THE CHRISTENING OF PRINCE CHARLES

The baptism of His Royal Highness Prince Charles of Edinburgh, the infant son of their Their Royal Highnesses Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, took place in the White and Gold Music Room of Buckingham Palace.

The infant Prince was given the names of Charles Philip Arthur George, and the ceremony was conducted by His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury. The service was attended by their Majesties the King and Queen, members of the Royal Family and a few of their close friends.

These pictures, the first to be seen of the infant Prince, were taken immediately after the christening ceremony, and show the baby wearing the Royal christening robe of white silk and Honiton lace made for Queen Victoria's children and used since by the Royal Family.

The baby Prince is the centre of admiration in this happy family picture after the christening ceremony, where in the arms of his mother he is seen with his father and grandparents.

Grave Of Flt. Sgt. Wm. Foley Located In Germany

John T. Foley of Ottawa, has been notified from Overseas Headquarters of R.C.A.F. that exhumation work carried out by their Missing Research and Enquiry Service in the Kiel Garrison Cemetery has resulted in the identification of the grave of his brother Flight Sergeant William Joseph Foley in that cemetery.

In accordance with the agreed policy of the Nations of the British Commonwealth that all British aircrew buried in Germany would be moved to the British Military Cemeteries located in Germany, the bodies of Flight Sergeant Foley and his fellow crewmates were moved to the permanent British Military Cemetery at Kiel. This cemetery is known as the Kiel British Military Cemetery and is located 1½ miles east of Kiel. This cemetery will be cared for and maintained by the Imperial War Graves Commission of which Canada is a member and will be beautified by the planting of trees, shrubs and flowers. A permanent headstone will also be erected at his grave.

Flight Sergeant "Bill" Foley is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Foley of Finch. He was a pilot in the R.C.A.F. and was reported missing after an air raid over Kiel in April 1943. This is the first official word the family has received about him since that date. His many friends will be comforted to know that his resting place is known and that it will be permanently maintained.

GOOD FARMING SAVES TOPSOIL

Proved through soil conservation tests made by Central Experimental Farm -- heavy rainfalls most costly

A slope of land cultivated up and down and planted with corn lost 22.4 tons of soil per acre through erosion. When a similar plot was tilled properly, that is across the slope or on the contour, it only lost five tons per acre in the same season. One rainfall of almost three inches in an hour washed away about two-thirds of the total soil eroded during the season. These were some of the remarkable results brought to light in soil conservation test carried out by the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa on fairly heavy clay land in Eastern Ontario.

The use of permanent crop cover on sloping land also showed up well in the experiments. Less than a ton of soil per acre was lost where Alfalfa was grown.

Land where the tests were made varied gradually from a five per cent slope to an 11 per cent slope. Troughs and tanks were installed to catch and record the water and soil, which ran off after the land was subjected to various cropping and tillage methods.

High School Area Explained By Inspector Morgan

Mr. H. Morgan, High School Inspector for this area addressed the ratepayers and school boards of the County of Dundas on the subject of the Greater High School Area this past few weeks. In the light of the interest shown by the public in the proposed project, we present a condensed version of Mr. Morgan's address.

Of the enrolment of 647, approximately 47 reside outside Dundas County. It is also to be noted that 376 are non-resident pupils and their transportation must be paid for either by their parents or by the public school section where they reside.

If an area were formed the plan suggested is to operate all existing schools for the time being. At Iroquois, Hallville, Morewood and South Mountain there would be Grade IX and X only, at Morrisburg there would be Grade IX to XIII and the same would apply at Winchester and Chesterville, although it would appear expedient to operate one Grade XIII at either Chesterville or Winchester since there are only some 30 pupils in this Grade.

