MAJORITY OVER 1400 FOR CASSELMAN

The hottest and perhaps the most exciting election campaign ever waged in Dundas, resulted, in Monday's voting, very plainly demonstrating that the farmers of this county have seen their responsibilities and have come out of their comparative seclusion and are prepared to take up and carry their share of the government of this great province. Locally it was more than that, it was a personal tribute to Mr. W. H. Casselman by the electors who have known him more intimately than any other section of the county could. In his home poll his majority of one hundred and sixty-four is the largest any candidate for any party ever secured. While the voters were double the usual list the majority was almost treble that of the highest heretofore. In the township of Winchester the farmers showed that when they go itno a fight it must be fought fairly, and emphasized their resentment of the attack at the nomination, on perhaps the most popular man in the township, Ex-Reeve Kirby. Not only did the farmers in all the townships, stick to their man but the villagers in them with the exception of Winchester, Iroquois and Morrisburg recognized the fact that their whole prosperity is very closely related to the success of the farmers and showed that recognition by giving handsome majorities to Mr. Casselman.

The campaign put up by the U.F.O. was nothing short of wondertul. It had been spread broadcast that the candidate was only the nominee of a small click of Chesterville men and could not amount to anything. It must have been known that the three or four referred to were hundreds, not individuals, and embraced in the number many representative farmers from each of the four townships. As a matter of fact the first definite action taken was by the Dixon Corners Farmers Club, which met with instant favor. After the U.F.O. convention but fourteen days remained until polling day and when one considers the task confronting the small band of amateur politicans to accomplish in that time it would not be surprising if some did not stick. Mr. Casselman at his nomination asked for a clean campaign and insisted upon it among his workers.

To the Electors of Dundas

Ladies and Gentlemen;—I desire through the press to express to the electors of this county my sincere thanks for the wonderful support given me at the polls in the election contest just closed. I know that this victory could not have been achieved had I not had the able, loyal and untiring assistance of many staunch friends in every part of the county. I am not foolish enough to think that that support and assistance were given me because of anything in me which worthily represented the cause for which we so successfully fought and I congratulate you upon your manifestation of steadfast determination, against tremendous odds, to break the chains of party bondage, in Dundas forever.

I ask you to forgive, as I do, and, in so far as it lies in human nature, to forget the many incidents which have disgraced this county in this contest. If indication of me were necessary I would point to my majority in my own home village, which was much more than double that ever given a candidate in any election in this county.

I realize, keenly, my unfitness to fill, worthily, the position to which you have elected me but I shall do my utmost to make up by honesty of purpose and faithfulness what I so sorely lack in mental and physical equipment.

W. H. CASSELMAN.

BETTER COOLING

(FARMERS CUT THIS OUT.)

At this time of the year when the sun is hot, and the flow of the milk is high, remember that more water is required to cool milk to the desired temperature. The more milk you have the more water is required. Don't try to cool eight cans in water that will only cool four cans. Change the water often. Milk cooled and not kept cool will sour.

THE EXPLANATION

Nature placed the growth-promoting "vitamins" in the oil of the cod-fish—this explains why

Scott's Emulsion

is so definite in its help to a child of any age. Latter-day science reveals that the "vitamins" are needful for normal growth.

Scott's Emulsion will help any child grow.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. OWES HER LIFE TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

After Years of Suffering with Dyspepsia, this Fruit Medicine Gave Relief

MLLE ANTOINETTE BOUCHER

917 Dorion St., Montreal.

"I am writing to tell you that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives' for this remedy relieved me when I had abandoned all hope of ever recovering my health.

I suffered terribly with Dyspepsia. I had it for years and all the medicines I took did not do me any good.

I read something about 'Fruit-a-tives' being good for all Stomach Troubles and Disorders of Digestion so I tried them. After finishing a few boxes, I was entirely relieved of the Dyspepsia and my general health was restored.

I thank the great fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives', for this wonderful relief."

Teachers' Convention

The Dundas County Teachers' Institute was held at South Mountain, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 9 and 10. The meeting was opened by a short, but instructive address by the President, Mr. Hamilton of Williamsburg. The afternoon session was opened by Mr. W. McPherson, B. A., L.L.B., of Queens University. The subject of his address was Visual Aids in Teaching History. Mr. McPherson stated that learning should not consist of merely cold facts, but it should be made real by relating to the pupil's life, and by pictures and stories. Even dates which are usually looked on with distaste may be made interesting. In the discussion which followed Dr. D. L. Colliscn remarked that Mr. McPherson's method could not be followed too closely because there is a certain course in history set by the Department of Edncation which we must conform to.

