Local Man

Charged In Murder of Iroquois Widow

Dale Dwayne Johnson, a 22 year old former member of the Canadian Forces, and a former resident of Iroquois has been charged with non-capital murder in connection with the death last May 31st, of Mrs. Ruby Cora Hamilton, 85 - year-old Iroquois widow, whose body was discovered in her home by a neighbour. Investigation revealed that the elderly lady had been savagely beaten and raped.

Johnson appeared at Long Sault on Thursday before a Justice of the Peace and was remanded without bail, to appear in Provincial Court (Criminal Division) at Morrisburg Tuesday. The arrest climaxed a long, arduous investigation by Provincial Police officers, who

Earlier Deadline For The Post

As announced last week this week's Iroquois post was publised on Wednesday morning and put in the mails shortly after noon,. It is also available in our store outlets the same afternoon.

Due to our change of schedule, all copy must be in our office no later than Tuesday morning and we would prefer as much as possible to be in our office by Monday morning. Correspondents are especially asked to take note of this change.

Advertisers are reminded that their copy must be in by Monday noon, and that repro proofs (glossy black and white prints) are required instead of mats.

The Post will now be able to use and will publish many more photographs than in the post and request that they be sent in as soon as possible after the event they depict.

Anyone For Smoked Burgers?

The Iroquois Lions Club had their annual get-together outside one evening last week and the usual well-cooked hamburgers and hotdog topped the fare. It's hard to know from this picture whether Lion George Jackson is bent over with delight at the looks of the hamburgers on the barbecue or whether he's saying "oh, no, none for me thanks". Lions Al Byers, Ed. Orlicky and Frank Rooney are also keeping a wary eye on the smoking offering before them.

Dundas Dairy Princess

The 1971 Dundas Dairy Princess is Miss Deborah Blaine, of Hallville, who won her title Saturday last at the fair in South Mountain, in the competition with Miss June Pyper, Winchester, and Miss Bonnie Loucks, Chesterville.

SCHOOL'S IN!

School doors opened and in flooded countless numbers of young people on their way to an education. Tuesday morning saw the exodus start and within a few days all that are going to attend will be in the classrooms for another term.

A full report on the numbers returning will be published next week and we would ask principals to send any reports of school activities in as they occur throughout the ensuing year.

School columns are welcomed from any of the schools in the area; please have them in by Monday morning each week.

And a reminder to motorists to take care now that school's in.

Summer Is Over!

As the school buses roll into school yards all over the nation and students head back for university, trade schools and professions, and the nights grow coller, we can see an end to the summer of 1970. It has been a good summer in many ways and the memories of the good times will far outlast the memories we would sooner forget.

It might be a time to remind our young people of the advantages they enjoy in being able to attend and receive a better education than at any time in our history. It may not appear to be an earth-shaking event for a student who is not all that pleased about school but in future years he or she may come to realize the full importance of their decision to stay in school.

Industry right now finds that it has to retrain many of its workers to keep them productive and if we stop to consider that men well over forty are being retrained then just how many times in the future will our present young people have to be retrained to keep them productive. What it all amounts to is this: the better the education now the easier it will be to accept the changes of the future.

It is most difficult to put an adult head on a youthful shoulder but youth is going to have to starting thinking more about what the future holds and their place in that future if they are to succeed. And by success we do not necessarily mean on a financial level. Success can mean many things to many people but that is the individual's privilege to choose how he wants to "make it".

In a time of slow-down by industry jobs are difficult to come by and staying in school an extra year or two can enhance the individual's chances of becoming steadily employed when he is ready to take on the world.

It's worth a thought or two, but don't put it off. Youth slides by fast enough without putting off decisions for the future.

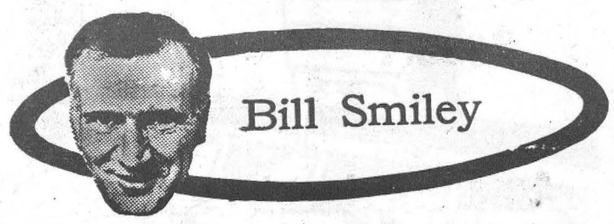
Nice To Get Letters

The postal strike which threatened and disrupted and caused a great deal of consternation among Canadians has come to a final resting place....for a while at least. And it even seems like they've been able to get around explaining the increase above the guidelines set by the government, by saying that part of the increase was retroactive so it didn't count.

