CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

Duck season opened last Saturday and Boy! did we give them a working over. Rolled out of bet at 4.45 a.m., blearily staggered into a pair of high boots and a shell vest, gulped a glass of sustaining Chesterville Dairy (this is a paid advertisement) milk and took off down river with a trio of youthful friends. Returned home a few hours later with a wonderful case of sciatic stabs playing the scales up and down the north hip, a frost-bitten pinkie that may lose its nail and a completely empty game bag.

As a matter of fact we only saw one duck. It was a frightened little blue-winged teal heading for the hills in a hill of a hurry; some of the other hunters down river must have flushed it, and when it reached our stake-out, it was through the sound barrier and still accelerating. That duck hunt had a sadly familiar pattern, and we were not too disappointed. For nigh onto a given number of years we have been doing the same thing with about the same luck.

Of course there was the interesting occasion when we decided to impress the little woman. In those early years, we still had an occasional illusion. The duck hunt that first day had ended up with a duck in the bag, but it was a new variety to the hunter. With joy we plucked and cleaned and popped in an apple and turned up the heat. When it came time to eat the affair, the honeymoon almost ended. The tasty little morsel appeared to have been living on a sustained diet of old fish and cod liver oil just before we shot it. After the [redacted] shuddered and went under, [redacted] buried the stinker; since then we have been careful to let the fish ducks pass right by.

TV is a wonderful thing in many ways. Just Tuesday night we were pleased to see how it brought out the sensible attitudes of some of our young friends. In an interview on the village square, a young man was asked a number of questions. We really liked his response to one especially. Said the interviewer: "Are there many women on the streets after dark?" and Bill replied: "I really wouldn't know; I don't pay much attention to women." Hooray for the younger males, there is hope yet for that generation.

The editor is fuming at us this [redacted]ek. We went to Winchester to [redacted]lp him cover the water system opening and act as general facto factorum. We also were told to get a good picture of the notables cutting the official ribbon. So we merrily snapped some pics, got the ribbon snipping on schedule and then had the headache of explaining why the Federal member for Grenville-Dundas shows in the pic as a disembodied leg. Even though we explained it quite well, the boss is still in a pout. And we never did learn if Winchester water is protected against nematodes.

THERESA LAPIERRE

Miss Theresa Lapierre, 326 Bruyere Street, Ottawa, died in hospital Saturday, September 5, following a long illness. She was 31.

Daughter of the late Allen Lapierre and Germaine Mulet, who survives, she was born in Ottawa and worked as a clerk with the Department of Health and Welfare.

Surviving besides her mother are three brothers, Paul and Francis, of Hull, and Graham, Ottawa; two sisters, Yvonne and Odette, both of Ottawa.

The body was at the Gauthier Funeral Home. Requiem mass was chanted in St. Anne's Church on September 9. Interment followed in Notre Dame Cemetery.

Miss Lapierre was a niece of Miss Ethel Lapierre and Tom Lapierre, Chesterville.

IF TENDERS ACCEPTED--

Well drilling here to start next week

Chesterville council members accepted the recommendations of chief engineer A. T. Watt, ground water specialist of the Water Resources Commission, on sites to test drill for water. The meeting was a result of a survey made last week in the town by engineer Don Jeffs of the Commission, who prepared a subsoil map from his findings.

Working towards a water supply of 125 gals. per minute, the commission men felt wells could number as high as three to provide the necessary water, if one does not supply enough.

A driller will be hired by the commission at the first of next week for immediate work. Sites chosen for holes 8" by not more than 100 feet will be in the village park, on the village land on Mary Street, a test in the vicinity of the Baldry Block and possibly one on the McElheran property at the east of the village.

Progressive tests and supervision by the commission will follow all driller activity.

W. S. Feeley

Retires at 80

W. S. Feeley, Morewood, has finally decided to retire. For many years he has carried out research and tests for various corn companies of Ontario. In the course of his work, Mr Feeley has won many honours.

For three consecutive years his corn won first prizes and a championship ribbon at Ottawa Winter Fair.

Many visitors watched the Feeley corn mature over the years. Agricultural representatives of Ontario came to his farm in considerable numbers to check his claims of yields as high as 135¾ bus. per acre and with moisture content running as low as 15.4%.

A most interesting visitor a couple of years ago was the touring agricultural expert from Red Russia. The Russian was so impressed with the stands at Morewood that the next year his government ordered 75,000 bushels from the parent corn company of Western Ontario.