A splendid address was given by Dr. Davy of Morrisburg on Medical Inspection. He explained very fully the evil effects of bad teeth and pointed out the great need of caring for them while young. He said when inspection was made in any school a very small percentage was found to have perfect teeth, and the ones with poor teeth were almost invariably the dull pupils. Mr. Fetterly stated that he was doing his utmost to have dental inspection in all the schools.

Dr. Collison gave an address on a subject which interested all present, the Teachers' Salary Schedule. Many were not satisfied with the schedule, so a committee was appointed to arrange a different scale.

On Friday morning Mr. Cooke of Morrisburg gave a concise address on Agriculture. He pointed out the great importance of this work and showed the need of more books on this subject.

Miss Phyllis A. Henry taught a lesson on Literature. The poem chosen was "Autumn".

Mr. Fetterly, M.A., I.P.S., gave an address on his first year's experience as inspector. Mr. Fetterly said he had enjoyed his first year in his new work, although it had its difficulties. He advised greater unity among those in the teaching profession. The consolidation of schools was very fully explained showing what advantage this would be for the rural pupils.

Mr. Sweeney was appointed delegate for the O.E.A. and Mr. Gordon Wert as alternative.

In the afternoon Mr. McPherson gave another address on Commercial Geography. Again he said this should be related to the child's own life and experiences and thus lead him to discover for himself.

Miss Gardner gave her report of O.E.A., held at Toronto in April. The report was an excellent one and the committee realize they made no mistake in their choice of Miss Gardner as representative.

On a vote, Mr. Collison was chosen President for the coming year.

On Thursday evening there was a concert given by the musicians of South Mountain. The Meikle and Campbell Medals were presented by Mr. Fetterly to Gwenyth Davy and Luvia McMillan An address was given by Mr. Glassford, B. D. The audience was greatly delighted with the address which was both humorous and educational.

Seed Grain Distribution

(Experimental Farms Note.)

The annual free distribution of samples seed grain is being conducted at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, by the Dominion Cerealist.

The following kinds of seed grain will be sent out this season:—

Spring Wheat (in about 5-lb. samples.) White Oats (about 4 lb.), barley (about 5 lb.), field peas (not garden peas) (about 5 lb.), field beans (early ripening, only for districts where the season is short) (about 2 lb.) flax for seed (about 2 lb.), and flax for fibre (about 1 lb)

Only one sample can be sent to each applicant.

Applications must be on printed forms which may be obtained from the Dominion Cerealist at any time after Sept. 1st.

As the stock of seed is limited, farmers advised to apply early to avoid disappointment No application forms will be furnished after Feb. 1st. 1920.

Joan: "His wife never seems to care how late he stays out at night." Jane: "If you were married to him. would you?"

"Would you advise me to cultivate my voice?" asked Miss Srreechum. "I would," replied Mr. Bearit. "I'd plant it deep!"

"Doctor, I'm feeling awful," said the young man. "I can't eat; I can't sleep—" "I can cure you," replied the doctor promptly. "Ask her to marry you."

The Visit of the Prince.

The Prince of Wales' visit to Canada is about to end. The thousands who have seen him want to see him again. He has certainly won the hearts of all Canada. The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal with characteristic enterprise have secured a real-like portrait of the Prince, 16 x 22 inches, that should be in every Canadian home. It is a very pleasing portrait and bears a copy of the Prince's autograph. The Family Herald sends a copy of this portrait free to all Family Herald subscribers for 1920. The subscription price of that great family paper is $1.25 a year, big value in itself, but with the Prince's portrait certainly is the greateat value ever offered. The Family Herald and Weekly Star will be kept busy booking orders, as the demand has set in with a rush People who are not subscribers to the Family Herald and Weekly Star, have no idea of the treat they are missing.

Lightning Rods Prevent Lightning Losses

WHEN your buildings are protected with Shinn-Flat Lightning Rods, you may be absolutely sure that they're safe from Lightning damage Shinn-Flat Lightning Rods are the only kind made in the form of a flat cable—which has 36% more conducting surface for electricity than the same amount of material made into a round cable.

Lightning Can't Strike if Shinn Gets There First!

