No Savings Account too small

Don't think that because your first savings deposit may be small that it will not be welcomed in The Bank of Nova Scotia. A savings account means a new potential customer. It is the beginning of what may be the foundation of a valuable account later on. It is the young man's stepping stone to a business career.

"Dust of The Earth"
Well Received at Avonmore

The Chesterville Dramatic Club met with a fine reception at Avonmore Tuesday evening when "Dust of The Earth" was presented to a packed house. The Avonmore people were not at all backward in expressing their appreciation of the splendid performance put on while the whole Chesterville party was given the freedom of the village and entertained with an open hand before and after the show.

Fighting Tuberculosis

Col. Race, a veteran newspaper man of Western Ontario and a world traveller in the interest of Canadian trade, has been in town this week seeking assistance in fighting the great white plague, tuberculosis. Since the burning of the sanitorium at Gravenhurst, every effort has been made to rebuild as quickly as possible. Col. Race met with a fairly liberal response here collecting about one hundred dollars. The names will be published later.

Streets in Bad Shape

The heavy rain all day Saturday put seeding back a few days and also put some of our streets in the worst condition they have been in for a long time. With Main street closed from the bridge to Queen street all traffic has had to pass over King street which has gone very much to pieces from The Square for a block north. Another very bad place has developed on South Main street.

Invited to Enter League

A delegation of baseball enthusiasts from Morrisburg were in town a few days ago trying to interest the Chesterville Club to become a member of the league in which Spencerville, Cardinal, Morrisburg and Prescott played last year. The proposition did not appeal to the local boys on account of the difficulty in putting a team in the field during the fore part of the season when several players who are employees of the condensery, owing to the nature of their duties there cannot take the time required to fill the engagements. Later in the season when the rush of milk is over these men are more at liberty, at which time Chesterville will have its full strength as a baseball team.

Mrs. Albert Casselman, Toys Hill

The people of this vicinity were shocked when they learned of the death of Mrs. Albert Casselman. The skill of doctor and nurse were unable to do any good and after one week's illness she passed peacefully away on April 18th, at the age of 41 yrs. leaving to mourn, a husband and three sons—Willie, Lloyd and Verdan, all at home. The sad part of the funeral was the three children were unable to be out of bed and were attended by a nurse, suffering from attack of influenza of which their mother was a victim. An aged mother, four sisters and three brothers Mrs. Jas. Salter, Berwick; Mrs. Henry Steele, Avonmore; Mrs. Ed. Staples, Newbedford, Mass., Mrs. Wm. Webb, Winchester Springs; Mr. David Steele, Avonmore; Mr. Wm. Steele, Winchester Springs and Mrs. David Murphy, Montreal. The casket was covered with flowers from the family and friends showing the esteem in which deceased was held.

The funeral was held on Tuesday April 19th at Knox Presbyterian church, Winchester Springs, the service being conducted by Rev. A. Hall, M. A. The W. M. S. attended in a body of which deceased was a member.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Wm. McCallum, Alex McIlreath, Wesley Henderson, Robert Kirkwood, Charles Kirkwood, and Elzie Johnston.

Visitors from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Steele, Mr. David Steele, Mrs. Jas. Salter, Mr. Alex. McElheran, Mr. and Mrs. Angus H. McMillan, Avonmore. Interment was made at Maple Ridge.

A Shrewd Farmer's Plan

Many years ago, a well-to-do farmer told us he made it a rule to sow each year the kind of produce that brought a low price the year before When barley was cheap he sowed barley, and the same with other cereals; while grain was at a high price, he sewed sparingly. He said the tendency of farmers was to sow high priced seed and overstock the market, when the prices, would come down. Think about it, and see if something doesn't come to your mind to justify the conduct of the successful old farmer of years ago. Potatoes are cheap this year, and in consequence the acreage will likely be reduced and there may be a shortage, with fair or high prices. Those who sowed sweet clover at twenty-five dollars a bushel last year are having an experience. If they sow it now there may be a small fortune in it when the crop is ready formarket.—Durham Chronicle.

There Is A Gold Mine In Your Garret

Unless your garret is different from the average, it has a lot of old discarded furniture in it, too shabby to use. Furniture, such that love nor money couldn't buy today. It's altogether too good to have up there.

