears, choose the best. Select more than you will require to plant your crop next year. Before planting time a second selection can be made of the very choicest of the ears already gathered. After being gathered, they should be carefully and thoroughly dried and stored in a dry place. Plan now to select in this manner and to have a proper place in which to store the seed.

Five Million Horses Gone.

The impression has been created that because of the development of the motor ambulance, tanks and motor car transport trains, the horse has become practically obsolete as far as war is concerned.

The fact is the animal still is proving an important factor.

The United States alone has shipped to Europe since August 1914, nearly one million horses and one third million mules. The value of these animals reached 250 million dollars.

While the motor car, the tank and the airplane have superseded the horse for use in raiding and scouting, the animal is left with many of its former functions, and military experts consider them still indispensable in warfare.

During the war period estimate has been made that five million horses, about one-twentieth of the horse population of the world have been killed or have died from war use.

The Ups and Downs in Establishing a Great Industry in Chesterville

Mr. Howard G. Carter, promoter of the Maple Leaf Condensed Milk Co. Ltd. Replying to the addresses of welcome presented to him at a smoker and luncheon given by his admiring friends of Chesterville and vicinity revealed some of the inside history leading up to the establishment of the Condensed Milk Industry in our town. His remarks will undoubtedly prove highly interesting to the community, and for the benefit of those not at the Smoker, we give herewith the address delivered by Mr. Carter.

"Mr. Chairman and fellow friends, I believe it is superfluous on my part to say that during a business career which has extended over several years, I have never been more deeply moved by the appreciation of my fellowmen than on the present occasion. This spontaneous enthusiastic reception is the more gratifying to me since it comes from those with whom and for whom I worked steadily and determinedly when prospects were dark, as well as when they were rosy, and who to-day have the satisfaction of seeing in their midst one of the largest industries of its kind in Canada.

While there was some scepticism as to the result of my work in its early stages and attacks were levelled at me from quarters that have since discovered they were on the wrong track, I was never doubtful of the final outcome and paid little attention to these reports made on me, for I always remember a proverb that was uttered by one of the great Canadian statesmen, when he declared 'That you will always find the most sticks and stones under the best apple trees.'

But we are here this evening for a jolly reunion, knowing that all my good friends rejoice in the success of an industry that means much and in time will mean a great deal more to the people of this district, not only in a financial way but in a social way, because where prosperity exists the social standing advances; there is more intelligent intercourse between the various sections of the people, and more important than all there is the means to give the younger generation a chance to prepare itself for that battle in life which requires not only a healthy body but a well trained mind.

Frankly, I am so enthusiastic about this entire business that it seems to me I could talk all the evening to you, not unlike the ordinary village gossip we read about in the drama, but I do sincerely thank you all for your many kindnesses to me, and if I must say something more, I think you will all be interested in hearing a history of the events leading up to my appearance in Chesterville, and the establishment of the condensory. It reads like a lesson in school, but then your flattering hospitality makes me feel just like a school boy again, and I am going to tell you the story, just as I would recite prose.

I was indeed many miles from here when the idea originated within me to establish a milk-condensing plant somewhere that would ensure its successful completion and operation. I was then in Louisville, Ky., but previous to going there I had travelled more or less through Western Ontario, and recalled my impressions I had of the dairy possibilities in that part of the Province.

Believing that the northern country was preferable for this kind of business, I communicated with the Dairy Branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture of Toronto, asking for information in connection with the dairy industry. On receipt of reply to this correspondence I returned to my home in Detroit and left there to make a tour of investigation in Western Ontario. While on this journey we had numerous substantial inducements offered to us to establish a condensory in various towns, but after carefully considering each proposition, I was not entirely satisfied with the conditions. I felt that we were going into the enterprise to make it a substantial success, and not as a stock jobbing scheme, and was determined that everyone should have a run for their money, and on the actual merits of the proposition. If I had found that I could not secure the proper location, embodying the necessary requirements, I was willing to let the expenses incurred by the investigation for a suitable site, as I had no desire whatever to persuade anyone to invest in an enterprise that did not have some assurance of success.

