Young Burglars Get Two Years.

One year and 360 days in the Central prison was the sentence meted out at Brockville to William Debo and Charles Cranston, the two men who pleaded guilty to burglarizing the residences of Henry Hollingsworth and James Lee, near Addison, on September 9. The prisoners claim Montreal as their home.

Under New Management.

With the last issue of the Merrickville Star-Chronicle Mr. F. A. J. Davis, under whose able management the paper has been run almost from its beginning, severs his connection and will go to Montreal to become manager of the McGill Daily, the organ of the McGill students. Mr. Davis' successor is Mr. Lapp of Brighton.

Drank Carboic Acid.

The death occurred Tuesday afternoon at Cornwall by carbolic poisoning of Walter E. Omer, aged 45 years. He took two ounces of carbolic acid while sitting in a cab in a local livery yard. He threw out the empty bottle and a farewell message he had scribbled to his wife, who is left with three young children. Two doctors were on the scene in a few minutes, but could not save him. No inquest will be held. Omer was a native of Oakhill, N. B. and came from Boston, Mass., 17 years ago.

Ordained Fifty-one Years Ago

On Thursday Archbishop Hamilton of Ottawa, celebrated his fifty-first anniversary of his ordination as a clergyman of the church of England. He still enjoys excellent health and feels equal to many years of service to his church. It was on the 21st of September in 1857 that the present Archbishop of Ottawa was ordained at St. Matthew's Cathedral, Quebec. In 1885 he was elevated from the priesthood to Bishop of Hamilton, and in 1896 was transferred to Ottawa as Bishop of this diocese. Two years ago he was appointed Metropolitan of Canada by the House of Bishops.

His Grace was born at Hawkesbury in 1834.

Fell from Window and was Killed.

Shortly before four o'clock Sunday morning Sergeant Burns and Constable Dyer discovered the battered form of a man lying dead on the pavement outside the Albion Hotel on King street Brockville. He was identified as Charles Kerr, until recently has been employed as tailor in the Eastern Hospital. An investigation by the police shows that the man came to his death presumably by accident. He was a boarder at the hotel, occupying a room on the third storey, facing the street. Last night he retired intoxicated, and it is thought that in a dazed state he made his way to an open window and, losing his balance, fell out, striking on his head. Another boarder, occupying a bed in the same room, was not aware of the accident until aroused by the police. He failed to throw any light on the fatality, as Kerr was sleeping soundly when he went to bed about ten o'clock. Kerr came to Brockville over a year ago from Burritt's Rapids. His home is at Wellington, near Osgoode Station, and relatives have instructed that the body be forwarded there.

Kerr was about 40 years old and unmarried.

Given Two Months for Bigamy up in Brockville.

Brockville September 25—Fred J. Arnot, an Ogdensburg man who came here July 4 and was married to Miss Ethel Baker, a stenographer in the same manufacturing establishment in which Arnot was employed, was sentenced by Judge Reynolds on Saturday to two months in the county jail.

The woman was allowed to go on suspended sentence. The charge was preferred by Arnot's first wife. The pair were arrested in Ottawa.

HOG WISDOM.

A hog needs all his time to make pork and should not be expected to spend any moments fighting lice.

Clover and skim milk are almost indispensable in the ration of the growing pig.

The man who can raise hogs profitably without pasture can increase his profits many fold by using pasture.

All breeds of hogs look good when taken care of, and all of them will yield good money if rightly handled.

If the pig is stunted in its food at any stage of its life it can never become a perfect pork producer.

A hog can be starved to eat almost anything, but seldom does well on spoiled food.

One way to improve land rapidly is to pasture hogs upon it.

Too many farmers have failed to appreciate the possibilities of rye as hog pasture.

No farmer can have complete success raising hogs unless he has a good grain pasture, and young hogs can be fattened more profitably than those that are older.

The 300 pound pig at eight months is the master work of a feeder.

SILAGE FOR SHEEP.

Produces Excellent Results When Properly Fed.

This is a feed that has been considerably discussed of late. Owing to the feeding of poor silage and the feeding of too much of it, hundreds of sheep were killed when farmers first began to feed it, writes C. A. Waugh in Farm and Fireside. After losing some sheep the ordinary man would discontinue the feed, never to use it again. As a matter of course, these men have not recommended it very highly, and a general prejudice has come up against its use.

But this is entirely unfounded, for silage when fed right can be made a valuable part of the ration, and, as its cost is small, it helps to make up a cheap ration. In the first place, it must not be fed in excessive amounts. Too much silage causes too much acid in the stomach and is sure to cause trouble. Thus it should be fed only in limited amounts. Few feeders give more than one and one half pounds a day. Silage that is put up in bad shape or that is molded in the least cannot be given to sheep, as it will be sure to result in trouble. Most of the men using it throw the poor silage aside and let it waste. In many cases the silage is given once a day, while hay or some other roughage is given at night. In the case of fattening lambs the grain feed is thrown in on top of the silage.

