CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

This column, born in the "Record" as of now, is very apt to die a sudden death by malnutrition. We have a sneaking suspicion that Spring will destroy our ambition, as it always does; virtuous ideas that crop up in despair in this gruesome season of the year will melt away when the fish get hungry and we get paddle fever. Be that as it may, let's see what we collected this week down at the corner.

The New Post Office is a lovely way to attract attention, but we really don't know too much about it. Being so utterly neutral politically, there is no reason for us to hear any news for certain. It is muted about, though, that the new P.O. will be in operation on Queen St. by July, and postmaster Allan and staff are dreaming of spending the summer in airconditioned splendour.

Every year about now, the editor of this journal goes 'way out on his favourite limb and makes a prediction. Breathing dire prophecies of wet doom for the inhabitants of Brooklyn, south of the bridge, he says the river will break up by March 17. Then he adds: "And Heaven help us if she breaks with a rush and piles up on the new bridge." We would nastily note in passing that since the 1951 flood there has never been a moment of uneasiness about the passage of ice. Poor fellow, his crow eating days are approaching again.

We stopped our labours long enough Tuesday night to watch "Front Page Challenge." Superintendent Henry Larsen of Arctic fame was one of the challengers. We reported his visit to Chesterville with words and camera just a few weeks ago when he was Rotary's speaker. He seems to be one of the most modest men we have ever met and his dry Scandinavian humour is something to meet up with.

Wilfrid McMillan came across our loafing ground this week and reported the snow way south at Dunbar much less than up north here. His word is that from Elma to Dunbar the drifts are only eighteen feet high; back here some of them reach the twenty foot mark. It must be nice to live in the warm south.

Sidewalk superintendents have been suffering with Francis Moriarty who has a contrary drain from the big apartment and store block on Main. He has ordered more holes dug than a gopher, and still the nasty plug is out of reach. We offered our pet groundhog, but found the beast had gone to sleep for another month of winter so had to recall the offer.

Winchester Juniors won the Central Ottawa Valley - St. Lawrence Junior Hockey League title Friday night with a narrow 3-1 victory over Cardinal. The game was played at Winchester Community Centre and the win gave the Winchester team a clean sweep in the best of five final round. Easter Seal sale on campaign begins

Easter Seals are now in the mails. The small seals are depicting as usual a Timmy who will stand for all the handicapped children of the province. Chesterville Rotary Club members under the leadership of crippled children committee chairman Eric Casselman have stuffed over 3,500 letters, stamps and envelopes in preparation for the annual campaign.

The district is thoroughly covered by the appeal. It extends over the local area, Winchester, Mountain, Morewood, Crysler, Berwick and other districts close about.

Appeals for help come to the club from all these sections and no appeal is turned down if it is shown to be genuine by the proper investigating nurse or other authority.

Last year Chesterville Rotary Club had the highest return in its history in the Easter Seals campaign. The club received over $1,700. Of this sum, one half is sent to the Ontario Society in Toronto and half is kept for local work. When the local account is used, it is replenished from the national headquarters.

The club hopes this year to receive an even greater response. Each year the demands seem to be greater for funds to help the handicapped.

Mrs Irwin Ball

Mrs Irwin Ball died in Winchester Memorial Hospital following a brief illness.

Mrs Ball, who was in her 86th year, was the former Arletta Weegar, daughter of the late Herman Weegar and his wife, Barbara Sargeant, of Dunbar. She was the last surviving member of her family.

After her marriage to Irwin Ball, they resided on a farm at Dunbar. Mr Ball died several years ago.

Mrs Ball was a member of the Lutheran Church and the United Lutheran Church Women's Association.

She is survived by one son, Grant, of Ottawa, six grandchildren and two great grandchildren. A son, John, was a lightning victim October 16, 1958.

The funeral service was held at Dunbar Lutheran Church, conducted by Rev A. Blackwell.

The body was placed in the vault to await burial in the Spring at Williamsburg.

Mrs Joseph Legault

Following a short illness, Mrs Joseph Legault passed away at Hotel Dieu Hospital, Cornwall, on Tuesday, February 17.

The funeral was held from the family residence to St. Mary's Catholic Church, Chesterville, on Friday, February 20, at 10 a.m. Requiem High Mass was offered by Rev J. J. Collins. Interment was made in Crysler Cemetery where Rev Guindon, of Crysler, officiated.