Bring it down and restore its youth with Vernicol Varnish stain. Whether it's mahogany, oak or walnut, matters not, there is a Vernicol finish for each.

No trick to use it. Goes on with a brush just as easy as spreading butter on hot toast. It sure does make things do by doing them over.

Stealing As A Fine Art

Modern automobile thieves are not only daring, but resourceful. One of them in Dallas, Texas, hired an attorney to get him off on a charge of stealing automobiles and was unable to pay the lawyer's fee of $400. Upon being pressed he promised to pay immediately and left the lawyer's office. The lawyer's automobile was standing in front of the building and his client drove it to the fair grounds, where he sold it for $600 in cash. To celebrate the transaction he offered to take the purchaser to dinner. After ordering a big meal at the restaurant the thief pretended to be ill, walked out of the back door, slipped up the alley and again stole the car standing in front of the restaurant. He drove to the attorney's office, leaving it just as it had stood, paid the attorney his $400 and was $200 ahead on the transaction.

The lawyer himself did not know what had happened to his car until later. —Chicago Insurance Post.

Killed by Lightning

In the summer time when the thunder caps appear in the sky and the storm sweeps down on the farm, the farmer thinks less of his safety than he does of his live stock.

When the stock is in the field during the storm it might happen that the animals might drift against the wire fence, which may be heavily charged with electricity, and be shocked to death.

The ordinary fence built on wooden posts should be grounded every sixth post by means of a wire six or eight feet long twisted around all of the line wires of the fence and then secured in a hole in the ground. The hole should be dug deep enough so that the wire comes in contact with moist earth. A fence so grounded offers no danger to live stock during the thunderstorm.

The wire fence built on galvanized steel posts is already grounded at every post and no thunderstorm with its discharge of lightning can injure the cattle enclosed by such a fence.

The Menace of Rats

Rats are a menace and present a problem in many big cities. Water-front workers are familiar with the big metal fenders placed on mooring ropes to keep the disease-bearing rodents aboard ships. A New York engineer now has a scheme for enclosing that city with a wall to prevent the objectionable animal immigrants from entering the city. Plague dangers from Asiatic rodents have aroused the interest of seaport cities. In several local stores the rats have to be kept under control, as they destroy merchandise. In this work the most efficient means to fight the rat is said to be a ferret. These little animals are natural enemies of rats and kill them without mercy. In some local stores ferrets are said to be liberated at night and spend the hours of darkness at their work of extermination, returning to their cages with the coming of daylight.

Shot Bears; Is Fined

John Nesbitt, settler near Powassan, returning to his home, observed an old bear and three yearling cubs enter a clearing in which his sheep were grazing Mr. Nesbitt ran to his home, procured his rifle, chased the beasts and killed the four. He then sold the meat to a dealer in Powassan. It was later shipped to North Bay. The game warden saw the meat and made inquiries as to the shipping point. He then went to Powassan, located Nesbitt and imposed a fine of $25 for killing the animals without a license. As Mr. Nesbitt had no money, Al. Perkins, merchant at Powassan, came to his rescue, and paid the fine. A good deal of bitter feeling is aroused in the neighborhood over this affair.

Will the Government Do It?

The association of manufacturers, of wholesale dealers and of retail merchants of Canada, have recently expressed the wish that the Meighen Government would start in the press of this country a propaganda for the purpose of making the people understand the necessity of increasing the quota of Canadian products for our domestic consumption.

Our imports are considerably too large, and our exports very much too small. Our home production is too limited. Our industries lack encouragement, and are compelled to reduce the number of their employees. As a result, thousands of men are out of work, and we are threatened with national disaster. In order to avert this evil, the Canadian manufacturers and dealers are asking the Government to enlighten the people on the danger of our excessive purchasing on foreign markets. These manufacturers and dealers need protection from the Government, but they need also the good will and the national spirit of the Canadian people. It is in the general interest of the nation that it should be thus.

It is to be hoped that the Meighen Government, desirous of working in the best interests of the country as a whole, will see its way clear to enter into that campaign of enlightenment of the people, as it seems at the present time to be a nationsl necessity.—L'Evenement Quebec.