The Southdown breed of sheep is generally considered to hold the position of being the best mutton sheep. The ewes are prolific breeders and excellent mothers. The size is medium, the body round and deep and the breast broad. The back is broad and level, the rump square and full and the thigh full and massive. The legs are short, with fine bone. The Southdown has become thoroughly naturalized in this country. The picture shows a Southdown wether of good form.

When fed right silage does the lambs good rather than hurts them. But recently I visited a plant where some 3,200 so called pewee lambs were being fed. Handling this class of lambs requires a great deal of skill. In this case part were not given silage, as the barns were too far from the silos. About half were silage fed, and the rest were not. During the past feeding season the loss among the dry fed lambs has been heavier than the loss among the silage lambs.

The proving of the value of silage for sheep makes the silo more available for the general farmer. Formerly we had the idea that it was profitable only for the dairyman, and so the man with a few cows could not afford to invest. Its value with beef cattle has been demonstrated. A certain amount must be fed each day to prevent spoiling, and so this becomes possible when the feed can be given to all the animals on a small farm that carries sheep as well as beef and dairy cattle.

The Eye Specialist who Practices the New System.

HE LOOKS INTO THE EYE

An opportunity is now given the people of CHESTERVILLE and vicinity to have their eyes examined and glasses fitted by the new and wonderful "SHADOW TEST" method, which does away with all machines, drops and drugs in testing.

To WEDNES.
October
4th.

A new day has dawned for eye-sight sufferers. No long tedious sittings in the optician's chair to have innumerable pairs of glasses tried to your eyes, but a new and wonderful, quick and easy method by which the inside of the eyeball is illuminated and nature gives up the secret of poor vision. The "SHADOW TEST" has been so perfected by this Specialist that the correction of imperfect sight has been reduced to an exact science.

Cross eyes can in many cases be straightened.

Children's eyes can be accurately examined without asking questions.

Many cases of Chronic Headache due to Eye Strain can be cured by wearing glasses fitted by this System.

The visit of Professor Graham to Chesterville is a rare opportunity to those who are unable to visit these Specialists in their City offices, and who suffer from eye trouble or believe they need a change of glasses.

New Rating for Cream.

The amended decision of the railway commission in the matter of rates on cream east of Port Arthur has now been issued. By mistake the order was published some time ago as framed by Commissioner Mills. Commissioner McLean, however, had dissented and the order as now issued is quite different from the original one.

From now on the maximum express charged on all shipments of cream and services connected therewith, the cream to be in cans with or without jackets and tagged (not in tubs), are as follows.

25 miles, 5 gallons cans, 23 cents; 8 gallons cans, 25 cents; 10 gallons cans, 30 cents.

50 miles, 5 gallons cans, 23 cents; 8 gallon cans, 31 cents; 10 gallon cans, 36 cents.

75 miles, 5 gallon cans, 23 cents; 8 gallons cans, 36 cents; 10 gallon cans, 41 cents.

100 miles, 5 gallons, 31 cents; 8 gallons, 41 cents; 10 gallons, 46 cents.

150 miles, 5 gallons, 39 cents; 8 gallons, 51 cents; 10 gallons, 56 cents.

200 miles, 5 gallons, 47 cents; 8 gallons 61 cents; 10 gallons, 66 cents.

These charges are to include the delivery of filled cans and the collection of empties for dealers at all points where the express company furnishes a collection and delivery service, and where such as not furnished the charges will be 5 cents less per can. No reduction is to be made on smaller or partially filled cans.

This is the judgment in which the Ottawa Dairy company and other local milk dealers were interested.

Itching Scalp.

Get Rid of, In a Few Hours.

There is nothing made that will so quickly rid the scalp of distressing itchiness as Parisian Sage, the hair dresser and beautifier.

W. G. Bolster guarantees Parisian Sage to cure dandruff, stop itching scalp, and falling hair or money back, and sells it for only 50 cents a large bottle. It puts vitality into the hair and gives it a radiant luster.

It is the favorite hair dressing of refined women because it so quickly refreshes the scalp and not being sticky or greasy is delightful to use.

MANAGEMENT OF THE HERD BULL

By allowing his bull to run with the herd many a farmer thinks to make sure all the cows are with calf, but by this plan he never knows the date on which each will drop her calf and consequently cannot handle her as a pregnant cow should be handled, writes a correspondent of the Breeder's Gazette. In fact, he cannot be sure they all are with calf, and he subjects his neighbors to the same uncertainty, besides probably causing their cows to be bred to a type of animal different from what they desire. By keeping the bull in a separate lot and stall one can turn each cow in with him while she is in heat, keep a record of the date and thus be able to separate her from the herd at the proper time, giving her special care and feed. The bull will then be a surer breeder, get more vigorous calves by conserving his energies, produce offspring of a gentle, tractable disposition, especially adapted to breeding and dairying, and thus be an important factor in raising the standard of the herd.

