Man charged in traffic fatality

WINCHESTER -- A Winchester Township man has been charged by OPP with impaired driving causing death and other offenses in connection with a September 14 head-on collision north of Winchester Springs. Donald Meathrell, 46, is also charged with dangerous driving causing death, and will also appear in traffic court February 17 to face charges of driving under suspension, and driving without a validated licence plate. The accident killed 36-year-old Daniel Barkley of Morrisburg.

Van Breugel decision delayed

L'ORIGNAL – A provincial court judge has again delayed a decision in the trial of a Russell man charged in the traffic deaths of a Chesterville couple. Judge Reginald Levesque was to have handed down a decision December 13, but said more time is needed in his deliberations. Michael Van Breugel, 24, was charged with a number of serious offenses, including impaired driving causing death, in connection with an October, 1994 accident near Embrun that killed Allan and Margot Johnson of Albert Street in Chesterville. Van Breugel pleaded not guilty to the charges in August, 1995. At his trial, in July, 1996, Levesque asked for submissions from the crown attorney and from Van Breugel's lawyer for his decision. Levesque will hand down his decision January 17 in provincial court in L'Orignal.

Draw winners

CHESTERVILLE -- Chesterville Community Watch congratulates the winners of its Christmas Draw, held December 15. First prize, a hind quarter of beef, was won by Pete DeRooy of Chesterville. Second prize, a side of pork, was won by Viviane Jennings of Osgoode. And third prize, a mixed meat basket, was won by Terry Ducolon of Chesterville. CCW thanks Barry's Meats, which supplied the prizes, as well as businesses and members who helped make the fundraiser a success.

New name for local OPP cluster

LONG SAULT -- The OPP's recently- amalgamated Winchester, Morrisburg and Long Sault detachments now have a new name. the cluster has now been named the Upper Canada Detachment, a name that will describe the working area of Stormont and Dundas counties. The administrative headquarters for the Upper Canada Detachment is in Long Sault.

Businesses hit

Crime Stoppers this week is asking for the public's assistance in solving a pair of related thefts from businesses in the Iroquois area December 10 and 11. A green Voyageur van, stolen from Ottawa, was driven to Swank Construction's warehouse on Carmen Road near the 401, where it was abandoned. Unknown persons forced their way into the building, and stole a white cube van and $5,000 worth of tools. The van was then driven to Craig Packaging, where the building was entered and two computers were stolen. The van was found parked at 1785 Baseline Road in Ottawa, and the tools were recovered. The computers were not. If you have any information on this or any crime, call Seaway Valley Crime Stoppers toll-free at 1-800-265-TIPS. If your tip leads to an arrest, you may qualify for a cash reward of up to $1,000. You do not have to reveal your identity to help police solve a crime.

Teachers, board reach tentative agreement

Melissa Batchilder
Record Staff

CORNWALL - The SD&G Catholic School Board and its 250 elementary teachers have reached a tentative contract agreement, averting a possible strike.

Negotiations concluded between the union representatives and board officials Dec. 10 with hopes that contract concerns would be settled.

Teachers with the local Ontario English Catholic Teachers Association had earlier voted overwhelmingly in favor of strike action.

Members of the union were expected to vote in favor of the agreement Tuesday night and the teacher's committee had recommended it.

Chairman of the English-language section Ron Eamer said "a lot of hard negotiating was done on both sides, but all the while consciousness of the impact of a strike on the children was maintained." Both sides were adamant in their concerns for the students in all respects, he added.

Santa brings joy to Chesterville, Finch

Chesterville and Finch were awash with Christmas glee Saturday, as Santa Claus held his annual parades. Top, Santa and Mrs. Claus were greeted enthusiastically by kids of all ages in Chesterville, and left, one of Richard Wagner's llamas was suitably dressed for the occasion in Finch. A timely snowfall set the stage for both parades, which featured floats of all shapes and sizes as well as a good reception from townsfolk. Health Unit employees back to work after three-day lockout

Melissa Batchilder
Record Staff

WINCHESTER - Five employees at the Winchester office of the Eastern Ontario Health Unit went back to work Tuesday morning after a three-day lock-out.

On Wednesday afternoon EOHU management locked out 50 staff members belonging to the Association of Allied Health Professions after a full page newspaper advertisement appeared claiming EOHU was providing "offhand and second-class treatment" to people throughout the six counties it serves.

However, a memorandum of settlement was tentatively agreed upon Monday night and by Tuesday morning employees were back at their jobs.

The union was expected to ratify the settlement Tuesday night although the EOHU board of directors has yet to decide when it will meet to review and ratify the memorandum

Union members were concerned primarily with management's refusal to adjust mileage allotments to reflect staff's increased expenses, the collective agreement's insistence that there be no increase in wages for three years, the suggestion of time off without pay and hours of work.

The lightning-like lockout left AAHPO members with no time to prepare their clients, who are in many cases old, feeble, depressed and alcohol abusers. "This is the worst time of year to abandon these people, McCulloch said late last week.

She said the union was baffled at management's decision to take the lock-out action, although it had threatened it in a letter to all members. "Relations between the workers and the employer were unsettled but stable," she said. Their contract had expired, but the employer was applying the terms of it in effect with two other unions representing workers in the health unit. McCulloch said AAHPO members had taken no job action of any kind to force the issue.

AAHPO members working for the EOHU include physiotherapists, addiction counsellors, dieticians, speech pathologists, occupational therapists and other social workers.

Opinions surface in NDRC workshop

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

WINCHESTER – North Dundas's councillors and staff sat down Thursday night and took a closer look at the logistics of municipal amalgamation.

The North Dundas Restructuring Committee, along with other municipal councillors and a handful of staff from the four member municipalities, participated in a workshop, to begin the task of putting their preferences for services and structure on paper.

The workshop was designed by consultants McNeely- Tunnock, the firm hired by the committee last month for a comprehensive study on options for the possible amalgamation - or not - of Chesterville, Winchester, Winchester Township and Mountain Township.

Those present were issued draft copies of Phase 1 of McNeely-Tunnock's study on amalgamation, a largely comparative document, listing - everything from staffing and administrative structures to the price charged for photocopies at municipal offices. NDRC members will chew on the document for a week before voting to accept it.

For the workshop, the 25 participants were seated at five separate tables, with a mixture of municipalities and roles (council and staff) at each table. Their first task, to answer the question "What are the three most significant obstacles to efficient local government in the North Dundas Area."

Responses from members included differences in existing services, accountability, effective communication, overcoming "independent attitudes" and the "fear of the unknown."

Also pegged as obstacles were the possible lack of co-ordinated decision-making, difficulty in assessing costs, diverse interests, loss of voluntarism and historic rivalries between municipalities.

Considering ways to address obstacles, a common response, although perhaps outside the boundaries of the question, was to restructure and share services and purchasing without amalgamating.

Other responses included using technology such as the Internet for better communication between areas, getting rid of the "we - they" attitude, working toward group-oriented decision-making and the development of a larger economic base.

Differences of opinion within the working group that have surfaced at various meetings were once again brought to the forefront.

Some confusion arose when consultant Glenn Tunnock asked committee members how the amalgamation study should proceed. He listed three study options; amalgamation, formalized and enhanced joint services and localized streamlining. In other words, should the study focus on amalgamation or compare it to sharing without amalgamation.

"Were not the terms of reference to study both of these?" Chesterville Reeve Jim Cook asked, alluding to the village's stance that amalgamation should not take place.

Family offers a sober ride for celebrants

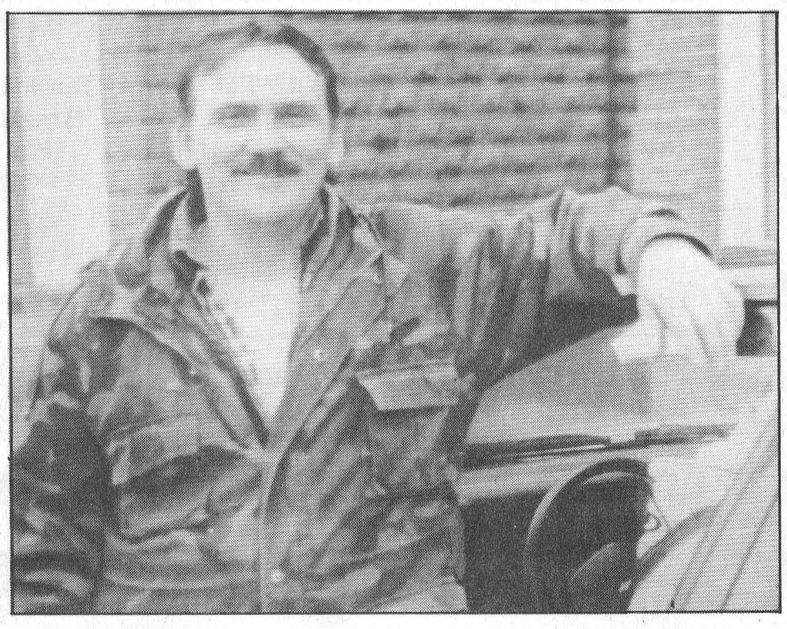
CHESTERVILLE - Myles Barkley is going from taxidermist to taxi driver on New Year's Eve.

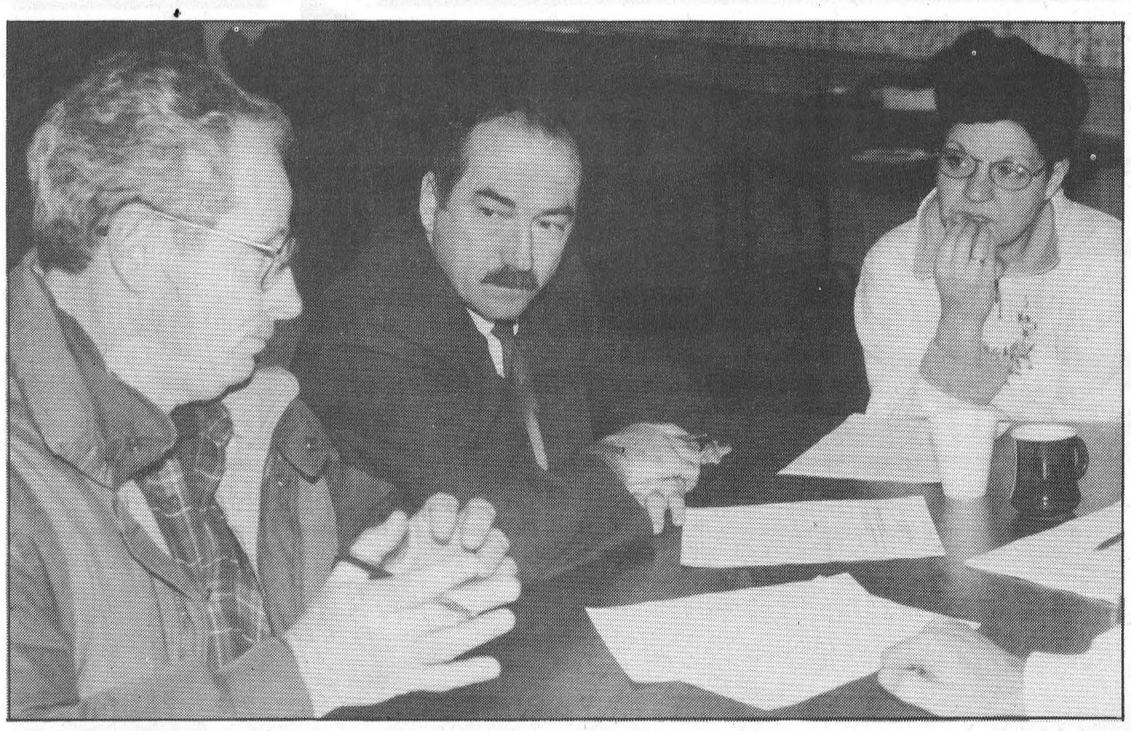
The Chesterville man along with members of his family will be offering a free taxi service to and from New Year's Eve parties for the second year in a row.