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. A Live Rural Community

The little village of Campbellville and the country adjoining, in Halton Co., Ont., has gone further than most communities in furnishing recreation for its young people. The village church has always had a live and popular young people's organization. A couple of years ago an Athletic Association was organized and a field adjoining the village was rented for a ball ground. These grounds have since been purchased and the Campbellville baseball team is one of the best in the county and the pride of the community. This winter the Association had carried its activities one step further. A big, new, general store was erected last summer with a large hall in the second storey intended for public gatherings. The association promptly rented the hall for the winter season and equipped it for basketball. Now the young men play basketball three nights a week and the young ladies –and some of the older ladies, too—fill in the remaining evenings. There is no lack of clean, healthy sport for the young people in and around Campbellville.

A particularly pleasing feature of the activities of this athletic association is that it is on a strictly independent basis. Expenses are all met out of membership fees, gate receipts at ball games and other such sources. The young people, along with some older people who still retain a lot of the enthusiasm of youth, are paying for their own entertainment and enjoying it all the better on that account. Grants of rural community halls and playgrounds, as provided by the Ontario Government, may have some justification but self help, as exemplified in the Campbellville Athletic Association, is far better. Other rural communities may be doing just what Campbellville is doing. We mention this particular case only as an illustration. Why cannot the young people of other rural communities, where recreation facilities are now lacking, organize similarly for their own enjoyment?

Mrs. D. Droppo Passes Away at Okotoks

Okotoks, Alta., News

Deep and profound regret was felt in the town and district on last Tuesday morning, March 31st, when the sad news was heard that Mrs. D. Droppo had passed away at 9 a.m. She was taken sick here about two months ago and some time after was taken in to the Holy Cross Hospital, Calgary where an operation was deemed necessary. She never got better after the operation but lingered on for weeks only her indomitable will keeping her alive. She was a loving wife and mother, a charitable and useful member of the community in which she lived and was ever noted for her warm heart and open hand. The sympathy of all goes out to the bereaved husband and sons in their irreparable loss.

The deceased lady was member of Colonel Wyndham Chapter, I. O. D. E. and a member of the Journal Club since its organization, and was also a member of the W. C. T. U. She was a Presbyterian in religion and belonged to the United Church here at the time of her death and was a hardworking member of its Ladies Aid. She had always taken an active part in church work and was one of the first members of St. Luke's Presbyterian Guild here before the churches became united. She could always be relied on to take an active part in any charitable or patriotic work and gave freely of her time and substance to both.

The late Mrs. Droppo was born in Finch, Stormont County, Ont., on the 11th Oct. 1868 and was married at the same place in 1889. Her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. P. McDougall came west to Calgary in 1889 where both have since passed away and are interred there. She followed them with her husband the next year and they settled on a homestead in this district and lived there up to the time they came to reside in town. There are one brother and one sister dead and three brothers living, Donald in B. C., Coll in Alaska, and Archie in Hazelton, B. C. She also leaves a husband and four sons.

The funeral took place on Thursday at 2 p.m. from the United Church to the Cemetery under direction of J. H. Wilson. The service was conducted at the Church and the grave by Rev. W. J. Kidd and the pall-bearers were G. C. S. Paterson James Hogge, Joseph Hogge, A. N. Allan, Donald Morrison and Frank Gough all old timers of the district.

There were many beautiful floral offerings among them being tributes from the United Church Ladies' Aid the United Church S. S, I. O. D. E. Journal Club, husband and family Mr. and Mrs. Coultry Hicks, G. C. S. Paterson, J. Paterson, Mrs. E. Wilson, Edmonton, Miss K. B. Lineham and the Okotoks School pupils.

House to Prorogue on Tuesday Next

As a result of a discussion between Premier Drury and the two Opposition leaders, an agreement had been reached which, it was confidently stated Monday night, would enable the House to clear up the balance of unfinished business this week and pave the way for prorogation probably on Tuesday next. The three leaders discussed the whole remaining program and by give and take suceeded in agreeing upon a plan of action. On the part of the Opposition the agreement involves the dropping of plans to strenuously debate certain matters still before the House, including the motions in connection with the timber inquiry, put forward by the Conservatives. Mr. Dewart will agree to the winding up of the debate upon the taxation of the nickel companies and both leaders will allow untouched matters of investigation in the Public Accounts Committee to stand over.