Department officials at Toronto gave me exceptionally valuable aid, but first directed me towards Berlin (now Kitchener) Listowel, Walkerton, Millbank, and other towns in the same community, but Chesterville was not included. After we had completed the organization of our company, I went to London, Ontario, and met the Government Chief Dairy Inspector for the province (Western Division), Mr. Herms, and he gave me considerable information with reference to the possibility of being able to obtain an acceptable location in Eastern Ontario, and furthermore referred me to Mr. Putnam, Director of the Dairy Branch at Toronto, who directed me to Mr. A. D. McIntosh, the District Representative at Stirling. I was also advised to look into conditions at Belleville, Ivanhoe, Campbellford, Smiths Falls, Kingston, Cornwall, and other points. However, I will tell you a little story regarding Mr. McIntosh. I called to see this gentleman, presenting a letter of introduction from Mr. Putnam. He told me to return after dinner, which I did, and after sitting around the office all afternoon, puffing the local brand of cigars, I was told to come back in the morning. I was stopping at the Quinte Hotel, Belleville, to which I returned, but repeated my visit to Stirling the next day. On this occasion Mr. McIntosh told me to see him in the afternoon, but with a further delay you can understand my patience was about at an end. However, I concluded that as long as the train did not leave until evening I might just as well keep on smoking, take him goodnaturedly and repeat my call to his office. This time after a few moments of pleasant conversation, Mr. McIntosh suddenly arose and exclaimed: "Do you want to know where the best location in Canada for a condensed milk factory?" I replied that was what I had been looking for during the past six months. He then said, "Chesterville, Ontario." He showed me the place on the map, and realizing I was getting farther north all the time, I began to wonder how soon I would land at the North Pole. I asked Mr. McIntosh if he knew anybody there, and said he did, that he had taught school in Williamsburg. I did not wait to get to Chesterville, but put in a long distance call to ascertain what the old factory was doing, but the party speaking to Mr. McIntosh gave the local proposition a black eye. He said Montreal people were going to start a factory in the spring and there was no possibility of taking over the old plant whatever. This report I did not consider favorable, but was advised to go to Chesterville, and being so impressed with the sincerity of Mr. McIntosh's statements I decided to take the chance. He gave me letters of introduction to people in Finch, Morrisburg, Winchester and Chesterville. I went to Morrisburg first and met Mr. Bratt, District Representative of the Department of Agriculture for Dundas county. He assured me the failure of the old company was not due to the district, and that we could secure a sufficient supply to operate the factory successfully, and on a large daily capacity. I then called on Mr. Fetterly in Morrisburg and he stated that while he was patriotic to his own town and wanted to see it go ahead, he would advise me to go to Chesterville as it had the available milk supply in the surrounding territory. I told him that I understood the factory there would commence operations in the spring. He came right back with the information that the old factory was for sale, and that Mr. O. D. Casselman was the man to buy it from. He called up Mr. Casselman to have him confirm what he had said. I drove here that night despite the cold weather, and the first man I met was Mr. Craig, Manager of the Bank of Ottawa. I told him I would like to know about dairy conditions, and the next morning he introduced me to Mr. Casselman, who took me out to inspect the old plant. I could see at a glance why this had not succeeded. Later I met Reeve Bogart, the members of the Village Council, and right here I wish to make a few remarks regarding the valuable assistance rendered me in securing data by your reeve. While the Council was fairly interested it did not take hold of the matter in the same enthusiastic manner as Reeve Bogart, and I want to say that you have a very conscientious and worthy public official in whose sincerity of purpose and honesty I have every respect and confidence.

After going over the situation, I told the Council all I wanted from the village was exemption from taxes, a railway siding and a sewerage system, which it promised would be granted. Mr. Ellis, the local dairy inspector for the district submitted a report with reference to the amount of milk produced for the butter and cheese factories. This report looked so good that I thought it was exaggerated too much for the purpose of influencing my judgment. However, after obtaining through Mr. Raeburn, of the C.P.R. statistics as to the amount of cheese shipped from this and other immediate points, and the data obtained in the canvass made by a committee of farmers as to the number of cows owned individually, it was then easy to estimate conservatively the amount of milk produced in this territory; whether the production would be sufficient for our requirements, and to confirm Mr. Ellis' report which I concluded was approximately correct. Therefore I returned to Walkerville and recommended to our directors that Chesterville would be a desirable location for the purpose of the business. Mr. Raeburn was energetically enthused with the idea of having a condensed milk factory here and his public spirit might have been emulated by his fellow citizens. Mr. Ellis also co-operated with me, and I wish to thank them for courtesies extended.

