Rocket runners

Police seize 460,000 contraband cigarettes

SOUTH DUNDAS — A traffic stop on Highway 401 lead to the seizure of 1,250 re-sealable bags of contraband cigarettes (250,000 individual cigarettes) worth $27,500 on Thurs., May 15.

Cornwall RCMP officers arrived at the scene of a vehicle stopped by the Ontario Provincial Police on Highway 401 westbound in South Dundas at 9:40 pm. The driver of the 2007 Chevrolet Silverado was stopped for speeding, and when the officer approached the vehicle he observed cardboard boxes of cigarettes inside and smelled tobacco.

The driver, a 19-year-old male from Hogansburg, New York was arrested and will be charged by the RCMP for possession of a tobacco product not properly stamped according to the Excise Act 2001. He was released and will appear in Morrisburg court on July 8.

The truck, valued at $24,075, was also seized by the RCMP.

The May 15th seizure followed another similar incident that took place on May 13 at 7:30 pm, when officers from the Cornwall RCMP arrived in the same area, where a vehicle had been stopped by the OPP.

The driver of the 2001 GMC Sierra van was stopped for speeding and the officer smelled tobacco while receiving documents. The driver admitted to be transporting contraband cigarettes.

The RCMP officers seized 450 re-sealable bags of contraband cigarettes as well as 600 cartons of Putter's Light brand cigarettes (210,000 individual cigarettes) worth $23,100.

The driver, a 46-year-old male resident of Chippewa Street West in North Bay, Ont. was arrested and will be charged by the RCMP for possession of a tobacco product not properly stamped according to the Excise Act 2001. He was released and will appear at the Morrisburg court on July 8. The van, valued at $6,175, was also seized by the RCMP.

All of the cigarettes seized from the two stops are believed to have been manufactured in the United States and smuggled into Canada.

Hospital parking lots to be closed

Counties show where tax dollars go

by Sarah Kelford
Press staff

WILLIAMSBURG — Deputy-Mayor Robert Gillard presented South Dundas council with the 2007 United Counties of SD&G property tax breakdown at its May 20 meeting.

"It's good to see where your money is spent," said Mayor Charles Barkley.

According to the report entitled "What Your Property Taxes Support," "property tax bills in SD&G are made up of three main items: county, township, and education taxes."

The county taxes average 45 per cent of a residential tax bill, and 27 per cent of a commercial tax bill.

The county portion of the property taxes is broken down to support various services, including roads, health, policing, and planning.

Road services use the largest portion of tax bills. According to the report, the money is spent on "winter and summer maintenance of 985 kilometres of highway, 186 bridges, 1,500 cross culverts, 12,000 private entranceway culverts, 28 level railway crossings plus five overpasses, and resurfacing of 60 kilometres of roadway each year."

Health and social services receive the second highest amount from residential property taxation. The counties fund nine per cent of Eastern Ontario Health Unit's annual budget and donate to four local hospitals, an end-of-life hospice, and five senior support centres. The report also outlined that the five ambulance bases in SD&G responded to 5,672 calls in 2007 with 70 per cent of those calls being life-threatening emergency responses.

Police services received the third highest portion. The report states that 82 uniformed officers and 11 civilian members responded to over 15,000 calls in 2007. The tax dollars also go towards investigations, crime prevention, victim assistance, emergency management, traffic enforcement and collision-reduction deployment, and community involvement.

The report also outlines the tax money received from library services, treasury and information technology, planning services, development, administration, council and committees, and buildings and property. It also touches on the county's surplus, provincial offenses, and corporate funding.

The United Counties received corporate funding through the Ontario Municipal Partnership Fund — the main funding received from the province, totalling $10,172,000.

Hog ride to end in S. Dundas

MORRISBURG — The roar of 150 motorcycles will be heard throughout South Dundas on Sun., June 1.

South Dundas has been chosen as the destination for the Ride for Sight — an Ottawa charity ride to help fight blindness.

Last week two members of the bike club travelled to Morrisburg to meet with members of the Morrisburg Lions Club and South Dundas Chamber of Commerce. The bikers were excited about what they saw at the waterfront and felt it would be a perfect location to end the ride.

The bikers will travel from Ottawa, along the Rideau River, arriving in South Dundas via Carmen Road.

The route travels east on County Road 2 up Lakeshore Drive to the Morrisburg dock area. There, they will be served a barbecue lunch by the Morrisburg Lions Club, co-ordinated by Keith and Linda Robinson, along with volunteers from the Chamber of Commerce.

The bikers will leave Morrisburg by County Road 31 to Williamsburg where they will take County Road 18 west to return to the Rideau River for the return trip to Ottawa.

The South Dundas Chamber of Commerce and Morrisburg Lions Club said they are pleased to be part of this charity event and welcome Ride for Sight to the area.

Council notes from South Dundas

More sewer and water talks

WILLIAMSBURG — CAO Steve McDonald requested that South Dundas council initiate plans to increase the water and sewer rates at its regular meeting on Tues., May 20.

The report stated that water revenues were not sufficient to cover the expenses of the water system. McDonald noted that these issues had not been discussed at council since the budget meetings.

"I want to keep it on the radar," said McDonald. "We need to come up with some kind of solution regarding the $130,000 deficit (from 2007)."

Mayor Charles Barkley assured McDonald that council hadn't forgotten about the water and sewer issue.

"I think we should apply it in 2009," said Barkley. "Have it all set and ready, but actually apply it in '09."

McDonald suggested that council come up with a preferred plan and hold a public meeting. "The problem's not going away," he said. "But if we start in '09, it gives people lots of notice and (the township) time to get it ready."

Councillor Steve Byvelds agreed that starting the new rates in 2009 was most sensible.

"We had a $130,000 deficit last year, we'll have a $130,000 deficit this year," said councillor Del Jones. "Every day we delay this (new rates) it's adding to the problem."

Council members said they were optimistic that the rates will be implemented by January 2009.

"If we start now, we shouldn't make any mistakes," said Barkley.

McDonald was told to outline a timeline with public meetings so the decision could be made for the new year.

Serve and protect

SD&G OPP Sgt. Brent Mattice introduced council to Sgt. Michael Burton, who will be replacing Mattice while he is in Prescott.

"He will certainly serve you well," said Mattice. "He's taking over all the duties — traffic and water."

Burton has 13 years' experience in the police force and has been a sergeant for over two years.

Council greeted Burton and Barkley told both officers to "keep up the good work."

Hanesville bridge

Council accepted the recommendation from Hugh Garlough, manager of public works, to hire Louis Bray Construction for the rehabilitation of the Hanesville bridge.

Three companies were invited to tender for the job, but Louis Bray Construction, with its bid of $37,800, was the least expensive by nearly $6,000.

Work was to to start this past Monday (May 26) and is scheduled to be completed by Fri., June 6. The rehabilitation was allotted for in the 2008 budget.

School closures slated for 2009

WINCHESTER — The Upper Canada District School Board has decided to proceed with its Boundary 2020 proposal, meaning that Elma, Inkerman, and Morewood Public Schools will close as of September 2009, and students will be consolidated at Winchester and Chesterville.

Other changes locally will see Grade 7 and 8 students attending North Dundas District High School — as space permits — with the eventual closure of Maple Ridge Senior Public School (planned for 2011) and Nationview Public School curriculum ending at Grade 6.

Trustees voted 8-3 in support of the Boundary 2020 report on Wed., May 14 at North Grenville District High School. The report has incurred only minor changes since the proposed closures were presented to the public in the fall of 2007 and several public meetings took place.

"Many community residents expressed the feeling over the past few months that the board's public consultation process was a sham," said Elementary Teachers' Federation of Ontario president David Clegg in a press release. "Sadly, (the) decision by trustees has proven these feelings to be correct."

Clegg said he feels that the plan to close elementary schools unilaterally and transfer grade 7 and 8 students to high schools will have far-ranging and damaging ramifications.

"Students are not simply numbers on a financial balance sheet to be transferred to the most cost-effective location," he said. "Schools are not blocks on a Monopoly board, to be juggled with no rhyme or reason. In moving forward with Boundary 2020, the board is confirming that the best interests of students and communities have never been their priority."

A contingent of concerned parents from Inkerman Public School lobbied hard to keep the school open as a single-track early French immersion institution, but the board's plan is to make Winchester Public School a dual-track — offering both early French and English programming — beginning in 2009.

Video to be unveiled at WDMH gala

WINCHESTER —What do the United Nations' Universal Declaration of Human Rights, cartoon character Marvin the Martian, hockey great Bobby Orr, and Winchester District Memorial Hospital have in common? They were all born 60 years ago.

To celebrate the hospital's diamond jubilee, David Jones Productions and KAV Productions Inc. have created a commemorative video entitled "60 Years of Caring," which will premiere at the hospital gala on Sat., June 14. Those with gala tickets will be the first to see the production that highlights the hospital's history.

"It's going to be an exciting night," said Dawn Cooper, managing director of the WDMH Foundation, about the gala and the unveiling of the documentary. "It's an excellent way to mark the jubilee. The video showcases the hospital's strengths and how it has changed over the years, as well as the historical and continuing community support."

In 1948, television had not yet taken over Canadian living rooms; women were raising their children with advice from Dr. Spock; and Louis Stephen St. Laurent became the country's 12th prime minister. In Winchester, a long-awaited dream came true — the district finally got a hospital.

The documentary covers some of the stories of those early days, from the initial fundraising efforts to the hospital auxiliary members hanging the last of the homemade curtains at 1 am the night before the official opening. It traces the changes at WDMH through the years with fantastic archival photos and interviews with some of those involved.

