Local Boys Hitch-Hiking Badly Injured In Crash

Saturday afternoon as Stuart LeClair and Dennis Fyke were on their way to Prescott they thumbed a ride from an approaching car, a short distance west of Morrisburg, the driver of which was Kennie James of Williamsburg. They had only gone a mile beyond Morrisburg when the car crashed with a gravel truck. LeClair was badly cut about the left eye and forehead and rendered unconscious for a time. He was given first aid and was able to be brought home. Dennis Fyke was not seriously injured beyond one of his legs being scraped. Kennie James was more seriously hurt and was taken to hospital for examination.

Symes--Cross

The marriage of Dorothea Hildred, daughter of the late Wesley Cross and Mrs. Cross of Chesterville, to Gordon Charles Symes, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Symes of Westmount, took place Saturday afternoon at two o'clock in Trinity United church, Chesterville. Rev. W. E. Wright officiated.

The altar was beautifully decorated with ferns and apple blossoms.

The bride who was given away by her twin brother, Donald, wore a model gown of white satin cut on princess lines having a yoke of fine tucks with an overlapping edge of wide scollops. The same scolloped effect was carried out on the cuffs of long sleeves extending over the hands and on the hemline of a skirt falling into a slight train. Her veil of Brussels lace was held by a coronet of apple blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white sweet peas and lily-of-the-valley.

The bride was attended by Miss Madge Campderros of Montreal, as maid of honor, who wore a frock of pale yellow powder puff muslin having a square cut neckline and a full skirt. Her Juliet cap was of white corded ribbon with white accessories and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Little Miss Sandra Croft of Montreal was flower girl and wore a smocked frock of pale green organdy, a bandeau of green corded ribbon in her hair and carried a nosegay of white flowers.

Mrs. Cross, the bride's mother, wore a two-piece gown of mauve and white crepe, a matching hat and corsage bouquet of pink roses.

Mrs. Symes, mother of the groom was gowned in periwinkle blue crepe a matching hat and corsage bouquet of red roses.

Mr. David Crammond of Montreal acted as best man for Mr. Symes. The ushers were Robert Cross, Junior Cross and Mancel Smith.

A full choir was in attendance with P. G. Hewitt accompaniest.

During the signing of the register Miss Addie Campderros sang "I love You Truly".

The happy couple received their guests in the auditorium of the Sunday School. Here amid apple blossoms, ferns and tulips, a dainty luncheon was served. Later Mr. and Mrs. Symes left for New York city, the bride travelling in a suit of beige tropical cloth under a top coat of chocolate brown wool, matching brown hat and alligator accessories.

They will reside in Montreal.

The bride is a graduate of Royal Victoria hospital. Mr. Symes is a graduate in Arts of McGill University.

Out of town guests were from Montreal, Ottawa, Vars and Lanark.

Since we cannot work on our land during this wet weather the farmers might as well attend farm forums. During the summer months there is a broadcast on the fourth Monday of each month. The topic next Monday night is "Rural Electrification". The members of S.S. No. 10 are invited to attend the forum at the home of Eric Casselman. During the meeting time might be spared to arrange for a spell of warm, dry weather . Unfortunately it is another of those "Collection Nights". Those who can make it convenient to attend come and bring your sandwiches.

SOCIAL WORKERS SHOULD BE PAID

From time to time a plea is put forward for the safeguarding of first offenders. Once in a while that usual bromide, the Grand Jury presentment, contains some suggestions of value, apart from advice as to needed improvements in jail surroundings and Court rooms. A recent presentment asks that the Big Brother Movement, the Big Sisters' Association or the Salvation Army have representatives in all courts where first offenders are being tried and that "where judges feel that sentence can be suspended, first offenders should be handed over to the care of some organization of this sort." It is further recommended that the court representatives of such organizations should be paid workers and as such work is needed to prevent the creation of habitual criminals who will be a continuous source of expense to the State, it is recommended that such money should be paid by the State. The Grand Jury further submitted that first offenders awaiting trial should be entirely segregated from habitual criminals, preferably in a separate building. When it is impossible to suspend sentence on first offenders they "should be sent to institutions entirely segregated from habitual criminals, where they may have fresh air, proper exercise and useful employment." Provision of trained spiritual advisers and a "proper scale of wages" for work done by a prisoner, part of which would be saved for him and given to him on discharge, were urged.

