MR. CHAS. W. NORVAL

Charles W. Norval, one of the best known residents of this section, and a cheese maker whose product over almost half a century earned for him the reputation of being one of the outstanding makers in Ontario, passed away at his home in Williamsburg on Thursday November 7th, 1935, after about two months' illness.

Mr. Norval came to this locality in 1898 from Montreal, at which time he purchased the Williamsburg factory, and from that time until 1912, when he sold the factory to Mr. M.O. Trickey, he had been making cheese in the district. After disposing of the factory, he was cheese inspector for the County of Dundas for a number of years.

Before coming to Williamsburg, he made cheese for a few years at Galilee, N.Y., where he owned a factory. Later he disposed of the factory and went to Brockville, Ont. where he bought cheese for Mr. Cluff.

Besides being a celebrated cheese maker, Mr. Norval enjoyed the respect and esteem not only of his patrons, but of the people of the district generally. A man of generous disposition, kindly in his intercourse with people, and very highly respected by all who knew him, he was recognized as an honorable citizen, and his passing will cause much regret among a large number of relatives and friends.

Mr. Norval was a faithful and active member and worker in the United Church. He served as an elder in the former Presbyterian Church for 23 years, and for the past ten years in the United Church of Canada. He also served as superintendent of the Sunday School for the past 23 years. For a number of years during that time he taught a young ladies' bible class.

Mr. Norval was born near Hammond, N.Y., in 1865, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Norval, who came to the United States from Scotland. He was twice married, first to Miss Nettie Bellinger of Black Lake, N.Y., in 1887, who predeceased him in 1908. To this union three children were born. One child died in infancy, and a daughter, Mrs. Wilbert Johnston, and a son, Robert F. Norval of Williamsburg, are left to mourn the loss of a loving father. In 1910 he was married to Miss Bella Robson of Lancaster, who survives him. He is also survived by five grandchildren, a niece, Mrs. Albert Denny, and a nephew, Mr. Herbert Norval. One sister, Ida, and one brother, Robert, predeceased him several years ago.

The funeral, held on Saturday afternoon from his late residence to the United Church, Williamsburg, was conducted by his pastor, Rev. C.A. Adey, assisted by Rev. T. Knowles of Iroquois United Church, and Rev. S.T. Burman of Dundela United Church. There was a large attendance of friends and neighbors at the funeral, showing the esteem in which deceased was held, and the sorrow felt at his passing. The choir was in attendance, under the direction of Mrs. Jas. McMillan, and in addition to the hymns rendered by request, "Asleep in Jesus" and "In the Sweet By and By".

The pall bearers were Messrs Jas. D. Becksted, Chas. Phifer, Conrad Whitteker, Henry Merkley, Geo. L. Barclay and Merton Saddlemire.

Interment was made in Williamsburg cemetery.

Many beautiful floral offerings were received, and expressed love and sympathy, and included the following: Gates Ajar, the Family; Pillow, United Church Session; Wreaths: Mr. and Mrs. Jas D. Becksted, Mr. and Mrs. M.O. Trickey Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Trickey, Mr. Parisian, W.J. Coby, Cheese Makers' Association, Arthur Storey, president; Sprays: Mr. Geo. Buchan, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marshall, Mrs. Allan, Mr. Geo. Barr, Eastern Ontario Instructors Association and the United Church Sunday School.

Among friends present from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marshall, Mainsville; Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Fisher, Morrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Moulten, Greenbush; Mr. Parisien and Mr. McCroden, of Cornwall; Mrs. Allan, New York City; Mrs. Hamilton, Fort Worth, Texas; Miss Hilda Merkley, Kingston; Miss Dora Merkley, Brockville; Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Montreal, and Mr. Edgar McIntosh, of Kingston.

NOMINATION

A public meeting of the electors of the Municipality of Morrisburg will be held in the Town Hall, on Friday November 22nd, 1935, at the hour of 12 o'clock, noon, continuing until 1 p.m., when nominations will be made for candidates for Reeve and Councillors for the year 1936.

At the same time and place, nominations will also be received for three school trustees, to serve as members of the Board of Education for the ensuing term, 1936-37.

The members of the Board whose term of office expires this year are Messrs Fred H. Meikle, Frank D. Stata and Dr. K.A. Blancher.

In the event of an election, polling wil take place on Monday, December 2nd, at the usual polling subdivisions.

STRICTER REGULATIONS FOR OBTAINING LICENSES

Regulations for obtaining 1936 automobile licenses are much stricter than in former years. Before any 1936 plates may be issued the purchaser must have a 1936 operator's license and the number must be included on the application for the plates.

Applications for 1936 plates also must be made on the reverse side of the 1935 cards and if these have been lost or mutilated,, copies must be obtained from the Department of Highways, Toronto. This applies to cars registered in Ontario in 1935. Permits also must be issued in numerical order, unless on special authorization of the Department of Highways and all questions on the application forms must be filled in by the applicant before he will obtain his plates or licenses.

The numbers alloted this section are MA276 to MA999; MB 1 to MB 999, and MC 1 to MC 325. The colors are black with white figures.

REOPENING OF ST. JOHN'S PARISH HALL

An evening of outstanding pleasure was enjoyed by the congregation of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Riverside, and their friends on the evening of November 8th. The occasion marked the opening of the Parish Hall, formerly the old parsonage which has stood beside St. John's Church for about one hundred years. The building, which was erected so long ago in a very substantial manner, was this fall entirely renovated and prettily decorated and is now a very modern parish hall.

The splendid co-operation of the organizations of the Church and the faithful and voluntary labors discharged by members of the congregation, made this project possible. On the evening of the opening a delicious Thanksgiving dinner was served by the Ladies and was attended by approximately three hundred persons.

The event was made happier because of the presence of Dr. J. Maurer and Mrs. Maurer of Woodstock, the Rev. A. G. Jacobi, former Pastor of this parish, and Mrs. Jacobi, now of Kitchener and the neighboring pastor, Rev. C. R. Cronmiller and Mrs. Cronmiller of Williamsburg.

Following the dinner the gathering assembled in the Church, filling it to capacity. The Rev. Jacobi was the guest speaker. Addresses were also made by Dr. Maurer and Rev. Cronmiller. All brought timely messages of congratulations. Mr. Thorold Lane, who had general oversight of the repairs, spoke of the joy of seeing a seemingly impossible dream realized. Musical numbers were rendered by mixed and male quartettes of Aultsville.

The entire congregation of St. John's is very happy over the completion of this long felt need.

MAE HILL WINNER OF ORATORICAL CONTEST

The oratorical contest sponsored by the Williamsburg Women's Institute was held in the clinic building recently, with a good attendance. Seven contestants represented four schools. Mr. Jas. Macdonald acted as chairman, and opened the meeting with the singing of "O Canada" after which the Institute Ode was read in unison. The chairman, on behalf of the Institute, thanked the teachers for their co-operation in this educational work. The contestants were called in alphabetical order, Dora Baker being first. Her subject was "Laura Secord." Jean Dafoe chose "An Heroic Deed"; Joyce Ferguson spoke on "A Trip to Ottawa"; Mae Hill gave a description of "Pioneer Life in Dundas County"; Dorothy Millward chose "Laura Secord" and Flossie Schell and Verna Wells spoke on "An Heroic Deed". The first prize-winner was Mae Hill in her talk on "Pioneer Life in Dundas". Rev. C.A. Adey, Rev. C.R. Cronmiller and Mr. O. Graybiel were the judges Mr. Graybiel announcing the winners Mrs. Claude Casselman, president of Williamsburg Institute, presented the prizes.

Mrs. Casselman, on behalf of the Institute, thanked Mr. Macdonald for assisting in such an able manner. The singing of the National Anthem brought to a close a most successful and profitable evening.

CORNWALL CARPENTER REMANDED INDEFINITELY

Charged with the brutal slaying of Rene Tessier, 34-year-old Cornwall railway worker at Cornwall on Aug. 31st last, Arthur Tremblay, 28, fair-haired Cornwall carpenter, appeared in magistrate's court in Cornwall on Wednesday for preliminary hearing, but was remanded. Court officials revealed that Tremblay would not face the preliminary hearing until his counsel, Lionel Chevrier, M.P. for Stormont, returned from a two months' enforced vacation owing to ill-health. Tremblay will not likely be given preliminary hearing until early in the new year.

Tremblay is alleged to have slain Tessier with a hammer and a hatchet during a brawl in the former's house, Tremblay was taken into custody less than two hours after the slaying, his clothing spattered with human blood, analysis revealed.

VOICE of the PRESS

CANADA, THE EMPIRE

THE WORLD AT LARGE

CANADA

BRITISH LEAD

As a result of "a national survey of the attitude toward foreigners" in the United States, it is found that "Germany is the most unpopular nation with Americans, with Japan, Italy, Russia and France in close succession." British people, according to this survey, are the most popular in the country to the south of Canada. And there is just another argument for the closest possible cooperation between the English-speaking peoples of the world in a movement for world peace and security. —Halifax Herald.

GOOD PUBLICITY

The letter of a tourist from Cambridge, Mass., in yesterday's Telegraph-Journal serves two purposes. The writer, meeting with an accident at Prince of Wales, was assisted by passing motorists, Mounted Police and residents. Acknowledgment of courteous treatment is made in the letter, with thanks expressed and praise given. Thus one purpose is served by the writer.

Another is to call attention again to the value of courtesy on the road. The tourist in this case has returned home profoundly impressed by the kindly manner in which all about her at the time of the accident hurried to her assistance, rendering first aid, securing a wrecking car, offering to lend her money to pay for the additional demands on her purse made by the mishap.

That is good publicity for the province. — Saint John Telegraph-Journal.

NEW BELGIUM STAMP

The Belgian postal authorities have announced that they intend to issue a special stamp in memory of Queen Astrid who was killed in a motor accident at Kuessnacht, near Lucerne, Switzerland, under most tragic circumstances.

It is announced that it will bear the portrait of the dead Queen and will be sold at a slightly higher price than the ordinary postage stamps of Belgium. This is only natural but the human interest in the announcement lies in the statement that the money raised by the extra cost of the new stamp will be devoted to a national fund for the country's battle against tuberculosis. —Victoria Times.

HE WENT TO SLEEP

A little paragraph which appeared in the press the other day must have caused many an orator to smile. It told the story of a crime, a sin against a speechifier, an act that must frequently have appeared to a spellbinder as the most insulting in the whole category of gestures. While Hitler was giving an address an official went to sleep.

We can picture the thrill of horror that that discovery must have caused throughout the ranks of the Nazis. Without his words of wisdom, Hitler's voice should have been enough to keep any one awake. The official's doze was a terrible reflection! It suggested the Reichsfuehrer was a bore. — Hamilton Spectator.