Mrs Legault, the former Agnes Racine, was born 79 years ago in Finch Township. She was the daughter of the late Joseph Racine and his wife, Ellen Corley.

Left to mourn are one daughter, Mrs John Perras (Helen), Glen Walter, and one son, Henry, of Chesterville. A son, Roy, predeceased her in 1954. Several grandchildren and great grandchildren survive.

Numerous mass cards and floral tributes testified to the high esteem in which Mrs Legault was held.

Many relatives and friends attended the funeral services from Ogdensburg, Ottawa, St. Albert, Cornwall, Glen Walter, Crysler, Finch, Berwick, Martintown, Winchester and Chesterville.

D. Kustudic, teacher speaks to ladies' group

The February meeting of the Women's Liberal Association for Grenville-Dundas was held on Wednesday, February 18, at the home of Mrs C. Allison Graham, Chesterville.

Mrs Lillian Allison, president, conducted the meeting, assisted by the secretary, Mrs Keith Graham.

Several interesting items of business were discussed at the meeting, including an exchange of ideas on club management, with a similar organization in Fredericton, N.B.

C. Allison Graham introduced the guest speaker, D. Kustudic, who is a native of Belgrade, Yugoslavia, and a graduate in science of Belgrade University. He is at present on the staff of Chesterville High School. His fascinating talk dealt with his decision to leave Yugoslavia, due to his dislike of Communist ideology, his arrival in England, and his troubles suffered in gaining political asylum there. A question period followed the talk which added much to the interest of the group in the trials of the speaker.

Mrs J. Frank Casselman thanked Mr Kustudic for his informative talk.

It was decided that the March meeting will be held in Prescott.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the following ladies of Winchester Township served a delicious lunch: Mrs C. A. Graham, Mrs Harold E. Merkley, Mrs J. Frank Casselman and Mrs Mac Curran.

Miss Mary David hostess to members of church groups

A joint meeting of the Women's Missionary Society and Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held at the home of Miss Mary David.

The first vice president, Mrs Milton Shay, opened the meeting with a poem, "Make Me a Blessing Lord." Hymn 587 was sung, followed by prayer led by Mrs Lorne Marcellus.

The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs George Crawford. Twelve members answered the roll call with a verse from the Bible containing the word "Love."

After dedication of the offering, Miss Mary David read a poem.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs Lorne Feeley. Correspondence included a request for a member from Chesterville to act as first vice president for the Presbyterial, also a request for a quilt to be made this year for the Deaconess School in Toronto.

Mrs Milton Shay was nominated president and Mrs Lorne Marcellus, first vice president. Members are making a study of the bible this year and Mrs Milton Shay, leader, gave a very interesting paper on the lives of Jacob and Esau.

The Ladies' Aid took over with the president, Mrs Harold Greer, in the chair. During the business period it was decided to hold a food sale in March and a rummage sale in April. A pot luck supper will be held soon for the members of the congregation.

The ladies received material for a bazaar to be held in the Fall. The date will be set later.

Local Midgets bow to Berwick 5-4

Chesterville Midgets were downed 5-4 by Berwick at Finch Arena Thursday night. The local boys received three penalties, one each period, during the hard-fought game.

In the first period, Wayne Jordan placed the puck in Berwick net to start off the evening's activities. Francis Marriner scored for Chesterville and Raymond Gibeault came through with one for the opposition.

Berwick tallied twice in the second period from the sticks of Clifford Lang and Rollie Coleman. Wayne Jordan made the lone Chesterville goal.

Garth Helmer started the wheels rolling in the third period with one for the Midgets, but Kenneth Ouderkirk and Raymond Gibeault finished the game with their goals. The final score: 5-4 in favour of Berwick.

Mrs John Grandaw hostess to W.A. at North Valley

The February meeting of North Valley W.A. was held at the home of Mrs John Grandaw. The meeting opened with a hymn, followed by Scripture read in unison.

The topic, "A New Commandment," was taken by Mrs John Grandaw.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs Fern Zummach. Roll call was answered by a Bible verse containing the word "Commandment." Three new members joined, with 12 members and five visitors present.

Mrs John Grandaw gave a reading on "The Mary Stewart Collect." The treasurer's report and M. and M. reports were given.

The March meeting will be held at Mrs Clifton Gallinger's.

The meeting closed by repeating the Lord's Prayer. Lunch was served by Mrs Grandaw and a social time was enjoyed.