"I think the video turned out great," said David Jones of Morrisburg. "It looks at two aspects of the hospital: the history of how it came to be built and also how the hospital has been so successful. The latter comes down to the staff, the volunteers, and the continued support of the community, both financially and otherwise."

Jones previously made the documentary A River Lost: The Story of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

"What we found was that the story of the hospital was intertwined with the story of the community," he said, noting that everyone was happy to help out with the filming and research for the project.

The gala will also include a sumptuous meal by AJ's Catering, entertainment by the Mantini Sisters, and news personality Max Keeping as master of ceremonies.

Tickets are $100 each with a $40 tax receipt and are available by calling 613-774-2422, extension 6169.

Trees, please

Carleton University journalism graduate Allendria Brunjes from Barrie, Ont. is working for the first time as a tree planter with Drentex Field Services out of Chesterville. She and a dedicated crew of planters are spending the summer months planting trees throughout the United Counties of SD&G and beyond. Here, she shares with the Press her feelings about the summer job, and what it means to be a "southside" planter.

Shanna Bernier, a first year treeplanter, digs a hole for one of the trees in her pouch. At right: The march of the planters — off to start anther day of work.

by Allendria Brunjes

CHESTERVILLE — When I was a child, I used to collect rocks. Now, as a tree planter, they have become the bane of my existence.

Normally, my shovel slices through the earth with relative ease. But my heart drops every time my shovel is halted by a stone, often only the size of a golf ball.

As a rookie tree planter, each movement can be excruciating. The dig-plant-dig-plant routine dulls the pain of the monotonous motions and quiets the mind. Breaking this routine — like having to dig-dig-dig when a rock gets in the way — is agony, especially considering the 12-cent compensation for one tree.

However, there are bigger rewards than just the accumulated cents.

Despite the excessively hot, cold, wet or dry weather added to the hard work and frustration, the type of tree planting we do has become the most enriching job I have ever had.

The members of my crew agree.

"It's very rewarding," said John Bols, owner of Drentex Field Services and head of the tree planting crew. "The best part is that you can go to the end of your life and say, I did something good — that you didn't fritter your life away doing something useless. I can drive around and say, I was involved in that, and that, and that. It's very gratifying."

I can now look around the South Nation watershed, and point out the areas where I have created a forest, changing the landscape in a positive way. It's a good feeling.

"It's a great way to make money without participating in evil," said Thomas Posie, a second-year tree planter.

A growing trend

Despite all the forests we have created, not many know the extent to which planting goes on in this area.

Bols said a lot of funding for tree planting was cut in 1995. For a while, landowners were paying big bucks with few or no subsidies to get trees into the ground. In recent years, however, the provincial government has been putting money back into this effort in an attempt to lower carbon dioxide levels.

"Landowners are getting back into planting in a big way," Bols added.

Ed Kupczyk, a senior forestry specialist with South Nation Conservation, said programs and subsidies offered through the authority help people who may not be able to afford the time or money to plant a large forest.

Private and government organizations give funding to the authority, which divides the funds into tree planting subsidies for local landowners. "Our program helps meet the needs of the smaller landowners," said Kupczyk.

This year alone, Kupczyk said the authority was responsible for planting 103,350 trees between Plantagenet and Brockville. He said the number was half that last year.

"Tree planting is really increasing quite a bit," he added.

Trees Ontario is a provincial government initiative that provides funding for the authority.

"The costs have been going up and up and up, and landowners can't afford to plant the trees (without funding)," said Trees Ontario field advisor Adam Zulinski.

Bill Wyss, landowner in the township of East Hawkesbury, had 10,900 trees planted in fallow fields on his property this month, and said the initiative was crucial to his project.

"The funding really helped," he said. "When Trees Ontario came up with this program, they made it all possible."

Wyss said his property has been in his family for 20 years, and that planting trees was his parents' wish.

"It's something that my parents have been wanting to do since they've owned the place," he said. "The plans for the forest are not a commercial forest ... It is going to be a bit of a hobby."

Wyss said the total cost of the planting was projected at $20,000, but he got $13,375 in subsidies from Trees Ontario to help cover expenses.

The "southside" differences

Unlike many of the plantations in northern Ontario and in many areas in Canada, a lot of the landowners we (Drentex Field Services) plant for hope their land will remain forested permanently.

Most of the places we planted this year were blocks of fallowed farmland. We also planted areas for wildlife enhancement, erosion control, windbreaks, and sound or sight barriers.

We rarely plant little tree pods; we plant older trees with a bare root system, giving them a higher chance of survival. They are also tougher to plant, so our numbers aren't as high as northern planters, who generally plant thousands of trees a day each. By comparison, southern planters average a little more than 1,000 trees per day.

But our living conditions make up for the lower number of trees we plant.

"I think that we have better conditions than a lot of tree planters in the world," said Shanna Bernier, first-time tree planter and student at Bishop's University. "We don't have to live in tents; we don't have to buy our shovels. It's more of a community thing, less of each tree planter for themselves. I think that's a pretty unique situation."

Most of the tree planters live together at the Bols residence.

Isaac Bols, John Bols' son and one of the planters, said the best part of planting is the people, and the experiences they have together.

"We have a very good crew, a nice mixture of people," he said. "No one brought down the group at all."

Despite the fact we spend all our days together — working, living, eating and even sleeping together — we still spend our days off with each other. And love it.

One Sunday — our one day off per week — we went bungee jumping in Wakefield, falling 200 feet into an old quarry.

"How many northern planters would do that together?" asked Isaac Bols.

A hard day's work

By no means is every day relaxation and bungee jumping. It's the hard work that really brings the team together.

"It's kind of a good psychological exercise, to encounter such difficult things and maintain your composure," said Posie. "The feeling at the end of the day, when you know you've just planted a field, is quite satisfying."

John Bols said this year's crew has a good work ethic and a good mix of personalities. Three of the people on the team are doing this for the first time, but he said everyone has managed to buckle down and work hard.

"They find it difficult, but they are going to stay and work regardless," he said.

Bernier said it's all worth it. "It's hard work, but it's also really good work – good for your body, good for the environment," she said.

"Tree planting makes you sexy," added Posie. "It gets you in shape, and it's a positive contribution, which I think is sexy."

200 trees for Dundas

Members of Winchester Scouting planted more than 200 trees at a farm in Winchester during the annual Trees for Dundas fundraising event. According to organizers and the scouts involved, the event was a big success. Codie Brammell (left), Alex Proulx, and Otter leader Linda Foster planted a shaggy bark Hickory tree, among others. Trees for Dundas has been an annual fundraising event for nearly 15 years.

WINCHESTER PRESS
EDITORIAL
WED., MAY 28, 2008 PAGE 6

Open and transparent? We hope so.

The Ontario Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care has announced a new initiative to allow residents of the province to have a say in health-care policy. A citizens' council is being created to make recommendations for Ontario's drug-funding policy. The council will be composed of 25 Ontarians representing a cross-section of ages, cultures, and regions of the province.

New drugs are constantly coming into the market and drug-funding decisions have become increasingly complex.

The council will provide a forum for Ontarians to speak their minds in an open process. Every Ontario resident may apply to help in this new initiative. Their opinions will help shape the future of health care in our province.

Sounds like democracy at its best, right?

While we agree that this council is important for democracy, it's harrowing to note that members will be paid for their participation. We hope that the council is truly made up of a cross-section of Ontarians, that Eastern Ontario is represented and not lost amongst representatives from South-Western Ontario, and that the remuneration provided will not affect the council members' opinions.

Winchester and area residents obviously care about health care — the more than $15 million raised in the Renewing the Vision Campaign proves that, as does the ongoing support for the Winchester District Memorial Hospital and its foundation.

It was Winchester and area residents who made sure the hospital was built 60 years ago, and its another generation that's making sure it will remain one of the top facilities in which to receive care.

This community has been dubbed one of the most generous in the nation, and the Press believes that at least one person — if not more people — from this area should be part of this democratic forum that will affect all health-care in the province in years to come.

It is not necessary for applicants to have a background in health-care or any special knowledge about the pharmaceutical industry — the goal of the citizens' council is to learn what everyday Ontarians think about drug funding decisions.

The council will meet twice annually, and members will be expected to express their opinions as members of the public and not represent the view of any specific interest group, or organization. All applications must be submitted by 5 pm on June 30. Recruitment for the council began on Fri., May 23 and will continue until the deadline. The chair of the council will be appointed by the health minister.

This council — completely separate from the Local Health Integration Network and other health-care bodies — is what democracy is all about. Let's show the province just how much the future of health-care means to us and flood the application office with submissions from Eastern Ontario.

Bridge Lea Farms, owned by Edgar and Ormond Craig, received $3,900 for two heifers at the National Holstein Sale. Bridge Lea Reflection Idean A., a good plus heifer, and Bridge Lea Reflection Jean collectively brought in what would be $28,422.04 today after inflation, according to the Bank of Canada.