"The life we save just might be yours," he says. That's his motivation for continuing the service this year. "Why drink and drive when you can drink and we'll drive."

☐ Please see RIDE on page 2



Myles Barkley will take a turn driving taxi.



Winchester Township councillor Ed Gibson, Winchester councillor Bob Riddell and Chesterville councillor Gail Parker were among those who sat down Thursday to discuss the future of North Dundas.

NDRC members, councillors and staff discuss amalgamation

Winchester clerk Bonnie Dingwall, who is recording secretary of the NDRC noted the study, as called for, was to "specifically" include a comparison of savings between amalgamation and joint sharing without amalgamating.

But Winchester Township Reeve Claude Cousineau questioned the inclusion of sharing without amalgamating for study purposes.

"We'll be spending money foolishly if we go with a second option," he said. "It (amalgamation) is already a done deal."

"If that is the case, then I suggest we thank this gentleman for his time and effort and let him go," a frustrated Cook answered back. "We are here to study, not to decide how things are going to be, and I thought I made that clear at more than one meeting." Cook moved that the committee study both options, an idea shared by Winchester Reeve Larry Gray and Mountain Reeve Estella Rose. The vote to do so was passed unanimously.

But Tunnock was unable to promise the comparative study would be ready by January 15, when the United Counties amalgamation proposal comes back up for discussion.

In other NDRC news, Winchester member Mary Jane Elliott has resigned from the committee and has been replaced by councillor Bob Riddell.

The halls of Justus

The conference and educational room at Winchester District Memorial Hospital was dedicated last Wednesday as the Dr. Duane Justus Educational Room, in honor the Dr. Justus's service to the hospital. In unveiling the plaque and photo, Dr. Suru Chande, right, said Dr. Justus. left, has always been an integral part of the hospital's ongoing education program for doctors. Justus retired from his duties as a general surgeon in June, 1995 after 38 years as an active staff member, a span during which he served twice as chief of medical staff as well as director of ongoing education. Today, he is a member of the hospital's courtesy staff. The room is adjacent to the hospital's health science library, which in 1990, was dedicated to his father, Dr. Howard Justus, in honor of his service to the hospital.

Ride

Dubbed "Operation Designated Driver," the service is being sponsored by Barkley's taxidermy business and will be available New Year's Eve to drive party-goers to and from destinations until 3 a.m.

"There aren't any taxi services around here, so last year we decided to offer rides to those in need." Having received 10 calls after the rides were publicized for less than a week, Barkley realized that if more people knew then they too could take advantage of it.

"It's worth a tank of gas to me to keep someone alive." The rest of his family feels the same as several relatives will also be available to offer rides to those enjoying the season's good cheer.

It's the least he can do, he says, for a community which has given him so much.

With a quick glance down at one of the dozens of flyers he is distributing, Barkley says he realizes he doesn't have to do this, but "it's Christmas."

Giving to others is what the season is all about.

Without prejudice, he adds, he realizes the damage drinking and driving can cause and he wants to do his part to prevent it. "It's been 15 years since I lost my own licence and I no what it's like." As well, he adds, it's well worth it to keep the streets safe.

"Letting someone else drive is worth more than any Christmas present."

Notices for the service have been posted at all local licensed establishments and Barkley says he doesn't expect party-goers should have to call in advance. "We have several drivers and if we can't make it right away then I guess you'll just have to spend a few more minutes celebrating."

Leaving the driving to Barkley and his team may save a life. To ensure this safe ride home, call 448-1189.

Deal

"There was a lot of goodwill extended on behalf of both sides during negotiations."

Because teachers have yet to vote on the tentative agreements, details of it are under wraps until it is ratified.

However, Eamer adds both sides are relieved. "It's a tremendous load off of our shoulders. And the initial indication is that the agreement will please all sides."

Key points in the dispute included proposed cuts to preparation time and benefits. Under the old agreement teachers were allowed 160 minutes of preparation time per week. The board wanted that trimmed down to 100 minutes per week.

The dispute had been ongoing since early 1993, when collective bargaining began for a new agreement, that was to expire in August. But with the NDP's social contract, which rolled back wages, all discussions ceased until January this year.

Charlottenburgh reeve ready for challenges of wardenship

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

CORNWALL – The coming year will be one of change for the United Counties, with amalgamation and continued funding cuts on the horizon.

And a new leader will guide counties council through this year of change. Charlottenburgh Township Reeve Leslie O'Shaughnessy rose above his counties council colleagues Monday and claimed the warden's chair.

In a ceremony full of tradition at the Counties' inaugural session in Cornwall Monday, O'Shaughnessy was officially installed as CEO of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

O'Shaughnessy's nomination was moved by Williamsburg Township deputy-reeve Lyle Van Allen and seconded by Osnabruck Township Reeve Jim Bancroft.

After his selection, O'Shaughnessy was presented the Chain of Office by Lancaster Village Reeve Janette Abbey, and escorted to the chair by Van Allen and Bancroft. He was presented with the Warden's Pin by the man he replaces, Matilda Township Reeve Charles Barkley.

In his remarks, O'Shaughnessy thanked his colleagues for the confidence they had shown in him, and the people of Charlottenburgh for their support. And he alluded to the challenge he and the rest of counties council will face in 1997.

Osnabruck Township Reeve Jim Bancroft, left, and Williamsburg Township deputy-reeve Lyle Van Allen were among many who congratulated new SD&G Warden Leslie O'Shaughnessy.

"Today marks the beginning of a year that in all probability will conclude with a new form of local government," he said, adding it will be important for council to keep track of the province's Who Does What panel, which is redefining responsibility for services and costs.

He said the province will hopefully not only advise the counties promptly on the amount of funding cuts, but provide information on changes for local government.

But he noted there are other issues on the table as well, such as continued work toward the implementation of a 911 emergency phone system for SD&G, work on seniors' outreach services in Alexandria and Matilda Township, and the transfer of 72km of Hwy. 2 from the province to the counties.

The province is expected to turn over Hwy 2, widely touted as in serious need of repair, on April 1, with much less compensation than had originally been negotiated.

"We should not be expected to be responsible for such a highway without compensation that is deemed satisfactory," O'Shaughnessy said, noting the counties will continue to debate the matter with the Ministry of Transportation.

"In all probability there will be many issues that require the attention of counties council, and they will need to be addressed as they occur."

Stormont-Dundas MP Bob Kilger congratulated O'Shaughnessy on his appointment, wishing him well with deliberations on amalgamation and other issues, like the economy. He also thanked outgoing warden Charles Barkley, who he said "gave a steady hand" to council in 1996.

SD&G and East Grenville MPP Noble Villeneuve also wished O'Shaughnessy well in what will be a tough year. "The decisions are not going to be easy, but they are serious and they must be taken seriously."

Villeneuve noted important announcements for municipalities are expected next month. On January 6, Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing Al Leach will announce direction for municipalities with regard to restructuring. And on January 9, Minister of Education and Training John Snobelen will announce a new trajectory for education.

Villeneuve also commented that the province will look at the issue of funding for Hwy. 2.

Barkley, in congratulating his successor, said O'Shaughnessy can look forward to a "busy but rewarding" year.

O'Shaughnessy is the eleventh Charlottenburgh member to serve as warden. The selection of a warden for the United Counties is one that has a long tradition, dating back to 1850. Counties council members are the reeves and deputy-reeves of SD&G's 20 municipalities, and the warden is chosen from amongst them, as one who traditionally has served as chair of all or most United Counties committees during their tenure.

Also, the wardenship alternates between counties - Dundas's Charles Barkley was reeve for 1996, and Stormont's Floyd Dingwall served as warden in 1995.

Generally, an incoming warden knows they are to be chosen long before the inaugural session, and the nomination process is essentially a formality.

Chesterville Reeve Jim Cook served as warden in 1993, and Winchester Township Reeve Claude Cousineau was warden in 1990.

Editorial

Stay tuned...

Will 1996 be remembered as the year the province's amalgamation bombshell was dropped, or the year three Stormont schools were given death notices? The year that started with a tragic and mysterious rash of fires in Stormont and Dundas, or the year Ontario public servants conducted a bitter, month- long strike?

Whatever the headline, 1996 was a year jam-packed with both good and bad news, as well as change. Many of the events that made headlines this year are not settled, and will also grace the pages of the Record next year, no doubt.

In 1996, your municipal leaders began the ominous task of sitting down and talking about redesigning SD&G's municipal structure. Many meetings have been held, and there's still no answer, no solution, no consensus, and still a lot of work to be done. In 1997, proposals for amalgamation are due. The amalgamation spectre will no doubt be among the top news generators next year... and we'll be following it very closely.

Also in 1996, the Ontario Municipal Board ruled in favor of the Chesterville's zoning bylaw and Official Plan, meaning developer Peter Van Kessel can go ahead with his proposed apartment for seniors. It's been an ongoing controversy in the village for more than three years, and 1997 could be the year the ground is broken for the building. Will the controversy continue?...

Two other local controversies are headed for the OMB in 1997, the Elma dirt-bike track saga and the Winchester Township quarry case. Both have raised a lot of emotion in their communities.

In the spring of 1996, the people of Avonmore won a dramatic five-year struggle for full postal services, with an innovative blend of technology and persistence. In the fall of 1996, Avonmore was rallying again, this time to save Roxmore Public School from closure. Also rallying are Newington and Ingleside, also home to schools targeted for closure by the SD&G Public School Board. Decisions on the schools' fates are due in April, unless an interesting twist unfolds next month... stay tuned.

In the next issue of the Record, we'll replay the first six months of 1996, news-wise. It's our annual Year In Review feature, a capsulizing of the people and events that made headlines during the year. A review of the last six months will appear in the subsequent issue, the first of the new year.

Looking back at the headlines of a particular year is a good exercise for us, and for our readers. It's a good refresher, and it reminds us where we've been before we take down the calendar and prepare for another year.

Off The Record

A family victimized by a drunk driver

By Robin Morris
Impaired Judgement Editor

My brother-in-law Ralph is in hospital as you read this. He has a broken neck, broken back, fractured skull, thoracic injuries, at least one broken finger, cuts, bruises, scrapes and contusions. He was on his way from his home in Napanee to Burlington, Vermont, where he is the manager of a solid waste management company, when his truck was struck from behind by a drunk driver at 5:30 a.m. Monday on the 401 eastbound near Mallorytown.

The force of the collision caused his company truck to leave the road, roll over and hit a rock cut. Members of the Front of Yonge Township volunteer fire department had to use the Jaws of Life to cut him out of the wrecked vehicle before sending him to the Brockville General Hospital where his injuries were assessed. He was bleeding from the ears, indicating a fractured skull, and was quickly sent by ambulance to the Kingston General Hospital's neurology unit where CAT scans indicated he had suffered no brain damage. On Monday night he was still on a backboard and the full extent of his injuries were unknown although preliminary indications were that he will not suffer any paralysis despite the damage to his spinal column.

Those at the scene of the accident told Ralph's wife that it was a miracle he survived the accident at all. They shook their heads in disbelief that he hadn't been killed.

Ralph's a family man. A good-natured, hard working guy whose joys in life are his wife, his two sons and the Dallas Cowboys (not always in that order, but The Boys wrapped up their fifth straight NFC East title Sunday afternoon, putting him in a magnanimous mood). You've met him through this column on several occasions and you may remember the tale of his shrinking cotton chinos and the wedding reception we attended in Manotick several summers back. So metaphorically speaking, he's one of the Off The Record family and, Gentle Reader, your close personal friend.

In addition to being my brother-in-law (well, sort of; he's married to my wife's sister which technically makes him her brother-in-law), he's one of my best friends and I have to admit to you up front, that I'm in a state over the randomness of the cruelty of the situation. The only upside to the situation, if there is any, was that Ralph's older son, Nicholas, was not with him at the time. The teachers in Nick's school board are on strike and with time on his hands, he had asked his father if he could accompany him to the States for the week to alleviate the boredom of his extended Christmas vacation. Ralph had steadfastly refused or God only knows what would have happened Monday morning.

