CHEO Golf Tournament

Record money raised

IROQUOIS – Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario supporters have outdone themselves once again at the Iroquois Golf Club's annual CHEO Golf Tournament.

The event, now in its fifth year, has seen a marked increase in support year after year.

"This year we raised a record $15,644 for CHEO," said tournament organizer Steve Martineau.

"That's $2,400 more than last year," he says, attributing the significant increase to "better silent auction support."

The money was raised through entry fees, corporate donations, hole sponsorship, raffles, the silent auction, and a golf-a-thon.

A special attraction this year was the participation of longtime CHEO supporter, and telethon co-host, Wayne Rostad.

After golfing through the day, an experience which Rostad says "was humbling," he entertained participants for over an hour, including "the song that has raised so much for CHEO," Christmas in the Valley.

Martineau, was even coaxed into getting on stage and joining Rostad for a song.

In addition to raising money for CHEO, money was also raised for local organizations,

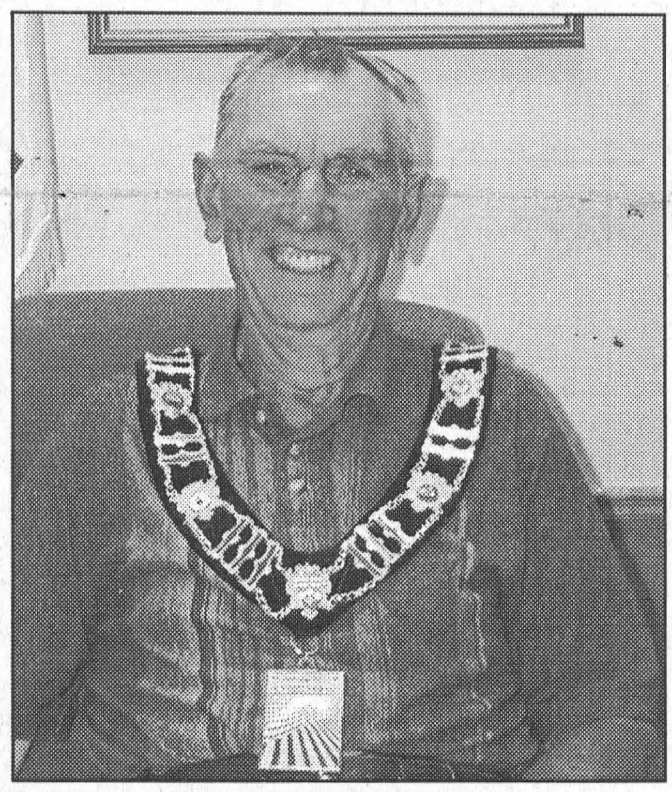
Johnny Whitteker will run for mayor

WILLIAMSBURG – South Dundas Mayor Johnny Whitteker, the man who has been adamant about keeping his "toe in the door," of municipal politics threw it wide open last Thursday night and walked through it, declaring that he will run for reelection.



Mayor Johnny Whitteker

"I will let my name stand," said Whitteker.

"There are a lot of big decisions to make in South Dundas in the next three years," he says, and points out, he wants to be part of them.

The mayor would like to see the ongoing water treatment plant project to its conclusion, and then "get on to the sewers."

"We need to move as quickly as possible."

Whitteker also wants to be a part of the decision making process concerning the future of the Iroquois Golf Club, and the fibre optics network.

"Municipal politics have been a life time for me," he says. "That's all I know."

Whitteker is in his 49th consecutive year in municipal politics, and should he be reelected he will reach the 50 year milestone.

He says however, that the milestone was not part of his decision.

"I enjoy it." Whitteker says, he wants to remain a part of the council of the township of South Dundas, as long as he has his health.

"We'll give the people of South Dundas a choice, and my name will be there on the ballot."

Capacity crowd at Doran Bay meeting

WILLIAMSBURG – South Dundas Council has no intention of making a decision about a zoning by-law and official plan amendment requested by the owners of Doran Bay Resorts until "later in September, at the earliest," but a public meeting was held last Thursday evening to gauge public opinion.

Ratepayers packed council chambers to capacity, filling the over 40 seats and standing around the room, and out into the hallway.

The current zoning on Doran Bay Resort lands is Commercial Tourist, which permits the existing cabin rental business, as well as the proposed expansion to include an RV park, as part of the approved land-uses.

The application being considered by council is to rezone a part of Ontario Power Generation (OPG) lands to Commercial Tourist, to change the official plan designation of the developer's lands and part of OPG lands to Tourist Commercial, and to reduce the required 15 meter setback between neigbouring residential land to 4.5 meters.

The municipality received 10 written objections from the public, and before hearing any additional comments, South Dundas CAO, Andy Brown, and planner, Donald Lewis summarized and addressed these concerns.

Many residents of the Saver Road area expressed concerns that the proposed expansion could put their water supply in jeopardy.

According to Brown, the municipality and developer have taken measures to ensure this doesn't happen, by making Doran Bay Resorts eligible to connect to the municipal water transmission line that will run between Morrisburg and Iroquois. All of the costs associated with the connection will be borne by the developer.

Brown said that concerns over septic systems, will be addressed by the Ministry of the Environment which requires full engineering and design approval to provide assurances that no leaching or contamination takes place.

Brown said there will be no vehicular access to the Doran Bay property from Grisdale Boulevard, and that no modifications to County Road 2 are necessary for the proposed development.

A 71-foot strip of OPG land, at the east side of the Doran Bay property, is no longer

Four nominations for councillor

WILLIAMSBURG – Only one month before the September 26 nomination deadline for the upcoming municipal election, South Dundas residents are finally finding out who their choices will be.

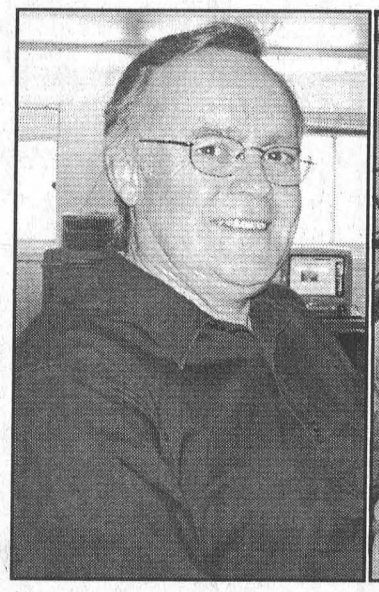
Nominations opened up January 1, of this year, and Iroquois Ward councillor Bill Ewing was the first to file nomination papers in January.

At that time, the others currently sitting on council believed it was still too early to decide.

South Dundas Mayor Johnny Whitteker said he would like to make his announcement six months before the November 10, election.

That time came and went, and now just one month before the deadline Whitteker has decided he will seek a third term as mayor of South Dundas.

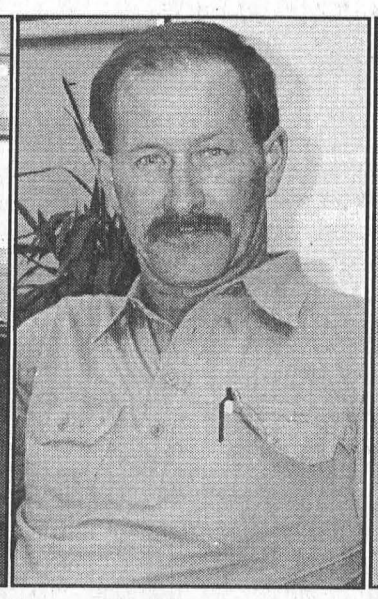
Also filing his nomination papers last week was Richard Zandbergen. An Iroquois resident, he will run against Ewing for Iroquois Ward councillor.



Richard Zandbergen Iroquois

Zandbergen ran for municipal government about 15 years ago in Matilda Township and in Iroquois.

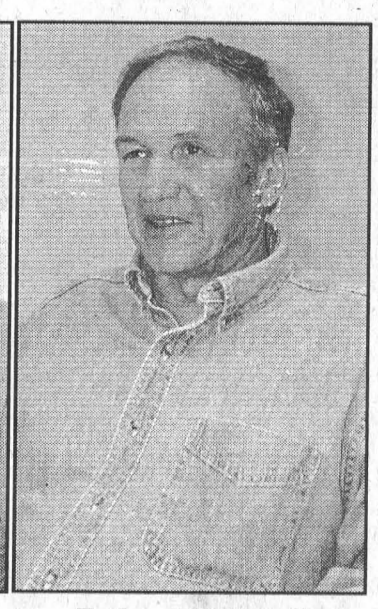
"I decided I would try it again," says Zandbergen. "I think I can do well for the municipality."



Bill Ewing Iroquois

Zandbergen says by putting in his name he will, "create a forum for discussion."

"Without an election there is no debate," and he looks forward to discussing important issues such as, the Iroquois Golf Club, the municipal tendering process and fibre optics.



Robert Gillard Williamsburg

Councillor for the Williamsburg Ward, Robert Gillard, is prepared to file his nomination papers and will seek reelection in the position he has held for two terms.

Councillor Charles Barkley said Friday, he had made up his mind and did not want to wait until the last minute to let people know he would be seeking reelection.

"I will try to stay on as councillor of Matilda Ward."

Barkley was planning to make an announcement at the September 4, council meeting, but instead decided to follow suit when Whitteker and Gillard made their decisions known.

Morrisburg Ward councillor Cam Martel has not yet announced his intentions.

Early this year he was "more positive than not," about seeking a third term on South Dundas council.

The deadline for filing nomination papers is 5 p.m. September 26, 2003.

Nominees must choose where they will run, and what position they are seeking.

Property owners in South Dundas can seek election in any of the four wards.

Candidates can withdraw their names, change the location or position they are seeking for the November 10 election until September 29, 2003.

Closing time

Watson's General Store closed its doors last Saturday. Here Barbara Watson, who has stood behind this counter for 34 years, rings in the final few sales before closing time.