Shinn-Flat prevents the accumulation of electricity in the building, by permitting it to gradually pass from the heavily charged ground and building into the atmosphere above.

Bonded to Protect

A large Bonding Company issues a Surety Bond to the owner of every building we protect, guaranteeing that Lightning will not damage.

"Breeze" (Blow My Baby Back To Me)—a Harmonious Duet

Arthur Fields and Jack Kaufman, a new Columbia vocal combination, sing this harmonious sweetheart song. Coupled with Billy Murray's rollicking, jovial, jocular rendering of "Take Me Back to the Land of Jazz."

Seidel Plays Wild Gypsy Dances

Gypsy musicians started the dancing craze in Hungary with their famous "Csardas," or tavern dances. Perhaps the most dazzling of this fascinating music is the "Hejre Kati (pronounced High-ra-cat-sy), scenes from the Csarda." Toscha Seidel interprets it with irresistible fire.

Grainger Glorifies "Hungarian Fantasy"

Here is the first really great and successful phonograph record of a piano-orchestral classic. In these thrilling, heroic melodies, in the glorious, thunderous chords and the swiftly rippling runs from end to end of the keyboard, Percy Grainger is at his most brilliant best.

French Army Band Superb in "Arlesienne"

Bizet's exquisite "Arlesienne Suite" must have mightily appealed to these veteran bandsmen of the Marne, for they play it as if they love it. As in Bizet's opera Carmen, these melodies are strongly influenced by the composer's study of French and Spanish folk-music. On the back, "La Feria," an inspiring Spanish bull-ring march.

Ontario Referendum Results

	Yes	No	Majority
1	204,115	442,921	238,904
2	221,900	415,902	194,048
3	214,209	429,203	215,504
4	151,282	394,484	143,202

Belated results on the temperance Referendum all go to pile up the majorities for the "dtys" on all four questions, as the latest figures available show that there is absolutely no doubt that the majority of voters in the province are in favor of retaining the Ontario Temperance Act with all its restrictions unamended. Even in the city of Toronto, where it was commonly believed that the "wets" had a strong chance of winning, if they had a chance at any centre in the province, vesterday's added returns showed the city voting dry on all four questions, though question four had a narrow squeeze to win out in favor of "No" the present majority being 2,282. The figures given out last night by the Referendum Committee, which it is estimated cover about four-fifths of the votes polled, showed heavy majorities for all four questions for the whole province. Any suggestion that there should be a reopening of the bars, which would have been the case had question one carried, was snowed under by a majority vote of more than two to one, and this will doubtless be increased when the balance of the votes have been counted. Question three, which asked if the people were in favor of the sale of light beers only over the bars, met the same kind of rejection, the vote being more than two to one against. Though the sale of light beers through Government agencies was condemned, the voice against it was a little less strong, the majority being slightly under two to one.

Returns on the night of voting seemed to indicate that the "wets" might have a chance of winning out on question four, so far as the whole of the Province was concerned, but when the returns began to pile in yesterday from the more remote districts, the possibility of the "wets" winning out even on their strongest plank was quite swept away. This question asked whether or not the people favored the sale of malt and spirituous liquors through Government agencies. Question four recorded the smallest majority for the "Noes," as, up to a late hour the majority stood at 143,202, as compared with a Provincial majority of 238,904 for "No" on the first question.

Getting The Returns

A large and enthusiastic crowd of the supporters of the U.F.O. gathered in Chesterville on Monday night to hear the election returns, First the Forester's Hall was secured for the purpose of hearing the returns in, but it was soon apparent that it would not hold half the crowd, then the Music Hall was opened and quickly filled up. A messenger carried the news as fast as it was received at The Record office to the hall where the bulletins were read aloud by Mr. Leo Kearns.

On Mr. Casselman's appearance in the hall he was seized by his supporters and carried to the platform.

Mr. W Hamilton was elected chairman of the meeting and invited several to the platform among whom were Dr. Bean of Winchester, P. Kirby, W. B. Lawson and J. W. Bogart.

The member-elect in speaking to the crowd thanked them for the support which had been given him and the party he represented. He mentioned a few of the difficulties that had been put in his way throughout the campaign but was glad to know that the electors had enough faith in him to vote for him. He would act at all times so as to retain their confidence and work in their best interests.