It's a week before Christmas and his job and his life just went to Hell in a handcart and all because some 22-year-old drunken punk stole a van in Kingston, went for a joy ride, stole a tank of gas from a service centre at Joyceville and then went on a tear down the 401. He was either so drunk or is so stupid that he managed, on a four-lane highway, to hit the rear end of the vehicle in front of him, no mean feat given the brightness of the tail lights on Ralph's pick-up.

And what happened to Jack the Lad?

A few scratches.

And there you have it: a family man who isn't afraid to put in a 12- or 16-hour day to provide a home and a damned good living for his family, a former hard-rock miner who started in the transportation business as a courier service driver, worked his way into an office position and has been on the rise ever since, to the point where executive head hunters are now after him. He's in hospital with a twisted and broken body, but knowing Ralph as well as I have since his elementary school days, with his indomitable spirit intact. He remained conscious throughout the ordeal and I'd be more than a little surprised if he didn't ask one of the firefighters while he was being cut out of the cab of his truck if he had an extra smoke with him.

And this dimwitted punk who has turned a family's Christmas into a nightmare? A few scratches and some criminal charges, including impaired driving causing bodily harm.

I've sat in provincial court often enough to know what kind of justice will be meted out to this yob. The mighty, majesty, dominion and power of the legal aid system will be put at his disposal and in a few months' time a suited weasel who's on the public dime will be standing in court telling a judge that Jack the Lad is the victim of an underprivileged youth; that his father criticized him as an adolescent and that he didn't get a pony for his 10th birthday.

No responsibility for any of his actions can be laid at the door of this young man, who may have committed transgressions in the past but these were due entirely to his pony-less formative years and instead of a jail sentence would the court agree to say, a term of community service in, say, a video arcade where he could counsel other Trigger-less youth on the evils of vehicular theft and driving when "you're, like, totally wrecked, dude".

His presentence report will be full of the standard remorseful clap-trap of those caught in the act and lying through their teeth to get out of doing a few years of justly earned hard porridge and there will be a great wailing and gnashing of teeth in court over how justice would not be served by sending him for a time as a guest of Her Majesty.

The justice that will be delivered will be of the same quality as that which was served on 401 Monday morning.

Legion News, Branch 434

Last but not least is those who not only serve but become involved in our various offices. To those we are indebted, they are the ones who lead the branch, they are the ones who must set the pace, the path that the branch must follow, these are the guys who give of their time, their energy and their knowledge so that we can survive in this new world.

So as we close off 1996 and enter a new year let us "one and all" give them the backing they deserve. Have a very Merry Christmas and all the best in the New Year.

A mistake was made last week in the column, where we erroneously gave the wrong time for the regular Legion dance on the 21st. We are having our annual potluck supper that night and will open the doors to the public at 9 p.m. Tickets at the door only. Don't forget the bingo in the afternoon, doors open at 11 a.m. Remember the Legion Hall is open on Friday afternoon for your pleasure, come along and enjoy a game of euchre or whatever and meet some new friends.

Well another year has passed by and what a year it was. 1996 will, I am sure, go into the books as one of the branches most exciting years.

Way back in February we formed the anniversary committee, and they took off on their mission with a vengeance, accomplishing all they set out to do and more. In fact they even surprised Cecil which alone is an accomplishment.

We retired our old Legion colors and replaced them with a new set that was dedicated by the Rev. Father Don Cummings, at a ceremony in the Legion Hall.

We held a very memorable service dedicated to our fallen comrades at the cenotaph in Chesterville. Two pipe bands played us to and from the Legion Hall. These bands also helped to keep those Air Force guys in step, not like us poor foot sloggers, they very seldom had to march far. We also had two very smart R.C.M.P. lead the way on their beautiful black horses.

We must also remember the barbeque boys, those who so regularly eat smoke to get those chickens out on time. We also owe a debt to our guys who serve in the bar on so many occasions during a year, how could we do without them.

What about our Ladies Auxiliary, who are ever present and who run all the bingos. We sure owe them our highest praise for their dedication and service.

One must never forget our Poppy Fund and all those who so generously give of their time and energy to this most worthy cause.

Then, of course, is our "Poster Campaign" in the schools, which is not only popular, but some lucky student could win a great prize, but what is more important it gets the school children involved.

Letters To The Editor

Lions Club thanked for wheelchair gift

To the editor:

Dear Lions' members,

Recently your generosity made possible the purchase of a wheelchair for a young autistic boy. Steven's face lights up and he giggles with joy at just the sight of his new chair. He now safely and comfortably continues to enjoy weekly outings to church, swimming, McDonald's and shopping malls. A heartfelt thank you is extended to your members and the community for the extreme generosity shown to Steven. Once again, thank you.

Reader targets Liberals, big banks

To the editor:

For the past couple of weeks, backbench Liberal MP's have joined opposition Reform and Bloc MP's of the parliamentary banking committee in condemning the high interest rates charged on credit cards by Canada's major banks. While this may raise brownie points in backwoods Canada for these toothless lap dog Liberal MP's, power brokers in the federal cabinet have assured Bay Street bankers that nothing is about to change. The Liberal establishment is not going to bite the hand that feeds them.

The top five contributors to the Liberal Party of Canada in 1995 were all major banks. If you are happy with .25 percent return on the money in your savings account that helps the rich keep getting richer while more Canadians and businesses then ever are going bankrupt each year, then I suggest you vote in the upcoming federal election for the party that promised to not merge or hide but abolish the G.S.T.

THE FARMER'S WIFES

By Wyn Thompson

Is there a Santa Claus? With apologies to Virginia, of course there is...bless my buttons, there are dozens of them.

I see him each night as I turn on my television, in fact, in one night recently I counted, yes counted, seven jolly little men in various degrees of obesity. Oh, I admit I was surfing and, it was a boring night.

I see him in each town I happen to visit in the merry month of Christmas. I see him in the city, in almost every shop I enter and exit.

Ah yes, there is a Santa Claus. And we do need him, if for no other reason than to give us pause to think. To make us laugh, to make us grateful, to make us more giving of self, to enjoy the beauty of the winter season, if only for a month. We'd be the poorer without his Ho, Ho, Ho.

"Why do you like Santa Claus?" I enquired of a little girl who stood in a department store line-up to tell Santa what she simply had to have for Christmas. "He brings me candy," she shyly said. A very good reason indeed.

A young lad ahead of her, not to be outdone boldly said, "Because he's going to bring me a backhoe, at least he'd better." Now, that's the spirit, this kid'll go far.

Another little lady had just joined the line and when questioned looked up at me and giggled, "Because he makes me laugh." I made a little wish that she'd never forget how to laugh and find joy in Santa every year.

Yes Virginia, there is a Santa Claus, or St. Nicholas, or Jul-Nisse or ... And he's been around and about for ages, one of the great mysteries of the universe which we obviously need or else he would have disappeared long, long ago.

Do I have a favorite? Yes, it has to be our own Santa Claus in whatever form I find him as Christmas comes to me each December.

Second best is Nisse, the Santa Claus of Scandinavia. He sparks my imagination as I picture him scurrying about the attics where he lives in the cities and towns, and in the barns wherever there are cattle.

The family cat is about the only one who is on intimate terms with Nisse, but the cattle know him well as he sees to it that they are well fed and watered and bedded down, should others forget. A lovely lesson in legend form.

It is a thoughtless family indeed, that will sit down to a Christmas Eve dinner without first providing a bowl of bread and milk liberally sprinkled with brown sugar and cinnamon for Nisse.

Without Nisse much of the flavor of the Yule season would be lost for he appears on Christmas cards, in shop windows, on posters, and in the homes as the Spirit of Christmas, just like our Santa Claus.

Then there is the Swiss Father Christmas. As the people of Switzerland are a mixture of Italian, French, Austrian and German, so are their Christmas customs.

To appreciate the Swiss, you must picture long, snow-swept valleys sparkling white under a bright sun. High, very high, mountain peaks rise on every side, and evergreens are silhouetted against the dazzling snow. This is the wonderland where the Swiss live, amid a terrain so massive that even the larger towns seem toy-sized by comparison.

Father Christmas, his jovial red face and white beard framed by a long-furred robe, appears in these Alpine villages on Christmas Eve. He marches up and down the streets in the company of his wife, Lucy, who wears a round cap over her long plaits of hair, a smart lace bodice, and a silk apron. She gives gifts to the girls; he distributes gifts to the boys.

And Virginia, for the Swiss children the joys of Christmas last much longer than they do in most lands. The kids place a shoe outside their doors for two Saturdays preceding Christmas and find them filled with candy and walnuts if they have been good. Of course, with the dawning of Christmas, they find their trees loaded with presents.

Also, there is St. Nicholas of Holland who also comes on Christmas Eve, questions each child closely and then pours a shower of candy on the floor. I must confess he's my kind of Santa, Virginia. Then while the kids are scrambling for sweets, he disappears. But, the next morning the children find the wooden shoes they have left on the table or hearth filled with gifts, proof that their patron saint has not forgotten them.

Most countries have a Santa Claus who is the Spirit of Christmas, and Christmas is celebrated in a manner that is unique to each country.

From England comes much of our Christmas lore and some of the most colorful ceremonies. From Bavaria comes another small but significant custom of leaving the shades up on the front-facing windows that contain the Christmas trees so that passers-by can look in and share in the pleasure. A delightful custom, I think.

Santa's, world-wide, get everyone into the spirit of Christmas and whole communities come together for one last time before the New Year begins.

It seems Virginia, that part of Santa's legacy is that wherever you are you try to make Christmas work. Sometimes it is against heavy odds.

Is there a Santa Claus? You bet your buttons there is...this Spirit of Christmas brings Hope to an overwhelmed and sometimes overwhelming world. Enjoy and again I say Enjoy?

Dog attack prompts resident's concern

Melissa Batchilder
Record Staff

MOREWOOD - A vicious dog attack has caused a Morewood man to question enforcement of Winchester Township's Dog Control By-law.

Vern Williamson says his wife was walking along Alyssa Cres. Tues. Dec. 3, when without warning a stray dog lunged at her back and tore into the skin.

The victim of the attack, Lou Williamson said she had been walking the same route she does daily when the dog apparently raced towards her from across the road. "I didn't hear it or see it. All of a sudden it just jumped on my back and chewed at me." Although the skin was broken and severely swollen, she did not require major medical care.

Although the dog has since been destroyed, Vern Williamson says he is concerned there may be other dogs in the municipality and the by-law to control such situations is not being enforced.

Under the Dog Control By-law it states "no owner of a dog shall permit the dog to run at large in the township and any dog found running at large contrary to this provision may be seized and impounded or destroyed as permitted by law by the animal control officer." A dog is deemed to be running at large when found in any place other than the premises of the owner of the dog and not under the control of any person.

If an owner is in contravention of this aspect of the by-law, he or she can be fined $50.

Injuries received during a Morewood dog attack.

However, Winchester Township by-law enforcement officer Brent Copeland says the owner of this particular dog was warned as soon as he learned of this incident.

"That's standard procedure when we receive a report that there is a dog running loose. The owner is warned first," added Copeland.

Williamson said his main concern is for others in the community who may come up against the same situation.

In this case, the dog was destroyed earlier this week. But Williamson maintains his interest in ensuring it not happen again with another dog.

"This wasn't the first time this dog had jumped at someone," said Williamson. According to him, it had attempted to bite someone the previous day and recently a couple of walkers had to chase it away by throwing rocks and a stick at it.

When his wife was attacked, they called the OPP, the municipality and the Eastern Ontario Health Unit.

Despite Williamson's claims, the owner of the dog Mary Blaney said this was an isolated incident. "I was never aware of this happening before with the dog," which was an eight-year-old mixed breed.

However, she said she can't take the chance that it might happen again. "As a responsible pet owner I can't take that risk. I can't put people and children in danger."

The situation certainly didn't fit the dog's character, Blaney added, but it just wasn't worth taking the chance.

