Bogus bills show up across SD&G

IROQUOIS–At one time, forging counterfeit money was the domain of a few skilled criminal craftsmen whose painstaking duplication of legal tender was the source of most counterfeit money; now, anyone with a good printer can try their hand.

As area businesses and banks become more aware of the frequency with which counterfeit money enters the system, they are finding more phony money in their registers.

"It's been showing up throughout SD&G," says Senior Constable Al Lummiss, Community Services Officer of the Ontario Provincial Police. "(The $10) seems to be the one we've been running into a lot of problems with."

The last local incident occurred January 25 at the Royal Bank in Iroquois; two weeks before, a counterfeit $10 cropped up in Chesterville.

In all, there have been 32 incidents of counterfeit money in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry since June, and of those, 20 involved the passing of $10's.

"Counterfeit money was not an issue a few years ago," says Lummiss, adding that business people are now more vigilant. "A lot more businesses are becoming aware of it now and are checking."

Before a phony bill lands in the register of an attentive shopkeep or bank teller, however, it has likely circulated far and wide, unwittingly passed on by countless customers, and this can make investigation problematic.

"A lot of what we pick up gets sent to the RCMP," says Lummiss, "but we will follow up if we can determine where they came from."

Though banks, and even some businesses, have hi-tech machines to quickly determine the legitimacy of a bank note, there are a number of tell-tale clues that anyone can look for in a counterfeit bill.

According to the Bank of Canada there are a number of security properties built into Canadian bank notes that make duplication difficult for even the most expert counterfeiter.

They include iridescent maple leaf graphics that will not photocopy, impossibly small type called microprinting that reproduces as a solid line, raised ink that produces a readily identifiable texture and fluorescent qualities in the ink that react differently under ultraviolet light.

Fire Causes Considerable Damage to Morrisburg Home McNairn Photo

The Morrisburg and Williamsburg Fire Departments battled a fire at this Morningside Crescent home last Wednesday. The fire started in the chimney after homeowner Peter Ziegler lit an artificial fire log. The home was saved but there was considerable smoke and water damage.

Home damaged by fire in chimney

MORRISBURG–A chimney fire, that got out of control here last Wednesday did considerable damage to a Morningside Crescent home.

Home owner Peter Ziegler, said at the scene, he was cleaning out the home of his mother the late Irene Ziegler, when he came across an artificial fire log and lit it in the fireplace.

Shortly after, he had gone outside for the arrival of a garbage dumpster, unaware the chimney had caught fire and the fire had gotten out and into the walls.

According to Morrisburg Fire Chief Robert Hamilton, he (Ziegler) wasn't aware of a problem until a neighbour spotted the excess smoke and notified him.

"It started in the chimney and then got out of the side of the chimney," said Morrisburg Fire Chief Robert Hamilton. "The fire went across the basement ceiling and up through the walls and into the attics of both the garage and the house."

The house has an attached garage, which has an attic separate from the main attic. The fireplace and chimney are located on the wall that adjoins the two.

Firefighters had to cut holes in the roof of both the garage and the house to get water to the problem.

"There was quite a bit of damage," said Hamilton, including the fire damage, and considerable smoke and water damage. "Structurally, it is okay."

Hamilton adds, "They were insured and the insurance company was there within a couple of hours so they were able to start the cleanup."

The Williamsburg Fire Department was called in for backup, marking the second time in six days the two departments had worked together on house fires.

Morrisburg and Winchester assisted the Williamsburg department on January 24 when a home just west of the former Canadian Tire building in Williamsburg was destroyed by fire, that also threatened a nearby home.

The work of the volunteer departments saved the neighbouring home owned by Sue Woods who later expressed her "enormous gratitude" in cards of thanks in local newspapers.

The fire that destroyed the Williamsburg home is still under investigation.

The South Dundas fire departments in Morrisburg, Williamsburg and Iroquois have just put behind them a busy year in 2001. Major industrial and house fires in 2001 did not result in death or severe injuries, but did add up to thousands of dollars in damage.

"It's the start of another busy year," said Hamilton. "Hopefully, it won't keep up."

Warden Cam Martel says

"Mega hospital" just a comment

MORRISBURG–United Counties Warden, Cam Martel, says he took a comment by a Cornwall councillor about the possibility of a "mega hospital" to replace all hospitals in SD&G and the City of Cornwall to be no more than that...a comment.

"It was an off-handed comment. We were throwing things on the table. Nobody picked up on it."

"The feeling is well known in Cornwall that areas from Ingleside west don't have that close a tie to Cornwall," he says.

Martel, in the dual role of a South Dundas councillor and warden, says he agrees with a comment made by Mayor Johnny Whitteker at the last regular meeting of municipal council.

During a discussion at South Dundas council on the Open Door Meeting held in Cornwall by MPP John Cleary in January, Whitteker said he didn't think in all fairness they (The Counties) should hold up Winchester hospital, because of the uncertainty of what is going to be done in Cornwall.

"Winchester Hospital has to have a commitment from Counties Council in order to go to Toronto," said Whitteker.

Although Martel doesn't want to see Winchester held up either, he says, "We have four hospitals to be considered. We (The Counties) have to plot our own plan."

"I'm suggesting we have to have to have all the players at the table, so we know what we have to look at," he says.

Counties Council was approached by Winchester Hospital for a $5 million contribution in December and according to Martel, Glengarry Hospital has asked for $500,000.

The Cornwall meeting brought up the possibility of one new hospital instead of the restructuring of the two present Cornwall hospitals. Prior to that the talked-about Counties share for the Cornwall restructuring was $5 million.

With this in mind Martel says he is going to suggest, "we take the numbers we know now and see how they crunch."

Looking at it from the taxpayers' points of view he says, "We are going to pay three times. We are going to pay at the Counties level, the municipal level, and on the street through fund raising."

He is also concerned about what the infusion of money through taxes often does to fund raising efforts. Often when people pay through their taxes, they feel they have done their part, and aren't as eager to assist the fund raising campaign.

Martel says that his opinion at the counties level is, "We can't wait." But he also points out that there are 12 other guys who have a say.

"Two of the four hospitals are ready to roll," he says. "Let's understand what we want, and let's get on with it."

"We are looking at almost $11 million from the Counties perspective," he says of the three projects.

Angus-Palm up and running by mid-March

MORRISBURG–Though such a move is rarely free of headaches, Jeff Baldwin of Angus-Palm Canada Inc. says the company is a week ahead of schedule as it moves one of its manufacturing lines into a section of the RohMax building in Morrisburg.

"By the end of the week we'll be shipping our first order out of Morrisburg, which is good news," says Baldwin, Manager of the Sims Business Unit.

Formerly known as Sims Cabs, Angus-Palm, a division of Angus Industries of South Dakota, recently announced it would be expanding its local operation, which has existed in Long Sault for more than 35 years, into Morrisburg.

Manufacturing steel enclosures for the cabs in heavy equipment, Angus-Palm will continue to center its fabrication, welding and painting operation in Long Sault, while sewing, assembly and packaging will be done in Morrisburg.

Though some production will begin this week, the line will not be fully operational until the middle of March, at which time the facility will be fully equipped and working to capacity.

Angus-Palm has already hired three new employees and expects to hire more later this spring or summer.

"We are looking at between 8-10 and that's at the current level of business, but that could change in future," says Baldwin, explaining that Angus-Palm hopes to diversify its enterprise to make up for the changeability in the market for steel enclosures.

"Right now this is a very cyclical business ... but we intend to grow the business into other areas so we don't have those peaks and valleys," he says.

Sour note for thieves

MORRISBURG–On January 28, Ontario Provincial Police were called to the scene of a break and enter which occurred over- night at a Lakeshore Drive property. The break-in resulted in the theft of musical instruments and home entertainment items.

Investigation into an unrelated incident involving a landlord-tenant issue led police to a Morrisburg property where the stolen property was recovered.

An 18-year-old Morrisburg man is facing charges of Break and Enter and Possession of Stolen Property, and a 17-year-old Morrisburg youth is facing charges of Break and Enter, Possession of Stolen Property and two counts of Failure to Comply with a Disposition.

Each of the parties will attend their respective courts in Morrisburg on February 26.

Heart & Stroke Month

Never assume it can't happen to you

by Chris Zabel
Winchester Press staff

WINCHESTER – One morning, having just come in from outside, Robert Guy was having a heart attack and watching TV. He was curious why his left arm was bothering him.

"I got a pain in my upper left arm," said Guy. "It was a tingling in the muscle, like I pulled it." Having worked up a bit of a sweat outside on his property southwest of Winchester, a pulled muscle seemed like the most obvious cause of the pain, although it was strange it wasn't going away.