Nevertheless the postal situation is now getting back to its normal self, whatever that is. We do feel that since the major problem has been solved it is time for a full investigation of the service provided and positive action taken to improve our postal system. Out of the improvements will come extra postage costs, of this we can be certain. But none of us would mind paying a bit more as long as we were getting our money's worth. At the present time we're not.

THE BILL SMILEY COLUMN

PARENTS OF THE WORLD, REJOICE!



by Bill Smiley

Going back to school could be a traumatic experience, but it isn't. It's sad to see the summer go, and all those things you were going to do not done. But there's a certain excitement as we step into September, surely the finest month of the year in this country.

It is certainly not a sad occasion for mothers of young children. Most of them heave a sigh of relief, right down to their sandals, at the thought of school opening. Children are wonderful creatures. But, like booze, they should be taken in small doses.

In summer, they are constantly wanting to eat, do something dangerous, or fight with their brothers and sisters. A young mother's nerves are tough, but can be stretched only so far.

Even more grateful for our educational system are the parents of all those teenagers who didn't have a job this summer. Most of them, even those who complain bitterly about high education taxes, could kiss the minister of education on both cheeks. For, despite all the wonderful things to do in summer, there is nothing more bored than a teenager of either sex, just hanging around home.

I can't blame them much. I get bored silly myself, just hanging around home. And adolescence makes it even more frustrating, because the body is full of beans, not meant for sitting in a lawnchair, reading a book.

But the pattern goes something like this. Sleep till noon or later. Get up after the lunch dishes are done and make a shambles of the kitchen preparing a messy hamburger. Leave the mess for Mom. Demand why there isn't a clean shirt. Slouch to the streets or the park, or hitchhike to the beach. Sit around and rap with a gang of other bored teenagers.

If dinner is at six, be sure to get home at either five or seven and demand to be fed immediately. Then spend an hour in the bathroom, fancying up, and drift off to stay out half the night, muttering vaguely that you don't know where you're going or when you'll be home. This, of course, after "borrowing," in plaintive tones, a little something from the old man.

With exceptions, this is how it goes. It's demoralizing for all parties. And it's one reason even teenagers are glad to get back to school and their parents are not glad, but ecstatic.

Then there's the business of clothes for school. Little kids are sent off clean and shining, in fairly conventional apparel. Big kids battle every inch of the way. Big boys aren't so bad, though even they are showing peacock tendencies. It's the big girls who cause the trouble.

After a summer in shorts and jeans, sweatshirt and bare feet, they are exceeding loath to don dresses and skirts and shoes. So they do the next best thing – battle their mothers over every item of attire, and demand something exotic: a buckskin jacket, a prayer shawl, a micro or maxi skirt, a see-through blouse.

However, once they're back at school, the kids enjoy it. For a while. They discuss their summer romances and immediately begin new ones. They brag about the wild times they had. They positively swagger if they've hitchhiked to Vancouver. They swiftly assess new teachers and try to drive them up the wall. They groan with exaggerated dismay when they find out that Old So-and-So will be teaching them again this year.

And how do the teachers feel? Most of them are glad to get back to work. They're broke, or they're sick of muddling around with their families, or they want to see what kind of rotten time-table they have this year, or they just plain love teaching.

I know one who'll be glad to get back, for all the reasons mentioned above.

Joe's I. Q. is 85, Sam's is 150. Alice is fair as a lily; Lynn is ruddy and freckled. Carl plays great football, but Robert writes lyric poetry. Sue likes to cook, and Liz wants to program computers. Bill becomes a detective while Jack flies a plane for his country.

What can all this conglomeration have in common?

Nothing, you may say — no two people in the world are exactly alike!

But they do have something in common, you know — something very important—they are all human beings. No matter how different, the point is they have the same hopes and ambitions and frustrations as you and I.

You and I like to think we are a little different, of course. But you and I share something with all other human beings — something very precious. We are all loved by God, and we should all return a little of that love to Him every Sunday — in the church of our choice.

Lands and Forests Report

Amateur Landscaping

By: A.J. Campbell, R.P.F., Management Forester.

With thousands of new homes being built each year there are thousands of lots to be landscaped and hence thousands of little problems to be solved. It has been written that it takes a brave man to plant a tree. This is especially true if he has any idea of the tremendous number of things that can go wrong as it grows.

Many garden centres have experts on hand to guide you as to proper species for your soil and can tell you about a trees' characteristics but because many like to make their own decisions on these matters herein lies the first problem. Get trees in keeping with the size of your lot! A small lot should have a shrub type of tree such as mountain ash instead of the spread of a forest tree such as a maple. Never plant a poplar on a small lot because it can damage basement walls, sewage lines and shade everything else in the area.