Watson's General Store now closed

DIXON'S CORNERS – A mainstay at the corner of Brinston and Cook Roads, Watson's General Store closed its doors for the final time Saturday.

Barbara Watson, who has spent the last 34 years behind the counter of the convenience store, "hates to see them go," but says, "trying to compete with franchises, makes it harder to stay open."

Of her time in the store she says, "I wouldn't change anything I ever did. It has been fun."

"Over the years, I've spent a long time talking to the people. We've had a lot of laughs, and even solved some problems along the way. It's been fun."

Watson is very grateful for the customer support, and is grateful for people like Lorne Strader, who helped out in the postal outlet located in the store from 1991 until 2003.

Strader has been a longtime fixture on the stool on the customer-side of the counter, and Watson says, "I hope he won't be lost."

The Dixon's Corners store has a rich history dating back to 1911 and has changed hands very few times.

The store has been in the Johnston family since 1928 when Andrew Johnston, Barb's grandfather, bought it from Charlie Crober in 1928.

Arthur Johnston, Barb's father, took over the store in 1931, and sold it to George and Barb Watson in May, 1969.

The two ran the store together until 1976, when George died.

Since then Barb continued on her own, until Saturday's closing.

Over the years there have been some changes including Sunday openings in March, 1994 and extended business hours to 8 p.m. in June, 1995.

included in the rezoning amendment. The licence on the 71-foot strip of land is currently held by adjacent property owner, Anne Goss, and OPG asked that, "these lands be deleted from both amendments."

A council fact sheet also states, "Absolutely no development shall take place on provincially-significant wetlands and below the 1:100 year flood plain line - a setback/buffer is required between any development and the wetlands and flood plain."

After Lewis, Brenda Brunt (clerk), and Brown, presented the facts of the application to those gathered, Mayor Johnny Whitteker opened the floor to comments and concerns.

Doran Bay Resort owner, Linda Cunningham was the first to speak. "You need to understand that this is not a tent and RV trailer park. It will be a seasonal, upscale, low-density RV park."

"There will be no transients, people will be leaving their trailers," she continued. "You're looking at basically retired people."

She also assured those on hand that no development will take place on any of the adjacent wetlands. "It's part of the beauty of the place."

Adjacent subdivision resident, Brent Mattice spoke on behalf of the concerned residents, and touched on their concerns of increased safety, environmental, and nuisance issues. "We are the permanent residents. We have 47 families. You have to consider that."

"We have learned some things that we are relieved to hear," said resident John Goss, who presented council with a petition opposing the amendments.

"There are 79 names of people from our community," he said. "I am confident that council will not let any corners be cut," he summarized.

Andy Brown assured all those present that their concerns will be considered by council in their decision-making process, and anyone who attended the meeting, and filled out the sign-in sheet will be notified of the decision, which should happen near the end of September.

Dixon's Corners Newsletter

by Vice Principal Penny Levesque

DIXON'S CORNERS – Welcome to a new school year. The staff at Dixon's Corners has been busy preparing their classrooms for the new school year.

Ernie has spent the summer making the school clean and bright for the students and staff. The teachers have been back at work and ready to get started for a week or so. They are all renewed and revitalized for the upcoming year.

Rooms have been painted, new bulletin boards created and lesson plans made.

Cindy Peters, our office administrator has all the paper work under control. Cindy spent many hours over the summer creating the yearbook for 2002 and 2003. Thank you Cindy.

Bev Comfort in the kindergarten room has come to Dixon's from Iroquois Public School. Her teaching experience and well decorated room will be a treat for the kindergarten children.

Jeanni Tessier nee Nandais is the grade 1 and 2 teacher. She is also ready for a new challenge this year and committed to the primary children in her care.

Robert Matheson is new to our school. He is also a new father. Robert will be teaching 3&4 in the morning and reading recovery in the afternoon.

Margaret Swerdfeger will be teaching 3&4 in the afternoon. Her years of experience are an asset to our school.

Janet Fowler will be teaching grades 5&6. Janet is also new to our school, but she is not new to the area. Her room is bright and cheerful and we are happy to have her at Dixon's Corners.

Blaine Labelle is our French teacher. He and his wife are new to UCDSB from Colbourg, Ontario. He brings enthusiasm and creative talent to our school.

Heather McShane is our new educational assistant. She has worked at Dixon's in the past and is familiar with EA as well. We look forward to her expertise and energy at school.

Both Heather and Nicole will be assisting Bev in kindergarten for the first few months.

Last but not least is our new principal, Stephen Elliott. He is an experienced principal with many exciting ideas and great work ethic. We look forward to his collaborative style and professionalism.

Lines and Questions

Perspectives

Pastor Mark Ehlebracht

Among the many lines currently drawn between "conservative" and "liberal" Christians is the line drawn between Christian denominations. That line has been highlighted for me in recent weeks as a number of difficult questions are considered. I'm not sure I even know what some of the most difficult will be this year, or in the next one hundred years, but I have a few that linger in my thinking that I will share.

When the world's population doubles again in just a few years how will we feed all the people? Especially I wonder about people in places like Africa, China, Pakistan, and Mexico, not to mention all the people that are going hungry in Dundas County already. Will international relationships deteriorate into another cold war between nuclear powers? The increasing use of computers is leading to an ever-widening gap between skilled and unskilled workers. The disparity in wages between these groups continues to widen too. Will these trends, and others like them, lead to a two-class society - the wealthy and the peasants? Will issues of sexuality and relationship continue to divide communities and dominate local and national discussions while the neighbour sits in need? What will happen when the fossil fuel reserves dwindle? Will that bring about the most lethal war the world has yet known? What will be the health effects of increasing nuclear waste, industrial pollution, and drinking water con-tamination?

These are a few of the troubling questions that hang in my mind. Obviously they are questions for which we have no answers. I end up hoping that someone is thinking about ways to address them.

There is a movie from a few years ago called "The American President" that I really enjoy. Michael Douglas plays a president of the United States whose wife dies while he is in office. In the re-election campaign his opponent makes an issue of the president's dating practices. His opponent runs a campaign based on all sorts of issues, few of them related to the difficult issues facing a country that is a world super power. At the end of the movie Michael Douglas delivers a speech that I really appreciate. I'll paraphrase one line as best I can remember it. "These are serious times and we need serious leaders." It sums up for me what we face as people of faith now and in this century. These are serious times and we need serious people of faith. We need people who are willing to ask the difficult questions and struggle desperately to find answers that are faithful to a God who apparently gives preference to the poor and the outcast. The challenge, perhaps, is to do this without all of the moralisms. Reinhold Niebuhr once said, "most great moral achievements depend not upon push but upon pull. You may be able to compel people into certain minimal ethical acts, but the greatest deeds are done from love, out of affection, attraction to the good, rather than out of shame or coercion."

Religious pluralism, whether denominationally or multi-faith, is not a curse, but a blessing as we consider difficult questions. There are many ways to experience God as well as many ways to worship and serve God. As Christians, Jesus is central to how we understand God. Included in that standard is compassion, forgiveness, love, peace, justice, non-violence and attention to the poor and outcast. We are free to align ourselves with and learn from any people who stand for these things as we do, no matter what their religious persuasion or denomination. As we consider difficult questions together, we don't need to compromise what we believe and we don't expect that others will either. Rather, we are free to say what we believe without expecting that the other person has to change. The other is free to change, but we have no illusion that we have the corner on the Truth and because of that there is a fundamental respect for the other person.

I find the Gospel a word of hope and promise. I am glad to offer that to others, certainly, but one needs to be careful not to use it as a weapon. As Christians we can offer a lot for which the world is hungry and we can expect that others will experience the message as Good News. And it could be that others will be willing to listen so long as intolerance, narrow-mindedness and arrogance don't get in the way of a message of love, acceptance and joy.

Peace,

Mark

Smoke Alarms don't last forever?

(NC) – A working smoke alarm doubles a person's chance of surviving a fire and can reduce fatalities by up to 90%.

Carol Heller, VP for Kidde, a manufacturer of Fire Safety products suggests the following safety tips to ensure full protection for your home and cottage.

1. Smoke alarms should be placed on every level of the home and outside bedrooms for minimum protection.

2. Never remove the batteries or disable a smoke alarm. If smoke from cooking or bathroom steam cause nuisance alarms, use smoke alarms with the HUSH features which allows you to silence the alarms without removing the battery. The alarm will then reset itself after 7 minutes.

3. Test smoke alarms weekly or at minimum monthly to insure alarm circuitry and power source are operating properly. Simply press the test button on each smoke alarm manually.

4. Clean and care your smoke alarm, follow your owners manual.

5. Replace the batteries in battery-operated smoke alarms once a year, or when unit fails to test properly.

6. Smoke alarms do wear out, if you think your alarms are more than 10 years old, replace them with new ones.

For more tips on protection and fire prevention, visit www.kiddesafety.com or call 1-800-880-6788.

STAY CLEAR, STAY SAFE

ONTARIO POWER GENERATION CARES ABOUT YOUR SAFETY.

That's why we're asking residents and visitors to stay clear of our hydroelectric stations, dams and surrounding waterways. They're dangerous places for recreational activities. Hydroelectric stations can operate 24 hours a day and their operations affect water flows and levels, which can change quickly and without notice. Some dams have gates that might be remotely controlled and in just a few minutes, can change calm waters or a dry riverbed into dangerous waters with swift currents and rising levels.

Election heating up

The weather has changed and there is a definite hint of fall in the air. Of course the big item coming up this fall is the municipal election on Monday, November 10. The way it is lining up now, it is looking as if we might have a really interesting election. As we write this editorial, we now have five South Dundas residents who have officially thrown their hats into the ring.