It wasn't until the following day that Guy learned the pain in his arm had been a heart attack. And it came as a real surprise. In November 1997 when it happened, Guy was 57. He believed he led an active life, driving his pickup truck out to visit farms every day. When his doctor told him to lower his cholesterol he agreed that this was sound advice, although he didn't change his diet. Surely his job in sales couldn't be considered stressful.

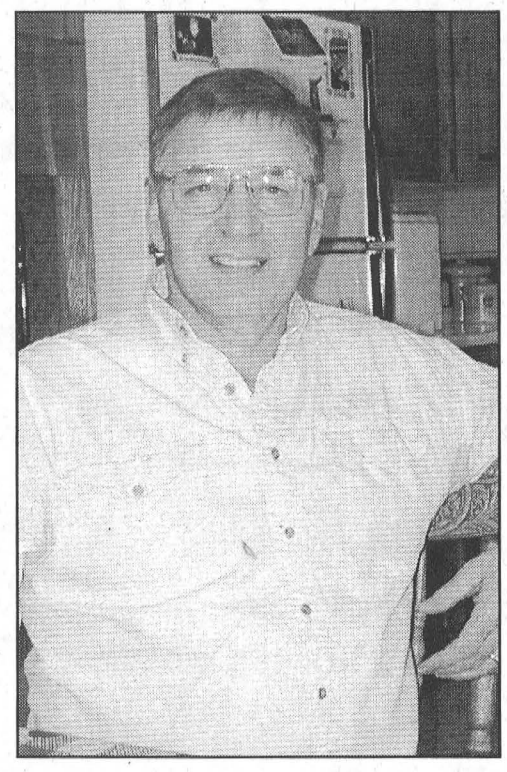
"And a heart attack was something that happened to someone else," he assumed, on the rare occasions when he thought about it. Being a small giant of a man working in agriculture, he didn't think about getting sick very often.

However, a doctor at Winchester District Memorial Hospital diagnosed Guy's heart attack almost immediately. Two minutes into his stress test on the treadmill, the chest pains were back. A similar test at the Heart Institute in Ottawa also concluded immediately that Guy had had a heart attack. He had three blockages in his heart and he was scheduled for a triple bypass for August in the next year.

Four years later, fully recovered and completely free of chest pains, Guy can see that he was probably exactly the type of person who should have been worried about a heart attack, He noticed indications earlier that he wasn't in great shape. When he was loading seed into his truck, he would be out of breath after loading 15 bags and he would have to sit down and rest. He had high blood pressure and his diet wasn't great. Selling seed often kept him out on the road, and meals were regularly hamburgers at McDonalds or Tim Horton's coffee and donuts.

After being diagnosed in November, the wait before surgery the following August was frustrating. It was a stroke of luck that his surgery date was moved up to June. Not only would he get the surgery over with sooner, but his daughter's wedding was in September, and an earlier operation would give him time to recover for the event.

The surgery itself was fairly typical. Guy went into the Heart Institute at 6 a.m. on a Wednesday. Of the five days before he went home, Guy mainly remembers drifting in and out of consciousness. He also remembers the nurses. "The nurses were super," he said. By Saturday they had him up and walking around the hospital.



Chest-pain free
At the age of 57, Robert Guy's heart attack came to him out of the blue. He didn't even know he'd had a heart attack until the next day. Four years later, he's living a healthier lifestyle and he feels great.
Press Photo -- Zabel

When he got home, Guy followed the instructions he had been given to rebuild his strength. On day one, he was supposed to walk for eight minutes, and every day after he was supposed to walk for one minute longer. By the 30th day, the goal was to be able to walk 1.5 miles in 30 minutes. Guy measured out the distance on the road in front of his house and, on the 30th day, he completed the distance in 26 minutes.

Guy has been able to put his heart attack almost entirely behind him. "Since I had the surgery, I've done pretty much what I wanted, and I just haven't had chest pains," he said. He felt great at his daughter's wedding in September. He went moose hunting that fall. And he no longer had to take breaks when he was loading bags of seed into his truck. "That's what surgery did for me," he said.

There are some adjustments Guy has made in his life. He walks 2.2 kilometres every day, completing his route in about 20 minutes, On days when the weather is bad, he works up a sweat on his treadmill. Since the heart attack, he's been to the doctor for two stress tests and he's passed them both.

Changing his diet took some effort. While he was waiting for surgery, Guy started paying attention to what he ate and cut way back on fat. By the time of the operation, he'd lost more than 20 pounds, most of which he's been able to keep off since. And his cholesterol is down from 7.4 to 3.4

"Robert was a big cheese eater," said his wife Betty. "For him that was one of the big things to cut down." The Guys cut servings of meat back to one a day, often having chicken instead of red meat. They started to watch the amount of oil they used in cooking. And, with the help of some heart-friendly cookbooks, began taking a greater interest in vegetables.

"I'll never be a vegetarian but with some of the recipes they have, you really don't miss it," said Guy, trying to help Betty remember where they had a recipe for low-fat pea soup.

The main challenge was getting through snack time without cheese. "We used to keep all kinds of cheese in the house. I used to cut a slice," he said, indicating a fat centimetre with his thumb and forefinger, "that thick, right across the face." There may be fewer things finer than a thick square from a block of old cheddar, but as the months went by, Guy learned not to miss it.

Making healthy lifestyle changes was easier for Guy than for some people. Fortunately, he had stopped smoking 25 years earlier. "The one thing I'm glad I did years ago was quitting smoking," said Guy. "If I hadn't, the heart attack would have happened sooner."

Even with his smoking days long behind him, Guy remembers in great detail how tough it was to quit. "When I first quit I was over a pack a day, and I did it on a little bit of a bet," he said. After not smoking for six months, he thought one cigarette wouldn't hurt, and then immediately started smoking again. It took several tries to finally quit. "And afterward, I'd still find myself reaching for the pack. I'd light up at parties and the taste would just be sickening. Eventually I stopped that because I was wasting cigarettes from the guys that smoked," he said.

On the whole, Guy's recovery was remarkably straightforward. "I went to the doctor six weeks after surgery and he said I was good for another 20 years," said Guy. The only thing that bothers him is a little dizziness if he bends over several times in a row to pick things up.

Realizing that not everyone recovers so completely from a heart attack and surgery, Guy feels a little lucky. And to those in their 50s who really can't picture themselves having a heart attack, he has some straightforward advice: "if you are a smoker, try to quit. I know it's not easy," he said. "And if you think you're active, get out walking and you'll find out how active you really are."

Meals on Wheels, serving good food, good friends

MORRISBURG–Too tired to cook after a long day's work, most people would simply call the nearest takeout to deliver their evening meal, but for senior citizens unable to cook for themselves, the choice is not between pizza or Chinese but between eating and not.

Fortunately, though, help is still only a phone call away.

Meals on Wheels has been operating in South Dundas for nearly 30 years, and in that time has provided nutritious and plentiful meals to elderly residents who, for reasons of age, illness or injury, are unable to provide for themselves.

Unfortunately, though, the number of seniors taking advantage of the service has been dropping, and it is feared that this is not due to lack of need but lack of awareness.

"I'm sure there are a lot of people who could probably use the service, and should be," says Ruth Shearing, Client Intake Coordinator of the local Meals on Wheels.

In Morrisburg, the organization is currently serving 10 clients, less than half the number in times past, and though some clients do pass on or move to retirement homes, the board of directors is still unable to explain such a steep decline in requests for service.

Gladys Reaume, however, has been using Meals on Wheels for the past seven years and encourages senior citizens, their families and their doctors to consider the peace of mind the organization can provide to some elderly citizens.

"I would recommend it highly to anybody ... but a lot of people don't even know about it," she says.

When Reaume was released from hospital seven years ago, having undergone cancer treatment, and sustaining some nerve damage in the process, she was made aware of the valuable role Meals on Wheels could play in her post-surgical recovery.

"When I first came home from the hospital it wasn't difficult, I appreciated it," she says, suggesting that making the decision to remain on the program following her recovery was a harder pill to swallow.

"A lot of people won't give into the fact. They don't want to admit that they can't do it anymore," says Shearing.

For Reaume, however, the realization came quite quickly that with impaired nerves and a resultant decrease in muscle function, it was not only unsafe for her to continue working in the kitchen, around knives and hot pots, but it was also exhausting.

"When I first started it was hard because I was so used to doing my own cooking," she says, "(but) by the time I prepared and cooked the meal, I didn't want to eat it ... I was tired out."