ONE ORGANIZATION

With a view of obtaining a joint marketing scheme under the Ontario Farm Products Act Ontario hog, beef cattle and sheep producers have arranged to effect an organization to this end. The scheme will avoid the necessity of each group applying separately to license drover, trucker and commission agency or processor. It is estimated that 70 percent of Ontario's 120,000 hog producers also are producers of beef cattle or sheep or both.

EDUCATE FOR PEACE

It is contended that education for war is the easy way—much easier than education for peace and international understanding and in the democratic coutries. All this by the way that education among the world's peoples based on development of mutual understanding, must be one of the principal factors in the re-establishment of peace and sanity in the world. Dr. Charles E. Phllips of the League of Nations Society in Canada, warns that education for peace must be carried out throughout the world—one exception, such as Germany, where there had been education for war, could wreck the peace structure. He advocates a United organization for educational and cultural reconstruction which would develop into an International Office of Education which would work toward the broadening of the educational systems toward harmony throughout the world. The people must have the real and truthful facts about itnernational affairs if there is to be laid a proper groundwork for peace.

EVERYBODY LIKES TO GAMBLE

With millions of shares of mining stocks changing hands in Toronto and Montreal practically every day for weeks past there was bound to be repercussions and the latest reaction has come from the United States where Security Commissions in several cities have placed a ban on certain Canadian promotions and have even invited the brokers concerned to appear before such commissions to give evidence as to the bona fides of their offerings. Of course, such officials have no authority over Canadian promoters or underwriters although they are in a sense able to check uwarranted promotion schemes. People who buy penny stocks in mining shares based on reports of drill holes, are fully aware that they are entering upon a speculative venture and that many of the promotions will never reach the dignity of a gold producer. Nevertheless it is through such ventures that producing mines are developed and if people are willing to take the venture and wait for the long haul they may be investing in a winner. In the most cases buyers of penny stocks enter the market on a gambling basis and seem quite content to take the chances involved.

PURCHASING POWER—BOTH WAYS

By
R. J. DEACHMAN

Which would you rather have, an increase in wage rates or a reduction of the cost of living? Ninety per cent would seek the wage increase—possibly a hundred per cent—despite the fact that in the long run it would very probably, lead to a reduction in total real wage payments, that is throw men and women out of work.

Mr. Walter P. Reuther, Vice-President of the United Automobile Workers, (CIO), comes out with the suggestion that the workers of his organization should now receive forty-eight hours weekly pay for forty hours work. This is an increase of 20% in the weekly wage rate. "This" says Mr. Reuther, "will maintain purchasing power? The purchasing power of the men who make the automobiles, or the purchasing power of the men who buy them?

The answer is that it will mean, ultimately, a reduction in the purchasing power of both.

The price of automobiles will be raised or, in the alternative, a price reduction, which might otherwise be possible, will not take place.

As the price of automobiles is increased, demand will fall off, or the purchaser will buy a lower priced car, thus decreasing employment. Meanwhile management will be busy at work trying to bring about reductions in costs, despite the increase in wage rates. It will be a gain for the consumer as a whole if this is done. It will save money on the cost of automobiles—leave more money to buy refrigerators, washing machines, or some other equally important essential of our daily lives. Reduction in prices of industrial products is the only sound means of increasing purchasing power.

There is another important aspect to this problem, it is difficult to raise the wage rate in one section of the community without raising it in others. When wage rates rise, the price of products will rise and we shall be in for a sharp dose of inflation—the bill for that will, in due course, be sent—the price is a major depression.

It is open to argument, but I venture to suggest that, in the last war, inflation cost us more than the war. We have saved, so far, from that disaster—why demand it now?