Another phase to careless bull management is that of danger. His freedom and unrestraint are sure to develop in him an ugly, vicious disposition till he finally becomes a menace to all other stock on the owner's farm and adjoining farms. Where the bull is kept by himself he will require a little extra care, but a sire thus secured will amply repay the small trouble. His stall quarters should be kept clean and well bedded, supplied with plenty of light and ventilation and yet be snug and warm in severe weather. The same or even greater care should be exercised in selecting his rations as for the dairy cows, avoiding too much corn, which is too heating and productive of surplus fat. Give the cleanest and brightest of roughage and employ a balanced ration to keep his system in proper tone.

The pure bred Guernsey bull shown herewith was champion at the national show. According to Secretary Caldwell, there are 3,329 pure bred Guernsey bulls in this country and Canada and 14,623 females, a total of 17,952 animals. The Guernsey cow is noted for the high grade of her dairy products and her size and vigor. Wherever her rich, natural golden colored milk, cream and butter are shown they have won recognition. She is considered one of the most profitable of the recognized dairy breeds.

Confined bulls must also have plenty of exercise, and their lots should be of sufficient size for this. If it is necessary to water them outside their lots teach them to lead. Arrange a stick with a snap on one end to attach to the ring in the nose.

CAUSES FOR BALKING.

Trouble Is Often Due to Poorly Adjusted Harness.

Very often, where one has had little experience (and sometimes when one has had much), a slight misadjustment of the harness may be the direct cause of an animal balking—in fact, the fault rarely is with the horse, but with the driver, says the Farm Journal.

Sometimes a tug slips from its proper adjustment, the buckle again catching in a hole that leaves it several inches longer than the other tug. This causes too much pressure on the shoulder of the short tug, throws the animal's body in a twist and is pretty sure to cause him to fly back. Keep the tugs exactly the same length.

Some horses will not stand for being tightly reined up, especially with the gag rein, and this is a very common form of encouragement in balking. When a horse balks or shows any signs of balking it is a very good plan to unrein him.

But the closest attention should be given the harness around the neck and shoulder, since here is where the weight of the load falls, and if anything occurs that will hinder a free, open working of all straps and the collar at this point the horse naturally feels that it is his privilege to relieve the pressure by stopping. A tight hame string at the top of the collar sometimes pinches the neck and causes the horse to balk. If the hames are too tight at or near the bottom of the collar they will choke the animal, and this is one of the quickest and surest causes of balking. A loose fitting of the hames, either at top or bottom, is also conducive to balking, as the pressure of the load is thrown too far back on the shoulders, and the play of the hames worries and irritates the animal every move it makes.

HER SKIN SEEMED ON FIRE

Every Other Treatment Failed But "Fruit-a-tives" Cures

GRANDE LIGNE, QUE., Jan. 2nd, 1910. "My wife was greatly distressed for three years with chronic Eczema on the hands, and the disease was so severe that it almost prevented her from using her hands. The doctor gave her several ointments to use, but none of them did any good. He also advised her to wear rubber gloves and she wore out three pairs without getting any benefit. As a last resort, I persuaded her to try "Fruit-a-tives", and the effect was marvellous. Not only did "Fruit-a-tives" entirely cure the Eczema, but the Asthma, which she suffered from, was also completely cured.

We both attribute our present good health to "Fruit-a-tives". N. JOUBERT. "Fruit-a-tives" will always cure Eczema or Salt Rheum because "Fruit-a-tives" purifies the blood, corrects the Indigestion and Constipation, and tones up the Nervous System.

Waterford Post Office Robbed of $3,000.

Brantford Sept. 25—Early on Saturday morning the village of Waterford was thrown into great excitement when Postmaster Alex. Rock made the discovery that during the night the safe had been blown open and a registered package containing $3,000 as well as $145 worth of stamps and $8 in cash had been stolen. Three strangers who boarded a train from Scotland to Waterford on Friday afternoon are suspected of having done the job.

Entrance to the office was effected by means of sledge hammer applied to the rear window, the hammer having been taken from a black-smith shop a half mile distant. The safe was drilled apparently by experts, and the front of it blown to pieces. Not the slightest suspicion was aroused in the village during the progress of the operations. The $3,000 package had been registered on Friday afternoon by the Northern Crown Bank, Scotland, Ont., for delivery at headquarters in Toronto. It is possible the robbers knew of the transfer of this money from Scotland to Waterford. Only a meagre description of the trio has been secured and no trace has been discovered of their whereabouts. The Provincial police have been called in to assist in the affair.

Man Killed in Boiler Explosion.