With the exception of Cam Martel who is the sitting member of council for the Morrisburg ward, the current South Dundas council members Bill Ewing (Iroquois ward), Charles Barkley (Matilda ward) and Rowdy Gillard (Williamsburg ward) have all officially declared their intentions to seek reelection.

In addition Iroquois resident Richard Zandbergen has filed his papers to run in the Iroquois ward.

There has been a lot of speculation on whether or not Mayor Johnny Whitteker would run again and that speculation ended last Thursday when he officially filed his papers. Mayor Whitteker is completing his 49th year in municipal politics, and if successful in the upcoming election he'll hit the milestone 50th year.

Names of four or five individuals have been rumoured to being eyeing the Morrisburg ward seat, and we have heard of one or two others who could file for the Iroquois ward.

The deadline to file is 5 p.m. on Friday, September 26. At the time of filing individuals declare their ward. Those who file early have the option to change their ward right up until the 5 p.m. deadline. It is interesting to note that any property owner in South Dundas can run in any of the four wards.

HMCS Kingston

Two Canadian Navy ships, Kingston and Summerside, were anchored near Morrisburg the morning of August 18, because of heavy fog. When the fog lifted they proceeded westbound through the Iroquois Locks. Pictured here is the HMCS Kingston, a patrol vessel commissioned in 1996. It's primary role is coastal surveillance and patrol.

Seen 'n Heard Around the Town

"I'm in the money...honey. I'm in the money...honey." These, we are told, were the words Deanna Cassell was singing to hubby Mitch upon her return home from a local golf scramble. Seems Deanna teamed with Joan Thomas, Barb Sheridan and Judy Laurin and their team finished tied for second place with a three under par 68 at the ladies tournament held in Prescott, Saturday. Goes to show, it's not just the men who bring home the bacon...especially where golf is concerned.

Speaking of golf, there was a lot of tournament action on the weekend and a number of local golfers had some pretty good results. Kevin Duvall won the men's open at Cedar Glen and made a trip to the prize table at the Cornwall Country Club on Saturday thanks to an 83 which gave him fourth low net with a 72.

Mike Laurin was the B flight low net champ, shooting an 83 for a 68 net. Doug Warner ended regulation play tied for C flight low gross, but lost in a playoff.

In the mixed two-ball event, which attracted well over 100 couples on Sunday, Brian and Bonnie McNairn shot an 87 for a 72.5 net, the fifth lowest of the day.

Of course Tuesday morning meant school buses and students making their way, on foot, back to school. Motorists are reminded again to keep their eyes open for youngsters walking and school buses stopping. Most of the students we visited with at the school Tuesday morning said they were happy to return to class and to their friends, some of whom they don't see often during the summer break.

And finally, a reminder to all of you garlic lovers out there. Coming up this Saturday and Sunday is a Garlic Festival at the Carmen House Museum in Iroquois. There is no admission and visitors may get to meet the "Fish Lake Garlic Man". There will be lots of garlic in the air...so to speak, and you'll probably be able to discover everything you ever wanted to know about garlic. The festival will run 8 a.m.-4 p.m. on Saturday and 9-3 on Sunday.

Headlines in the September 1 issue read: Beavers Dental looks at expansion options. Beavers Dental had experienced strong sales growth and was expecting the trend to continue. Considerable additional equipment would have to be added over the next year in order to meet increasing production demands. Although there were no plans for moving out of Morrisburg, various options were to be looked at to provide the space needed. The plant was extremely crowded.

The 62-room Howard Johnson Hotel in Morrisburg was purchased by Kelloryn Hotels Inc. and was to be operated by Accommodex Franchise Management Inc., the exclusive master franchisor for Howard Johnson Hotels and Restaurants in Canada. Louis de Sousa had been hired as the new general manager.

Partners Dan Marsden and David Lapier held the official opening for the newest Marsden and McLaughlin Funeral Home in Williamsburg. McLaughlin had 11 years experience in the business, and Lapier was a recent graduate of Humber College.

A new discount store, Pokey's Place was preparing to open in the East End Promeade. The new business was jointly owned by Bill and Jane Ewing.

The Morrisburg Men's Valley League team won their second consecutive championship at the tournament played in Alexandria.

The September 7 issue reported a 35 pound musky, measuring 52 inches in length was caught in the Long Sault Parkway. The fish had an 18 and half inch girth and took 30 minutes to land.

Iroquois golfer Mac Day scored his second ace on the par three fourth hole in Iroquois exactly 11 years to the day later. The first hole-in-one was on August 31, 1972, and the second was on that same date in 1983. Alton Cassidy was playing with Day for both of the aces.

The Riverside Heights Public School 25th anniversary celebration was very successful and to mark the occasion, Hugh Hutchison, former superintendent of education with the SD&G board, unveiled a plaque for the school listing the founders and principals. The Riverside School was constructed in 1959, then a three room rural school with staff and principal rooms. Four township schools, then under the Williamsburg Township School Board, comprised the drawing area of the new facility, the Churches and East Williamsburg and Archer and Froatburn. In September 1958 three teachers took control of the 96 students enrolled. They were Margaret Scott, Hattie Casselman and Eileen Beckstead. In 1962-63 the school was expanded by three rooms.

Larry Harper shot an even par 70 to win the 11th annual Cedar Glen Open.

Paul Stewart Electronics was opening in the former Charlie's Sport Shop location.

The September 7 issue reported a vicious storm lashed the Winchester area, from which hail temporarily cooled the tropic air that had hung over the district during the last half of August. According to reports from the weather office, eastern Canada had experienced the longest and hottest heat wave in the past century with the mercury climbing into the high 80s and low 90s for the past two weeks. Farmers were reporting an excellent harvest of hay and corn.

The issue reported the sudden death of Morrisburg's hero of the Second World War, Glen (Sacco) Hummell. Born at Iroquois, he was a son of the late Frank Hummell and his wife Mabel Eamon of Morrisburg. He was 61 years old. Mr. Hummell, who had seen action in France, Germany and Belgium, was the recipient of the Croix de Guerre bronze star for outstanding gallantry.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lapier announced the engagement of their daughter, Judy Mae to Richard Blaine Darling. The wedding was to take place October 6.

Agnes' Flower Shop had reopened at its new location at 10 Beckstead Road. The business was run by Agnes Smith.

Bill and Phyllis Dillabough of Morrisburg were preparing to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

The September 6 issue reported that the 90 swimmers enrolled in the Morrisburg Swim Program presented their instructor, Judy Ing with their gift of two Kenwood blankets. Miss Ing was a fourth year student at McGill University where she was studying for her Bachelor of Education in Phys. Ed.

Ken Kirkby, editor and publisher of The Iroquois Post was injured in a car accident near Upper Canada Village.

Morrisburg soldier 2nd Lieutenant Perry P. Smith graduated as a commissioned officer at Camp Borden. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith.

Joan Emily Robinson and Sidney Darrell Morrell exchanged their wedding vows at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in South Mountain on August 28.

The September 4 issue reported the Township of Charlottenburg in Glengarry County voted in favor of men's beverage rooms, women's beverage rooms and the sale of beer and wine in dining rooms. The township had been dry since 1917.

Preliminary hearing of manslaughter charges against two drivers in a bus-truck crash that took the lives of 20 persons near Morrisburg on July 31 was postponed. Charged were Lorne J. Chesebrough 28-year-old Kingston driver of the Colonial Coach and Max Roodman 41, driver of the small truck, which was struck before both vehicles plummeted into the Williamsburg Canal near Morrisburg.

The September 3 issue reported the monthly liquor ration for the individual consumer in Ontario was reduced from 53 to 40 ounces for the month of September. The beer quota of 36 pints remained in effect.

Agnes Martha Whittle of Iroquois was the bride of Pte. Clayton Duvall, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.B. Duvall of Morrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Newbury of Morrisburg announced the engagement of their daughter Jessie Ethel to Stuart Watson, son of Mr. and Mr. Dalton Saddlemire of Williamsburg.

The Morrisburg boys and girls band was starting up.

Adlingtons going home to celebrate

MORRISBURG–Sixty years ago we were in the middle of the Second World War, and a trip from Toronto to Morrisburg took most of the day.

And 60 years ago, Jack Adlington and Ruth Robinson were serving with the Canadian Armed Forces and were making that trip. The trip was bringing them home to Ruth's family for their marriage at the United Church, in Morrisburg,on September, 4 1943, and their reception to follow at her family home east of Morrisburg.

Now, 60 years later, the Adlingtons are again heading east. This time they are being accompanied by their two sons and one daughter and seven grandchildren to celebrate a most wonderful milestone at the place where it all began...the Willard Hotel at Upper Canada Village.

Prior to the Seaway project the Willard Hotel was located about three miles east of Morrisburg on the old Highway 2. It was operated as a tourist home by Ruth's mother and father, James and Maude Robinson.

"We called it the White House," says Ruth. "My dad rented it."

Originally built in 1785 by Daniel Mayers, a New York Loyalist, it was used as an inn. It became known as a halfway house between Prescott and Cornwall.

In the 1830's it was purchased by John Willard. The house was moved to Upper Canada Village at the time of the Seaway relocation.

"It was originally the Mayers house and was built by my mother's great, great, great-grandfather. We rented it during the Dr. Locke years and ran it as a tourist home. We had a lot of his patients, and we had a lot of people for vacations."

"It was a lot of fun, and mother was a great cook."

Ruth grew up in a family of 14 youngsters who made their contributions to the operation.

"We waited on tables, made beds and cleaned the floors. You name it, we did it."

Ruth remembers the house as a "terribly big house. I remember the third floor wasn't finished. We had no water or hydro. Dad put them in, and he finished the third floor into four bedrooms."

Ruth, who is the third youngest of the family, says she has wonderful memories of the time. "It was fun."

Ruth attended Morrisburg High School, often making the three mile trek on foot, but in the winter she and her brothers and sisters would get a sleigh ride to school.

After high school she worked in Toronto for a year and then joined the service. It was her decision to join the service that led her to meet Jack.