KILLING THE CATS

Research workers in London are trying to perfect a serum to check the epidemic which is killing thousands of cats in all parts of Britain. The death rate is rising. The disease appears to be increasing in virulence, and the death is following more rapidly upon infection. A cat, one day in perfect condition, may be dying or dead the next. The attack may even prove fatal within 12 hours, and veterinary surgeons are helpless in the absence of a serum.

The disease has been identified as a form of gastro-enteritus due to a virus infection. This virus infection is peculiar to cats and there is no risk to any other animals or human beings. Theresearch staff of one of the finest scientific laboratories in the world is now co-operating with veterinary surgeons in the search for a serum. — The Brandon Sun.

VALUE OF IMPERIAL PACTS

Vancouver newspapers report shipments on three days of last week of 51,000 boxes of apples and pears from the British Columbia port. Since the opening of the export year in August there has been exported from British Columbia, almost entirely to the British market, 101,000 boxes of apples and 15,400 boxes of pears. So important has the British Columbia apple trade become that special refrigerator ships are now in service. In 1934 there was exported 171,023 boxes. The total value of the export trade is placed at $4,000,900.

This trade has almost entirely developed under the British Empire trade pacts, which have given Canada a preference in the British markets British Columbia has crowded Washington and Oregon out of the overseas markets. — London Free Press.

WILD DUCE

The Ethiopian trouble appears to Hamilton Spectator something like a poker game with one duce wild. — Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

AS YE ED SEES IT

Experiments show that the pedestrian using unlighted roads at night is safest if he wears a white suit, while dark clothes show up best on well lit thoroughfares. But if he could afford all those suits he would not be a pedestrian. — Windsor Star.

OTTAWA'S TUMOR CLINIC

The world waits with hope upon the devoted efforts of its scientists who are seeking a cure for cancer. But even in the absence of the spefic that is being sought in hundreds of laboratories it is fair to say that progress s being made in this deadly war.

progress is being made in this deadly creasingly intelligent use of the weapons already proved effective. It is known now that many cancers can be cured if diagnosis is made at an early stage and the treatment follows promptly along the established lines of X-ray, radium, surgery in operable cases.

Early diagnosis is the all-important factor, and this is being given active encouragement by such agencies as the tumor clinic of the Ottawa Civic Hospital, which has completed its first year of existence. In that period 684 persons presented themselves for examination and 450 of them (an average of 37 each month) were found to have cancer of a malignant type. The result is that many of these patients before the disease had advanced to the stage of absolute hopelessness secure the benefit of the most advanced treatment — and it is quite certain that in some cases cures will be effected, in all cases suffering will be relieved, by the existence of this clinic. Ottawa Journal.

PARENT TAKES ACTION

Nothing can frighten the parent of a school child quite as much as the free and easy way in which motorists sometimes go whizzing past school houses. A parent who catches that spectacle and reflects on the danger which it involves for the school children is tempted sometimes to rise up in rebellon — and at last a harassed parent has actually gone and done it.

In Westport, Conn., Mrs. Sheldon Wells noted that few motorists bothered about the traffic light by the school which her children attended. So she has taken to spending some hours on that corner each day, jotting down the license numbers of all cars which fail to make the required stop and turning them over to the police.

As a result, some motorists have been fined and others have received warnings from the state motor vehicles commissioner.

If there were more parents like Mrs. Wells, fewer school children would be killed by automobiles. Her example is one which mothers in many other towns and cities might profitably copy. — Chatham News.

THE EMPIRE

TWEEDSMUIR ON EMPIRE

Lord Tweedsmuir was given a farewell luncheon by the Royal Empire Society in view of his departure for Canada to take up the Governor Generalship. He spoke on the various phases through which the British Empire has passed, the present being that of an alliance of independent sovereign peoples—a phase which in his opinion is passing.

He believes that it is approaching a new phase, one in which the alliance will develop into something more—a working executive partnership with a common policy for all that concerns the Empire, the inspiring spirit with it being not nationalism, but patriotism in the fullest sense of the term. It is only in proportion as Lord Tweedsmuir's ideal is fulfilled that the Empire can continue to be an example to the League of Nations.

Such a wider sense of obligation is facilitated in the case of the Empire by community of ancestry, speech, custom and morality, to which must be added the will to unity as evinced by leaders at home and in the Dominions. The latter is something which may be encouraged and developed. The historic sense — conspicious in Lord Tweedsmuir himself —plays no small part in Imperial unity. — London Spectator.

WOMEN AS CENSORS

It would be difficult to name a more thankless task than that of censorship in any form. Nevertheless, the women of the United Australia party meeting in Sydney are demanding feminine representation on the New South Wales Film Advisory Board. As women are said to represent 75 per cent of audiences they have the justice of majorities in their claim for a voice in the censorship of films. Whether their judgment is equal to, or better than, that of men is a matter too delicate on which to generalise. The only clue to the nature of the influence they would exert in this instance lies in their agreement to a motion which aimed at elliminating from the screen every tendency to immorality, drunkenness, and crime. It is a praiseworthy but ambitious programme, which, if put into effect, would debar 95 per cent of pictures from the screen. — Melbourne Australasian.

Mexicans Burn Nazi Flag

Nazi banner flying from German owned building in Mexico City aroused wrath of Anti-Fascist and pro-Ethiopia mob during demonstration. Flag was ripped from building and is shown being set afire. Police armed with rifles guarded buildingafter incident.

U.S. Mother Condemns Pearl Buck Novel

KANSAS CITY, — A mother who said Pearl Buck's "The Good Earth" was a type of book which in her childhood days "you went behind the barn to read," brought about a sweeping investigation of high school reading lists in Kansas City.

"Orders have gone out for teachers to give closer attention to both optional and required readings" said City School Superintendent George Melcher. Earlier the board of education had directed that a committee of English teachers study the optional reading lists and eliminate all they consider "not appropriate".

Mrs. E. B. McCann objected to the books as unfit for her 15-year-old son. She said she had "read scarcely more than a third of this volume," but asked: "Why should anyone be required to wade through the filth in order to get some kind of a lesson at the end of the book?"

Mrs. McCann expressed belief that "book reviewers, the so-called intelligentsia and the great American reading public, are so ignorant they don't know trash when they see it."

Crowding Them In

There was a truck loaded with stock going east through Stratford, and a number of people gathered when a short stop was made, observes the Stratford Beacon-Herald. It was necessary for the driver of the truck to get up in the load and use a rope in order to get the head of one young animal up. There had been such crowding that once the head got down it could not get it up again. The truck drove off before there was time to take any action about having some of the animals taken out. As the departure was made it was noticed that the animal's head which had been pulled up once more went down because there was no comfort in having the head up. It did not look as though there was an animal in that truck which could move if it tried so tight were they wedged in there.

There is law against that sort of thing but the trouble is that a truck once under way can keep right on going and there is small opportunity to witness the manner of the packing and crowding and therefore no remedial action is taken. Certainly that truck which passed through this city was an example of a method which should not be tolerated.

Yesterday and To-day

(Matilda Arthur)

Whoever I am, whatever my lot
Wherever I happen to be
Contentment and duty shall hallow the spot
That Providence orders for me.
No covetous straining or striving to gain
One feverish step in advance—
I know my own place and you tempt me in vain
To hazard a change or a chance—
He lent me my lot, be it humble or high.
He set me my business here.
And whether I live in His service or die
My heart shall be found in His sphere.

Education Laws Will Be Altered

TORONTO,—More than a dozen amendments to existing legislation governing education in Ontario will be introduced at this forthcoming session of the Legislature, it was stated officially at Queen's Park last week.

Chief among them will be recommendations contained in the rport of the special inquiry committee appointed a short time ago by the Provincial Government under Duncan McArthur, deputy minister of education.

Probably the most important of the amendmants will be that respecting school taxation, about which the deputy minister will say nothing. There is some possibility that the committee's report will not be made public, but that it will be made in the form of recommendations for amendments to existing legislation, and as such would not be brought out until the assembly sits again.

Besides new amendments there still remain some which were left over from the last session and which will be tintroduced in the new House.

Youth of Today Needs Guiding Hand

Moral conditions in the world are serious.

Young people, especially, need guidance on moral questions to a greater extent than at any time in the history of the human race. Never before have so many influences been at work to destroy the very souls of men.

Teachings of many prominent persons, suggestions in some motion pictures and articles in certain types of magazines and newspapers, and in books, are giving many young people false standards of morality.

The adversary is apparently making every possible effort to lead young people into immorality and unchastity, one of the surest means of leading them into apostasy and condemnation.

Young people, as a rule, are anxious to do what is right; but with so many influences at work to lead them astray they need counsel and advice. They need warning of the far-reaching effects and serious consequences of immorality.

President Joseph F. Smith, in an article entitled Unchastity, the Dominant Evil of the Age, wrote: "No more loathsome cancer disfigures the body and soul of society today. . . . It skulks through the land in blasphemous defiance of the laws of God and of man. Whether openly known or partly concealed under the cloak of guilty secrecy, the results are potent in evil influence."

The Gospel teaches a definite standard of morality. This standard is binding upon all members, old or young, male or female. It is the standard of personal purity and strict chastity.

Care is Needed Storing Dahlias

Valuable varieties of dahlias are often lost as a result of diseases developing in storage. Experiments conducted by the Division of Botany of the Dominion Experimental Farms Branch show that these losses can be reduced materially by proper attention to the lifting and storing of the roots. As soon as the dahlia plant has completed its full growth, it begins storing material in the roots for future use. This will vary with the season, locality and the variety. When the plant is mature it should be cut down and the roots dug very carefully with a spading fork.

Drying

The loosened clump should never be pulled up by the stalk, and the use of an ordinary spade is to be avoided, because these practices may cause wounds which render the roots very susceptible to attack by rot-producing diseases. The removed clump should be turned upside down to let moisture drain out of the stems and allowed to dry for two or three hours, particularly if the soil is wet. Removing the soil adhering to the roots is not necessary, particularly if the clump has been thoroughly dried.

The root should be stored in a frost-proof place, but no where it is too warm, to prevent shrivelling. Good results were obtained when the roots were stored at 35 to 40 degrees Fahrenheit. Sphagnum moss was found to be the most satisfactory for packing the roots. This moss, when thoroughly air-dried, took care of excessive moisture from the roots, and at the same time prevented excessive drying. Well-matured roots stood a higher storage temperature than immature ones. Mature roots survived temperatures ranging from 65 to 70 degrees, but suffered considerably from drying.

Moisture

The vigor of plants grown from roots stored at low temperatures — 35 to 45 degrees — was greater than those stored at 60 to 70 degrees. There was less soft and dry rot in the well-matured roots, whether stored at high or low temperatures. Regardless of what the storage conditions are, the roots should be examined from time to time throughout the Winter. If conditions are too dry some water should be added to the moss. If there is evidence of rot, the roots should be moved to a dryer place. Fancy varieties are, as a general rule, more susceptible to rot under artificial storage conditions, for which reason they require more careful attention.