Ottawa Sept. 23—A boiler exploded yesterday in the township of Gloucester on the Montreal road, six miles below Ottawa, instantly killing one of the men on the machine named Euclid LePage. He was struck by flying fragments of the boiler and also scalded by escaping steam. The engineer, who was standing at the end of the machine, had a miraculous escape. A horse, one of a team tethered fifteen or twenty away, was instantly killed, being struck on the head by a piece of the boiler.

ECCENTRIC WAGNER.

A Glimpse of the Famous Composer In One of His Moods.

Richard Wagner, the composer, needed a good deal of managing, and Frau Cosima was always tactful, according to Judith Gautier's "Wagner at Home." When the author hesitated before accepting Wagner's invitation to an excursion she says Frau Cosima made signs to her and, coming nearer, said in a low voice: "Do not refuse, he would be angry. And let him manage it all; let him take the lead, if you do not wish to grieve him."

Later on she gives another curious scene: "Behind the house, in that court which formed a part of the garden, and from which the carriage drive started, there was a high swing, which the children were allowed to use very carefully, and with which the older people sometimes amused themselves. One day Mme. Cosima was sitting on the narrow board. Wagner offered to start the swing and give her a good flight through the air. All went well for a time, but, little by little, the motion became more rapid; higher and still higher went the swing. In vain Mme. Cosima begged for mercy. Carried away by a kind of frenzy, the master paid no attention and the incident began to have a terrifying effect.

"Cosima grew white; her hold relaxed, and she was about to fall. 'Do you not see that she is fainting?' I cried, throwing myself toward Wagner. He grew pale in his turn, and the danger was quickly averted. But, as the poor woman continued to be dizzy and trembling, the master concluded it would be wise to create a diversion. He ran rapidly toward the house, and by the aid of the shutters, the moldings and protections of the stones, he climbed nimbly up the side and, reaching the balcony of the floor above, leaped over it.

"He had obtained the desired effect, but in replacing one evil by another. Trembling with anxiety, Cosima turned to me, saying under her breath: 'Above all things, do not notice him; do not look surprised, or you can never tell where he will end.'"

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMY.

The English Method of Dealing Out Supplies by the Week.

In the matter of small savings and watchfulness of expenditure the English housewife is ahead. For example, the English housekeeper deals out to her servants the week's allowance of sugar, rice, flour, coffee and all other household provisions that are kept in quantity, and requires an account of it all to be rendered, the thing having been brought to so fine a point that she knows the exact amount of each article requisite for her family, allowing so much to each individual and that quantity being sufficient, as she knows by experience, two ounces of tea, for instance, being regarded as a week's supply for each single individual, one-half pound of sugar, three and one-half pounds of meat for a woman and five and one-fourth for a man—facts which the housekeeper probably learned from her mother before her—knowing, moreover, the greater variety of the simpler kinds required.

All of these stores she sets down in her housekeeping book as she gives them out, and she does not fall on the next dispensing day to consult her dates and if anything be left over in the cook's hands not accounted for to subtract that from the amount to be newly issued. And in England servants expect this. So far from being indignant with it they would feel as if there were no guiding hand behind them if left undone and they given their head in an overflowing store-room, as servants are with us.

In fact, there is no saying which the housewife across the water considers too small to practice or as beneath her dignity.—Exchange.

Sir John Rose at Great Length.

An accomplished English barrister was Sir John Karlslake. In height he was six feet four inches.

A provincial newspaper in reporting a case in which he was engaged on circuit laconically described the opening for the complainant as follows:

"Sir John Karlslake, as soon as the defendant's case was concluded, rose at great length to reply."

Very Simple.

"I've been working two or three evenings making an umbrella stand," says the man who has taken up arts and crafts endeavor.

"Two or three evenings?" exclaims the other man. "Why waste all that time? Why don't you lean it in a corner or stick it in the ground?"—Judge.

The Trouble.

"What's the trouble?" inquired the judge.

"This lady lawyer wants to make a motion," explained the clerk, "but her gown is too tight."—Washington Herald.

A. McCullough & Co. in Financial Difficulties.

The firm of A. McCullough & Co., produce merchants, of 88 Grey Nun street, Montreal have suspended payment. While a demand for assignment has been made upon the firm, Mr. McCullough stated that they hope to be able to arrive at a settlement of the matter. In the meantime the firm has ceased payment, turned over all their cash resources to their solicitors, and are taking stock. It is expected that the settlement will involve a sum approximating $150,000. Messrs McCullough & Co's business extends over a large territory, being spread amongst a great number of producers on this side of the Atlantic and a lesser number of purchasers in Great Britain. It is with these latter that the firm have to arrive at an agreement, while the immediate action has been taken by a large number of smaller creditors, chiefly in the Eastern Townships, who have shipped butter and cheese and want to get their money.