"I was an office worker, a corporal in the RCAFWD in Toronto," says Ruth. "That's where we met, in the air force."

While Ruth was growing up east of Morrisburg, Jack's early life was in Southern Ontario. He grew up on a farm in a family of five children.

He was a member of the RCMP for one year, before enlisting in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

"I did all my flight training out west," says Jack who eventually made his way to Toronto to await his transfer.

"That's how we met."

A hospital in the city was being used in the war effort, with women housed on one side of the street and the men in their barracks on the other side.

"We had a common entertainment centre, and Ruth and I met there."

Jack, a wireless air gunner, was eventually shipped to Nassau in the Bahamas for heavy flight training. From there he ended up in India and Ceylon, as a participant in the War in the Pacific.

But before Jack shipped out, he and Ruth made the trip home for their September 4 marriage.

After two years apart, Jack returned home and took his discharge from the air force. Ruth was now living with her family who were running Edgehill, another of the area's beautiful tourist homes.

"I had fully intended to go back to the RCMP, but in those days you had to put in five years of service before you got married. I had of course only been with them for one year before I got married."

As it worked out, the city of Windsor was hiring veterans, and Jack was hired for their police force where he stayed for six years.

After that he went into insurance investigations and worked for the Dominion of Canada Insurance Company in Ottawa until his retirement 20 years ago.

Five years prior to retirement, he and Ruth built a cottage on the St. Lawrence just west of Morrisburg, that they converted into their lovely home of today.

The Adlingtons have had a wonderful life together. "We have three great kids and seven great grandchildren. There is no doubt about it, we are fortunate."

"We've had a good time," agrees Jack. "Time sure goes."

Ruth quotes a line she remembers her father saying on his 50th. "When you look ahead, 50 years is a long time, but when you look back, it's just like yesterday."

The Adlingtons will celebrate their 60th anniversary this weekend when their family, sons Jim and Tom and daughter Cathy and their seven grandchildren, join them at the Willard Hotel in Upper Canada Village.

Celebrating 60 Years

Jack and Ruth Adlington were married on September 4, 1943 in the United Church in Morrisburg, and kicked off their wonderful 60 years of marriage at Ruth's family home known at the time as the White House, a popular tourist destination located east of Morrisburg. This weekend the Adlingtons will return with their family to the White House, now Willard's Restaurant at Upper Canada Village, for their 60th wedding anniversary celebration.

60 Years Earlier

Jack and Ruth Adlington were married at the United Church in Morrisburg on September 4, 1943. They met in Toronto where Jack was awaiting his transfer order during the Second World War and Ruth was serving in the RCAFWD. The Adlington's wedding attendants were Ruth's brother Hugh and sister Lois.

Supporting the Foodgrains Bank from coast to coast

MORRISBURG – George Zondervan believes so much in the work of the Canadian Foodgrains Bank he is spending seven months on the road walking across Canada to make others aware of the charity.

Zondervan, a Barrie resident, left Vancouver's Stanley Park on March 29. Traveling about 55 kilometers a day on foot, and with his wife Betty close by in their Volkswagen van, they passed through Morrisburg last Thursday afternoon.

He hopes to reach Newfoundland's maritime coast by the end of October. "We have a bottle of water from the Pacific that we will dump in the Atlantic when we reach our destination," says Zondervan.

The Canadian Foodgrains Bank is a Christian-based development organization that collects and donates grain, cash and other agricultural commodities for distribution to the world's hungry.

It is owned by 13 Canadian Church members that work with international partners to ensure that food gets to where it is intended.

The Zondervan couple pays their own way, and all expenses associated with the several month long journey, ensuring that all money will go directly to the Canadian Foodgrains Bank.

The Food for All Walk shows just how much Zondervan believes in the charity. "I like the approach the organization takes to helping people."

Zondervan is raising both money and awareness through his journey, and says donations to the Canadian Foodgrains Bank can be made through most churches or through the internet web site, www.foodgrainsbank.ca.

Grade 9s Welcomed at Seaway
Grade 9 students were welcomed to Seaway District High at an orientation day held at the school last Thursday. Along with a tour of the facility, the new students were treated to hot dogs cooked up for the occasion by teachers, l-r, Mike Toshack (History), Sandy Decker (Social Sciences) and Heather Williams (Science). Also helping, but not pictured, was Connie Boros, who, in her first year at Seaway, is teaching Grade 9 French. Boros, who taught previously at Char-Lan, says she looks forward to teaching at Seaway. "There seems to be a nice family here. It is very warm and welcoming." And warm and welcoming was what the staff was aiming at as they met with the Grade 9 class of 2003/2004. These students, along with those returning will be impressed with the newly-finished floor in the gymnasium and the relocation of the guidance office to what was formerly the media room. There are five new teachers joining the staff and two former teachers are returning. As of late last week, 125 grade 9 students had registered and the total student population was expected to be about 560.

The team of Steve Martineau, Lance and Laine McIntosh, and Mark McInnis, came out on top of the field of 160 golfers, at 12 under par. "But it's not really about that," says Martineau.

"It's getting tougher to better ourselves each year," Martineau says, referring to fundraising goals.

"We're already working on new plans to make next year even better."

Pesticide use questioned

Letter to the Editor:

I recently visited Morrisburg and was camping at Riverside Cedars campground. We have always enjoyed Morrisburg, the waterfront, the theatre and the parks.

We were attracted to a number of tents in the children's playground and as a member of the Cancer Society, a survivor myself, and a person who lost a loved one to cancer, I planned to attend the "Volley for Life (Cancer)" fundraiser.

When we arrived at the park, we saw hoards of people attending. Families, children and babies were sitting on the lawn as well as many people playing volleyball and horseshoes.

To my dismay and horror, I saw "PESTICIDE IN USE" signs around the park. The area had just been sprayed on August 14 and the event was August 16. People were sitting beside the signs.

I brought this to the attention of organizers and of course they could not do anything about this now, but the Township must have known this event was going to be held and it was very irresponsible of the park maintenance people and the company that sprayed.

A children's park should never be sprayed with chemical pesticides and the oxymoron is that the Canadian Cancer Society has issued a statement on pesticides and does not recommend the use of chemicals for cosmetic purposes especially around children.

A park is a public use area and exposure could be dangerous for pregnant women and young children, especially asthmatic children. Some pesticides have been linked to various types of cancers such as prostate and breast cancer. These chemicals are synthetic hormones, this is how they work on the plant.

Women store chemicals in their breasts, the fatty tissues and that is why Breast Cancer Action sells the "No Pesticides, a fight for life" lawn signs.

The echinechea plant on the sign also indicates how our immune systems are challenged by chemicals, especially unnecessary chemicals such as lawn pesticides.

Chemicals in our environment are a concern for cancer, and it is unnecessary use that must be eliminated.

When I showed the sign to one person, they said, "Oh, that means no parking!"

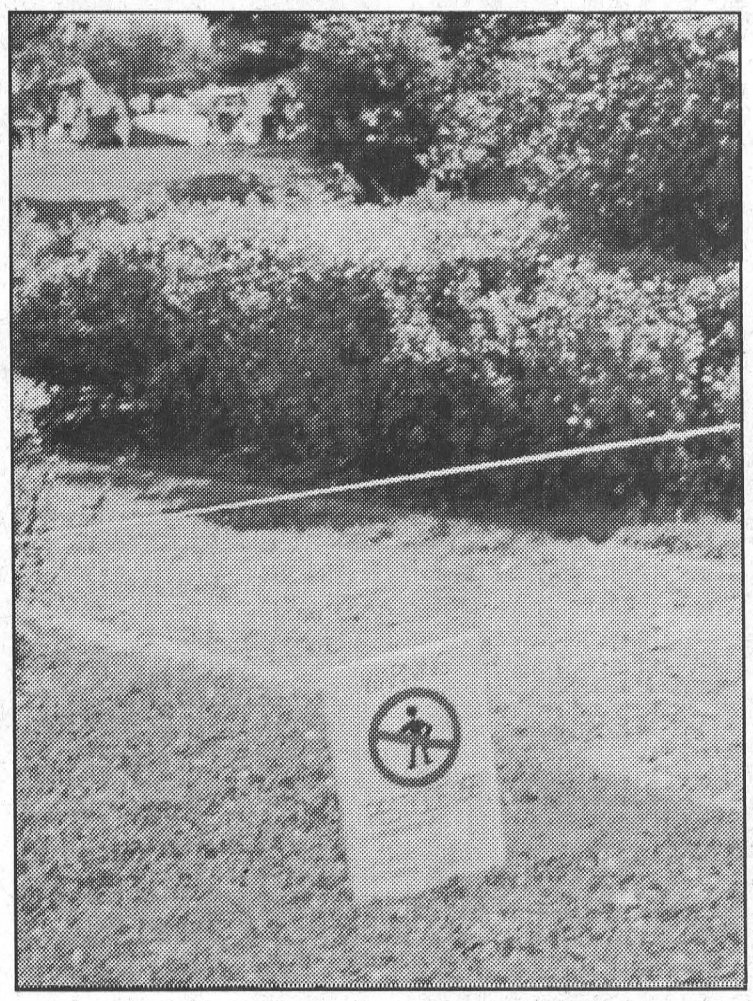
A sign with a person on it and a line through it means keep off and there is a reason for that. You just have to read the Material Safety Data Sheet (MSDS) on the product used.

Usually for herbicides, it is a combination of 2,4-D, Mecoprop and Dicamba, commonly known as Killex or Par III. One person said "Roundup" was used. This is a non-selective herbicide and it would kill all the grass.

Obviously, if people think these signs mean "No Parking" there is a need for education, not only for the public, but the people who maintain the parks. There are many beautiful parks and gardens maintained without chemicals.

Unfortunately, my family and I did not stay for the event, but we will be involved with lots of fundraisers for cancer such as the upcoming Terry Fox Run, where I will ensure participants are not exposed to pesticides.

