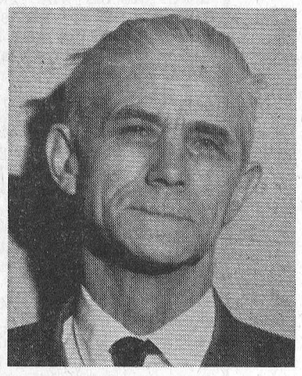
Thompson Regional Board representative

Area elections register some upsets

Chesterville voters made hardly any effort to get to the polls on Monday. Only 259 turned out to mark their public school support for the regional board member. The separate school vote was also light and out of a total of 736 voters less than 50 per cent bothered.



W. Lorne Thompson

W. Lorne Thompson, chairman of Chesterville Public School came through with a good majority over his next opponent, Jack Hatcher of Winchester. Local citizen Eric Casselman picked up the next spot and G. Reynolds, Winchester, completed the ballot.

The votes for regional seperate school representation saw Sarsfield O'Connor making a good fight but losing. Canditates from the eastern areas picked up the three seats, outside of the city of Cornwall. They are Messrs Desjardins, Trottier and Guindon.

The new Combined Separate School Board for the Counties saw a fast race in Zone 1. Pat Beavers of Morrisburg fought off tough competition and came out on top with a plump majority of 125 over Bazinet. Rene Leduc polled 50 less than Bazinet.

Totals for the Beavers win are: Beavers 481, Bazinet 356, Leduc 302.

The votes by villages and the township for public school regional member, won by Thompson are as follows:

Chesterville: Casselman, 82; Hatcher, 9; Reynolds, 3; Thompson, 165.

Winchester: Casselman, 86; Hatcher, 290; Reynolds, 149; Thompson, 57.

Winchester Township: Casselman, 79; Hatcher, 74; Reynolds, 19; Thompson, 245.

Totals: Thompson, 467; Hatcher, 373; Casselman, 247; Reynolds, 171.

Finch election

Lynden S. Hough was returned for his fifth year as reeve when he defeated R. Keith MacMillan 106-93 in a hotly contested battle. Barry Brownlee and Donald Vollrath, both newcomers to the muncipal politics, head the poll for councillors, Brownlee having 164 and Vollrath 153.

Ellery C. Ouderkirk and Lindsay Hutt, both members of the previous council were re-elected, Ouderkirk with 123 votes and Hutt 106. Kenneth A. MacMillan failed in his bid for a council seat, having received 89 votes.

There was an 87% vote in the election.

Clare Nugent received 115 votes and Gordon Ross 64 votes in the Village of Finch as candidates in the Regional School board ward.

Finch township election

Reeve Kenzie MacGillivray fell to the wayside when township voters looked to Charles Johnstone this time. After 25 years, MacGillivray will hand over the reins next Jan. 1. The Johnstone vote was 359 to 320 for the incumbent.

Children should always be taught to walk, not run across streets.

CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

Every little while, we get involved with the type lice. They get into the copy of the newspaper and before we know it, everything is at sixes and sevens. Last week was a good example. We reported the arrival of Santa Claus to the village on a coming Saturday. Trouble was our Saturday ended up as either Thursday or Sunday. Chamber president Paul Monast almost swallowed one of his bowling balls when he read the news. We caught the error at about half the printing, but the damage was out. Blame it on printers' type lice or something. The actual date of the old gentleman's arrival is Saturday, December 14. He will be on the street at 2 p.m.

This has been the week of elections. Here in the fields surrounding the Castle, things have been relatively quiet. Village government is to be sworn by acclamation, but the school jobs were up for grabs. When the rustle of a few feet had died down, local citizen Lorne Thompson had a new seat on the regional board.

But in spite of a noble effort, our friend to the west, the town of Winchester remains a dry island in the midst of a wet countryside. The vote rolled out on the booze questions and shut the door to legal fun and games in that department. We could hardly care less except to wonder if it might have saved gasoline by at least voting a small oasis in the midst of their Sahara.

The people who dredged up some literature to persuade folks to stay pure and dry might have been a bit more diplomatic, though. It was rather raw, in this ancient's mind, to note that impairment was rather to be expected in certain neighbouring localities because of the easy access to liquor. But heaven forbid the right to be allowed to get loaded on the sanctimonious streets of West Winchester. While we delight in our own private dissipations and do not get around much, we understand that Chesterville, at least, is not suffering from a plague of impaired folks cluttering the streets. And we happen to be bathing happily here in a flood of booze from a combined store and a couple of hotels.

Things are not all lost for the thirsty, in spite of the vote. Hardly anyone in a dry town in Eastern Ontario needs to stay that way too long, unless his religion, scruples or pocketbook forbids. The ancient Egyptians made their beer and drank it to the sun. The early Christians had some small interest in a vessel that kept filling up as the hostess emptied it to her guests. Excesses certainly exist. Drink is a form of excess; so is an overbearing and archaic approach to modern living.

Stor. 4-H Club awards presented

The community hall, Finch, was the scene of the annual 4-H awards night, and hundreds of young men and women from the county met to collect the cash prizes and silverware marking their achievements over the current year.

The majority of the young people aer members of calf clubs, earned points by taking a course in the care of a dairy calf, plus further points for showing the animal at the 4-H achievement day, and in some cases at Ottawa Winter Fair.

Others took part in judging competitions or in the swine and forestry clubs. These 4-H clubs are under the guidance of adult leaders and the direction of Bruce Ward, associate agricultural representative for the county.

Among the most important of the many prizes offered was a new one, a wrist watch given by the Bank of Montreal, Finch Branch, offered to the Stormont club member considered outstanding in both training achievement and citizenship. This was won by John McIntyre.