His Heritage

My son, you'll soon be leaving,
As youngsters often do;
Your mother will be grieving,
Your dad will miss you, too.
You'll never find a fonder
Or better home than here,
But youngsters like to wander
The springtime of the year.
Temptation will surround you
To lead you into wrong;
But, from the way I've found you,
I know you'll get along.
I know, somehow or other,
Because you always had
A whole lot of your mother,
And a little of your dad.

A queer old world awaits you
Out there beyond the hill,
A world that loves you, hates you,
That gives you good and ill.
Be humble in your riches,
Be glad without a cent;
The roses in the ditches
Bloom on, and are content.
Though other men have money
(And money helps a lot),
You've got a fortune, Sonny,
Some others haven't got:
You've got a wealth, another
That ought to make you glad—
A whole lot of your mother,
And a little of your dad.

There's lots of mother in you—
I've seen it day by day;
Temptation will not win you
Nor lead you far astray.
In ev'ry tangled byway
The mother will arise
And help you find the highway—
I see it in your eyes.
And so I'll never worry,
Wherever you may go,
However you may hurry,
Whatever you may know:
A boy, somehow or other,
Won't turn out very bad,
With a whole lot of his mother—
And a little of his dad.

—Douglas Malloch.

EXCESSIVE SPEED IS WHAT KILLS

High-Powered Machines Better Than Their Drivers' Report Shows.

Comments the New York Times:

"The official census figures on automobile fatalities do not greatly differ from the earlier estimates. They indicate that 35,768 people were killed in the United States last year as compared with 30,760 the year before. . . . .

What is the cause of this shocking increase? About half of it may be attributed to increased use of the highway, gasoline consumption having jumped 7.5 per cent. last year. A small fraction may be blamed on drinking and drunken drivers, with more money to spend on liquor. Most of the remainder of the added fatalities can safely be charged to increased speed ,as distinguished from that convenient but overworked scapegoat, reckless driving.

Highway speeds are "definitely higher than they were a few years ago," as the president of the National Safety Council explained in his address at Louisville. People who used to be content with 35 miles an hour are now "impatient at 45." Thanks again to better equipment and improved highway surfacing, the ordinary driver often does not realize how fast he is going; 50 miles an hour today seems no more than 25 in the old days.

Moreover, "any current model can be driven much faster than the average driver's reflexes will permit handling with any reasonable degree of safety." He does not stop to figure out that a car going twice as fast takes four times as far to stop. He makes no allowance for the time it takes him to "make up his mind" to put on the brakes, three-quarters of a second on the average—a significant and sometimes, at high speeds, a fatal interval. At 60 miles an hour, for example, the "reaction distance" is measured at 66 feet, which must be added to a "braking distance" of 160 feet, to calculate the total "stopping distance" of no less than 226 feet.

Bearing these figures in mind, it is little wonder that two-thirds of all fatalities to occupants of automobiles occur at speeds in excess of 45 miles an hour.

Peasant Jumpers—Sister, Brother

The jumpers are navy blue wool jersey—cosy and smart, to say the least. Easy to keep in order, because the separate blouses are washable yellow checked cotton broadcloth with white collar and cuffs.

Several blouses could be made to wear with the woolen jumpers. One in blue cotton broadcloth, and perhaps another of red and white striped percale. They will give a complete change of costume at little extra cost.

Style No. 3461 includes both models. It is designed in sizes 2, 4 and 6 years. Size 4 requires 1⅞ yards of 35-inch material for jumper and ¾ yard of 35-inch material with ⅜ yard 35-inch contrasting for blouse.

HOW TO ORDER PATTERNS.

Write your name and address plainly, giving number and size of pattern wanted. Enclose 15c in stamps or coin (coin preferred); wrap it carefully, and address your order to Wilson Pattern Service, 73 West Adelaide Street, Toronto.

Physical Comfort

Its Part in Our Conversations Considered Much Too Big

Why should so many normal human beings speak of nothing but their physical status? Two acquaintances meet. They ask each other, "How do you do?" One says, "I have a cold." The other says, "I had a rash yesterday; I thought it might be something serious but it's all right now." "How is your wife?" "Oh, she is quite well. Her eyes trouble her a little, but it does not seem of importance. How is your son?" "Pretty well. He got a cramp in swimming, but you know how boys are."

That can go on indefinitely. Almost any conversation includes something like it.

Now, of course, physical comfort is a wonderful thing. But how much more there is to a human being than merely that! Why does not a man recognize his mental, emotional and spiritual states as well? "My faith is somewhat weak today." "Her concentration has not been up to normal." "A cinder of anger is disturbing his emotional outlook."

Perhaps if we increased our awareness of these non-physical failings, we could keep them under better control, and incidentally, add a new note of variety to somewhat worn conversational themes. ESTELLE H. RIES.

U.S. Deficit Goes Over Billion Mark

Washington — Uncle Sam dipped his pen in red ink last week, and reported his deficit had passed the billion-dollar mark for the present fiscal year.

The treasury in a statement put the deficit at $1,007,457,156 through October 14. This compared with a deficit of $687,211,671 on the comparable date of last year.

At the present rate, the government is operating at a $9,500,000 loss each day. At this rate, the deficit on June 30 next. would be $3,477,000,000 compared with a $3,281,000,000 revised statement made public recently. Last January's annual budget message forecast a deficit of $4,528,000,000.

Canadian Outlook Is Reported Good

Babson Men Say It's Better Than Many Realize.— Review Situation

Toronto. — To present inside tips on where, and how to invest and a general picture of business trends, a sort of "investment clinic" was conducted by experts of the Babson Reports Inc., here recently.

WOMEN LIST DATA

The meeting was principally for business men, but there was a sprinkling of women, old and young,, who noted with pencil and paper the investment advice that was offered.

In a questions-and-answers period that followed a presentation of reports on business and financial conditions in general, anyone was allowed to ask about the future of his or her pet stock. Experts prophesied an eventual swing in real estates and building, and advised investment in copper, lead and zinc because of the British Government's program of increased armaments.

Continued improvement and better production for at least another year was forseen in the automobile industry which, Ralph B. Wilson, vice-president,s aid, had lead to the industrial recovery in the United States.

"While most of us have been ridding some hobby of 'isms,' the automobile industry has stuck to its business," he said. "And if you stick to it, business will get on regardless of the various isms that may be floating around. And incidentally, I think your election has cleared the air up here for some of the isms that you have heard."

CANADIAN OUTLOOK

In a review of Canadian conditions, he said he believed the incoming Liberal admnistration "will neither upset busness confidence nor very much affect existing trends over the period immediately ahead." Vigorous and sustained natural recovery marked the closing months of the Conservative administration and Canadian business is moving steadily ahead "with purchasng power the best in four or five years in many agricultural sections."

Sanctions against Italy should not hinder Canadian export trade, he said, since last year exports to Italy were but one-half of one percent. of Canada's total export trade. Meanwhile wheat prices are climbing because of the war scare, and "industrial factors in total business are mostly very encouraging."

Crop income in the West, despite damage, will average higher than last year, he said, and Canada's possession of more than half of the wheat in the world placed her in a most enviable position, he said.

ADVISES ADVERTISING

"Therefore it is wise to adopt a policy of liberal advertising and selling efforts, setting sales quotas higher for the period ahead."

He believed an agreement of reciprocal trade with the United States would be affected by January and would have encouraging results. Canada may expect concessions for lumber, cattle and possibly wheat with a possible quota for newsprint," he said.

Canadian industrial employment is at the highest level in four years, and 15,000 workers were taken on in September in the face of what is generally a seasonal decline. There is every reason to expect the present favorable position of mineral production will continue, and manufacturing is at a new recovery high, he said. Recovery of distribution has been less marked than that of other groups.

"The general business and financial situation and outlook in Canada is far better than many appreciate," he said. "At present the physical volume of business is only 14 per cent. below normal and has increased 69 per cent. from the depression low."

Approach of Winter

Lionel Wiggam in the New York Times.

Winter seems several weeks away,
But weather like this alarms young sheep.
The lambs in the west field will not play:
They huddle forlorn in a frightened heap.

A month should pass before the snows:
The pasture is warm, but the colt that is there
Follows his mother wherever she goes,
His nostrils wide as he sniffs the air.

Winter is coming when young sheep wait
Broodily bleating outside the fold,
When the colt and his mother crop near the gate—
Soon will the weather be turning cold.

No News

Triumphant Suitor: "Well, Willie, your sister is going to marry me! How is that for news?"

Willie: "Huh! Are you just NOW finding that out?"

As Good As Any

Billy's mother looked at him accusingly.

"What have you done with all your money, son?" she asked. "Your little bank is empty.

"Well, mother, answered the boy, "yesterday was a rainy day, so I spent it."

A man said recently that the nastiest phrase in the English language was: "I told you so."

Lecturer—I speak the language of wild animals."

Voice in Rear — Well, next time you meet a skunk, ask him what's the big idea."

Many a man who used to play golf to keep in the pink has given it up to keep out of the red.

Man — "My wife always gets historical when I stay out late at night.

Friend — "Hysterical, you mean.

Man — "No, historical. She digs up all my past."

Correct this sentence: "She married a rich guy," said the gossip, "but it didn't make her feel important."

Druggist — "Yes miss, you will find that most ladies like this lipstick."

Young Lady — "You couldn't — er —tell me the kind the men like, could you?

Cave men used to knock girls senseless, but that is no longer necessary.

Socialist Father—"What do you mean by playing truant? What makes you stay away from school?

Son — "Class hatred, father."

"A friend is not a fellow who always falls for sham;
A friend is one who knows your faults and doesn't give a d——"

The Dub — Do you consider it sinful to play golf on Sundays?

Old Timer — It may be. But don't worry. What you play couldn't be called golf.

Some men give their children dimes for the church for the same reason they buy lightning rods.

"When one door closes, another opens; but we often look so long and regretfully upon the closed door that we do not see the one which has opened for us Defeat is nothing but education; it is the first step towards something better"

Professor — What do you know of Syntax?

Freshman — Did they have to pay for their fun, too?

You have probably noticed that in some families the children seem to climb to a common sense altitude much more rapidly than do their parents.

Sheep Dogs Will Display Skill

A novelty in animal work in Canada—action displays of sheep-dog skill and intelligence—will be held nightly during the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto, November 20th-28th, The intelligence shown by good sheep dogs in handling sheep and in understanding a shepherd's will with scarcely a motion or a sign from him is uncanny.

Sheep-dog "trials" and displays are regular features of rural life, especially in conjunction with plowing matches, in the large sheep-raising districts of Scotland and Wales, and old country farmers speak of them as "the shepherd's pride". A good sheep-dog will round up a flock, often three-quarters of a mile away, drive them between distant hurdles, around far-off posts in figure eight, and "cast" or separate a marked sheep from the remainder driving it to a different point.