There are some lovely horticultural varieties and trees from other parts of the country available but be sure they are winter hardy in your location. Our local winters in eastern ontario are too tough for some species such as Norway maple which suffers sun scald and frost crack unless grown in a protected area.

Insects that give the most trouble are those that eat the leaves and most of them can be sprayed with Methoxychlor. There are some that are in a gall or inside the leaf and these require a systemic insecticide such as cygon 4E.

Diseases are the trickiest to identify and treat. Try to avoid planting trees that are known to be prone to disease such as Lombardy poplar which is subject to a European canker.

Two, cultural practises can help overcome many insect and disease problems. Firstly, proper pruning is very important. The Majority of shade trees die prematurely as a result of poor pruning. In all trees cut a branch neatly and cleanly with a sharp saw, preferably a tree pruning saw, so that there is no stub left, yet not so close that the surrounding bark is damaged. If the tree is a conifer or evergreen it will usually produce enough gum or resin to cover the wound but if the tree is a hardwood or broadleaved it requires covering with a good tree dressing. Do not use paint because it may contain materials toxic to the tree. The foregoing allows the wound to heal quickly and keeps rotting spores out until healed. Secondly feed your tree and shrubs - that is fertilize them to keep them as healthy as possible so that they will have a strong natural ability to fight off disease and withstand insect attacks. Conifers should not be fertilized too often or too heavily because damage can occur, however, hardwoods can take a considerable amount of a good balanced fertilizer such as 10-10-10 or 7-7-7. The usual method of application is to distribute evenly 2 to 4 lbs per inch of trunk diameter in equidistant holes placed 6" to 12" deep in a circle just under the outer crown.

The foregoing is very general and is to be used as a guide because each shade tree is a special case and as in any diagnostic work the patient should be seen if there is any doubt about a problem.

PRESSING ITS LAST RUN

Last Tuesday evening the final run on the old newspaper press that kept pushing out The Post these last few years, made its final run and was retired to Fred Pinkus and his scrap pile. Louis Arsenault shown standing on the press platform feeding in the paper sheets, has fed thousands of papers through the machine in the past six or so years and probably will miss its noise on a Wednesday afternoon as will all of us at The Post. Its going marked the end of an era, and the memory of it will linger fondly with us for many a year.

Dollars and Good Sense

by William J. Martin

Mr Martin serves as special consultant to Avco Financial Services. All questions should be sent to him at P.O. Box 2820, London, Ontario. Those containing a name and address will be answered in this column or by direct return mail. No names will be used i n print.

Dear Mr. Martin: our family is really pressed for space in our present home, but we can't afford the cost of a major remodeling job or an enlargement. Is there any advice you can give us on how to expand our living space without a major expenditure?

Mr. F.C.P.

Dear Mr. F.C.P.: There are several ways to increase the living room within your present home that you may have overlooked. Here are some suggestions:

A porch you now use only in the summertime could become an all-year room for whatever purpose you need it. You can still have the advantages of outdoor living, too, if you build a deck on top of it.

Your garage can also be remodeled at a cost far less than expanding your home to serve as a recreation room or an additional bedroom if it's connected to the house.

You may have many places in your home for extra storage room. If the door to your basement stairway is narrower than the stairwell, use the space between the door frame and the wall to build a cabinet. Space like this frequently is near the kitchen - a good location to store cooking utensils.

Use the space under beds to store linens and blankets by building a drawer that rolls out on caster - and rolls back under the bed when you're finished with it. Garage walls, all too often considered dead space, can be lined with cabinets for additional storage space.

Look around your home and see if these suggestions can be applied to it. If you take a good close look, I think you'll find that there's really quite a lot of space that can be utilized by making a few small changes. The cost will be low, too.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED YET FOR THE WALK

Dozens of people have already picked up their Registration forms for the joint Lions-Legion Walkathon to be held here on September 19th--have you got yours yet? They are available at a number of stores in the village and Matilda Township; why not join in helping to raise a few dollars for the lights at Iroquois Ball-park and the extension to the Legion Hall at Iroquois.