The Ottawa Ctizen award, a calf of value up to $125 was won by Joan MacLennan.

The Cornwall Kiwanis scholarship to the Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology student considered most eligible was won by Burns McLean and is worth $50.

The Kraft Foods Ltd. award of $50 to the best competitor in the county 4-H judging competition went to Dalton Hart.

Many of the awards are in the form of trophies offered for annual competition. The Peter Manley trophy was won by Hugh Carruthers as the outstanding 4-H Club member in the agricultural clubs.

The Royal Bank trophy went to Sharon Ferguson for having highest aggregate score in 4-H Calf Clubs.

Sandy MacLeod took the F. C. Eligh memorial for the boy or girl making most progress, the points earned on the calf not included in scoring.

McCloskey Hotel changes hands

Clarence and Mary Hagan have sold the McCloskey Hotel. The new owner has taken over and since Dec. 1 has been in charge.

Graham Leadbetter with his wife are the new hotel proprietors. They are natives of Hamilton and Mr Leadbetter worked for many years in the steel mills of Stelco. He is 35 years of age.

The Leadbetters will be the fourth owners of the hotel since its early times. Frank McCloskey ran it as a successful establishment for many years, and except for a spell when it was rented to Ernest Gunter, the McCloskey family owned it until it was purchased by the late Wm. Barker. When ill health came to Bill Barker, he sold the going concern to the Hagans. Now, with ill health plaguing the well-liked Clarence, the hotel has again changed hands.

During the free concert, and the planners stress the concert is free to the public, 45 students will perform in the Senior Band. Some 32 students are to present their part as members of the Junior Band.

Mr, Mrs Clair Robertson honored on anniversary

On Wednesday, Nov. 20th, relatives, friends and neighbours gathered to honour Mr and Mrs Clair Robertson at their farm home, Berwick, on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

The occasion was to have been a complete surprise but to quote the poet Robbie Burns "the best laid schemes of mice and men gang aft a' gley."

Mr and Mrs Robertson were married at the home of the bride's parents Mr and Mrs Alex Rutley on Nov. 20, 1943. The bride is the former Violet Rutley, daughter of Mrs Alex Rutley and the late Alex Rutley. The groom is the son of Mr Carl and the late Mrs Robertson. The attendants were Mr and Mrs C. E. Johnstone, Crysler. They have three children, Anne (Mrs Dick Armstrong), Winchester, Lynn and Arden at home.

The room was tastefully decorated with pink and white streamers. The table was centred by a two-tiered wedding cake.

After the bride and groom were appropriately attired in more formal clothes for the occasion, a corsage was pinned on Mrs Robertson by Mrs Garnet Rutley and several pictures were taken of the happy couple. An address was read by Mr Donnie Meldrum. Mr and Mrs Robertson were presented with a television set by the family and other relatives; a swivel rocker by neighbours on their road; coffee and end table from friends as well as silver anniversary dishes, silver flatware and silver dollars.

Clair on behalf of himself and Violet thanked everyone for the gifts. A delicious smorgasbord style supper was enjoyed by everyone, after which a social evening was spent.

Mary Casselman addresses Rotary "Adventure in Citizenship" speakers topic

Chesterville Rotary members listened with interest to Mary Casselman. She was telling of her experiences when she participated in "Adeventure in Citizenship." She had been chosen to attend the conference by Chesterville Rotary Club. The City of Ottwa was the locale of the events she outlined.

A full prgoram was maintained for the visiting students. They came from all over Canada, some 241, including the NWT, B.C., and Newfoundland. They were billeted with members of Ottawa Rotary Club, the sponsoring body.

Miss Casselman spoke of the pleasure she and her friends experienced as they visited Government House and met the Governor General; visited the Parliament Buildings and sat in the house; held exciting seminars at Carleton University and discussed the problems of the day. The speaker was vastly impressed with a view of Ottawa even the citizens of that city rarely see. She was introduced by Allison Graham and thanked on behalf of the club by Tom Rance.

OPINIONS . . . OURS AND OTHERS

Second-hand brains

Probably it was bound to happen. There now is a market, according to Business Week, in second-hand computers! Yes, these fantastic transistorized, esoteric mechanisms have joined the big parade to the second-hand salesroom, in the non-elite company of old autos, dishwashers, power lawnmowers and baby cribs.

We don't expect to see computers touted the way second-hand cars are sold, in an outdoor lot with a string of strong lights overhead.

But with third-generation, and even fourth-generation, computers coming along, it was inevitable that somebody would conclude that these earlier models had plenty of usefulness left in them. New computers, to be sure, are more efficient, and it's prestigious to have the latest model humming away in your planning and data-processing rooms. But if you're not about to launch a rocket to the moon, or a billion-dollar merger, maybe that earlier model will serve your purposes admirably. We always thought most computers knew too much anyway.

Are we in for a disaster?

For three years, a lawyer in Bremen whose hobby is geophysics and astronomy, has correctly predicted the time of every major natural disaster that has occurred, reports German Features.

Dr Theodor Landscheidt turns over his predictions far in advance to the central communications office for technology of the Federal German post office in Darmstadt. So it'seasy to check on his record.

This year, he has correctly predicted the August 30 earthquake in Iran, in which 20,000 lost their lives; the storms and flooding which swept the Himalaya region October 11; and the earthquake which rocked Perth, Australia, last October 14.

Dr Landscheidt basis his predictions on an after-hours study of a certain constellation involving the planet Jupiter. He discovered after the severe earthquake that hit Alaska during March, 1964, that Jupiter, the earth and the star Cassiopeia A were standing in a direct line at the time.