Blood donors needed clinic next Tuesday

Blood donors are not coming forward as fast as was hoped. That fact is emerging as the day of the clinic approaches and the clinic committee gets prepared.

It was hoped 300 would be on hand to fill the district quota for Red Cross, but unless there is a last minute rush, the figure will not be that large. Of course every effort is being made to reach potential donors ahead of time to facilitate the clinic, but donors are asked to attend regardless if they have not been approached. It is felt the clinic staff will be able to handle all donors as they arrive at the United Church headquarters.

Mrs Eric Casselman is booking appointments all the time, but the list is wide open. If anyone wishes to donate blood for the Red Cross free blood program just call HI 8-2352 or come to the clinic next Tuesday, afternoon or evening.

ROTARY SEES FILMS OF DEPT. OF HIGHWAYS

Chesterville Rotary members Monday evening saw two interesting films of the Ontario Department of Highways. They were called "White Fallout" which had to do with winter road maintenance and "Skyway to the Future," a vivid story in colour of the new Burlington Skyway near Hamilton, Ont.

The films were presented through the courtesy of the Department of Highways and arranged for by Rotarian Fred Cass.

President Allison Graham presided at the head table and assisted in the showing of films.

THEATRE BOOMING

Attendance figures at Community Theatre are heartening for the first week. This is the report of committee members and the manager, E. B. Gravelle.

Last Friday evening there were 191 paid admissions for school children and on Saturday night the figure was 101. If the attendance figures hold up, the committee will feel its efforts are well worth while.

John C. Pomeroy, 74

John C. Pomeroy died at a St. Albans, Vt., hospital last week. He was 74 years of age.

Mr Pomeroy was born in Franklin, Vt., son of the late Mr and Mrs John W. Pomeroy.

He was a milk chemist and for a number of years worked here in Chesterville for the Nestlé company. He had many friends in this district and news of his death was learned with much regret.

He is survived by his wife, the former Roxie Downey, and a son, John, of Alburg; two daughters, Mrs Lawrence Plum (Mary), of Huntington, L.I., N.Y.; and Miss Pauline Pomeroy, New York City.

The funeral was held last Thursday at the Methodist Church, Enosburg Falls, and burial was made in the family plot.

BANQUET HELD FOR BALL PLAYERS

Saturday evening a fine banquet sponsored by coach Lloyd Fyke was given members of Chesterville Cubs ball club, finalists this year in Eastern Ontario Intermediate B ball.

The gathering was held in the dining room of the McCloskey House and the turkey supper and trimming was enjoyed with considerable gusto by those present.

Tape-cutting ceremonies marked the official opening of Winchester water system on Wednesday last. The Hon. F. M. Cass, Q.C., MLA, is shown here wielding the scissors while reeve John Fader, at Mr Cass's left and Commission chairman A. M. Snider lend a helping hand. Other personalities include Arnprior mayor Robert Simpson and Minister Without Portfolio Roberts. Completely hidden by Mr Fader is Mrs Jean Casselman, M.P.—Record Photo.

Frank Baker

Frank Baker passed away peacefully in Winchester Memorial Hospital on September 10, following a lengthy illness. He was in his 78th year.

Mr Baker lived in Finch Township all his life. After retiring from the farm, he moved to Crysler September 10, 1945.

He was a son of the late Adam Baker and his wife, Sarah Smith. He married the former Dorothy Droppo September 30, 1903.

Surviving besides his widow are three sons, Basil, of Smiths Falls; Frank O., Ottawa, and Earl, Finch; six daughters, Mrs C. Cockburn (Sadie), Ottawa; Mrs C. Burd (Elsie), Crysler; Miss Margaret Baker, R.N., of Sarnia; Mrs C. Fawcett (Nellie), Winchester Springs; Mrs E. Montgomery (Lois), Berwick, and Mrs B. Mohns (Leah), of Esquimault, B.C. A son, Cecil, passed away in 1953 and a daughter, Mrs D. McComb (Blanche) in February, 1955.

Left to mourn also are 36 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren; one brother, William Baker, Morrisburg; four sisters, Mrs Wm. Ouderkirk (Maggie), Berwick; Mrs Alfred Byrd (Nettie), Mountain; Mrs Simon Ouderkirk (Gertie), of Rome, N.Y., and Mrs Frank Marcellus (Essie), Earlsville, N.Y. A sister, Ellen, passed away in May, 1908.

The funeral was held from the Brownlee Funeral Home, Finch, to Knox Presbyterian Church, Crysler. Rev John Bell officiated. The choir, directed by Mrs S. L. Begg, rendered the anthem "In the Garden." Hymns were "Rock of Ages" and "Shall We Gather at the River."