As time went on circumstances would indicate whether it would be wise to build one school or two. That would be a matter which would be decided by the appointed board. The board would be composed of 11 members appointed by the Municipality as follows: one from each township; one from each village; one by the largest public school board in the area; one by the largest separate school board in the area; one by the Counties Council. If construction were undertaken in order to offer a practical course at the existing schools, the approximate cost would be $160,000.00. Approximately 65% of this cost would, under present arrangements, be paid by the province, leaving approximately $56,000.00 to be raised locally.

This would result in a mill rate of between 4 and 5 mills and this rate would also be sufficient to retire the existing debentures at South Mountain. Chesterville, Morrisburg and Winchester Winchester and Chesterville have already signified their willingness to be included in the larger area. Public meeting have been held area. Public meetings have been held where the affair has been discussed in full detail.

Family of Seven Die In Plane Crash Near Maxville

An entire Montreal family died Sunday evening in a plane crash near Maxville, about 25 miles east of Chesterville.

Killed in the crash were: Wallace C. Siple, Beaconsfield, Que., his wife, three sons and two daughters.

All died instantly when the craft plummeted to earth on the farm of Alex M. Stewart, RR 2, Dunvegan, 20 minutes after taking off from Uplands airport at Ottawa at 7 p.m. It had left London at 3.10 p.m.

The Siples were en route to their home, an exclusive Montreal suburb on the Lakeshore, after a trip to Norwich, Ont., to pick up the two little girls. Sharon and Sheila had been staying with Mr. Siple's parents while their mother recuperated from an illness.

Graham, Gordon and Wallace had apparently gone along for the ride.

From witnesses' accounts, it appeared the pilot attempted an emergency landing after fire broke out in the sleek silver-and-red monoplane, a single-engined Beechcraft Bonanza.

What happened aboard the plane may never be known. Four miles away, Lionel Villeneuve said he saw the craft trying to land. "Then I saw an explosion. The plane blew up."

Peter Racine, a farmer standing a mile away from the crash scene, said he saw the plane in flight, flame streaming from the fuselage. He did not see it crash.

Murdie Stewart was upstairs in the Stewart's farm home when he heard the engine. Seconds later there came the sound of a crash and he raced downstairs. The others had heard it, too, and the Stewart family dashed to where the flaming wreckage lay nearly 100 yards from the house.

"We tried to get them out of the plane," Mr. Stewart related, "but we couldn't get near."

Hair on the backs of his hands and arms and the beard stubble on his face were singed, so closely had he pressed to the flames.

With Mrs. Stewart and his sons he battled for nearly 15 minutes before help came from neighbors who had heard the crash. They fought the flames with snow, pouring it on the wreckage with shovels and buckets. But to no avail.

More and more helpers arrived on the scene, but not until the arrival of police with extinguishers were the flames at last put out.

Only then were the bodies of Mrs. Siple and three of the children recovered from the charred and twisted wreckage. Mr. Siple's body lay where it had been hurled by the impact, 50 feet away from the plane. Bodies of two of the boys also were thrown clear.

Concentrated Milk Producers Hear Hon. J. G. Gardiner At Ottawa Banquet

The Hon. J. G. Gardiner, speaking before an overflow crowd at the Concentrated Milk Producers annual banquet and meeting in Chateau Laurier, February 9th, said that consumers didn't fully appreciate what wartime sacrifices the farmers had made for them in producing food below the cost of production. They forgot that farmers held the price line through out the war, when the sky was the limit.

Claiming that he could not agree that dairy farmers have depleted their herds by selling to the states and other foreign markets, his experience had been that it was an easy source of income to the farmer. Sale of cows had brought much needed capital to farmers. It was time now to look at the past and think of the future. What is our position in the British and American markets? He said that he felt that the drop in milk production since the end of the war was far less than anticipated and was nothing to be unduly worried about. The great hope of the country and the dairy farmer lay in the fact that Britain was getting back on her feet faster than any other country in the world of comparable size, said the minister and he felt that she would soon be a better market for our goods. Another hope on the horizon was the proposed Atlantic Charter, which was would be a social and economic union rather than just a political union.