Subsequently, he checked on all major natural catastrophes which have ocurred since 1904 and found that the same constellation had been present each time.

To date, not a single prediction by Dr Landscheidt has been inaccurate. However, he has still discovered no method enabling him to predict the correct location of the disasters. He hopes co-operation with observatories in the various prime earthquake areas will one day result in a system which will also mean accurate predictions of where as well as when.

Meanwhile, Dr Landscheidt has been doing more homework recently and came up with his latest prediction. The next major natural catastrophe will occur between today and Saturday.

Deadly elegance

It is five years since the U.S. surgeon-general first released his startling warning of the direct link between smoking and cancer. But, points out the Ottawa Citizen, the message that comes wafting into our living rooms from the cigarette manufacturers is as seductive as ever.

Still the slim white sticks, with the gentle haze of smoke trailing from them, are pushed as the consumers' entree into the world of elegant living, or into the elusive world of the New Generation.

But again comes the voice of harsh realism, in the statistics on tar and nicotine content released by Health Minister Munro.

The figures show a tar content (the cancer-linked substance) of 36 milligrams, in one popular brand, 32 in another. The rating of all cigarettes on the market in Canada was given and published. Releasing the findings, Mr Munro pleaded, in effect, if you can't quit at least choose your poison.

Mr Munro's own way out, the same as that of his colourful predecessor, is to quit. That is the only safe way.

He was predeceased by one sister, Mrs Jack Clark (Gertie), of London.

The many floral tributes and donations to the Heart and Cancer Societies were reminders of the esteem in which Mr Coulthart was held and the sorrow felt at his passing.

The funeral service was held at the Presbyterian Church, Morewood, at 2 p.m., Tuesday, November 26. Rev E. Earle Eaton conducted the service, assisted by Rev D. L. Gordon. Interment followed in Morewood Presbyterian Cemetery.

Hugh D. Cameron

Relatives, neighbours and friends throughout the district were saddened by the announcement of the death of Hugh D. Cameron, highly esteemed citizen of the Finch district, who passed away at the Winchester and District Memorial Hospital on Saturday, November 23. Mr Cameron, who was in his 81st year, had been in serious condition in hospital since September 20.

Born on September 14, 1888, Mr Cameron was a son of the late Archibald Cameron and his wife, Hannah MacIntyre, and a grandson of "Big Duncan" Cameron, the first male white child born in Finch Township. He was born in the Fourth Concession of Finch Township on the farm held in the family name from 1808.

Educated locally, Mr Cameron spent a number of years in Western Canada. Among his associations in those years were several years of service with the City of Vancouver Police Force.

In 1920 he returned to this district and bought his uncle's farm, adjacent to his father's. On June 22, 1921, he married Sadie Margaret Robinson, and they lived on the farm until their retirement in the village of Finch in 1960.

Mr Cameron was well known in the agricultural community. For several years he had been secretary - treasurer of the Stormont Cheese Producers Association. He also served as secretary - treasurer of S.S. No. 1 (Cameron's School) for many years.

He was a member of the Session of St. Luke's Presbyterian Church, Finch, for 25 years, the Session's efficient clerk, and congregational secretary-treasurer.

Burial was made in the family plot in the Finch Cemetery.

Relatives and friends attended from Galt, Ottawa, Cornwall, Winchester, Massena, Kingston, Maxville and the surrounding communities.

Besides his wife, he leaves to mourn his passing, one daughter, Mrs William C. Couch (Norma), Galt; one son, Sheldon Cameron, Winchester; three grandchildren, Brenda and Chris Couch and Heather Jean Cameron; one sister, Mrs K. C. MacLean, Finch.

Mr Cameron was predeceased by one brother, Stanley G. Cameron, and one sister, Mrs Roy Empey.

THE BIBLE TODAY . . .

"God's Word means something here. The people read it they love it and many lives are being changed." This is how the Rev. J. T. Mpaayei, Bible Society secretary in East Africa, explains the large sales of Scriptures in Kenya, Tanzania and Uganda (1,827,000 last year).

Twelve million people in East Africa speak Swahili. Swahili Gospels are very popular particularly among young people, selling at 100,000 a year, many of them in the schools of Tanzania where all teaching is in Swahili. For those with little education who find the classical Swahili difficult, the Bible Societies have recently published Mark's Gospel in Simple Swahili. This new translation is proving very popular. Luke's Gospel has also been translated and will appear soon.

"Many lives are being changed." One man whose life was changed after reading a few verses of Scripture almost by accident was a member of the Massai tribe of Kenya. Passing by Bible House, Nairobi, one day he noticed the open Bibles displayed in the window. Seeing that one was in Masai, his own language, he stopped and read. One verse struck him so strongly that he noted it, went back home, and looked up his New Testament, which was dusty from lack of use. Reading the New Testament led to his conversion.

When the Bible Society's storekeeper in the warehouse heard this, he remarked: "Every time I open a carton of Bibles I pray to God that He will make His Word live for someone who will read these books." His prayer is being answered.

SKILLS OF LONG AGO SEEN IN SHIP MODEL

Transfer of a ship model to the New Brunswick Museum at Saint John from the legislature in Fredericton revives a tale of forgotten skills.

Robert Murphy, a l ong-dead perfectionist, bequeathed to the jet age one of the most accurate models of th square-rigged ship to come down from the gallant days of sail.

The keel of the model was laid in 1876 — and it was 21 years in the building.

Like his father and grandfather, Murphy was a ship's draughtsman by profession — one which instilled exactitude into its followers. And he carried this quality into his hours of leisure in the years he spent building the model.

A native of Moncton, he worked at one time or another in most of the principal shipyards from the Maritime provinces to New York and designed some of the fastest sailing ships ever launched.