Through Meals on Wheels Reaume's dinner is now prepared every weekday by a professional cook and her assistant at the South Dundas Justice Building, and delivered by two of over 40 dedicated volunteers.

"The meals are very very good (and) they're very nutritious," says Reaume, who is also diabetic and requires a diet free of salt and sugar. "Every meal is different. It's a good variety and even being a diabetic ... the desserts are still tasty."

The Meals on Wheels menu is different from day to day and changes completely from month to month on a rotation schedule that ensures clients are not only provided varied tastes but also varied nutrition.

"With Meals on Wheels locally, we're very lucky because we have a nutritionist," says Shearing, emphasizing the organization's commitment to quality and dedication to the health of their clientele.

The commitment Meals on Wheels makes goes beyond the provision of food, however, as volunteers are also trained to monitor the health and safety of those to whom they deliver a meal.

"It acts as not only a meal but a security check," says Shearing. "I think the contact every day with someone from the outside world is just as valuable as the meal is."

Shearing recounts several examples of Meals on Wheels volunteers being the first to notice signs of distress in elderly clients who may have no family nearby and are otherwise housebound.

"There are times you go in and you know they've really gone downhill from the time you saw them before."

Most of the time, though, volunteers are simply a kindly visitor whom clients welcome into their homes as they would a close friend.

"It's always a smiling face that delivers (the meal)," says Shearing, to which Reaume adds with a chuckle, "I haven't had a grouchy one yet."

Meals on Wheels presently charges $3.50 per meal and makes deliveries Monday through Friday in Morrisburg and Monday, Wednesday and Friday in Iroquois.

Those interested in the service, or who know someone in need of assistance are asked to call the Meals on Wheels kitchen in the South Dundas Justice Building at 543-4568.

All for One? Not this time

Every once in awhile you come across something that makes you sit up and pay attention. That was the case when reading the Coffee Break Column by Claude McIntosh in the Standard Freeholder Friday.

As we are all aware, hospital woes have been the hot topic in Cornwall recently, and so there was little surprise that the column had a bit more to add.

What sent us for a loop was the final item: "Dundas (north and south) will apply for separation if a regional hospital to serve the counties is built in the Cornwall area (as a few have suggested) to replace the Winchester District Hospital and Glengarry Memorial Hospital."

A quick call to United Counties Warden, Cam Martel, and we were told the idea was brought up. "It was a comment from a councillor in Cornwall." says Martel. "At one of the meetings, he suggested, 'Why does it have to be built in Cornwall? What about a mega hospital?'"

Although the Warden says it was just an offhanded comment, and he can't imagine anyone supporting it, we find it alarming that the idea surfaced at all!

We have a wonderful community hospital serving Dundas, with a wonderful, caring medical staff, and a forward thinking, organized and dedicated board, all of whom have worked diligently to ensure that our small hospital remains operative and up-to-date.

The Dundas community has rallied numerous times to raise the funds needed for our hospital, and already clubs, groups and individuals are preparing to take up the next financial challenge...while the City of Cornwall continues to ponder its problems.

You know the old saying, "All for one and one for all". Sometimes it just doesn't apply. BMc

St. Mary and St. Cecilia's Schools have made some great breakfast plans for this Sunday, February 10, and the community is invited. From 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Morrisburg Legion the schools will be serving up pancake and sausage breakfasts at $4 per adult and $2 per child. Children five and under are free. The public is invited to come out, invite friends, maybe win a door prize, and most importantly support the local schools.

While we are on the subject of food and the Legion we have to mention this week's Legion column. In the column, (we won't mention who writes it Ross), it is reported the Legion is having a Sweetheart Dinner which will feature "spit roasted hip of beef". We rearranged the wording to make the hip of beef sound a bit more appealing...but we wonder who's doing the spitting and who's doing the roasting.

The Morrisburg Junior B Lions report they are getting good response for entries to their upcoming women's hockey tournament scheduled for the weekend of April 6-7. For more information or to register a team call Krista at 543-2068. The Jr. B Lions are heeding the old saying about the early bird and are releasing information about their 2002 Hockey School scheduled for the last week in August. Early bird prices are $250 for registrations before April 30. Those who register before April 30 are eligible to win Cornwall Colts game tickets (for next fall), and a family pack of tickets for the Lions home opener next year. The camp runs seven days with experienced instructors. For more information call Ronnie at 543-2068 or Dale at 543-2034.

Last week's question: In September 1991, Morrisburg Reeve Bill Dillabough announced he would not seek reelection. Who did run for the position, and who won? Answer: Gord MacGregor and Peter McCooeye ran. Gord MacGregor won.

This week's question: Morrisburg Council kicked off 1961 by re-engaging our Chief Constable at a salary of $4,100. The Chief was to be on call 24 hours a day, six days a week! Who was Morrisburg's Chief Constable for 1961?

The February 5 issue reported it took quite some time for the Morrisburg and District Chamber of Commerce to agree to circulating a petition to its members asking for their feelings on the Morrisburg-Waddington ferry proposal. The Chamber did not want the survey considered an endorsement to the project. The ferry proposal was a contentious issue made even more so because of the considerable cross-border shopping already hurting the local economy.

For the third time in 40 years, the Hainsville General Store was destroyed by fire. The store was owned by David Murray who had purchased it from his mother in 1985.

The Morrisburg rink of Ricki Cottrill, Sandra Brunt, Brenda Lyon and Barb Rabideau was the first in 28 years to make it to the final of the 44-year-old Broder Cup Bonspiel. Twenty-eight years earlier, Mrs. C. Robinson had taken her rink to the final. Cottrill skipped her rink to two straight wins including a 13-2 upset win over Metcalfe's O'Brien. The Broder is an annual ladies bonspiel, which includes two teams each from Metcalfe, Russell, Winchester and Morrisburg.

The February 3 issue reported Morrisburg lawyer, Norman Bayne, was appointed to a seat on Morrisburg village council following the acceptance of past councillor Gerry Rosenquist's resignation. Rosenquist had turned in his resignation a week earlier due to his appointment to the seat of trustee with the SD&G Board of Education. Rosenquist had served on municipal council for six years. Al Belanger, who had just missed taking a seat in the last municipal election had been contacted but refused the appointment, due to business commitments. Council then decided to approach Bayne who had also run in the election but was edged out for the seat of deputy reeve by Harland Veinotte.

On February 6, Walt Whitteker was preparing to celebrate 45 years in business, which started out when the Whitteker family purchased the small store on Williamsburg's main street from Ralph McMillan. At the time, the community was thriving. Thousands were attending the village every day as Doctor Locke administered his treatments. Now, 45 years later, Whitteker's Meat Market, recently expanded in floor space, remained a hive of activity during business hours. Walt remained on the scene every day, and his customary placing of political cartoons on the front of the meat cooler had not changed. The lifelong Williamsburg resident still stoked the wood stove on a regular basis, and wore a peaked cap and a sweater while he cut meat.

The Seaway Valley Pharmacy was celebrating its 10th year in business.

Morrisburg's first Annual Winter Carnival Queen and her two princess would be the recipients of several gifts including long gowns of their choice donated by English's Family Shopping Centre. The contest was open to girls who lived in Morrisburg and area and were between 16 and 21 years. They were to be judged on poise, personality, grooming and interests.

Seaway students held their three-day Winter Carnival which was a big success and a welcome relief from exams. The carnival opened Wednesday with a tug of war contest, a cracker eating contest and penny arcade in the gym and an evening hay ride. Sharon Berry was crowned 1972 queen by last year's queen Shelly Douglas at the closing dance. Sherri Fader and Valerie Pulfer were the princesses.

A Williamsburg Pioneer Hotel ad reads: Ontario is becoming more fun all the time. You can now dance on Sunday and even have a drink.

The issue featured a letter from Ella Beckstead of Morrisburg who wrote of her extreme dissatisfaction with the rehabilitation in regard to the Seaway. "I myself, was forced by Hydro to get out of my home. I was put entirely out of business and every cent of income I had was taken from me. I had invested around $16,000 in my apartment house some of which I had borrowed. Without any consideration as to how I was going to buy a lot and build a home, and try to live in this high cost of taxation town, I was given the small sum of $24,500 from which I had to pay back the money I had borrowed. "

Last fall, Jimmy Steward son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Steward had placed a caterpillar in a jar which soon spun a cocoon, and was forgotten. This week a black swallowtail butterfly had hatched and was flying from one house plant to another.