1968

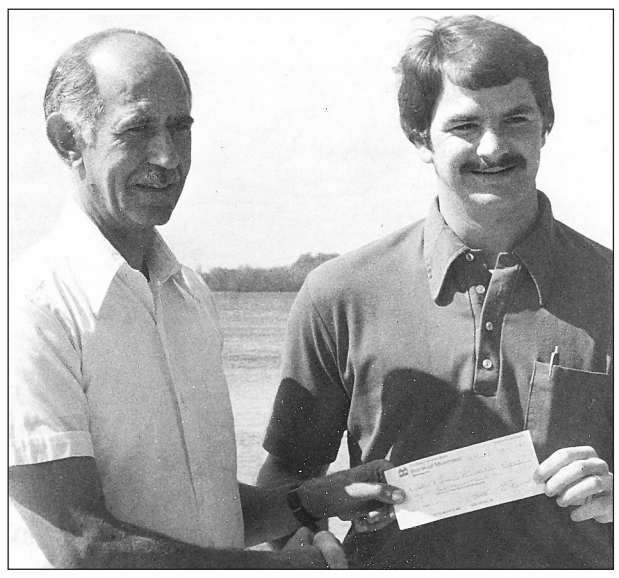
The Winchester District Memorial Hospital prepared to open the doors of the Harvey S. Dillabough wing. The new $1,300,000 wing included a 16-bed pediatric unit, a 35-bed unit for the chronically ill, and many new pieces of modern equipment.

1978

Kemptville College renamed the dairy building on campus in honour of A. L. Gibson, the principal pioneer of cheese- and butter-making in Eastern Ontario, for the work he did with dairy and cattle research.

1988

The Russell Curling Club won the coveted "triple crown" award at its annual awards banquet. The three cups that the Russell Curling Club won were hotly contested between clubs in Morrisburg, Russell, Metcalfe, and Winchester. It was a rare occurrence for a single club to win all three cups. Skip Merrill McVey, Joyce Boyd, Joyce O'Reilley, and Sandra Conway won the Broder Cup; skip Jim Gamble, Ray Ransome, Ron Furuness, and Gilles Tessier won the Merkley Cup; and skip Furuness, McVey, Boyd, and Doug Woods won the Gamble Cup.



Morrisburg resident Jim Notman participated in a fundraising marathon for cystic fibrosis research in 1978. He attempted to single-handedly raise $10,000. Morrisburg Lions Club president Mike Klugman (left) donated $1,000 to Notman's cause.

Four Osgoode Township High School students made $2,000,000 after they put a new product, called a widget, on the market in a computer simulation called "the Business Game." The team's business strategies earned them the first place title at a competition at Carleton University, where 12 teams from various high schools in the Ottawa region, which included two teams from OTHS, competed for the final spot.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reader feels police fail to use common sense

The Editor:

My wife Fran and I decided to go out for the evening last Saturday night. Before leaving town, we had to stop at the Royal Bank. We did not put our seat belts on when we left our home on Louise Street.

We never leave town without wearing our belts, but on this night, on our way to the bank, we were stopped at the main intersection in town by two female OPP officers, and, believe it or not, we were each charged a $110 fine.

We tried to explain to the officers that we never leave town without wearing our seat belts and we were just on the way to the bank after which we would put on our belts, but we might just as well tried to talk to a fence post.

Fran and I respect the law, and we have not had any traffic tickets in over 30 years. We understand that we were wrong in not wearing the belts when we left home, but we are very disappointed in what we feel is a lack of common sense by these two police officers.

Do you realize that if you were to leave the Bank of Montreal to move your car to the parking lot at Andy's Foodland for groceries without putting your belt on, you could be subject to the same fine?

We understand driving on highways or in cities where high-speed traffic prevails that seat belts should be worn at all times. Why not patrol at the corner of County Roads 31 and 43?

Many of you will recall when we had police officers in the Winchester detachment such as Herb Myers, Bill Eadie, Harley Merkley, Vern Wilson, Norm Sarault, and others who were more interested in working with the public rather than simply writing a ticket. At least you got a warning on minor infractions, but if you did something reckless they were also very firm and you would pay the penalty.

I recall when I was a teenager leaving a dance in Williamsburg, Const. Eadie met me as I was getting in my car. He realized I had been drinking and asked me for my keys. He drove me home in the police cruiser to Winchester and picked me up the next day and drove me back to Williamsburg to get my car. I had great respect for police officers after this and I would have done anything to help if this officer ever needed it. The whole detachment was the same, but not anymore! This is why our younger generation has little respect for laws and policing.

I travel County Road 43 several times a week and witness tailgating, speeding, and senseless passing. Very seldom do I see OPP cruisers patrolling this highway.

The point I am making is, they worry about protecting our safety in the village yet I regularly witness worse actions on the highways.

This may sound like sour grapes over the tickets, but we can assure you it is not. I am really disgusted that the OPP find it necessary to take this kind of action on the main street of our village and not spend the time patrolling highways for serious offences, including seat belts.

Perhaps North Dundas council should consider putting a traffic light at the intersection of Main and St. Lawrence Streets. The OPP officers could then also watch for and issue tickets for jaywalking.

Pitch in and take pride

The Editor:

Since becoming a resident of Winchester, I can truly say I love it here. But I sure wish some businesses would take more pride in the look of their properties.

We have a lot to offer, but need to clean up the town. I suggest we have a "take pride in your community day" — lets all work together to get things cleaned up. Maybe some students looking for volunteer hours could lend a hand?

As for the empty store fronts, drop the increasing rental fees and lets get these well-located stores filled. I would hate to see this town go to the wayside for a few extra bucks.

I'm proud to call Winchester home.

New heritage co-ordinator

The Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself to the communities of North Dundas. My name is Angela Beking and I will be working as the student heritage co-ordinator for the summer of 2008. I am looking forward to an exciting season of creating heritage exhibits and hosting cultural events at the Old Town Hall in Winchester.

I am currently working on four projects. In July, I hope to create a display on the World Wars, highlighting the experiences of the local men and women who fought overseas, as well as those who fought on the "home front" — here in North Dundas. What was it like to live in North Dundas during those years? I invite anyone who would like to share their stories or lend their artifacts to the exhibit to please contact me. I would love to hear from you!

In addition, the July exhibit will feature a section on "school days." If you have any memories of going to school in North Dundas (or any old schoolbooks, photographs, or other memorabilia) that you would like to share, please let me know.

In August, the Old Town Hall will feature exhibits on the history of agriculture in North Dundas, and particularly the history of veterinary medicine in the area. The exhibit will also include the histories and present activities of the community's many social groups and service clubs. If you are a member of a group and would like it to be featured in this exhibit, please contact me.

I would also like to welcome everyone to submit any other exhibit ideas they may have for this summer's displays at the Old Town Hall. I am available at the municipal office in Winchester at 613-774-2105, extension 239.

Real action on the economy

The Editor:

Every day, hundreds of thousands of Canadians go to work, and through their efforts, help make their communities and their country a better place.

Today, with the looming economic slowdown in the United States, it is more important than ever that Canadians see real action to ensure that Canada's economy stays strong. This means having a government that gets Canada's fiscal fundamentals right;ensuring that more businesses are encouraged to invest, expand, and create new jobs, and show real leadership by reducing the tax burden on Canadians so they can keep more of what they earn.

Today, the Federal Budget is balanced and $37 billion is being paid against our national debt. Business taxes are being reduced to encourage more businesses to become more productive, expand, and create jobs. The GST and personal income taxes have been cut. This tax relief gives our economy a shot in the arm by putting more money in the pockets of consumers.

With focussed priorities, lower taxes, and balanced budgets, the Harper Government is ensuring that more Canadians can build a career and pursue their dreams right here at home.

While the Conservative Government is delivering real results, Stéphane Dion and the Liberals are peddling a different option. They have decided that a time of record gas prices and economic uncertainty is a perfect time to sneak in a massive so-called "carbon tax" that will punish Canadians with higher prices on gas, electricity, and everything else. This massive new tax will also undermine Canada's economy and put thousands of jobs at risk.

Stéphane Dion wants to drastically increase taxes and punish Canadian workers for his out-of-control spending and lack of priorities. In contrast, Prime Minister Stephen Harper and the Conservatives are delivering balanced budgets and lower taxes to keep Canada growing and strong.

Seven reasons to plant peonies

Ask a Master Gardener
by Patricia Stachon

WINCHESTER — Starting the middle of May, I have a fern leaf peony in bloom, a beautiful small plant two to three-feet high, with fern-like foliage that lasts until August, and dark red single petals with large yellow stamens. It doesn't flop in the rain and doesn't need staking. The blooms last two weeks in hot weather and longer in cool temperatures.

At the end of May the tree peonies come into bloom. These are a little more persnickety to grow in our area, so I shall deal only with the herbaceous varieties. Reliable, dependable, showy, and generally disease free, peonies do so well in Eastern Ontario because they require the winter chills to grow and flower. They require full sun, do well in light shade, and drained soil. Moist soil is wonderful, but they can also survive the mid-summer drought periods.

The fern leaf peony

During the early part of June, there are the very early singles, semi doubles, and doubles, some requiring staking. By mid-June there are mid-season singles, semi doubles, and double flowering, all shades of pinks, reds, lavenders, and whites, with beautifully formed flowers. There are peonies with side buds and some with or without fragrance.

If you are a lover of foliage, peonies have a variety of leaves and colours providing contrast in the garden.

Remember to plant your fall bulbs near your peonies because their foliage hides the dying leaves of the tulips and daffodils, which seem to take forever to die off. There are late varieties of peonies as well that will take you into early July depending on the temperature.

Choose your varieties carefully — the choice can be daunting but you will have a marvellous display for six to eight weeks. A peony ring is absolutely ideal to stake the plants. Three or four bamboo stakes put in place at the time of budding with some twine will keep your plant tidy and in order during windy and wet periods (mid-June). Peonies with double blooms, side buds, and slim stems will require staking.

There are seven weeks of peonies — there are also seven reasons to plant peonies: easy to grow; gorgeous flowers; low maintenance; drought tolerant; wonderful foliage; they live forever; and are beautiful colours.