Short addresses were made by the others mentioned above congratulating the new member and expressing pleasure at the result not only in Dundas but throughout the Province.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Charlie McLaughlin, who departed this life Oct. 25th, 1918.

Why are the days so lonely?
Why are the days so long?
And why these feelings of sadness,
Is it that he is gone?
He left in the early evening
His heavenly crown to win
And angels just then whispered
"Beautiful soul, come in."

Over a Billion Saved by People

A total of $1,196,632,931 in savings banks deposits is a gratifying report that many of the countries which have emerged from war would be glad to report today. This is the position of Canada as revealed in the bank statement for August.

The amount is $181,921,056 better than the same month last year, notwithstanding the fact that a good part of it was transferred to last year's $600,000,000 Victory Loan, and is $21,540,778 better than July of this year.

This is a promising outlook for the Victory Loan campaign which is at present being carried on. If the depositors in Canada's savings banks were to say the word, they could subscribe the $300,000,000 asked nearly four times over. The success of the present effort should be overwhelming.

Great Business Advance Shown

Judging from the statement of bank clearings for the month of September. Canada is doing an unprecedented amount of business. The clearings advanced 40 per cent. over September of last year which itself was a large month.

All sections of the country shared in the advance of business some cities doing double the trade of September, 1918. Many quite remarkable increases outside of the especially large advances of Winnipeg and Windsor were noted. Toronto gained 37 per cent. Brantford 47 per cent. Kitchener 57 per cent. London 35 per cent, Ottawa 51 per cent. Edmonton 60 per cent. Prince Albert 94 per cent.

The present remarkable period of prosperity in Canada will be maintained if the Victory Loan, 1919 is made an overwhelming success. Business men realize this and in the interests of themselves and the country urged to press the importance of the coming loan upon every one with whom they come in contact.

Cost of Raising Heifer to the Age of Two Years.

According to recent reports, there are more than 23,000,000 dairy cows in the United States. The average productive life of the dairy cow is not more than six years, which means that the farmer with 12 cows must have two heifers coming into milk every year to maintain the number of animals in his herd. It means also that the whole number of cows in the United States must be replaced every six years, and that approximately 4,000,000 must come into maturity each year in order to maintain the number of cows in the United States. This number does not provide for increasing the total to meet the demands of the ever-growing population of the country. Not only is this population increasing, but a knowledge of the value of dairy products has brought about a greater consumption, the demands for which must be met in some way. The cow does not usually become productive until she is at least two years old. The number of unproductive dairy heifers to be maintained in an immature condition is approximately 8,000,000. It costs about $70 for feed to raise a dairy heifer to the age of two years. This means that the farmer with 12 cows must of necessity raise two heifers each year, or that he must at all times have on hand four unproductive heifers. At $70 a head for cost of feed alone, this represents an investment of $280, simply to ensure maintenance of the number of animals in the herd. The dairy industry in the United States has approximately $560,000,000 invested in these unproductive animals. Regardless of the cost, the dairy business must be maintained and these heifers must be raised.—Holstein-Friesian News.

The Live Cattle Export Trade

While in Europe studying the market for Canadian meat products, Mr. H. S. Arkell, Live Stock Commissioner, discovered with respect to beef cattle that a problem exists that will prove a worthy test of Canada's nerve, ingenuity and determination. According to Mr. Arkell's statement that appears in the October Agricultural Gazette, the difficulties are great but they are not insurmountable. He says;

"In the Argentine and Australia are more and better cattle than in Canada and these countries are proving much cheaper sources of supply. The Argentine has landed live cattle in Italy and is proposing to do likewise for Germany via Antwerp. The United States is trading with France and is busy in Holland, endeavouring to secure passage to Germany via Rotterdam. We have secured concession for Canada on account of the health of Canadian cattle and it now remains to see what advantage we can take of it. Two Canadian firms only, one Western and one Eastern, have as yet dared to face the risks of live cattle export and they deserve all the success and profit which they are likely to obtain from it. I am firmly of the opinion that this live cattle trade must become a necessary part of our cattle policy. So far as Europe is concerned, we are only at the beginning of this business, even if in the end it prove not to be permanent. Germany, France and Belgium, are now in the market for fat cattle and the landed price is from £65 to £75 per head. Further, next spring there will be large demand for feeding and breeding cattle, the latter chiefly of the Holstein and Shorthorn sorts. I recommend the organization of companies of producers to join with commission men in the development of this business. The present avenues of distribution must be widened; otherwise other countries will secure the business to Canada's disadvantage".

