Three Young Children Lose Their Lives When Fire Destroys Brick Farm Home In Isolated "Peat Bog" Saturday Afternoon

Saturday afternoon about 1.45, fire starting when three children were left alone destroyed the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Myles Casselman, three miles north of Chesterville, on the edge of what used to be known as the huckleberry marsh. The three children of the family, Jimmie 4 years, Dawn 3 years, and Ronnie, the baby, 5 months, lost their lives in the flames.

From more or less incoherent reports it is said Mrs. Myles Casselman, mother of the children after fixing the fire in the kitchen stove for the comfort of her children, left them alone while she went to Dalton Casselman's, a brother of her husband, thence to Jim Casselman's where her husband had preceeded her seeking assistance from Jim Casselman in administering medicine to the horse.

When Mrs. Casselman left her home everything was believed to be quite safe. It is a matter of a mile and a half from the burned home to Jim Casselman's and it would probably take more than half an hour to walk the distance. When she arrived there Miles Casselman was ready to return home with the horse and cutter. When about half way to their own home smoke was noticed coming from the building. Haste was made and an attempt made with a couple of neighbours, Cyrus Lang, who was hunting not very far away, and Dwight Marcellus, who had seen the smoke from his own place and hurried to give assistance if needed. An attempt was made by Myles Casselman to get in through a window to the kitchen where the children had been left but he was driven back when the flames rushed out. The fire is said to have been very intense near the stove in the kitchen at that time.

Some hours after the fire had burned itself out the remains of one of the children were found burned almost beyond identification. The remains of the other two were located the following morning.

Prov. Police Constable Wellesley, Morrisburg, and Constable Garnet McLean, Chesterville, were promptly on the scene and directed the searchers. Coroner Dr. Pollock, of Avonmore, was called and decided that an inquest would not be necessary.

The funeral of the three children was conducted privately yesterday afternoon at Henderson's Funeral Home, with Rev. W. H. Heustin, pastor of St. Andrew's taking the service.

The death of the children was the second major tragedy with loss of life in this district within almost sixteen months, the other tragedy being the death of six people at the level crossing with the CPR October 5th, 1945.

St. John's Church, Crysler, Ends Year With Surplus

St. John's Anglican Church, Crysler, held their Annual Meeting on February 2nd. Rev. Percy Clark opened the meeting with prayer and expressed his thanks for interest shown in the past. The financial report was read by Henry Armstrong, treas., and showed all expenses paid and a balance in the bank of $265.03. The Guild had $28 on hand and the W. A. reported Pledges paid in full and all other obligations met and had a balance of $4.41.

Officers for 1947 were appointed as follows:

Rector's Warden, Thomas Armstrong; People's Warden and Treasurer, Henry Armstrong; Vestry Clerk J. R. Cockburn; Lay Delegate, Wm. Armstrong; Sub., J. R. Cockburn; Sidesmen, Robert Armstrong, George Cockburn and George Johnstone.

At the close of the meeting Rev. Clark spoke a few words of appreciation to Mrs. Robert Armstrong, organist, and Thomas Armstrong, for his faithful services during the past years and Henry Armstrong, People's Warden, presented Mrs. Armstrong with a Waterman's fountain pen with iridium-tipped point. Both made a very fitting reply.

Link With Old-Time Resident Found Through Hockey Programme

Hubert Labre, hockey fan and collector of hockey souvenirs from all over Canada and the United States, has come up with an old-time link with a former Chesterville resident with the receipt of a letter from W. H. "Bill" Pearson, of Calgary Stampeders.

In request to a letter from Mr. Labre for a programme of the Calgary Stampeders, 1946 Allan Cup winners, the following letter accompanied a supply of programmes from the teams in the Western league, Calgary, Edmonton Flyers, Regina Capitals, Saskatoon Eiks and Lethbridge Maple Leafs:

"Dear Hubert: Does the Nation River still run the same as it used to some 45 years ago?

"I lived there then and played hockey for the Old Burg as my Father was minister there and my mother's relatives still live there.

"If you find any of the old boys there kindly remember me to them, and tell them I'd like to hear from them.

"Yours truly, 'Bill' Pearson. (W. H. Pearson, Arena Rink, Victoria Park, Calgary, Alta."

Bill "Pop" Pearson, veteran sportsman and trainer for the Calgary Stampeders, is known to about every hockey player and lacrosse star who ever played in Calgary, says an article in the Stampeders' programme. "Pop" combines the duties of trainer with those of "father confessor" for all players who come under his wing.

Included among the Stampeders' souvenirs received by Hubert Labre ic a beautiful picture of the players in western dress complete with ten-gallon hats, all riding on a float displaying their prowess in amateur hockey last year.

Heavy Fire Damage To Fine New Building Chesterville Co-Op

Friday morning last about 6.45 smoke was discovered by George Cass, coming from the fine new building of the Chesterville and District Co-Operative company on King street in this village. Mr. Cass immediately notified Police Chief Garnet McLean, who took quick action in turning in an alarm. He aroused Fred McLean in the building next to the Co-Operative, and had the manager, Mr. Sheridan very shortly on the spot.

The new pumper, after some delay in getting the alarm through to Nestle's, made a quick run to the hydrant on King street opposite the Baldry block, only to find that it was frozen. A change was made with a line of hose laid from the Bank corner.

The building was filled with dense smoke and the source of the fire was difficult to determine. After a stream was thrown inside it was eventually discovered in the basement and a hose carried through the smoke, after Jack Morris made use of a toy respirator most effectively.

The fire was confined to the northerly side of the basement where it appeared to have developed in unused egg cases. The floor above was burned near the office counter, which permitted motors and other equipment in stock to fall below. Smoke and water caused much damage to other stock on display and to feed stored in sacks. The damage is reported as about $3,000 covered by insurance.