ADVANCE PRIZE LIST THIS WEEK

This week readers will find the annual printing of the advance prize list of Chesterville and District Agricultural Society. It contains all the sections pertaining to Domestic and Educational divisions of the general list. Each year we print the lists as a public service, free, in order to make sure there will be no lack of preparation in entries that might otherwise not be prepared.

Mrs Thos. Nash, Ottawa, and Mr and Mrs Donald Forward, of Kittimat, B.C., are spending the day with Mr and Mrs Wm. Forward.

Snow and still more snow is clogging our highways, byways and vision these days. Everywhere the white stuff lies piled deep and smothering. Along the highways signs have disappeared, corners are man-traps, and motorists are getting claustrophobia from peering through the tunnels when the breeze whisks across the tops and curtains off the sun. We took this shot of the drifts on the county road south of the Four Corners, looking back to town. The family jalopy appears dwarfed.—Record Photo.

OPINIONS . . . OURS AND OTHERS

Buy Easter Seals

This week Chesterville Rotary Club mailed out some 3,500 letters containing a pink return envelope, a letter asking for your support and a handful of Easter Seals.

Each year the work of the club seems to encompass more handicapped children in the area covered by the mailing. And while the public response has been wonderful, the call is ever for greater support.

Chesterville Rotary Club crippled children's committee answered many calls the past year. They have provided artificial arms and hands; they have provided eyeglasses; operations for hare-lip and palate repair have been ordered done; corrective surgery has been undertaken for the handicapped and many other needs have been attended to.

All this has only been possible because the response to the appeal for help has been so heartening. Each year at this time the club has been more than repaid in its faith in the public conscience.

When your letter arrives, hustle back your donation in the pink envelope. If you wish, a five-cent stamp over the prepaid circle will also help, though it is not necessary. Just place your donation in the pink envelope, put it in the mailbox or drop it in the post office.

When you help a crippled or handicapped child, you have helped one who, but for Destiny,, might have been your own.

A nation of sitters?

We read with interest the other day the printed cry of a union man. He was taking issue with an editorial opinion that had lamented the seeming approach of the six-hour day and the 30-hour week. The basis of his argument was that a job that required one to stand or walk all through the shift should only be six hours long, especially when office help was developing south-end spread on a 6½-hour shift. The boss man, of course, was the real dirty example: he arrived at ten, and left at three or four while the serfs slaved.

A curious attitude seems to be prevalent among some union men. They feel, regardless of the skill they use or do not use, their particular lot must be exactly the same as any other employee, and in this enlightened age, they reach finally to the pinnacle, and compare their hours of work and conditions with that of their employer.

Whether the company is large or small, the idea that someone has to be boss needs to be pointed out quite frequently. Selfish demands, flipped into sober union councils from top of the head thinking, have a tendency to cloud the sane and sensible attitude most labour takes towards the job that supplies bread and butter. Unfortunately, to gain publicity the negative attitude is often sounded louder than the progressive one that is finally adopted.

The boss is still a big part of any business these days; some labour stalwarts would be wise to remember this, now that the era of the Arrow has gone. As a member of the management of the business, the boss all too often lives the company day and night, fair weather and foul. If he is the owner of the plant, and it is the only one of its kind in the area, then he is the Joe who is providing the union help with the opportunity to earn their meat under most of their own conditions; if he is the usual executive manager, he might just as well pretend to own it, because to hold down the front office hot seat, he has a very slippery corner to defend.

All too often, the employee regards his union card as a key to Heaven and feels that his union executive must labour mightily to further the ideas that bubble to the top. He often forgets that his responsibilities towards his place of work stop when he punches the clock on the way out. Responsible managers and owners usually bypass the clock to see that there is work for the next shift or for the next week and the demand on them is quite a bit different.

The fulminations above have not been generated by local conditions in Chesterville. Sensible thinking prevails here in most instances where the unions are involved, and in nearly every other instance employers have such small family-type businesses that employees are nearly part of the family.

Unfortunately, though, Chesterville does not live by Chesterville alone; everything we eat, wear, drink or drive is priced by production costs. That is why we splutter when we hear of someone who would like to own the business, accept the profits but renege on further responsibility. And do it all in a 30-hour week.

FRENDLEE FARM CHATS

by Lillian Allison

"If all these people got here without an accident there isn't much need for a Farm Safety conference," someone observed on our first morning at O.A.C. two weeks ago. There was certainly some truth in his observation.