Saturday night services were conducted by Chesterville Lodge No. 320, A.F. & A.M., and Crysler L.O.L. No. 528. Both services were well attended.

Pall bearers were six grandsons, Harold Cockburn, Leslie Cockburn, Gary Baker, Reginald Burd, Carl Baker, Delburn Baker. Flower bearers were two grandsons, Robert McComb and Lionel Baker.

Burial took place Sunday, September 13, in the family plot at Crysler Cemetery.

KIDNAPPERS STILL AT LARGE

The wandering bandits who invaded this district a week ago are still at large. Police have remained steadily on duty at cross roads and strategic points running down leads that have been ending in disappointment.

Last Thursday it appeared the hunted men were still in the Nation Valley district. A farm home, the Geordie Nicholson place just east of the second bridge, was invaded in the family's absence. Clothes, food and footwear was missing.

At the moment it is thought the missing men might be working their way to the Front.

Mark 90th birthdays

The "Record" joins the many friends of Mr Peter Shaver, Finch, in offering him congratulations on his 90th birthday which he celebrates today, Thursday, September 24.

Mrs Alice Price, of Dunbar, celebrated her 90th birthday on Sunday, September 20, with her family at the home of her daughter, Mrs Mildred Paul, Chesterville. The "Record" joins her many friends in offering congratulations.

Mrs Agnes Dooley

Mrs Agnes Dooley, wife of the late James Dooley, died in Winchester Memorial Hospital on September 15, after a lengthy illness. She was 81 years of age.

The former Agnes LaSalle, she was born in Morewood, the daughter of the late Felix and Ellen LaSalle.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs Wm. Hunt (Betty), of Massena, N.Y.; one grandchild, Janie Hunt; three sisters, Mrs J. W. Middleton (Ella), of Chesterville; Mrs J. S. Hitsman (Pearl), Winchester, and Mrs T. O. Van Bridger (Margaret), Winchester.

The service, conducted by Rev Douglas Fry, was held at the W. B. Rowe Funeral Home. Interment was made in Morewood Presbyterian Cemetery.

Hogs on Canadian farms totalled 6,872,000 in June, 1959.

Nell Gwynn, English actress, was 37 years old at her death in 1687.

Colquhoun W.M.S. meets at Hart home

The W.M.S. Auxiliary of Colquhoun United Church met at the home of Mrs Roy Hart, with an attendance of 15 members and three visitors. The theme was "Fellow Workers With God."

The call to worship was given by the president and the Scripture reading by Mrs Graham Wells. The meditation and Lord's Prayer were repeated in unison.

The study book, "Africa is Disturbed," was read. Mrs L. Gallinger gave the introduction.

Several items about the Africans, their education, Christianity, race prejudice, communications, marriage customs, medicine man versus modern doctor and divisions of the Church were given by members.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs George Wright and the treasurer's report was given by Mrs K. Hummel. An item on temperance was given by Mrs Graham Wells and prayer by Mrs Roy Cuningham.

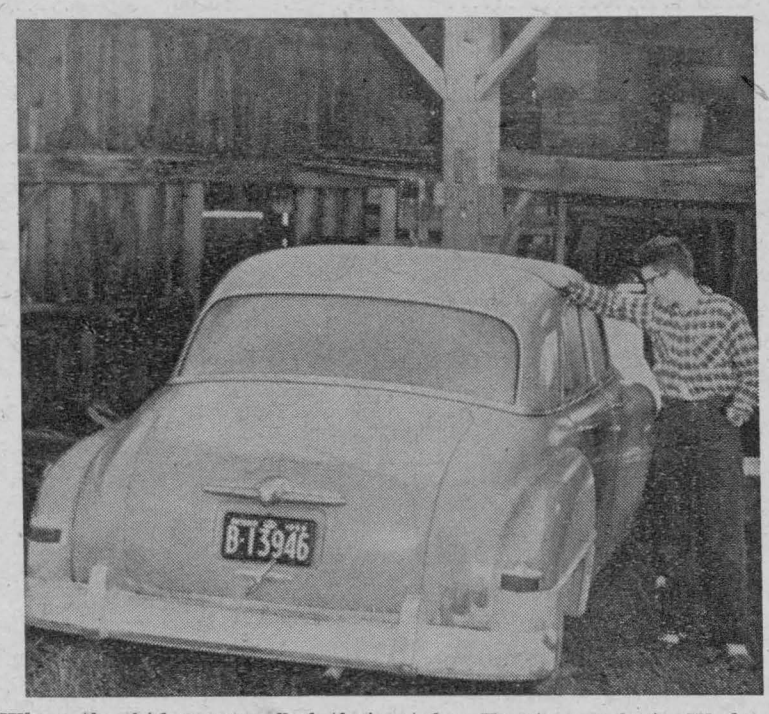

Benediction closed the meeting. The hostess served lunch and Mrs B. Millward moved a vote of thanks.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs Cecil Dennison.