When he began his model in 1876 he deterimned to execute in miniature the actual steps by which a vessel was built, and to embody all the skills of the builder's craft. Every tiny timber was draughted to scale.

In 1883 he moved to Kouchibouguac Beach on the New Brunswick east coast, and there the model was completed. Her mountings were made of solid blocks of metal with tools of Murphy's own making.

Murphy went to New York in 1897 to work in the navy yards. He took his square-rigger with him and four 10 years it was on display in a waterfront bar, a placard offering the model as a prize to anyone who could find a flaw in its design or execution.

For a decade it came under the compasses, tapes and dividers of the world's leading designers of sailing vessels.

When Murphy left New York in 1907 he was able to take his model with him.

USING YOGURT IN YOUR MENUS

Canadians are just beginning to discover yogurt. Popular in Europe for many years, this cultured milk product is an almost perfect food, since it contains all the nutritive elements of milk.

Yogurt is a very good source of the minerals calcium and phosphorous. The complex milk protein is in easily digested form, since it was broken during the manufacturing process. For this reason, yogurt is used in the treatment of certain diseases, such as gastric disorders and typhoid fever.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I came to America in 1963 from Europe. I knew very little English when I arrived but I can now speak well enough to communicate my ideas. I celebrated my 24th birthday by being sworn in as a United States citizen.

I have always been timid with girls but two weeks ago I got up my bravery and invited a girl to dinner. She is 20 and works in an office. On our second date I confessed my love for her. She became upset and said she would not see me again if I became serious. She enjoys me as a friend only and I am not to talk of love.

Please explain this. In Europe a girl likes to be told she is loved. Are American girls different? What advice do you have for a new American —Detroit Reader.

Dear D: Don't bet your passport that what you feel for this girl is love. A fellow who hasn't had a date in five years could become infatuated with a fire hydrant.

I know of no country where it is smart to talk of love on a second date. Take out other girls. Ask this one out again in a few months if you are still interested. And cool it, Bub.

* * * *

Dear Ann: eKep telling those "so-in-love" dummies that when a woman marries a divorced man she marries his first family whether she likes it or not.

Chuck and I were "so in love," too. I heard so much about his rotten marriage that I was sure ours would be perfect. I knew all the things not to do.

Chuck made it clear that he was through with his ex-wife and the kids were her responsibility. All he had to do was pay alimony.

Two weeks after we married, his son broke his leg. Daddy had to take Junior to the hospital. Same story when his daughter had her appendix out. That started everything.

One fine day Chuck's ex announced she was marrying a man who didn't like children so we'd have to take the kids. What could I say? The boy likes me, the girl doesn't. Church takes Junior hunting, fishing and to ball games. I stay home and fight with the girl.

It's nine years now and we have no children of our own. Chuck says we can't afford children. It's too late for advice. Just send me a membership to your 'Old-too-soon-smart-too-late Club.' Thanks. — Bonnie Bell.

Dear Bon: You qualify. The membership blank is in the mail.

Dear Ann Landers: What can be done about relatives who don't know when to go home? I'm due at work at 7.00 a.m. This means I have to get up at 5.30. These people know my hours, yet they sit and sit and sit. If I don't get eight hours sleep I'm a wreck the next day. Last night I wanted the clods to leave at 10 o'clock but my wife said no. They sat till 12.30. Please be the referee.—Beat.

Dear Beat: It's stupid to allow inconsiderate people to rob you of badly needed rest. I see nothing wrong with announcing at ten o'clock, "I must be up at 5.30 a.m., so good night."

Mrs E. Thompson hostess for Newington U.C.W.

The November meeting of the United Church Women, Newington, was held at the home of Mrs Eldon Thompson. There were 14 present. The president, Mrs Elizabeth Beaudette, opened the meeting with a poem, "Beyond All Price," followed by the Purpose and prayer.

Mrs Melvin Waldroff conducted the worship service.

The guest speaker, Mrs Keith Brownell, Ingleside, was introduced by Mrs Charles Smith and she gave a brief review of several books including "People Have Power" by Dorothy Henderson and the "Study Packet on China." She was thanked by Mrs Elizabeth Beaudette.

Gifts of money were voted to the Victor Home and local church treasurer. Conveners for the various departments for the tea and bazaar were named.

Roll call next month is to be answered with a small gift to be used by the committee in charge.

The president closed the meeting with prayer and thanked the hostess for her kind hospitality.

1969 Licence Plates on sale now

Ontario's 1969 licence plates for passenger cars, dual purpose vehicles and motorcycles went on sale Monday, December2, at 281 issuing offices across the province.

Registration fees for the plates will be increased, as announced last spring. For passenger cars and dual purpose vehicles having eight cylinders, the new registration fee will be $35.00 (formerly $25.00); six cylinders (formerly $20.00); four cylinders, if manufactured after 1933, $20.00 (formerly $15.00); four cylinders, if manufactured in or before 19 33, $8.00 (no change). The fee for motorcycles plates remains $10.00.

The plates will be white on blue, the reverse of this year's colours. Deadline date for having the new plates will be Friday, February 28, when 1968 plates will expire. There will be no extension.

The total number of motor vehicles to be registered in the three-month period before the deadline is stimated at more than 2,200,000. Department of Transport oficials noted that motorists can gain in convenience and peace of mind by getting their plates in the first weeks, avoiding the last minute line-ups.

In cases where the ownership of a used motor vehicle is being transferred at the time of registration, a certificate of mechanical fitness will be required to get new plates. No certificate is needed for normal purchases of plates, renewing existing ownership with no transfer involved. Used motor vehicles licensed previously in another province will also require a certificate of mechanical ftness on being registered in Ontario and new plates issued for the first time.