Village Council

At the council meeting on Monday evening routine business as well as passing Schools and Sewer Accounts for upwards of one thousand dollars was quickly disposed of.

The question of how much money should be set aside for street improvement, and sidewalks was not so easily settled.

So much work seems to be urgently needed to be attended to at once, that where is the money to come from becomes a very live question. Shall we go ahead and do all that appears to be required or shall we go as far as our means will allow without borrowing.

Another question to receive attention is the By-law to define Fire limits in the village.

These two questions are to be considered at a special meeting of council to be held shortly.

Next regular meeting Monday, May 30th, Court of Revision.

This vicniity suffered a severe shock when the news spread of the death of one of the oldest residents of the vicinity in the person of Richard Empey, which ocoured at his home on Wednesday evening April 20th. at 10.30, the silent gleaner "Death" with its merciless scythe entered the home claiming as its ivctim the beloved father. Deceased was born in Osnabruck eighty years ago. In politics he was a staunch Liberal. He was of a hospitable disposition, very unassuming and his bright countenance made him friendly with all whom he came in contact. It was interesting to hear his narrative reminiscences of pioneer days being one of the good old people of eighty years ago. The funeral service was conducted from his late residence here to St. Mathew's Church, Woodland's, Rev. Atkins officiating. The remains were placed in Woodland's cemetery beside those of his wife who predeceased him nearly six years ago. The pall bearers were Messrs. Frank McConnell, Ed. Jarvis, Salem Shaver, Robert Dafoe, Edward Dafoe, Edward Pier and Archie Wylie. He leaves to mourn their loss five children—Simon of Ottawa; David at home; Mrs. John Smith, Wales; Mrs. Richard Brown, Woodland's; and Agnes at home, and one brother William of this place.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family.

When a customer at one of the Kapuskasing restaurants pulled his gun on the proprietor, who had refused to cash a cheque, another man in the place, eating a meal at the time, jumped on the back of the would-be bandit. The man with the gun and a companion were afterwards handed over to the police.

Paying Twice

At a dinner in New York a prominent lawyer noted for his activities in rounding up investment swindlers, told the following good story:

"It's pitiful to see how foolish a great many people are when it comes to a question of finance.

"Old Wash White is a good example of financial foolishness. When Wash's boss got back to the Delta from the North one day, he found the old man driving a fine young mule hitched to a handsome wagon.

"Now, Wash was a notoriously shiftless customer, and so his boss said to him: "Where did you get that splendid turnout, Washington?"

"I done broughten it at Magnolia, sah,' said Wash.

"How much did it cost you?'

"'Ah done give my note fo' $200 for it sah,' said Wash.

"'Good Gracious,' said the boss, 'where do you expect to get $200 to meet your note when it falls due?'

"Wash looked astonished and offended.

"'Fo' the Lawd's sake, boss man,' he said, 'you sho'ly don't expeck me ter give mah note an' pay, too?"

Why Some Towns Are Dead

The town that never has anything to do in a public way is on the road to the cemetery says an exchange. The citizen who will do nothing for his town is helping to dig the grave. The man that curses the town furnishes the coffin. The man who says he has no time from his business to give to municipal matters is making the shroud. The man who will not advertise is driving the hearse; the man who is pulling back from any public enterprise throws bouquets on the grave. The man who is so stingy as to be forever howling hard times, preaches the funeral sermon, sings the doxology, and thus the town lies burried from all sorrow and care, and the Mayor should never leave town without a crape band on his hat.—The Forest Free Press.

All Out of Tune

He had been sent to a certain suburb to tune a piano. He found the instrument in good condition, and not in the least need of attention.

A few days later his employer received a letter from the owner of the piano, a lady of would-be musical proclivities, stating that the piano had not been properly tuned. It was no better than before.

After receiving a reprimand from his employer, the hapless tuner made another trip, and again tested every note, only to find, as previously, no fault with the instrument This iime he told the lady so.