BALANCED DIET

A moth, lubricating oil and particles of coal turned up in bread inspected recently by Kent, Eng., food and drug inspectors.

A half-smoked cigarette was found in a pork sausage and traces of insecticide appeared in an odd-tasting plate of potatoes.

When the kidnappers fled their stolen Froats car last Wednesday, they left one of the few links police found to prove they existed. The car sat in the barnyard of the Graham farm until its owner came and claimed it. Looking at the abandoned vehicle is Dickie Testerink, son of the residents of the farm house.—Record Photo.

OPINIONS . . . OURS AND OTHERS

A policeman's lot

Ontario Provincial Police these days here are getting a lot of undeserved criticism. The yaks about letting a couple of punks slip through their cordons of cars is just a lot of eyewash. And some of the gratuitous suggestions offered to catch the wandering gents would set a record. Everything has been suggested except birdlime, and only that has been neglected because no one knows what it means.

The cry goes up that it should have been easy enough to catch the two fleeing bandits as they took off across the night-shrouded fields. And yet there wasn't a farmer in the group who would not wait until morning to find if the valuable heifer in the night pasture had freshened. You would spend all night looking for her in the dark. Add the mobility of a couple of men weighing and bulking about one ninth as much each, lend a little fear of the Lord from a snapping pair of police bullets, and just try to catch them in a ten-acre field of dew-quiet old pasture.

The sad part of the matter is that the countryside to a cool head is a first-class hideout. Given dark nights, lots of empty barns with deep mows, an occasional garden and hen yard, and determined persons can keep out of a great many searching hands.

The police under Inspector Nicholls have a rough one again. They need all the help they can get; unjust criticism only makes their job more difficult.

Water system progression

Chesterville council members feel the village has been getting a spot of special attention the last week. In that period Water Resources engineer Don Jeffs has made a survey of some 70-odd drilled wells in the community, has drawn up a sub-soil map of considerable interest outlining water bearing possibilities, and has met council with the Commission's chief engineer of the Ground Water Branch, A. T. Watt.

The immediate tangible result of the meeting and survey is the decision to test drill on the sites mentioned in our news story this week in the "Record." And orders to drill will go out next week if the present program is closely followed.

The Water Resources Commission from now on do most of the general work. They oversee drilling operations, make tests and above all, see that an ambitious driller does not go below the 100-foot mark with the drill. The prevalence of sulphur and salt underground is the best reason in the world to stay above the 100-foot mark.

Engineering attitudes change as does everything else, but at the moment the village is assumed to need at least 125 gallons per minute from one well or that flow from the combined use of a number of wells. And the sub-surface structure under the town makes the planners hopeful enough pure water can be found. Of course if it turns out water can not be found in sufficient quantities, then the program will grind to a sad halt.

One of the recurring questions the surveying group had to answer was about water use if the system was installed. "We have a good well, is it true we have to use water from the village system, regardless?" Of course, the answer to that is a plain "No." Water use by a resident is only as he dictates. Plans for a system for Chesterville do not call for mandatory use of the service. Householders will be asked if they wish it, and only those who do will be serviced.

The fact remains, though, that small communities such as ours end up in about five years with nearly 90 per cent on the village system.

Winchester rolls ahead

Our congratulations go to our neighbour this week. A brand new water system is in operation there and something over 200 homes now are on the village mains. And at last they have a sustained water supply under pressure for fire fighting, even though the cistern reservoirs proved themselves on a couple of desperate occasions.

Winchester village started agitation for water over three years ago and the birth pains have been long and arduous. Out of it comes some good, we believe. It has been the formative period for the Water Resources Commission, and as a result of the experience of Winchester and other small towns, now the Commission can go forward with new plans at a much swifter rate. Chesterville is riding that crest at the moment. With our congratulations fresh to Winchester, may we hope our labour pains will not be so great.