Prior to the animal's destruction, it was caged and quarantined for a period of 10 days.

It wasn't with anger, said Williamson, that he made the reports but out of fear that it might happen again. "I don't want to seem like I'm complaining, but there are other people who walk through this area."

If in fact the dog was destroyed, he added, then he is satisfied that in this case further damage has been prevented. Nevertheless, he adds, he would like to see all dogs being tied up in accordance with the by-law.

"There are obviously times when it isn't being enforced."

Copeland said he was not aware of the incident until after it occurred when he did act upon it. "But I can't notify an owner unless I know of a situation." When the municipality gets a call, it responds immediately, he said.

"If a private citizen is concerned about loose dogs then he should call when he sees one."

Obituaries

C.J. Clair Robertson

Clair Robertson, of Berwick, died December 9, 1996 following a brief illness. He was 74.

Mr. Robertson, a retired dairy farmer, was born March 16, 1922, son of the late Carl and Vera Robertson.

Mr. Robertson was beloved husband of the late Violet (Rutley) Robertson. He was dear father of Anne (Mrs. Ed Chisholm) of RR 3 Appin, Lynn (Sandra) and Arden (Maureen) of Berwick. He was loved grandfather of Krista, Kathryn, Andrew, Kyle, Alix and Meghan.

Funeral services were held December 12 at Brownlee Funeral Home in Finch and were officiated by Rev. Dr. Ross Davis. Interment was at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Charles Frederick Weaver

Charles Frederick Weaver, of Dundas Manor, Winchester, died December 11, 1996 in Winchester after a 10-year illness. He was 96.

Mr. Weaver, a retired schoolteacher, formerly of Morewood, was born September 18, 1900 in Morewood, son of the late George F. Weaver and Mabel G. Crump. He was a member of Morewood Presbyterian Church and the Morewood Presbyterian Church Choir.

Mr. Weaver taught for forty years, in Limoges, Cannamore, New Winchester, Morewood Public School and in Haliburton. He taught music and athletics to three generations of children.

Mr. Weaver was step-brother of the late Annie Steinburg, Jennie Semeyn and Milford. He will be remembered by his nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held December 13 at Daniels Funeral Home in Chesterville and were officiated by Rev. Bert de Bruijn. Interment was at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Garnet Crump, Howard Crump, Orland Crump and Cecil McNab.

Edwin M. Munro

Edwin M. Munro, a lifetime resident of RR 2 Chesterville, died December 10, 1996 at Dundas Manor in Winchester. He was 80.

Mr. Munro, a retired construction foreman and farmer, was born August 6, 1916 in Winchester Township, son of the late John E. Munro and Katherine Meldrum. He was educated at S.S. #5 Nation Valley and Chesterville High School.

He was beloved husband of Mildred Isobel MacDonald, and dear father of Diane (Larry) O'Reilly of Metcalfe and Lois (Gerard) Szaulis of Iroquois. He will be missed by grandchildren Mark, Laura, Amanda, Michael, Catherine and John-Robert. He is also survived by sisters Fran McMurray and Gertie Tinkler.

Mr. Munro is predeceased by sisters Norma, Cora and Hazel and brother Ab.

Funeral services were held December 13 at Daniels Funeral Home and were officiated by Rev. Bert de Bruijn. Interment will be at Springhill Cemetery in the spring.

Pallbearers were Doug Woods, Norman Tinkler, Glen Robinson and Carl Munro.

Marie Eveleen Byford

Marie Eveleen Byford, of Morrisburg, died December 15, 1996 at the Hartford Retirement Centre after a brief illness. She was 92.

Mrs. Byford, formerly of Montreal and Toronto, was a housewife and clerk for Moore Business Forms, was born March 23, 1904 in Montreal, daughter of the late Joseph Antoine Rozon and Annie Evelyn Ryan. She was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Morrisburg.

Mrs. Byford is survived by sons Patrick (Norma) of Peterborough, Jon of Toronto and Joe (Joyce) of Winchester. She is also survived by sister Camilla (Mrs. Karol Benka) of Vancouver, three grandchildren, five great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

She is predeceased by her husband, Robert Alexander Byford.

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated December 17 at St. Mary's Church in Morrisburg by Fr. Timothy Shea. Interment was at St. Mary's Cemetery, Morrisburg.

Pallbearers were John Allison, Roger Bouchard, Dirk Testerink and Gord Milne.

The Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada was the grateful receiver of an early Christmas present from the Newington Fire Department last week. Chief Jack Warner and department Muscular Dystrophy chairman Brad Hunt donated a cheque for $600 to Muscular Dystrophy Association district co-ordinator Pauline Tardiff. The funds were raised during the department's "boot drive" Nov. 2. Firefighters across Canada have been supporting this cause for 42 years.

Santa stops in Finch

Finch and area residents came out en masse Saturday afternoon to greet Santa, and the creative and festive floats that preceded him in the village's annual Christmas parade. Below, the Finch Antique & Steam Show entry was judged best, and bottom right, Debbie Hunt won for best costume. Other winners were Peter Babcock Ltd. the Stormont Junior Farmers, Cash Haven Farm's reindeer tractor and Richard Wagner's reindeer llama. Finch Variety's float, top right, won a plaque from the Finch Carnival Committee for outstanding effort and community spirit. Organizers said they were pleased with the parade, which was twice the size as last year's and drew a good crowd.

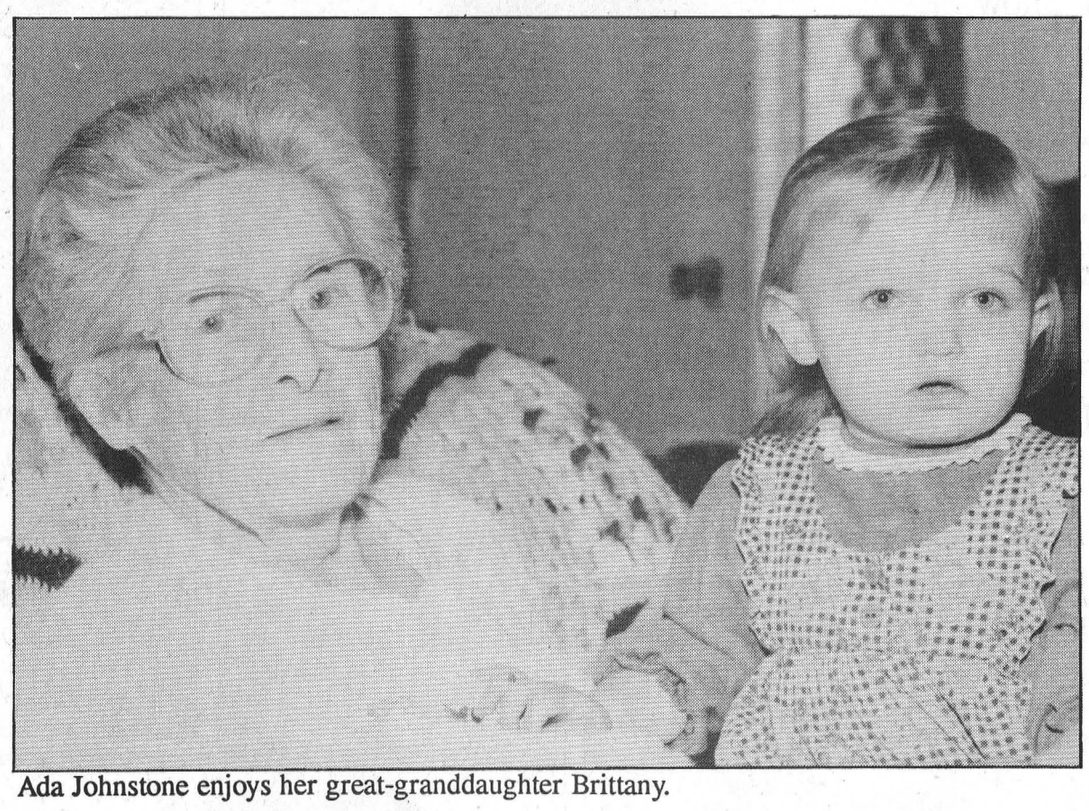
Ada Johnstone: Berwick's treasure chest of memories

Melissa Batchilder
Record Staff



Ada Johnstone enjoys her great-granddaughter Brittany.

Ada Johnstone has seen the season of Christmas come and go for close to 90 years and as anyone who knows her can attest, she probably remembers them all.

Soon to be 89 the Berwick great-grandmother can remember details of her childhood that most teenagers wouldn't be able think of. It's her tremendous memory and sharp wit that make her a well-known icon in the Finch Township hamlet.

"But you know I lived away for more then 50 years," she says with a bit of a grin. "That's right. I was in Crysler for more than 50 years."

Sitting comfortably in a living room chair she answers questions in a heartbeat. Nothing has been forgotten. Ada is a treasure chest of life and memories of the area.

Although she was christened as Ada, she's been called Adi, Grammy, Gram and a few others by her friends and family which includes 14 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren. "Why I even received a letter the other day in the mail that was addressed to Grammy Johnstone on the envelope. It made it here though."

Born on the Riverside Road, Ada was raised on a farm at Berwick. "I've lived in this area all my life. I was born here and went to school here, but I lived in Crysler for 52 years with my husband."

In fact, she adds, the house she was raised in is still standing. "Dad took a log house from Lancaster and moved it here to Riverside Road. That's where we lived."

School was nearby on the Riverside Road as well. "I went to school in the last one that Finch Township ever built. It was school house 18." At one time, she says, there were 43 students and not enough seats for them all. "Some had to sit on blocks of wood."

After completing Grade 8, Ada went on to high school in Finch. "The school is now The Furniture Loft." In those days though, grades were referred to as forms. The Finch High School housed first, second and third form.

When Ada's father sold his farm, she says, the family moved into the hamlet of Berwick and the children began their own lives.

"I got married and we moved to the farm in Crysler where we had 200 acres and 81 head of purebred cattle."

With another chuckle, Ada remembers meeting her husband. "We met at the skating rink. There used to be a big one here and everyone would come from miles around. I had cousins who were Ouderkirks and they had their own hockey team."

But at the tender age of 18, Ada gave up her days in Berwick to begin her own family which grew to include two sons and two daughters of her own. Fifty-two years she shared with them. Fifty-two years of making memories.

She remembers often the huge meals she would have to prepare for the men working on the farm. "They would come in for dinner and lunches in the evening." Ada kept the kitchen warm and the children entertained.

But then in the late 1970s, in a matter of 16 months, Ada's entire life changed dramatically forever. Within that period of time she lost both of her sons and her husband.

"It was a really difficult time. I had to make a lot of changes. I had to sell the farm and wanted to move back here. I just had to get out."

Coming home to Berwick would hopefully provide her with the comfort she and her remaining family needed to move on.

"We built this house then and have been living in it ever since." The brick bungalow is situated on the main street in Berwick, close to all of Ada's interests.

Looking at the Christmas tree decorated in the corner of the living room, Ada says, her family always had a Christmas tree and gifts. "We never did without." However, the season certainly has changed in terms of commercialism, she says.

Growing up there were three girls and a boy in Ada's family. "When the youngest girl was 11, my parents adopted a boy. He was so much like us, no one ever knew the difference."

And Christmases were always a big celebration, she says. "Mother only had one sister so one year Christmas would be at our house and New Year's at my aunt's. The next year it would switch."

Despite having spent most of her childhood in Berwick, Ada remembers the time her family made a move to North Dakota. "I was just a baby the first time we went out there. And the last time we came back I was seven."

With tremendous clarity, she remembers vividly every detail of the journeys. "Dad rented his farm here and we went out to his brother's place in North Dakota so Dad could farm out there."

In those days as a child Ada was still quite a little character. "They couldn't keep shoes and stockings on my feet. I remember one time my uncle brought home a brand new pair of shoes and new stockings for me. He was sure I would keep them on. But it wasn't long before Ada was running barefoot again."