1952

Due to the rapid club growth into the outlying district, the Morrisburg Fish and Game Protective Association changed its name by adding "District". The association had applied to the Department of Lands and Forests for 530,000 pickerel, 20,000 muskellunge, and 500 day-old pheasant which were to be distributed throughout the area. At the request of the Ontario Federation, a poll was taken on the desirability of a fishing license fee of $1. The local club was strongly in favour of the fee.

Ruth Hummell and Dorothy Merrill were tied for high cross in ladies bowling league action with a 633.

1942

Playing on the Morrisburg Junior Hockey team this year were: Goaltender John Rice, defence Loucks and McIntosh, centre Osler, wings Hutt and McPherson and subs Tom Tindal, Crober, Ed Rice, Harry Tindal Merkley, Trickey and Junior Cassell.

The issue reported the marriage of Esther Mary McGillvary of Ogdensburg, New York to Harry Locke. The wedding was performed by Father Coyle at St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Names appearing in the Morrisburg Public School honour roll were Norma Casselman, Frances Crober, Edna Jannack, Kathleen Markell, Ivy Payton, and Irene Redmond.

The motto of the salvage committee was "Don't throw it away, throw it at Hitler!" Motorists were being asked to drop their 1941 licence plates at local garages from where they would be shipped to foundries in Hamilton to be recycled for the war effort.

Ernie Allison dropped into The Leader officer with more samples of the extraordinary exploits of his flock of pullets. He claimed it was the St. Lawrence air responsible for the eight by 10 inch egg weighing eight ounces.

"Growing and Learning"

From A Biblical Perspective

Rev. Duncan Perry

I will always remember my Dad for the many one-liners he had. What was special about these one-liners, was the fact that they often made a lot of sense. One in particular I thought of today, after I had received an e-mail from my daughter. Dad would say, "any day you learn something new is a good day". I'm sure that truth didn't originate with him but it was my Dad who impressed it upon my mind. The e-mail that I received talks about things we learn over a life-time and I thought I would like to share it in this column. The author is a person by the name of Andy Rooney, who, as you will see, has a gift of saying a lot with few words. My Dad would call him a wise man. The following is the content of that e-mail.

I've learned ... that the best classroom in the world is at the feet of an elderly person. I've learned ... that when you fall in love, it shows. I've learned ... that just one person saying to me, "you've made my day!" makes my day. I've learned ... that having a child fall asleep in your arms is one of the most peaceful feelings in the world. I've learned ... that being kind is more important than being right. I've learned ... that you never say no to a gift from a child. I've learned ... that I can always pray for someone when I don't have the strength to help him in some other way. I've learned ... that no matter how serious your life requires you to be, everyone needs a friend to be goofy with. I've learned ... that sometimes all a person needs is a hand to hold and a heart to understand. I've learned ... that simple walks with my father around the block on summer nights when I was a child did wonders for me as an adult. I've learned ... that life is like a roll of toilet paper. The closer it gets to the end, the faster it goes. I've learned ... that we should be glad God doesn't give us everything we ask for. I've learned ... that money doesn't buy class. I've learned ... that it's those small daily happenings that makes life so spectacular. I've learned ... that under everyone's hard shell is someone who wants to be appreciated and loved. I've learned ... that the Lord didn't do it all in one day. What makes me think I can? I've learned ... that to ignore the facts does not change the facts. I've learned ... that when you plan to get even with someone, you are only letting that person continue to hurt you. I've teamed ... that love, not time, heals all wounds. I've learned ... that the easiest way for me to grow as a person is to surround myself with people smarter than I am. I've learned ... that everyone you meet deserves to be greeted with a smile. I've learned ... that there's nothing sweeter than sleeping with your babies and feeling their breath on your cheek. I've teamed ... that no one is perfect until you fall in love with them. I've learned ... that life is tough but I am tougher. I've learned ... that opportunities are never lost, someone else will take the ones you miss. I've learned ... that when you harbor bitterness, happiness will dock elsewhere. I've learned ... that I wish I could have told my Dad that I love him one more time before he passed away. I've learned ... that one should keep his words both soft and tender, because tomorrow he may have to eat them. I've learned ... that a smile is an inexpensive way to improve your looks. I've learned ... that I can choose how I feel, because I can choose what I can do about it. I've learned ... that when your newly born grandchild holds your little finger in his or her little fist, that you are hooked for life. I've learned ... that everyone wants to live on top of the mountain, but all the happiness and growth occurs when you're climbing it. I've learned ... that it is best to give advice in only two circumstances, when it is requested and when it is a life threatening situation. I've learned ... that the less hours I have to work, the more I get done. I would like to add one of my own that I picked up somewhere along the way. I've learned ... that God loves me the way that I am, but He loves me too much to leave me as I am. Hope you enjoyed this.

It's building up to be an early spring

MISSISSAUGA–The arrival of February marks the mid-point of the winter season in Canada. And although it took its time, winter has now arrived in most parts of the country and has many Canadians digging out wondering, "Are we in for another six weeks of winter or will we see an early start to spring?"

In their just-released mid-winter forecast, meteorologists at The Weather Network are predicting that relief is almost in sight for southern Ontario.

"We're expecting about two weeks of cooler and more winter-like temperatures in southern Ontario," says Ron Bianchi, Head of Meteorology at The Weather Network. "But milder air is expected to return to the region and once that sets in, we're looking an an early start to spring for both southern Ontario and southern Quebec."

Bianchi says that the fact the Great lakes have had very little ice cover and are two to four degrees warmer than normal will help southern Ontario's chances for an early spring.

Precipitation-wise, both the southern half of Ontario and Quebec can expect drier than normal conditions, even with the arrival of some winter snowstorms and freezing rain events.

"Southern Ontario and Quebec are both in such a major moisture deficit," explained Bianchi. "These areas would need to receive a significant amount of precipitation to bring things back to normal levels and that's just not going to happen."

With a large part of the country expected to see an early start to spring and with drier than normal conditions dominating our Canadian winter, Bianchi sees three major weather stories potentially making headlines this spring and summer: severe drought, increased forest fires and decreasing water levels.

"Farmers in the Prairies, Ontario and the Maritimes may have some tough times ahead with three-quarters of the country being in such a moisture deficit situation," says Bianchi. "Crops yields are likely to suffer again."

Drier conditions could also mean another busy forest fire season in Alberta, Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes. The continuing fall of the Great Lakes water levels is also cause for concern.

Bianchi says the entire Great Lakes Basin would have to be full of snow in order for runoff to fill up the lakes again. He doesn't see that happening, mainly because of drier conditions and less ice cover.

OPP weekly report

SOUTH DUNDAS–In the past week, false alarm calls continued to be one of the more frequent incidents investigated by police.

During the week alarms accounted for 20 percent of the calls responded to by officers in Dundas County. Home and business owners are reminded to test their systems weekly, and report any concerns to their alarm companies so that problems can be corrected to ensure the integrity of their system.

A reliable properly functioning alarm system is an excellent component in a building security program.

With the return of winter weather, Dundas County had a marked increased in the number of collisions last week.

Collision investigations accounted for 21 percent of the incidents investigated, which was an increase of 61 percent over the previous seven-day period.

Drivers are reminded to slow down, allow extra time for travelling, and to increase following distances for winter driving.

OBITUARIES

Arthur J. Casselman passes in hospital

A lifetime resident of Morrisburg, Arthur James Casselman passed away January 31 at Winchester District Memorial Hospital. He was 70.

He was born in Morrisburg on February 25, 1931 to James Bruce Casselman and Ethel Casselman (nee Newcombe), both deceased.

Art is survived by his wife Erma Casselman (nee Sypes), whom he married October 4, 1952 at Lakeshore Drive United Church in Morrisburg.

Art is lovingly remembered by his sons Jim (Wendy) of Williamsburg, Bob (Cindy) of Barrie, and by his daughter Susan (Garry) O'Neill of Morrisburg.

He is sorely missed by sisters Inez (Les) Bilmer of Morrisburg, Sally Black of Morrisburg and by brother Allan of Cornwall.

Art is predeceased by his sister, June Coulthart.

Art was the proud grandfather of John Casselman, Thomas Casselman, Catherine O'Neill, Kimberley O'Neill, Greg O'Neill, Nathan Casselman and Matthew Casselman, and loving uncle to several nieces and nephews.

Friends and family remember Art as a devoted husband, father and grandfather who loved music, gardening and wood working and always felt at home out on the water fishing or deep in the bush hunting.

Art originally operated a taxi and ambulance service with his father in Morrisburg. Later, the pair opened a garage which they ran for a number of years.

Eventually, Les Bilmer purchased the garage and Art bought Casselman Bus Lines from his father.