The answer is, that it pays the workers to bring about inflation, they are the only ones who profit. When wages are raised, in a period of inflation, they rarely fall below the inflated level. The result is hell for the basic producers, they pay the bill in the ensuing depression. In the end the burden falls back upon the unemployed workers—that is always the end-product of inflation. It threw millions out of employment, in the last war, nine million in the United States—seven hundred and fifty thousand in Canada. This represented the human burden of tragedy. Every honest leader of thought in America recognizes this difficulty. In no way can the workers of North America contribute a greater service to mankind than by doing what they can to prevent this disaster. Their reward will be the escape from depression—greater stability of employment.

Keep this story, send a copy of it to Mr. Walter Reuther in 1950. He may then be able to measure the cost of the proposal he makes today.

Wartime Living

The division of mathematical labor in the American home is fine to behold, observes the St. Louis 'Post-Dispatch'. Mother struggles with ration point and father with income tax.

Willing Gift

In the Civil War, the surrender of the Union forces at Lexington, Mo., was rendered necessary by want of water and ammunition. Confederate General Price detailed an officer to take up the Federal arms and ammunition.

When a demand for the ammunition was made, the genial Irishmen, Adjutant Cosgrove, pointed to the empty cartridge cases and replied:

"I believe, sir, that we gave you all the ammunition we had before we stopped fighting."

JOBS ASSURED BEFORE DEMOBILIZATION

A Square Deal for Veterans Assured by Progressive Conservatives

DEMOBILIZATION

In carrying out the demobilization of Canada's Armed Forces the primary consideration should be the interest of those who have served. Demobilization should be based on the principle that members of the Armed Forces should not be discharged until their economic security is assured by placement in gainful employment or by assisted training and education to that end.

Here, in this simple statement of progressive, realistic policy is the only true solution of the fundamental problem by which every ex-service man and woman is faced. It is the only assurance of a square deal for all veterans. It is the very basis of the Rehabilitation Policies of the Progressive Conservative Party. No veteran will be discharged against his will until he is assured of a decent livelihood.

"Platitudes will not fill empty stomachs," declares John Bracken, "nor generalities provide jobs for those who have fought, nor wordy declamations about sacrifice ease the load of the widows and children whose husbands and fathers gave life itself that we might live in peace and security."

Throughout the war, Canadian service men and women have had their fill of platitudes and generalities.

Let our veterans now ask themselves this question. Does the spirit of political partisanship which the King Government has consistently manifested in time of war, offer any assurance of a square deal for veterans in time of peace? Does the iniquitous manpower policy which split Canada apart reflect the right spirit? Remember in war, as in peace, political policies infallibly indicate party principles.

It is significant that more than half of the Progressive Conservative candidates are service and ex-service men. No other party can even approach this record. These men know that no other party has such realistic and comprehensive plans for rehabilitation. They know that the Progressive Conservative Party is the service men's party.

They know that John Bracken, father of three sons on active service, understands the problems, the hopes and the fears of veterans.

They say, with John Bracken

"The cost of winning the war and the cost of re-establishing those who fought in it, is one and indivisible. In the plainest words at my command, I say to you that nothing short of full-time gainful employment for every man and woman who has worn the Canadian uniform will be acceptable. Every man and woman must be given an opportunity to earn a good living. If existing enterprise cannot do this, the State must, and will."

These service and ex-service candidates, with John Bracken, pledge themselves that, under no circumstances, will existing benefits to veterans be lessened. On the contrary, they will be increased and extended.

They, with John Bracken, pledge themselves to revise an out-moded pensions act, to humanize its administration, to eliminate red tape and inexcusable delays. Pension rates will be reviewed at once and increased to bring them in line with higher living costs.

Under a Progressive Conservative government, recorded condition of personnel on enlistment will be accepted as sufficient proof in determining disability pension. The veteran will be entitled to the benefit of the doubt.

The "first in, first out" principle will be followed on demobilization — with a job at decent pay assured to the veteran when he returns to "civvy" street.