Shortly after this I returned to Chesterville with Mr. C.E. Rogers of Detroit, an experienced authority in the construction of condensing equipment, who looked over the situation, confirmed and approved my recommendations to the directors and furnished us a plan of the present building. The first drawback was the failure of the old company, and in making the deal to acquire the property or as much of it as we would need, I stated that while the location was satisfactory, the failure of the Canadian Condensing Company would be detrimental to us getting the farmers interested as stockholders in the new company, as we desired their co-operation, and might perhaps have some outside effect upon prospective investors, and that we were not prepared to give him as good terms as might otherwise have been the case. With the good of the town at heart Mr. Casselman was patriotic and generous enough to say that he understood the situation, and that he would willingly make any sacrifice that would be beneficial to the village. As a result we purchased the site and such equipment as we could use to advantage for fifty cents on the dollar and even at that there were a number of people who thought Mr. Cassel-

TWO LONG YEARS HE SUFFERED

"Fruit-a-tives" Made Him Feel As If Walking On Air

ORILLIA, Ont., Nov. 28th, 1914.

"For over two years, I was troubled with Constipation, Drowsiness, Lack of Appetite and Headaches. One day I saw your sign which read 'Fruit-a-tives make you feel like walking on air.' This appealed to me, so I decided to try a box. In a very short time, I began to feel better, and now I feel fine. I have a good appetite, refresh everything I eat, and the Headaches are gone entirely. I recommend this pleasant fruit medicine to all my friends."

man was taking advantage of a good opportunity to dispose of what was considered junk. For our own purpose this so called junk was worth 100 cents on the dollar, and considering the high cost of material and equipment to-day, it is worth much more.

Next we talked of a by-law to exempt the Company from taxes, but the Council thought it was unnecessary to submit the cost of sewers and siding for public decision, and we were informed by Mr. Lawson, local Attorney, through Reeve Bogart, that it would be necessary to pass another by-law appropriating the money required to serve the purpose, the one providing for exemption of taxes having previously passed. Despite the fact of the small sum involved, this was defeated, principally because many of our friends thought there could possibly be no objection to the proposal in view of the low amount specified. After all that was done this action postponed further developments until the coming spring. I am going to transgress from the subject for a moment, to say that after purchasing the property from Mr. O. D. Casselman, we were sent an option on some property which we thought adjoined the old factory site, but upon my return for the purpose of making preparation for the construction of the building. I found that the land offered us did not join our site, and we were up against it for space. It looked as though we would experience serious delay in acquiring the property which we at that time desired, but again Mr. Casselman came to our aid, giving us a deed to a piece of land he had retained for himself. Hence it was not necessary for us to purchase the land we contemplated buying. While I have no desire to boost anyone personally, I want to say that when I was meeting with so much antagonism and difficulties, that I offered Mr. Casselman some remuneration, for such assistance and aid as he could give me. This offer he unhesitatingly refused, saying that his reward would be ample if the Condensed Milk proposition proved a success, that his principal interest in the matter was to see the town develop and prosper, and that in order to accomplish this purpose, his time and influence were at my disposal. I have rarely seen in all my business experience action of such a high minded, public spirited and generous quality, and to me his word is as good a guarantee as any written agreement, and can commend him very highly to your confidence in any private or public capacity.

After taking over the additional lot from Mr. Casselman, I succeeded in interesting quite a number of farmers in the vicinity as shareholders in the Company, particularly the majority of shippers. Many of them shipping milk to Montreal thought that the Condensory would be unable to compete with the prices paid by the big city, still they were willing in a small financial way to encourage the industry and deserve credit for their co-operation. At that time the Cheese Factory patrons were obtaining attractive prices for their product, and apparently a considerable number could not be convinced that the Factory would be of any benefit to them. With this sentiment it was hard pulling. If we could have secured a stronger financial interest amongst the farmers we would not have had as much difficulty in interesting outside capital.

Knowing that some of your best people had lost their investment in the old plant and were indisposed to make a second venture yet I submitted to Mr. Casselman a proposition that I intended to ask fifteen business men of the town to subscribe for $100, worth of stock each, to make up the amount that would partly cover the cost of the siding and sewer system, and again be helped by giving me his subscription and assisting in securing several other parties to do likewise.