Planting depth is critical. If planted too deep, they will not flower. The hard and fast rule is one-and-a-half to two inches of earth over the topmost buds (the little reddish nodules that are next year's buds). Plant in the fall and try to keep them in the same locale. They like the same spot and do not liked to be moved.

If you would like to ask a gardening-related question to a local expert, e-mail mg.questions@ripnet.com or phone Lindley McPhail at 613-445-0754 or Pat Stachon at 613-821-2201 on Wednesday afternoons.

Prom, activity marathon next

MAPLE RIDGE — Signs of summer are creeping their way into the halls and classrooms of North Dundas District High School. The scent of lilacs wafts from the lockers of those who steal a flower from the bush outside at lunch time. Talk of summer jobs and adventures becomes a common pasttime during long, hot spares. Whispers of final exams and summatives hiss within the classrooms, causing the usual stomach lurches for some students. But we still have a lot of things left on the schedule before summer really comes!

Prom is approaching extremely fast. A week-and-a-half is all we have left for all those dress fittings, tux rentals, appointments, adjustments, and shopping. It will take place this year at the Cleo in Ottawa on Fri., June 6.

Replacing the spring carnival this year is the adventurous activity marathon, set to take place on June 4 here at the school. Teams of 10 are needed, and if you don't have a team, you will be placed on one. Each member must raise $10 to participate in all the fun like relay races, student versus teacher games, water sports, and so much more. Breakfast and lunch are provided, and Scotiabank has agreed to match all the funds we raise! The money will go mainly toward replacing the rickety chairs in the gym.

Student council elections will take place this Friday (May 30). Candidates are already dispersing lollipops and badges with their logos on them. Humorous signs line the hallways, with the occasional chuckle heard from students reading them. By this Friday we will have a new student council — a glimpse into the next school year. We all must shed our titles and move on to bigger things, as this year comes to its close.

Hair Razing raises $1,700

METCALFE — The seventh annual Hair Razing event at Osgoode Township High School raised $1,700 for cancer research. This year's event was held in honour of Kevin Ripley, a Greely resident who died last June from brain cancer at the age of 10.

The gym filled with students eager to watch their peers and teachers have their locks lopped off at just before 11 am on Wed., May 21.

Each participant was to raise a minimum of $25 before having their head shaved or hair cut. Students not going under the clippers were also raising money to support the cause. Six teachers were willing to have their hair cut or heads shaved depending on the amounts of money raised.

Co-organizer Leah Shaver handed participant Taylor Sullivan what was once her pony tail.

OTHS evening of the arts

METCALFE — The Osgoode Township High School Band will take to the stage at Stanley's Olde Maple Lane Farm in Edwards on Thurs., June 5 for the "Osgoode Evening of the Arts."

The school's choir will also perform, and student artwork will be on display. The event, which includes a silent auction in support of the arts department at OTHS, kicks off at 6:30 pm.

Food Aid on Friday

OTTAWA — The third annual Food Aid Day in support of the Ottawa Food Bank will take place this Friday (May 30) at Ottawa City Hall.

Donations accepted throughout the day-long radio-a-thon on 580 CFRA will be used to purchase cattle from local beef producers and then be donated to the Ottawa Food Bank. Phone lines will be open at 8 am (613-738-2372).

Full day of activities

The day will feature entertainment — bands and a celebrity milking competition — as well as a barbecue. About 20 Ottawa's Country Side displays will also be on site.

This is the third annual Food Aid event — the first-ever radio-a-thon raised $108,404, surpassing the original $100,000 goal.

The event's founder, Wyatt McWilliams of Navan, is known for spearheading the Hay West initiative, which saw Ontario farmers send hay to the prairies when farmers were in need.

Metcalfe Market hopes for more farming vendors

by Sarah Kelford
Press staff

METCALFE — This year marks the 15th anniversary of the Metcalfe Farmers' Market, and in a time when buying local is greatly encouraged, directors are searching for farmers to fill the market.

"It's a good market, and it's really grown," said director Roger Rutherford. "There are lots of vendors — artists, woodworkers — but there is a decline in farmers coming to the market. It's a farmers' market — it's about farmers."

Rutherford explained that many farmers travel to the Ottawa markets to sell their products, but with more people wanting to buy locally, he said farmers end up spending money to go elsewhere for the same amount of customers.

"We would like to see more of a balance (between farmers and hobby vendors)," said Rutherford. "The market supports local farmers and local farming. We're supporting our neighbours."

The market boasts over 60 vendors and promotes and sells locally produced products — fresh produce, baking, flowers, furniture, herbs, honey, meats, jewellery, clothing, crafts, and much more.

Metcalfe Farmers' Market is open every Saturday from 8 am to noon. Parking and admission is free.

Name game: six foals need monikers

OTTAWA — The Royal Canadian Mounted Police are looking for help from anyone 14 years old and younger to name the six foals in the Name that Foal contest.

The foals were born this spring at the RCMP Breeding Farm in Pakenham, and may, one day, be part of the world famous Musical Ride.

"Every year, this contest allows the RCMP to connect with youth around the world," said Sgt. Marc Godue of the Musical Ride Branch. "Challenging youth to find names for the foals provides a unique opportunity for them to be creative."

Schools are also encouraged to submit class entries. The contest is international, so it is open to children and youth around the world.

The suggested names must begin with the letter F and be no longer than six letters; entries must include the entrant's name, age, address, telephone number, and the suggested name of the foal; entries must come from those 14 years old or younger; and all entries must be received, or post-marked, no later than July 3.

Entries can be mailed to: The Royal Canadian Mounted Police Musical Ride Branch, care of RCMP Name the Foal Contest, P.O. Box 8900, Ottawa, Ont.

Entries are also accepted online at www.rcmp-grc.gc.ca. Please note that the criteria listed above applies to electronic submissions as well.

For school entries, please write "school entry" on the box or envelope.

The winning names will receive a number of RCMP prizes.

Winners will be announced in August, and their names will be posted on the RCMP website. Winning names will be chosen by instructors of the RCMP Musical Ride Branch.

4-H Update

Scrapbookers get creative

by Megan Dudley

MOUNTAIN — The Dundas 4-H Scrapbooking Club held its fourth meeting at the Mountain Community Hall on Mon., May 5.

The meeting started at 7 pm with business, then the club members got busy with their group's activity for the evening.

One group proceeded to make fridge magnets using creative ideas and clothespins.

Other members worked on their shoe boxes, shadow boxes, CD albums, or scrapbooking pages. This is definitely a club with creative minds.

Roll call included a game to get to know one another better. Since Mother's Day was coming up, we each created a card for our special Mom. President Kaitlyn VanKoppen closed the meeting.

Dairy Club hosts second meeting

by Marin Burton

Then everybody was able to judge a class of cows. During snack, Kelly Velthuis thanked Louis Patenaude for hosting the meeting.

The next meeting will take place on Tues., June 24 at 7:30 pm at the home of the Gronigers in Carlsbad Springs.

Stormont, Dundas WIs celebrate merger

by Sarah Kelford
Press staff

INGLESIDE — Over 70 women gathered in their homemade crafty crowns to celebrate the newly merged Stormont-Dundas district of the Women's Institute on Thurs., May 22 at the South Stormont Seniors' Support Centre in Ingleside.

"The Dundas district didn't have enough people to sit on the executive, so rather than fold four branches, we invited them to merge," explained Stormont-Dundas District president Bonnie MacDonald, who was elected during the celebratory meeting.

Past-president of Dundas district Maryke DeJong said that the merge will allow the over 80 members to pool their talents and ideas to make a bigger difference.

"The merged Women's Institute will have the same ideals, but hopefully we can carry them out better," said DeJong, adding that the previous Dundas district had a large elder population. "There is more young blood in Stormont. It shows that the Women's Institute isn't just older people, it's all women."

The Women's Institute was founded in 1897 by Adelaide H. Hoodless and Erland Lee. The institute is an educational organization for women who, by working together, can expand their skills, broaden their interested, and work to improve conditions in homes, communities, the nation, and the world.

"This is just a wonderful thing," said Debra Ann McBride, president of the Winchester branch. "The larger district means more women helping women."

The eight branches within the Stormont-Dundas district are: Winchester, Williamsburg, Chesterville, Riverside Heights, Avonmore, Finch, Ingleside, and Newington.

The new Stormont-Dundas District Women's Institute executive for 2008-2009 was elected during the annual meeting and merge celebration on Thurs., May 22. Dundas district past-president Maryke DeJong (left), secretary Sandra MacMillan, first Stormont-Dundas president Bonnie MacDonald, Stormont district past-president Pauline Flegg, and treasurer Pat O'Duffy posed in their crowns with the cake that read "New Beginnings" — the theme of the meeting. Press Photo — Kelford

Winchester UCW receives Ryan's Well project update

WINCHESTER — Clara Edwardson welcomed the Winchester United Church Women to a turkey dinner catered by Mrs. Curry on Mon., May 12.

Edwardson announced that a trailer had been provided by Arden Carruthers to store things in for the auction sale, which would be held on May 24. She then said the blessing.

Janice Hyndman and Bea Warren used the theme "sewing seeds" for the worship service, which was interspersed with scripture, prayer, and singing of the hymn "In the Garden."

A short business meeting was held after and a thank-you letter from Ryan's Well Foundation was received. In the letter Ryan Hreljac said that 365 wells in 14 countries had been dug, providing 531,942 people with clean water.

Hreljac has been awarded a scholarship in the Class Afloat program and will complete a year of high school aboard a tall ship. He flew to El Salvador in February and from there will travel on the Tall Ship Concordia to places including Beunos Aires, Dominican Republic, Cape Town, Bermuda, and Nambia.