When asked where her new shoes were, Ada's response was simple. "I drowned them in the reservoir." Of course that was the container at the end of the stove for water. "I watched when no one was looking and dropped them in the reservoir. Back to running barefoot."

She remembers too the "little low" house they lived in during those years. Years later, her uncle died out there, but sent back to Ada was his watch and ring reminding her of that time in her life.

Despite Ada's far reach of memories, she's equally as able to expound on her life today.

The house she shares with two of her grandchildren and two of her great-grandchildren is filled with her handiwork. Sofas and chairs are decorated with afghans she made over the years.

In the bedrooms, beds are covered with beautifully detailed quilts. "I've given each of my grandchildren a quilt." She plans to get busy on another one after Christmas.

Of course, the days of the week are always filled with her "social agenda." Each week she plays euchre and attends a senior's meeting and remains active in the local senior's centre.

"I've always got lots to do she says."

And then there are the donuts. Ada is well-known for her donuts, which she insists on giving credit to Jessie Ouderkirk for. "It's her recipe."

When Saturday night rolls around, Ada is out the door. It's Hockey Night in Canada and she wouldn't miss watching the game with her cousins. "I like to see the Senators or the Leafs win," she says.

Always busy. Always in good humor. There is a lot to be learned from Ada Johnstone.

Melissa! — by Melissa Batchilder

Finally! I did the wild thing and went out and bought some outdoor Christmas lights. Pretty crazy huh? It beats stealin' them off my neighbor's porch.(Heh! Heh!)

All that's left now is the final step of adorning the lobster traps with a couple of big red bows and I'm all set for Ho Ho. Perhaps the bows will attract some lobster too!

I realized after a few gusts of wind, duh!, that I can't just place my green boughs strategically around the porch. I had to tie them down. Thank heavens we have an abundance of dental floss at Lilac Grove! What better means of securing one's Christmas decoration.

The awful part of that though was that all I could find was great masses of "fuzzy floss". This is some new Johnson and Johnson product that comes in a blue-ish kinda Phentex yarn description intertwined with white and coated kinda with dry toothpaste stuff. Ah, I used it anyway. There I was out there justa tying my boughs being choked with flakes of toothpaste. Nice visual there. Of course it takes me metres and metres, (I'm so metric) and I'm a chokin' and a trippin' all over this stuff, but my it's some grand lookin' now.

I stand back on the other side of the street and look at it before I go out and get the lights. I'm so proud. My first house. My first decorations. In my mind it looks like a castle. Or one of those houses you see on television in Ottawa that causes so much controversy. Of course then I drive out to get my lights and see the bread man's house on Hwy.43... and I deflate. My house looks like the crumbs after the gingerbread house gets eaten.

So I decide that the lights I'm enroute to purchase will make it all better. That's right! All I need are some lights and those bows on the lobster traps and hah! the bread man can eat his heart out.

I rush home, borrow an extension cord (why would I ever own one?) and string those lights. It's still daylight but I turn them on anyway. Damn, Lilac Grove looks mighty fine! All you have to do is steer clear of the bread man's house so you won't have anything to compare it to.

******

Hey, hey. The enviro-guys made their way to Lilac Grove this week too. That's right, after the Cornwall Energy Efficiency Team's Cy Page sold me on having a home tune-up, I threw open the doors to "the team" one day last week.

Honestly, I thought my father was on d'oisland until d'boys arrived at my door to give me the energy-efficiency spiel. Blah, blah, blah on they went. "Do you realize how much heat is getting out through this door? Do you know how long it's been since this furnace filter was changed? Do you realize how much water you're wasting when you flush the toilet?"

Yeah, yeah. Meanwhile, I'm sitting there thinking...hmmm, I just want me some of that free stuff I know you're going to put in if I can just be polite for long enough. And as for a furnace filter.... cripes, I didn't even know where the furnace was until I was practically led by the hand to the basement by enviro-Glenn and shown.

Of course then he has to give me another lecture on the filth of the filter and how negligent I've been in not changing it. Honestly, it was like going to confession and being handed your penance. That's right, now Melissa say three Hail Mary's for the dirty furnace filter and after that say two decades of the Rosary for all the windows that weren't closed properly. I'm so energy-challenged.

And that was just the basement. The main floor didn't get any better. While enviro-Glenn had to practically take the entire door frame off to put some weather slice or strip or something on it, enviro-Claude checked the windows and water stuff. I thought enviro-Glenn was bad for penance. Hah! Enviro-Claude was an arch-bishop where enviro- Glenn was merely a priest. Blah, blah, blah. On he went. Of course, I blamed everything on Erica. You know Erica should know better, I said. She's the one that is the responsible one. Shame on Erica.

Bless his wee heart though. He was barely through the door when I started in on how I didn't want to hear the introductory spiel, rather, I bought these new lightbulbs and since you're here, could you put them in. And while you're at it, I have this shelf to be hung. After that, we'll get at the Christmas lights. I know, I know. They were the energy-team, not the whole-house-repairs-team, but hey, I may as well make use of them!

And good sports they were too! Poor enviro-Glenn spent most of his time taking the door apart, but hey, I would do the same for him at his house if he asked. Might take me a bit longer, but I'd do it.

On a serious note, and believe me the frame of mind I'm in, it won't last long... the Cornwall and Area Energy Efficiency Team is an extremely valuable service we have in this area. Make use of it by calling Chesterville office and have them come out to your home. And thank-you so much for coming out and tuning me in to my energy deficiencies and how I can change them and save money.

Perhaps, I'll have you back again when the Christmas lights need to come down!

'Tis the season to enjoy peace and harmony they say. Tis the time to celebrate in the company of family and friends.

Okay, I understand that message, so off I went on Saturday with a kindred spirit to Prescott. Return to m'old stompin' grounds. Say hello to folks I haven't seen for awhile. Visit the shops. Look at the river. Sounds peaceful, happy and joyous... and to share it all with a kindred spirit just added to my bounty within... until the coat rack incident.

Let me tell ya a wee story here. Following the day of peace, joy and harmony we decided to conclude with a festive dinner at the Stockade Barracks. For those of you who aren't aware of this historical dinner atmosphere, then you really should make a point of it. Located in the heart of Prescott, it used to house soldiers and later became a hospital during the early 1800s.

In recent years, owner and man of great vision Paul Fortier brought the structure back to life and now serves groups and smaller parties a wonderful meal with a historic theme. Fabulous way to spend an evening. The culinary expertise is indescribable, and the service and surroundings equal the wonder.

And Saturday evening there we were... dining with the beautiful people. Enjoying everything about it. Of course, Paul has a marvelous manner in which to make guests feel relaxed and comfortable. I was doin' just that. Sharing goodwill, good food and the good life.

Finished our meal exhausted with the ambiance. Pooped we were! And then it happened. On our way out of the building... just about to take my coat off the rack. Feeling peaceful. Joyous. Shame about that coat rack though.

Of course, I should have known. I should have known it would be impossible not to endure some sort of catastrophe. Everything was running far too smoothly. It was almost a relief when I reached for my jacket and the entire coat rack with about 60 pieces of heavy winter attires; scarves, hats and mittens, decided it was time to give up the ghost and KABOOM! CRASH! BANG! Down it came on my head! Naturally, there was no other route for me to take. I went hysterical. As I tried to maintain some sort of composure, (yeah right!), my kindred spirit leaped to my aid only to have the rack attack him as well. I swear, it was taking on a life of its own... just like the plant in Little Shop of Horrors. Eventually, we just gave in and let it completely crash around us. I was tired of holding it up with my noggin anyway.

This goes without mentioning that I couldn't speak anyway cause I was laughin' so hard. Hysterical I was. Losing my breath. Tears running down my cheeks. Wah! How do ya like me now? My idea was just to crawl out from beneath the disaster, not tell anyone about it and flee. Kinda like the time I broke Kelly Publicover's hairbrush when I was seven. I just threw it in the back of the closet, hid it under some toys and took off home.

Oh no, kindred spirit is far too responsible for that. He has to go and blab to the owner that I trashed the lobby. Ah well, peace and harmony can only last so long. Joy to the world, I say. Joy, joy, joy. Not much peace and harmony for me sometimes. But lots of joy!

******

Watch out for the psychedelic lights at Lilac Grover. Flashing through the snow! Seems Erica invested in a set of tree lights that have eight different settings. Now we sit there at night and amuse ourselves with the lights... when we're not getting sick from watching them! Flash! Flash! Flash! Looks like we have a sale on!

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Clair Robertson express their sincere thanks to their relatives, friends and neighbors who gave their support and sympathy following the loss of our dear father and grandfather. Your visits, cards, flowers and donations of food and contributions were greatly appreciated. Thank you to Rev. Dr. Ross Davis and Brownlee Funeral Home for their thoughtfulness. We also extend special thanks to Dr. Slowey, Dr. McMillan, the staff of Winchester Hospital and Crysler Residence for their care.

DEATH NOTICE

"Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

Annie Makoweski, - loving mother and mother-in-law of Jennie and Rev. Roy Harwood, and dear Baba of Natasha and Sonya, has gone to be with her Lord, Dec. 9, 1996, in her 90th year.

Rev. Roy conducted her funeral in Niagara Falls, Ont. and Natasha played hymns "What A Friend We Have In Jesus, How Great Thou Art and God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again, on the flute.

Baba would be pleased.

Happy Birthday

Santa in Berwick

Santa Claus wasn't too tired from his stops in Chesterville and Finch Saturday to visit children in Berwick Sunday morning at the Community Centre. Berwick's Kevin Elshof was one of many good boys and girls who told Santa what they want this year.

Toy Mountain

Chesterville TD Bank staffers Andrea MacLellan, Heather Royle and Ruth MacLean climbed atop Toy Mountain last week. Bank staff, students from Chesterville Public School and St. Mary's School and customers contributed a total of 310 new and used toys, which were taken Friday by manager Eldon Moss to a TD Bank Ottawa, where they joined about 10,000 others from across the region. The Salvation Army will distribute the toys to needy children from Pembroke to Cornwall this Christmas, as well as at Easter and on birthdays. Toy Mountain was started in 1992 and this year has spread to Calgary, and is on its way to becoming a nation-wide event. Also donated to the Toy Mountain effort was $4,500 in cash, plus another $12,000, from five-cent donations the bank made for every Green Machine transaction. Chesterville TD Bank manager Eldon Moss said he was pleasantly surprised with the number dropped off at the branch and thanks all who donated.