After purchasing the bus company and expanding its fleet, Art began working at Marcellus Motors, which was to turn into Upper Canada Motors shortly after.

Art was very busy in those days as he would drive the bus in the morning, work all day at the car dealership as a mechanic and then drive the evening bus run.

Due to declining health, Art sold the bus business to Dundas Bus Service in 1991, but still managed to keep busy helping his friends and neighbours with any mechanical repairs they may have needed.

Art was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Morrisburg, was a former member of the Morrisburg Fire Department and, since 1951, had belonged to the Morrisburg Hunting Club.

Friends called at Marsden and McLaughlin Funeral Home in Williamsburg on Saturday, February 2 from 7-9 p.m. and on Sunday, February 3 from 2-4 p.m. and 7-9 p.m.

The funeral was held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Morrisburg on Monday, February 4 at 11 a.m. with Reverend Joachim Barkley-Probst officiating.

Pallbearers were Douglas G. Casselman, Steven Casselman, Barry Elliott, Donald Black, Wayne Gurnhill and Arie Oosterman.

Interment was at Mount Pleasant Cemetery in Morrisburg.

Donations to Winchester District Memorial Hospital were greatly appreciated by the family.

Ingleside resident Donald Andrew "Duffy" Webb passed away December 22 in his home. He was 64.

Duffy was born April 8, 1937 in Iroquois, to the late Andrew Webb and Mary Serviss who passed away on January 2, only 11 days after her beloved son.

Duffy is survived by his wife Donna (nee Hartwell) whom he married February 19, 1966 in Ingleside.

Remembered as a loving father, Duffy is dearly missed by his son Andrew of Osnabruck Centre and daughter Tammy (Hilton) Cryderman, also of Osnabruck Centre.

Gerald A.M. Casselman

A lifelong resident of Morrisburg, Gerald Alvin Mitchell Casselman passed away peacefully January 29 at the Ottawa Heart Institute following a brief illness. He was 80.

Gerald was born December 15, 1921 in Morrisburg to Roy Nelson Casselman and Letitia Van Allen, both deceased.

He is lovingly remembered by his wife Maude (nee Ranking), whom he married last September, and was the beloved husband of the late Mary Martin for 62 years.

Gerald is sorely missed by daughter Carolyn (Raymond) Roderick of Morrisburg and by sons Ken (Janet) of Glen Walter, Robert (Lorna) of Vaudreuil-Dorion and Larry (Vivian) of Morrisburg.

Gerald is the beloved grandfather of Gerald, Raymond, Teresa, Michael, Patrick, Kimberly, Nancy, Linda, Grace, Ruth, Sara and Tammy and is also remembered by 19 great grandchildren and four great-great grandchildren.

Gerald is the dear brother of Mabel Walker of Iroquois and Alice Heyman of Spencerville.

He is predeceased by brothers Russell and infant Clayton.

Gerald will always be remembered for his keen sense of humour, which he passed on to his children, and for his love of animals. As a farmer, and avid fisherman, Gerald always made sure he was surrounded by the animals he so enjoyed, but none could take the place of his beloved pet dog Sam, whom he considered a special friend.

Gerald graduated from grade 13, which was difficult to do in the years he attended high school, and soon earned his way into supervisory positions in the textile industry, serving for many years as a dye house manager.

Good at his job, Gerald knew how to delegate and, upon assigning work to those he supervised, was often heard to remark "my job is done."

Gerald was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church in Riverside Heights.

Friends were received at the Parker Funeral Home in Morrisburg Friday, February 1 from 2-4 p.m. and 7-9 p.m.

The funeral service was held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Morrisburg Saturday, February 2 at 2 p.m. with Pastor Joachim Barkley-Probst officiating.

Margaret is also survived by sisters-in-law Melinda Rutherford, Iva Rutherford and Vera Rutherford, all of Morrisburg, and by many nieces and nephews.

Margaret leaves behind an empty space that will never be filled as her friends and fellow members of the Peterborough Lionettes and the Peterborough Legion Ladies Auxiliary will miss her leadership, generosity and kindness.

The celebration of Margaret's life was held at the Comstock Funeral Home Chapel at 1 p.m. Tuesday, January 22, and interment followed at the Emily Cemetery in Omemee.

Flamingos dominate Chubbs tournament

MORRISBURG–Led by a shutout performance from goaltender Craig Smith and two goals from Derek Holmes, the local Flamingos hockey club dominated their division championship with a 6-0 win over the St. Lawrence College Sharks here Sunday afternoon.

Not only did the Flamingos win their division championship, they also cleaned up in individual awards.

For the second consecutive year, Rob Casselman's steady play throughout the annual Chubbs tournament caught the eye of the organizers. As a result, he was once again named the tournament MVP and awarded the Cam MacLennan Memorial trophy.

Equally impressive in the tournament was the play of Flamingos goalie Craig Smith who got the nod for the Joe Billings Memorial trophy for top goaltender.

In all, 16 teams competed in the tournament that kicked off Friday night and wrapped up with the four championship finals of the four divisions late Sunday afternoon.

The tournament was sponsored by Labatt through their Canadian Adult Recreational Hockey Association.

The Flamingos played in the Blue Division where they placed second in regulation play. They had wins over Avalanche 8-3, and OC Rebels 6-3.

The Sharks took first place in the division with a 6-1 win over the Flamingos, a 6-1 win over Avalanche and a 4-4 tie against the Rebels.

That set the stage for the final between the Sharks and the Flamingos but unlike their first encounter, this time it was the Flamingos dominating the play.

Backing Holmes' two goals were singles from Jason Smith, Rob Casselman, Kirk Barkley and Derek Bird.

In the Blue Light division, it was the Bootleggers and Wolves working their way into the championship.

Again goaltending came to the forefront as Wolves goaltender Jeff Moore shut down the Bootleggers offence in the 3-0 championship win. The Wolves also got a big effort from Scott Francis whose hat trick provided the Wolves scoring in the 3-0 win.

The Wolves started slow in the tournament round robin giving up a 5-2 loss to Adlington, but then got back on track with a 5-4 win over the Bootleggers and a 6-0 win over Cooeye's Crew.

Joe Hummel and the Beckstead Rams tangled in the Bud Division final, with Hummel claiming the win by a 4-3 score.

On the left is Flamingos goaltender Craig Smith who recorded the shutout in the championship final and was presented the Joe Billings Memorial trophy awarded annually to the top goaltender. On the right is Rob Casselman, who for the second consecutive year, was named tournament MVP and presented the Cam MacLennan Memorial trophy. Bantam C Lions split with NGS

MORRISBURG–The Morrisburg Bantam C Lions split a home and home series against NGS in Upper Canada Minor Hockey League play last week.

The Lions got it rolling in Morrisburg last Wednesday night when they downed NGS 7-3, but in their rematch in Finch on Sunday they were felled 5-2.

Dan Toonders led the Lions on home ice last Wednesday with two goals while singles were scored by Kyle Weegar, Scott Berseth, Jeremy Stewart, Anthony Lemaire and Kyle Scott.

Although NGS was first on the scoreboard two minutes into the first period, the Lions took control from that point on and had built a 4-1 lead before the buzzer sounded to end the frame.

Andrew Peters contributed a pair of assists, and Weegar, Dan McLaughlin, Lemaire, Toonders, and Kevin Phifer had one assist each.

Sunday in Finch, the score was tied 1-1 at the end of the first period. Anthony Lemaire scored unassisted for the Lions, and Thomas Corkery answered for NGS, also unassisted.

NGS went up two in the second but the Lions got one back from Dan Toonders with help from Lemaire.

The Lions held NGS to their one goal lead until late in the third when Cody Brabaut hit for the insurance. Chris Paquette counted the final NGS goal, his second, to give NGS a 5-2 win.

Four points back

Lions still in the chase

MORRISBURG–The Morrisburg Junior B Lions picked up a very valuable two points with a 6-5 overtime win against the Akwesasne Wolves Saturday night, and now, as they head to the wire they are just four points back of the fourth place Kemptville 73s.

The Lions win combined with a pair of Kemptville losses, to Char-Lan 4-2 last Tuesday night and 6-5 to Winchester Sunday, allowed the Lions to close the gap to four points. Both have played 41 games to date, and ironically they will meet head on in their final game of the regular season on February 17.

Depending on what happens this weekend, and the Lions have a tough schedule, that final showdown in Kemptville could be a big one.

This Saturday night, February 9, the Lions on on the road to Williamstown to take on the first place Char-Lan Rebels at 7:45. Sunday they are at home to the third place Winchester Hawks at 2:15 p.m.