The financial stringency existing all over the world at the outset of the war made it difficult to secure capital. Every time I went away with the purpose of securing additional funds there was someone who did not hesitate to say as I understand it, that I had skipped out but you see I am still here hard to get rid of. At the outbreak of the war the President of the Company suggested that we had better let the proposition stand until after peace had been concluded. I replied that I had now started the deal and intended to put it through if I had to do it alone. However, after getting the building erected the President asked me to make an inventory of what would be required to complete the Factory. This necessitated my leaving Chesterville for sometime as the purpose of Directors as made known to me was to make the Condensory ready for operation as soon as possible. In order to do this a further delay was caused because of the fact that the greater part of the machinery had to be brought from different parts of the United States as it could not be bought in Canada. While I was in Chicago I met Mr. Clark, Pres. and Gen. Mgr. of the Delavan Condensed Milk Co., a successful concern for a number of years and I succeeded in interesting and persuading him to come here and make an investigation. He was immensely pleased with the outlook and we were about to arrange with him to take over the management of the plant. At last we were on the way to success. Just at this time Mr. C. E. Rogers, whom I have already spoken about, and whom I have known for several years, informed me that Mr. Charles Hires of Philadelphia, would likely consider a proposition to take over the Chesterville Company. In the meantime other parties were considering the purchase of the factory and while I probably could have a deal which might have been more remunerative to me I felt that Mr. Hires would do more for the success of our Company and prove more beneficial to the community than any other, therefore I made the transaction with him, and I am sure you are well pleased with the situation as it exists to-day. The farmers in the surrounding country will do well to patronize the Condensory, and I want to assure them that Mr. Hires' business administration broad minded and considerate is such that it deserves the utmost confidence of the citizens, patrons, and his employees.

In conclusion I wish to make a few remarks regarding the President of our Company, Colonel S. C. Robinson, of Walkerville. Col. Robinson generously co-operated with me from the start and was at all times ready to lend a helping hand, in fact the entire Board of Directors gave me a free hand in carrying out the work, a fact which showed I have their entire confidence, and one which was entirely appreciated.

I wish also to say Mr. Price, Local Manager of the Molsons Bank did all he could to help me in his energetic way and I had some valuable assistance from Mr. Craig, the Manager of the Bank of Ottawa.

My story is finished and I will conclude by wishing you all the success you so richly deserve, and with best wishes I will say "Au Revoir."

It Was Tough and Go This Spring

Mail and Empire.—Mr. Bonar Law's admission that financial conditions of the Allies would now be disastrous, if the United States had not come into the war when it did, is cause for real thinking. The Allies were far nearer defeat this Spring than the public realizes. The issue is not yet really decided. That is why neutrals seem so incomprehensibly afraid to risk any unpleasantness with Germany.

They Shall Not Pass

The defence of Ypres following the first ghastly gas attack April 22, 1915, exalts all history. By it our men were transfigured and the undying, imperishable Soul of Canada revealed.

In the name of these Heroes of Ypres, Festubert, Givenchy, Vimy Ridge, Lens, The Somme, Verdun---aye and the Deathless "Old Contemptibles"—we beseech you, Women of Canada, to Dedicate Yourselves and Your Families to War Service by signing the Food Service Pledge.

The sacrifice is not great. We merely want you to substitute other foods for part of the white bread, beef and bacon your family now eat.

"What follows almost defies description. The effect of these poisonous gases was so virulent as to render the whole of the line held by the French Division practically incapable of any action at all.

The Stand of the Canadians

"The left flank of the Canadian Division was thus left dangerously exposed to serious attack in flank, and there appeared to be a prospect of their being overwhelmed and of a successful attempt by the Germans to cut off the British troops occupying the salient to the East.

"In spite of the danger to which they were exposed the Canadians held their ground with a magnificent display of tenacity and courage; and it is not too much to say the bearing and conduct of these splendid troops averted a disaster which might have been attended with the most serious consequences."

A Tempest in a Tea pot on The Ivanhoe Camp Grounds

The beautiful camp ground at Ivanhoe has been used for the annual camp-meeting of the Holiness Movement Church for over fifteen years. This year the camp meeting existed under different conditions to previous years.

At the last General Conference of the Holiness Movement Church, which convened in Carleton Place, Ontario, in December, 1916, the Rev. R. C. Horner was removed from the office of Bishop, and in consequence of this removal Rev. A. T. Warren of Manitoba, was appointed and ordained Bishop of the Holiness Movement Church.