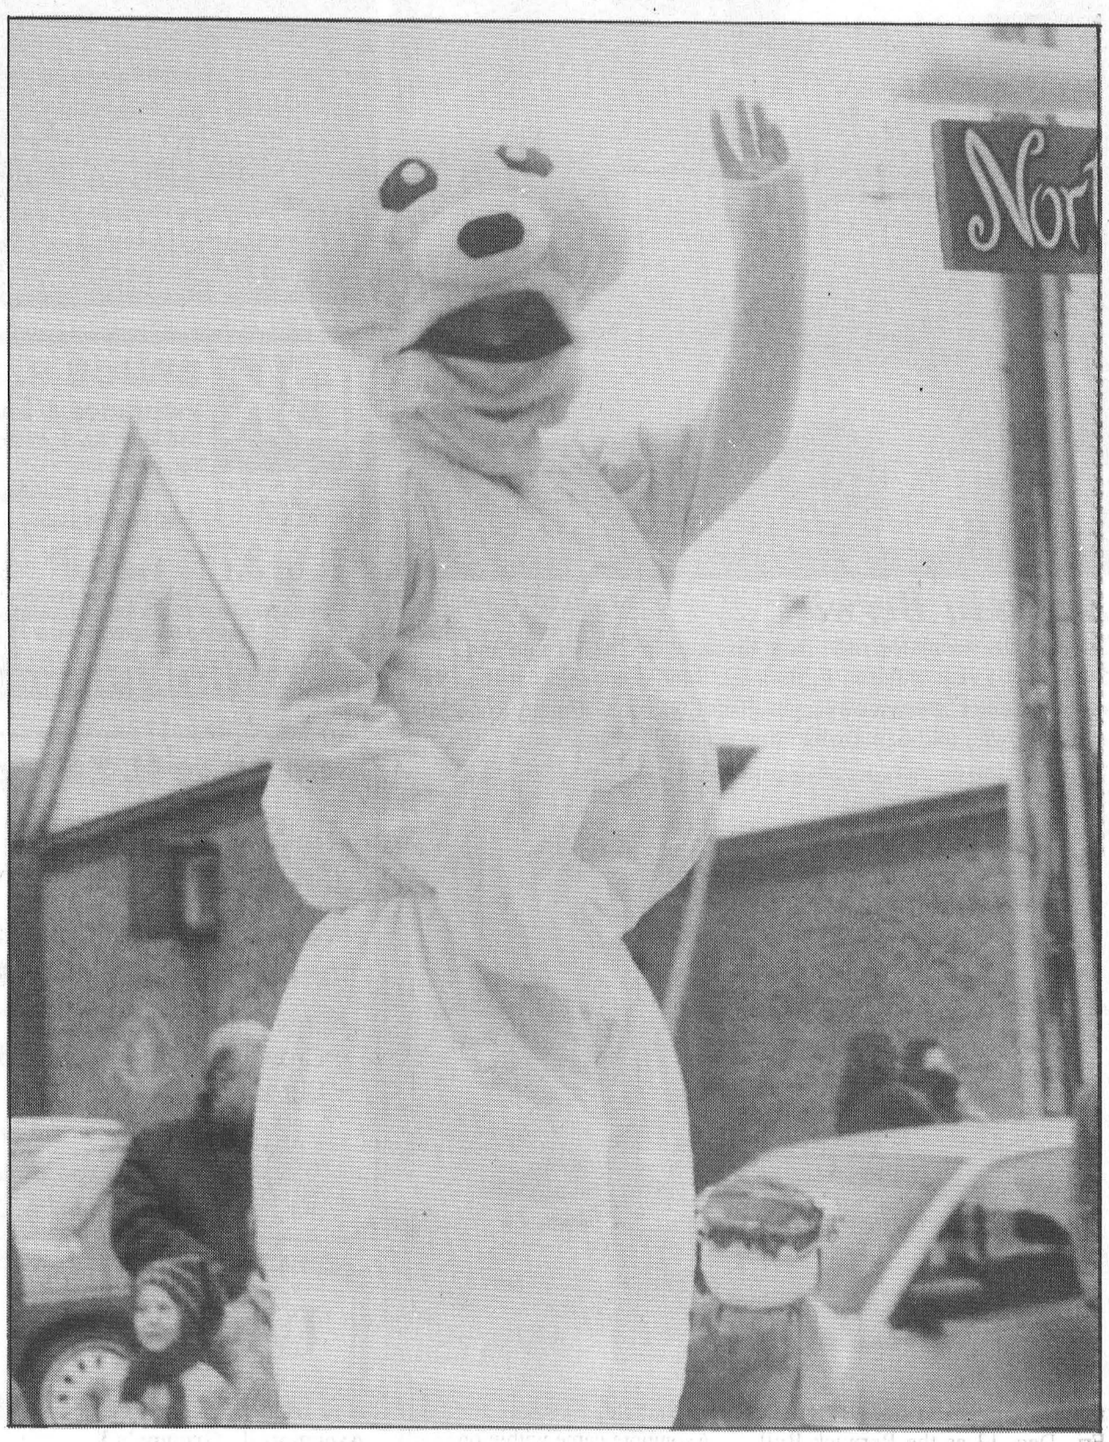
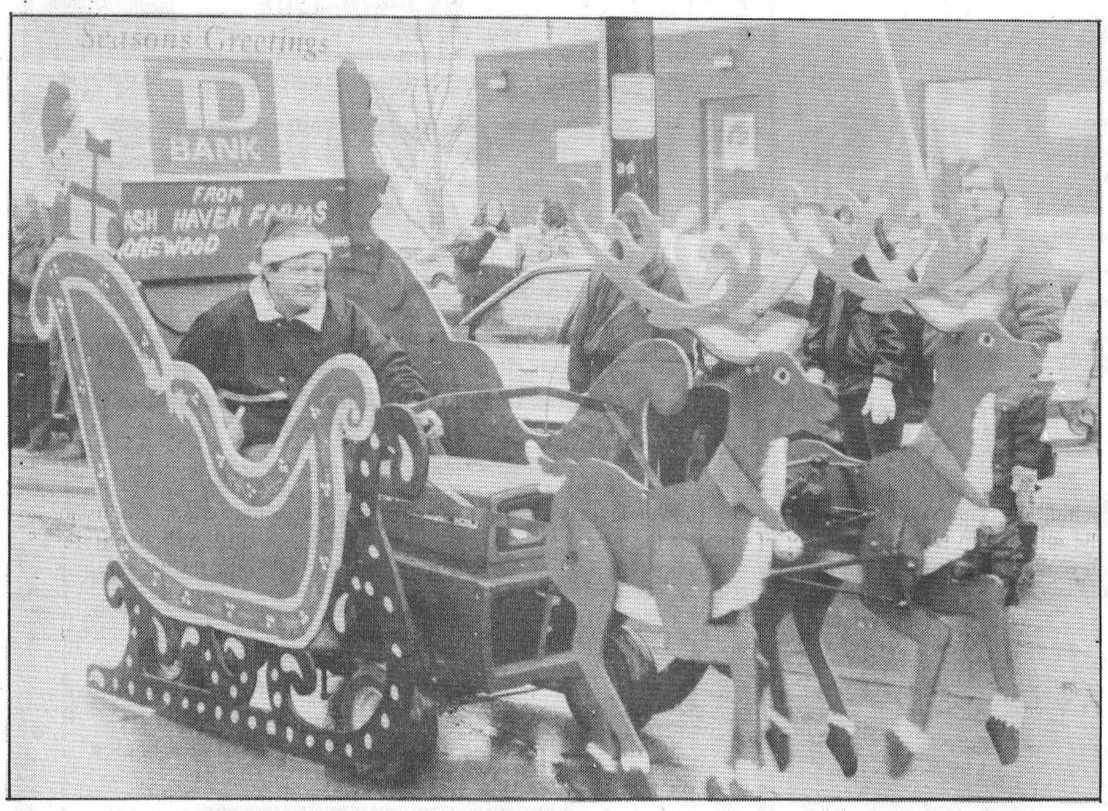
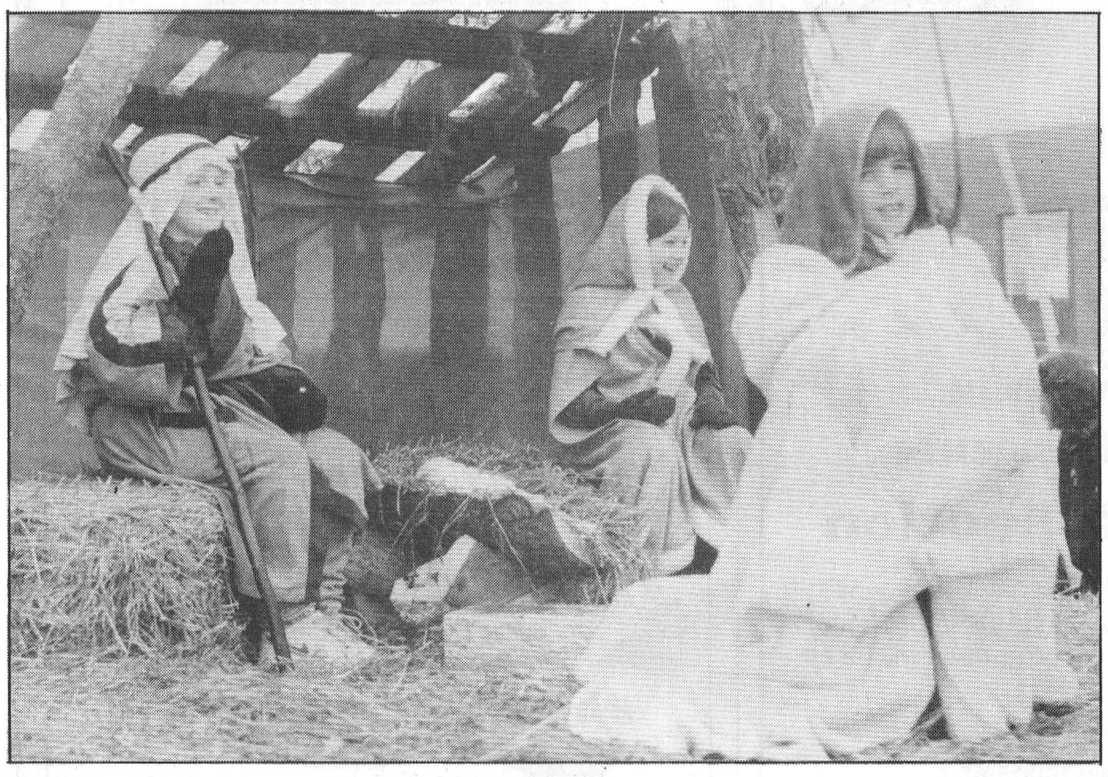
Chesterville welcomes Santa, Mrs. Claus, enjoys annual parade

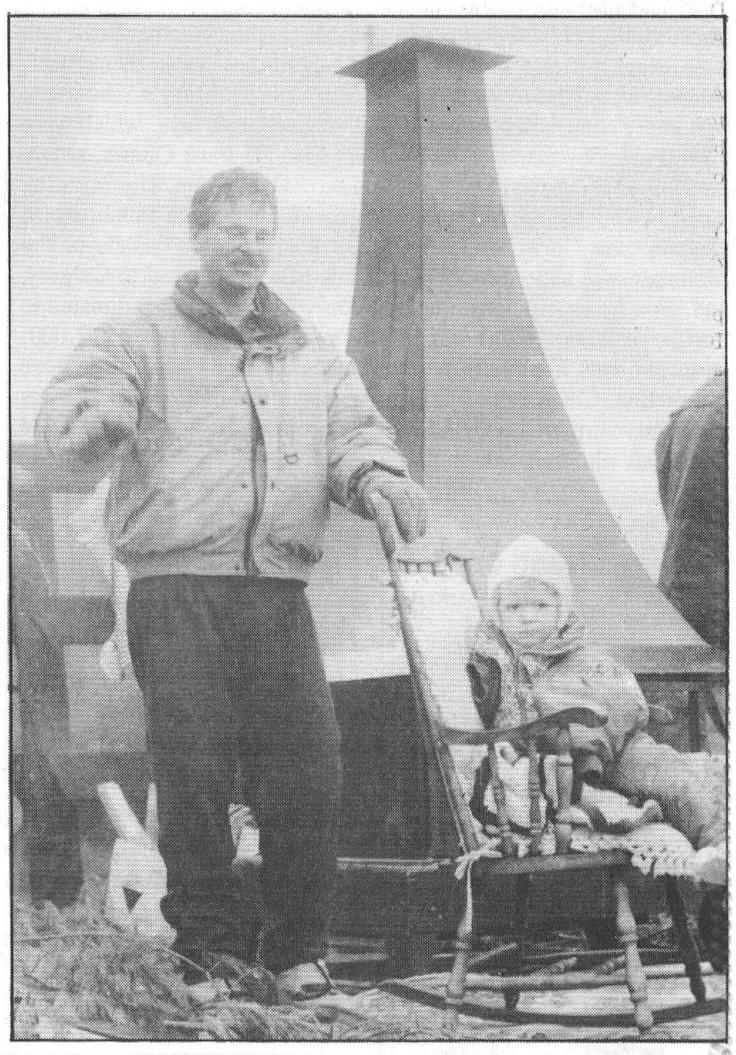
Guest of honor
Two-year-old Katrina Huyer of Chesterville was amongst the hundreds who filled the village's community hall after the parade for a visit with Santa and Mrs. Claus, and told them what they want for Christmas. Children settled in the meantime for a Nestle bar and free hot chocolate, courtesy of the Rotary Club.