Kemptville tangles with Winchester Friday night and hosts Akwesasne on Sunday.

The Lions encountered a major battle from the Wolves Sunday, as Akwesasne came from behind a 4-2 deficit at the end of the second period, to produce three third period goals for a 5-4 lead at the midway point of the frame.

In fact the Lions salvaged the 5-5 tie with just 1:13 left on the clock when captain Wayne Garlough connected for his second in a row.

That set the stage for the overtime, and Garlough's game winner which also completed his hat trick.

Jamie Leger and Matt Collins gave the Lions a 2-0 first period lead. The Lions held the two goal edge in the second with goals from Matt Bergeron and Garlough, while the Wolves, Teddy Cook and Lance Smith, put two past Lions goalie Jamie Lalonde.

The third period saw the Wolves come out strong. Casey Swamp kicked it off less than two minutes in.

At 8:42 Cook tied the game, and two minutes later he completed a three goal performance to give the Wolves a 5-4 lead.

That provided the setup for Garlough's tying goal and overtime game winner.

The Lions were assessed four minor penalties and the Wolves drew three.

Warming Up for Ontario Darts

Darts Ontario heading for a final showdown

MORRISBURG–With some new faces in the winner's circle following Sunday's third round of the Darts Ontario shoots, organizer Bobby Jack Hart says the final is going to be a real shoot-out.

"Competition has been excellent at the shoots, and we've had a variety of different winners," says Hart. "It's not just the same four people winning each time. It's going to be a real shoot-out in the end."

Sunday, the Morrisburg Legion was the site of the third of four shoots used as qualifiers for throwers from this district.

The final shoot will be played at the Morrisburg Legion on March 3, and from that shoot in combination with the opening three it will be decided who qualifies to represent this area at the provincial tournament in St. Catherines on Easter weekend.

Hart explains that about 30 percent of the players will earn a spot, and a few others could end up with bonus spots.

Leading Sunday's play in the mixed doubles were Mark Villeneuve and Sherry Sommerville of Cornwall. Tina Phillips and James Knippelle of Smith Falls placed second.

Holding strong at third were Norm Pilon and Natalie Coons of Cornwall and Patti Dunn and Philip Jamieson of Morrisburg.

In ladies singles, Morrisburg area players dominated the top spots. Diane Baker placed first, Patti Dunn second, and Diane Tyo has a join share of third place with Carole Paquette of Brockville.

Norm Pilon of Cornwall led the men's singles and John Lacelle of Smiths Falls was second.

Fred Devaul of Morrisburg and Knippelle were third.

Duck hunters have rights too

BROCKVILLE–Two Montreal residents have been fined a total of $80 for harassing duck hunters.

Caroline Ashton, 42, and Fabio Zenobio, 26, were convicted of interfering with lawful hunting contrary to the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Act, and were fined $30 each with an additional victim surcharge of $10 for their activities on September 22, 2001, the opening day of waterfowl season.

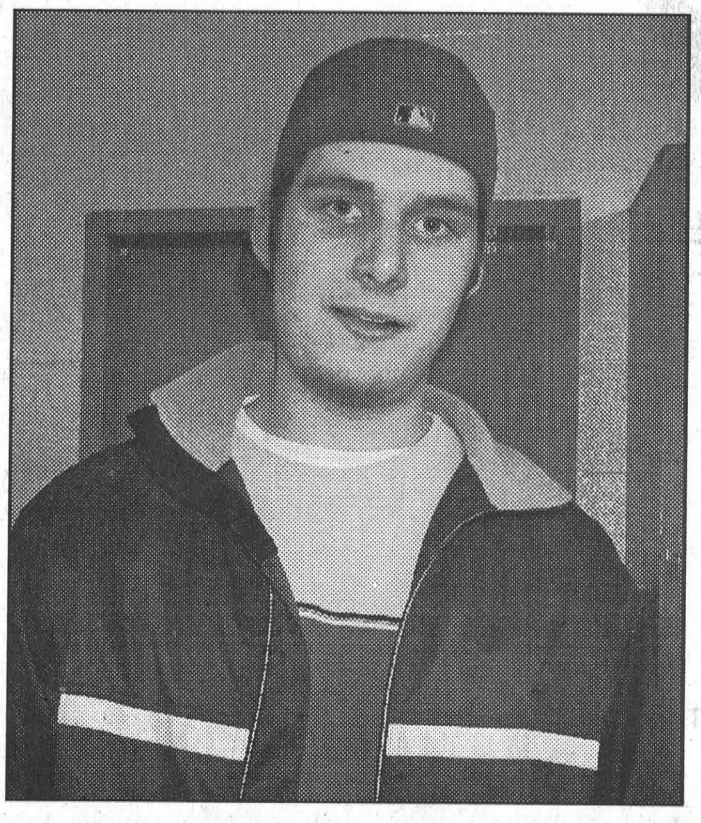
Brockville court heard that Ashton and Zenobio, while staying at a cottage on the north shore of the St. Lawrence River, began shouting obscenities at duck hunters, who were legally hunting from blinds located on Grassy and Drummond Islands in the St. Lawrence.

The pair then paddled a boat to the area between where the hunters were located, and began to wave their arms, shout and hit the water with their boat paddles when waterfowl approached.

As a result, the hunters had to discontinue their hunting and leave the area. Hunting is a legal activity on the St. Lawrence River as it is a public body of water.

Justice of the Peace Stewart heard the case in the Ontario Court of Justice, Brockville, on January 31.

Meet the Jr. B Lions



James Morrell

Williamsburg native, James Morrell is in his second season with the Lions. A graduate of the Morrisburg Minor program, James will celebrate his 19th birthday this month. He is doing his OACs at Seaway High School and wears the Lions number 16 sweater.

Peewee Cs collect five points

LONG SAULT–The Morrisburg Peewee C Lions were well on their way to their third consecutive Upper Canada Minor Hockey League win here Sunday, when they gave up a late third period goal to the Selects and were forced to settle for a 2-2 tie.

The Lions were coming off a 3-2 win over North Dundas and a 6-5 win over South Grenville.

After a scoreless first period Sunday, the Lions went up 2-0 in the second on goals by Darren Baldwin (unassisted) and Sheldon Beckstead. The Selects got one back from Jonathan Cutler, before the period ended, to tighten it to 2-1.

With just over four minutes to go, Selects Brandon Aubin counted for the 2-2 tie.

Last Wednesday night, the Lions were in Winchester where they collected a 3-2 win over the North Dundas Demons.

It was a tight game all the way. Less than a minute in, the Lions Andrew Adlington struck but that lasted just over a minute when Johnathon Sloan evened it.

Then it was over to the Demons as Kyle O'Brien counted late in the first for a 2-1 lead.

The Lions Craig Duvall counted late in the second period to tie the game 2-2, and late in the third Darren Baldwin struck for the winner.

Sunday, January 27 the Lions hosted South Grenville and skated to a 6-5 win. They led 2-0 after the first period and 5 -2 going into the third.

But third period action saw South Grenville creep back with a strong rally for three goals to the Lions one. The Lions hung on to claim the win 6-5.

Craig Duvall had a big game producing three goals and singles came from the sticks of Bryce Fournier, Andrew Adlington, and Collin Chesbro.

Also on top of his game was Ryan Morrow who helped out on three goals. Darren Baldwin picked up a pair of assists, and Scott Speer had a single.

Atom C power attack

MORRISBURG–In their last two games, the Atom C Lions have unleashed a powerful offensive attack which has produced 12 goals, and an unbeatable defense, led by goaltender Lucas Stewart who refuses to give up anything.

Saturday, the Lions travelled to Finch to take on North Glengarry and came away with a 7-0 win.

Brad Munro topped the effort with two goals and singles were scored by Michele Thurler, Spencer Peters, Nick Thomas, Conner Hodgson and Patrick Chesbro.

Picking up assists in the effort were Drew Hutt (3), Nathan McDonnell (2) and Evan Harper and Thomas Corden with one each.

On January 28, the Lions crossed the river to take on Ogdensburg at the Golden Dome and again Stewart was unbeatable in the 5-0 win.

Spencer Peters provided his help on two goals, and single assists went to Patrick Chesbro, Drew Hutt and Thomas Corden.