"Yes", she said, it does seem all right, doesn't it, when you play on it, but as soon as I begin to sing it gets all out of tune."—Christian Standard

Boys Will Help to Reforest a State

Louisiana is undertaking an experiment in reforestation which, if it is successful, is likely to be widely imitated. She is making an appeal to the boys to plant forests, and to encourage them a large lumber company is offering prizes for the lads who show the most industry and skill. The appeal is directed especially to the farm boys between the ages of ten and eighteen for it is from the farms that a large part of Louisiana lumber of pine, cypress and hardwood comes. Last year one farm out of four had a revenue from lumber and the total amounted to $7,000,000. The farmers generally, however, despite the fact that they have found it profitable to sell timber, have not troubled to replant what is cut. The tendency is to cut the timber and then crop the cleared land. This practice does not work well and is wasteful, because land that has grown pine, is not fit for cropping for some years after the timber has been cut because of the acids, pine needles and rotting stumps which destroy the fertility of the soil until they have been cleared off or plowed under several times.

If, however, these lands were immediately planted again they would become an asset instead of a liability, and since there are about 8.000,000 acres of cut-over pine lands in Louisiana it is plain that the state is losing an immeuse fortune because of the non-productiveness of these great tracts. There is another 4,000,000 acres of land that once bore cypress and hardwoods that is idle making a total in all of 12,000,000 idle acres. The immediate plan of the state is to replant 4,000,000 acres, and to endeavor to counter-balance the annual cut of 250,000 or 300,000, which is now going on. The appeal to the boys was made in December, and by the next month not fewer than 5,000 had enrolled themselves in the clubs. By the end of this year it is expected that there will be 25,000 of them at work.

How much will be planted by this force in a year is a matter of conjecture, but it has been estimated that a boy can plant and look after five acres of young forest in his spare hours and still have time for his usual work and recreation. If each boy plants three acres and looks after the young crop until it does not require further attention there will be a gain for the boys, the state and the lumber companies of 75.000 acres a year. The boys will be instructed in the planting and care of seeds and seedlings and will be taught all about trees so that there will be the further advantage to the lumber companies of having not only a growing crop of lumber but a growing crop of lumbermen, who when they take farms for themselves are likely to continue their attention to trees both as a source of profit and of interest.

An article on this subject in Popular Mechanics says, "The State has placed a forester who formerly was connected with the Public schools, and thus is familiar with the American boy, and methods of teaching him, in charge of the reforestation plan, and has issued 5,000 copies of a bulletin describing in simple language the trees best adapted to the land in various parts of the State; how to tell the ages of standing trees and how to plant, care for and protect natural or artificial forests with the best financial results. Special attention is being paid to the value of standing timber, which has been sold by Louisiana farmers with reckless prodigality in the past at from one-tenth to one-half of its real value. Little difficulty will be experienced in obtaining the use of farm lands from the farmers since an arrangement is to be made with the State Government whereby certain reductions in taxation will be given those owners of agricultural lands who allow the boys to reforest parts of such areas."

As a part of the campaign farmers are being taught that timber suitable for such farm purposes as fence building, the construction of corn cribs and other farm premises can be produced at practically no cost to them. Those who can afford to wait until the newly planted trees are full grown will of course, reap a rich harvest, but others will find themselves in possession of most all the timber they are likely to use about the farm by culling their wood lots after ten years. They will also be provided with fuel at no other expense than the time taken to fell and cut up a tree In the meantime the other trees continue to grow into money. The boys' reforestation club is a natural developement of the cattle, pig, corn and other agricultural clubs for boys which are scattered all over the United States and Canada and which received a special impetus during the Great War.