The Saucier Family,
Russell.
C. Saucier.



Volley for Cancer says thanks

To the Editor:

On August 16th, Volley for Cancer, an event run solely by volunteers, was held at the Morrisburg waterfront park and was an enormous success. While the total dollar amount to be donated to the Cancer society is not yet tallied, we feel very confident that we will surpass last year's contribution. We are extremely proud of the volunteers who have made this event possible and wish to extend a heart filled thank you to them.

The bands, Easy Pickens, Truth by Definition, Brea Shay, Ryan Lewis Band, Off Hand Beliefs, Illegal Limit, Ransom, OC Central, and Rogue donated their time and talents to help make this day a fun filled day. Randy Chesbro and Joe Bouchard supplied the sound system for all the bands and Jamie Pederson of Illegal Limit permitted the use of his drums.

Brian Erratt organized the Show and Shine car show and Neil and Debbie Strader and the members of the South Dundas Snowmobile club operated the beer tent. Dr. Dean Summers provided scorekeepers, Lyle Van Allen Donna Zeran and Dale Kelly operated the dunk tank. Doug Casselman came out to repair the dunk tank, the Ladies Auxiliary and members of the Morrisburg Legion prepared a breakfast, steak BBQ and organized the horseshoe tournament. The IOOF barbequed all day, Mike's Valu-Mart supplied the Pizza Pizza, Orval Delage and M&M Meats sold sausages, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barkley sold pizza, Nelda Gow from Whittekar Bus Lines provided safe transportation for the public; Robert Hamilton, Victor Brooks and members of the Morrisburg Fire Department shaved facial hair, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ross of Peter Ross Auctions held a live auction.

The set up and clean up was handled by Arnold and Tilda Casselman, Seve and Tina Coligan, Darryl Disotell, Terry Van Allen, Randy Paquette, Wesley Long, Cory Roderick, Tyler Lewis, Don Lewis, Gord and Robin Lane, Charles Bilmer and Dave and Barb Tait.

Finally, we would like to extend a thank you to the residents of Morrisburg for your understanding of the noise level and disruption of your waterfront park. We are very fortunate to have the support of so many people and without you this event would not be possible.

Ruby and I cannot thank you enough for your continued dedication and support. The people in Dundas County have made us very proud.

Yours truly,
Carl and Ruby Van Allen

Singer enjoys camp

August 30, 2003
Dear Editor:

My name is Jazmynn Van Allen and I am 11 years old. In the spring the members of the Seaway Valley Singers gave me a bursary to go to the National Music Camp of Canada in Orillia. I went from August 19 to August 24, and it was awesome!!!

We went water skiing, hiking, canoeing, boogie boarding, and played on the water trampoline. I had singing lessons every day for four hours and learned how to sing different notes and how to read music.

After music lessons were over for the day we went to Big Barney, which is a huge wooden building. There is a stage inside where we practiced nine different dances for our final concert. All of the songs we learned were from the Beatles. I did not like the Beatles before I went to camp but now I think they are great.

When music lessons were over we were allowed a recreation period where we could do anything we wanted. My feet hit the water. We had campfires every night, and I taught my new friends how to make spider hot dogs. Going to camp was the best summer ever.

Thank you very much.
Jazmynn Van Allen

Minimal spraying done of municipal property

MORRISBURG– In response to a Letter to the Editor which appears in this week's issue of The Leader, Donnie Lewis says any spraying on South Dundas municipal property is kept to a very minimum amount.

The letter from the Saucier family of Russell is in regards to the "Pesticide in Use" signs that were in the Earl Baker Park during Volley for Cancer on Saturday, August 16.

Lewis, who is in charge of the parks in South Dundas, says a very small area was sprayed to eliminate the weeds growing through the interlocking brick around the wading pool and in the bricked pathways in the landscaped area located directly across from the funeral home.

The parkland where the Volley for Cancer games and where the various other activities were taking place were not sprayed.

In addition, the large ball diamond in the Waterfront Park was sprayed. All of the spraying was done on Thursday, August 14 and was contracted to a professional company.

Andy Brown, Chief Administrative Officer for the Township of South Dundas was not sure if the township has a written policy on spraying. He indicated it was something that council could look at.

"Chemicals in our environment are a concern for cancer, and it is unnecessary use that must be eliminated," writes C. Saucier in her letter.

According to an instruction sheet issued to customers by a professional spraying company, persons are told to stay off grass that has been sprayed for three hours while the chemical dries. Activity in the area should be limited for 24 hours, and signs should remain posted on the lawn for 48 hours.

Certified Trailhead instructor Bill Kennedy demonstrates the proper way to paddle a kayak

Kayaking at Crysler

MORRISBURG – The St. Lawrence River is one of the most beautiful places to take up a new pastime- kayaking.

The Crysler Park Marina and Trailhead have been offering kayak rentals and lessons throughout the summer. It really is a good sport to take up whatever your age may be.

There are many and misgivings about the sport of kayaking. The words heard most are dangerous, hard to do and tipsy.

This sport is none of the above, unless you are doing it as an extreme sport specifically in white water.

Sea kayaking is perfect for those looking for a relaxing, yet fun way to exercise out on the water.

The sport itself has experienced quite a growth and people have discovered kayaks are less tipsy and easier to use than a canoe. It is also a very safe sport.

The Crysler Park Marina's kayaks are plastic, which makes them durable. If you happen to drop or drag them they will not crack or shatter like the fiberglass kayaks. Every kayak comes with standard Canadian Coast Guard regulation equipment.

All of this is covered in the the lesson before you even hit the water, especially for those students a little worried about getting into a kayak.

Instructor, Bill Kennedy, is excellent, and very thorough, in explaining water safety, demonstrating paddle strokes, how to properly sit and adjust while sitting in the craft and the correct way to exit the craft. Bill assures students that "the worse thing that could happen is that you would get wet!"

After sitting in the kayaks to get the right leg adjustments and after several warm up exercises students are ready for the water.

Once in the water students practice paddle strokes, including how to back up, spin around, and how to dock up with someone.

Bill encourages students to rock the kayak just to see how much the craft can be swayed. It gives students a higher comfort level and a better sense of the kayak.

Bill also had students practice how to steady the kayak against waves and choppy waters with something called "the beaver slap".

After students spend a good deal of time getting comfortable with the kayaks and how to maneuver them, Bill takes them on a paddle down the St. Lawrence River and back. A paddle which, two of the students and frequent cottagers remark, "will be even more beautiful when the trees turn colors".

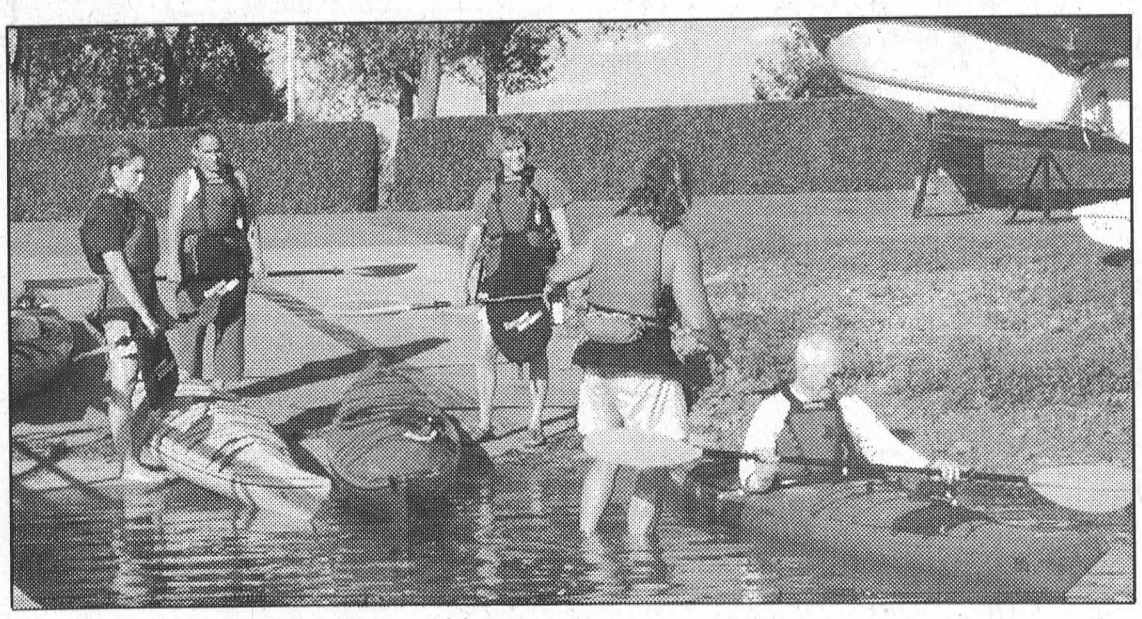
Trailhead and the Crysler Park Marina have been offering lessons and use of the kayaks for day trips all summer. On Wednesdays they have the Pizza and Paddle.

The Pizza and Paddle is $25 and includes a two hour lesson. After working up an appetite you are treated to pizza, water and pop.