YOU DO NEED HIM
A Person is our Savior and our salvation. A Person is our life-giver and our life. A Person is our Redeemer and our redemption. A Person is our righteousness and holiness. A Person is our peace and our hope. That Person is the Lord Jesus Christ, "the Man Christ Jesus," the "one Mediator between God and men." By His blood we have been brought nigh to God. We need nothing more than Christ; nothing less will suffice or avail. To add any religion whatsoever to Christ Himself is to displease God. In Christ dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily. In Christ are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge. God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself. The believer is in Christ. The believer is accepted in Christ, complete in Christ, without condemnation in Christ, the righteousness of God in Christ. The believer is blessed with all spiritual blessings in Christ. Christ is the superlative need of the world. He is all that you need, but you do need Him. You must have Him or be lost forever. ACTS.4:12
–Pastor J.C. O'Hair on John 14:6

All Star Hockey

Rideaus dominate

SMITHS FALLS–It was a pair of high scoring games at the annual Rideau-St.Lawrence All Star games hosted by the Athens Aeros here Saturday.

And when the final buzzers had sounded it was the Rideau Division claiming this year's supremacy in both the Prospects (rookies) and Veteran divisions.

The Rideau division teams won both games, 10-5 at the Veteran level and 9-7 at the Prospects level.

Last year the games were split, the St. Lawrence Division Prospects winning their game, by an usually low score of 2-1, and the Rideau Veterans winning their encounter 6-5 in overtime.

Saturday in Smiths Falls, the St. Lawrence Prospects came out strong against their opponents to build a 4-1 first period lead. But in the second period they fell apart, and the Rideaus struck back with seven tallies to their one for an 8-5 lead heading into the final and the eventual 9-7 win.

The Rideau goals were well spread around with Scott Morrison picking up two and singles coming from Derek June, Tim Crowley, Ryan Beamish, Clark Moran, Dustin Swan, Peter Veltkamp and Bobby McMillan.

Answering for St. Lawrence were Kemptville's McLean Koekkoek with four goals, Char-Lan's Steve Jarvo with two and Phil Dunn with a single.

Representing the Morrisburg Lions on the squad were Matt Bailey and Matt Bergeron.

In the Veteran game, it was the Rideau Division all the way, as they opened it up with a 4-0 first period lead, and were ahead 7-4 at the end of two.

Chris Dales, Ryan Graham and Ryan Carty had two goals each in the winning effort and Kevin Running, Peter Amo, J.R. Ryan and Ryan DeKairelle had singles.

Kemptville's Adam Spirk led the St. Lawrence division scoring with two goals and Stephane St. Denis, Chris Nielsen and Sean Roseman provided singles.

Lions team captain Wayne Garlough provided three assists in the St. Lawrence effort.

The Week In Curling

The Morrisburg club hosted another successful senior mixed bonspiel last Wednesday. Twelve teams from Brockville, Metcalfe, Prescott, Russell, Maxville, Smiths Falls and Richmond entered. After their first game, each group had the usual hot meal before returning to the fray. Following some top-notch curling and hard-fought wins, the champions were Metcalfe's Bob and Marg Thompson and Ron and Fran Hamson, the other draw being won by Peter Romme, Carol Geoghegan and Jim and Shirley Sullivan from Russell. As always, the volunteers made the day a success and their work and donations of food helped keep expenses down and raise a good deal of money for the Club.

Three new signs have been added to the walls of our curling club: Mike's valumart, Morrisburg's Subway Restaurant, and Doug Byers' Furniture & Appliance Store in Iroquois. Again we invite members and others to patronize these and the others who support our Club in this way. As well, their signs will appear on our web site, which is not only accessed in our area, but has had hits from Europe, Asia, South America and Australia.

The Canadian senior championships are underway in St. Thomas. While Morrisburg's men's representative was defeated earlier this year in Zone play, the eventual Ontario champion had the lead after the early rounds of the national playdowns. On the women's side, Agnes Charette of Buckingham had the early lead.

Next weekend sees the start of the Winter Olympics, and our Canadian curlers will have their hands full if they hope to come home with gold medals. The Swedes are the early favourites in both divisions. Elisabet Gustafson is a four-time world champion, and will give Kelly Law of Canada a run for her money. Kevin Martin has never won on the world stage and will have to contend with Peter Lindholm, twice the world's best. Look forward to some great curling, with upsets a distinct possibility.

Back in Canada, Ottawa's John Morris, who finished second in Ontario last year, defeated Daniel in the final on Sunday to win the Nokia Cup. Morris will represent Ontario in March at the Calgary Brier, the Canadian Men's Championship.

Since we have space today, how about a few bits of curling etiquette? Here goes. Stand or walk at the side of the sheet of ice so that the view of the opposing skip and the curler delivering the rock are not obstructed. Remember to clean your rock's running surface before delivery. This helps to prevent those embarrassing 'picks' as the rock decides to follow its own course. Don't leave your hand or knee on the ice during delivery as this will melt the surface and affect the path of future forty-two pound stones.

Chubbs tournament

Trevor Beckstead had two goals for the Rams and Barry Degray added a single.

Hummel finished first in division play with a 6-2 win over Bill's 77s, a 5-1 win over KBD and a 3-3 tie against Beckstead.

In the Bud Light Division, Jamie Mac defeated the Chubbs Alumni team 6-1. The much more youthful Mac team hit early and hit hard going up 5-0 in the first half of the first period before the Chubbs found their legs.

From then on the Chubbs held them to just one goal for the 6-1 Mac championship win.

Brian Shaver had two goals for Mac and singles were scored by Steve Casselman, Rob Darling, Jeremy Bruss and Corey Cousins. Kevin Eamon was in net for the win.

The Mac team was undefeated in division play with wins over the Seelers 6-4, the Loan Sharks 6-1, and the Chubbs 5-1.

A highlight of the tournament was the 7-3 Chubbs win over the Seelers. The majority of the Chubbs hadn't played hockey in years, and many were using borrowed equipment, or equipment that was actually older than the players they were playing against.

The Chubbs game plan, to even the playing field a bit, included the use of an oxygen tank on their bench.

Summer job help for young Canadians

OTTAWA–The government of Canada is committed to helping young Canadian students find summer jobs that will help them develop the skills they need to prepare for the future.

Acting on this commitment, the Honourable Jane Stewart, Minister of Human Resources Development Canada and the Honourable Ethel Blondin-Andrew, Secretary of State for Children and Youth, recently launched Student Summer Job Action (SSJA) 2002.

SSJA consists of all key government of Canada initiatives designed to create summer employment opportunities for secondary and post-secondary students. A major component is Human Resources Development Canada's Summer Career Placements program that offers wage subsidies to employers in the private, public and not-for-profit sectors to create jobs related to students' career interests and field of study.

This year, it is anticipated that over 55,000 students will find summer jobs through the Placements Program.

The deadline for employers to submit applications for a wage subsidy to hire a student under the program is April 2.

"We all know how imperative it is to prepare tomorrow's work force today," said Minister Stewart. "Through these initiatives and with the help of employers from all sectors of the economy, we are increasing the chances for our students to build their careers while they are developing the skills they need to succeed in the future."

Last year the program helped more than 53,000 students in Canada gain valuable career-related work experience.

Students with entrepreneurial interests can also receive information about such programs as the Student Business Loans program. Administered by the Business Development Bank of Canada, this program offers loans of up to $5,000 to help students create and run their own small businesses during the summer months.

Employers and students are invited to contact their nearest Human Resources Development Canada office, visit www.hrdc-drhc.gc.ca or www.youth.gc.ca. or call 1-800-935-5555 for a free copy of the Student Summer Job Action 2002 brochure.

South Dundas Council Briefs

Council briefs from the January 24, regular meeting

OPP Report

Sergeant Stephanie Patterson, acting staff sergeant for the Morrisburg Detachment of the OPP made a brief report to Council. In her report she indicated that the two objectives listed in the business plan for 2001 – to reduce speeding in built up areas in South Dundas, and the education of the public on commercial and residential break-ins – had been successful. "In our 2002 business plan, we are dedicating a certain number of patrol hours on foot in the various communities." She also reported that to date the success of the deer reflector study along Highway 2, east of Upper Canada Village, has not been determined. "It's only been in place a few months, so we need more time to see the results. There just seems to be so many deer, we see accidents all of the time."

Mayor Johnny Whitteker remarked that he was hoping the Ministry of Natural Resources, "will allow us to give out more tags and more doe tags."

Sgt. Patterson indicated that calls for police service in 2001 remained fairly constant. She said the hot topic for the year was problems in the mall areas in Morrisburg and Iroquois. Sgt. Patterson also told council this would be her final report as Sgt. Brent Mattice was taking over her duties in the Morrisburg detachment.