1968 plates for trucks, buses and trailers will expire March 31, 1969. Operators are advised to consult their local licence issuing agent for details concerning registration dates and fees for commercial vehicles.

STILL NO CURE FOR COMMON COLD

Quack cures for the common cold are about as effective as what Cleopatra used for her runny nose: powdered papyrus.

The American Medical Association magazine "Today's Health" warns that there is no medical way to cure cold. Antihistamines can ease discomfort, and rest will aid in recovery. Otherwise, prevention is still the best course: Keep resistance high by eating a balanced diet, getting sufficient rest, and avoiding persons with colds.

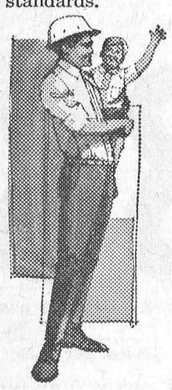
Notice to Employers & Employees

At 12.01 a.m. on January 1st, 1969, the new Ontario Employment Standards Act becomes law

The New Employment Standards Act provides minimum standards for overtime pay, holiday pay and vacation pay; protects against long hours; ensures equal pay for equal work for women workers; sets higher rates of minimum wages.

Ontario's employment standards program is concerned with the economic well-being of the Province's manpower resources. The new Act up-dates and broadens the minimum standards for wages and working conditions to safeguard workers against exploitation and to protect employers against unfair competition based on lower standards.



hours of work

The working hours of an employee shall not exceed eight in the day and 48 in the week. However, under certain conditions a permit to work overtime may be obtained from the department. Employees whose only work is supervisory or managerial are exempted from the hours provisions of the Act. A girl under 18 years shall not be required to work more than six hours overtime each week.

overtime pay

The Act provides that an employee will receive a minimum of one and one-half times his regular wage-rate for any work in excess of the maximum 48 hours per week: In addition to providing premium pay, this requirement is designed to curb the use of excessive overtime.

Special overtime provisions have been established for the following industries and may be obtained by writing the Employment Standards Branch of the Department: Sewer and Watermain Construction; Interurban and Municipal Transport; Local Cartage; Tourist Resort; Restaurant and Tavern; Fruit and Vegetable Processing; Taxi; Ambulance Service; Highway Transport and Road Building.

statutory holidays

A regular, full-time employee and certain categories of part-time employees who work on a statutory holiday must receive a minimum of one and one-half times their regular wage rate. The holidays are Christmas Day, New Year's Day, Good Friday, Victoria Day, Dominion Day, Labour Day and Thanksgiving Day. Substitute holidays may be arranged with the approval of the Director.

equal pay for equal work

In order to protect the growing segment of women in the labour force the existing legislation covering equal pay for equal work under the Human Rights Code has been strengthened and transferred to the Employment Standards Act. This provision ensures that a woman who does the same job as a man in the same establishment is entitled to the same pay. The question of what is equal work will be determined on the basis of skill, effort, responsibility and working conditions.

THIRD SHIFT.

No girl under 18 years shall work in an establishment between midnight and 6 a.m.

If a woman works on a shift that begins or ends between 12:00 midnight and 6 a.m. her employer must provide transportation from her residence to the job or from the job to her home.

vacations with pay

The Act provides that every employee shall be given an annual paid vacation of at least one week after one year of employment. The vacation pay must not be less than 2% of the total pay received in the year in which the vacation is given. When an employee works for a period less than one year he is entitled to 2% vacation pay for the period worked. After three years of employment, the minimum is two weeks paid vacation and the pay must not be less than 4% of the annual earnings. The Vacation with Pay stamp book system for construction workers will be phased out between January 1, 1970 and June 30, 1970.

protection for homeworkers

Any person doing homework as defined in the new Act is now considered to be an employee and is protected by the legislation.

Employers are required to provide a statement of wages and deductions to each employee at the time wages are paid. It must show: pay period, rate of wages, amount of wages, all deductions and the purpose of each, allowances and the net amount being paid the employee. Deductions include those authorized by the employee and such usual deductions as Unemployment Insurance, Income Tax, Canada Pension, Company Pension Plan and Hospitalization.

collection of unpaid wages

The department may now collect unpaid wages for an employee including the amount of wages due, overtime pay and vacation pay up to a maximum of $1,000. Formerly collection could be made for wages only up to the level of the minimum wage.

NOTE

There are some industries in the province under the jurisdiction of the Federal Government such as banks, airlines, railways etc. These industries are covered by the Canada Labour Standards Code and are not under the jurisdiction of this Act. If you are in doubt which legislation applies to you, call the Employment Standards Branch (Telephone: 365-5251), for information.

The above is only a general summary of the Act. For more specific information regarding the Act and its regulations concerning overtime permits, exemptions for special occupations, etc., contact:

PROFIT IN THE FEEDLOT

Roy McGregor, Manager

Many factors affect the profit—or lack of it—from feedlot operations. Some of them we can do little about, but there are some profit factors which give us some scope for increasing net returns at the end of the year.

In the long run, we really can't do much about such things as cost of feeders, the selling price of our finished steers, and even the cost of feed. The cattle are bought on a free market and sold on a free market. This leaves the individual operator only limited room to exercise much control over his price figures.

Similarly, the operator buys his purchased feed needs on a free market, where supply and demand control prices. There is some room for boosting profit margins with practices involving more home grown feed. But the question of when to grow feed ingredients and when to buy is another subject. For today, I would like to stick to other aspects of feedlot operations.

The hard fact is, that on the average in Canada, feedlots have proven to return about 5.5 per cent on the investment involved. That just isn't good enough! You can make more than that on the money market any day of the week if you have capital to invest. And you can do it on investments with less risk than a feedlot.