Floating by...
Mike Deighton, above, donned a polar bear suit to anchor the Seaway Valley Pharmacy's second-place float. TD Bank manager Eldon Moss and Cash Haven Farms, left, greeted parade watchers with a clever mechanized reindeer sled. The Chesterville Fair Board's float, right, provided extra warmth with a working woodstove, and opposite, a manger scene served as a reminder of the true meaning of Christmas.



Parade winners
Judges of this year's Santa Claus parade in Chesterville had plenty to choose from. Winners in the commercial category were the floats of Flair With Fabrics and Seaway Valley Pharmacy, and non-commercial winners were the Knights of Columbus and Verla's Babysitting.

More than 100 entries were received from area elementary students. Their winning entries will be printed in the next edition of The Record, which will be published Friday and distributed Saturday.

Express hit magic .500, move into third place

FINCH – North Stormont Express gave second-year coach Chad Brownlee an early Christmas present this week as they took over possession of third place in the EOJCHL's Blaine-Leroux division with a pair of victories.

Thursday night in front of a home crowd the Express got three powerplay goals and one while shorthanded as they defeated the Long Sault Vipers 6-4 and Sunday they defeated St. Isidore Eagles by an identical score in a cross-division match-up.

The wins boosted the Express one point ahead of the Vipers in the standings and after 17 games they have finally achieved the .500 mark with 17 points on an 8-8-1 record, a far cry from last year when they suffered through the worst record in the division at 3-30-1.

In addition to their loss in Finch Thursday night the Vipers were humbled 10-2 at home Saturday night by the Dube-Rozon Division-leading Vankleek Hill Cougars.

Express 6 - Vipers 4

"Kilroy was here" could have been the Express's motto Thursday night.

Mike Kilroy showed why his coaches chose the defenceman to represent the team in the Dec. 28 all star game, scoring three times in the third period, all on special teams, to lead the Express to their most important victory of the season thus far.

A loss Thursday night would have left the Express five points behind the Vipers but with the win, the climbed to within one point of third place, with two games in hand.

Kilroy scored two on the powerplay and had a shorthanded goal with 16 seconds to go to lead the Express.

With the teams tied at two entering the third, Kilroy put the Express up by one with his first extra-attacker goals with 1:11 gone.

Jason Lavallee brought Long Sault back to tie it at 14:22 and the Vipers went up by one when captain Chris Proulx scored five minutes later.

The Vipers' lead was short-lived, however, as Kilroy got his second of the game - and North Stormont's third powerplay goal of the game – at 6:46, from Tony Ricuitti and Josh Trainer.

Brad Quaille, also chosen to represent the Express in the Dec. 28 showcase game in Long Sault, put North Stormont ahead 5-4, from Lance Ouderkirk and Andrew Taillfer, 2:06 later and Kilroy got the insurance goal while teammate Julien Benoit was off for slashing with 16 seconds left in the game.

Trainer picked up his second assist of the game on Kilroy's third goal.

Also scoring for North Stormont were Benoit from Quaille and Taillfer at 9:20 of the first and Randy McLeod form Michel Yelle and Ryan Swerdfeger with 4:55 to go in the first.

Mark Lafreniere, from Greg Rombough and Proulx and Jason Prieur, unassisted, both scored for the Vipers in the opening period.

The Express were tagged with nine minors while the Vipers had six minors and three misconducts, taking two in the final seven minutes of the game, finishing out with Proulx and Tim Graham getting an early trip to the showers.

Express 6 – Eagles 4

On Sunday it was Josh Trainer's turn at the wheel as he score twice in the first period, once in the third and added an assist in the second on one of Dominic Bissonnette's two goals to lead the Express past the Eagles and into sole possession of third following Long Sault's home loss Saturday night.

The Express built a 3-0 lead at the end of one and were ahead 5-3 going into the second intermission.

Trainer opened the scoring at 11:16 of the first from McLeod and afficilate player Jamie Paradis and Paradis made it 2-0 just under five minutes later from Ricuitti and Benoit.

The Eagles cut the lead to one mid-way through the second period.

Daniel Desforges scored at 15:31 and Tom O'Meara brought them to within one at 11:25 but Bissonnette went to work at mid-period, putting the Express back up by two at 9:03 from Trainer and upping the lead to three at 7:41 from Ricuitti.

Mike Walker got the Eagles' third goal of the period with 39 second to go.

Kilroy got this third of the game at 9:34 of the third from McLeod and Walker got his second, unassisted, with 41 seconds to go.

North Stormont's Ouderkirk and the Eagles' Joceyln Legault each picked up fighting majors and game misconducts after they dropped the gloves with 4:49 to go in the game.

North Stormont had 12 of the game's 23 penalties. St. Isidore was given two bench minors, including one with 1:25 to go in the game which nullified an Eagles' powerplay.

Express Check-Out

The Express will be holding a pub night and dance in conjunction with his Friday night's game against the Casselman Stars. Admission to the game and pub night is $5. Saturday night the Express are in Long Sault for an 8:15 start.

Joining Kilroy and Quaille on the Blaine-Leroux Division All Star team Dec. 28 in Long Sault will be centre Julien Benoit, left wing Andrew Taillfer and right wing Jason McDonald.

Berwick Bull Dogs top Aces in 11-9 NSIHL shoot out

FINCH – It was an unlucky night for goaltenders in the NISHL on Fri., Dec. 13 as the Berwick Bull Dogs prevailed over the Avonmore Aces in a wild 11-9 shout out.

Berwick's Tim Ouderkirk and Avonmore's Kent Young traded four-goal performances as Berwick built a 7-4 lead after one and hung on for the win.

Ouderkirk had three assists and Young had a pair of helpers for the Aces.

Scoring for the Dawgs in the first period were Ouderkirk ,Julien Benoit, Dale Murray, each with two, and Steve Tait.

Replying for the Aces were Mike Rodger with two, Young and Frank Sinfield.

Avonmore came within one early in the second as Young got his second at 19:36 and Sinfield added his second 2:33 later. Ouderkirk restored the two-goal lead at 16:17 but the Aces went tit-for-tat at 11:56 with Young getting his third.

Jeremy Logtens put the Dogs back up by two at 6:19 and Ouderkirk got his fourth to put it out of reach at 5:22.

The Aces wouldn't give up as Young got his fourth 14 seconds later.

Tait got his second to close out the Berwick scoring at 2:58 and Dave Handsen got Avonmore's ninth with 1:08 left in the game.

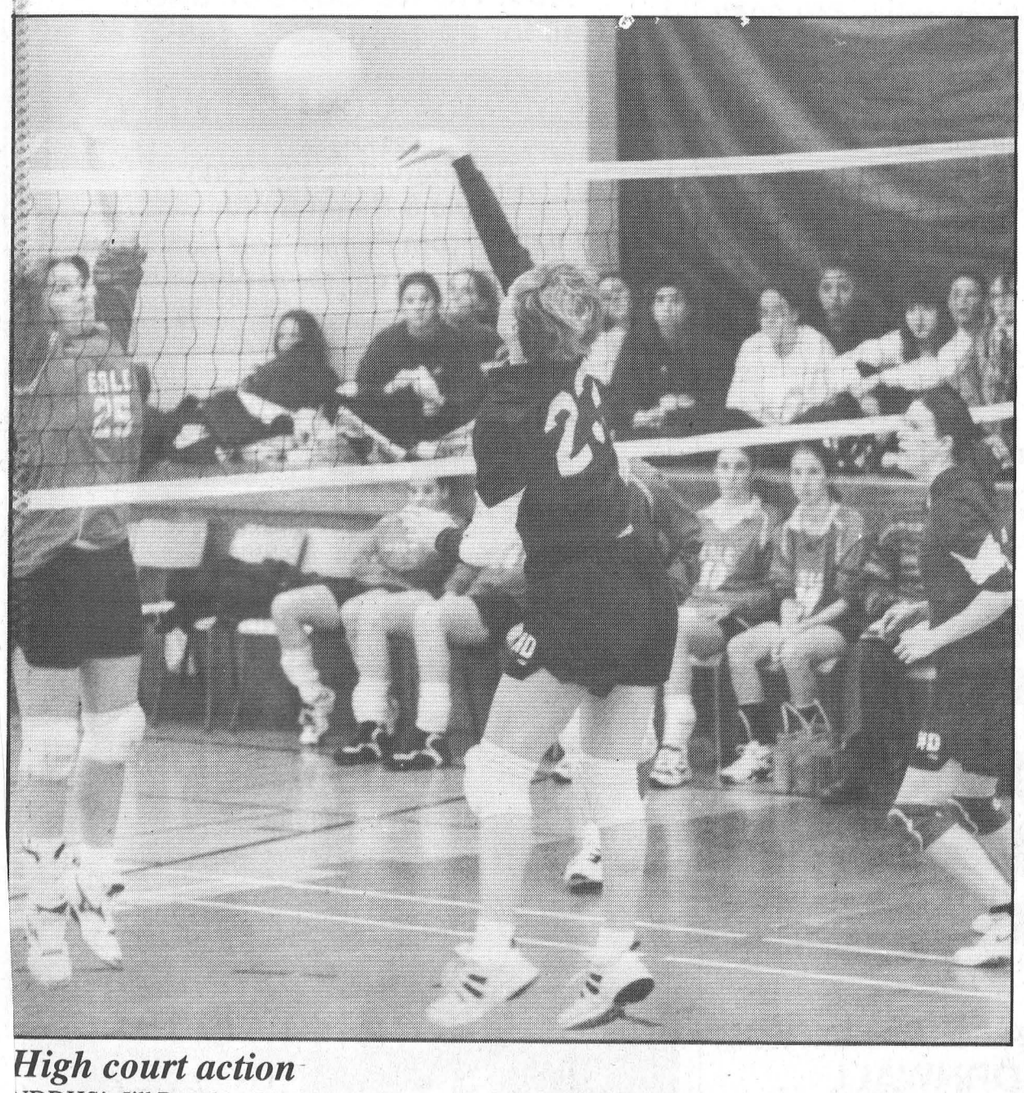
Avonmore 4 - Grumpy's 3

On Sunday night the Aces came back with two unanswered second period goals to take a 4-3 win over Grumpy's Sports Bar.

Grumpy's led 3-2 after one on goals by Mike McAllister, Craig Villeneuve and Marc Villeneuve.

Replying for the Aces were Eddie Gove and Dave Beehler.

Kent Young got his fifth of the weekend at the 15-minute mark of the second to draw Avonmore even and Gove got his second of the game and the winner with 3:17 remaining.



High court action

NDDHS's Jill Byvelds (23) goes high to spike the ball against la Citadelle in last Thursday's senior girls volleyball game at NDDHS. ND came back in the first game from a 10-3 deficit to win 16-14 but lost the next two, 2-15 and 14-16 and are now 5-2 in league play. The juniors went 15-1, 14-16 and 15-5 against the Patriotes and now have a season mark of 5-3 after going 2-0 against CCVS and the midget Devils saw their season record evened at 4-4 after they went 9-15, 15-2 and 10-15 against the Cornwall team. They were 1-2 against SLHS and 2-0 against CCVS.

Vipers lose two on weekend, host Express Saturday night

LONG SAULT – The good news for the Vipers is that with just half the EOJCHL season gone they have almost equalled the total number of victories they recorded in 1995-96.

The bad news is that the North Stormont Express have already surpassed their own 1995-96 total and are now alone in third place in the Blaine-Leroux Division.

The Vipers lost the chance to run away and hide on the Express on the weekend as they dropped a 6-4 decision in Finch last Thursday night and were thrashed 10-2 by the Dube-Rozon Divison leading Vankleek Hill Cougars at home Saturday night.

The losses were the second and third for the Vipers in their past four games and drop them a point behind the Express in the standings

The Vipers' record now stands at 8-11-0. The Express are 8-8-1 and hold two games in hand.