While on the trip, he will spread word of the importance of clean and safe water.

A new carpet has been installed in the Sunday School Hall and the kitchen received a new fridge.

The Presbyterial will meet at Kemptville on June 10 for a noon potluck lunch.

The UCW will entertain the over 80-year-olds with an afternoon tea and entertainment in the Sunday School Hall on June 14.

The meeting was closed with the singing of "Go Now in Peace."

Kanata claims top dollar in "Casey at Bat"

WILLIAMSBURG — Eight teams were in the hunt for the top prize in Williamsburg's fifth annual "Casey at Bat" Memorial Fastball Tournament. When the final out was made Sunday afternoon, Kanata's Local Heroes was declared the 2008 champion thanks to a slim 1-0 victory over Ottawa's Ed Taylor.

Kanata received $1,000 as the winner and Ed Taylor's squad accepted $700 as runner-up.

Two Kanata players received individual awards following Sunday's (May 25) title match. Dan Loney was named tournament MVP and Frankie LeClair was named winner of the Fan's Choice Award.

Ryan O'Neil of Ed Taylor's team was presented with the Top Hitter trophy and teammate Greg Garrity accepted the Top Pitcher silverware.

Play opened on Friday (May 23) evening and finished after 12 round robin, two semi-final games and the championship showdown on Sunday.

Local Heroes went through the round robin undefeated and faced the Williamsburg Cigars in the "A" semi-final. Kanata scratched out a 4-3 decision and snuffed out the Cigars. In the "B" semi-final Ed Taylor's team blanked Carp's 14C Victory 3-0 to earn the other berth in the championship finale.

"The tournament was another huge success," remarked organizer Lyle Schell. "We drew many spectators to the ball diamond."

Schell reported the tournament was previously held in September but switched to May this year to avoid scheduling conflicts. In spite of the date change he noted it was still a struggle to find enough entries but thanked teams from Quyon, Manotick, North Augusta, Carp, Kanata, Orleans, Ottawa and Williamsburg for taking part in the fundraiser.

He also pointed out that one of the objectives of hosting the tournament was to keep fastball alive in this area.

Schell explained that his other motivation was to generate enough profit to provide funding for $500 scholarships for two students graduating from Seaway District High School.

"The scholarships are presented in the memory of Keith Schell and Michael Stewart," explained Schell.

Semi-final Sunday

The Williamsburg Cigars faced Local Heroes of Kanata in a semi-final game on Sunday (May 25). Kanata edged the Cigars 4-3 and butted them out of contention for the $1,000 prize in Williamsburg's fifth annual "Casey at Bat" Memorial Fastball Tournament. Kanata then blanked Ottawa's Ed Taylor 1-0 in the championship match and collected the cash. Williamsburg pitcher Jeff Murphy toed the rubber against Kanata. Cigar infielder Jeff Hopkins attempted to apply the tag to Kanata's Duane Bromley at second base.

Top of her game: Behm trains for worlds

Sam Behm

by Sarah Kelford
Press staff

WINCHESTER — Not many 18-year-olds can say they have competed at an international sporting event. Winchester native Samantha Behm, however, will soon be able to do just that.

Behm is heading to the Netherlands for the fourth World Military Women's Football Championships as goaltender for the Canadian National Women's Military Soccer Team, May 29 through June 8.

"I'm looking forward to the opportunity to play against world-class players and meeting other military personnel from other countries," Behm wrote in an e-mail to the Press.

Behm is currently working toward her Honours degree in Gender and Social Justice at Nipissing University in North Bay, where she also plays as goalkeeper for the Nipissing Lakers.

Behm has been playing soccer for the past seven years, but this is her first year playing at a post-secondary level and on a Canadian team.

She explained that the head coach of the military national team sent out invitations to over 50 candidates.

"Twenty-five candidates were invited to the initial week-long training camp (in February) in British Columbia. A final camp was held in Kingston," explained Behm. "The final roster of 18 was announced on May 4."

Behm is currently training for the tournament at CFB Borden, but is an officer-cadet with CFB North Bay.

Sox whip Express, Panthers tie Gryphons

Pitcher Justin Morozuk made his first start at the National Capital Baseball League's elite Tier 1 level and worked four scoreless innings as the new Winchester Panthers downed the Braves 11-9 in Winchester on May 22. Morozuk and several former Tier 2 Winchester Sox have joined the Panthers for the 2008 season. The Panthers next play in Winchester on Thurs., June 5.

WINCHESTER — A new era for baseball has dawned in Winchester.

The Winchester Sox have opened their first National Capital Baseball League (NCBL) campaign as a Tier 3 entry compiling a record of 1-0-1. Their first victory was an impressive 16-2 drubbing of the Ottawa Express at Morgan Field on Monday (May 26) evening.

The Winchester Panthers were also in action on Monday and improved their NCBL Tier 1 record to 1-1-1 posting a 4-4 tie with the Gryphons at the Nepean Sportsplex.

Duane Rolls got the start and 17-year-old pitcher Vincent Viau finished up as the Sox battled the Expos to a 6-6 draw in Ottawa on May 23. Sylvan Viau belted a two-run dinger and Tyler Armstrong hit a one-run jack for the Sox. Andy Upton was named the "Mike Dean Player of the Game" for driving in the tying run in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Their May 21 home opener was rained out. The Sox will host the Cyclones at Morgan Field on Mon., June 2 at 8 pm.

Kristen Milne leaps into EOSSAA record books

BROCKVILLE — Kristen Milne has put her name in the EOSSAA track and field record book.

The North Dundas District High School junior field specialist made meet history when she reeled off a new triple jump distance of 11.07m. Milne was competing with the Devils at the 2008 EOSSAA championship meet in Brockville last week (May 21 and 22). The OFSAA record, established in 1991 is 11.80m.

Tasha Vanderveen and Dylan DeJong also struck gold at the TISS Pirates facility. Vanderveen was fastest in the junior 100m hurdles clocking a time of 49.39.

DeJong won his junior 100-m sprint hurdle preliminary in 15.44 and then lowered his time to 15.14 as he led the field to the finish line in the final dash.

Milne, a resident of the former Mountain Township, made the day more memorable by booking a second-place finish in the long jump with a measurement of 4.94m. She also joined teammates Vanderveen, Alicia Angus and Paige Warren in the junior 4x100m relay for a fourth-place finish in 54.77 seconds.

North Dundas sent 20 athletes to EOSSAA and had six qualify, in eight events, for the East Regionals in Ottawa (May 29 and May 30). Next stop on the 2008 track schedule is Hamilton where OFSAA will be held from June 5 to 7.

Joining Milne and the relay team at the East Regionals (top five finishers at EOSSAA qualify) will be Vanderveen, DeJong and Brad Morrison.

Morrison qualified fifth in the junior shot put (12.97m).

Vanderveen added a fifth in the 80-m hurdles (13.43) while DeJong was also fifth fastest over the 300-m hurdles (44.37).

Behm

"I thrive on the discipline, structure, and career opportunities afforded by the military and take great pride in looking to the future of serving my country," said Behm of her military involvement, adding that her grandfather is a Second World War veteran and served in the military for 35 years.

"Sam has shown that she understands the complete role of the goalkeeper," said head coach of the Canadian Women's National Military Team Chad Bealieu. "Her shot-stopping, support play, distribution, and control of the penalty area have all be top class. So she can both understand the job, and perform it."

Although Behm has trained hard and worked harder, she credits her success to two of her past coaches, LeRoy Blake and Tania Singfield.

"These two coaches have been my greatest influence over the past seven years," wrote Behm in an e-mail to the Press. "Coach Blake gave me my first opportunity to play at the competitive level when no one else would. Ironically, the Ottawa South United Sky Bears were the one team in Ottawa that really didn't need players. Still, he invited me to come out and train with the girls and the rest was history. He was the man instrumental in introducing me to my goalkeeper coach, and mentor, Tania Singfield. I have been a student of Tania's academy for the past six years. She's seen me through a lot, both good and bad, and has helped me develop as a goalkeeper, but more importantly, as a person. It's through her dedication, commitment, and leadership that I learned the virtues of discipline, hard work, and respect — both on and off the pitch."

The virtues that Behm has learned from previous coaches don't go unnoticed by her current one.

"It's great to have young ambitious athletes as part of our program and Sam is one of those players," said Beaulieu. "Combine Sam's ambitions and her dedication to training and it is easy to see why she performs at such a high level."

Following the Military World Championships, Behm hopes to maintain her position on the Canadian Military National Team for the next three years. In doing so, Behm would be able to compete at the World Military Games (on par with the civilian Olympics) in Rio de Janiero in 2011.

As for what she loves about soccer, Behm simply said "everything — it's the greatest sport there is."

It's official

Ontario Trillium Foundation representative Bob Wilson (left), Metcalfe Curling Club president Sue Cumming, secretary Anne Davis and Nepean-Carleton MPP Lisa McLeod showed off the OTF cheque for $48,800 at the Metcalfe Curling Club's annual closing banquet on May 10.

Metcalfe Curling Club receives facelift thanks to $48,800 grant

METCALFE — The Metcalfe Curling Club showcased the improvements made to the club this year thanks to a $48,800 grant from the Ontario Trillium Foundation (OTF) at its annual closing banquet on May 10.

Lisa MacLeod, MPP for Nepean-Carleton, joined OTF representative Bob Wilson to congratulate the club on their purchases of a dehumidifier, new lighting above the ice surface, and new "lite" rocks for the Little Rockers.