On behalf of these a demand was yesterday made by Messrs Foster, Martin, McKinnon & Co., solicitors, calling for the assignment of the firm. Messrs Foster Martin & Co. were acting for a number of Eastern Townships creditors, who had sold butter and cheese to McCullough & Co. These claim that they have shipped goods to the firm for which they received cheques, but the payment was refused for the cheques.

In addition to the demand for assignment there have been a number of actions for revindication of several thousand dollars worth of butter bought by the McCullough firm.

"The position is simply this," said Mr Alex. McCullough, head of the firm, yesterday evening. "We have a large amount of forward sales out of cheese, and many of them have been filled, and these latter are pressing us for prompt shipment."

"But the market has gone against us, with the unexpected rise in prices, and after a consultation with our solicitors, we have been advised to cease payment. We have therefore transferred all moneys at the bank in our credit, amounting to about $16,200, in trust to our solicitors, and now we are engaged in taking stock with a view to arriving at an amicable settlement. In the meantime we shall contest the demand for assignment and all other demands against the firm."

But we have decided that we must stop and see where we stand first, since the amount involved will in all probability approximate $150,000. But arrangements are now under way between our firm and our connections in England which we hope will lead to an amicable settlement of all claims."

Messrs Blair & Laverty are acting in the matter for Messrs A. McCullough & Co.

$11,000.00 in Prizes at Winter Show in Ottawa.

"There is probably no Exhibition in Canada which is making more rapid growth than the Eastern Ontario Live Stock and Poultry Show, the great educational Show held each January in Ottawa. In recent years, the attendance has been increasing over fifty per cent annually, while the gain in the number of exhibits has been almost as great. This success is largely due to the generous prize list which is sufficient to bring out very high quality exhibits in large numbers. The different departments and the total of prizes offered in each are as follows:-

Horses	$3000.00
Dairy Cattle	1400.00
Beef Cattle	1600.00
Sheep	850.00
Swine	850.00
Poultry	2750.00
Seeds	850.00

Total $11,000.00

There are in all 748 sections in the prize list representing 197 breeds and varieties. The individual prizes are large and in a great many cases more than one prize may be won by the same animal.

A new feature of the prize list this year is the introduction of several classes open only to exhibitors who have never won a first prize at exhibitions held in Ottawa, Toronto, London or Guelph. These will offer special inducement to new exhibitors as they may also show in open classes.

The dates for the next Show are January 16th to 19th, 1912. Our readers may secure prize lists by sending a request by post card to D. T. Elderkin, Secretary, Ottawa, Ont.

Division Court at Morrisburg.

The following case was heard at Morrisburg last week, Judge Liddell, presiding:

Ralph Summers and Edgar VanAllen, both parties residing in the township of Williamsburg. This was an action brought to recover $26.00 balance due him for services as a farm laborer as per settlement effected by the parties on the 10th June last. The defendant counterclaimed for $175.00 for damages for death of a horse which he seeks to hold plaintiff responsible for. According to the evidence the defendant had been accustomed to feed his horses ensilage and instructed plaintiff, his servant, to do so. On the night of 20th May last the horses were fed ensilage by plaintiff as usual, and defendant drove one of the horses to Aultsville that night, returning about 10 o'clock. Next morning when defendant went to the stable he found the horse he had driven the night before dead and another sick. He called in the services of Dr. Harvey, who soon restored the sick horse to its normal condition. Dr. Harvey gave expert evidence which seemed strongly in favor of the plaintiff, although he was called as a witness for the defence. The Judge reserved judgment for one week. R. F. Lyle acted as counsel for plaintiff and A. Flynn for defendant.

Convention Opens at Winchester, Oct. 16th.

The thirty-fourth annual convention of the Ontario Women's Christian union will be held in the Methodist church at Winchester, Oct. 16 to 20. The members of the executive board, consisting of the officers, superintendents of departments and county presidents will meet Monday evening. The regular session of the convention will open at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The convention will be composed of the members of the executive board, and in addition one delegate for each affiliated union and one additional delegate for every twenty paid-up members of such union.

The usual rates have been secured from the railway companies. Delegates and visitors to the convention will purchase from the agent at starting point, a single fare ticket, procuring at the same time a convention certificate. This certificate must be presented for signature to the provincial corresponding secretary at Winchester—it will then entitle the holder to return at one-third fare. A change has been made this year by the railway companies in regard to date of purchasing tickets to convention; formerly they could be purchased any day during continuance of meeting, and the certificates would be honored, but the regulation this year is that only those "purchased three days before the opening date of meeting (Sunday not counted a day) or during the first three days of the meeting will be honored." Thus, Thursday, Oct. 12th, would be the earliest date of purchase and Wednesday, Oct. 18th, will be the last date on which a ticket can be purchased, to secure the one-third fare.