At the recent International Sheep-Dog Trials at Blackpool, England, over 30,000 people watched the performances, and the enthusiasm was remarkable when a Welsh dog beat all comers from England, Scotland and Ireland and even the far-away Orkney Islands, from which the dogs had been flown by airplane.

The Royal Winter Fair display is being put on by W. H. Martin who has a ranch at Maple Creek, Sask. He has won championships and first prizes at all Western Canadian Sheep-Dog Trials and his recent displays in the ring were considered most attractive features of Prairie Province Fairs. He will bring three dogs to the Royal.

As a variant to driving and penning sheep, Mr. Martin will also demonstrate how the dogs can drive a flock of geese with hardly a word from their master.

News And Information For The Busy Farmer

Furnished by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

One large duck farm in Eastern Canada is planning to ship 2,000 boxes of ducks to England before the close of navigation at Montreal and to hold them in storage for subsequent sale.

Shipments of feeder cattle brought from Western to Eastern Canada to be fattened under the Dominion Feeder Policy totalled over 2,000 head for the month of September.

To drive home to farmers in general the important place of good seed in an agricultural programme requires that a continuous, persistent, sound ,educational programme be carried on over a period of years, said Professor Robert Summerby of MacDonald College in his presidential address to the Canadian Seed Growers' Association.

Many of the farmers o fEastern Canada who fed Western lambs during the 1934-35 winter Project are placing increased repeat orders, in many cases asking for double the number of lambs they fed a year ago. The applications, particularly from Quebec and Ontario, reflect the abundant supplies of hay, grain, silage, and other crops in Eastern Canada.

Canadian Egg Laying Contest

The sixteenth Canadian Egg Laying Contest, held at the Central Experimental Farm, ended on October 23, having completed its 51 week course. The complete results of the year show many excellent performances by both the heavy and light breeds.

A feature of the contest was the good health of the birds and the absence of infectious and contagious diseases.

A total of 107 birds qualified for registration, which corresponds close ly with the total for last year. Egg weights were excellent throughout the contesa, there being only 12 pens which failed to average 24 ounces to the dozen. The averagee egg yield per bird was the highest ever recorded in contests at Ottawa.

Ontario Egg Laying Contest

On Weednesday, October 23rd, the fifteenth Ontario Egg Laying Contest came to an end after a course of 51 weeks.

Assisted by the absence of any serious sickness or disease, the records of this year's birds are well in advance of those of any previous contest at Ottawa. Production was unusually steady, particularly during the middle and last stages of the contest. he average yield per bird was 20.7 eggs higheer than that of last year. The number of birds which qualified for registration wass 203, or 69 more than last year.

Egg weights were very good, 49 pens showing an average of over 24 ounces to the dozen for all eggs laid.

The Barred Plymouth Rocks were the most conspicuous breed in the final results.

Manure for Hay Crop.

In order to determine accurately the influence of manure on the yield of hay, part of a field of new seeding on a farm in Oxford was manured at the rate of 10 tons per acre in the fall of 1934.

A marked difference in the vigour and density of growth was noticed all season on the manured side as contrasted with the lower, thinner strand and smaller percentage of legumes in the unmanured hay.

Careful yield tests were taken in 1935, which show that the manured land yielded 27 per cent more hay than the unmanured. The manured hay also surpassed the unmanured in protein and mineral content.

The aftermath of the topdressed land came back faster and there were fewer weeds in this hay.

The proprietor stated, "I am sold to the idea. We cannot get along without putting some of our manure on the hay land."

It is sound practice, especially in mineral deficient areas, to reinforce barnyard manure with phosphate, by spreading granulated phosphate on the manure in the stable at the rate of 1 or 2 lbs. per cow per day. The phosphate retains much of the nitrogen, which is otherwise lost by evaporation.

Electric soil heating for the propagation of seeds and promoting plant growth is making headway in Canada. Nearly 200 installations are now being used in the province of Ontario in green houses, and in hotbeds and cold frames, for propagating the seeds of tomatoes, cabbage, cauliflower, egg plant, pepper, cucumbers,, melons, certain flowers, rooting cuttings of flowers, evergreens and sprouting sweet potatoes. The results of Electric soil heating are stated to be very satisfactory. In the Burlington district the use of under soil electric heating hastens the development of plants to set out in the field by about three weeks, and the growers report that freedom from worry when the weather changes is one of the distinct advantages of the system. Plants have much greater root development, shorter and thicker stems, and are generally more rugged. During the past season, plants when set out in the field had less wilt and made quick recovery from it.

Lamb Campaign

An appreciable benefit to the Canadian farmer-sheepbreeder is anticipated from the work being carried on by the recently organized Canadian Lamb Committee which has undertaken to conduct a campaiyn to encourage the consumption of fresh Canadian lamb and to inform Canadian housewives of the economical and nutritive advantages and the year-round availability of this type of meat, according to a statement just issued by the committee.

The committee consists of W. H. J. Tisdale, Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, chairman; R. W. Wade, Canadian Sheepbreedes' Association, secretary-treasurer; S. E. Todd, Industrial and Development Council of Canadian Meat Packers, L. E. O'Neill, Live Stock Commissioner, Ontario Department of Agriculture and A. A. MacMillan, Associate Chief Live Stock Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture, directors.

The object of the campaign, the statement continues, is to effect a more even balance between the production and the consumption of fresh lamb in Canada. Its work has been necessitated because within recent years the finishing and marketing methods of fresh Canadian lamb have been improved to such an extent that this meat may now be obtained at moderate prices during any month in the year.

The majority of housewives, however, are still apt to regard fresh lamb as somewhat of a seasonal luxury and are not fully aware of the continuous monthly movement of the farmer's product to the retail market, it is claimed in the statement. Many housewives also do not appreciate the tremendous nutritive value of lamb and its suitability as a staple meat in the family diet, and the committee is confident that its efforts will be of substantial benefit to thousands of Canadian housewives as well as to thousands of Canadian farmers and sheepbreeders.

KEEN COMPETITION AT OTTAWA WINTER FAIR

His Excellency the Governor-General on Wednesday at the live stock parade during the Ottawa Winter Fair night horse show presented the championship ribbons won during the day in the judging of Ayrshire and Jersey cattle. There was great interest in the judging, and in all classes competition was keen.

The exhibit of livestock at the fair this year is perhaps the best in many years, all classes being well filled and the quality of the animals being of a very high standard.

In the Ayrshires, the entry of J. C. Watt of Lancaster, Ont., won the grand champion bull award, while the entry of Cumming Bros. of Lancaster won the grand champion female award. In Jerseys, the grand champion bull award was won by Grisdale Bros., of Iroquois, while the entry of Dr. W. A. Armstrong, of Ottawa won the female grand championship. The trophy for the junior herd in Ayrshires was won by W. H. Coverdale of Portsmouth.

Ayrshires.

In Ayrshires, W. H. Coverdale won eight firsts, junior champion bull, reserve senior and grand champion bull, female junior champion and reserve, and reserve grand champion female, J. Bompas and Sons, Bell's Corners, had two firsts and reserve junior champion bull, J. C. Watt, Lancaster, had one first, senior and grand champion bull, while Cumming Bros., also of Lancaster, had one first place, senior champion and reserve senior champion female and grand champion female. George T. Dagg and Sons, Shawville, had two firsts in Ayrshire classes, J. Bompas and Sons won the Ottawa Valley Ayrshire Breeders' Club special, while George T. Dagg and Sons won the Bryson-Graham, Limited, special. In the county herd competition, Glengarry agricultural representative, was first, Pontiac County, N. A. Drummond agronomist, second, and Carleton County, W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative third.

Jerseys.

In the Jerseys, Grisdale Bros. had five firsts, the junior, senior and grand champion bull awards, the graded herds, the junior herd and the Bryson-Graham, Limited special. Dr. W. A. Armstrong was awarded two firsts, reserve champion junior bull, senior and grand champion female. F. A. C. Darling, Almonte, had two firsts, junior champion female and reserve senior and grand champion female. H. Rennie and Sons, Kemptville, with one first, also were awarded reserve senior and grand champion bull, while J. J. Mackenzie, Finch, had one first and reserve junior female champion. The Silver Spring Farm, Britannia, had two firsts. In the county herd competition in Jerseys, Dundas County, J. Hume Grisdale, agricultural representative, won first place with Carleton County, W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative, in second place.

Percherons.

In the Percheron judging, National Brewery, Ltd., of Montreal, made a sweep, winning three firsts, junior, senior and grand championship together with reserve champion in all three classes. The Bryson-Graham, Limited, special to an exhibitor engaged in farming was won by F. Ferguson, Kinburn.

Ottawa Dairy, Ltd., and Ben Rothwell each won one first in the heavy draft, harness class, in the horse department. W. E. Johnston, Carp, had two wins in the heavy or light draft classes, while other first place winners included J. T. Thompson, Bainsville, Ottawa Dairy, Ltd., McConnell and Wyatt, Osgoode Station, and Walter Stanley, Hawthorne.

In Sheep Department.

In the sheep department the Hugh Carson trophy for the exhibitor securing the most points for any one breed of sheep shown in single classes was won by D. M. Stewart of Osgoode Station, with Oxford Cecil Acres, Osgoode, was awarded the championship for the best wether in show with a Southdown lamb.

There was keen competition in the market classes, John Stronach of Stittsville, winning first place for the pen of five lambs. William Carscadden, Russell, won first for the pen of three market lambs, while in the counties' competition, Grenville won first place. Results in the counties' competition were as follows: 1, Grenville County, A. M. Barr, agricultural representative; 2 Lanark County, W. A. Davidson, agricultural representative; 3 Lanark County, W. A. Davidson, agricultural representative; 4 Carleton County, W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative; 5, Grenville County, A. M. Barr, agricultural reprasentative.

D. M. Stewart, Osgoode Station, had six firsts and champion ewe in the Shropshire, while J. E. Buchanan, Manotick, had one first and won the champion ram. Alex Dow and Son Metcalfe won a first in this group.

In Southdowns, Cecil Acres won all eight firsts and was awarded the champion ram and ewe. In Leicesters, Robin C. Campbell, Metcalfe, was awarded three firsts and both champion ram and ewe, while Garret Poapst, Northfield Station, had three firsts. Dougall A. Cumming of Russell had two firsts in this group.

W. John Craig of Osgoode won two firsts and both ram and ewe championships in Hampshires, Cecil Acres had three firsts and George Hay, Marvelville, one first in the group.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE FACING DONOVAN

Testimony that Joseph Donovan said he had drowned a man "for the price of a bottle of liquor" holding him under water until air bubbles began rising, was given Thursday at Donovan's trial on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Victor Johnston, of Brockville.

Johnston's body was found floating in shallow water in the St. Lawrence River near his summer cottage outside the city last August. He formerly was in business in Brockville.