The egg grading machinery was undamaged and has been transferred to the building recently occupied by the Co-Operative and business goes on as usual.

Interesting Appointment

Mr. William Maxwell Murray of Toronto was appointed Assistant General Manager of Canada Vinegars Ltd., at the Annual Meeting of that company, which was held at Toronto on January 28th. Canada Vinegars Ltd. is one of Canada's major industries, comprising several large plants extending across the Dominion from Vancouver, B.C. to Halifax, N.S.

Mrs. Murray, is well-known in this locality, being the former Miss Laura Munro, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Enos Munro of Nation Valley.

Previous to his recent appointment, Mr. Murray was manger of the company's plant at Kingston. He is a son of Mr. D. B. Murray and the late Mrs. Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray have taken up residence in Toronto.

POSTHUMOUS AWARD OF R.C.A.F. OPERATIONAL WINGS

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. MacMillan have received the Operational Wings and Certificate in recognition of the gallant services of their son, the late Flying Officer Hubert J. MacMillan, killed in action during the bombing of Cleve, preparatory to the Canadian Army crossing the Rhine.

Accompanying the award was this letter from the R.C.A.F. Headquarters:

"It is a privilege to have the opportunity of sending you the Operational Wings and Certificate in recognition of the gallant services rendered by your son, Flying Officer H. J. MacMillan.

"I realize there is little which may be said or done to lessen your sorrow, but it is my hope that these "wings", indicative of operations against the enemy, will be a treasured memento of a young life offered on the altar of freedom of his Home and Country.

"Yours very sincerely, W. A. Dicks, Wing Commander, for Chief of the Air Staff."

Air Board Grants Charter To Fawcett Air Services

R. H. Fawcett, Dunbar, has been notified by the Air Transport Board that his charter has been granted to operate non-scheduled air service, sight-seeing trips and a flying instruction school at Cornwall. It is expected to start in the near future on the base, just east of Cornwall, and also for the "nose hangar" to be built at the base.

Float gear has arrived for the present aircraft, a Piper Cub, license No. CF-DAQ. It had been planned an amphibian craft would be available shortly, but since delivery date is very indefinite, a second light plane, an Aeronca Chief, has been ordered and will be in service by the time the base is ready, Mr. Fawcett says.

This will be the only seaplane base and seaplane flying school in Ontario east of Toronto on the St. Lawrence River, Personnel at the base will include, besides the owner, an aero engineer flying instructor and bookkeeper.

Legionaires Lose 5-4 Protest Maxville Using Cornwall Players

Spotting Maxville Millionaires two goals early in the first period, Chesterville Legionaires tied the score and went ahead 4-3 in the second period, but succumbed to persistent attacks in the last period and lost a 5-4 count. At the end of the first frame, the officials of the Legionaires had decided to protest the alleged use of Cornwall men on the Maxville line-up.

A crowd of over 700 attended the game, which was one of the best seen on local ice this season. Play was clean and fast, and the score would just about indicate the play.

The win puts Maxville one point ahead of the Legionaires for first place in the COVL standing, and Winchester's 13-9 drubbing at the hands of Finch last night places them in third position with 10 points.

The schedule winds up with Winchester playing here next Thursday night, while Maxville and Finch-Berwick exchange a home series Saturday and Monday. Unless Maxville lose both these games they are assured of first place. Should Chesterville take Winchester to town in the last game and Maxville drop one to Finch, the Millionaires would head the race, with Chesterville a close second.

A GREAT PROJECT OF CO-OPERATION

Mahlon Zeron the well-known reeve of Matilda township, will head the representatives of the communities along the Nation River, from a short distance beyond Brockville to Wendover, where the Nation joins the Ottawa river, at a meeting in Ottawa, February 17th, when it will discuss the formation of an Authority Board. The powers of an Authority Board are granted at the request of the citizens of the municipalities affected. The representatives of these municipalities are those to meet in Ottawa, affected by the problem in controlling the waters of the South Nation River.

Every citizen in the area of the South Nation River will be affected by the decision to proceed with the undertaking or not to undertake it. It is a great co-operative movement which must stand behind the Authority and agree to finance the undertaking if it is to be brought to a successful conclusion.

It is a long term project with the cost spread over a term of twenty years. It is believed the Federal Government and the Provincial Government will each assume one third of the cost. The balance would entail a very small cost to the individual taxpayer within the watershed.

The South Nation River drains land from eight of the eleven Counties comprising Eastern Ontario, or if you wish, Zone No. 5, of the Ontario Conservation and Reforestation Association. Its source is located four miles north of Brockville, in Leeds County. It runs through Grenville County, crossing Highway No. 16 at Spencerville, enters Dundas County at Heckston, crossing Highway No. 31 at Cass Bridge, runs into Stormont between Chesterville and Crysler, then into Russell near St. Albert, going through Casselman. then into Prescott County at Lemieux. From there it runs north to Pendleton, then east to Riceville, taking a bend at Fournier, then north to Plantagenet Springs, crosses the C.P.R. short line, and Plantagenet village proper, and running north-west to Jessop Falls, it empties into the Ottawa River near Wendover. The length of the river, as the crow flies, is 75 miles, or, if we are to consider its main bends and meanders, approximately 100 miles with a slope of 245 feet. The widest point of the drainage system is 35 miles.

Government engineers have surveyed about half the distance beginning in the vicinity of Brockville and it is the Government's intention to finish the survey this coming summer. Plans will be drawn showing every detail of the work and estimate of the probable cost to carry it through. With so many interested communities co-operating the cost will be divided between those communities receiving benefit.

There have been two or three such authorities granted in the province with the greatest profit to the communities. There is no reason to expect it would be different with the South Nation River. Forests will be restored, excess water will be harnessed and use made of it as required. The landscape will change with forest growth and the appearance of small lakes. Arrable land will blossom like the rose.