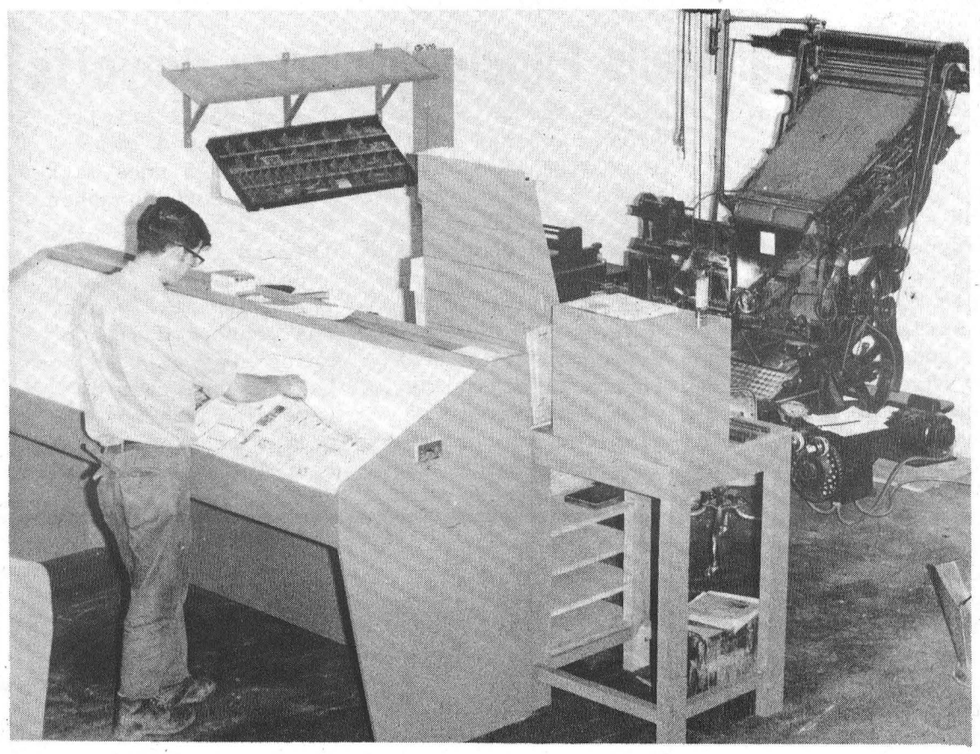
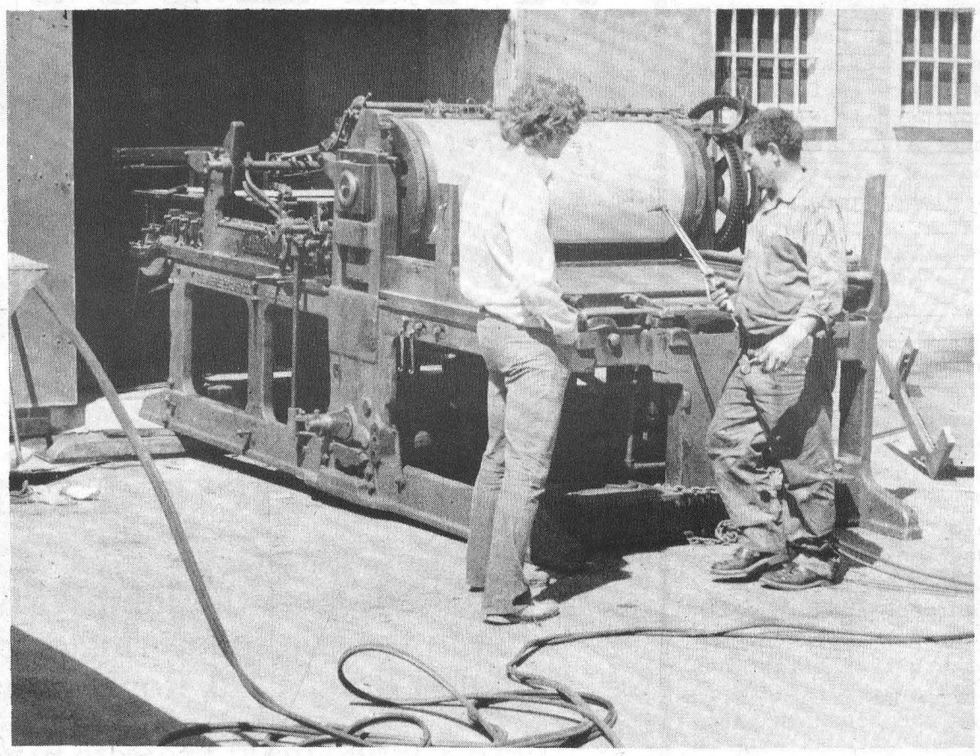
Mrs Dalton Gilmer & children of Kemptville spent Wed. with Mr & Mrs Chester Gilmer.