What we have said about the feedlot operator having no control over the buying and selling prices of his cattle is an oversimplifications. It is trut that all operators are subject to the same forces. Yet careful study of the market, and making decisions to sell at the right time, can provide favourable feedlot margin and favourable price margin. Briefly, feedlot margin refers to the difference between the selling price and the cost of the gain. Price margin refers to the difference btween the buying price of the steer and the selling price on a per pounr basis. We can take a price margin on the original weight of the steer, and a feedlot margin on the gain.

The experts predict the opportunity for price margin based on price fluctuations will decrease, because the modern year-round marketing program of large scale feedlots is gradually levelling out seasonal price fluctuations. It should be noted that price margin normally has represented a smaller part of the profit than feedlot margins.

The only real solution, then, for the profit squeeze facing the feedlot operator is to sharpen out feedlot management techniques and boost the returns on our investment. Next week, we'll take a look at some of the factors in improved management.

Russell District W.I. holds Tweedsmuir tea

Russell District Women's Institute held a Tweedsmuir tea at the home of Mrs Allen Tanner, Vars, recently.

Mrs Percy Findlay, Cumberland, District president, welcomed the guests and Mrs Allen Findlay, also of Cumberland, was in charge of registration.

Mrs Tanner was assisted in serving by Mrs Wesley Savage and Mrs Archie Edwards, of Navan, and Mrs Henry Sheldrick, Mrs James Hamilton and Miss Patricia Burton of Vars.

Members from all six Institutes in the District were present: Cumberland, Leonard, Vars, Navan, North Russell and Russell Village. Those attending from Ottawa were Mrs W. F. Hayes, Mrs Warren Hayes, Mrs Harold Tanner, Mrs Donald Hay, Miss Louise Stearns, Mrs Milton Walker and Mrs Russell Mason, a former District president. From Manotick came Mrs Winfield Melvin, also a former District president.

The purpose of the gathering was the showing of the District Tweedsmuir Book, which is being compiled by the curator, Mrs G. A. McCullough of Navan and her assistant, Miss Helena Shaw, as typist. Mrs McCullough gave a resume of the contents of the book, which features stories and pictures of the District presidents and secretaries, as well as histories of the branches and lists of conveners and officers. Work is being done, she said, on the stories of the new closed one-room school of the District covered by the Institutes. These will include lists of the teachers of those schools whenever possible.

The Russell Village Institute Tweedsmuir Book was also displayed by the curator thereof, Mrs Homer McKeown. This book has won prizes in competition at area and provincial levels, and honourable mention at the National level.

Within our hearts she liveth still.
Lovingly remembered by sister Hattie and brother-in-law Harold.

Canvass successful

Once again CNIB is grateful to a generous public for the support of the annual canvass for the Dundas Advisory Board of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. As a result of the canvass, a total of $620.90 has been forwarded to the County treasurer. The canvass was sponsored by the Women's Institute, with Mrs Keith Graham, Mrs Francis Moriarty and Mrs Eric Casselman as convenors.

Lee Eggers of Sarasota, Fla., is suing his next-door neighbour for $1,000,00 on grounds the neighbour's amateur radio station has disturbed his television reception for 10 years.

I would like to take this opportunity to say a hearty 'Thanks' to the voters of the Village of Finch for your support in the village election on Monday. My sincere appreciation. Please accept the Compliments of the Season.

IN MEMORIAM

BARKLEY — In sad and loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Blanche Barkley, who died December 5, 1966.
Deep in our hearts lies a picture
Of a loved one gone to rest;
In memory's frame we shall keep it
Because Mother was one of the best.
Our lips cannot speak how we loved her,
Our hearts cannot tell what to say;
God only knows how we miss her
As we battle along life's rough way.
We miss her at a thousand turns
Along life's weary way,
For life has not been the same to us
Since she was called away.
When the evening's shadows are falling
And we are all alone
There often comes a longing
If Mom could only come home.
Loving remembrance, Vaughn, Reggie, Helen, Doug and children.

Mr, Mrs Mancel Flegg honoured at farewell party

About thirty-five neighbours and relatives gathered at the home of Mr and Mrs Mancel Flegg on Wednesday evening, prior to their reparture to make their home in Cornwall.

The evening was spent visiting and card playing. An appropriate address was read by Mrs Clair Vance. Mrs Wm. Sanderson, Mrs Harold Armstrong and Mrs Albert Montgomery presented Mr and Mrs Flegg with a pole light, smoking stand and telephone table.

Both Mr and Mrs Flegg thanked all for the lovely gifts and invited everyone to visit them.

Lunch was served by the ladies.

Your car has an ash tray. Please use it, the Ontario Safety League says. A cigarette end thrown out of the window can start a forest fire that may endanger whole communities. Fire is easy to prevent, but hard to stop.

The Ontario Safety League asks drivers and pedestrians to remember that streets and highways are much more dangerous after a thin powdering of snow, or ice, than they are after a heavy snowfall.

STAY ON YOUR FEET

Falls account for almost half the accidental deaths in the home and most of the injuries, according to the National Safety League of Canada. The holiday season is a busy one and the chances of falling art greater at this time of the year. Prevent falls by:

Using tall people instead of unsteady suports or ladders when trimming the tree.

Using handrails when carrying material sup andd own stairs and keeping those stairs and adjacent halls clear of debris such as Christmas wrappings and old string.

Keeping your walks safe amid ice and snow with rock salt or ashes.

Keeping tasters, sniffers and snoopers out of the kitchen; confusion of extra people easily leads to accidents.

Using a small ladder to reach highs helves in the kitchen.

Repairing worn spots in the floor coverings.