"The Metcalfe Curling Club is an important community facility and these improvements will not only benefit local curlers, but the village of Metcalfe as a whole," said MacLeod. "I am proud of the curling club and its determination to make the Metcalfe Curling Club a first class facility for its curlers and for its community."

A dehumidifier had been on the club's wish list for many years and has now been installed above the ice surface. The new energy efficient lights will save the club money in hydro costs. The young "Little Rockers" have been curling with the new "lite" rocks since January and from reports, the group thinks they are fantastic since they look and act more like a regular curling rock.

"Our curling community is extremely grateful to OTF for providing the funds to allow us to make these purchases," said MCC president Sue Cumming and secretary Anne Davis, who was instrumental in the application process.

Established in 1926, the Metcalfe Curling Club's mission is to make curling available to the community, allowing any person to play the organized sport, emphasizing sportsmanship and social development of children, youth and adults, while promoting competition and community spirit, and to assist participants in realizing their full potential through the offering of programs for developing player's skills.

The Ontario Trillium Foundation is an agency of the Government of Ontario. For over 25 years, the OTF has supported the growth and vitality of communities across the province. It continues to strengthen the capacity of the volunteer sector through investments in community-based initiatives.

Sports, baking, fundraising at NDDHS Activity Marathon

MAPLE RIDGE — The North Dundas District High School's Activity Marathon is scheduled for next week and former student and current member of the American Hockey League's Binghamton Senators Matt Carkner is going act as the master of ceremonies.

The marathon will begin shortly after 8 am and end at 2:20 pm Wed., June 4. Students will organize themselves into teams to compete in a variety of active and cooperative activities including ball hockey, flag rugby, soccer baseball, beach volleyball, dodgeball, ultimate frisbee, a lumber jack competition, jeopardy trivia, improvisation games, and a bake off. There will also be a pie eating competition at lunch.

Organizer Mike Deighton, teacher and staff advisor for parent council, explained the purpose in organizing the day is to provide a fun and interactive event for students, as well as to provide a venue for parental involvement at the school. Parents and community members are encouraged to form a team and compete against the students' teams throughout the day.

"The second purpose is to raise funds for the school," added Deighton. "We have identified that our chairs for the gym are truly on their last legs. Because the chairs are used for sports games, student assemblies, Parent Information Nights, graduation as well as many important community functions their replacement will benefit everyone."

It's for everyone

Students, parents, and community members wishing to participate in the Activity Marathon must pay a minimum of $10 as an entrance fee. Those students wishing to raise additional funds will be rewarded as there will be prizes given to the top student fundraisers. The $10 fee will cover both breakfast and lunch for each participant. Deighton reported there are, however, some incredible prizes for those who bring in more money from pledges.

"If you raise over $100, you will have your name entered in a draw for an autographed Jason Spezza hockey stick, a complete team autographed hockey stick from the Binghamton Senators, as well as Matt Carkner's autographed Senators jersey," he said.

Only those students participating will get a chance to meet Carkner and hear his address.

"So students, parents, and community members, get your team together and get your money in as soon as possible," he said. "Can't get a team of ten together? Not a problem. We will place you on a team."

The event has already received sponsorship from the Scotiabank, AMJ Campbell, Clarica, and the Joanne Whittaker School of Dance. If anyone would like to get involved in this excellent fundraiser, you can make a small donation to sponsor a student to compete in the Activity Marathon or enter a team. For more information contact Mike Deighton at 613-448-2328, ext 4854 or michael.deighton@ucdsb.on.ca.

WINCHESTER — Goals by Matthew Moulton and Nathan Muir proved to be the deciding shots for their respective North Dundas Junior Co-ed Ball Hockey League teams.

Moulton converted a feed from Tristan MacGregor into the winning goal as the Lynx (2-1-0) scratched out a 3-1 win over the Cougars (0-3-0) in the opening game of the Wednesday night (May 21) double header.

Game number two finished with a slim 4-3 decision for the first-place Tigers (3-1-0) who used Muir's second goal of the game to clinch their one-goal win over the Panthers (1-2-0).

The Wildcats drew the weekly bye.

Lynx 3 - Cougars 1

Dylan Marshall used a pass provided by Jason Buma to give the Lynx a 1-0 lead at 36:46. Moulton made it 2-0 scoring from Tristan MacGregor at 23:15. The Cougars finally put a shot into the back of Will Zandbelt's net at 14:04 when Kyle Patenaude finished a play started by Parker Hart and Dakota Boulanger, but that was the only scoring the Cougars managed to do.

Buma cashed in a relay sent to him by Marshall and Jacob Jaquemet 5:22 before the final buzzer to lock up the Lynx's 3-1 win.

Tigers 4 - Panthers 3

Brooke Cummins fired in a pass from Spencer Heldens at 42:10 but that was the only lead the Panthers held in a 4-3 loss to the Tigers.

Joseph Fingler and Muir powered the Tiger attack each potting a pair of goals. Muir assisted on the Fingler markers at 40:12 and 32:35, while Casey McNairn set up Muir at 35:18 and Jacob Robinson engineered the winner at 23:07.

Matthew Laflamme snapped in two late shots for the Panthers. Travis Shane and Spencer Heldens each collected an assist.

Brett Bartholomew was the winning 'tender and Drew Dekker suffered the one-goal loss.

Miranda Carruthers scored two goals and led the Red Rockets (2-0-1) to a 3-2 win against the Butchers (0-3-0) in the opening game of the double-bill on Wed., May 14.

Marie-Claude Drouin, Kaylee Steele, and Krista Dewar collected a goal each to help the Beach Babes (2-0-1) fizzle the Kapow Pops (1-2-0) 3-0 in game two.

Week three

Autumn Merkley scored against the Red Rockets' goalie Brittany Cochrane early in the second period to give the Butchers the lead. Danielle Erdelyi of the Rockets evened the score 1-1 at 6:43 remaining in the second period, and was followed by another goal by Carruthers at 3:30. Mackenzie Allison slipped another goal past Cochrane at 9:06 in the second period, which tied the score 2-2. Carruthers scored again at 2:47 remaining in the third period, bringing the final score to 3-2.

KEMPTVILLE — The Food Basics parking lot was filled with cars that could steal the win out from under Venus' nose in a beauty contest on Fri., May 16 when the Highway 43 Car Club gathered for its weekly cruise night.

Organizer Rod Rafter said the Highway 43 Car Club is his way of giving the community a place to show off its classic cars, as well as a way for the region to see these works of beauty.

"Go to any cruise night in Ottawa and there are a ton of cars," he said. "It's amazing how many of those cars are from our area. We just want to give them an opportunity to come out to a place within the community and have fun."

One of the members, Dave Henderson, helps Rafter with the organization of the club.

"Part of our club philosophy is that the make or model of a the car doesn't matter; all we ask is everybody has enthusiasm for the hobby and the will to have fun," said Henderson.

Rafter also stressed that the club is not just specific to Kemptville.

"The reason why it's called the Highway 43 Car Club is because we don't just want it to be about Kemptville. We want it to be about the area: Kemptville, Smiths Falls, Winchester, Chesterville, Mountain, and all the towns along Highway 43," said Rafter.

The Highway 43 Car Club draws from communities outside of Kemptville as well: Lenny McIntyre, a Winchester native, drove his 1970 Chevrolet Nova SS out to the cruise night. His pride and joy, the Nova was brought up from California by one of McIntyre's associates, and he has worked on it over the past four years.

"I painted it about two years ago," McIntyre said. "The engine has been completely redone. Everything has been taken apart and cleaned. In total there's only about [8,000] or 9,000 miles on it. Next year I plan on adding [a new air intake system]."

McIntyre also explained why he chose the Nova.

"I just love this car," he said. "[The Nova] often gets overlooked at car shows. Everyone has a Camero or a Chevelle — that's what I like about it. It's one of the least appreciated cars."

Chesterville resident Sheldon Post drove his green 1971 Chevrolet Chevelle to the cruise night. He has owned the car for the past 10 years, and said he has enjoyed every one of those years thoroughly.

"I've put in disc brakes, and a brand new engine," Post said. "I've also [personally] painted it. Originally, it was standard everything: standard transmission, standard brakes... ever since I took out the six-cylinder engine, it's power-everything."

The thing Post loves most about the car is its colour. "No one else has anything like it," he said about the car's uniquely-green body.

The Highway 43 Car Club, aside from creating a sense of community for classic car aficionados, is also helping the community. The club is holding a 50-50 draw with the proceeds going toward the Children's Wish Foundation and local charities.

The club is also putting together a "super cruise" — or car rally — open to anyone. The rally will be held July 6, and due to limited space, reservation for cars must be made in advance.

Warren Monk, proprietor of the Food Basics location in Kemptville, has allowed the Highway 43 Car Club to run its weekly cruise night in the parking lot.

Ontario's Drive Clean: What's in a name?

Opinion

by Sarah Kelford, Press staff

WINCHESTER — We all want to save the world, but is selectively testing cars for harmful emissions really the way to go?

Ontario's Drive Clean is a testing and repair program to cut the amount of polluntants from cars, trucks, and buses.

I have a beef with this provincial program.

It has strict policies and area guidelines, however there's a boundary for the "Drive Clean area" — the first indication that this provincial mandate is faulted.

Residents in Ottawa are required to have their vehicles tested every two years, but the boundary of the program is Arnprior — Ottawa's valley neighbour. Those living outside the boundary are free to drive whatever vehicle they so choose. Of course, the Ottawa Valley doesn't have the population, or smog issue, that the city or southern Ontario has, but that doesn't mean those people aren't driving into the "clean" zone.