THE NEW AND DIFFERENT LOOK

Entering into a completely different manner of preparing The Post each week meant a complete overhaul of our working area and during the past week we made the change, amid dust, paint brushes, electricians, carpenters and a broom. Thirteen years of dust was gathered and sent off to the dump, along with a collection of other things, much of which could have been dumped long ago if we weren't like a lot of other people, keeping things "in case we need them". From now on the paper will be made up with what is termed "cold type"--made on photographic and direct image machines. As the weeks slide by we hope to turn out a better product for both our readers and our advertisers. Meanwhile, we ask that you bear with us during a time of some slight in conveniences.



TONS AND TONS TO CUT UP

The 12 ton press was hauled out The Post's back door by Fetterly's massive tow truck and cut down to size so that it could be loaded on a truck and hauled away for scrap metal. A sad end for a faithful old friend in the trade but made necessary to provide progress with more space to move about.

Brinston UCW Holds September Meeting

Brinston U.C.W. met in the Church hall on Sept. 3 at 8 P.M.

Mrs Lorne Strader Pres. opened with a poem "joy of coming home". Hymn 441 was sung followed by prayer & scripture.

Roll call & units were answered by 18 members & guests.

Mrs Evelyn Bradford was programme convener & gave a reading " a prayer that was answered". Mrs Dorothy McQuaig gave a reading "If Jesus came to your house".

A contest on Autumn words was won by Mrs Helen Froats & prayer by Mrs Bradford closed this part of the meeting. Rev. Steward closed with benediction & lunch was served in the dining hall by the committee.

Iroquois Caldwells Elimination From Playoffs

by: Lynne O'Brien.

Iroquois Caldwells were eliminated from the playoffs when they dropped a 16-9 decision to Morrisburg. The Jets took the best of 5 series, 3 games to 1, and earn the right to face Cornwall Andress in the finals. Andress was awarded the winner of the Cornwall-St. Regis series. The best of 5 finals due to start the 3rd, were drowned out & will open hopefully on the 8th in Morrisburg.

Katherine Alguire Hurled her team to victory with 11 Hits, & striking out 5. Mickey Baker caught. Lorraine Patterson & Brenda Sloan combined for the loss with 14 hits, 6 walks and 3 strike outs. Sheila Bush & Mariam Adams caught. Caldwells had 5 left on base to 8 jets.

Jeannette "Beaver" Verhoeven hit a homer in the first inning, with 2 on bases, to give the Jets a 4-0 lead. Jeannette was the big hitter, with 2 singles, 1 triple, 1 homer for 5 times at bat, & 5 runs batted in. Ruth Thompson hit a 2 run homer in the 7th for Caldwells.

Sharon Young, a Jet for the past 2 years, was presented with a going away gift on behalf of the team by Captain Katherine Alguire. Sharon will be teaching school in the Toronto area.

Blight Hits Corn!

Baxter Ramsay a 700-acre corn grower at Bright; Ontario reported this morning that southern leaf blight of corn had been found in Oxford county and that tests conducted by the University of Guelph have confirmed the existence of southern leaf blight, northern leaf blight and yellow leaf blight on his farm.

Blake Sanford, Director of the National Farmers' Union said that a recent tour of corn fields in Oxford and Middlesex counties have indicated that the blight has now covered practically all of the corn growing area in southwestern Ontario. The disease had been reported two weeks ago in Essex and Kent counties. Mr. Sanford added that it was quite apparent southern leaf blight has spread very rapidly from the southern part of the corn belt of the United States to the corn-growing areas of Ontario and doubted any growers would escape the effect of the disease.

Northern leaf blight has been with us for some time but varieties have been developed that are resistant to it and losses to the grower have been kept to a minimum. "But" Mr. Sanford said, "Southern leaf blight is something we have never experienced before and we will not know until the crop has been marketed how extensive the damage has been."

Sat., Sept. 19

Join In - Be a Community Booster!

All proceeds from the Joint Walkathon will be divided equally between the two sponsoring organizations: Iroquois Lions Club and Branch 370, Royal Canadian Legion.

There are two main projects involved: the Lions are paying to light the ball park in the village and the Legion is building dining and meeting room facilities onto the present Legion Hall, located on Dundas Street.