Picking up dropped towels and pot-lifters, etc., before somebody slips on them.

Make sure the only Christmas casualty is the turkey.

Joseph Henry Moss Finch resident dies suddenly

Relatives and friends throughout the district were shocked to hear of the sudden passing of Joseph Henry Moss which occurred at his home on Thursday evening, Nov. 21, of a heart seizure. Mr Moss was in his 60 year.

Born at Embrun, March 21, 1909, he was the eldest son of Mrs Joseph Moss and the late Mr Moss, formerly of Winchester. Henry spent his early years at their home in Cannamore where he received his education. As a young man he spent several seasons in Northern Ontario with a lumber company. He then took up farming with his brother Victor at Crysler. In 1939 he moved to the Finch district where he farmed until two and a half years ago when a heart condition made it impossible for him to carry on with the heavy work.

Though having a heart condition Mr Moss was up and about every day, until the fatal seizure having just returned home from Finch.

On Feb. 11, 1942, he married Norma Benton, a daughter of Mrs Jessie Benton and the late Alozone Benton.

Left to mourn his passing in addition to his wife are: his mother, Mrs Joseph Moss of Cobden; a son John at home; two daughters, Rose at home and Eva of Smiths Falls; a daughter died in infancy in 1945; five sisters and seven brothers: Mrs Claude White (Ellen), Ottawa; Victor, Chesterville; Mrs Edward Heasley (Irene), Cornwall; Arthur, Kingston; Edmund, Ottawa; Mrs Laurence Charlebois (Blanche) Ottawa; Ernest, Kitchener; Mrs Fred Heasley (Olive), Finch; Mrs Jean Sweich, Kitchener; Harvey, Cobden; Gerald, Wrightville and John with the RCAF, Cold Lake, Alberta.

The funeral was held on Monday, November 25 at 10a.m. from his residence to St. Bernard's R. C. Church, Finch. Rev. E. Danis chanted the high mass. Mr Bill McNaughton rendered a solo "Heaven is the Prize."

The burial was in the family plot in St. Bernard's cemetery, Finch.

Pall bearers were four nephews Allan Charlebois, Roger Moss, Ernest Heasley and Joseph Moss and two neighbours Oscar and Bruno Laub.

All the members of his immediate family were present with the exception of his youngest brother John, Alberta, who was unable to attend.

The large number of relatives and friends who called at the home where the body rested and attended the funeral, showed the esteem in which Mr Moss was held.

Many mass cards, floral tributes and messages of sympathy were received including one from Mr Lucien Lamoureux, Speaker of the House of Commons, and Mr Osie Villeneuve also paid his respects.

Friends were present from Ottawa, Wrightville, Cornwall, Waddington, N.Y., Kingston, Kitchener, Chesterville, Smiths Falls, Aple Hill, Avonmore, Winchester, Crysler and the surrounding district.

It is sometimes difficult to adjust an adult seat belt to fit snugly around a small child's pelvic area. The Ontario Safety League says that it helps considerably to seat the child on a firm cushion.

Your Legislature Report...

Fred M. Cass, Q.C., M.P.P.

The Striking Committee of the House brought in its report and the Sessional Committees were established. These Committees, consisting of Members from all three political parties, meet regularly to deal with the various Bills introduced into the House and other matters of public importance. While no one not a Member of the Legislature may sit, or speak on such matters, in the House, anyone may appear, usually by prior arrangement, before each of these Committees and put before the Members his submissions and views with respect to matters being considered by the Committee. Hence, this is the forum in which the citizen can discuss, quite officially, with the House Members, matters of public or personal interest, affected by legislation.

Several private Bills have been introduced and these, of course, were referred to the Private Bills Committee for consideration as well as for the purpose of allowing sponsors of the Bills and opponents to be heard.

The week was spent mainly on the debate on the throne speech with all three party Leaders particpating, and each of course, set out in his speech the views of his Party on current affairs in our Province and of the Government's record and plans. Since only the plans of the Government Party are likely to be implemented, it is interesting to note that Premier Robarts committed the Government of Ontario to continued efforts to co-operate with other Provinces and with the Federal Government to secure a united Canada with fair division between Provincial and Federal spheres of Government of responsibilities and of revenue to meet these responsibilities.

He also announced that the formation of the Ottawa-Carleton regional government was but the first step in erecting all across Ontario new regions to replace our century old system of small municipalities. As yet, however, there does not appear to be any blueprint for, or even rumour as to our particular part of Ontario.

And finally, he discussed the possibility of radio and/or television coverage of House proceedings, indicating that the Government was favourably disposed to some trial of these innovations.

OLD FORT IS 'BURIED'

Historic Fort Ogilvie has been buried in mud at Point Pleasant Park, Halifax, until officials decide if and when it should be restored.

A spokesman fo rthe national parks division of the department of Indian Affairs and northern development said grass will be planted over the interred fort.

London, Ontario, a city of trees

A t the forks of the River Thames, some 115 miles southwest of Toronto, is a Canadian city with a great British tradition. It is the city of London, and it would be fair to say that nowhere in Canada are English place names — and particularly old London names — more prevalent than in London, Ontario. The reason arises away back at the city's beginning.

In the year 1792, John Graves Simcoe, that great administrator who did so much for Upper Canada — chose the site of the future capital for this new land — and not unnaturally he named it London. Although Governor Simcoe's plan did not work out as he had intended, London it was, and still remains.

Actually no building was erected on the site until 1826, and its first impetus did not come until it was made the judicial centre for the district. Then, as the surrounding lands were settled and developed, the village became a small industrial and trading centre.

In 1855 it reached a city status. With the growth of the railways, it became the centre of a network of rail transport, to be followed in later years by an equally extensive network of provincial highways.