Every effort is being put forth to make the Winchester convention a memorable one, the power and influence of which will be felt during the year not only in the provincial work, but in every local union. The Thursday evening meeting will be addressed by Rev. Mr. Hamilton, provincial alliance organizer for the city of Toronto. Other speakers are expected.

There will be morning consecration services; conferences upon different departments; also for "Y" work; for county work and for local option campaigners.

The Dominion convention at Sherbrooke, Que., will take place Oct. 22 to 26.

A good demonstration was held at Ottawa in honor of Mr. R. L. Borden.

Brockville has no Feeling for Habitual Drunks.

Brockville September 25—Eight drunks, all local characters, the largest in the history of Brockville's police annals emerged from the cells when P. M. Deacon ascended the bench at the police court this morning. All had been having a high old time Friday, despite the fact that they are characters existing generally for their grog on the good nature of the public. They were assessed $5 each. Friends of four came to their rescue. The other four went to jail for twenty-one days.

A Heavy Apple Crop.

Pictou, Ont. Sept. 24—There promises to be a wonderful crop of apples in the county this season. The packers are busy now, and have been for two or three weeks. A large number of young orchards have come on well this season, and the crop is expected to be the biggest and best that Prince Edward has put on the market in many years. Prices, too, are unusually high.

Horse Kicked Rig to Splinters and Injured Driver.

Prescott, Sept. 25—A. M. Halliday, merchant tailor, was severely injured by being thrown from a carriage while on his way to his shop at noon on Saturday. Mr. Halliday was driving down George street with a friend, when the harness broke permitting the carriage to run upon the horse's heels. The animal, which was a restive one immediately began to kick the rig to pieces. The two men jumped but Mr. Halliday did not fall clear and in the mix-up his knee cap was knocked off and his head severely cut. He was at once taken to the Ogdensburg hospital where his injuries were attended to.

Reeve Sweitzer of Stephen township was accidentally shot and killed while duck hunting.

Stabbed in Eye with Umbrella.

Campbellton, N. B. Sept. 22.—Campbellton is to-day mourning for one of her most respected citizens, Mr. D. J. Bruce, who died at an early hour this morning as a result of a blow struck him by Dr. W. W. Doherty. The townspeople are shocked by the sudden termination of one of the most sober and quiet elections ever held in Restigouche. It appears that Mr. Bruce and Dr. Doherty were in a somewhat heated argument about political matters, Mr. Bruce being a prominent Conservative, while Dr. Doherty is a Liberal, when a very personal matter respecting Dr. Doherty was touched upon. Thereupon he is said to have stabbed at Mr. Bruce with an umbrella. The weapon pierced the unfortunate man's eye and it is supposed that it injured the brain. The injured man was rushed to Hospital Dieu Hospital, where everything possible was done and he was then removed to his home, where he expired at 6 o'clock this morning.

Dr. Doherty, immediately after the assault, was arrested by Chief Hughes.

A widow and two children, one son and one daughter, survive. Deceased was a native of Prince Edward Island and was an active temperance and church worker.

A Woman in the Case.

Even in the gigantic bank robbery at New Westminster, B. C. there is said to have been a woman in the case and the detectives are now hot on her trail. She is believed to have done the work for the gang with which she is connected, and made it possible for them to get away with $125,000 from the Bank of Montreal at that place. The woman is supposed to have figured in the work of securing accurate information regarding affairs of the Bank of Montreal. She opened an account at the bank which was very active for a short time. In the meantime she informed herself by observation of the location of the vault and safe, the character and volume of the business carried on, and the precaution taken to safeguard the funds. How well she succeeded is evidenced by the result.

AN OLD GOLD BRICK

Used For Fleecing the Innocents a Generation Ago.

THE PATENT SAFE SWINDLE.

It Was a Plausible Trick That Generally Caught the Coin and Sent the Bewildered Victim Out of Town in a Hurry For Fear of Arrest.

Although the essentials of imposture remain unchanged from generation to generation, so that the rogue of today would have no trouble in recognizing his counterpart of the seventeenth century, nevertheless there are fashions in thievery, as in everything else. Old tricks are cast off like threadbare coats in favor of newer ones, and these in turn are discarded when publicity has rendered them familiar and therefore less effective, but plausibility and address are the indispensable qualities of the gentry who live by their wits.

The newest type of confidence man is the get-rich-quick individual who breathes of money and wouldn't turn his hand to a small "job." He angles for victims with new corporations and great business ventures for bait, but he is the same man who a generation ago raked in the shekels by means of the patent safe game. This game is now an outworn fashion. But it had its points.