Leo Landry, a boarder at the home of Mrs. Hazel Fyckes, where Donovan is said to have called the morning after Johnston's death was the witness.

Asked for Beer

Landry said that on Aug. 18 at Mrs. Fyckes' house he opened the door for Donovan and another man. They asked for a glass of beer. After getting Mrs. Fyckes' consent, Landry took a bottle into the dining room and poured a glassful for each.

Donovan, witness testified, asked him if he had heard about the man who was drowned. Landry said he asked, "what man?"

Donovan answered, "Johnston," Landry said.

Mrs. Fyckes entered the room and asked, "what man was drowned?"

"Vic Johnston from the Revere House," the accused was quoted as saying. He had added: "I done it for the price of a bottle of liquor"

The other man, James Norris Landry said, told Donovan, "drink your beer; we'll go." Mrs. Fyckes also urged Donovan to drink his beer and Donovan replied "if you had on your mind what I've got, you wouldn't drink." Donovan went on to say that, if Johnston had given him the price of a bottle of liquor, he would be living today. He said, according to Landry, that he was wearing the dead man's shoes and that he held him under water until bubbles came up.

Marks on Body

Mrs. Fykes testified later that she heard Donovan say he had drowned "a fellow" and that there were marks on his body. She had not notified the police, she told the court, because she did not believe what Donovan was saying.

Donovan and John McDade were charged with manslaughter, after police investigation of the case. A grand jury returned true bills against the pair yesterday and it was decided to try them separately. McDade's trial will follow Donovan's.

James H. Norris, who was with Donovan the morning he called at Mrs. Fycke's home, said he met the accused earlier. Donovan, he said, had told him he was wearing Johnston's shirt and shoes, and asked to be driven to the Johnston cottage to change them. They went to the cottage and found it closed. after which they called at Mrs. Fyckes'.

"Go Back to States"

Norris quoted Donovan as confessing that something was worrying him greatly and that, "after this thing is over, I think I will go back to the States."

Lloyd Johnston, brother of Victor Johnston, testified that at 9.45 o'clock on the evening of his brother's death he had gone to a hotel garage and found Donovan fast asleep in a car. He was unable to rouse him and left him outside the garage.

Provincial Constable T. P. Robinson produced a white shirt which he had obtained from Mrs. John McDade, wife of the second man charged with manslaughter, and a pair of shoes which he had procured from Donovan. Both of these exhibits were identified by Mrs. Adeline Johnston, widow of Victor Johnston, as having been the property of her husband. She also told of having conducted a search for him at the summer cottage after he had failed to keep an engagement with her and of finding his trousers and wallet on the dock.

Charles Paul, undertaker, described the condition of the body when it was prepared for burial, mentioning the absence of water in the lungs.

Dr. E. R. Frankish, medico-legal expert of the attorney-general's department, is expected to take the stand when the trial of Donovan is resumed.

McCONNELL—LANE

Miss Keitha Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lane, and Mr. Charles McConnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McConnell of Gallingertown, were recently united in marriage in the United Church parsonage, Prescott, Rev. D.N. Coburn officiating. After the ceremony, the bridal party left on a motor trip through western New York State. A wedding dinner awaited them at Redwood, N.Y.

WEEGAR—ROMBOUGH

Married at St. John's United church parsonage, Cardinal, by Rev. W. W. Jones, on Nov. 9th, Miss Helen Rombough, of Newington to Mr. Harley Weegar, of Dunbar, Ont.

Mr. Ashabel Weegar, brother of the groom and Mrs. Wm. E. Morris of Cardinal, acted as groomsman and bridesmaid.

The young couple are taking a trip through New York State before settling in their new home near Chesterville.

MacKIDDIE—CASSELMAN

The marriage of Miss Mildred Casselman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Casselman of Westboro, to Clarence Guy MacKiddie, only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Duncan MacKiddie of Brownsburg, Que., took place at Westboro United Church on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock. Rev. A.P. Menzies officiated.

The nuptial music was played by Mrs. George S. Piers. The witnesses were Miss Grace MacKiddie, sister of the groom, and Aden Casselman, brother of the bride.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was unattended and wore a lovely gown of sapphire blue chiffon velvet, made on simple lines, with turban and sandals to match. A muff bouquet of Talisman roses and lily-of-the-valley was carried.

Miss Grace MacKiddie wore a velvet dress in amethyst shade, with hat and accessories in matching tones, and her corsage was of roses.

Mrs. Casselman, mother of the bride, wore a blue crepe gown with a hat the same shade and a corsage bouquet of roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. MacKiddie left on a motor trip to Quebec City. For travelling, the bride wore a navy blue triple crepe dress under a black coat with grey squirrel trimming. A black felt hat was worn.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. James Tomalty of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tomalty, Mr. and Mrs. David Tomalty, of Brownsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, Newington and Mr. and Mrs. Aden Casselman, Berwick.

GALLINGER—McCONNELL

A very pretty Fall wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, on Saturday Nov. 9, at 10 o'clock when Miss Muriel, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McConnell, of Cedar Grove, became the bride of Mr. Garnet Gallinger, son of Mrs. A. Gallinger and the late Mr. A. Gallinger of Aultsville. The officiating Clergyman was the Rev. Mr. Morrison of Aultsville.

The bride wore blue creepe trimmed with velvet.

After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served to only the immediate relatives. The happy couple left amid a shower of confetti and good wishes for a short trip by motor and on their return will reside in Cedar Grove. The large number of gifts testified to the esteem in which the young couple are held.

PRESENTATION TO BRIDE

On Thursday evening last about fifty friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Dafoe in honor of Miss Muriel McConnell whose marriage to Mr. Garnet Gallinger of Aultsville took place on Saturday Nov. 9th.

The early part of the evening was spent in social intercourse. Games and music. Then the bride-to-be was called to the floor and presented with a well filled purse. The following address was read by Miss Della Wells of Aultsville, and Miss Lenie Dafoe made the presentation.

Dear Muriel:

Having learned that you are about to take one of the most eventful steps of your life, we your friends and neighbors have gathered here tonight to spend a social hour with you. Your happy, loving disposition has won for you many friends and your pleasing personality and ever-ready smile has made a lasting impression which cannot easily be erased by time.

As you embark on the sea of matrimony we trust that you may find smooth sailing.

We felt we could not let this, the most eventful time of your life pass without expressing, in some tangible way, our sincere good wishes to you on life's voyage.

For this we ask you to accept this purse with which may you purchase something to bring you sweet memories of your friends in Cedar Grove, and may God's blessings guide and direct your pathway through life.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors.

Miss McConnell responded in a very pleasing way and thanked all for their kindness and generosity after which "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow" was sung. Refreshments were served and the guests departed for their homes.

The GREEN GHOST

by Stuart Martin

SYNOPSIS

Maud Barron awakes with a premonition of disaster. She hears padding footsteps. Rushing into her father's study she finds him dead.

Dr. Sidney Foster, a friend, is joined by Detective "One Eye" Uttock, a mulatto, who has never lost a man.

Maud Barron and Hughes return to England. Dr. Foster gives Maud his address in case of need. He receives a telegram informing him "The Ghost" has reappeared.

Maud asks Dr. Foster to be her personal physician. She also hires Elsie Monteith as a companion.

"But I never admitted that anyone took Barron's life except himself."

"Let us continue the assumptions. If these are correct it follows that this thing, this murderer, is here. It is our duty to catch this murderer.

"Why all this vehemence, Foster? It isn't like you."

"Merely my great desire to convince you of my point of view, Hughes. But it is all still very puzzling."

"It is."

"And filled with links that don't fit."

"Exactly."

"And with facts that are disputed." There was a note of despair in his tone.

"I see one thing that can't be got over, even if your precious ghost did kill Barron."

"What is that?"

"You can't arrest a ghost!"

"Alas, that is true."

"And there is another thing."

"Yes?"

"Even if the ghost was the outcome of a papaloy's machinations, you are working at the wrong end. The blackamoor is better employed in Jamaica among the priests."

"I have cabled to One-Eye telling him the apparition has been seen here."

"The devil you have! And who's going to stand the expense if he wants to come over and gets the permission?"

"That can be arranged later. But he may not come."

"I should jolly well hope not. Well, you have entertained me greatly and there is only one flaw in all you have said."

"What is that?"

"The assumption that Barron did not kill himself."

He rose to his feet and stretched his arms as if he were tired.

"Sorry you have mislaid your print, but it wasn't of much use after all, you know," he remarked grinning. "You see, I never believed that print."

He was on the point of going out when Foster gave an exclamation.

"Oh, never mind about the print. It may turn up. But I would like to propose something. I have told you all I know, and as a further proof that you are not bored—I would take it as a mark of your interest also—perhaps you would spare the time to walk down to the woods. I could there show you exactly the spot where this thing appeared last night. We may find something, too."

"What do you think we may find?"

"Footmarks, perhaps."

"Good old detective! No, I don't think I can spare the time to waste on such an errand."

"But you are open to be convinced of my theories, aren't you?"

"Do you think you can convince me?"

"How can I if you will not give me the opportunity? Prove your interest in this business, if not for your own sake, then for the sake of the girl you expect to marry!"

It was a thrust that turned the scale.

"All right, I'll come. Bless you, it's getting more and more melodramatic."

"It always does before a crisis, you know," said Foster, as he made a gesture towards the door.

The first thing that the doctor did when they went downstairs was to hurry round to the back and unleash the big Alsatian. He brought him round on the lead, baying like fury and leaping with the joy in hope of a run.

"What the devil have you brought that animal for?" demanded Hughes, glaring.

"We may trail the ghost, you know," smiled Foster.

They walked round to the front of the house. Foster stopped suddenly and handed the leash to Hughes.

"I've just forgotten something. Pray let me run up to my room. I won't keep you a minute."

He gave Hughes no chance of replying, but dashed into the front entrance, and ran along to the housekeeper's room. Luckily she was in, working at her accounts.

"Oh, excuse me, but have you a master key to the bedrooms?" asked the doctor. "Miss Barron told me you had, and I need it just for a minute."

The housekeeper smiled and handed the key over.

"Miss Barron told me," she said.

Foster bounded from the room and ran up the staircase, three steps at a time. He went straight to Hughes's room and turned the master key, opened the door, and stepped inside.

CHAPTER X

THE ALSATIAN FINDS SOMETHING

Dr. Foster knew that he was taking a chance, besides a great liberty, in entering Hughes's bedroom, but the circumstances seemed to him to justify the extreme measure.

There was not much time at his disposal, but his keen eyes swept the apartment in a long circular scrutiny. The room was in order. Not a garment was lying about. A pair of bedroom slippers were by the gas fire, a few pipes were in a rack by the fireplace, two hats and an overcoat hung from hooks behind the door.

The Man Who Knows

Whether the Remedy You are taking for Headaches, Neuralgia or Rheumatism Pains is SAFE is Your Doctor. Ask Him

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it — in comparison with "Aspirin."