FRENDLEE FARM CHATS

by Lillian Allison

If you were visiting New York this week and found yourself only a couple of blocks away from the route taken by Mr Khrushchev when he travelled from the airport to the United Nations Building would you go to stand on the sidewalk and watch him drive by? And if you did join the others there to see the procession would you wave or cheer or applaud when he came into view? Would you stand in line to shake his hand and speak to him?

Now it isn't often that this coulmn takes up such a weighty matter as the premier of Russia. But as I've watched the TV films on Mr K.'s visit, as I've listened to the newscasts and commentaries on radio and read about his doings across the border I've been asking myself: How should the people over there receive this No. 1 Russian leader? What should you do if you were there? What should I do?

I don't know.

First of all, I keep telling myself, he is the guest of the American people. President Eisenhower invited him to the United States in their behalf. When we invite guests we know it is our duty to treat them kindly and hospitably. We give them the best food we can provide. We see to their personal needs. We try to make them enjoy themselves. We put our best foot forward and play the perfect host.

So it would seem that I would be duty-bound to welcome the Russian premier. I should join the crowds along his route, give him applause and perhaps a cheer. As the ideal hostess I should do my best to calm troubled waters, steer the discussion away from controversial subjects and try to forget the differences that separate us in an effort to give the old boy a good time.

I ought also to welcome him with open arms for the sake of world peace and the easing of world tension. I should do whatever I could to win his friendship. I should use all the tricks in Dale Carnegie's book to make him like me and the other millions of Americans. I should want him to take home a picture of the United States as the peace-loving, big-hearted country that it is.

But could I do it?

If I thought of the things I have read that have been done in the name of the ruling few in Russia could I force my hands to applaud Mr K.? If I remembered how only last week a friend told us of his escape from behind the Iron Curtain, of the bedbugs and the filth he and his wife endured to make their escape, how he never hears from his family who remain there, how his father-in-law cannot get permission to leave Czechoslovakia and come to Canada for a visit. (They don't want him to see how we live here, our friend explained.) If I remembered these things how could I cheer?

When I saw the guest lose his temper at a public meeting, when I heard the sly, slippery answers he gave the press, when I realized that he always managed to twist things so that his host looked more than ridiculous, could I applaud and cheer?

What would I do? Would I be the perfect hostess or would I join my immigrant friends who were demonstrating against him?

Away back in Sunday School I was told that in any situation when faced with a serious choice we could always decide on the correct answer by asking: What would Jesus do?

Remembering that I suppose I would recall the unlimited love and graciousness of the Son of Man, how He loved the saint and sinner alike, how He preached the Golden Rule, how He taught "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you." I would remember that I am sure in making a weighty decision. But I couldn't forget how He took the whips and drove from the temple those who were cheating and robbing and intimidating the people.

How would I receive Mr K. if I were an American? I don't know. What would you do?

When installing wood paneling, it is usually best to start in the corner of a room and work toward the middle. The final fitting can be made over windows and doors so that only a short board has to be ripped to fit. The offwidth is hardly noticeable.

Can you give blood?

Red Cross need for whole blood is pointed up this week as canvassers complete their canvass throughout the district. They have been getting donors for the big joint clinic to be held in Chesterville on the 29th. The district is large and covers Winchester, Chesterville, Finch, Morewood, Crysler and Berwick.

Chairman Eric Casselman hopes to have 300 donors lined up by the 29th, but at the moment the response is disheartening. He points out the use of whole blood now is completely free to any needful patient, whether at Winchester or any other hospital in Ontario. Red Cross supplies the fresh whole blood as needed, and they depend on voluntary contributions to make the service possible.

If you can give blood, come to the clinic on Tuesday, September 29.

ODD BOOTS

Wilfred Hunter, a Doncaster, Eng., shoemaker was hard at work making boots for an elephant the other day.

The boots will be part of the ceremonial dress for the elephant, owned by an unnamed Indian potentate. In India the boots will be ornamented and studded with gold.

Before starting to work Hunter received the foot measurements from India and studied the walk of elephants at London Zoo.

Boots for animals is nothing new for Hunter.

Miss Lorraine Holmes selected delegate Junior Farmers tour

Miss Lorraine Holmes, Winchester Springs, has been selected as the Dundas County delegate to the Ontario Junior Farmers United Nations tour, September 27 to October 3.

Miss Holmes' tour will be sponsored by the Dundas Federation of Agriculture. This is the second annual award made by the Federation to a boy or girl demonstrating outstanding ability in 4-H Club work in Dundas County.

The delegates from various parts of Ontario will board a bus at Peterborough on September 27 and will travel via Niagara Falls to Williamsport, Pa. From here the tour will continue to Gettysburg, thence to Washington, D.C., where a day will be spent in touring the capital city.