Had the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Transport actually tried they couldn't have chosen any worse weather for the conference. The night before we left it was -30° in Eastern Ontario. When our Agricultural Representative called for me I met him armed with a big, woollen blanket and fur-lined gloves. But even if it was cold it was bright and before we had driven far I had to put on my sun glasses because of the glare on the snow.

We stopped for lunch at Napanee. It was quite mild outside then. Farther along it began to rain and was really wet when we had a coffee break at Port Hope. Then it seemed to get colder again. The rain turned to sleet. The roads got slippery and treacherous and all the windows of the car glazed over.

The streets in Toronto were very icy we found when we left Highway 401 to buy gas. Only the traffic was keeping the main roads passable at all. And it was still raining hard.

It was dark and disagreeable from Toronto on. We stopped for supper at Brampton and while we ate fog appeared from somewhere. From there to Guelph we drove in quite a heavy fog. We had no trouble with the scenery. There wasn't any. Sometimes we were lucky to see the road fences.

The rain was almost over when we finally reached our motel but proof of it remained everywhere. The trees were heavy with ice. The streets were like glass. We were thankful indeed to step into the depths of the wall-to-wall carpet of our room, turn on the TV and complain about the heat there.

Next morning the cars outside were coated with a half-inch of solid ice. It had rained continually while we slept. Men were out trying to coax icy doors to open. Motors were running everywhere in an effort to thaw frozen-over windshields.

Out at O.A.C. the scenery was delightful. The many driveways were lined with sparkling, frosted trees. It was indeed a picture. A picture I preferred viewing from inside, however.

We had to walk from the recreation building where we were meeting to another building where lunch was served because there was no space there to park cars. I had left my fur-lined gloves and my woolly hat at the motel and was wearing a dinky, little hat about three inches wide, a pair of white, nylon gloves and a short, fur jacket for the trip to lunch.

I suppose we walked about 60 rods but it seemed like a hike across the Yukon. The path was slippery. The wind had got up. It whipped through those ice-covered trees and struck like a shot in all vulnerable places. By the time we arrived my ears were aching and one tooth threatening to ache from the cold.

Wednesday was still cold but the sun was shining. The winter scenery was delightful—especially from indors. We left for home at four in the afternoon.

Everything was fine except for the roads. They still wore a heavy coat of ice. The car went straight ahead quite admirably but the slightest turn of the wheel would make the rear end swing considerably despite the ballast provided by us three, well-fed women.

The icy roads continued to Brighton where we spent the night. They stayed with us too the following morning until we had passed Kingston. From there on the pavement was dry and bare. The precipitation in Eastern Ontario had arrived in the form of snow.

The closer we got to Dundas county the higher it seemed were the banks of the suff. We began to realize that all the bad weather hadn't been in Western Ontario.

The truth was the weather had been bad everywhere. The delegates from Manitoulin had driven through ice, rain and fog. The Junior Farmer quartette from Ontario county couldn't come to sing at the banquet because of the weather. The speaker from Chicago had to come by train as the planes were grounded. It was a miracle, really, that all the delegates managed to arrive at the conference without accident. At least we proved it could be done.

Your Ontario LEGISLATURE REPORT

Hon. Fred M. Cass, Q.C., M.P.P.
Grenville-Dundas

The sudden and unexpected death of Hon. Thomas L. Kennedy, one-time Premier of Ontario and longtime Conservative Minister of Agriculture, cast a deep shadow over proceedings in the Legislature during the fourth week of this Session. Although old in years, in experience, and in public service, Colonel Tom was young in spirit and was the trusted adviser of many in high places and the respected counsellor of younger Legislature Members; his standards and principles always had the respect and admiration of all. He will be greatly missed not only in his own community, but throughout our great province.

Night sittings of the House commenced this week as Members joined almost to a man in the Throne Speech debate, while government leaders endeavoured to make progress with necessary legislation. The Committees of the House again were diligent in their duties and everyone was kept very busy. The annual convention of the Association of Rural Municipalities meeting in Toronto brought here for it a large number of reeves and municipal officials who provided good audiences in the House, many delegations for Ministers, and days and nights full of interviews for their Members. Your Member had the opportunity of addressing the convention on Tuesday and can report that the delegates were most interested in the matters brought before the convention.

Debate on the natural gas controversy, on the report of the Select Committee on Labour and on the various Bills introduced, continued with much vigour and at great length. Announcement was also made by Premier Frost that the Budget would be brought down the following week and everyone awaits its presentation as an indication of the government's election year policy.