Employee Benefit Presentation

Council was given a presentation on an Employee Benefit plan tender by a representative of Great West Life. The Plan would be administered by Great West Life through Brister Insurance, represented at the meeting by Bill Barclay and Gord MacGregor.

Hospital Discussion

Several members of South Dundas Council attended a town hall meeting in Cornwall called by Stormont-Dundas-Charlottenburgh MPP John Cleary to discuss hospital restructuring in the city. The meeting produced the feeling that some people are interested in one new hospital, a project that would have a big price tag. Plans first looked at involve expansion of the Cornwall General which puts the share for the United Counties of SD&G at about $5.5 million.

Mayor Johnny Whitteker said hospitals will be under discussion at an upcoming executive meeting of Counties Council. He indicated that the hospitals in Winchester and Glengarry would also be discussed. Winchester Hospital made a $5 million funding request to Counties Council in December to assist in a planned $24 million renovation and expansion plan. Arriving at a solution for Cornwall is building up to be a long, drawn out affair. "I don't think in all fairness, that they (Counties Council) should hold up Winchester Hospital," said Whitteker. "Winchester Hospital has to have a commitment from Counties Council in order to go to Toronto."

Budget Meeting Set

Council set a date and time to tour the Morrisburg Arena to assist in the preparation of a grant application to improve the dressing rooms and to meet with Lorna Siebert for a budget meeting. Both were set up for Wednesday, February 6.

Mural Guidelines in Place

Council was in receipt of a copy of the Standards and Polices of the South Dundas Mural Committee for 2002 from Heritage Coordinator Kirsten Gardener. The document outlines the duties and responsibilities of the mural committee and the juries, the funding formula, and the heritage coordinator's role. "I'm hoping we will be able to do six (murals) again this year and we'll discuss at budget what we'll be able to put in," said Mayor Whitteker.

No to Open Doors

Council accepted the recommendation from South Dundas Heritage Coordinator Kirsten Gardener not to partner with the St. Lawrence Parks Commission in the Doors Open Ontario project.

"While I see the obvious benefits of this program, I'm not sure that at this time we would get the best 'bang for the buck'," Gardener wrote in her report. "Most of the township buildings are used by the public, at different times, either for meetings or events, and many are not handicap accessible. So that leaves us with private properties, churches and graveyards. If we did participate our role would be to convince the public to open up their private homes, and properties and this would be a conflicted role for the township."

DuPont Provincial Park

Background Information Open House

The Ministry of Natural Resources, Ontario Parks invites you to participate in management planning for the recommended DuPont Provincial Park. This site is intended for regulation as a nature reserve class provincial park. The project is now in its second stage and the background information document is available for review.

This protected area was established in 1997 through the Ontario Parks Legacy 2000 program. The recommended park requires a management plan to provide long-term direction for the protection, management, and use of the park's resources. Issues to be addressed include: rehabilitation of disturbed areas, protection of natural values, permitted activities, and trails and access.

An open house will be held Tuesday, February 19 from 4:00 to 8:30 at the MacIntosh Inn in Morrisburg. Individuals who are not able to attend are welcome to comment in writing on the background information document, or on any aspect of this management planning project. The document is available from the contact person, or at http://www.mnr.gov.on.ca/MNR/dupont/. Comments must be received by April 4, 2002.

This is the second of four stages in the management planning process, and will be followed over the next several months by the release and review of the preliminary park management plan and the approved park management plan. Notices of the stages of the planning process are posted on the environmental registry of the Environmental Bill of Rights at: http://204.40.253.254/samples/search/Ebrquery_REG.htm

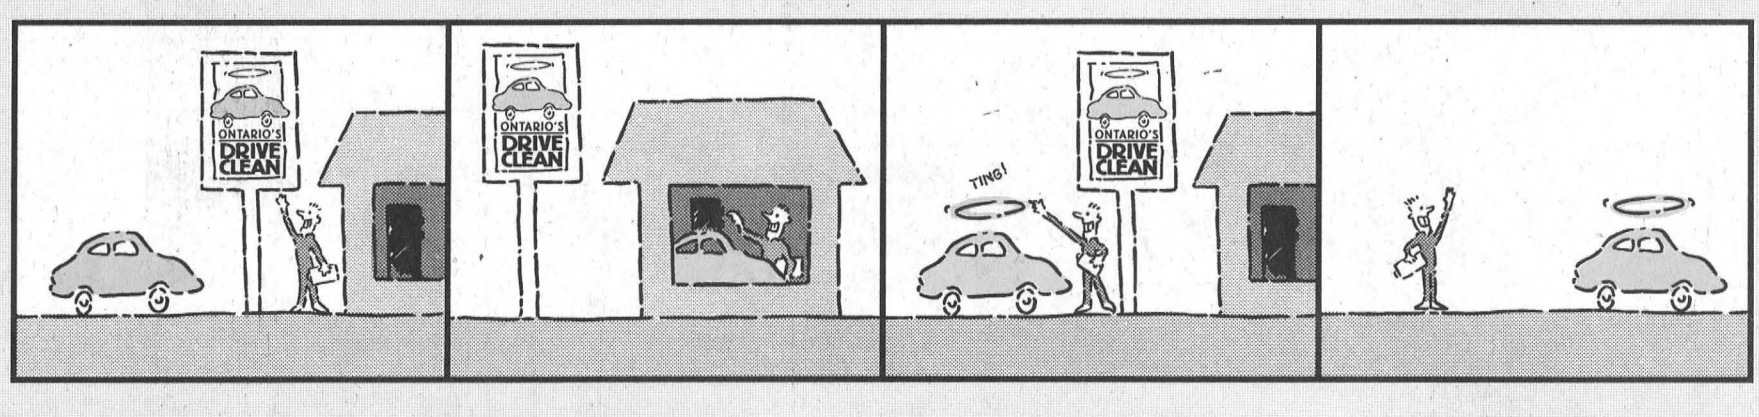
Do you want to feel good about helping to clean our air?

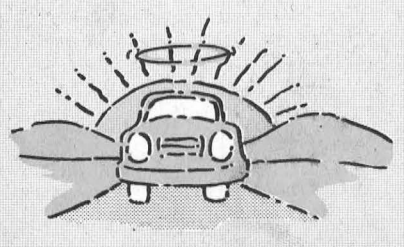


Testing is good for the air we breathe.
When your car passes a Drive Clean test, it will feel good because it's running right and using less fuel.

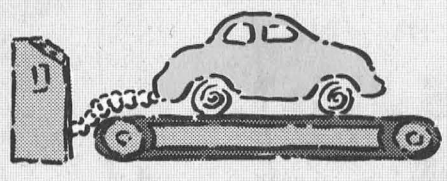
But you'll feel even better because you're helping keep the air clean in the areas of Ontario most affected by smog.

As a major part of Ontario's comprehensive air quality strategy, Drive Clean is reducing pollutants from vehicles (the largest local source of smog-causing pollutants).

On July 1, 2002 the Drive Clean program is expanding throughout the southern Ontario smog zone from Windsor to Ottawa. This adds eastern Ontario and portions of southwestern Ontario to the program, so that even more Ontarians will play a part in helping improve our air.



How does the test work?
Your vehicle will be parked on a dynamometer – a kind of treadmill that allows it to be "driven" on the spot while a probe in the tailpipe analyzes the exhaust. Your vehicle's test results will be compared to the emission standards for its make and year. You will then receive a report on your vehicle's emissions.



What happens after the test?
If your vehicle meets its emissions standards, you're ready when it's time to renew your licence plate or transfer ownership. If your vehicle does not meet the standards, you'll require repairs and a re-test. If it fails the re-test, the Repair Cost Limit may help you get a conditional pass for licence renewal.

Who will be tested?
If you have a light-duty vehicle more than three model years old and less than 20 in the Drive Clean program area, you will require an emissions test every two years to renew the licence plate sticker. In the expansion area, this applies to vehicles with licences that expire on or after July 1.

You will receive a notice of the emissions test requirement up to 90 days before your registration expiry. The notices will begin arriving in April, 2002. After July 1, an emissions test will also be required for re-sale vehicles that are older than the current model year but less than 20 model years old. Heavy-duty non-diesel trucks and buses will require testing in the program area. Diesel-powered heavy-duty vehicles have required testing province-wide since 1999.

Will Drive Clean really work?
Drive Clean is already working – and this new expansion will make it work even better. In its first two years in the Toronto and Hamilton areas, it has reduced smog-causing pollutants from vehicles by 11.5 per cent, while also reducing gases like carbon monoxide and carbon dioxide.

Drive Clean is making a real difference in Ontario by letting us all do something positive for the air we breathe.