We say this because, before the discovery of "Aspirin," most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of "Aspirin" largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken "Aspirin" year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: "Aspirin" is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains . . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

"Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Rise and Fall of Romance Thermometer Shown In Summary

Hollywood. — Movieland's romantic thermometer:

Jack Oakie and Vanita Vardon, up up 10 degrees. He just gave the pretty brunet showgirl a beautiful cigarette case inscribed "To Vanita with love Jack Oakie."

Kay Francis and Delmar Daves, steady. They're still seeing each other frequently.

Ginger Rogers and Lew Ayres droppng rapidly. A divorce is still dangerously near.

Jack Warner and Ann Alvarado (Don Alvarado's ex-wife), up five points. They'll probably be married in December.

Jackie Coogan and Betty Grable, up 15 degrees. This is getting hot and may reach the altar any minute.

Carole Lombard and Robert Riskin, down 10 points. Carole is getting restless, as she usually does after a certain time.

Jean Harlow and Bill Powell, almost zero. Both parties looking for new talent.

Luise Rainer and Jean Negulesco, climbing fast. He's now sending flowers to the studio as well as her home.

John Considine and Carmen Pantages, dropping steadily. When Carmen is seen around the night spots, it's usually with her brother.

Norma Shearer and Irving Thalberg, steady. A bad quarrel was forgotten and the hatchet buried.

Constance Bennett and Gilbert Roland, up five degrees. She may divorce the Marquise de la Falaise and marry Gilbert almost any time.

Bing Crosby and Dixie Lee, dropping slowly. Everything is serene on the surface, but there are fireworks underneath. Don't be surprised at a divorce.

Robert Taylor and Irene Hervey, down 15 points. Bob's too anxious to take advantage of his sudden popularity with Hollywood beauties.

Ann Sothern and Roger Pryor, steady. He'll be free soon and then they'll be married.

Joan Bennett and Gene Markey, down 10 points. There's a lot of smoke, and fire is expected.

Wants To Fall In Love

Nino Martini, opera and moving picture singer, wants to fall in love, he says, but the right girl hasn't come along so far.

He admires American girls, he asserts. "They are wonderful. They are beautiful," he enthuses, in a national home magazine. "They have trim, charming figures, and they know how to dress. They show splendid qualities of character, too. I am most impressed, perhaps, by their great adaptability. Nothing seems to limit them."

But with all that this girl is an enigma, he declares. "Does she feel deeply? Are her emotions genuine and profound? Is she merely out for a good time? Does she like a man for himself or because of his position? I declare, I don't know."

EVERY DAY LIVING

A WEEKLY TONIC
by Dr. M. M. Lappin

NAGGING MAKES FOR UNHAPPINESS

Nagging is a menace to the peace of the home. No two persons can live happily together when they are continually nagging at each other. The following extract, which I quote from a letter received from a young husband, shows quite clearly the danger to which nagging exposes the home.

"My wife and I began married life eight years ago very happily and deeply in love with each other, but now I think we are coming to the parting of the ways. She has developed the nagging habit, and although I try to restrain myself, the sharpness of her tongue is such that I can hardly forbear retort. It is a constant bickering morning and night. We have three lovely little children and for their sakes I would not like to break up the home. But this thing is getting on my nerves."

Whatever you do, don't break up your home. If your wife and you were really "deeply in love with each other" when you started, then there is surely hope. Love, such as you claim existed between you, is not easily extinguished. It takes longer than eight years to kill such love as a rule and, in your case, it probably still exists. Assuming that to be so, if you break up your home you will be most unhappy. Besides, the presence of three young children might create serious complications.

But why let such a small thing as nagging break up your home? There must be some cause for your wife's irritability. I hardly think from your letter that is anything more serious than irritability, although that is bad enough and, if continued, may have very serious consequences. Have you tried to find out the cause?

I know just how difficult the circumstances must be for you. How those sharp words spoken in an irritable moment, can sting and cut! But think how your retort must aggravate your already high strung and irritable wife. I believe it is still true that "A soft answer turneth away wrath". Human kindness and sympathy have a wonderfully soothing effect on irritable souls.

I would like you to try and see your wife's position as well as your own. Think! She is tied indoors all day with three little children. Supposing after a trying day and probably a restless night she is a bit irritable in the morning, and you leave her with a sharp retort ringing in her ears, what happens? Just this, she spends the day brooding over it and, by night time, it has become a mental festering sore. Even a pin prick, if dwelt upon for long enough, will become a big thing mentally.

On the other hand, you go out to business. You mingle with other people. You have variety, and you can forget what happened in the morning. It is not so easy as all that for your wife. She has the home and the children all day—quite a trying task.

There is probably nothing more wrong than that your wife's nerves are on edge. Try to be sympathetic. Treat her as kindly as you can. Overcome the temptation to retort sharply. Get her some help with her housework, or help her a little bit more yourself. Get someone to look after the children occasionally and take her out for an evening. Try to renew the palship of courting days. Give her a change now and again from the drudgery of nursing and housework, and I am sure the matter will right itself in a surprisingly short time.

Good Standby for School Luncheons

Referring to Soup and Suggesting Varieties of Toast To Accompany It

Soup is a good standby for school luncheons. Make it sometimes with meat stock and sometimes with milk. Always put lots of vegetables in it.

The accompaniment for the soup adds much to the interest of the meal. Croutons, chips and toast sticks are easy to make and use stale bread to splendid advantage.

To make bread chips, cut stale rolls in very thin slices, crosswise of the roll. The slices shouldn't be more than an eighth of an inch thick. Spread on a shallow pan and put in a slow oven until crisp and brown throughout.

FINE GRAINED BREAD

Cut bread as thin as a wafer and toast until crisp and brown in a slow oven. This kind of wafer — like dry toast—is exceptionally good with soup.

To make croutons some cooks dip the neat cubes of bread in melted butter and then brown them in a moderate oven. Others drop the cubes into deep hot fat and fry them a golden brown in sixty seconds.

A fine, close grained texture in bread is important for croutons and it must be stale but not too dry. Cut in slices about one-half inch thick, remove crusts and cut each slice into cubes with a very sharp knife. The sharp knife means much, too, because the cubes must be smooth and clean cut. Dry them until they are crisp through. After this they may be toasted or friend in deep fat.

Croutons go right into the soup and form a part of it. Consequently they are eaten with soup from the soup plate and never with the fingers.

SERVING CROUTONS

There are two attractive ways to serve croutons. One way is to pass them to each person for him to help himself, or, if the soup is served by the man-of-the-house at the table he drops one or two teaspoons of croutons into each plate as he serves it.

Toast sticks are what their name implies, sticks of toast. The bread is cut in strips about ¾ inch thick and ¾ inch wide and 3 inches long. It is then toasted in a hot oven and served, unbuttered, like crackers. Each person helps himself and butters his stick or not as he prefers.

Here's to October—that rollicking elf,
Capering madly—in love with himself.

Shaking the bells on his harlequin suit,
Gathering nuts for the squirrels to loot;

Veiling the hills with a violet haze,
Stealing an hour from the glorious days;

Staring above till the crystalline sky
Mirrors and catches the blue of his eye;

Touching the leaves with the gold and the red
Left where the rainbow dissolved overhead.

Hey for October — the mischievous elf
Who loves the bright world and his gay, laughing self!

A Pleasant-Tasting YEAST

Everybody nowadays knows that Yeast is good for them . . . that it aids digestion, makes a sluggish intestinal tract active and clears up the stagnating impurities that are apt to linger in the blood, clog the skin and cause pimples, boils, sallowness, poor colour and other complexion troubles.

But not everybody can take Yeast. Here is a Yeast that is pleasant to taste. It has a flavour you'll enjoy. And it is actually richer in the vitamins that make for health—particularly the "B" Vitamins.

Phillips Pure Live Yeast is an English preparation. It is not only pleasant to take but it is more convenient, because it doesn't spoil, doesn't lose its power and efficiency. It keeps indefinitely. You can buy several weeks' supply at one time.

And furthermore, it costs less. Twenty-five days' treatments may be purchased for $1.00. You can take it before each meal. The large size bottle contains 150 tablets at $1.00; the smaller size 50 tablets for 50 cents.

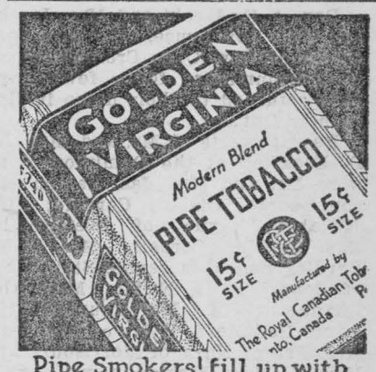

Phillips Live Yeast is obtained at drug stores. Try it—you'll like it. 25

Dock For Super-Liners

While shipping experts still argue the economic value of huge liners like the Normandie and the Queen Mary, British shipbuilders expect that even larger vessels may be built in the near future, and a drydock to accommodate a vessel of 100,000 gross tons has been completed in Southampton.

E. J. Messenden, docks and marine manager of the English Southern Railway Company, said recently that his company in the past six years has spent $40,000,000 on improvements and new docking facilities in the port of Southampton, and that the piers and drydock recently completed were designed with a view to accommodating giant liners.

The drydock, which is to handle the Queen Mary, can easily accommodate a 100,000-ton ship, nearly a quarter again as large as the new Cunarder. Except in times of depression, Mr. Messenden said, British shipping men incline to the belief that the fast super-liner eventually will supersede the smaller and slower vessel in the larger part of transatlantic passenger service.

Lamb The Year Round

Now that a more adequate supply of fresh lamb is within easy reach of every Canadian housewife throughout the entire year, the meal-planner will want to acquaint herself with the many uses of lamb and the proper cuts to ask for. At her meat market she will find lamb cut in this way: the hind quarter is divided into two legs of lamb, the back into rib and loin cuts, and the front is either boned and rolled whole or made into several cuts — shoulder breast, neck and shank. The leg is essentially a roasting cut, but it can be boiled or sliced into steaks and broiled.. The rib and loin cuts are used for either roasts or chops; they are delicate and deliciously flavored. Lamb chops are most convenient for the housewife who wishes to serve an easily prepared meal.

The front may be boned, rolled and roasted, or cut into small sections and made into stews, casseroles, shoulder roast and soup. Shoulder chops are very economical cuts. The flank is used for stewing and braising and is especially useful for making broth.

In addition, lamb yields a number of edible parts which, although inexpensive, can be cooked into delicious combinations as a change from the regular meat cuts. Lamb brains make an excellent omelet, or they may be scrambled, creamed or fried. Lamb fries make a tasty fried dish and the heart, when braised stewed, or stuffed and baked, is a real delicacy. The kidney may be grilled, boiled or stewed. The liver is delicious when fried with bacon and jellied lamb tongue is ideal for slicing cold.