Co-operation in all details is the watchword. Mr. O. L. King with Mr. Eric Casselman, alternate, will be your representative at the Ottawa meeting.

Tuesday there was buried in Ottawa one of that city's outstanding business men. More than half a century ago Hugh Carson, then a great lacrosse player, was the ideal of the writer as a great athlete, when the former was a High School student in the day of Canada's national sport. Hugh Carson at the time played lacrosse with Shelburne in Western Ontario.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT

The following paper was prepared by Mrs. Byron Campbell and read at last week's meeting of the Women's Institute by Mrs. Eric Casselman.

As Plato has said, "The noblest of all studies is the study of what man should be and how he should live,'. We suppose that in these small studies of citizenship we are endeavoring to follow the advice of the great philosopher. Local Government being very important, we thought it would be well to give a little time and thought to this matter.

It seems rather futile to carp at the politicians and bewail the fact, "our country and the rest of the world is going to the dogs", if we are unable to govern ourselves with democracy in our own home town. Local government is responsible for such intimate duties as garbage collection, police and fire protection, welfare, health, town planning etc. In this way it touches our daily lives more regularly than any other form of government. It is also true that at no other point is it as easy for the ordinary citizens to play an effective role as in the government of his own community. Our Anglo Saxon traditions cause the importance of local government to be much recognized, and so, as much government as possible is carried out by the smaller units, problems of great importance only, being turned over to the larger unit, Provincial or Dominion.

Nobody is able to tackle local problems like local people. It is much easier to go to the city or town hall to complain about an injustice, than it would be to get the interest of some distant official in Ottawa.

This, you will see, gives good reason for broad local power. The ordinary citizen has less interest in the government farther away and finds it harder to bring his weight to bear. Local government can and should be a grand training school for democracy, as much of democratic procedure and administration can be learned in the local council, and board of education and so, that which is learned in the small area can be taken out to broader fields. In the more intimate questions of local government, the average citizen can learn to evaluate issues, know the candidates, and compare election promises with results, in a way that is more difficult on broad national issues.

The keystone of healthy democracy is efficient local government and is a guarantee against centralization and bureaucracy. In Canada local governments are under control of the Provincial governments. Each Provincial government incorporates municipalities and determines their power and duties. Each province has a different body of law governing municipal affairs. In all provinces except Quebec and Prince Edward Island there is a Department of Municipal Affairs and this department is in close contact with each local government. As there exist about three thousand nine hundred units across Canada, varying in size, population and problems, you will realize the pattern of municipal government varies, not only between one province and another, but within each province.

The one main distinction which can definitely be made is the difference between rural and urban municipalities. As our local government is under the former heading, we will thus give the greater consideration to rural municipalities, which are known by different names in different provinces. In Nova Scotia they are known as municipalites; in New Brunswick, counties and parishes; in Quebec, counties, townships and parishes; in Ontario, counties and townships; in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, rural municipalities; in Alberta, municipal districts, and in British Columbia, districts.

Two main methods of organizing these large rural units have been followed. In Ontario and Quebec the standard form is the county council. This council is not elected directly by the people but is composed of the chief elected officials in the various smaller units such as the villages and townships within the county. Each of these lesser divisions is governed by a reeve and councillor. The reeve and deputy reeves serve as the county council. From among its number, the members of the county council elect their own presiding officer who is known as the Warden or Prefect of the county. (Kenzie McGillivray, 47-year-old Reeve of Finch Township, was elected Warden for 1947, of the United Counties Council of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry).

In all rural municipalities the actual administration of the area is carried on by permanent officials appointed by the councillors such as the assessors, the clerk and the secretary-treasurer. The council is the final authority and to it belong all the general powers of self government.

Decisions as to who can vote in municipal elections vary greatly across the country. Most municipalities do restrict the voting power to those who own or rent property. Winnipeg, a notable exception, gives the vote to all adults regardless of property qualifications.

It seems a pity that so many citizens fail to avail themselves of the privilege of voting. It is said that in January 1945, only 28% of the qualified voters in Toronto voted in the municipal elections.

When local government was set up town planning, zoning, housing, etc, will be added we see the need of efficiency and quick executive action on the part of Councils.

More of municipal government is being carried on by boards appointed by the executives, such as harbour boards, library boards, hydro and transportation commissions.

The main taxing power was on real property tax accounts for 85% of their revenue. This was quite equitable, because older services such as police and fire protection bore a direct relationship to real estate values, but this is not so today, where welfare, libraries, recreation and many other services have been added and are very necessary. This causes a general feeling that the concentration of municipal taxes on real estate puts an unfair burden on one section of the taxpayers. The schools are treated as a separate part of municipal government. In both urban and rural municipalities, school boards are directly elected and are responsible for all school matters. Thus, although the schools obtain their money through the municipal councils, they are not under their control. Of course in supervising the schools, the school boards work directly with the provincial departments and receive grants and general policy from the province. As this essay is intended to pertain to the local view it is well, perhaps to mention while we are on the subject of education, the topic which is much under discussion namely, "The Establishment and Organization of the larger High School Areas." This matter was discussed at Counties' Council on Thursday last. How many of you know, which citizens represented Chesterville High School Board and of whom the delegation from Chamber of Commerce was comprised? It behooves every one to give much thought to this matter of larger school areas. Keep an open mind and listen well to all argument pro and con, because, as Mr. Morgan of the Department of Education is reported in Ottawa Journal to have stated, "There is no attempt by the Department to coerce, and no existing school area can be abolished or changed except by their own consent." By acquainting yourselves with all available information, you will be able to form intelligent opinions. Read well your local paper if in the nineteenth century, in Canada, the main jobs were police and fire protection. Today our municipalities have much more complicated responsibilities and in future face even greater. When we think of the present duties, health, welfare and those others previously mentioned and realize that in the not too distant future you would be well versed in the doings of your local Council, as reports of all meetings are faithfully reported. Last Thursday's paper carried headlines: — "Council Requests Highways Department Consider New Bridge".—How many of you know who will attend the Good Roads Association Annual Meeting? Who were appointed to represent Chesterville at the February meeting of the Nation River Authority, called in Ottawa by the Minister of Public Works?