Frank Way, Ingersoll, who was re-elected for his third term as president of the Association, pointed out that people are accepting social legislation in the hope that it will bring security and overlooking the fact of increased taxes and controls, which may destroy the incentive of the people to produce and work for efficient production, which would extend markets and create real wealth to give a high standard of living with the opportunity of the pride of saving for security. This is the basis of free democracy he stressed.

A thought that Mr. Way felt the Association should give more consideration to, was extending a herd testing and cost data program to members There should be more local producer meetings with definite projects in mind and co-operate with the Department of Agriculture on soil conservation and use of land, calf hood vaccination, improved pastures and general farm efficiency.

Several times through the meeting Mr. Way stressed the importance of all commodity groups supporting National Farm organizations, especially financially, their budgets are far too small for them to operate as they should. He commended the work that Dr. E. C. Hope, Federation economist is doing for our groups.

The trend in the dairy industry is definitely one of advancement in manufacturing, distribution and transportation of milk and milk products from one area to another. The trend is such that he felt the time is coming, when we may well have to unite all branches of the industry.

Characterizing the oleomargarine problem as a "Hot Potato" that no one wants to do anything about, Mr. Chas. Milton, sec.-manager of the Association said that it was the most serious problem affecting the dairy industry today. At the present time it was being sold in Canada without any standards or regulations of any kind. The dairy farmers feel it is the duty of the Dominion Government to appeal the decision, but governments seem rather slow to act in this respect, Mr. Milton said.

Protesting the fact that there is no such thing as a standard milk loaf in Canada, he recommended that a standard loaf should be adopted, with the standard written on the side of the wrapper. He pointed out the fact that if four pounds of skim milk powder were added to each 100 pounds of flour, there would be no such thing as a surplus of powder in Canada and people would be assured of a genuine milk loaf. He pointed out that in the states a considerable amount of skim milk powder is being used in the manufacture of sausage.

Mr. Milton said that it was extremely hard to understand why something could not be done about the money situation, people want our products, we have them to sell and they have the money but due the money exchange problems they can't trade and yet nothing seems to be done to overcome this funny situation.

Dr. E. C. Hope, newly appointed economist to the Federation of Agriculture, said that Canadian consumers have become accustomed over the last two decades to cheap food, food that was so cheap it bore no relationship at all to wages. People have received food far below the cost of production, even at the present time a thing very few consumers realize is this that bread is subsidized to the consumer to the extent of 45 cents a bushel, or approximately three cents a loaf. He pointed out the fact that this was the first time in about 18 years that food is up anywhere near wages in relationship. It was small wonder then that there is a squawk from consumers after so many years of abnormally cheap food.

Allison Graham, Chesterville, vice-president of the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers Association, in presenting the report of the public relations and planning committee said that the goal was an overall marketing plan for milk in Ontario. This did not mean that concentrated were going to usurp the fluid trade, far from it. All that is asked is a marketing scheme whereby all surplus milk would be handled in such a way that there would be no shortages of dairy products. At the present time he stated, butter and cheese should receive the surplus milk not the concentrated milk plants.

Some spirited discussion took place on this and many delegates made it known that while they were all in favor of this system which might be called pooling. Under no consideration would they accept a cut in price But the feeling was that it was a good thing and a definite step forward and with surplus milk being directed into channels where it was wanted. It would not necessarily go to the second best paying market in this setup but it would certainly prevent a depressing effect in the overall market.

Another interesting point raised by Mr. Graham was the asking for a list of farm speakers, who could go out and speak to service clubs and other urban organizations and give farm groups worthwhile publicity and promote good will between the urban and country groups.

The following officers were elected: Pres., Frank Way, Ingersoll; 1st Vice-Pres., Allison Graham, Chesterville; 2nd Vice-Pres., J. Jenkins, Belmont; Directors: Chas. McInnis, Iroquois; Carl Dance, Kingsmill; Geo. Lowry, Almonte; Milton Honey, Villa Nova.