"Oh, wad the power some giftie gie us to see oorsel's as ithers see us. But if we could, we wouldn't believe it".

"I Hope Every City and District Will Win My Flag"

When Edward, Prince of Wales—eager, bright eyed, smiling and sincere—arrived in Canada in August, and when he voiced his great admiration of the wonderful achievements of Canadians, on the fields of battle and at home, once again we were thrilled with joyous pride.

He asked concerning Canada's reconstruction programme, and when he was told of the Victory Loan 1919, he graciously consented to the use of his Coat of Arms on a flag, which is to be the prize of honour for districts achieving their quota in the loan.

In dedicating "The Prince's Flag" at Ottawa on Labor Day, His Royal Highness said in part:—

"It is a great joy to me to be associated with the loan, which is the bridge between war and peace, and which is finishing off the job."

"I hope every city and district will win my flag."

Striking, and beautiful in design, this flag will form not only an unique memento of Victory Year, but a lasting and outstanding souvenir of the visit of His Royal Highness—a visit which will remain as one of the most memorable events in Canada's history.

The reproduction above shows the design of the flag. The body is white, the edge red; in the upper left hand corner is the Union Jack, and in the lower right hand corner the Prince of Wales' Coat of Arms.

The flag is made in two sizes, 4 feet 6 inches by 9 feet for small cities, towns and villages, and 7 feet by 13 feet 6 inches for cities of over 10,000 population.

Canada has been divided into canvassing districts by the Victory Loan Organization. Each city forms one district. Other districts have been determined according to population.

Each of these canvassing districts has been allotted a certain amount in Victory Bonds to sell. To win the Prince's Flag, therefore, a district has to sell its allotment. That is the one and simple condition.

Anticipating that many districts will buy far beyond their allotment, the organization decided that for each twenty-five per cent. excess of the quota one Prince of Wales' Crest be awarded. Thus the workers in a district doubling its quota will be the proud winners of four small crests for their Honour Flag. These crests will be sewn to the flag. The Prince's Crest—the three ostrich plumes—is shown at the top of the coat of arms.

To every organization with fifty or more employees, where seventy-five per cent. of the enrollment invests a total of ten per cent. of the annual payroll in Victory Bonds, a supplementary Prince of Wales Flag in smaller form—48 inches by 34 inches—will be awarded.

The allotment for each district has been carefully considered, and is based on a conservative estimate of the purchasing power of the district.

Your district can sell its allotment and thus win the Prince's Flag, provided each person does his or her share.

You will gladly do your part and encourage your neighbour to do his.

Remember YOUR purchase may be the one that decides whether or not your district is to be the proud possessor of the Prince's Flag.

The Prince's Motto is "I Serve"
Will You also Serve?

Where Fishing Was Good

Mr. Jones keeps a shop where he sells fishing tackle. For the sake of advertisement, he has a large rod hanging outside, with an artificial fish at the end of it. In the early hours of the morning, a man, rather the worse for his night's enjoyment, caught sight of the fish, and went quietly to the door and knocked. Jones being in bed, looked out of the window and asked: "Who's there?"

"Don't make a noise," was the reply, but come down as quickly as you can." Thinking something serious must be the matter, Jones dressed like lightning and came down as quickly as possible "What's the matter?" he asked, breathlessly.

"Hush!" was the reply. "Pull your line in quick. You've got a bite!"

Millicent: "So Jack's married a widow?" Gilbert: "Yes, he's married to her, all right." "Was it love at first sight for him?" "No she saw him first."

Miss Fortee: "They tell me I ought not to wear white as it is not becoming to my complexion." Miss Teens: "Why not? White and yellow go so well together."

TWO INTERESTING PAPERS

Being two papers read at the October meeting of the Morewood Branch of the Women's Institute.

Why I Want to Vote

What is a vote? It is the best instrument ever devised to measure accurately public opinion in the shortest possible time. Realizing this we feel that the power of the Canadian woman behind her ballot is certainly no less valuable than the vote of the foreign man.

We wish for the vote not in order to compete with men but to co-operate with them in futhering the welfare of this Province. We consider the exercise of the franchise a duty that every intelligent woman owes to her country, her home and our motto is. "The ballot for the better protection of our homes."