Sessions of the Committees on Agriculture and on Education provided many discussions of current problems and policies. Farm safety and farm marketing received the attention of the rural Members, while Dean Diltz, of the Ontario College of Education, discussed at length the problems of teacher training and some of the steps being taken to ensure an adequate supply of secondary school teachers for Ontario High Schools and Collegiates.

Among the Throne debate speeches, two were worthy of comment. One by former Speaker W. J. Stewart (Cons. - High Park) was a stirring appeal to all Members to keep always in mind and practice our high principles and great traditions. The other was a most interesting speech by former Premier Harry Nixon (Lib. - Brant), the Dean of the House, which was full of history and good sense and listened to carefully by all Members.

FIRST TIME

A Spanish merchant ship made maritime history at Norfolk, Va., recently. It went forward backward.

Leaving the yard of the Norfolk Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, the captain of the Notomar telegraphed the engine room to go ahead.

The Notomar promptly shot backward to dent the side of a navy destroyer moored across the Elizabeth River.

Further attempts showed that any attempt to move the vessel ahead put her in reverse instead.

Towed back to shipyard it was discovered that her propellors had been mounted in reverse.

"It's never happened before," said the red-faced shipyard official.

Mrs Spence Perry moved a vote of thanks to the hostesses.

International Day marked by members Osnabruck Centre W.I.

The regular February meeting of Osnabruck Centre W.I. was held at the home of Mrs John Grandaw on Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance. Mrs George Ferguson, president, was in the chair, assisted by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs Lloyd Gallinger.

As this was International Day, roll call was answered by giving "A Custom of the Country from Which Your Ancestors Came." An interesting paper on Ireland was given by Mrs John Grandaw.

Cards were signed to be sent to two members who are patients in hospital. Many letters and cards of thanks were read for remembrances received during the holidays.

Donations were received from the members for the auction sale. Mrs Dave Rutley, acting as auctioneer, disposed of all articles with a great deal of merriment.

The members gave the usual donation of 52 cent each to the Penny Round-up appeal from the Mental Health Association.

Plans were made for the executive and conveners to meet at the home of Mrs Ober Beckstead on Tuesday afternoon, March 3, for preparing the conveners' reports, slate of officers and next year's program.

It was decided not to appoint reports for the farm accident survey because appointments would overlap on Junior Farmers' territory.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs J. T. Flegg and Mrs George Ferguson.

The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs Wilson Mattice on March 18 at 2 p.m. Mrs Mattice will give a knitting demonstration and Mrs J. T. Flegg will be convener of education.

IN MEMORIAM

BARKLEY—In memory of our beloved mother, Mrs Adam Barkley, who passed away February 25, 1934.

Somewhere back of the sunset
Where loveliness never dies
She lies in the land of glory
Midst the blue and the gold of the skies.
And we who dearly loved her,
Whose passing has brought many tears,
Will cherish her memory always

FLYING BOAT

Warrant Officer Mort Schechter of the air force at Anchorage, Alaska, had no trouble identifying the flying object that struck his auto during a wind storm.

It was a boat.

Becoming airborne on a 60-mile-an-hour wind, the 14-foot aluminum boat sailed nearly half a block before it smacked into the windshield of Schechter's car near Elmendorf air force base.

Damage to the car was estimated at $300. The unharmed Schechter commented:

Your Member Reports ...

—By Mrs Jean Casselman
M.P. for Grenville-Dundas

This has been a progressively interesting and important week in the House of Commons.

We started with Opposition criticism to moves by five Commons Committees for permission to meet when the Commons is sitting. This permission is sometimes necessary in order to finish an unusual amount of work, but it is recognized that it will not be abused. Admittedly is is difficult to 57 Members (Liberals and CCF) to do all the work demanded of them on Committees as well as representing their parties in the House of Commons, but this is one of the difficulties an Opposition faces and one which demanded steady attendance from Conservative Members for many years. The Opposition now finds itself bitterly opposing practices which they themselves established and urged persuasively at the time.

Next, John Taylor led a list of good speeches with his resolution to establish a Canada Sports Committee. The Vancouver M.P. said that our amateur athletes do a good job as travelling ambassadors, but we treat them poorly. They go overseas badly equipped. Many speaker supported his plea for a Sports Council.