Let us suppose a countryman, carpetbag in hand, to have alighted at the union station and set out to see the sights. Although his name is conveniently printed on the outside of his bag or set down in a legible hand on the hotel register, he is amazed to find himself hospitably greeted by an utter stranger, who knows his name and the town from which he hails. The stranger is an old friend whom the countryman is ashamed to think he cannot remember—place is the word. But the stranger is very affable and lays himself out to entertain the newcomer. They stroll about town in company, visit a bar or two, exchange reminiscences and at the end of a few hours are bosom companions. The stranger invariably pays the score, has a lordly disdain of money; good fellowship is its own reward.

The two stroll by devious ways until finally while they are walking arm in arm down a quiet bystreet the stranger's eye is caught by a curious object lying on the pavement. He pauses to examine it. It is a miniature globe about the size of a billiard ball. The stranger turns it over curiously in his fingers and finally sees that it is fitted with a small plug, which comes out under pressure. Continuing his explorations, he then unscrews the top of the plug, takes out a piece of crumpled paper, shows his dupe the empty box and throws the paper on the ground. There is a similar bit of paper in the small chamber at the end of the plug, but this the countryman does not see. The two then stroll on, discussing the mysterious ball.

Presently they come upon a worried looking man, who is studying the ground with a face the pattern of despair. The roper observes him and wants to know whether he has lost something.

"Lost something, indeed!" says the man. "Why, I've lost an invention of mine that I wouldn't have taken $10,000 for. It was a patent fire safe which would save hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of papers and valuables every year. I was just on my way to Blank & Blank's, the safe manufacturers, to get one made, and here I have lost the model."

The roper is evidently much touched by the inventor's distress. He produces the wooden globe and is immediately overwhelmed with expressions of gratitude.

"But what good is that invention of yours?" asks the roper.

"Well," says the inventor with pride, "you see, it is set on props. When there is a fire all you have to do is to knock out the props and the safe rolls down an incline right out of the building as neat as you please. There's a box inside to hold the papers. There is a paper in this box right now."

At that the roper winks slyly at the farmer and whispers in his ear, "I'll make him a bet on that piece of paper."

"Come," says the roper, "that's a pretty tall yarn. I don't believe there's any paper in that ball. I'll bet there isn't a scrap of paper in it."

"I'll bet you $1,000 there's a paper in it," says the inventor, much incensed. "I haven't that much with me," says the roper, "but I'll just bet you a hundred on it." With that he takes out a number of bills, say $50 or so, and a bank check for the other $50. To his friend the farmer he says, "Will you just lend me $50 on this check until I can get to my hotel?"

The farmer sees that his friend is sure to win. He advances the $50, when, behold, the inventor draws out the plug, removes the concealed paper from its small chamber and collects the bet. The roper is decidedly crestfallen, but while he is still lamenting his folly a policeman rushes up, charges him with gambling and makes a grab for him. Roper flees, but the farmer is caught. After protesting his innocence the farmer is allowed to depart. Still fearful of arrest, he flees the city. When he presents his check he discovers that roper, inventor and policeman are all confidence men who have enriched themselves at his expense.—Chicago Record Herald.

Costly Privacy.

Although a waiter, he was very human, so when he perceived that the young couple who had been assigned to his table had many matters tender and confidential under consideration he retreated to a respectful distance and stared at the opposite wall. The restaurant proprietor disapproved of that humanitarian attitude.

"Don't stand away back there," he said. "Go up and hang over that fellow's chair back for awhile."

"Oh, no," expostulated the human waiter. "They want to talk."

"Of course they do," the proprietor retorted. "That is why I want you to butt in. Every time you come near they will send you to the kitchen for a fresh order to get you out of the way."—New York Times.

Grim Relics.

A prison sale is held annually in Paris. The articles offered for sale are the clothes of murdered people, the instruments with which the crimes have been committed and the effects which have belonged to the deceased prisoners. Articles which have been taken to the prefecture of police and have not been claimed are also sold. The proceeds go to the Paris almshouse. Unclaimed jewelry is usually bought by ordinary brokers, but the articles which have belonged to criminals, especially those who are notorious, are bought at high prices.

MANURE SPREADER!

MR. FARMER:

Are you interested in a Spreader. If so, let us show you the latest and most up-to-date Spreader on the market, equipped with the reversible self-sharpening graded flat tooth which will handle all kinds of material with one-third less power than is used on other spreaders. Read the testimonial of one of our most progressive farmers:

F. W. Merkley, Agent, Chesterville.

Copy of Testimonial.

DUNBAR, ONT., Sept. 24th, 1910.

THE FROST & WOOD COMPANY, LTD.

Gentlemen,—Your agent, Mr. F. W. Merkley, of Chesterville, sold me one of your Kemp Spreaders, 70 bushels capacity, on conditions that it worked satisfactorily. I feel, therefore, that it is my duty to let you know how I found the Spreader to work. I may say we took out 140 loads of manure, some coarse and some fine, and after using it to put out those 140 loads I will freely say that your Spreader is a marvellous piece of machinery. We used one team weighing about 2400 lbs., no more, and they did it easily. I consider the Spreader one of the most up-to-date machines on the market, and I would most cheerfully recommend the Kemp Spreader to anyone who wants a first-class article in every respect, and I furthermore give this testimonial unsolicited, and anyone wanting any further information can call and I will freely give them my opinion on it.