Do you know who was appointed municipal auditor and at what salary?

Do you know of what committee your Reeve was appointed Chairman at Counties' Council meeting? It is only by becoming conversant with all matters pertaining to local government that people can vote intelligently and wisely. Your local government too, has to appoint police and fire chief and has also recently taken over the administration of library affairs.

Sir Richard Livingston, President of Corpus Christi College, Oxford, describes the world of today as "a world adrift". So it will be wonderful, if in time you will have access to books dealing with "Education for Citizenship", as the knowledge necessary to living must be imparted."

For we must all learn to think and establish a sense of values. The man afraid to think for himself follows the path others have made—and we must overcome this tramline mentality. There never was a time when the need was greater for men of fresh vision and people with courage to get off their mental tramlines en route for a greater destiny. There is always a price to pay for anything worthwhile and sometimes we risk laughter and ridicule in launching new ideas. Always remember the precious young people and don't forget that, if they, the youth of today, seem to have a 'don't care' attitude, if they feel that nothing they can say or do, can change the world, you may be sure they have caught the infection from their elders. A river is always flowing, sometimes quietly, sometimes with wild abandon, it has been said we cannot step twice in the same river, because the water we stepped in before has flowed away. Our lives are continually changing too, and so we must listen to new ideas, new approaches to old problems, because the brave new world we all envision will only be achieved as the result of individual effort. We do not need genius—if we are just ordinary citizens with our heads full of common sense and our feet firmly on the ground. It is told of the late King George V that after an outburst of loyalty and affection on the part of his people that he remarked "I don't understand it, I'm only a very ordinary fellow". The "ordinary fellow", simple, kind and human, gained the affection of his realm. The world needs genius but much of the world's sanest and most enduring work has been done by the plodding of ordinary citizens. Let's all help to keep the wheels of life a-turning.

I am indebted to pamphlet "Citizen and Local Government", for matters pertaining to structure of "Local Government."

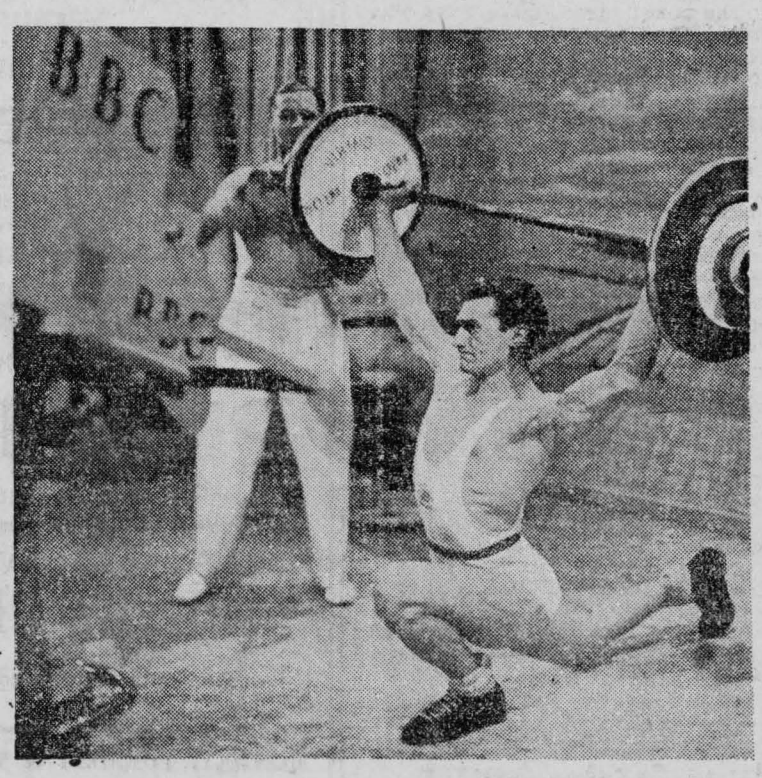

From Bruce Hutchinson's "Unknown Country".

Wondrous and sweet is our name, Canada! The very word is like a boy's shout in the springtime; is like the clamour of geese going north and the roar of melting rivers and the murmur of early winds.

The name of Canada itself is strange enough, like the cry of some wild sea bird. Some say it came from the Iroquois "Kanata"—a cabin or lodge; some from the Algonquin "odanah", a settlement.

There is also the legend of the Spanish sailors who, failing to find gold mines, cried: "Aca nada!"—There is nothing of value here.

Name—The splendid hope of our future.

WEIGHT-LIFTING AT ALEXANDRIA PALACE

E. Peppiatt, Britain's Amateur Weight-Lifting Middleweight Champion for 1945, facing the British Broadcasting Corporation's television cameras.

At Alexandria Palace recently, a weight-lifting contest took place between W. Watson, the Middleweight Champion for 1946, and E. Peppiatt. The contest was decided on the three "Olympic Lifts"—"Two Hands Clean and Press", "Two Hands Snatch", and "Two Hands Clean and Jerk". Each lifter had three trials at each lift, and the best result at each trial was recorded, and at the end the poundage was totalled. It is not enough to be able to lift the weights overhead just anyhow, for when the weights are up to shoulder height, the contestants have to wait for the judge to clap his hands, and then the weights have to be held in position for at least two seconds. During this demonstration, the two men almost succeeded in lifting three hundred pounds, but they began to tremble, and it was fortunate that some BBC men were standing by to take the weight as otherwise the three-hundred-pound weights would have crashed right through the floor.

Both the men have just represented Great Britain at the World's Championship in Paris, and they told of the Egyptian competitors who called upon Allah for help, and then gripped the weights. Our men felt that this was putting Britain at a disadvantage.