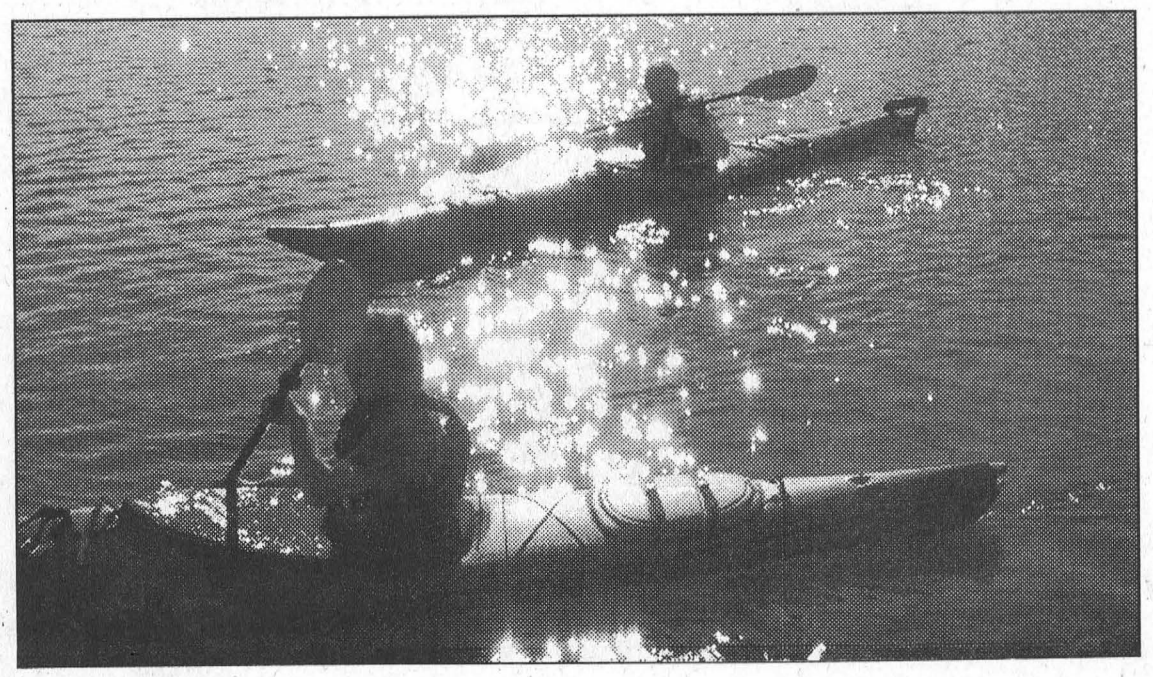
Weather permitting the Wednesday Pizza and Paddle will continue as long as possible. People can rent the kayaks anytime throughout the week as well.

For more information or to book a lesson call the Crysler Park Marina at 543-3245.

Trailhead kayak rentals will be back next year as part of the Crysler Marina and it really is worth a try.



Students launch into their first kayaking experience



Kevin Duvall wins Cedar Glen Open

WILLIAMSBURG – Kevin Duvall shot a three-over-par 73 Monday to claim, for the second time in three years, the Cedar Glen Men's Open Championship.

Duvall was one of only six players Monday to break the 80 barrier, something he has done in each of the three years the tournament has been played since Cedar Glen opened its new back nine in 2001.

Last year, four players scored in the 70s and it was Larry Harper and Randy Casselman leading the charge with 76s. Harper went on to claim the championship in a playoff against Casselman.

Duvall posted the only under 80 score in 2001 to win the Open with a 78 and added another 78 in 2002 to finish behind Harper and Casselman.

A slow start Monday, with bogies on the first and third holes, pushed Duvall to a two-over-par 36 on the front nine. He started strong on the final nine getting one stroke back with a birdie on the par four 11th hole.

Bogies on 12 and 16 gave him a one over par 37 on the back for his 73 total.

Duvall, who plays out of the Morrisburg Golf Club, says he had his short game going well, and was impressed with the Cedar Glen course.

"I wasn't putting great, but my short irons were good. I was sticking them in tight."

"The course was in really good shape. Man, that back nine (new nine)...You don't even have to touch your ball in the fairways. They are excellent."

Three strokes back of Duvall were Dave Bird and John Bongers tied with 76s. Bird's 76 gave him a 68 net for the A flight low net win, and Bongers collected the prize for second low gross.

Randy Casselman and J.P. St. Pierre tied with 78s and Randy Mullin carded a 79.

Next up in A flight were Brad Mayhew and Kirk Barkley tied with 80s.

In B flight it was Cedar Glen golfer, Bruce Whitteker claiming the win with an 80. His closest challenge came from John Casselman who posted an 85 which gave him a 70 net for the B flight net championship.

Next up in B flight were Dave Casselman and Ron Geurkink with 86s and Doug Warner was right on their heels with an 87.

Barry Casselman, Francis Barkley and Pete Brunt were tied with 89s.

The C flight championship went to Al McCaslin who shot an 85. Bunny Bennett posted the second low gross with an 88, and Rocky Richmire and Gary Munro finished tied with 92s.

Richmire's 92 gave him a 66 net for the low net in C flight.

A total of 82 players competed in the annual tournament.

The ice is going in MORRISBURG–Whether you are a hockey player or a figure skater, the time has come to pull your skates from their summer storage area. That's right, the ice is going in at the arena here in Morrisburg.

Donnie Lewis turned the plant on last Thursday afternoon and began flooding on the weekend.

"If we get the cool nights, I'll probably start making ice on Saturday afternoon," he said from the arena on Thursday.

"I will flood on Saturday and Sunday and if everything works good I'll do a double shift on Tuesday."

Lewis said he expected the ice would be ready to be painted today (Wednesday).

"After painting we still have to put another half inch of ice on top."

"Saturday (September 6) or maybe Sunday, it should be ready for use," he said.

The official startup date for the ice making was September 28 and the official date for opening is September 15, so Lewis is right on schedule.

In the last few years, the ice has been made in August to accommodate a Junior B hockey school. As there was no school this year the startup was moved to September.

Last year due to the August heat, Lewis says it took him 72

Penny White of Ottawa says her Tibetan Terriers are wonderful companion dogs. "They were never a working dog," she says. "Their mission in life is to be with people." Ivy watches as Penny prepares Kiefer for the ring. The two were among 2,500 entrants representing over 100 dog breeds at the annual SD&G Dog Show held at the Woodlands Campsite on the Long Sault Parkway two weeks ago.

The Judging Begins

Hydroplane boat races this weekend

MORRISBURG – Want to see one of North America's most exciting forms of motorsports? Hydroplane boat racing is returning to he Long Sault Parkway on Saturday and Sunday, September 6 and 7.

The races will be part of the Canadian Boating Federation (CFB)/American Powerboat Association (APBA) Outboard hydroplane tour. The two-day event takes place in the bay at the Mille Roches Day-use area, on the Long Sault Parkway.

According to Bob Abbot, Race Director and President of the Eastern Canada Outboard Racing Club, "This year's hydroplane races (Canadian National Championships) should be the biggest yet at the Mille Roches site."

Outboard hydroplanes are light weight boats, which are designed to ride on a cushion of air held in a tunnel between two traps or sponsors on the underside of the boat. The driver shifts his weight to control the amount of lift to suit water and wind conditions while riding on his knees in an attempt to keep only the last few inches of the boat in the water.

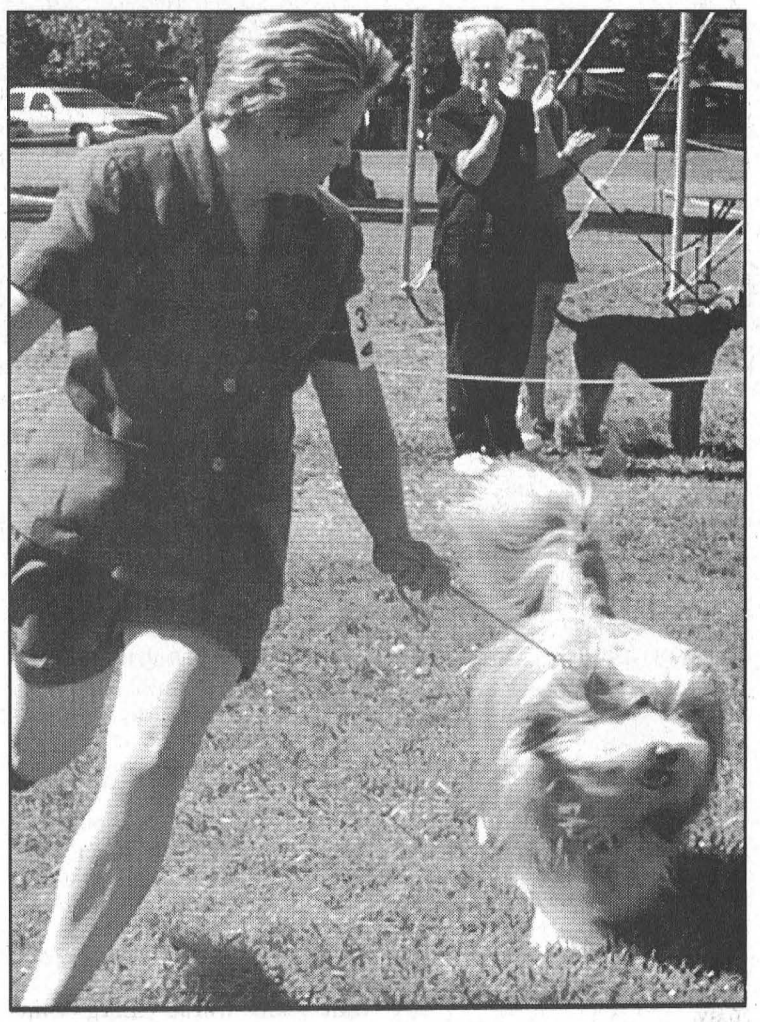
Hydroplane racing has been compared to driving a formula one-race car on ice at full speed with no brakes.