According to the City of Ottawa's website, nearly 3,000 people commute from Renfrew. This is not to mention Ottawa's student population. How many university and college students drive cars that are registered outside the boundaries?

Sure, in the grand scheme of things 25,000 people may not seem like much of a dent, but hasn't the government, and every environmentalist, told us that every little bit counts?

I grew up in Pembroke, an hour-and-a-half away from Ottawa, and I regularly drove to and from the city to shop or visit friends — my car wasn't Drive Clean approved.

What about if someone lives or works in Ottawa, or Toronto, or Winchester, but their car is registered outside of the Drive Clean zone (let's say the car was a graduation present and the driver's parents registered it where they live — hypothetically speaking of course), what happens then?

On the Drive Clean website there is an area to check if your vehicle needs to be tested, based on its year and where it is registered, not where you — the driver — reside.

Well luckily, I have a solution to iron out these flaws, if you (the almighty ozone-saving government) are going to name the program "Ontario's Drive Clean program," make it provincial. Residents beyond major urban centres do have access to vehicles, too.

Granted, northern Ontario, otherwise known as "the realms beyond the Drive Clean boundary," is not nearly as populated as southern Ontario, but according to provincial demographic statistics, close to one million people are roaming the barren lands of the north. I'm sure at least a few of those million Ontarians drive.

I say, if saving the environment is our provincial mission — then let's do it! Together.

Ahead of the curve

Collision repair centres have been required to report their emissions to the Ontario Ministry of Environment for several years. New regulations passed by the provincial government and upcoming federal legislation mean that these shops will have to drastically cut their Volatile Organic Compound (VOC) emissions in years to come. After looking at several suppliers, Winchester's D's Collision now uses BASF and their Glasurit 90 Line waterborne basecoat. Because the paint is water-based, compared to the traditional solvent-based systems, it reduces the collision repair centre's VOC emissions by approximately 90 per cent. "The application is very similar, and there are much less solvents to harm you or the environment," said paint technician Theo Janssen (pictured above). "It's all-around a much safer product."

Tailgating is a stinky habit

by Matthew Barbour

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — I received a call from my old pal Lou the other day. He wanted to know how he could get the smell of skunk off of his car. He had run over a dead skunk on his way to work that morning.

"But it was nice and sunny this morning and it would have been difficult to miss seeing a lump on the road," I said, adding, "Unless you were behind another vehicle and following too closely."

"Ah man, don't start that again," he responded.

I've been bugging him about his driving for several years. Lou and I have known each other for some time, but I've been a passenger in his car on just one occasion and it was an unsettling experience. We were traveling on a side road in a small string of traffic when I pointed through the windshield and asked, "Lou, don't you think you're a bit too close to that car?"

There was a distance of less than five metres, or a bit more than the length of one vehicle, between us and the car ahead. It would have been difficult — and rather dangerous — for any vehicle passing us to attempt to squeeze into that space.

I'm probably more anxious than most when it comes to tailgating. I've been rear-ended countless times, but in one incident, the impact was quite severe. (That was about eight years ago and my neck muscles have not been the same since then.)

"Oh, don't worry, I can see the bottoms of his tires," Lou stated with apparent confidence.

I truly believe my heart skipped a beat. That's the measure of distance you use when stopped behind another vehicle at a red light — not when you're doing 80 clicks on the highway.

Lou is no dummy — if anything, he is of above average intelligence. But, like too many other drivers, it seems that when he gets behind the wheel, he turns off his thought process.

There are no positive benefits to tailgating — but there is a multitude of reasons to maintain a safe distance when following other vehicles on the road.

There is more visibility of the area immediately ahead and objects sitting on the road, such as dead skunks, can be spotted sooner and avoided. Keeping a safe distance gives a broader view of the road ahead of the next few vehicles and allows for safer and calculated deceleration or braking.

Every year, mostly in winter, we hear about multiple vehicle pile-ups and poor Mother Nature is blamed. By keeping a safe distance and having a better view of the road ahead, drivers can see if cars further up the highway are disappearing into a sudden snow squall or dense fog and can slow down or stop before they reach it themselves.

When following another vehicle, the two-second rule works quite nicely. Pick some kind of marker point, such as a shadow, a crack in the pavement or the beginning of a dashed line and start counting when the vehicle ahead passes that point. If you reach that point before you can count one-thousand, two-one-thousand, then you are too close.

Repeat this task frequently. What else is there to do, other than keeping one's mind on the primary task at hand - maintaining control over that more than 1,000 pounds of glass and metal?

Personally, I believe that only a small number of tailgaters can be classified as aggressive drivers — most are not. I suggest that tailgaters drive in accordance with a much older pattern of behaviour — the herd instinct.

I'm certain that most observant drivers have seen this — a long, flat stretch of open highway, with no traffic for as far as the eye can see, except for four, six, maybe eight cars clumped together, all traveling at the same speed, with just a car-length or two between them. Not a single car is passing — they are all simply cruising along in convoy fashion.

Why would they be so closely gathered together if they are not answering the primitive call of the herd? Can there be any other explanation?

So next time you're out on the road, separate yourself from the pack a little, and back off!

Matthew Barbour has been scrupulously covering weekend events for the Press for the last several years. Readers may remember a story in a previous Car Care supplement in which he revealed how he kept his 1995 Honda on the road for more than 900,000 kilometres. We think this more than qualifies him as a seasoned driver.

Gasoline prices soar: don't waste a drop

by Sarah Kelford
Press staff

By making small changes to driving routines, and maintaining proper upkeep on vehicles, drivers can maximize gas mileage.

WINCHESTER — With the price of gas being rumoured to hit $1.40 per litre within the next few months, it's hard not to dread getting behind the wheel as every trip burns an increasingly larger hole in drivers' wallets.

"Hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of gasoline is wasted every day by motorists, because simple and inexpensive vehicle maintenance is neglected," said Marc Brazeau of Car Care Canada. "Loose or missing gas caps, under-inflated tires, worn spark plugs, and dirty air filters all contribute to poor fuel economy."

Luckily for drivers there are ways to maximize gas mileage and save some cash.

According to Car Care Canada, agressive — speeding up and braking hard while driving can lower gas mileage by up to 33 per cent on highways, and five per cent on city streets. This results in two to 15 cents per litre spent, which could be prevented.

Gas mileage decreases rapidly at speeds over 100 kilometres per hour. For every kilometre per hour driven over 100, an additional three cents per litre is burned. Cruise control on highways will help maintain a steady and constant speed and, according to Car Care Canada, it will also help maximize gas mileage.

Excessive idling is another major fuel-burner. According to Car Care Canada, four minutes of idling burns the same amount of fuel as one kilometre driven.

Other tips to save a few dollars include: using the car's vents rather than the air conditioning system to cool off; plan trips to the grocery store, pharmacy, post office, etcetera to be done at one time rather than make numerous small trips; car pool when possible; and remove excess items because less weight equals better mileage.

Proper maintenance of vehicles not only saves drivers money, but it also protects the environment by reducing emissions. For more information visit www.carcarecanada.ca.

Are alternative fuels a good choice for you?

by Matthew A. Terry

WINCHESTER — You eat food, but cars eat fuel; the problem is what goes in must come out, and fuel comes out deadly.

Due to today's growing prices for petroleum-based fuels for both processing and purchasing, as well as the increasing shortage of supply, alternative fuels are beginning to make some headway.

Alternative fuels, such as ethanol, biodiesel, propane, and hydrogen, are fuels that, through their use, decrease the carbon footprint — the impact of human activities on the environment in terms of the amount of green house gases produced — of the cars that we drive. Because alternative fuels generally produce none-to-low amounts of greenhouse gases — such as carbon dioxide, methane, and nitrous oxide — they are better for the environment.

Ethanol

Ethanol, or ethyl alcohol, is what you would find in a bottle of vodka or rum, but you can also find it in fuel tanks. Today, most gas stations have E15, which is a 15 per cent mix of ethanol and gasoline, for high-performance or hybrid cars, and occasionally you may find E85 — which is an 85 per cent mix — at some of the big city gas stations, according to the office of energy efficiency of Natural Resources Canada. Ethanol-mixed fuels may require some changes to the vehicle, so check with your car dealer or mechanic to see if your car is ethanol-friendly.

Biodiesel

Biodiesel is a non-petroleum-based diesel fuel made from animal fats and plant oils. Biodiesel could have the most impact on a rural way of life.

Biodiesel, which can be — and is — blended with petroleum diesel, generally does not require modifications to the vehicle. However, due to biodiesel having different solvent properties than petroleum diesel, it will degrade any natural rubber gaskets and hoses in the vehicle, according to the National Renewable Energy Laboratory in the United States. It is recommended to have these rubber parts replaced with FKM parts, which affects most diesel engines manufactured previous to 1980, according to Natural Resources Canada. Also, biodiesel, due to its better lubricity than today's petroleum fuels, reduces wear on the engine, and specifically the fuel injection equipment, according to Biodiesel.org.

If you are considering using biodiesel in Eastern Ontario, there are two major disadvantages as of right now. The first is in the loss of energy per litre. Biodiesel has a volumetric energy density of approximately 33 megajoules per litre, which is about eight per cent less than petro-diesel, according to Biodiesel.org. This means less distance travelled on a single tank.

The second disadvantage is its availability: currently, Natural Resources Canada is testing biodiesel on some vehicle fleets — such as the Toronto Hydro fleet vehicles, where they are using five and 20 per cent biodiesel mixes — but is not currently authorizing its sale commercially. Expect to see biodiesel availability increase over the next five years.

Propane and Natural Gas

Propane and natural gas are already being used as fuel: they are used for home and water heating, cooking food, and powering farm and industrial equipment, and with some work can be used to power vehicles.