The 20-mile walk leaves Iroquois at 9.30 the morning of the 19 - north to Dixon's, west to Hanesville and south into Iroquois. There will be prizes for various categories, totalling $60. Register before the Walkathon and pick up as many sponsors as possible. Forms available at L. C. Davis Insurance, Rooney's Feed Store, Prunner's Esso, Bev Hutt's, Iroquois Motor Hotel, The Daffodil, Bennett's Market and The Iroquois Post.

Walkathon Plans Well On Way

Walkathon Plans are coming along well and it seems that there may be a record number of people taking that 20-mile hike on Saturday, September 19th. It's all in aid of two major projects in the Village of Iroquois, and both are deserving of the community's support.

The Lions Club donated lights at the Central Park ball diamond and are now working to pay off the several thousand dollars' cost. The Legion Branch 370 is building an extension to their Legion Hall to use for meetings and a dining hall. It too is needed and an asset to the community.

Meeting in the Civic Centre on Monday night the joint committee of Lions and Legion went into detail on plans for the day and reported on progress being made.

All appears to be in readiness and if you haven't picked up tally sheets yet, please do so as soon as possible. Let's all get behind this community effort to help two organizations serving the community and district.

Taking a look at Fall along the St. Lawrence

Nowhere can its full flavour be better seen and felt than among the tranquil surroundings at Upper Canada Village.

And, at old Fort Henry at Kingston as the "1867" Guard goes through its final paces in the crisp September air, ther is a special Autumn touch.

Both sites, operated by the St. Lawrence Parks Commission, reflect a particularly poignant mirror of pioneer Canadian life.

The Village, now in its tneth season of operation, closes October 15th.

The Fort, with its 105-man university student guard, ends its season September 15th.

Each has a particularly revealing story to tell.

At Upper Canada Village, located near Morrisburg just off 401 Highway, there is the simple but solid pioneer style.

Fall, and thanksgiving, were always a time for stocktaking during the days of the early settlers.

Their homes were hewed from the nearby forest and offered durable, comfortable shelter.

These features can still be seen today in the settlement buildings at Upper Canada Village.

While the forest was a trap for the untrained settler, it provided much of the necessities of life for those who knew how to use them.

At any pioneer Thanksgiving, there was much to delight the Heart, and stomach, of the struggling settlers.

Wild game, fish from nearby crystal clear streams, ale and coffee made from roots and bark, baked beans, pumpkin sauce and pie, cornmeal mush, rye and "injun" bread.

There was also an abundance of wild fowl ....and near Upper Canada Village, the Fall migration of Canada Geese is an unusual sight.

Thousands begin to arrive at the sanctuary in mid-October for a stopover on their long journey.

Many of the birds are fed daily by attendants during the migration.

Another Fall feature at Upper Canada Village is cheese making.

Daily, nearly 3,000 pounds of milk is processed into 100 Pounds of cheese in a wood-fired metal vat.

Along with the cheese, about 200 pounds of curd is also processed.

Cured cheese, which takes about eight weeks to produce, is sold to visitors along with the curd.

Meanwhile, at Old Fort Henry, the looming grey ramparts give a distinctive touch to the changing autumn scenery along the river.

Guards and guns are paraded and fired regularly while on Wednesdays during July and August the impressive Sunset ceremony is performed.

Life at the Fort, estimated in the 1830's to be the mightiest military bastion west of Quebec, was busy and rewarding for its original inhabitants.

Today, in its painstaking restoration, Old Fort Henry still thrills visitors with its 12-foot thick walls, accurately restored quarters for officers, men and their families, supply rooms kitchens, and repair shops.

For a special vacation trip this Fall, Old Fort Henry and Upper Canada Village offer a special insight into the lives of Canada's pioneers.

LETTERS...

The Post, Iroquois, Ontario.

The Ontario Retail Sales Tax should be abolished. It is unfair, awkward to collect, and presses most severely on those who can least afford it. If Ontario imposes income tax, it should end sales tax.

In 1968-69, sales tax produced about $485,587,552.53. Provincial income tax collected by Ottawa was $620,475,685.33. Ontario collected about $90.00 per head from income tax and $70.00 per head from sales tax. At 1969 rates, a married man with a wife and two children earning $90.00 weekly, paid about $62.40 per year in Provincial income tax, or about 1¼% of his income. He paid 5% sales tax on what he bought, subject to [illegible] extra revenue needed at no extra collection cost. Quebec, Manitoba and Saskatchewan now do this. Why not Ontario?

Some provinces without big corporations and high incomes within their boundaries must rely on sales taxes on the little man, but not prosperous, industrial, wealthy Ontario.