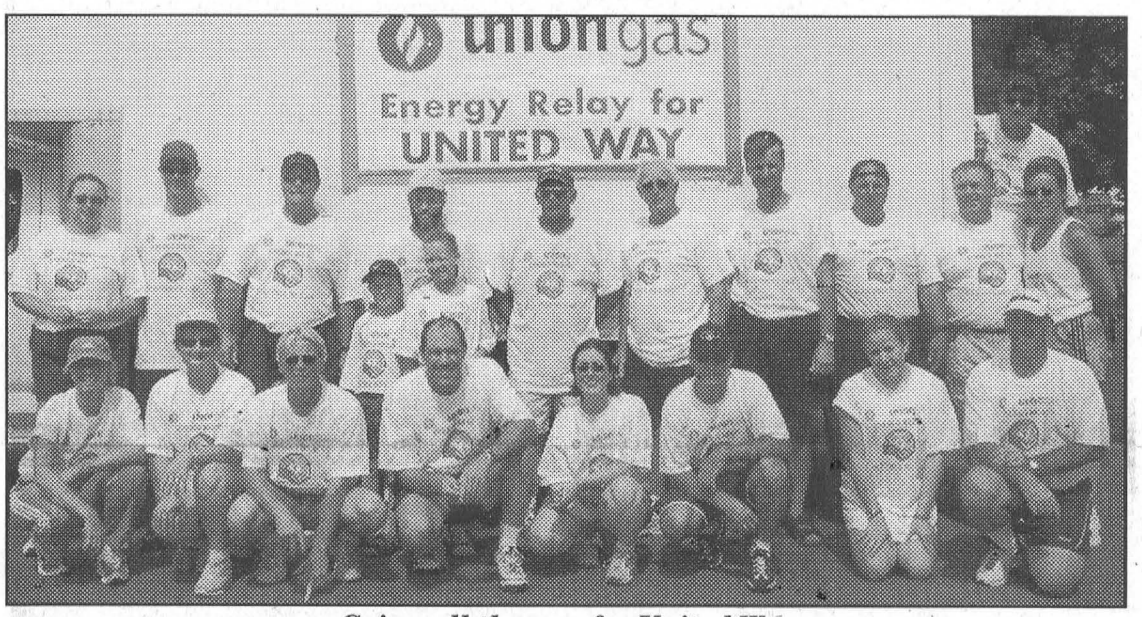
At least 120 entries from across the U.S and Canada are expected to participate in the weekend event. The boats will range from 15HP Junior class, capable of racing at 40 mph, to 70HP Formula "E" class, capable of racing at 100 mph. With the Canadian National Championship title at stake, many of North America's current and former champions will be on hand to challenge for the title.

For safety reasons, all watercraft are asked to please stay clear of the area during the races taking place from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both days. Security boats will be patrolling the area enforcing the restricted area. There is no swimming permitted at Mille Roches for the duration of the races.

The races will start at 11 a.m. and continue to 5 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday. Breakfast will be served both days from 7 a.m to 11 a.m., with food concessions on site for the remainder of the day. Bring a lawn chair and your binoculars to catch all of the action.

The charge will be $3.25 for adults, $2.75 for seniors and children 12 and under are free.





Going all the way for United Way

Union Gas employees and their families, pedaling their way from Cornwall to Kingston, stopped in Morrisburg on Tuesday, August 26, during their 8th annual Union Gas Energy Relay for United Way. The group biked from Cornwall to Prescott on Tuesday, and then from Gananoque to Kingston on Wednesday, in order to raise money and awareness for the United Way. In the last seven years the company has donated over $112,000 to the cause.

hours to get the suction valve completely opened and an additional 48 hours for the floor to cool down so that flooding could begin.

With the current weather, he expects he'll need only about 16-18 hours to have the suction valve complete open and perhaps a few hours less than the 48 to cool down the floor.

The whole thing is a gradual process.

Major projects at the arena over the summer were in the downstairs dressing rooms where new benches were built and new heaters installed.

The Morrisburg Junior Bs are tentatively scheduled to hit the ice this Saturday, September 6.

The Morrisburg and District Figure Skating Club will start the season on Monday, September 15 and the South Dundas Minor Hockey Association expects to startup on Saturday, September 20.

IN MEMORIAM

McMILLAN–In loving memory of Dorothy McMillan who passed away September 9, 2002.
The moment that you died
My heart split in two
The one side filled with memories
The other died with you.
I often lay awake at night
When the world is fast asleep
And take a walk down memory lane
With tears upon my cheeks.
Remembering you is easy
I do it every day
But missing you is the heartache
That never goes away.
I hold you tight within my heart
And there you will remain
Life has gone on without you
But it will never be the same.
–Always in my thoughts. We miss you, Darlene and Dave and family 36p

Creating a scene of celebration

MORRISBURG – About 400 murals into his career as a artist, David Yeatman, loves what he does, and he is sharing his passion with South Dundas for the first time.

Yeatman, a 19 year resident of Aylmer Quebec, is a self-taught artist who started painting murals in 1987.

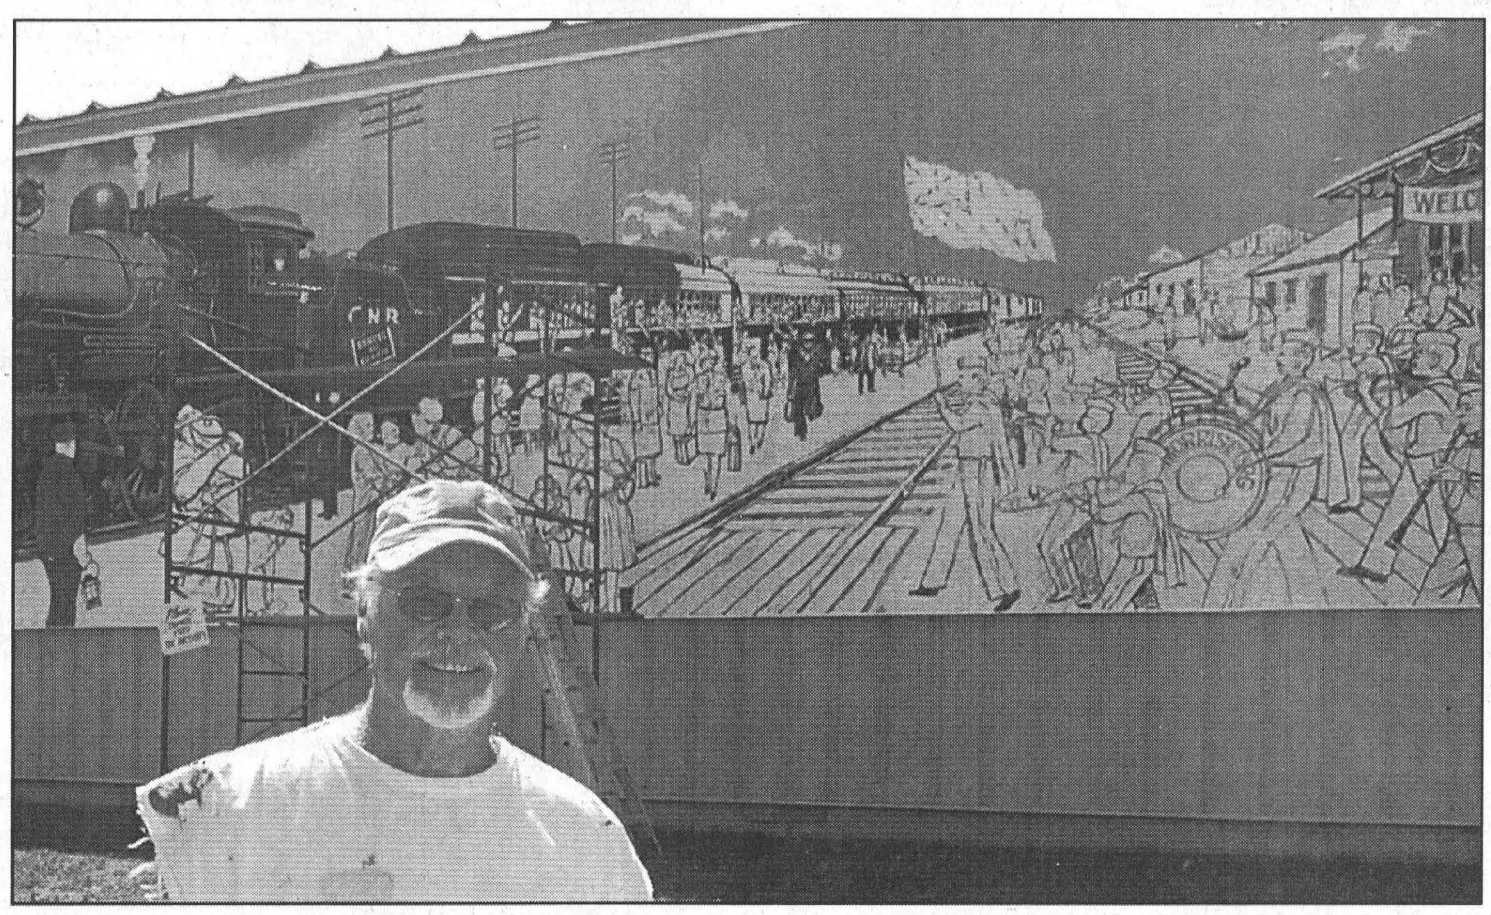
He specializies in both indoor and outdoor murals which include mostly people and landscapes.

Yeatman's work is all over the world including Japan, the United Kingdom, the United States and Canada, and is found in both private and corporate collections.

His murals are found in Canada coast to coast, including locations such as; Cornwall, Ottawa, Vanier, Otter Lake, Kenora, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Calgary, Toronto, Prince Edward Island, and the Okanagan.

A number of years ago, his murals of perocial Italian scenes were featured in The Olive Garden Restaurants.

Now he is in South Dundas working on a mural on the east side of the Giant Tiger Store in Morrisburg.



The mural, sponsored by Giant Tiger and the Morrisburg Legion, depicts the scene of celebration at the end of the Second World War, when troops were returning home to their loved-ones.

"I'm working to re-create the feeling of joy, the celebration that took place when all the soldiers were coming back," says Yeatman.

The mural features a CNR troop train, the Morrisburg Train Station, and most notably, people.

"There are lots of people. I enjoy painting people," Yeatman says.