The correct condiments for lamb are mint sauce with hot roast lamb and currant jelly with cold roast slices. Caper sauce and spiced fruits add zest to boiled lamb.

Oven Dinner

An oven dinner is the answer when you have civics and social service and a club duty all on your mind at one time as well as a family to keep healthy and well fed.

Aside from the time-saving,, mind-relieving assets of an oven dinner, there is a good deal to be said for baking meats and vegetables that ordinarily are cooked some other way.

Foods for any given oven meal should be those that may be cooked at the same temperature and for approximately the same length of time. For instance, try this one on your family: Frankfurters a la Yorkshire, cabbage baked in milk and fruit compote.

Frankfurters A La Yorkshire

Five frankfurters, 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Pour boiling water over frankfurters and let stand while making batter.

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs slightly, add milk and stir into dry ingredients, Add melted butter and stir just enough to mix. Turn into a well greased baking dish. Cut each frankfurter in half crosswise and press into top of dough. Bake 30 minutes in a hot oven (400 degrees F.). Serve from baking dish with medium white sauce.

Cabbage Baked in Milk

There's no better food bargain than a head of cabbage. It's good for two meals at least and is equally edible cooked or raw.

One and one-half pounds new cabbage, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter.

Shred cabbage and put into a well buttered casserole. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and add milk. Cover and bake 30 minutes in a hot oven (400 degrees F.). When ready to serve, dot with butter.

Fruit Compote

One pound apricots (dried), ½ cup seedless raisins, 1 orange, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup water, 2-3 cup sugar.

Use white seedless raisins if you can get them. Wash apricots and raisins and put in baking dish. Add grated rind and juice of orange and lemon juice. Add sugar and water, cover and bake 30 minutes in a hot oven (400 degrees F.). Serve warm with hard sauce.

A long cooking period at a low temperature will solve the problems of the housewife who must be out all afternoon. Meats are seared at a high temperature for 10 minutes, then the heat is reduced to 275 degrees F. and the rest of the dinner put in to bake for three hours or longer at this temperature. Batters and doughs cannot be baked at the low temperature, but meat loaves, cheap cuts of meats and many vegetables do very well by this method. The fruit compote suggested in the short-time dinner might be cooked for a long time at a low temperature, too.

A TASTY DISH

Meat and onions, salt and gravy,
Macaroni, crumbs and cheese,
Butter and a touch of pepper;
Every housewife carries these.
Blend them — plain directions follow.
Serve them—it will be a treat,
Quickly made and inexpensive;
Watch your guests and family eat.

Here is just the kind of a recipe you need for an emergency dish when guests arrive and catch you napping. A little left-over meat, a package of macaroni and a few other staples from the shelf and refrigerator — and there you are.

Macaroni with Left-Over Meat

1½ cups Left-Over Meat
2 cups Gravy
½ Onion, chopped
1 tablespoon Melted Butter
1 package Macaroni
½ teaspoon Salt
⅛ teaspoon Pepper
1 cup Grated Cheese
Buttered Bread or Cracker Crumbs

Parboil the macaroni or 7 minutes in 4 quarts rapidly boiling water to which 1 tablespoon salt has been added. Drain. Mix together the meat, chopped, the gravy, onion butter, salt, pepper and cheese. Combine well with the macaroni and pour into a well-greased baking dish. Cover with the crumbs and bake for 20 minutes. Spaghetti may be substituted for the macaroni.

FAMILY FAVORITE

Doughnuts have often been referred to as the way to a man's heart. Certain it is that few can resist the crusty sugared surface of a real doughnut.

One important thing to remember in making doughnuts is to mix them as soft as the dough can be easily handled. Then, when rolling and cutting, take care not to work in an excess of flour. That is what causes doughnuts to be dry and tough.

If you own a deep fat thermometer, it should register 370 deg. F. before you drop in a doughnut. If you have no thermometer, cut a cube of fresh bread 1 inch square and test it. It should turn golden brown in 60 seconds.

Any kind of fat or oil may be used for deep fat frying. Lard is a little greasy, but a combination of 2-3 lard and 1-3 suet is very acceptable. Vegetable oils also may be used, as they absorb practically no odor.

Doughnuts should be dropped into the fat, turned as soon as they rise to the surface, and then turned frequently until they are a golden brown.

When removing them from the hot fat, if they are passed rapidly through a kettle of boiling water, the excess grease will be removed and they will be very tender. Store in a stone jar with a close-fitting cover and they will keep nicely.

DOUGHNUTS

3 eggs
1 tablespoon butter
3 tablespoons cream
3 teaspoons baking powder

Method: Beat the eggs well, add the butter melted and the cream. Sift the baking powder with one cup flour and add to the mixture. Then add sufficient flour to make a very soft dough. Keep it just as soft as possible. Roll out, cut into strips or with a doughnut cutter, and fry in deep fat until well browned. Dust with icing sugar.

NEW ENGLAND DOUGHNUTS

2 eggs
½ cup sugar
5 tablespoons cream
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind

Method — Beat eggs until light, add sugar and beat until it is dissolved; add cream. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and nutmeg and add to egg mixture. Add lemon rind. This should make a fairly soft dough; if too stiff add a tiny bit more cream. Toss on a floured board. Roll lightly to ¼ inch thickness, cut with small round cutter and fry in deep fat (390 degrees F. if you have a thermometer). Drain and sprinkle with icing sugar.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON VII.—NOV. 17
THE RETURN FROM CAPTIVITY
Ezra 1:1-6; Psalm 126:1-6

GOLDEN TEXT — The Lord hath done great things for us, Whereof we are glad. Psalm 126:3.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING

TIME — The letter which is found in the twenty-ninth chapter of Jeremiah was written in the early part of the reign of king Zedekiah (597-586 B.C.) The first chapter of the book of Ezra refers to events which took place in the reign of Cyrus, king of Persia, B.C. 538. The date of Psalm 126 cannot be accurately determined but, of course, it was some time after the return from Babylon, i.e., probably between 530 B.C. and 500 B.C.

PLACE — The letter written by Jeremiah was sent from the city of Jerusalem, and it was probably in that city that Psalm 126 was written. The first chapter of Ezra takes us to the great city of Babylon, and to the counry round abou in which the Jewish exiles were living.

Now. At first sight a strange word with which to open a book. It implies the resumption or continuance, not the commencement, of the narrative. "In the first year of Cyrus king of Persia." He is called king of Persia, not because he was born a Persian prince, but because the Persian kingdom was the most important of his conquests. "That the word of Jehovah by the mouth of Jeremiah might be accomplished." The reference here, of course, is to Jeremiah's prophecy of the seventy years' captivity, which we have just been considering. "Jehovah stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia'.' To stir up the spirit is to move to activity. God not only teaches; he quickens. "So that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and put it also in writing, saying". This is added to record the fact, which, to the Jews, was of so much importance that the edict, so far from being a Jewish invention, had been written at the command of Cyrus, and was accessible among official papers.

"Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, All the Kingdoms of the earth hath Jehovah, the God of heaven, given me." It is remarkable that the king, who was a believer in many gods, and who, on the monuments, speaks on himself as a worshipper of Nebo and Merodach, should speak in such exalted terms of the God of the Jews. "And he hath charged me to build him a house in Jerusalem, which is in Judah". This divine mission is described in Isa. 44:24-28; 45:1-13.

"Whosoever there is among you of all his people, his God be with him." This is a familiar form of blessing comparable to our "good-by," whch is an abbrevated form of God be with you. "And let him go up to Jerusalem, which is in Judah, and build the house of Jehovah, the God of Israel (he is God), which is in Jerusalem." We should carefully observe that the edict permitting the Jews to return to Jerusalem did not compel them to return. There was no forced expulsion of these people from Babylon.

"And whosoever is left, in any place where he sojourneth, let the men of his place help him with silver, and with gold, and with goods, and with beasts, besides the freewill-offering for the house of God which is in Jerusalem." Dr. Ryle has paraphrased the opening of this verse as follows: In any place where survivors of the Jewish captivity are to be found sojourning, there let the natives of the place, the non-Israelitish neighbors, render them all assistance.

"Then rose up the heads of fathers' houses of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests, and the Levites, even all whose spirit God has stirred to go up to build the house of Jehovah which is in Jerusalem." It should be noticed that the social leaders are mentioned first, the heads of the great families, an indication that the movement did not originate among the humbler class.

"And all they that there were round about them strengthened their hands." The Jews who sought to return were like a convalescent essaying to walk and needing assistance. "With vessels of silver, with gold, with goods, and with beasts, and with precious things, besides all that was willingly offered." Cyrus himself undertook to promote honestly and effectively that which he had allowed by his remarkable decree, and brought out of the treasure rooms of his pagan temples, vessels which Nebuchadnezzar, in 598 and in 586, had taken from the temple (2 Kings 24: 13; 25:14, 15.

Story of Coats Is Colorful

Leather and Suede Ones Popular in The West

The story of coats for the snappy temperatures of autumn is interestingly plotted and full of color, says the Christian Science Monitor. Sports models are gayer, it seems, than ever before. About half of them are made of patterned tweeds and the others of fleece, Irish friezes, wool hopsacking weaves; Scotch monotone woolens in off-shades of high tones, camel's hair, and hairy wools—which represent one of the very newest trends — in plaids, checks, herringbones, crossbars, and solid surfaces. In the country they tone with autumn woods and in town remind one that where pavements are not, rich colors flame up out of the ground. Black and navy coats, too, are worn, as foils for bright frocks.

Leather and suede coats are high fashion on the west coast and are beginning to be felt as a trend in the east, where they are obtainable in smart shops, although they have not been conspicuously promoted.

The eyes of most youngsters are fixed at this moment on the big games. These set a standard for gaiety, warmth and a casual silhouette. The swagger lends itself admirably to the picture, and it is, of course, warmest when it is as long as the frock. Three-quarter and seven-eighth lengths are also approved, however, and knee-length is the newest idea. A clever swagger model by Helen Cookman has a deep patch pocket set obliquely in the very front, which will act not only as a receptacle but also as a muff. Raglan sleeves prevail and are usually seamed down the shoulder from the collar line to the wrist, which most frequently is bell-shaped.

The belted coat is equally favored and retains the essential non-chalance by the character of its material, its color, and the details. The belt assumes importance and is bright, trickily designed, and wide. The sleeves are usually man-tailored, but some models pull them into the armholes and expand them in the lower half. The corsage partior is often softly draped either by means of the cut itself or by pleats.

A particularly attractive semi-molded model, shown by the Hampton Coat Co., is cut like a cassock, and buttoned all the way down the front from neck to hem, under a fly. To accompany it a dress is offered which has that identical silhouette and closing. It wears a small martin collar, which turns over the collarless neck of the coat.