Yours very truly,

(Signed)

GEORGE CARLYLE, Con. 8, Lot 35, Dunbar, Ont.

THE GREAT ECONOMY OF ENSILAGE

Ensilage will take the place of pasture in the feed of all live stock in so far as the particular kind of live stock subsists on pasture, says the Kansas Farmer. For example, pasture alone will not fatten the hog, but pasture is a valuable adjunct to the hog's grain ration, and in just that far is ensilage valuable to the hog. It is the common belief that ensilage is a fit food for cattle only and that hogs and sheep and horses do not thrive on it. Keep this in mind—ensilage will fit

The Indiana and Nebraska experiment stations have tested ensilage as a pasture substitute, and at each institution dairy cows taken off pasture in the summer time and fed ensilage exclusively did not shrink in milk yield, and beef cattle did not decrease in gains per day. To the surprise of the experimenters, there was a slight increase in milk yield of cows and flesh in beef cattle while on corn ensilage as compared with pasture. This seems proof enough that corn ensilage is a genuine substitute for summer pasture. The twin silos pictured are on the farm of Governor Mead of Vermont.

Into the ration of any animal to the identical extent that pasture grass does.

Ensilage is the most perfect substitute for good pasture, as will be seen by the following analysis of pasture grass and corn ensilage:

Pasture grass, water, 80; nitrogen, extract, 9.7; crude fiber, 4; ash, 2; ether extract, 8; protein, 3.5; corn ensilage, 79.1; nitrogen extract, 11; crude fiber, 6; ash, 2; ether extract, 8; protein, 1.7.

The two are practically the same except in protein content. This can be adequately supplied by the use of alfalfa hay. In the case of the milk cow weighing ten to eleven hundred pounds, if thirty-five to forty pounds of ensilage are fed per day and the animal has opportunity to eat alfalfa hay at liberty a ration equal to prairie grass will have been provided.

A cow eating thirty-five to forty pounds of ensilage per day—or, for that matter, any other animal eating this quantity—will not consume more than five to seven pounds of alfalfa hay per day. The amount of alfalfa consumed to make ensilage the equal of pasture grass is consequently small. The saving in alfalfa hay alone will on many farms more than pay for the silo the first year.

In sections where Indian corn does not grow well the silo can be filled with Kaffir corn or sorghum, and the silo will preserve this feed in its green succulent state. Indian corn is the king of ensilage crops, but Kaffir or sorghum as compared with Indian corn is worth as much as the same feed in the ordinary way of curing is worth compared with Indian corn.

Dairy Gossip.

The winter cow may give a little less milk than the one upon pasture, but the difference in the price of butter fat more than makes up for this.

The milk vessels should be cleaned just as soon as possible after being used.

It is always a good plan to be on your guard when a man wants to sell you the best cow out of his herd.

The winter dairyman is the coming man, but he cannot afford to milk in a cold, dirty stable or barn. Let's have better cow barns.

The cow that loses flesh in October or November will be an expensive one to winter.

For Lice on Hogs.

For pigs that have lice use any of the commercial dips either by spraying or dipping or with brush. A bit of kerosene poured over the shoulders and backs will destroy the lice. If you are more or less troubled with lice a hog wallow made of cement or boards, water tight, in which some water and disinfecting material like the coal tar dips are placed, will be very effective, permitting the hogs to do their own disinfecting. It is likely that the hog quarters are infected with lice, so these ought to be cleaned out and sprayed or whitewashed.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. A Fatal Fall.

William Morris, a man 35 years of age, residing with his widowed mother, Mrs John Morris, Delta, is lying at St. Vincent de Paul Hospital with the base of his skull fractured. His death is hourly expected.

The accident which will cost Morris his life was sustained at 8.50 this morning at the B. W. & N. station. He came to Brockville last evening on the excursion train and took part in the celebration. He missed the train on the return trip and stopped here over night.

This morning the unfortunate man was at the station and was waiting for the departure of his train nearly an hour later. He was standing on the edge of the platform conversing with Collins Mullin when he became overbalanced and fell to the track below, a distance of between three or four feet. The back of his head struck the end of a tie and his back also landed heavily across one of the rails.

Morris was immediately picked up and taken into the waiting room. He was unconscious. Dr. Cornell was summoned and had the injured man removed to the hospital, but he has never regained consciousness and his death is only a matter of hours. He is a teamster and was born near Charleston. Besides his mother, one brother survives, Samuel at Soperton, and one sister, Mrs Thos. Ross in Athens. Brockville Recorder.