Make Us Just Canadians

Though it is 386 years since that bold French explorer Jacques Cartier, sailed down the St. Lawrence River, says the Chesley Enterprise, and 137 years since the first English-speaking settlers came into Ontario from United States, the Canadian Government does not recognize a Canadian nationality, those of French descent still being classified in the census of 1911 as French, and the others as English, Irish, Scotch, German, Dutch, etc. Why shouldn't there be a Cadanian nationality? Will this classification by origins go on so long as we are a British dependency? Will the census of 1921 be the same as all previous ones without a column for those whose forebearers on both the maternal and the paternal sides have for a hundred years been Canadians? We suppose there is no such thing as a pure-bred Canadian, but there are a great many in the human herd book of whom the writer is one who would like to get rid of all this Old Country connection in the census of this Canada of ours. We do not think there are many young Germans who have anything in common with the Fatherland and yet they are tabulated in the census as Germans and the great grandchildren of the Pennsylvania Dutch are set down in the Dutch column. Perhaps there is no remedy for this, and it will be perpetuated for all time but we wish those who are in charge of the census would cut out the origin columns and put nationality instead and classify those born in this country as Canadians.

Bonus for Members Wrong

Farmer's Sun:—Apparently the members of the local Legislature are to receive a bonus of $600. In the supplementary estimates just brought down, there is a sum of $67,000 set aside to augment the members' sessional idemnity.

Frankly we are disappointed. We fully appreciate the sacrifices made by the members of the Legislature, and recognize that the cost of living affects them in the same way as it does every other individual, but on general principals we would like to see a law adopted which would prevent members of Parliament, either Provincial or Federal, increasing their own sessional idemnity without first submitting the measure to the country. In other words, members of a House should be forced to go to the country on the issue. If the electors approved of their stand in the matter, they could send them back with orders to increase their idemnity. Make the idemnity an election issue, not a between-election movement.

It hardly seems right that men elected to Parliament at a certain indemnity, and knowing what that idemnity is, should put their hands in the public till and increase their own allowance. The Ontario members may deserve more money than they are getting, but their method of obtaining the "extra" does not appeal to us.

Increase the Yield of Oats

Canadian oats lead the world for quality and are in great demand for seed in every civilized country, but oats generally receive little attention and are raised in a haphazard sort of way. Very few farmers put in seed plots, although there is no other crop which responds so readily to intelligent selection and treatment.

Careful experiments have proven conclusively that the formaldehyde treatment of the seed for smut frequently increases the yield more than would be naturally expected from simply replacing smutted heads with sound ones.

This is probably due to the fact that the grain is attacked by other seed borne parasites which are as effectually checked as smut, adding to the general health of the grain.

Can You Answer?

Years ago the compiler of "Beckwith's Almanac" lived in New Haven. The tall white hat which he wore made his a conspicuous figure, and his portrait in this white hat adorned the "Almanac's" front cover. It is from this publications that a reader has selected the following rhyme under the question "Can you Answer?"

Where can a man buy a cap for his knee?
Or a key to the lock of his hair?
Can his eyes be called an academy
Because there are pupils there?
In the crown of his head
What gems are found?
Who travels the bridge of his nose?
Can he use when shingling the roof of his house
The nails on the ends of his toes?
Can the crook of his arm be sent to jail?
If so what did he do?
How does he sharpen his shoulder blades?
I'll be hanged if I know, do you?
Can he sit in the shade of the palm of his hand?
Does the calf of his legs eat the corn on his toes?
If so, why not grow corn on the ear?

The peddler rapped timidly at the kitchen door. Mrs. Kelly, angry at being interrupted in her washing, flung open the door and glowered at the man.

"Do you wish to see me?" she demanded, in harsh tones.

The peddler backed cautiously off the steps as he said with an apologetic grin:

"Vell, if I did I got my wish, dank you!"

Brought 'Buddy's' Body 2000 Miles

Plainwell, Mich., April 24.—Back from the Canadian North after a 2,000-mile hike with the body of his brother-in-law and "buddy," J. Ward Brown, Fred Barker, wanderer and soldier of fortune, can see nothing unusual in his experiences of the last few weeks. To him the trip by canoe, dog sled and train from Clearwater Lake, 200 miles from the nearest settlement, to the little Plainwell cemetery, was only a matter of duty and the fulfilment of a promise made at Brown's death.

Pneumonia stole into the camp of the two men near Clearwater Lake late in March. Brown was seriously ill.

"If I die" he whispered to Barker, "will you take me back to Plainwell, she is buried there."

Barker nodded.

They had planned to return to the south when spring came. The return journey started April 7th, the day after Brown's death.