Propane and natural gas refueling infrastructure is in place across the country, according to the Propane Gas Association of Canada, and often it is more cost-effective to use these fuels for your vehicle. The real impact in cost is the premium for propane- or natural gas-fueled cars. This can be fairly costly — starting price for the conversion is between $4,000 and $6,000 — but the overall savings in fuel cost will more than make up for the up-front cost, according to the office of energy efficiency of Natural Resources Canada.

Also, propane and natural gas burn more cleanly when compared to gasoline, releasing less greenhouse gasses in relation to petrol-based fuels, according to the Propane Education and Research Council and Natural Resources Canada. By using an efficient fuel that burns cleaner than petroleum, you reduce your carbon footprint as well as increase the cash in your pocket.

Electricity

Environmental activists, and former U.S. vice-president Al Gore, consider the electric car to be the best option overall: they are clean vehicles, do not contribute greenhouse gasses into the atmosphere, and use readily available, and ubiquitous, power sources; however, the trade-off for green travel is the electric vehicle's range.

Battery-electric vehicles, which produce no greenhouse gasses, are divided into two categories: those that use typical lead-acid batteries, and those that use nickel-metal hyride or lithium batteries. Vehicles that run on typical lead-acid batteries can travel anywhere between 50 to 100 kilometres on a single charge, which is more useful for intraurban driving, according to Natural Resources Canada. Nickel-metal hydride or lithium batteries can run up to 200 kilometres on a single charge — according to the office of energy efficiency of Natural Resources Canada, which is more useful in the country, but still restricts travel.

In a rural area, hybrid-electric vehicles are more cost effective; they use from 30 to over 50 per cent less than a conventional petroleum fuel engine, according to Natural Resources Canada. This reduction in fuel usage is due to hybrid-electric technologies such as regenerative braking to recover energy lost during deacceleration, and ultracapacitors for better battery performance, according to the National Renewable Energy Laboratory. This means, with a similar-volume tank to a regular gasoline engine, a hybrid-electric vehicle has a larger range of travel than a standard petrol engine.

Get there with a GPS

by Sarah Kelford
Press staff

WINCHESTER — Global Positioning System is not new technology, but for any driver who commutes to work or is planning a road trip this summer, it may not be a regrettable purchase.

GPS uses satellite networks to communicate with a receiver in a vehicle and can provide the exact longitude, latitude, and altitude for any location on earth.

According to Car Care Canada, from a driving standpoint this is a convenient feature to help find directions "no matter where you are, without getting out of the car. A GPS can even provide local information of interest, such as restaurants, attractions, and so on."

Meagan Horn, a Geographic Information System research technologist for Optech Incorporated works directly with GPS and said that depending on your needs, purchasing a GPS unit is a good idea for most drivers.

"It's basically fool-proof," said Horn, adding that basic units simply tell you how to get from point A to point B. "Some people use them for simple things like finding addresses, but there are more high tech units which sync through the vehicle's radio to give the driver traffic reports, construction updates, and even detour routes."

Horn warned GPS owners to be aware of their driving habits because units can be a distraction if the driver is concentrating on the map display or trying to program the unit while driving, something that can be prevented by a lockout safety feature on many models.

"If someone is generally a nervous driver, GPS may not be right for them because it constantly talks to the driver, updating them on when to turn. It will say 'turn left in 100 metres, turn left in 50 metres' and this could make some drivers a little anxious," Horn explained. "Also, the unit does not always show the fastest route, it generally shows the (route) most-traveled. If you are familiar with another route and go off the GPS course, it will recalculate another route for you, though."

Horn also noted that some newer vehicles come with a built-in GPS feature, but these units are not as accurate as an actual system.

"Some car companies have contracts with satellite companies, but since these are not global positioning system units, they may not be as accurate. It's best to go with a known name like TomTom or Garmin, which are the top two brands in Canada," she said. "Make sure if you are driving in Canada, you buy a Canadian GPS unit because the American models use American terms like motorway rather than highway, which can be confusing for some drivers."

GPS units have a price tag ranging from $200 to $700, which can be appealing to thieves, according to Horn.

"Theft is a major problem with GPS, it is actually one of the most commonly stolen items," she pointed out. "But this problem is easily fixed. All GPS units are attached by a suction cup, whether to your dashboard or windshield. Simply remove the unit from sight when you aren't in the vehicle — bring it inside, put it in the glove-box, hide it under the seat, just keep it out of sight."

Consumer Protection Branch offers checklist of timely tips

QUEEN'S PARK — Knowing what to do after a automobile collision ahead of time can save you headaches later, Government and Consumer Services Minister Ted McMeekin reminds Ontario motorists.

"Collisions happen," McMeekin said, noting that during one of this past winter's snow storms there were over 900 auto collisions across the province. "The better prepared you are to handle the calls and paperwork, the quicker you will be back on the road."

McMeekin reminded Ontarians that they should keep a checklist in their car covering what to do in the event of an accident: when to call 911; where to report collisions; what information is needed; and how to report the accident to insurers.

"Knowing these smart steps in advance can save consumers time and money," said Danielle Katic of the Financial Services Commission of Ontario, which regulates the insurance industry across the province.

Ontario's Consumer Protection Branch has tips on its website (www.ontario.ca/consumerprotection) and advises motorists to print and keep this checklist, along with a pen and their insurance information, in the glove box of their vehicle.

What to do after an auto accident

1. If it is safe to do so, move your vehicle to the side of the road and turn on its hazard lights.
2. Call 9-1-1 and follow the operator's instructions if someone is injured, damage to property appears to be more than $1,000, or there is damage to the roadway or other public property.

If no one is injured and total property damages are less than $1,000, call your local police and they will decide whether to dispatch an officer.

If police are not dispatched, report to a Collision Reporting Centre within 24 hours. To locate a Collision Reporting Centre visit www.accsupport.com.

3. Keep a pen and paper in your glove box and write down: names, addresses, telephone, and driver's license numbers for all drivers, passengers, and witnesses; license plate numbers, insurance, and registration information for all vehicles; and specific details about the accident scene.
4. Keep your automobile insurance card and phone numbers in your glove box, and report the accident to your insurance company.

Barbecue tutorial

Things are smokin' at Home Hardware

by Sarah Kelford
Press staff

WINCHESTER — Winchester Home Hardware will host a barbecue tutorial with tips and tasters prepared by award-winning barbecuers Danielle and Vlado Dimovski on Sun., June 1, from 10 am to 3 pm.

Prior to Sunday's tutorial, which will be given on a Traeger wood-pellet grill, the famous barbecue competitors will be taking part in the Smoked to the Bone competition at the Gloucester Fair (May 30 and 31).

The Dimovskis' barbecue team, Diva Q, is sponsored by Traeger Canada and since Winchester Home Hardware is one of the only Traeger dealers in Eastern Ontario, the duo chose to stop by to let residents "taste the difference."

"With a Traeger, you cook with actual hardwood and it gives a smoked flavour to the food," said store owner Ken Boje. "The taste, compared to a propane barbecue, is like night and day. The Traeger slogan is 'taste the difference,' and you really do."

Boje explained that unlike propane barbecues, the Traeger brand cooks at a low temperature and has a digitally controlled heat sensor.

"Anything you can do in a convection oven, you can do on these barbecues," said Boje. "We even did our Christmas turkey on it — you can use it year-round."

Boje explained that although the Dimovskis will be cooking with a Traeger, it is still beneficial for every barbecue-lover to stop by because the duo has experience cooking with all types of barbecues.

"As we're getting into the barbecue season, it's good to get some ideas," said Boje, adding that everyone is welcomed to Sunday's barbecue tutorial.

Diva Q competed in amateur competitions up until last year, when they placed third in the professional level at the Smoked to the Bone competition. Danielle Dimovski is the pit master and head cook, and her husband Vlado is the assistant cook.

Thank You

QUINN – The family of the late Mike Quinn wishes to thank the many people who remembered him with donations, floral tributes, cards and the numerous acts of kindness expressed to all of us. We are thankful for the prompt actions of the paramedics, hospital emergency and ICU staff; their compassion was appreciated by all the family. The funeral Mass, co-celebrated by Father Joe Leclair and Father Bill Lunney, was most comforting to all the family. The music for the service, soloist Martha Kelly, fiddlers John Miller and Arnold Foster and accompanying guitar John Foster was much appreciated. Special thanks to the Ottawa Police for providing the escort to the church. Sincere thanks to the community of Blessed Sacrament and the friends and neighbours of the Greely community for providing the delicious lunch; the abundance of food was overwhelming. It was a wonderful tribute to Mike to gather at the Greely Community Centre following the funeral to relax and reminisce with family and friends. Our thanks to Doug Thompson; to Lorne Dewan and the staff of McEvoy-Shields for their professionalism and the many acts of kindness and comforting support during this difficult time. Their guidance and caring for all our needs helped us in our grieving.

Confirmation

Students at St. Catherine School in Metcalfe received their Confirmation on Sun., May 4. Presiding over the ceremony was Archbishop Prendergast and Father Giles. After the ceremony, the children, their parents, as well St. Catherine staff enjoyed a social gathering in the school's gymnasium.

St. Catherine School recently held a western dance-a-thon in partnership with the school council. Money raised during the hoe-down will go toward school activities, field trips, books, class activities, etcetera. Grade 3 teacher Mr. Gunton got in the groove with some of his students, while Melanie Reinhardt (left photo, back, left), Connor Velthuis, Quinn Kearney (front, left), and Liam Kelleher looked the part.