On July 20th, 1917, Hon. Mr. Justice Sutherland of Toronto ordered an injunction to be issued and served on Mr. Horner restraining him from acting as Bishop until the Fall Assizes when his case would be finally settled.

Mr. Horner's removal from office brought about two factions in the Conference and amongst the laity of the Holiness Movement Church.

On Monday evening, September 10th, two ministers of the Holiness Movement Church (who in the recent General Conference cast their votes, which votes meant the removal of Mr. Horner from office) attended the evening service. On the following morning the aforementioned ministers returned to the camp ground and were met by Jas. Hawkins (the chairman of the camp-meeting committee) and informed that their presence was not appreciated on the camp ground, and also requested them not to return again.

These reverend gentlemen, knowing they were members in good standing of the aforesaid Church and Conference, considered their rights were being seriously infringed. on by the aforementioned request, and in the afternoon at 2.30 returned to the camp ground.

No sooner had they reached the ground than they were met by the aforementioned chairman, and the Presiding Elder, Rev. S. S. Lindsay, and were requested to leave the ground. The two ministers in question endeavored to reason with Mr. Lindsay and clearly stated they were there with pure motives, only to attend services.

At this junction one of the ministers was roughly seized by the arm by Mr. Lindsay, and with the assistance of Jas. McGowan, walked off the ground. The other minister and his wife were ordered to follow or he too would be aided off the ground.—Com.

Category.

Two English costermongers were pushing their carts along, when one of them picked up a torn sheet of newspaper. As he stopped and scanned the sheet the other fellow called out impatiently:

"Aw come on. Wot ye tryin' to do? Ye cawn't read the pyper!"

"I can so read the paper! If ye don't believe it I'll show ye." And he read off a few simple words.

The skeptic pointed to a word and demanded: "now whats that word can ye tell me?"

"An I can so," replied the reader, "that's category."

"Category, is it?" sniffed the other, "an' how do you tell wot such a long word may mean?"

His friend puffed with importance. "Well I'll tell ye. Ye takes hit apart and an ye puts hit together hagain."

With a dirty index finger he pointed out syllables of the word. "Now cat. Ye know what a cat is?" His open mouthed listener nodded.

"Well then next comes 'e. Now that won't be no she cat; that's a 'e cat—see?"

Well next hit's g-o-r-y. That ere spells gory: that means bloody. So there ye 'ave hit—hits a bloody tomcat, ye fool."

A Well known Place

The geography lesson was about to begin, and the subject of it was France.

Accordingly, the teacher started off with the question; "Now in this present terrible war, who is our principal ally?"

"France," came the answer from a chorus of voices.

"Quite right," said the teacher, beaming. "Now can any of you give me the name of a town in France?"

A small boy at the back of the class almost fell over in his eagerness to tell, "Somewhere," he said breathlessly.

Taking Time to Think It Over.

A Tragedy in Real Life

A Mutual Life insurance agent urged a certain man to sign an application for $5000 insurance protection. The man replied—"Give me Sunday to think it over." Instead of thinking it over on Sunday, the young man went away on a motorcycle trip and, meeting with an accident, lost his life.

Leaving the signing of the application 48 hours cost his dependent relatives $5000, a sum which would have been a wonderful blessing to them.

Life is just as uncertain during the days of procrastination as later. Insure now, and do not make your family take chances for another day.

Mutual Life Policies afford protection at minimum cost. Nearly fifty thousand Canadian homes are protected by means of Mutual Policies.

Who is or was the Youngest Ontario Soldier?

Editor Record:—

In your issue of Sept. 6th the above question was asked and from your record, Pte's. Shields, Countryman and Carlyle held the honors. With all due respect to these young heroes, I wish to mention the case of Pte. Clifford Albert Mackie who was born Nov. 9th, 1902, went overseas in June 1916 and was killed in a bayonet charge on Oct. 24th. Bert was raised in the township of Finch and attended the Cannamore Public School. His father died when he was ten years old. Shortly after Bert was set to make his own way in the world having no permanent place of abode. He offered his services several times before being accepted but finally enlisted in Ottawa in April, 1916, and went overseas as above stated. There was no special Memorial Service for "Bert" and though only a child of fourteen he fills a soldier's grave "Somewhere in France" while others who have been on the pay roll since the start of the war have never got to the danger zone yet. Surely there has been some miscarriage of justice somewhere. An Observer.