September 30 will find the delegates enroute to New York City visiting the Beltsville Experimental Station at the University of Maryland on the way.

In New York they will visit the Empire State Building, Radio City Music Hall and other points of interest, and finally a day will be spent on a guided tour of the United Nations organization. On October 3 the delegates will leave New York to return home.

Miss Holmes is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Harry Holmes, of Winchester Springs, and is a graduate of Winchester High School and is now a student at Ottawa Teachers' College. She has been a member of the Williamsburg 4-H Calf Club for six years and has been top-standing member in her Club for four consecutive years.

Plowing match to be held Friday at McConnell farm

Plowing matches are among the oldest agricultural competitions held in Canada. Since pioneer days Canadian farmers have been vying with one another to see who could turn the straightest furrow and the best crown or finish. The horse has given way to the tractor and extra furrows are being added to plows but still the art of moulding a bare field to a neatly turned land is a challenge to all farmers.

Dundas County farmers will have their opportunity to exhibit their ability at the match to be held on Friday, September 25, at the farm of Hume McConnell, Morewood. In preparation for the match, the Dundas Plowmen's Association arranged a coaching day which was held on the same farm Saturday, September 19. Here young plowmen received expert instruction from a top Ontario plowman. Special classes for juniors will be held at the match.

President J. Frank Casselman and secretary Harry Williams expect a large entry at this year's event.

Merrill Mission Band elects officers

Merrill Mission Band of Trinity United Church held the first fall meeting on Monday, September 14, in the Sunday School.

The meeting opened with a hymn, "Jesus Bids Us Shine." Shirley Cuff called the roll to which 11 members replied. Tommy Forward read the minutes of the June meeting. Elaine Merkley received the offering.

New officers were elected: President, Betty Lou Casselman; vice president, Marilyn Smith; secretary, Diane Bailey; World Friends secretary, Cheryl Fyke. Mrs Butcher conducted the installation of the new officers.

The new study book, "Africa and Its People," was explained to the members.

Shirley Cuff, Nancy Gillard and Richard Hutt graduated from the Mission Band. The graduation ceremony was taken from the Missionary Monthly.

At the close of the meeting the children enjoyed a game played outdoors.

ALWAYS NAGGING

Health authorities at Leamington Spa, Eng., ruled the other day that keeping a horse in a house is a "statutory nuisance."

Notice was served on Mrs Bridie O'Hare, 20, ordering her to remove her black hunter mare, Smokey, from her house. She did so, deciding to sell her.

She also was told to clean the tiny back living room of the house.

Neighbours claimed Smokey was kept there and said the clip-clop of the horse drowned out their television.

Arctic foxes, because of their heavy winter fur, exist comfortably in temperatures as low as 40 below zero.

"I guess I should say I like fish but I just don't and I won't eat it. The only time I went fishing I fell into the lake trying to make a cast."

Manley–Chugg

The marriage of Miss Caroline Chugg and Mr Murray Manley was solemnized in St. Patrick's Church, Ottawa, recently.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs Evelyn Chugg, of Ottawa, and the late Mr Hector Chugg, and Mr Manley is the son of Peter Manley, MLA for Stormont, and Mrs Manley, of Berwick.

Msgr J. Leo Lesage officiated. Mrs Dianne Labelle was the organist and Mr John Martin was soloist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr Hector Chugg, the bride was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs James Chugg, as matron of honour. The bridesmaids were Miss Helen McMahon and Miss Margaret Anne Chugg, sister of the bride.

Mr Douglas Manley was best man for his brother and ushers were Mr James Chugg, brother of the bride, and Mr Joseph Hunt, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The bride chose a floor-length gown of white faille taffeta having a fitted bodice with a yoke of Guipure lace circled by folds of taffeta, long lilypoint sleeves and a full skirt appliqued with Guipure lace.

A matching headdress of silk and lace adorned with seed pearls held her circular veil of imported French illusion and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of pink carnations and white ivy.

Her attendants wore waltz-length dresses of organza and carried semi-cascade bouquets of yellow carnations and salal leaves. The matron of honour wore shrimp and the bridesmaids wore turquoise.

Following a reception at the Convention Hall, Lansdowne Park, Mr and Mrs Manley left for Cape Cod. They will reside in Berwick.

To travel Mrs Manley wore a royal blue wool dress, a matching velvet hat with flowers in shades of blue and pink, black accessories and a corsage bouquet of yellow roses.