Many sports coats are interlined with wool, and some of them have extra linings that slip in and out along zipper fastenings. When the coat is part of a three-piece ensemble, the lining—or "back" as it is called this season—is likely to match the skirt and jacket underneath, or the gayer of them, if they are contrasted.

Bulky collars, preferably of fur, are comforting to the ears and kindly to the color tones of the nose on a brisk day in the bleachers. Such collars, whether of self-material or pelts, are usually adjustable and, if desired, will subside into flat planes on the shoulders. When standing they ripple around the face in becoming lines.

Lynx is one of the favorite furs, as are cross fox, polar wolf, timber wolf, nutria and raccoon.

Ideal For School

A delighful dress for a school, college or young business girl has been chosen for today's pattern.

It shows a new collar effect which is as attractive as it is becoming. The skirt has the new front flared fulness.

Rabbit's hair wool in rust and scarlet mixture with rust velveteen trim made this simple to sew model.

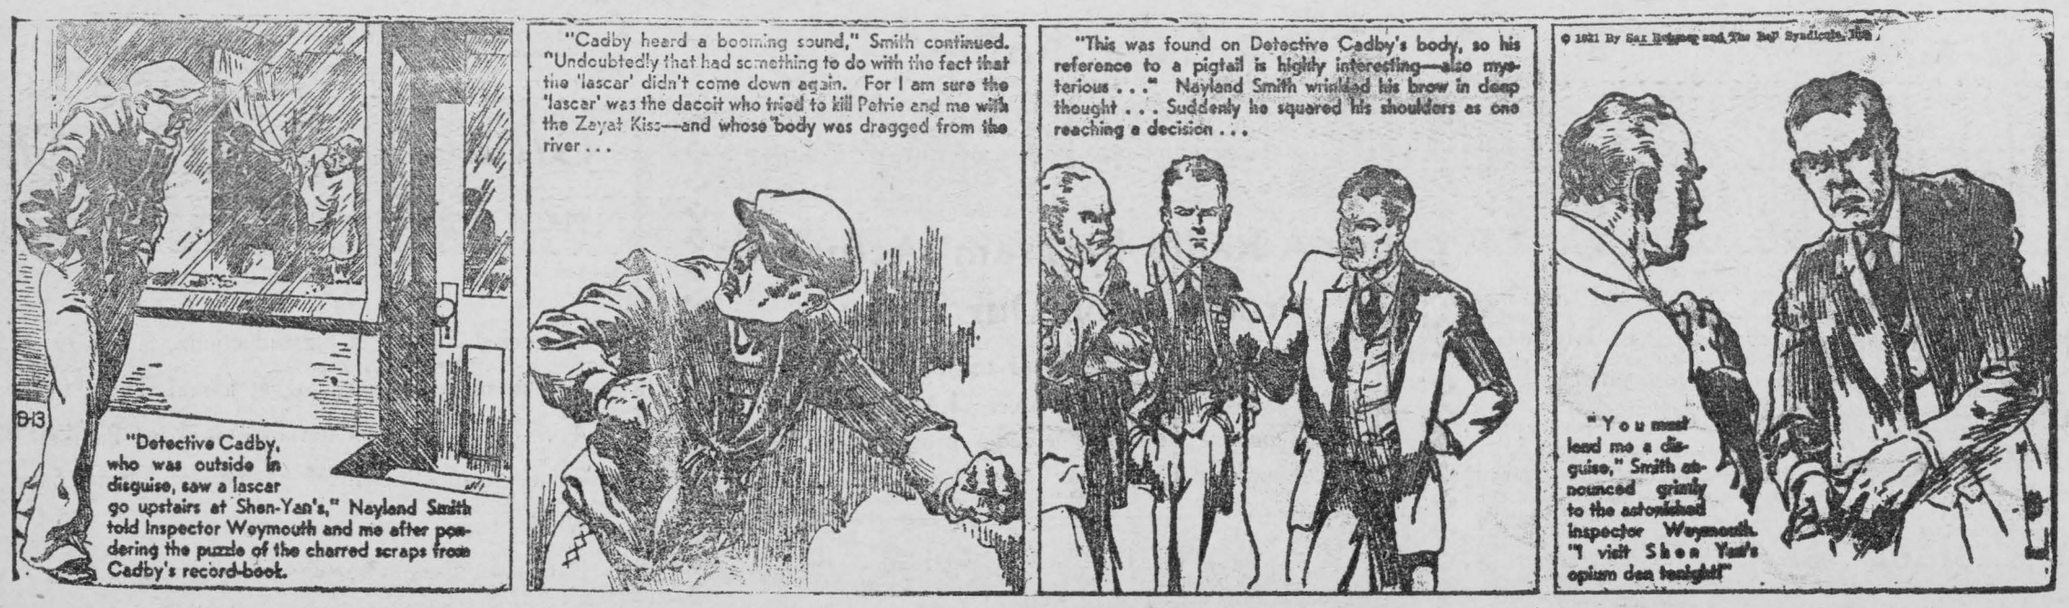

Style No. 2577 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40-inches bust. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards of 39-inch material with ¼ yard of 39-inch contrasting.

HOW TO ORDER PATTERNS

Write your name and address plainly, giving number and size of pattern wanted. Enclose 15c in stamps or coin (coin preferred; wrap it carefully) and address your order to Wilson Pattern Service, 73 West Adelaide Street, Toronto.

In an endeavor to relieve the overcrowding of the counties' jail at Cornwall, three persons awaiting trial on murder charges were transferred to the Carleton County jail at Ottawa. The prisoners, Mrs. Viney Belle Volvey, Clarence Cameron and Arthur Tremblay were taken to the Capital by Sheriff J.F. Ault and Provincial Constable Robert Hawkshaw. It is understood that the prisoners will remain in the Carleton county jail until their trial, which will take place in Cornwall.

Four persons had a narrow escape from being burned to death, and were forced to jump from an upstairs bedroom window in their night attire when fire of unknown origin destroyed the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl MacRae, near Finch, early Sunday morning. All four members of the household, Mr. and Mrs. MacRae, his mother and his sister, were burned about the hands and feet. Mrs. MacRae, Sr. suffered severe burns about the face when, believing that her daughter had not escaped, she rushed back into the burning building.

REMEMBRANCE DAY SERVICES

People from all parts of the community and surrounding districts, numbering many more than have ever been in attendance in former years, assembled at the Memorial Park, Morrisburg, on Sunday, where an impressive service was conducted, Rev. R.D. Smith delivering the address.

Great War veterans, represting the Legion branches from Morrisburg, Williamsburg, Cornwall, Winchester, Chesterville and Iroquois assembled at the Town Hall and marched to the Park in a body. The procession, which was headed by Cornwall bugle band, also included members of the local council, and a number of the men who trained at Barriefield last summer were also present in uniform.

After the service, during which was observed a two minute silence, wreaths were placed on the base of the Soldiers' Memorial in the Park.

WINCHESTER MAN FINED

Charged with reckless driving, Charles Lynch of Winchester, appeared before Magistrate John McCormick in police court on Wednesday and was fined $20 and costs and had his license suspended for six months. He was told that before his license would be returned to him at the end of that period, he would be compelled to have his car fully insured against property damage or public liability or some other financial security in case of accident.

The charge was laid against Lynch last night by Traffic Officer Eugene Rose, following an incident on St. Lawrence street, Winchester, when Lynch attempted to pass another vehicle on the wrong side. In doing so he side-swiped Magistate McCormick's car, which was parked in front of his residence, also the car he was passing, and ended up by crashing into the rear end of a large truck loaded with stove wood, which almost completely recked his own car.

RESOLUTION SUBMITTED TO COUNCIL BY MR. JARVIS

To the Reeve and Councillors of the Village of Morrisburg.

Whereas our village is badly in need of a community hall in which public gatherings, school and church meetings as well as municipal meetings may be held.

And Whereas notice will be given to the Council as the lease is about to expire the first of the new year, on the site now occupied by the present hall.

And Whereas our present town hall is not quite in keeping with the spirit of the people as demonstrated in our schools, churches, stores and homes.

And Whereas some justifiable work should be provided in order to give our unemployed constructive employment .

And Whereas provision has been made under the Ontario Community Halls Act to give a grant up to $2,000 and also grants are being made by the Provincial and Dominion Governments of two-thirds of the labour spent on such works as assistance to the municipalities.

And whereas our municipality is fortunate in being in the possession of a suitable site and a large quantity of building material that could be used for such a building.

And Whereas these grants are now given to other municipalities for just such purposes.

Be It Resolved that this Council take immediate steps to interview the Provincial Government with regard to a grant under the Community Hall Act as well as the labour costs for the enterprise under the unemployment relief scheme.

And that this Council take the necessary steps to have the details of the plans presented to the qualified voters at the next municipal election for their approval.

MEMORIAL CAIRN IS UNVEILED

Dr. I. G. Bogart of Kingston, unveiled the plaque on the Memorial Cairn at Berwick, at 11 o'clock on Monday morning (Armistice Day), erected by the Women's Institute of that place in honor of those from Finch Township, who gave their lives in the Great War.

Participating in the services, with the members of the Institute, were veterans from the entire district numbering nearly 100.

The parade formed at the Community Hall, and led by the Pipers' Band of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, with a detachment of the regiment under commend of Lieut. Alex. Stark,they marched to the Cairn.

Here members of the Berwick clergy led in the impressive ceremonies, assisted by Company Sergeant James A. Johnston, of the R.C.R.'s.

More than 600 persons witnessed the ceremony, with four of the Highlanders posted as a guard of honor.

After the singing of "Abide with Me" prayer was offered by Rev. W. E. Davies, of the Presbyterian Church. At two minutes to eleven, the crowd stood in silence with bared heads and the "Last Post" was sounded by Company Sergeant Major Robert Metcalfe.

Born in Vicinity.

Dr. Bogart, born in the vicinity, a former teacher in the public school and now of Kingston, before unveiling the plaque spoke highly of the successful efforts of the Women's Institute, on behalf of the ex-service men of the district, and complimented them for the erection of the "memorial."

He said that the total enlistments from Finch Township had been officially given as 80, and of this number 16 had fallen, which was a high percentage. Of those who had enlisted in the 73rd Battalion not one had ecsaped from either serious injury or death.

He spoke of the two military honors which had been won, making special mention of the winning of the military medal by Alex. McPherson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McPherson, who were present at the ceremony.

With Pipers Angus Cameron and George Montgomery of Cornwall playing "The Lament," wreaths were placed at the base of the Cairn in memory of those who had fallen.

Nursing Sister Ella Hurst-McIntosh, of Winchester Springs, placed the wreath on behalf of Winchester Legion, Post 108; Mrs. Donald McPherson, for Berwick Women's Institute; Reeve George Pollock for the municipal council of Finch Township Edward Priddon for Cornwall Legion Mrs. I. G. Bogart of Kingston, for their family; A. K. MacMillan, Cornwall, on behalf of the family, in memory of John A. MacMillan.