In the words of our leader, we of the Progressive Conservative Party,

"accept the challenge to demonstrate to you who fought that you shall not be handicapped in days of peace because you responded to the nation's call in days of war."

ANOTHER EVIL

In these days of organizing for world peace, a heading over an item in an Eastern newspaper, "Cure for Wars", naturally caught our eye. On closer examination it turned out to be a cure for warts, which can be a nuisance too.

"What is the difference," asked the teacher, "between caution and cowardice?"

Johnny, who observed things carefully for so youthful a person, answered:

"Caution is when you're afraid, and cowardice is when the other fellow's afraid."

S.D.&G'S Happy Guard Old Foe

The Canadian Highland Brigade, commanded by Brig. John Rockingham of Victoria, now has the job it has wanted for three months. Its three battalions—the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, the Highland Light Infantry of Canada and the North Nova Scotia Highlanders—are guarding the German 6th Paratroop Division here before it moves to Germany.

The 6th Division is a long-time enemy of the Highland Brigade. The Highlanders fought this division in late February and early March in the Hochwald battles. In the Rhine bridgehead and on the road to Emmerich they fought it again. Troops of this division opposed the North Novas—from Amherst and Truro—and the Highland Light Infantry—from Galt and Kitchener, Ont.—in a terrific fight at Bienen, just east of the Rhine.

METEOROLOGY IN CANADA

In 1872, the Dominion Government authorized the organization of the Meteorological Service with headquarters at Toronto, in line with similar action being taken by other nations. This required the establishment of weather stations that could report observations to headquarters 3 times a day. These stations were located along the lower lakes, the St. Lawrence Valley and the Maritime Provinces. At the same time, arrangements were made to receive observations from a number of stations in the United States, Canadian observations being sent in return. This reciprocal agreement has been maintained ever since and has continued to grow and expand with the expansion of both Services. By 1876 the Canadian meteorologists had acquired sufficient experience in the movements of high and low-pressure systems to enable them to issue forecasts for the general public and for storm warnings.

Over the next fifty years or more, the problems were: to increase the area from which observations could be obtained; to explore the atmosphere to find out its physical conditions; to investigate the physical processes operating in the atmosphere. The enlargement of the area from which observations could be obtained depended, in the early days, chiefly on the telegraphic facilities, and later on wireless; stations are now established over the North American continent up to the rim of the Arctic where the number of stations has been gradually increased.

It was early recognized that it was necessary to obtain a knowledge of the physical conditions prevailing in the upper atmosphere before it would be possible to explain the processes operating therein. This exploration was commenced about the beginning of the century by sending up instruments attached to kites, which gave a record of the pressure, temperature and humidity. However, kites could not reach very great heights. To overcome this limitation, balloons were released with self-recording instruments attached and these gave a continuous record of pressure, temperature and humidity at all levels through which the balloon passed. Many of these were recovered and from them the meteorologists were able to obtain a record of actual conditions in the upper atmosphere.

Such records, however, could not be used as a basis for forecasting since they were not recovered for several days—in some cases, months or even years.

The advent of the aeroplane made it possible to obtain this information at once for forecasting purposes. Further progress was made with the development of short-wave radio and it was not long before a meteorograph with a radio-transmitter was designed. This instrument was sent up by balloon and signalled back the temperature, pressure and humidity of the upper atmosphere as the balloon travelled through space. Thus upper air data could be obtained up to much greater heights than was possible by aeroplane and provided the basis for determining the physical conditions in the upper atmosphere for forecasting purposes.

Still in Second

A couple of G-I's stationed in Australia decided to snap some kangaroos and send the pictures back home. They borrowed a jeep and started out. Soon they spotted one, and the driver stepped on the gas. To their amazement, they made no gain on the animal. Finally the driver turned to his buddy and shouted: "It's no use chasin' that thing."

"Why not?" asked the other.

"We're doing 60 and have you noticed our friend hasn't put his front feet down yet?"