Why women want to vote? Women want to be citizens of the land in which they live. Mothers need the ballot to regulate the moral conditions under which their children must be brought up. Do men think they can fight against vicious conditions that are threatening their children unless they can vote for the men that run the district?

Housekeepers need the ballot to regulate the sanitary couditions under which they and their families must live. Do men think they can get what is needed for district unless they can vote for the men that will get it for them?

Teachers need the ballot to secure just wages and to influence the management of their schools. Do men think they could secure better school conditions without a vote to elect their board of Education?

Tax paying women need the ballot to protect their property. Do not men know that taxation without representation is tyranny. All women need the ballot because they are concerned equally with men in good and bad government and equally responsible for civic righteousness. All men need women's help to build a better and juster government and all women need men to help them to secure their right to fulfil their civic duties.

The women of Man., Alta., Sask. and B. C. have the vote, why have Ontario women been deprived of this right so long? I want to vote because those who obey the laws should help to choose those who make the laws and because laws which affect women are now passed without consulting them and laws affecting children should include the woman's point of view as well as the man's.

Another reason is because to deprive women of the vote is to lower their position in the common estimation, and also because public spirited mothers make public spirited sons. And to sum up all reasons in one it is for the common good of all. Votes for women is just simple justice. Some will say, all women do not want to vote. All men do not want to vote but the ballot is given to all as a means of getting the opinion of the majority. Again others say if women vote they ought to fight. Men who could not fight still vote, this is the age when right is might.

If women vote they must hold office. A woman will have to be elected to office by men and women together. Do voting men all hold offices. Others say a woman's place is in the home. Because a woman's place is the home she needs the ballot to protect it. Women are represented by men. Would men let women represent them at the polls?

If women would exercise a solid vote they could carry anything women wanted but what prospects are there for this solid vote when we see so many so indifferent whether their sex should have the vote at all or not. If women cannot agree in desiring the political enfranchisement of their own sex it is little likely that they will agree on minor matters. Now if women show a united front in favor of any public causes such as the United and Local Council of Women are now advocating it will be only in the cause of Justice and Mercy and Right; and if like Disraeli, we are on the side of the angles we will give them the support of our parliamentary vote and any other help we can.

Why I Don't Want to Vote

It has always been a man's job and I say, let it remain so. For the present I have all I can see to and have no time to delve into politics. My home duties are so numerous and of such a nature that I have little inclination to mingle with the outside world, and spend time over a lot of laws and regulations—good, bad and indifferent that are made by governments. If I voted I would feel I had a part in such which would only mean for me an additional worry. Better to hold aloff from such things and keep a tranquil mind. If I vote I might get the political microbe so badly that I'd want to run for member of Parliament, then curses instead of blessings would descend on my head, for what would my dear husband and family do with Mother away helping to steer the ship of state while the little home craft went to pieces on the rocks for want of her guiding hand. No, I do not want to vote, for I've no idea where such a privilege might lead me. Political ambitions are dangerous things and as for me and my household, Mother in the home sounds good enough for us.

Many look to women in politics as being the great redeeming factor for all the world's ills. What guarantee have we that women will vote any different to men. Voting one way or the other is largely a matter of environment and if I had the privilege I might make no better use of it than the average man. As for the moral reform my vote might bring about. I'm about sick of the way things are run. We women work hard for some desired end and when we have almost felt we had reached the goal, the whole business is knocked flat, by some flaw in the law, or the men being bought over. The men have muddled along in the past and I'm content they should keep on at it. Even though my skirts are rather short, they might get soiled with political mud. So I'll stay at home and attend to my knitting, and use my influence where it will be most felt and heeded right in my own home.

Rats Inherit Their Dread of Cats

It seems almost certain that rats—and probably also mice—have inherited a fear of cats. As an instance of this fear B. W. Kunkel of Lafayette College sends to Science the following story;

"Upon placing a few handfuls of fresh dandelions into a cage of some twenty white rats of various ages which had been reared in the laboratory for several generations, much to my surprise I found the rats at once ran away from the greens and gathered in one corner of the cage and behaved in a thoroughly frightened manner. At first I could not account for this strange behaviour, for hitherto the rats had fed with avidity on fresh dandelions and seized the plants as soon as they were placed in reach. On further thought, I recalled that I had gathered the dandelions on this occasion in an old basket which had recently been used for bringing a live cat into the laboratory and which had probably imparted an odor of cat to the greens.