Chamber Commerce Suggests New Home Tax Exemption

Acting on the suggestion of E. B. Lynch, chairman of the Industrial Committee of The Chesterville Chamber of Commerce, Chesterville Village Council instructed Reeve P. S. Boyd to request information from the Ontario Municipal Board as to the possibilities of tax exemption as an inducement to the building of new homes in the village.

Like every other centre in Canada today, the housing shortage in Chesterville is drastic, and will become more so with the erection of the large addition to the plant of Nestle's Milk Products (Can.) Ltd., planned to commence as soon as possible in the spring.

The suggestion made was that new homes might be exempt from municipal taxes for a period of two to five years, as a special inducement. The reference was made to the granting of fixed assessments to industrial concerns setting up in a municipality, and it was considered fair to consider such a plan for prospective builders of homes at this time.

Reeve Boyd will appear before the Municipal Board on other matters soon, and he will bring this suggestion to the attention of that body.

At Tuesday night's session, Council gave permission to the Navy League of Canada to hold a tag day in Chesterville, and authorized the Clerk to purchase a new flag for the Community Hall flag pole.

Reeve Boyd stated he had no difficulty at Counties' Council in procuring the granting of an "easement" for the passage of the outlet for the proposed Church Street sewer through the United Counties' Reforestration Plot.

Council met at 7.00 p.m., and was through the night's business at nine o'clock, something of a record.

IN MEMORIAM

HALL—In loving memory of my dear husband and grandfather, David Hall, who was taken from us one year ago, February 4th, 1946.

A beautiful memory dearer than gold
Of a husband whose worth can never be told;
Alone, unseen, he stands by my side,
And whispers "don't grieve, death cannot divide";
Deep in my heart the memory is kept
Of a husband and grandfather we love and will never forget;
And although the years be many or few,
I'll always be thinking, dear husband of you.

Sadly missed and always remembered by wife Alice and grandchildren, Gerald and Arnold Smith.

IN MEMORIAM

HALL—In loving memory of our dear Dad, David Hall, who was taken from us one year ago February 4th, 1946.

Oh, what would I give to clasp your hand, your dear kind face to see,
Your loving smile, your welcome voice, that meant so much to me.
No one knows the silent heartache,
Only those who have lost can tell,
Of the grief that is borne in silence,
For the one we loved so well.
'Tis sweet to remember a daddy, so dear;
So absent from us, yet ever so near.
Unseen by the world he stands by our side,
And whispers, "dear children, death cannot divide".

Too dearly loved to ever be forgotten. Daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith.

Brotherhood of Man Foundation of Citizenship

If we are to prove ourselves worthy of the title "Canadians", as citizens of a country that is the envy of all nations, we must awaken as individuals to shape our democratic way of life, and think of our fellow men as brothers under the fathership of God, Rev. Michael J. O'Brien, parish priest of St. Bernard's, Finch, told the Rotary Club of Chesterville when he spoke on "Citizenship" at Monday evening's meeting.

P. S. Boyd paid tribute to the life of Paul P. Harris, beloved founder of Rotary, who passed away last week and who had lived to see the movement he commenced in Chicago at the turn of the century with three companions grow into an international organization of "service above self."

Canadians have the right to designate themselves as such with the proclaiming of the Canadian Citizenship Act the first of the year, the first time that privilege has been a reality since Confederation 79 years ago, said Father O'Brien. The Act defines Canadians as British subjects, and was enacted to establish a common status of Canadian people and bring them together as Canadians.

Impressing upon his listeners the responsibilities they hold as Canadian citizens, Father O'Brien stated we must make ourselves worthy of the title. "This is a good country to live in, we like our way of life, and since we had the opportunity in the past few years to look into other countries and observe their ways of living we are much happier to be in Canada," he said.

We must forget our narrow provincial thoughts and turn to the national outlook if we are to hold onto our democratic privileges. Painful happenings are soon forgotten, and the marvellous spirit of brotherhood exemplified during the war years has disappeared. When war broke in 1939 Canadians realized their selfish thoughts of safety no longer held, and aside went racial and religious intolerance, narrow provincialism, and the God—so often forgotten—was again invoked.

The boys rallied about their leaders and went to the defence of Canada, to preserve their way of living and make their homeland a better place in which to live. "Alas", said Father O'Brien, "many of these heroes never returned. Disappointment faced many of the boys when they came home. They had dreams of a better Canada, and felt they had a right to do something about it, but they hadn't a chance—we were back in our selfish ways again. The war had ended, but total peace was not yet found."

There has been much criticism since September of the efforts of representatives at the peace conference. But the peace treaties they are struggling to draw up will never endure unless we back them up, by putting into action what these treaties involve.

Religion underlies citizenship. There is no real man without religion,—if a man is not true to his innermost sentiments how can he be true to others, and much less to his country? The scourge of atheist Communism is among us and must be combatted. Only recently Tim Buck stated that within 10 years all Europe would be Communist. It is up to us as individuals to stem that growth.

J. Francis Moriarty introduced the speaker, and the thanks of the club was expressed by L. A. David.

Wins Coveted Surgery Degree From Edinburgh University

Many friends and acquaintances will be pleased to know that Dr. J. E. Leddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Leddy, the former Tessie Dwyer of this place, has won the coveted FRCS degree from Edinburgh University on completion of a post graduate course in surgery. Dr. Leddy, now returning home after 5½ years overseas, was awarded an arts degree by the University of Saskatchewan in 1930 and graduated from McGill in medicine in 1936. He then practised medicine in Timmins, Ont., and Delisle, Saskatchewan and later served as resident surgeon in St. Michael's hospital, Toronto. Having enlisted in the RCAMC during the war, he was attached to No. 6 Casualty Clearing Station and landed in France with the First Canadian Army. When hostilities ended he was sent as surgical specialist to No. 24 Canadian General Hospital in England with the rank of Major and on discharge in 1945, entered Edinburgh University.