Mystery Play Last Night Was Well Presented

Nearly everyone gets worked up over a mystery story or play and that is what happened last evening in the Community Hall, when the Aultsville Service Club Players presented the super-mystery, "The Night Was Dark". The cast chosen staged the mystery in such a skilled manner taht watchers were really in doubt until the last minute as to who were the culprits and how the matters would be settled to the satisfaction of the different members of the family.

The play was directed by Karl Wells and was composed of 12 members:

Rakofsky, a Russian butler, Karl Wells; Mortimer Garth, a young man from Oxford, George Hickey; Kay Garth; a 14-year-old busy-body, Winnie Murdock; Mrs. Delilah Garth her mother, Mary Rombough; Gerald Skinner, a vaudevillian, Wesley Beddingfield; Frieda Skinner, his wife, Lera Rombough; Dora Garth, a woman with hallucinations, Verna Beddingfield; Norma Patterson, a secretary, Edith Wells; Jabez Weedle, an attorney, Trevor Wells; Alan Garth, a black sheep, Ernest Bray; Benjamin Garth, a "corpse", Jack Hickey.

Between the acts Peggy Hickey and Mavis Beckstead put on a skit, "Barnacle Bill, the Sailor", and Mary Rombough, and Teddy Hagerman, a singing and dancing skit.

HOW TO DUST AND SPRAY

In applying insecticidal dust in the garden, the following general recommendations are offered as a result of practical tests, says Alan G. Dustan, Division of Entomology, Dominion Department of Agriculture: (1) select a duster suitable to the size of the plot to be treated; (2) apply most dusts in the early morning or late evening when the plants are wet with dew; (3) dust when the air is calm; (4) cover the plants thoroughly, both the upper and lower surfaces of the leaves; (5) apply at the rate of about 35-50 pounds to each acre treated. Nicotine dusts, to be most effective, should be applied when the air temperature is about 70 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade, or higher.

In the application of sprays from small sprayers which are not equipped with a suitable agitator, it is important to keep the material stirred almost continuously during the operation. Insecticides and fungicides being heavier than water tend to settle and drop to the bottom of the spray tank. Without proper agitation, this results in an uneven distribution of the materials and may even cause burning of the foliage when the spray at the bottom of the tank is applied.

Liberal Working Plan for Full Post-War Employment...

For Veterans—$750,000,000 to get them started in good paying jobs in industry, on the land or in business for themselves as each of them chooses.

Housing—$400,000,000 to finance the biggest building scheme this country has ever known.

Family Allowances—$250,000,000 a year to lessen the burdens of parenthood and to equalize the opportunities of young Canadians for success and happiness.

Export Credits—We've got to have exports if we're going to have jobs. Your Liberal Government has arranged to finance war-wrecked countries who will be good customers later.

Industrial Development Bank—Your Liberal Government has set up machinery to help enterprising Canadians develop new business.

Farm Loans—One man in every three in Canada works on the farm. To help them get better equipment, your Liberal Government has arranged that they can borrow the money they need for better working and living conditions.

Floor Prices—The Liberal Government's policy is that when farmers and fishermen prosper, so do other Canadians. It has therefore taken action to put a floor under the prices of farm and fishery products.

Reduction of Taxes—Your Liberal Government believes in jobs first. To this end, taxes will come down to free spending power.

* * * *

These are just some of many steps in the Liberal Government's Working Plan to ensure full employment after the war. In addition it has stimulated tremendous private savings in Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates; put through Unemployment Insurance, set up a special Department of Reconstruction staffed by experts. In fact all its policies are directed to the same end—a "high and stable level of employment and income."

JOBS! Jobs with bright futures for the young men and women coming out of the Armed Services with the best part of their lives before them! Jobs for all! Jobs with big prospects and good, reliable money that will keep its buying power! After all the hard work, sacrifice and self-discipline which has brought us through the war, the people of this country have earned a brighter future in a better, juster, grander Canada than we have ever known!

LOOK how much Canadians have accomplished, here on the home front, even without the energy and initiative of all the vigorous young people now in uniform, and their zest for daring! What is there Canada can't do with them back on the home team? Why, with their help, we Canadians are headed full speed for the greatest period in our history!