Wrapping the body of Brown in many thicknesses of tarpaulin, Barker strapped it to a split slab on a toboggan and started on his trip of several hundred miles back to civilization. He followed the river beds when possible but often was forced to cut his way through thick brush. After several days he met an Indian with a dog team who accompanied him to Port Arthur. From that point Barker hurried on to Plainwell, riding most of the distance in the baggage car with the body of Brown.

Barker, an adventurous globe trotter had prospered in Alaska and other remote districts. After serving as captain in the American army he resumed his search for treasure and went alone into the northern country.

He returned elated and induced Brown to accompany him.

The last heard of the party was a letter written at Lacseul on birch bark in which Brown told his son of abundant game and fish they were travelling north by canoe and mailed the unique letter at a Hudson Bay Company trading camp.

The reunion of husband and wife in a single grave, occurred today in a little cemetery near this village. Hundreds of persons were unable to gain entrance to the church where services were conducted.

Wooden Shoes and Automobiles

At first thought there seems to be no relation between wooden shoes and automobiles. But one never can tell these days. Wooden shoes play an important part in automobile building; indeed they probably reduce the cost of automobiles by six and three-tenths cents each—if figured out by an efficiency expert.

Automobile chassis have to be washed after they are built and before they are taken to the big room where the bodies are put in place; for after that all ablutions have to be administered very carefully. For this allover bath soft soap is used--pails of it—and the water is applied with a hose.

At first the automobile companies provided high rubber boots for the men who did the work; but they soon found that soap and rubber did not agree, and that the bill for rubber boots was quite an item. And when the war came on, and the price of rubber soared, indeed, it became quite appalling.

So some bright young men got a lot of wooden sabots—brought from Holland or somewhere for actors—and tried them out. The workmen stuffed paper tightly in around their feet and encircled their legs with pieces of old slickers and found that the result was very satisfactory when worn with the usual apron. The shoes got soaked through in time, of course; but by keeping two pairs in use for each workman—one to wear and one to dry—no trouble was had.

But, during the war, nobody in either Holland or France or anywhere else in Europe could guess what the United States wanted with so many wooden shoes. Some people thought Mr. Hoover was saving leather for the Allies; others thought that they were trying to show affection by contenting themselves with; and still others insisted that the Reds wanted them to throw into machinery that was making munitions. But nobody guessed that they were to wash automobiles in."—Scientific American.

Junior Red Cross work is already making fine headway. North, east and west Junior Auxiliaries have been formed. Many of these have called themselves after famous battles in the Great War; others have chosen the names of former students who passed on, serving king, country and the little folks back home. As one instance of the work being done already, Manitoulin Island sent in $10.45 for memberships and aid for crippled children. The Auxiliary will take part also in improving health and hygiene conditions in the community. It has 59 charter members and boy and girl officers.

Apart from the help given to less fortunate boys and girls, Junior Red Cross members will find their sympathies broadened and they themselves will receive invaluable training in hygiene.

I Must Pay My Debts Before Taking out Life Insurance.

——YOU SAY

But are you certain you will live to pay your debts? Who will pay them if your summons comes before they are wiped out—your widow. She may have enough trouble making a living without struggling with the burden of your debts.

Because you are in debt you should have a "Sun Life Home Protection Policy", then should you die the claims of your creditors will be provided for and so will your family.

While you are in good health is the time to get the policy under way.

You Notice the Difference at Sight—

Between Briscoe and other Light Cars

YOU admire the handsome body lines, which the tilted radiator accentuates; the rich upholstering, the charming color "Briscoe True Blue." But it is when you ride in it, that Briscoe superiority becomes really apparent.

You wonder how a car of Briscoe's moderate price can have a riding comfort that highest priced cars might envy. The power seems unlimited—yet this car has achieved an outstanding record for fuel economy.

The difference in Briscoe's riding qualities comes from extra long resilient springs that absorb every road shock and exceptional upholstering.

The economy of fuel and tires is partly the result of Briscoe's elimination of all superfluous weight, which has won for it the title of "Leader of Light Weight Cars." But a great part of the economy comes from Briscoe's mighty motor—which has developed year by year, until to-day it has an international reputation for performance and power.