"I did not watch the rats very persistently, but the next day I noted that their behavior was perfectly normal and that the greens had been entirely eaten. It may be said with certainly that these animals which were so terrified had not in their experience been near a cat.

"At the same time that I was working with white rats I had to use some rabbits and had occasions to handle some rats immediately after handling the rabbits. The rats did not respond in any peculiar way in the presence of the odor of rabbits, and as this was just as strange an odor as that of cat, it can hardly be assumed that this reaction of fear in the presence of the odor of cat was due simply to the novelty of the stimulus".

A coloured preacher had just concluded a sermon on "Salvation Am Free." and announced that a collection would be taken up for the benefit of the parson and his family. A member in the audience objected to the parodoxical nature of the proceedings, and received this bit of negro logic in response:

"S'pose yo' was thirsty an' come to a river. Yo' could kneel right down an' drink your fill couldn't yo'? An' it wouldn't cost yo' nothin,' Dat water would be free. But s'posin' yo' was to have dat' water piped to yo, house, yo'd have to pay wouldn't yo'? Waal, brudder, so it is wid salvation. De salvation. De salvation am free, but it's de habin' it piped to yo' dat yo' get to pay fo'."

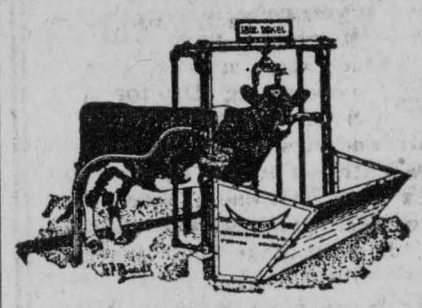

Visitor: "What pretty croshet-work!"
Hostess: "Yes, it's forty years old."
Visitor: "How beautifully you did it, dear.!'

Many Sheep Killed by Dogs

(Glengarry News)

Recently a farmer drew up at the business place of one of our merchants and unloaded from his waggon eighteen sheepskins. This man had not been killing his sheep for cold storage purposes, in order to conserve the mutton, nor had they died of disease.

It was simply the result of a night attack upon his sheepfold by a couple of worthless dogs. Out of twenty-four valuable sheep only six remain, some of these in a more or less mutilated condition. During the last month within a radius of two miles over a dozen flocks of sheep have been attacked resulting in a loss of at least eight hundred dollars to the owners. While our sheep law is a great improvement upon that of the past whereby an owner gets full value for the animals killed, yet this is abundant proof that some futher changes is necessary. Until the public are taxed to the limit for the privilege of keeping dogs or until they are obliged to muzzle every animal of the dog kind we may expect such things to continue. An officer with the authority to shoot on sight any dog found at home or abroad without a muzzle will be a valuable asset in any community. This is a matter of vital importance to the sheep raising industry and merits the closest attention of our municipal and provincial authorities.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Value Your Time

Big factories don't pay men to do the work machines will do. They make money by using modern machinery and modern methods.

Farmers who make money use modern methods, too. You shouldn't use hand-power for work a gasoline engine will do.

Get a Toronto Farm Engine. All those jobs that weary you now will become merely incidents in the day's work. Milking, separating, churning, sawing, grinding, sharpening tools, mixing cement, shelling corn, filling your silo—you can do these things quickly and economically.

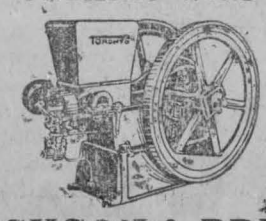

Toronto Farm Engines are honestly built. Sturdy and simple, they need little attention. Run on gasoline or kerosene.

You can save money, time and trouble by using a Toronto Grain Grinder. Gives you big mill service right on your own farm, at small cost.

Toronto Saws solve the fuel problem on the farm. Utilize the waste wood on your farm.

I could not stand beside him
To hear his last farewell,
No word of comfort could be heard
From those he loved so well.
Could I have raised his dying head
And heard his last farewell,
It would not seem so hard to part
With him we loved so well.

His loving wife and family.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Clifford Redmond, who departed this life Oct. 25th, 1918.

From our midst, our Saviour called him
Just a year ago today,
Oh how our home is darkened
This life passing away.

Sad and sudden was the call
Of him so dearly loved by all
His memory still is very dear
And oft we shed a silent tear.

God called him home. It was His will,
Yet in our hearts he liveth still
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