No one enjoys paying taxes, but if taxes are to be levied, they should be fair and equitable, but the Ontario Retail Sales Tax isn't.

It should be abolish ed.

bought, subject to exemtpions; a higher percentage in sales tax than in income tax. The little man pays the same 5% as the millionaire and must spend a higher proportion of his income just to survive. Income tax is at least progressive and ranges from nothin on incomes under $1,100.00 with higher percentages on higher incomes. This is fairer than sales tax.

Sales tax is awkward to collect. Thousands of harrassed storekeepers are forced to be underpaid revenuers and collection costs run about 3%. Meanwhile, Federal machinery for collecting income tax exists. By simply increasing the Provincial income tax collected, Ontario can raise the Autumn Showcase at the Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology will be held on Sunday, September 20, from 11:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

This year's program will be designed to interest both the rural and urban family. The purpose being to show how today's agriculture works to meet the needs of the consumer.

Of particular interest to the urban family will be demonstrations in classroom TV, credit costs, budgeting, time payments, and why pesticides are a must in agriculture.

Continuous movies on pesticide usage; pork, productions, processing and grading, will be shown in addition to tours of varous field plots.

THE SENIOR SWIMMERS

There weren't many Seniors entered in Swimming Classes this year but they made up for their lack of numbers by effort and enthusiasm, and left to right are those who were successful--Georgina Haldane, Janis Thompson, Susan Merkley.

SWIMMING BEGINNERS RECEIVE AWARDS

Softball Awards Saturday Night

The first annual Minor Soft-ball Awards Evening will be held on Saturday, September 12 at 6 p.m.

The event will be taking place in Central Ball Park on Diamond One. It is the Associations wish that every parent and friends of all the young ball players attend this first presentation night to help show the Minor Leaguers that their efforts in playing softball are appreciated and that we offer them needed encouragement to continue to participate in good sound recreation.

The adults attending will be asked to donate towards a collection the players will be conducting to assist in the cost of operation for this season's programme and to look forward to a better and more improved program for 1971. Any amount offered will be graciously accepted.

The evening events will include a luncheon for all players at 6 p.m. This will be followed at 7 p.m. with an exhibition of softball by the girls group of 8 to 11 years .

Concluding the girls' game the 8 and under boys will then have a demonstration of their play. These games will be of three innings' duration.

At about 8 O'clock an official program will be offered. Opening the ceremony will be a brief address by Mrs Helen Smith, the Chairman of Recreation for the Village of Iroquois.

The Minor League Coaches will then be introduced to the gathering. Following this part of the program all players will be presented with a crest, emblematic of their participation in the program of softball for the 1970 season.

To continue the presentations each team will receive a Team Trophy donated by public spirited organizations and businessmen. This will be followed by each team having an award given for the Most Improved and the Most Valuable Players to their team as voted upon their individual performances during the season.

Menu of the week!

Pork Chops in Sour Cream. Parslied New Potatoes, Corn-Stuffed Tomatoes, Fresh Fruit Melody.

The best that Ontario's orchards have to offer is featured in the fresh fruit sauce recommended by the Ontario Food Council, Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food. This sauce makes an excellent topping for ice cream, plain cake, shortcake, and even pancakes, or thinned and eaten as is. To make extra quantities for freezing, simply omit the cornstarch in the preparation, and add the suggested amount during the reheating.

FRESH FRUIT MELODY

1/2 cup granulated sugar. 2 tbsp cornstarch. 1-1/2 cup orange juice. 1/2 tsp almond flavoring. 1/4 tsp Cinnamon. 1 medium peach, peeled and sliced 1 medium pear, peeled and sliced. 3-4 plums, halved. 1 medium apple cored and cubed. 1/4 cup maraschino cherries, drained and halved. 1/4 cup seedless raisins, washed and plumped. 1/2 cup Slivered almonds, toasted - optional or 1/2 cup coconut, toasted - optional

1. Mix cornstarch and sugar, add orange juice and flavorings.
2. Heat, stirring occasionally, until mixture is smooth and thickened.
3. Add prepared fruits and poach gently until fruits are tender but still retain their shape - about 20 - 30 minutes.
4. Serve either hot or cold, sprinkled with toasted almonds or coconut, over suggested bases.

Serves 8 to 10.

NOTE:
The combination of fruits may be altered to suit the season. Well drained canned fruit could be substituted throughout the recipe.