Dr. Leddy's brother Francis, a Rhodes scholar, was awarded a doctorate in philosophy from Oxford University in 1938.

IN MEMORIAM

BELWAY—In loving memory of our dear sister, Mrs. Russell Belway (nee Mary Smith), who died three years ago February 4th.

They say time heals all sorrows,
And helps one to forget,
But time so far has only proved
How much we miss her yet.
God gave us strength to bear it,
And courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose her,
No one will ever know.

Ever remembered by her sisters, Hazel, Marjorie and Ellen.

Cheering Crowds Bid Farewell To the Royal Family

There were masses of flags, crescendos of cheers and whistling, jostling crowds packing every inch of Portsmouth's waterfront — just as there was at Southampton eight years ago when the King and Queen embarked for Canada.

This time the Royal subjects had extra lung power in reserve for the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret who, with their faces eager and glowing, walked behind their parents up the wide, crimson gangplank of the monster, greyclad HMS Vanguard, which sailed for South Africa at daybreak, Saturday.

Princess Elizabeth, in a green-brimmed hat, green coat and wedge shoes, looked like any other 20-year-old leaving her homeland for the first time—breathlessly excited, but just a little wistful as she glanced back quickly at the snowbound shores of home.

Princess Margaret was more nonchalant. Wearing a light pink coat and a small togue perched on her dark brown curls, she walked behind her sister, her eyes roving curiously up over the slanting grey funnels, massive gun turrets and towering crow's nest from which were suspended bright flags.

Below, on the wet stone wharf, newly swept clear of snow, a Royal Marines guard of honor stood at attention with bayonetted rifles, unmoved by the crowd's cheers.

When the King, wearing naval uniform, set foot on deck, the Royal Standard fluttered to the masthead where it will be flood-lighted every night on the 17-day voyage. From aboard the ship came the muffled notes of "God Save The King" played by the Royal Marines (Portsmouth Division) band, which is accompanying the Royal Tour. From nearby Portsmouth Naval Station, a 21-gun salute thundered. The full length of the Vanguard's 813-foot deck was packed with sailors and marines.

Earlier, as the Royal train pulled into Portsmouth Station from London hundreds of bare-headed citizens stood in the snow-covered fields near the railway and raised a cheer through the winter air.

The RAF sent planes roaring over the quayside and army and navy units, specially drilled for the occasion, paraded colorfully on the docks as the party went aboard decks which had been swept of every drop of an early morning snow.

Early today in London, milling crowds cheered and waved along the route from Buckingham Palace to Waterloo Station, and thousands more inside the station shouted goodbyes. Prime Minister Attlee and several of his cabinet shook hands with the King and joined in a great hurrah as the train pulled out.

The 6,500-mile voyage without a stop to South Africa and the 10,000-mile train, motor and airplane tour of the Dominion will provide a first view of any overseas part of the Empire for Princess Elizabeth, heir presumptive to the Throne, and her sister, and a postwar holiday for the rest of the family.

W. H. Harper New President Dunbar Presbyterian Y.P.S.

The annual meeting of the Dunbar Presbyterian Y. P. S. was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Beckstead Friday evening, January 31st, 1947. A short devotional service was conducted by the President, after which annual reports were given by the Secretary and the Treasurer, which showed the society had done excellent work during the past year.

All financial obligations were met. The church roof was painted, flowers sent to the sick, contributions made to the different branches of the church work and closed the year with a substantial balance in the treasury.

After the business part of the meeting, all offices were declared vacant and Mr. Arthur Merkley was appointed chairman for the election of officers which resulted in the following officers being elected:

Hon. Presidents, Rev. Mr. Heustin and Mr. Frank Todd; Past President, Miss Mina Marcellus; President, W. H. Harper; Vice President, Mrs. Arza Beckstead; Secretary, Mrs. W. H. Harper; Treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Merkley; Worship Convenor, Mrs. Arza Beckstead; Christian Education, Rev. Mr. Heustin; Fellowship, Geo. Crawford; Service Convener, Mrs. Levi Merkley; Auditors, Messrs. Elmer McMillan and Frank Todd.

The meeting closed with the singing of "Blest Be The Tie That Binds" and the Mizpah Benediction. A dainty lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed by all. A hearty vote of thanks was given Mr. and Mrs. Beckstead and the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows", brought a most successful annual meeting to a close. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Marcellus, Friday evening, February 14th, when the installation services will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Heustin.

A visitor found Smith playing chess with his dog.

Mighty smart dog you've got there," said the visitor.

"He ain't so smart," said Smith. "I beat him three out of four."

"My, what a funny looking cow," gushed the chic young thing from the city. "Why doesn't it have horns?"

"There are various reasons why a cow doesn't have horns," patiently explained the farmer. "Some are born without horns and do not grow them until late in life. Others are dehorned; yet others never have them. The reason why this particular cow does not have horns is because it's not a cow, it's a horse."

The Week's Highlight From .. CBC

News Round-Up

Heard over CBC Trans-Canada network Monday to Friday at 10.15 p.m. EST.

Anybody who follows the sport of fishing knows that actual fishing is only fifty percent of it, or even less. There's the planning and the preparation, the collection of tackle, and the dreaming of fishing trips to come.

Here in Toronto, an association of over 1,000—mostly men but nearly 100 women—spend the whole winter furiously fishing in their imaginations. They're the Toronto Anglers' and Hunters' Association, and I've just attended their regular casting meeting. Yes, sir—casting.

You walk into a downtown building which has a large gymnasium, and there at one end, standing elbow to elbow, is a solid rank of men of all ages from 17 to 70, and a dozen women, business girls and anglers' wives. They're casting, with bait casting rods, using dummy wooden plugs, at targets laid on the floor, 40, 60 or 80 feet from them.