THE all-important question today is the civilian staff-work and leadership which we call "government." The Liberals have a working plan. It's big and bold! Parts of it are outlined for your judgment in the left-hand column. It has been designed with the aid of the keenest minds in every phase of industry, agriculture, labour and learning. The plan will work. In fact it is already bringing results. It will continue to do so! The Liberals can tell you this with confidence because they have had successful experience in operating nation-wide plans.

VOTE for your Liberal candidate. Make sure the team which made this plan for full employment shall see it through—and win the peace!

Sgt. Harry Donenfield of the 29th infantry regiment, bought a little green hat with curly red feathers in a Paris shop. He packed it in a cookie tin and sent it to his wife in New York.

Two months later he received some New York papers, one of which carried an advertisement from a Fifth avenue department store.

"The First Paris Import in Four Years Lands in New York in a Cookie Tin," the headline announced. Reports are that little green hats with curly red feathers are in style all over the United States.

FALL PRICE HIGHER FOR EXPORT EGGS

The British Ministry of Food has agreed to a fall price of 45 cents a dozen f.o.b. seaboard for eggs of Grade A quality in carload lots. This price will apply on purchases from September 15 to December 15, 1945. It is 6 cents a dozen higher than the export price paid for winter and spring eggs of the same quality, the Special Products Board has announced.

The Fall of the year is the season when Great Britain has the greatest need for eggs and for the years 1945 and 1946 the British Ministry has agreed to take all of the surplus Grade A quality of large and medium weights that Canada can produce at that time.

Yearling hens have the advantage of laying large eggs when the demand is greatest and producers would be well advised to carry over this fall all the good yearling birds for which they have suitable accommodation.

"How did Jim get that black eye?"

"He was waiting at the stage door for a chorus girl, and—

"And her fiance came along?"

"No. Her grandson came out and licked hell out of him."

"small business" ISN'T SO SMALL!

Ordinarily one Canadian in every six gainfully employed, earns his livelihood in a "small business." It may be a farm, a store or a lumber-yard; an architect's office or a service station. Taken together, these individual enterprises provide a very substantial part of Canada's total jobs—must continue to do so after the war.

During the years ahead many people who dropped small business for war reasons will want to return to their accustomed or new ways of making a living. Thus old businesses will be revived. Many new ones will be started by returned men and people now in war industries. The commercial banks will do their part to afford assurance that no sound credit requirement need be left unserved in the field of small business.

As such businesses grow, they create additional job openings; that has been the pattern of Canadian enterprises. Most large companies began in a small way. And practically all could name some bank which played a part in their growth by providing the loans they needed to finance their day-to-day operations.

Your bank stands ready to serve businesses, small or large, well established or just starting out. Banks do not initiate such businesses—but they do furnish necessary working capital and many other forms of banking service.

No fewer than 94 out of every hundred establishments in the manufacturing, wholesale, retail and services fields are small, employing less than 15 people. Together they employ 37% of all the workers engaged in these classes of business.

SPEAKING OF FISHING

Fort William Times-Journal

Some like to fish from the banks of streams or rivers and some like to fish or troll from boats on the bays along the shore of the lake. This is a region wonderfully endowed with fishing streams or grounds. Each veteran fisherman has his own favorite mode of fishing and his own favorite locality.

In past years some wonderful catches have been made. Speckled trout of outstanding size have been landed by capable and lucky fishermen. Some of these celebrated catches have received wide publicity. There is no doubt that those who are expert and who have a comprehensive knowledge of the ways of fish have a better chance to succeed than the mere tyro or the man who goes only once in a season perhaps.

The fisherman who understands all the mysteries of flies and feathers and lures and who has full equipment in the way of tackle is likely to have more consistent success than the man who depends on any old rod, any old hook and a worm for bait—but you never can tell. Fisherman's luck is a queer thing and it strikes sometimes in the queerest places.