In the preCconfederation days, London was a garrison city, and the British troops stationed there lent colour to its early history. The army tradition is still evident, because London is the headquarters for the Western Ontario Military Command.

Today London is a bustling, busy city of some 196,000 people, the centre of a trading area which boasts some half million inhabitants. A manufacturing, distributing and financial centre, London is looked upon as the Metropolis of Western Ontario. Its 300-odd industries are highly diversified and include everything from diesel engines and locomotives to adhesives — automotive parts to textiles. The head offices for life insurance companies and trust companies are located in the city.

The city itself is clean and spacious — vibrant with the life of an energetic, purposeful populace. The downtown area is replete with modern office buildings, spacious department stores, boutiques, specialty shops, hotels and modern high-rise apartment blocks. The residential areas boast an abundance of beautiful shade trees, spacious lawns and landscaped gardens. In passing, it is interesting to note that London was carved out of virgin forest and the heritage still remains in the delightfully shaded streets and city parks.

London is traditionally the home of beautiful and impressive places of worship.

London is fortunate in its nearness to maginifcent beaches, where swimming or sun-bathing can be indulged in to the heart's content. A few miles south on Lake Erie lies Port Stanley with its outstanding recreational facilities.

Sweet Memories

By Mrs Ella York, Chesterville

When we went to school we would sometimes stay
At our Grandfather's house on a stormy day.
On our road in a big storm the snow would drift high
And we couldn't get home, so we didn't try;
For Grandfather's house was close to the school,
They boarded the teacher as a rule.
Grandma was busy with bread to bake,
Pies and cookies and many a cake;
When she cooked salt herring Grandfather would smile,
So we'd have them for supper once in a while;
Sometimes we'd have pancakes, a light golden food,
Served with maple syrup, my, they were good!
After supper was over and homework all done
We'd play games awhile or have some other fun,
Or we'd stand by the organ and sing many a song,
For in those days winter evenings could be very long.
When bedtime came around Grandpa would draw the line,
His bedtime hour was when the clock struck nine.
If we had a cold or a bit of a sneeze
Out would come the electric oil bottle, if you please,
And Davis pain killer was a great cure-all
If you had a sore throat, or maybe a fall.
Grandma would lay down her knitting when it came bedtime
And Grandpa would cut up some slivers fine
To lay on a shelf for the morning fire,
Of this little job he never seemed to tire.
Then off to bed everyone would go
And listen to the wind and the drifting snow;
But we would waken next morning quite refreshed
And come downstairs completely dressed.
We would sit on some chairs so very still
While Grandpa took the old Bible from the window sill
And read us a chapter and led us in prayer,
You could almost feel a Presence there.
Then we'd have breakast and to school we would go,
Shuffling our feet in the new fallen snow;
These are memories that I can recall
But the love they gave us was the best memory of all.

FILL YOUR COOKIE JAR BEFORE CHRISTMAS

SHORTBREAD AND CRISP SUGAR COOKIES are a must at Christmastime and are best when you bake them yourself.

Sugar Cookies

1½ cups flour
1½ tsps. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup butter
½ cup sugar
1 egg yolk, beaten
3 tbsps. milk
½ tsp. vanilla

Stir flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream butter; add sugar gradually, beating between additions. Add egg yolk; mix well. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk; add vanilla. Chill dough thoroughly. Roll on lightly floured board; cut with fancy cookie cutters. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in a moderate oven 5-8 minutes.

Decorate with coloured sugar and small pieces of candied peel.

Thimble Cookies

1¼ cups all-purpose flour
¾ tsp. baking powder
½ cup fine sugar
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup butter
1 egg
1 tsp. vanilla
Jam

Sift flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Blend in butter, as for pastry. Add egg and vanilla and work into dough.

Pinch off pieces, size of a large marble. Place on cookie sheet. Dent in centre of each with a thimble. Fill dent with raspberry jam or apple jelly.

Bake at 375° F. for 8 to 10 minutes. Makes about 30.

Sugar Balls

1 cup softened butter
½ cup sifted icing sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
2¼ cups sifted all - purpose flour
¼ tsp. salt
¾ cup chopped walnuts

Cream softened butter. Sift icing sugar, add gradually to butter, creaming well between each addition.

Sift flour and salt. Add chopped nuts and stir into butter - sugar mixture. Chill dough for several hours.

Roll with hands into small balls. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate oven, 10 to 12 minutes or until set, but not brown. While still warm, roll in fruit sugar.

Makes 4 dozen snowballs.

Christmas Shortbread

1 cup butter
½ cup icing sugar
½ tsp. salt
1 egg yolk
2 cups all-purpose sifted flour

Soften butter slightly, but do not allow to become oily. Stir in sugar, salt and egg yolk with a wooden spoon. Add flour, a little at a time, until mixture is too stiff to work with spoon. Turn onto floured board and knead lightly, drawing in flour all the time until dough just begins to crack. Roll dough ¼ inch thick and cut into desired shapes with cookie cutter; place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 350° F. 10 minutes or until delicately brown. Yield: 3½ dozen. Decorate as desired.

CATTLE FEED FROM OIL

Since it was first discovered that an edible protein source was found in cheese-like cultures growing on petroleum, researchers have been looking for ways to make practical use of the oil-food.

In Scotland an oil company plans to make protein for cattle feed from a petroleum product after eight years research by scientists.

The new product, with food value equivalent to soybean or fish meal, will be produced from normal paraffins. Production by 1970 is expected to reach 4,000 tons annually, with a price competitive with products of a similar quality, says a British Petroleum report.

The Galapagos Islands are about 600 miles west of the coast of South America.