There were over a hundred members out to cast, though it was a very nasty winter's night outside. Men of all ages and degrees: doctors, bakers, engineers, salesmen, high school students, a bank manager, a printer, a painter and decorator.

It's quite a sight to see these people seriously and solemly casting with dummy baits in the midst of January at targets on the big gymnasium floor. Older members are organized as teachers to show the novices the tricks of throwing artificial lures. They're supposed to be learning and practising in readiness for the coming spring. But somehow, as I watched them, I could tell by their expressions that it was more than that for them. That big gymnasium floor was not a floor, but a pool, a bay, a well-remembered bit of river or lake, and here they were, dreaming of last year and the year that is coming. They were fishing, in their imaginations. A very, very, happy throng of lovely impractical people in this unpleasantly practical world. Off in a side room, twenty members were taking a lesson in fly-tying from the club expert, and trout flies were appearing by magic on the tip of a tiny vise—flies of feather, tinsel, thread and a diminutive hook.

Next week, it'll be rod making. Of course, these are the more realistic members. They're making things. But in that big room, filled with the soft hum of fishing reels, the patter of half a hundred dummy plugs tapping on the floor targets—ah, there are the dreamers.

Janice Carbino, Grantley, Wins Ten Dollar Prize in Poster Contest

Among those winning $10.00 cash prizes in the recent Fish and Wildlife Poster Contest were, Jimmy Steele, Kemptville, and Janice Carbino, S. S. No. 17 and 24 Williamsburg, RR1, Chesterville. Eastern Ontario is grouped as the Rideau district. Throughout the province 113 boys and girls were winners of prizes. The first, second and third grand prizes were $100, $75 and $50, in addition to their $10 awards. The winners of the grand prizes and their posters are shown herewith.

The Lands and Forests Department's object in putting on this contest was to use it as a means in stimulating interest in and understanding of fish and wildlife conservation, as the department realizes that without understanding and support on the part of the people it cannot expect to develop effective management of these resourles. It is felt that if new generations will develop a sound attitude toward this subject, the future will be pretty well assured. A second consideration was the stimulation afforded in art improvement.

KEEP BEE COLONIES AT SAME NUMBER

No further expansion of bee colonies was recommended by the 1946 Dominion - Provincial Agricultural Conference. With the present number and the yield equal to the five-year 1940-44 average of 75 pounds per colony, the 1947 crop of 40 million pounds would be the second largest on record. If however yields return to the pre-war average of 93 pounds per colony a record crop of 50 million pounds will be harvested. In recommending the present level of colony numbers for 1947 the Conference also gave consideration to the fact that the present almost unlimited demand for honey was due in great part to the shortage of sugar and scarcity of jams, jellies and syrups.

That demand has been further strengthened by the rationing regulations which permit purchases of four pounds of honey per coupon compared with 24 fluid ounces of jams and jelly and one pound of sugar. With the relaxation of sugar rationing, a sharp drop in honey consumption as well as in price is to be expected.

The disposing of the Canadian crop of honey at prices which would give producers a reasonable return under conditions of normal sugar supply is largely a question of distribution and grading. Considerable attention is at present being given to that subject by various trade and government agencies. Many people who formerly were not users of honey are now buying considerable quantities as a result of sugar rationing. To maintain that demand in competition with jams, jellies and other competitive sweets when rationing no longer exists will require a marketing system which will ensure equitable distribution and a uniform, well-graded product.

Going Up And Down

An airman had to take to his parachute because of engine trouble. On his way through space he met an old lady floating up.

"Hey!" he shouted. "Have you noticed a Spitfire going down?"

"No," replied the old lady. "Have you seen a gas stove going up?"

FORWARD

By Sarah Chauncey Woolsey

Long was the way, and steep and hard the climb;
Sore are my limbs, and fain I am to rest.
Behind me lie long sandy tracks of time;
Before me rises the steep mountain crest.
Let me stand still; the journey is half done,
And when less weary I will travel on.

There is no standing still! Even as I pause,
The steep path shifts and I slip back a pace.
Movement was safety; by the journey-laws
No help is given, no safe abiding-place,
No idling in the pathway hard and slow:
I must go forward, or must backward go!

I will go up then, though the limbs may tire,
And though the path be doubtful and unseen;
Better with the last effort to expire
Than lose the toil and struggle that have been,
And have the morning strength, the upward strain,
The distance conquered, in the end made vain.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! This week the decorations on school windows remind us of a special event known as Valentine's Day. We must have a party! Food for children should be plain. . . Red Jelly moulds and fruits for a salad plate followed by ice cream and cookies or plain cake and cocoa will make them happy.

Grown-ups also appreciate attractive food on this occasion, so here are recipes that will fit into the predominant colour of Valentine's Day.

BEETS IN HORSERADISH SAUCE

2 tbsps. flour, 1 cup sour cream, 1 tbsp. prepared horseradish, 1 tsp. vinegar, salt and pepper, 3 cups cooked sliced beets, 3 tbsps. beet juice.

Mix the flour and the sour cream until smooth and cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thickened. Add the horseradish and vinegar and season with salt and pepper. Add the beets and the beet juice. Six servings. Chill in electric refrigerator.

FEBRUARY SALAD

Season cottage cheese with fruit juice, chill and put in lettuce cups. Cut thin slices of cored apples leaving on the red skin, and insert in cheese.

VALENTINE CHIFFON PIE

Make enough pastry for two-crust pie. Bake a pie shell and eight small cut-out heart-shaped pastry pieces—put pieces on separate pie plate to cook. Temperature for pastry is 425 degrees for 8 mins.

Filling: Heat 3 cups thick sweetened applesauce; 1 cup of raspberry flavoured custard and stir together. Chill until slightly thickened. Pour into pie shell and top with pastry hearts.