Church News

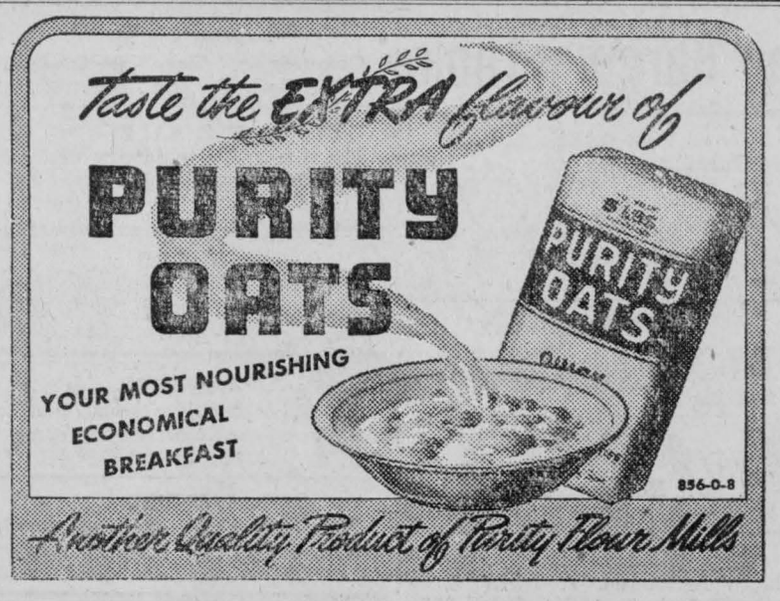

MOREWOOD UNITED CHURCH

The service at Morewood United Church was conducted on Sunday morning by the minister, Rev. W. J. Copsey, B.A. The text was Gal. 5,1 "Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ has made you free and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage." Protestantism has gone, freedom has come. Protestantism believes in the inquiring mind; it recognizes the truth that frees and that man must have freedom to find the truth that frees indeed. It insists upon the right of private judgment in matters of faith and practice. Wherever it has gone the Scriptures have been made accessable to all who would read and it has been closely related to the great movements that have marked the march toward the freedom of humanity. This heritage of Christian freedom must be defended at all cost, therefore let all Christians stand fast in the liberty wherewith Christ has made us free.

The Anthem by the choir was "Let me be ready," Miss Smith was at the organ. The evening service was conducted by the Y.P.U. Ken Steven, the president, leading and being assisted by Elgin Bowman and Cecil Dillabough. Eldon Hay of Marvelville, was the guest speaker who interested a well filled church with a splendidly delivered address on the Older Boys' Parliament, which met in Whitby. Eldon is the representative for the County of Russell in the Boy's Parliament of Ontario. Eldon and his sister Catherine rendered two very pleasing duets.

Canada's banks have

7,000,000 bosses

Your bank account is one of seven million. You keep it in the bank of your choice. A bank exists by the confidence of its depositors. You're the boss.

YOUR banks operate under charters granted by Parliament, which every ten years reviews and revises them.

Above all, the depositor is the controlling factor—the safety of depositors' funds is a bank's first concern. As a depositor exercising your free choice—yours is the power which keeps the bank alert to your needs.

And it works out. Impartial authorities have called Canada's banking system one of the soundest and most efficient in the world.

Contrast this Canadian way with conditions in lands where freedom is denied—where every bank is a political tool, every banker a State official! State monopoly of banking, proposed by socialists here, would open your banking transactions to political intrusion.

JOHN FISHER has made a career of telling Canada about herself. To outsiders he often sounds like a super-patriot glorying in the growth and decrying the shortcomings of his country. He may sound that way to some Canadians, too, but to others his is a welcome voice each week, spurring the national conscience. The CBC calls him its "roving reporter" and gives him a fifteen-minute period at 7.15 p.m. each Sunday on the Trans-Canada network in which to report his observations.