SAVE THE BEST YEARLING HENS

Save the best yearling hens for egg production in 1946 and also to produce more eggs in the fall of 1945, is the advice given to Canadian poultrymen by the poultry authorities of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Assurance has now been obtained that Britain will require eggs in 1946 in at least as great quantities as in 1945. The periods during which Britain wants shell eggs most are in the fall and in the winter and early spring. In the past six months, Canada was able to make a fine contribution. A like contribution will be expected next fall and winter.

With fewer early chicks this year, say the poultry authorities, the prospects are not so bright. The alternative is to save and carry over yearlings into 1946. It is important that enough be carried over to make full pens, because pullets and yearlings do not go well together. Where individual producers have not enough to carry over, possibly two or more producers could arrange to put their yearlings together by purchase or otherwise. It is important that no laying birds be sent to market this year.

Fire In Tanker At Prescott 80,000 Gals. Gas Aboard

Fire which broke out Monday morning in the engine room of the gasoline laden tanker Transtream, at Prescott, was extinguished before more serious damage was sustained. The tanker, with a capacity of some 80,000 gallons was unloading at the McColl Frontenac tanks just west of the Government elevator at Johnstown when the outbreak occurred at nine o'clock this morning.

All safety precautions were taken aboard the vessel to confine the fire to the stern of the ship, and with the Prescott Fire Department on hand to assist the crew, thousands of gallons of water were poured into the holds to drown the fire.

PROPER WAY TO CUT POTATOES FOR SEED

What is the best way to cut potatoes when it comes time to plant them? They should not be cut into too many pieces, nor planted in too large chunks.

The proper way to cut potatoes for seed is to divide them into blocky seed pieces weighing from an ounce and a half to two ounces each and with each piece containing two eyes. The tuber's seed end, which contains the most eves, should be split.

The number of seed pieces which should be cut from any potato depends on its variety and on its size. For example, a six to eight ounce tuber should make four seed pieces. A five ounce tuber can be cut into three pieces—two from the seed end and the other, the stem end of the tuber.

USE OF SULFA DRUGS MAY BE DANGEROUS

Live stock owners who have heard of some of the benefits from the use of sulfa drugs in treating live stock ailments have been reminded by the veterinary authorities that there is also a dangerous side to the use of these drugs. Through their improper use, the following are some of the results—degeneration of liver cells, damage to kidney tubes, depletion of bone marrow, necrosis of muscles and in some instances hemorrhages. The authorities point out that these are not common occurrences but they may result when sulfa drugs are used by persons who do not know their proper application and limitations. The only safe way is when the drugs are used under the direction of a veterinary officer.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Isn't it heartening to notice more smiles these days, more spring in everyone's step? Possibly the fact that more of us are putting our shoulders to the wheel and have helped in putting the last Victory Loan over the top is acting as a tonic. Well, it is more blessed to give, isn't it? A letter from a reader seems to bear out the above idea. In part it reads: "Our I. O.D.E. having sponsored a Bridge Marathon (proceeds for war work) have met with such success that I am of the opinion we have been cutting down too much on social events. So I am wondering if I could have a party for several of our neighbours to honour a friend who is leaving our town. Could you suggest an economical menu, or, even better, what form could my party take?"

One of the most pleasant ways to entertain is a progressive dinner, especially when your guests live in the immediate vicinity. Suggest to the hostesses that food be chosen so that no one will have to labour over her stove until the guests arrive. Serve each course at a different home and plan to play bridge at the last home. Maybe one of your group has a large living room especially suited for bridge or bingo.

Here is a suggested menu with every item capable of being prepared in advance.

House No. 2—Creamed ham, potato patties, braised celery.

House No. 3—Triffle, coffee.

CREAMED HAM IN TOAST CUPS

4½ cups cubed cooked ham, 3 cups corn, 9 tbsps. butter, 9 tbsps. flour, 2¼ cups milk, salt and pepper, 3 green peppers, chopped, or ¼ cup parsley.

Prepare creamed sauce, add ham, corn, pepper and seasoning. Fill toast cups just before serving. Serves 12.