Saturday night the teams square off again, but this time in Long Sault. Sunday night the Vipers make another cross-divisional trip to face the Nationals in Rockland. The Nats currently hold down second place in the Dube-Rozon Division.

Express 6 - Vipers 4

The Vipers' penalty-killing unit was victimized three times Thursday night and the team gave up an empty-net shorthanded goal as the Express's special teams shone in their home ice victory.

Defenceman Mike Kilroy was the architect of Long Sault's loss, scoring three times, twice on the power play and once into the empty net with 16 seconds remaining.

Mark Laferrier had a goal and an assist for the Vipers, who kept the game tied until the start of the third.

Laferrier and Jason Prieur scored in the first while the Express got goals from Julien Benoit and Randy McLeod.

There was no scoring in the second.

Jason Lavallee, from Laferrier and Trevor Atchison, and Proulx, from Tim Waldroff and Greg Rombough, scored in the third.

Kilroy got all three of his in the third and a single went to North Stormont captain Brad Quaille.

Cougars 10 - Vipers 2

The Vipers had a chance to maintain their one-point lead over North Stormont Saturday night but couldn't contain Luc Chaumont and the rest of the high-flying Cougars, trailing 1-0 after one and 6-1 after two before losing 10-2.

Chaumont scored three times, his 10th, 11th and 12th of the season, and had two assists to figure in half his team's scoring.

Derek Hall scored the only goal of the first period to give the Cougars a 1-0 lead after one and they exploded for five in the second to take a 6-1 bulge ino the third.

Scoring in the second were Chaumont with three and Frank Landry with a pair.

Marc-Andre Lalonde scored twice and Carl St. Amant and Martin Gauthier added singles in the third for Vankleek Hill.

Tim Graham scored Long Sault's second goal, assisted by Laferrier and Waldroff.

Viper Trails

The Vipers host the Express in an 8:15 tilt Saturday night. Sunday night they visit Rockland.

Following this weekend's games the EOJCHL will break for the annual all start game, to be played in Long Sault Sat., Dec. 28. Game time is 7:30 p.m. Regular season action will resume Jan. 2.

Winners of the Vipers' Christmas basket draws held at Saturday night's game were Joanne Lalonde, first, Norm Legault, second, and Louise Lafontaine, third.

Leaders feast on cellar-dwellers

FINCH – Goaltenders came up big in the Finch Women's Broomball League Monday night as the top three teams in the standings all recorded shut-outs.

The first-place Classics blanked Crysler 5-0 in front of the shut-out goaltending of Maureen Heuff, Finch handed R.C. Heagle a 3-0 goose egg in front of Elaine Teplate and Debbie Hunt backstopped Ingleside's 2-0 victory over winless Amsing.

Classics 5 - Crysler 0

Chantal Cote scored twice and added an assist and Debbie Gallinger had three assists to lead the Classics to their 10th win in 11 games.

Cote scored the game's first goal and the ultimate winner with 41 seconds left in the first and the Classics pumped in four more in the second.

Also scoring for the Classics were Debbie Ledger, Debbie Shaver and Wilma Teplate. Patsy Boomnan, Nancy Vanderveen and Valerie Shaver added assists to their season points totals.

Finch 3 - R.C. Heagle 0

Finch maintained their one-point lead over Ingleside in the standings as Carolyn MacMillan figured in all three goals, scoring twice and assisting on Laura Workman's game-winner at 9:50 of the first.

MacMillan scored at 1:55 of the first and at 13:15 of the second.

Ingleside 2 - Amsing 0

Kelly Pidgeon scored her 11th goal of the season at 18:42 of the first period from Stephanie Hunt and Lolri-Anne Hess made it 2-0 with 6:38 left in the period from Carol Robinson as Ingleside strengtehend its grip on third place and stayed within four points of first.

Ho hum, two more wins for Bantam III Demons

CHESTERVILLE — The North Dundas Demons continued their domination of opponents in Bantam III play, downing Brockville 10-4 at home last Tuesday and drubbing Kemptville 14-3 in Spencerville Sunday.

The Demons posted a strong team effort in a solid win against Brockville's #2 squad, and overpowered Kemptville from the beginning despite lineup changes.

The Demons, who are off to a tournament in Perth this weekend, now boast an impressive 16-1 record after 17 games.

Demons 10, Brockville 4

Ryan Moss led the way with three goals and four assists, in a game the Demons led 4-2 after the first period and 6-3 in the second.

The Demons didn't waste any time, with Tyler Brown scoring two minutes into the game, on a feed from Ryan Moss. Brockville tied it up less than a minute later, on a goal from Jason Walsh, but the Demons regained the lead with 5:55 left, scored by Jason Denio, assisted by Todd Levers, and took a two-goal lead 28 seconds later, thanks to Moss, assisted by Jimmy McHardie and Liam Gibson.

Brockville came within one goal with 2:29 left, when Jim Moore scored, but North Dundas re-established a two-goal margin with just :58 left in the first, on a goal from Glen Mellan, assisted by Moss.

Brockville drew first blood in the second, making the score 4-3 with 13:32 to go, but the Demons got in gear, as Moss scored twice in 16 seconds, the first goal unassisted, the second assisted by Mellan, for a 6-3 lead going into the final period.

The Demons increased their lead with 9:45 left in the game on a goal from Mellan, assisted by Moss and Tyler Brown, and Brockville responded shortly after, coming within three goals.

But it was all Demons after that, as the team rattled off three unanswered goals in the last eight minutes. McHardie got the first, assisted by Moss and Andrew Douma, and Douma got the second, assisted by Denio.

Levers wrapped up the scoring with 3:57 left, assisted by Denio and Jason Vingerhoeds.

Demons 14, Kemptville 3

Demons coach Eldon Moss threw three Pee Wee players into the lineup to replace absentees, with positive results. Derek Vingerhoeds filled in on wing, and Tyler Leach filled a spot on defense. And Scott Moran took a turn between the pipes, "greatly assisting in the win" along with regular goalie Carl DeJong.

Moss also shifted defenceman Liam Gibson to forward, again with positive results, in the form of a goal.

The Demons took control right off the bat, and didn't look back, limiting Kemptville to three goals in the second (all scored by Cory Stitt), while themselves scoring four in the first, a six pack in the second and another four in the final frame.

Demon Tyler Brown stood out with four goals, and Ryan Moss contributed two goals and three assists.

Brown got things rolling a minute into the game, assisted by Glen Mellan, and Jason Denio was next in line, assisted by Jimmy McHardie, on one of only two North Dundas power plays. The Demons went up 3-0 on an unassisted goal from Moss, and 4-0 with 4:45 left on another unassisted goal, from Captain Todd O'Brien.

Kemptville got on track in the second, as Cory Stitt bulged the twice 1:20 into the period. The Demons answered back a little more than two minutes later, with Brown's second of the game, with help from Ryan Moss.

The Demons scored again just over a minute later, off the stick of Todd Levers, assisted by Todd O'Brien, but Kemptville's Stitt scored 17 seconds later, unassisted, to bring Kemptville within four goals.

But the Demons were back at it, rattling off three quick ones, starting with Moss's second unassisted goal of the game, and followed by Levers's second of the game, assisted by call-up Derek Vingerhoeds. Liam Gibson, filling in as a forward, notched an unassisted goal with 4:01 left in the period, to establish an ominous 9-2 lead for North Dundas.

Kemptville's Stitt scored his third of the second period, again unassisted, with 3:03 left, but Demon Tyler Brown scored with 2:32 left for an insurmountable 10-3 lead going into the third.

The Demons wrapped up the game with four unanswered goals in the third, starting in the first minute of the period, off the stick of Derek Vingerhoeds. Mellan notched an unassisted goal with 13:15 left, and Brown netted his fourth goal around the seven minute mark, assisted by Ryan Moss.

The Demons wrapped up the scoring with their second power play goal in two opportunities. Jason Denio did the honors, with help from McHardie.

Young leads White over Red, Black and Green saw off at 5

White's Kris Young checked in with the hat trick to help his team beat Red 9-5, and nothing was settled in the Black-Green match, as Black overcame a 4-1 deficit to earn a 5-5 tie in Chesterville Men's Town Hockey League action Wednesday.

White 9, Red 5

White built on a 3-0 first-half lead to hold off Red's comeback bid. Red came back with five goals in the second, but White scored a half dozen of its own for the 9-5 win.

White's trio of first-half goals came from Kris Young, assisted by Brad Cotnam and Kent Young, from Chris Williams, assisted by Kent Young and Kris Young and Aaron Sherrer, helped out by Chris Young and John Tessier. The three goals came within the first half of the period.

Red's Derek Holmes was tossed out of the game with 9:10 left in the first for fighting, and earned two game misconducts. White's John Tessier sat out two minutes for roughing at the same time, the only sanctions against either team in the match.

White added to its lead early in the second, as Chris Berkers scored right off the bat, assisted by Tessier and Kent Young. White scored again eight minutes later, Aaron Sherrer's second of the game. Assists went to Kris Young and Brad Cotnam.

Red responded, with a goal at the 17:39 mark, from Archie Beckstead, assisted by Dave Van Bruinessen, but White shot back, with a goal from Kris Young, assisted by Kent Young and Rene Boulanger. Red returned fire thanks to Rod Casselman, helped by John Luimes and added another, from Darrin Kelly, to make the score 6-3.

White surged ahead with 6:09 left, on Kris Young's third of the game, assisted by John Tessier and Aaron Sherrer, but a tenacious Red team answered back at the 5:25 mark, with a goal from Kevin Williams, assisted by Archie Beckstead.

White was next, at the 4:38 mark, courtesy of Kent Young, on a pass from Chris Williams, and secured the win with 243 left, on a goal from Brad Cotnam, with help from Kent Young.

Red netted the last goal of the game, with 1:13 left, scored by Rod Casselman, with assists to Darrin Kelly and Gary Beishem.

Despite the loss, Red stays atop the CTHL standing with 12 points from a 6-4-0 record. And despite the win, White stays tied for bottom spot with nine points from a 4-5-1 record.

Black 5, Green 5

Black's John Guy put in a stellar performance with three goals, and White's Kirk Tallman stood out with two goals and an assist as the teams tied at five.

Green led 3-1 after the first half, but Black responded with four in the second to earn a point.

Green was first on the board, thanks to a goal by Don Marcellus, assisted by Jason Desormeaux and Jerrold Boulanger. Black responded at the 11:55 mark, with John Guy's first of the night, assisted by Mark Smith.

But Green added two more in the period, the first less than a minute later, scored by Jason Ouellette, with help from Tallman and Marcellus, the next scored by Tallman with just 1:54 left in the half, assisted by Ouellette.

Green took a 4-1 lead early in the second, on Tallman's second goal, with assists to Scott Barkley and John Mackler.

But Black stormed back, as Guy scored his second and third, assisted both times by Ray Sherrer. Dave Van Delst also assisted on the first.

Green scored with five minutes left to pull ahead 5-3, but Black's Dave Van Delst netted a quick pair for the tie. He was assisted by Guy and Sherrer on the first and Kevin Henry and Mark Smith on the second.

Black, 4-4-2, holds down second place in the CTHL standings with 10 points, one ahead of Green, with nine points from a 4-5-1 record.

A Devil of a time

NDDHS's Aaron Lannin (33) uses his height to advantage as he goes up to block a shot in last Friday afternoon's senior boys basketball game against CCVS Golden Raiders at NDDHS. Lannin and the rest of the Devils couldn't break through the Raider defence and the bigger Cornwall team owned the key at both ends of the court, piling up a 27-8 lead at the half en route to a 63-26 victory. Evan Porteous was the Devils' high scorer with eight points, followed by Lannin with six. Kent Thompson led CC with 13 followed by Chris Kinstler-Primeau (25) with 10. The midget Demons didn't fare much better, losing 44-22, but the juniors provided a bright spot for NDDHS as they broke a 35-35 three-quarter tie to win 54-46 after leading 25-21 at the half. High scorer for the junior Devils was Matt Carkner with 17. Adam Larose had 13 for ND.