CHERRY SUPREME

Thicken 2 cups of cherry juice until almost stiff. (It depends upon the kind of starch you use whether 4 or 6 tbsps. softened in ½ cup of the cold juice is enough.) Add 1 cup cherries and an ⅛ tsp. anise flavouring. Keep hot in a double boilen. Pour over slice of ice cream as you serve it.

HOLIDAY COOKIES

1 cup shortening, ½ cup brown sugar, ½ cup white sugar, 1 egg, 2 tbsps. orange juice, 1 tbsp. orange rind (grated), 2¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour, ¼ tsp. soda, ½ cup nut meats (broken).

Cream shortening and add sugars gradually, while beating constantly. Add egg (well-beaten), orange juice and orange rind. Sift flour, soda and salt together and add with the broken nut meats. Form into rolls, wrap in waxed paper. Store in electric refrigerator until ready to use. Slice thin, place on greased cookie sheets. Bake at 375 degs. for 12 to 15 mins. (Makes about 3 doz. small cookies.) These cookies may be decorated with red gumdrops during baking.

THE QUESTION BOX

Miss G. R. asks: for easily and quickly prepared supper plates:

(1) Omelette, cold cut-beans seasoned with onion juice and creamed corn.
(2) Chili Con Carne (brown ½ lb. ground beef and add 1 can kidney beans with 2 cups tomatoes) and cabbage salad.
(3) Open Macaroni Pie (add to 3 cups cooked macaroni, 1 cup diced cooked meat, 1 can condensed consomme and top with 1|3 cup chili sauce), grated raw carrots and raisins, and hot cup beans.

Mrs. G. T. asks: for macaroon recipe using bread crumbs:

ORANGE MACAROONS

½ cup flour, 1½ tsps. baking powder, ½ tsp. salt, 2 eggs, 2¾ or 3 cups soft bread crumbs (depending on size of eggs), ¼ cup melted butter, 2|3 cup white sugar, 2 tsps. grated orange rind, 1 tbsp. orange juice.

Set electric oven at 400 degrees. Sift the flour, measure it, add the baking powder and salt, sift again. Beat the eggs until light, stir in the melted butter (cooled). Add the sugar gradually, beating with a rover beater. Add orange rind and juice. Add the dry ingredients and crumbs. Drop by teaspoons, 2 inches apart on a greased baking sheet. Bake in a hot oven for 10 minutes, until brown. Makes 1½ to 2 dozen.

Miss M. J. describes a cornucopia dish and asks how it was made:

BOLOGNA CORNUCOPIAS

1 lb. bologna (sliced), 3 cups soft bread crumbs, ½ tsp. salt, 1 tsp. sage, ¼ tsp. pepper, 2 tbsps. minced onion, ½ cup diced celery, 1|3 cup melted butter, or clear drippings, 1 cup tomato juice (or tomato soup).

Fold single slices of bologna to form a funnel. Fasten each with a toothpick. Combine crumbs, salt, onion and celery. Pour the fat over the bread mixture. Fill the cornucopia, place in a shallow baking pan. Pour tomato juice, or tomato soup over the bologna. Bake in electric oven, 400 degs. for 15 to 20 mins.

Chesterville Red Cross Will Continue Work Under New Executive

With the newly elected Executive to further organize the peace-time activities of the Branch, the Chesterville Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, having completed its war-time work, will continue to function. At the meeting held in the Women's Institute Room on Monday evening of this week attended by 12 representatives of the local branch and Mrs. Harold Durant of the Boyne Unit, the whole matter of peacetime work of the Red Cross was again fully discussed and a unanimous decision to carry on was made.

The meeting was presided over by President P. S. Boyd with Mrs. L. H. Doering acting as Secretary in the absence of Mrs. Kenneth MacDonald. Minutes of the three previous meetings were read and adopted. The Treasurer, Francis Moriarty, reported a balance to date of $1769.00. Following the report of the nominating committee appointed at the meeting held last April of their inability to obtain a slate of officers, the meeting was thrown open for further discussion and for nominations for the whole Executive. The following were elected to office for the year 1947:

President, Mrs. George Merkley. Vice-President, Ronald Lynch; Secretary, Mrs. Ken MacDonald; Treasurer, Francis Moriarty.

To complete the Executive, a motion was passed to have the Secretary write to each Church in the Village, the Women's Institute and the Rotary Club, asking that a representative form each be named to the Executive and also that each of the District Units working with the Branch during the war be asked to appoint a representative before March 1st, if they desire to be included in the Branch organization. Mr. R. C. Dillabough was appointed Auditor for the year. It was also unanimously agreed that the meeting go on record as being desirous of providing assistance to the family who had recently been bereaved of their children in last Saturday's disastrous fire, the manner of assistance to be determined after definite details were known as to the greatest need.

Mr. Jas. J. Blacklock arrived in town this morning after spending several weeks with his sister, Mrs. McMillan, in Toronto.

Mr. Bertram Hummel spent the week-end with his father, Mr. William L. Hummel.

Miss Greta Marcellus spent a few days at the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Merkley of town.

Many Difficulties in Setting Satisfactory Farm Prices

Meeting at Eric Casselman's on Monday night, S. S. No. 10 with 11 members present, discussed the questios of how price for farm products should be determined.

It was generally agreed that the cost of production, as in any other business, should be the main factor in setting prices satisfactory to farmers. This sounds quite simple, but, unfortunately, there are complications such as the ability of the consumer to pay and the fact that some markets can produce more cheaply than we can. Altogether, this was too big a problem for even this forum to settle in one evening!

However, as one member pointed out, unless we have a strong nation-wide organization, backed by adequate funds and the whole-hearted support of each individual there is little we can do to improve our position. So let's take a lesson from labour and organize. A good way to start is to form a forum in your school section.

Next Monday, forum will meet at the home of Hudson Johnston with George Edgerton as convener.