TRIFLE

Place crumbled stale cake in the bottom of sherbet glasses (3 tbsps. per glass). Moisten with syrup from canned fruit. Fill glass with soft custard to which has been added chopped nuts or cherries. Garnish with maraschino cherry or jelly. Chill in electric refrigerator.

TAKE A TIP

1. Line tart tins with trimmed fresh bread. Place in electric oven preheated to 250 degs. and leave until bread is lightly browned. Keep a supply of these to fill with creamed vegetables, etc. Dry out crusts at the same time and crush with rolling pin. Place in a jar and store for future use.
2. Ever tint those late pears green when canning? Just add vegetable flavouring to your syrup. They make a fruit salad very special.
3. Roll old fashioned potato cakes in crushed corn flakes to give variation.
4. Braised celery just isn't properly braised unless it is cooked with soup stock. Trim stalks and cut in pieces about three inches long. Butter a casserole and arrange the pieces in it. Season with salt, cayenne and a dash of nutmeg; pour over meat stock or canned consomme, and cover with strips of bacon. Cover and cook in preheated electric oven.

THE QUESTION BOX

An English bride says: We have difficulty using English recipes that require yeast.

Answer—Use 1 compressed yeast cake instead of the two tsps. of the granular yeast that you probably refer to. Before using this cake soak it in lukewarm water for 10 minutes.

Mrs. B. C. asks: We would like a recipe for a frozen pudding to be served on special occasions.

Answer: Nesselrode Pudding

½ cup cold water, 2 tbsps. plain gelatine, 2 cups hot milk, 5 eggs, separated, 3 tbsps. nuts, 2|3 cup raisins, 1|3 cup citron peel, ½ cup sugar, 1 tsp. vanilla.

Beat egg yolks together with sugar; stir into hot milk. Cook 3 to 5 mins., or until it coats a spoon, stirring constantly. Dissolve gelatine in cold water. Add to hot milk, mix and stir until dissolved: then add raisins, peel and vanilla. Chill in electric refrigerator. When cold, add beaten egg whites and a few grains salt. Put in freezing tray and chill until firm, having set control to coldest point.

John Bracken—The Farmer

On the 11th of December, 1942, John Bracken stood in the Auditorium in Winnipeg before a great concourse of people. John Bracken — the Farmer — was accepting the leadership of a great resurgent people's party. In ringing tones he was speaking of "The People's Charter". And the soul-searching sincerity of this man of the soil, with his vision of Canada, of Canadians and the "world of plenty that lies within our grasp" was deeply moving.

Picture the background of this man — this moment. John Bracken, the farm boy, on his father's farm in Ontario, milking, haying, carrying in the wood, plowing . . . then young Bracken, honours student at the Ontario Agricultural College going to Manitoba as representative of the Department of Agriculture . . . on to Saskatchewan as Superintendent of Fairs and Farmers' Institutes and Secretary of the Provincial Livestock Association . . . then, later, John Bracken, author, writing books about farms, farming, farmers . . .

And now years later, in Winnipeg, John Bracken, the farmer, is speaking of "the right of farmers and other primary producers to a fair share of the nation's income." Notice the simplicity of the language he uses, clear, concise — sincere.

"During the last decade," he is saying, "farm income fell to such a low average as to become of very great concern in our Canadian economy. It is the responsibility of the nation to see that this great inequity shall not be perpetuated."

Then, suddenly his voice rises, becomes even clearer, more incisive. "I may say quite frankly that if it had not been for that plank in your platform which provides for a square deal for agriculture, I would not be here."

Two years later, in Alliston, Ontario, — again the same simplicity, the moving sincerity.

"I am an agrarian," said John Bracken, "and I am a Canadian . . . who seeks to correct the major social injustice of our day — the unfairly small share of the national income that goes to farmers and farm women and farm workers." Then, with a statesman's enlargement of vision, he added, "When the injustice to the farmer is removed, the economy of Canada as a whole will be strengthened."

No one could be less parochial in his outlook — more deeply concerned with national welfare than John Bracken, the farmer who embarked twenty years ago on a career so successful as to be without precedent in contemporary political history within the British Commonwealth of Nations.