Exchange wedding vows

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the Iroquois United Church, Saturday July 11, 1970 at 2 p.m., when Jacqulyn Maxine daughter of Mr & Mrs Frank Rushton, was united in marriage with Benjamin James Willis, son of Mr & Mrs James Willis, of R.R.#2 Iroquois.

Rev. Brian Gee performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs George Fowler was organist, and Mrs Gorden Thompson cousin of the bride was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white crystal satin with empire waist, bufant sleeve, and a detachable train fell from the waist was trimmed with appliqued daisies. The bride wore a shoulder length veil of nylon net, held in place by a floral arrangement of daisies. She carried a cascade of red roses and stephanotis.

The bride's attendants were sister of bride Mrs Gorden Clark, Matron of honour. Mrs Gary Coleman, Sister of the bride and Miss Carol Ann English acted as bridesmaids. Junior bridesmaids were Heather Nadine and Terri Clark neices of the bride. They wore chiffon gowns with empire waists over satin in tourquois with long sleeves, and matching headpieces of nylon net, and carried bouquet of white carnations and tourquois pinnocchio mums with baby breath.

Mr William Willis, brother of the groom was groomsman. Ushers were David Rushton brother of the bride, Wilmer Willis and David Willis Brother of the groom. Gordon Clark and Gary Coleman brother - in - laws of the bride. Ring-bearer Robert Willis nephew of the groom.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the United Church Hall.

The bride chose a pale green crepe dress with black accessories and wore as a corsage a single white gardenia for her travelling ensemble.

The couple left on a honeymoon trip to the East Coast and U.S.A. They will reside at 307 Church street, Iroquois.

Out of town guests were present from.- Halifax, Nova Scotia, Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto, Scotland, South Africia, Lanark, perth Kemptville, Kingston, and surrounding areas.

Prior to the wedding Mrs Albert English and daughter Carol Ann - were Hostess at a misallaneous shower, at the formers home, in Honour of Miss Rushton

A Step Forward With The New "Post"

The days of hand-picking type from wooden type cases has all but passed from the scene in the production department of the Iroquois Post. The newspaper business has changed drastically over the years and the new equipment now available has changed the printing process almost completely. Equipment that automatically photographs and prints type on strips, metal plates that are used in offset printing come out automatically from a negative and plate-making machine, glorified typewriters that produce camera ready copy in minutes, cleaner and lighter work and all the other changes have made The Post's back shop one of the most modern in Eastern Ontario.

The change has been coming for the past five years and finally the shortage of trained help, higher cost, etc., brought us to the final decision to get on with the change.

Last Tuesday night we printed the final run of the Iroquois Post on the old newspaper press, printing from Linotype lines directly onto large sheets of newsprint. The large sheets were then folded into pages, addressed and sent out. Pictures elsewhere show the old and the new.

Early Wednesday morning two men came from Fred Pinkus' in Williamsburg to take out and cut down the 12 ton machine, to be hauled away for scrap metal. Then came the job of finishing some of the painting that had been started several weeks ago, as Lee Montpetit grabbed his paint brush and dug in. Meanwhile The Post and Al Byers started moving in new pieces of printing furniture. Light tables on which the newspaper will now be "pasted up", work tables, cabinets, etc., all moved into place. The Linotype found itself in another corner after some fairly heavy grunting; a few of the job printing presses were moved to a new location so that they would be all together for convenience. Each process of printing is now in a separate area, including a new darkroom for photography.

Later this Fall The Iroquois Post will hold an Open House so show the public the processes now used in printing both the newspaper and job printing.

Meanwhile, our staff consists of Louis Arsenault, Mrs Ann Keeler, Mrs. Margaret Richardson, Ken and Shirly Kirkby. Bob Martin does a fair amount of photography for us and Mrs Miriam Coligan, Morrisburg, Covers Council meetings and Dundas County Farmer Stories and Pictures for us.

As the weeks roll by we will be improving the looks and products we produce. Meanwhile, we hope you like our change to the tabloid size newspaper and the many more pictures we have included.

had diligently investigated even the most tenuous items of information they were able to find.

Johnson, who enlisted four years ago in the RCAF, was discharged on August 29th from the Canadian Forces Base at Bagotville, Que. He returned to Iroquois on August 29th, and on September 2nd, was interrogated by the OPP in connection with an AWOL charge. During this investigation he revealed his involvement in the Iroquois murder, Police said.

The murder of the well known and loved Iroquois lady had earlier this year touched off a wave of fear in the community, with few residents venturing out after dark, and secure locks being placed on doors and windows.