Transport Minister Hees sparked the liveliest debate of the present Session by announcing that the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority is faced with settling claims on 28 contracts increasing the total cost of the Seaway to $329,000,000 as against the $205,000,000 estimated as the cost in 1955.

The able and fluent former Minister of Transport and former president of the Seaway Authority, Hon. Lionel Chevrier, as was expected, defended the original estimates. When it came to the $1,302,000 original estimate for the Welland development which has now reached a cost of $23,600,000, Mr Chevrier admitted "that this was an estimate which obviously was substantially in error." Such a costly mistake raised relative questions: "Were test borings made before the estimate was received from the engineers?" Mr Chevrier answered "I am unable to say whether the engineer who made this estimate actually made test borings."

These two admissions raised a fury of oratory that lasted until nearly 10 p.m. Finally, the present Minister of Transport, the Hon. George Hees, began answering a series of heated questions in a calm, cool manner, proving the old adage "that a soft answer turneth away wrath." He was thanked by the Leader of the Opposition for his fair and frank answers.

The Leader of the CCF suggested that the increased costs should be given further study. Mr Hees replied, "If the Public Accounts Committee should decide they would like to examine the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, they will receive every cooperation from me as the Minister responsible. The operations of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority are open to inspection by any Member of this House."

NEW RECIPES FOR FISH DISHES

LENTEN MEALS CAN BE INTERESTING when the delicious golden brown croquettes are served or these casseroles with a difference. The following recipes are supplid by the home economists of Canada's Department of Fisheries.

Salmon Luncheon Croquettes

1 can (7 oz.) salmon
1 cup of seasoned, cooked, mashed potatoes.
1 egg, beaten
1 tbsp. chopped pimento
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. grated onion
¼ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
Dash cayenne
Dry bread crumbs(about 1 tbsp.)
1 egg, lightly beaten
½ cup dry bread crumbs

Drain and flake salmon, mashing bone with a fork. Mix first nine ingredients listed, then add enough dry bread crumbs so that mixture can be handled (1 to 2 tbsps. required). Shape as desired; dip in lightly beaten egg, then in dry bread crumbs. Chill for at least 1 hour. Fry in deep hot fat (375° F.) for about 5 minutes or until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve plain or with a sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Baked Tuna Croquettes

1 can (6½ or 7 oz.) tuna
3 tbsps. butter, melted
4 tbsps. flour
1 cup milk
½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce
½ cup ripe olives, chopped
1 egg, lightly beaten
½ cup buttered, dry bread crumbs

Drain and flake tuna. Combine melted butter and flour. Add milk gradually, and cook stirring constantly until mixture is very thick. Stir in Worcestershire sauce, tuna and ripe olive pieces. Chill well for several hours. Shape into 6 croquettes (fish-shaped, if desired). Dip each in beaten egg, then coat with buttered crumbs. Place on a greased baking sheet and bake in a hot oven (450° F.) for about 15 minutes, or until browned. Makes 3 to 6 servings.

Fillets Florentine

1 lb. fish fillets, fresh or frozen
1 pkg. (10 oz.) fresh spinach or 1½ lbs. untrimmed spinach
Salt and pepper
2 tbsps. butter, melted
2 tbsps. flour
½ tsp. salt
Dash pepper
Few grains nutmeg
1 cup milk
¼ cup grated Cheddar cheese

Season fillets. Cook spinach, drain, season, and place in a greased baking dish. Top with fresh fillets, or block of frozen fillets. Combine butter, flour and seasonings; add milk gradually; cook and stir over low heat until thickened. Pour sauce over fillets; sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in moderately hot oven (375° F.) until fish flakes easily with fork. Allow 15 to 20 minutes cooking time for fresh fillets and double that time for frozen. Makes 4 servings.

Seafood Souffle

1 cup flaked, cooked or canned fish
3 tbsps. finely grated raw carrot
1 tbsp. finely chopped parsley
3 tbsps. butter, melted
3 tbsps. flour
1 tsp. salt
1 cup milk
3 eggs, separated
1 tsp. lemon juice

Combine fish, carrot and parsley. Make a thick white sauce by combining butter, flour, salt and milk, then cooking with constant stirring until thickened. Remove from heat; stir in fish mixture. Beat egg yolks until light in colour; add lemon juice; stir into sauce. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into sauce; combine well. Pour into an ungreased 1½-quart casserole; place in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for about 45 minutes or until set, puffed and lightly browned. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.