At least 100 people are depicted in the mural, including soldiers, mothers, fathers, children, grand parents, and women in uniform, one from each force, and the Morrisburg Boys Band.

All show the "absolute joy and happiness on their faces."

Yeatman says if you look closely at the faces, you may see some that you recognize, as the mural includes some locals, as they were at the time, and some later in life.

Yeatman says he has taken a little artistic licence with the scene, but the things that are very important, such as the train, the station, the uniforms, and the flags, are depicted very true to fact.

"I've done Legion murals before, and I've learned a few things along the way," he says.

This is Yeatman's first stop on the South Dundas Mural tour, and he is impressed with what he sees. "It's a good project. Using different artists from different places is a good thing."

He is especially happy to be creating this work on site. "Many times mural artists work in their studio, and there is nothing wrong with that, but there is an advantage to having the artists working on site."

The advantage is the buzz that it creates both among locals and tourists. "It's interesting for them to watch the process," says Yeatman, who estimates that he has had at least 60 people stop and talk to him about the mural since he started on it.

He says many are locals but some are tourists from places such as the United States, Edmonton, Ottawa, Toronto, and Montreal.

"I've had the same couple from Montreal stop three times as they were passing through," he says. They tell him that watching the "fascinating" progress of the mural will keep them coming back.

"This kind of art is for everybody. You don't have to go to a gallery to see it. Everyone can enjoy it."

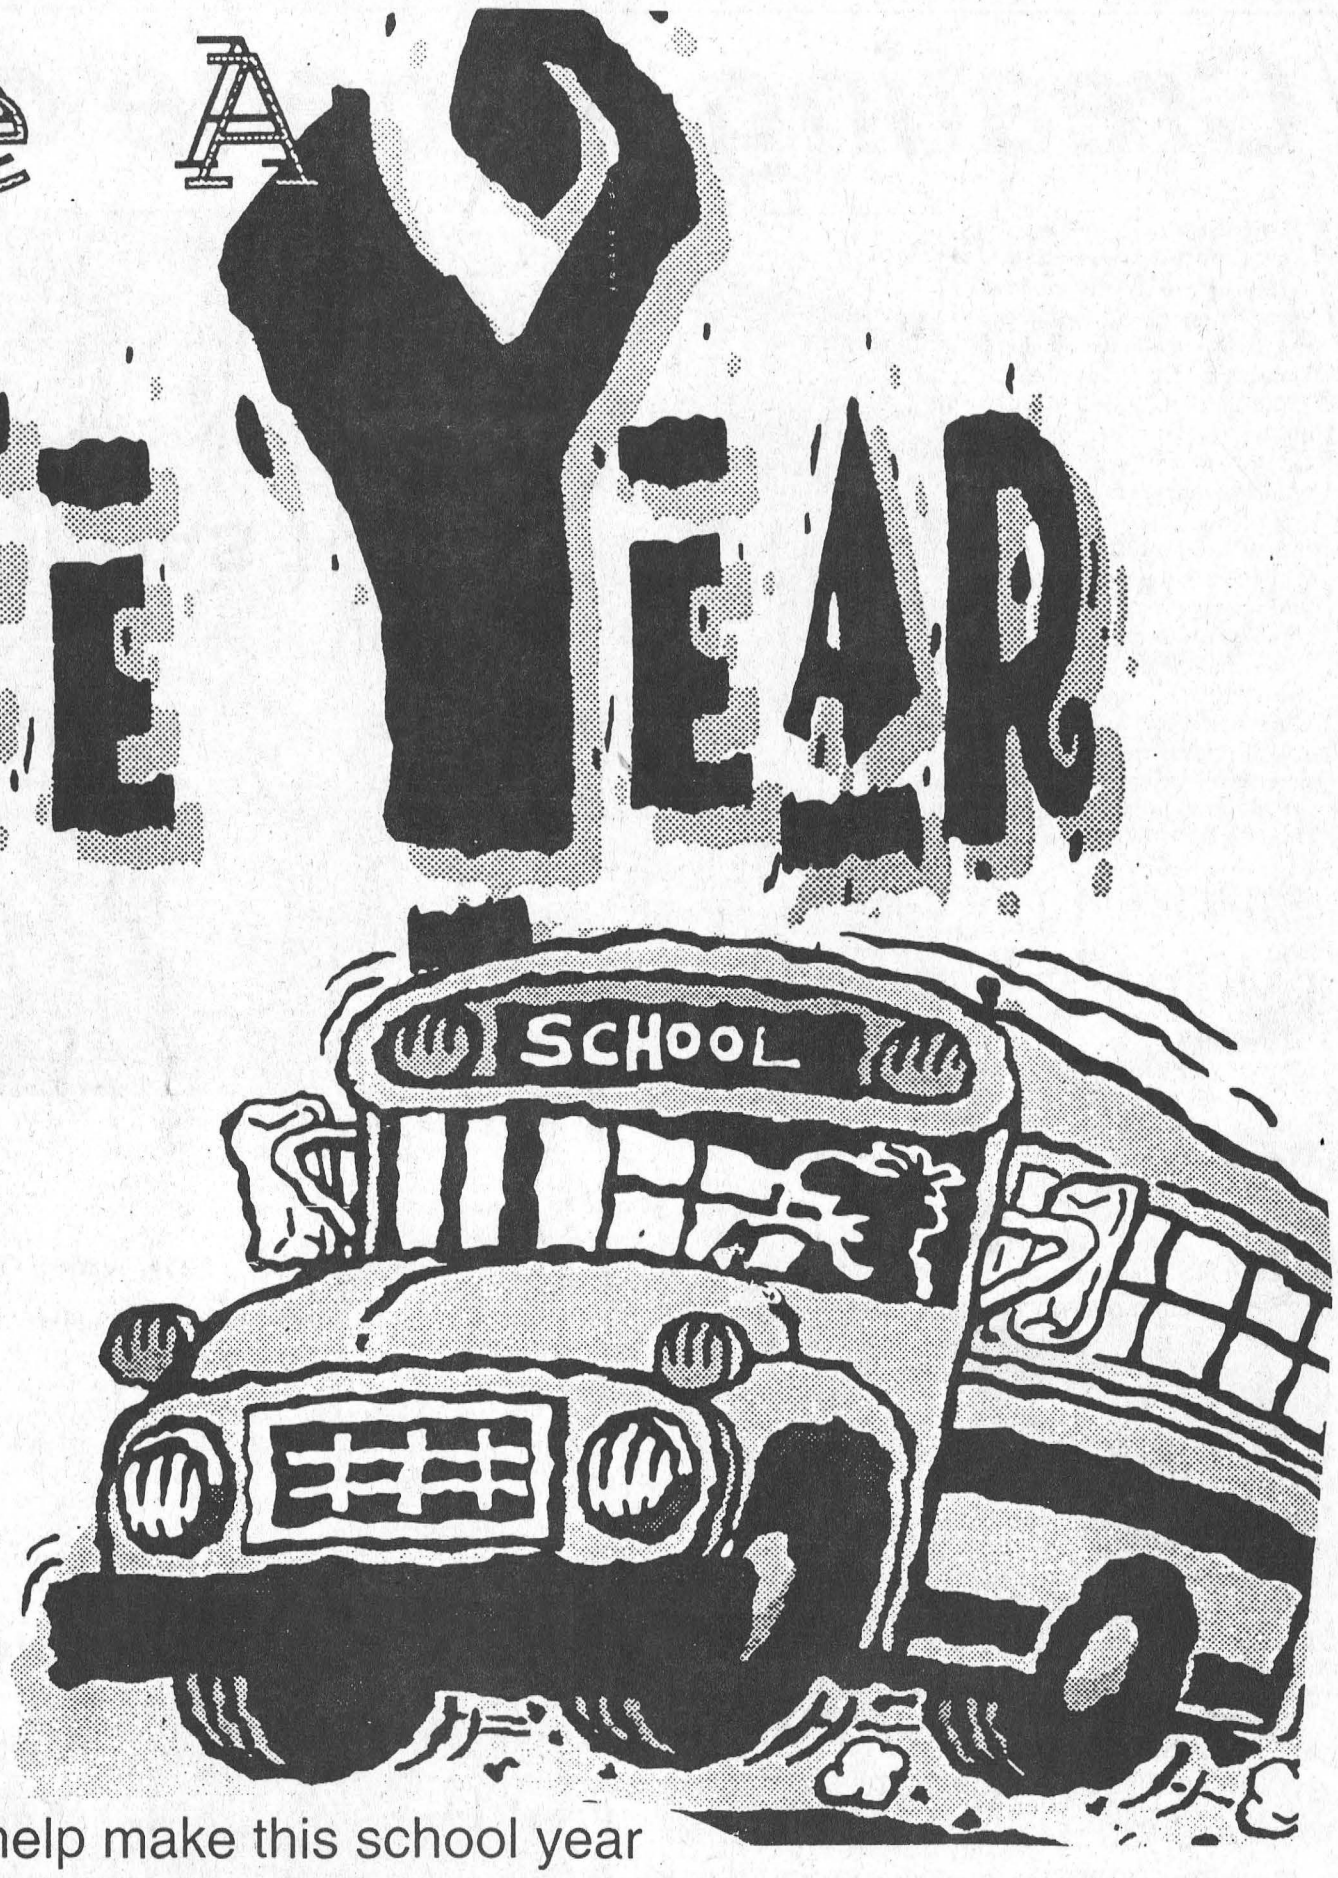
Have A SAFE YEAR



As the school year begins don't forget these simple bus-safety tips!

1. Stay quiet at all times, so the bus driver can hear traffic.
2. Always keep your hands, etc. inside the bus.
3. Remain in your seat and keep the aisle clear at all times.
4. Wait until the bus comes to a complete stop before climbing on or off.
5. Check carefully for traffic when crossing the street near a bus.
6. Obey your driver at all times.

These tips will help make this school year a safe learning experience ... for everyone!
