MAJOR RAILWAY TURNOVER

Several propane-laden tank cars exploded in a railway accident one mile east of the CNR station at Morrisburg last Friday morning, causing an enormous financial loss and closing the mainline tracks over the weekend. This picture was taken about 10 a.m. Friday a couple of hours after the explosions had rocked buildings for six miles surrounding the accident. One tank car was blown about 1000 feet over the trees, tearing up a section of a spur line leading into Sea-Way Chemicals' Morrisburg plant. No injuries were reported.

Lions "Farmer's Night" A Top-Notch Program

by Lion Al Rogers

Lion Mahlon Zeron introduced the guest speaker at Monday evening's "Farmers' Night" by saying, "I like to listen to young people, and I know you will enjoy hearing from this young man".

The speaker was Mr. Tom Clapp, Assistant Agricultural representative for Dundas County. Mr. Clapp gave us a job description of his work, using a projector to show a graphic breakdown of his various duties. His major work is with young people like himself, especially 4 H workers, and Junior Farmers.

With the rapid development of technological advances and the vast changes in the whole spectrum of agricultural patterns, there is a real need today for increased help for rural people to understand, update, relate and adjust to new farming requirements. Nevertheless, "the family farm still remains the backbone of agriculture."

In Dundas County there are 800 dairy farmers, with 120 4H member, and some 250 homemakers. These are people who are aided by a wide variety of opportunities such as workshops, courses, meetings, exhibits, displays, films, literature, tours and other media of information connected with the agricultural teaching program. Mr. Clapp referred several times to the need of farmers for skilled resource people and consultants; these are available for better relations and communications with the farmer today. A good farmer must be prepared to be a manager, planner, organizer, director, coordinator and controller. But his best and basic requirement is an optimistic and resourceful outlook on life, with a well planned and realistic set of plans, both long and short term.

Lion Brian Gee, in thanking the speaker with who he had gone to McDonald Agricultural College, referred to his own excellent rural past, and the satisfying role he now enjoyed as a Minister. Perhaps, he quipped, his future should be as a Minister of Agriculture!

Cumberland Lions Club paid the Iroquois Lions Club a visit to introduce their candidate for District Governor of District A 4, Mr. John Dunning. With good, positive presence, Mr. Dunning remarked: "The reason why I am here and why I wish to move up to the office of District Governor is because I am interested in Lionism, and what we are trying to accomplish together as Lions.

Lion Danny Robertson made an initial report on the recent questionnaire. Anniversary social events will include a wine and cheese party, dinner speakers, and a past president's night. Fund raising efforts will include a summer barbeque, an auction sale, and an improved street fair. A preliminary disclosure of the anniversary project seems to favour a Medical Centre. Further study of the content of the questionnaire will be made by the anniversary committee who hope to plan the anniversary year's schedule of activity to be present at the Feb. 28 meeting.

Monday evening's dinner was held at the Civic Centre and was catered by the C.W.L. who served ham and scalloped dishes, with beans, topped off with delicious raspberry shortcake. Lion Gord Pulfer announced a 90 percent attendance. Lion Bill Rumble reported that action has begun on the Easter Seal campaign through which the community will have an opportunity to support the cause of crippled children.

Let's All Get Behind The Winter Carnival

Plans are now complete and it looks like the Iroquois Winter Carnival weekend could be one of the major events of the year in this community.

The people who did all the work of organizing have done an excellent job and when their individual events come up, we know they will carry out their duties with efficiency.

But that is as far as they can go. No matter how well prepared they are and no matter how hard they work over the weekend there are two other factors which are important.

One thing that controls the events is the weather. If there is good weather then the next important thing is that residents take the time to support the carnival.

It's as simple as that! If each of us takes the time to become a spectator for a while on each day, the results will be spectacular.

See you around Iroquois over the coming weekend?

THEY DID AN EXCELLENT JOB...

During and after the worst storm of this Winter, village employees did an excellent job in clearing village streets. It was one of the most strenuous tasks of the Winter and as usual, Iroquois' streets were second to none.

Hydro Bill Bothering You?

This is the time of year when residents take one look at their hydro bill and head for the telephone to call the clerk's office to find out what went wrong. It happens every Winter - and this year is no different, following the heavy hydro loads of December and January.

In an Ottawa newspaper this question was also asked and the answer is the same in Iroquois as it was in Ottawa. Following is their reply:

The reason for higher bills are: Lights are switched on much earlier as darkness occurs sooner. The electric motor on the furnace has to work more often or electricity is used for supplementary heat. The clothes dryer is used more as hanging out clothes becomes more unpleasant. The water heater uses more electricity as the water entering the tank is very cold. Block or in-car heaters are used almost daily. The recent bills included Christmas and New Year's lighting and possibly the use of electric tools for those hobbies engaged in during long winter evenings. These are just a few examples which should justify the raise in the hydro bill during the winter season.

A block heater, by the way, costs about .44 of a cent per hour or slightly over 10c for a 24-hour period.

And, if it's any consolation, you should see the editor's light bill! Now who was it we're supposed to complain to?

NEW HORIZONS

When does a baby start to think?

Nobody knows, but thoughts come by association. Baby eagerly responds to the sight of a bottle. Experience proves that the bottle offers both satisfaction and comfort.

Because baby does learn by association, it is important that parents expand their children's horizons. A very small child will respond to a simple prayer. And a child of three will enjoy attending Church School geared for youngsters of that age.

Religious instruction and guidance is not only for the mature - it is needed regularly by everyone. The spiritual life of your child needs constant cultivation and the mind needs day by day development.

KIM BRINGS HOME HER INTENDED

By Bill Smiley

I'm rather interested in the subject of marriage these days, for various reasons. Not for myself. Oh, no. Once bitten...

But I was asked to write a ceremony for a mock wedding to take place at a bridal shower recently. I used some stock gags. "Marriage is a solemn institution, and is only to be entered into if you wish to spend the rest of your life in an institution." And "Do you take this woman to be your awful wedded wife?" And the conclusion, from a "bishop" who has his services confused, "And may God have mercy upon your souls." Stuff like that.

Thought that was the end of it. Then my daughter arrived home for a weekend, with her current fiancé. It seems the young man had asked her to marry him.

The weekend was pretty obviously a confrontation thing, where the parents and the boy friend are exposed to one another, with the potential bride sitting by, darting wildly nervous glances at both parties. Let's listen in for a moment as panicky thoughts scoot through her mind.

(Oh, why did Don have to say that? Mom'll think he's stubborn and stupid just because he didn't agree with her. Oh, no, he made another grammar error! Sure enough, Dad pounced on that. Oh, please Mom, don't go into that three-hour story about how you and Dad lived on $60 a month when you were married. Oh, lordy, why is Dad asking him all those questions about how much a sculptor makes, how many sculptures he's sold, and how he's going to pay back his student loans, as well as mine because by George he isn't going to support us? Oh, dear, I wish I'd never mentioned it.)

Actually, it wasn't like that at all. In fact, I took the whole thing very lightly, as who wouldn't whose daughter has been engaged three times within a year. The only thing that floored me was that Kim said this fellow wanted to ask my permission to marry her. This seemed so old-worldly in this day and age that I immediately became suspicious, as...

(Uh-huh. Wants my permission, eh? Let's see. Permission means approval. Approval means it's going to cost me a lot of money, one way or another. And so on.)

However, as I said, I took it all rather off-handedly until I went downstairs Sunday morning, and found my wife and daughter arguing about the wedding: how many guests, who they were to be, what she'd wear, where the reception would be, and all that jazz.

"What wedding?" I roared into the maelstrom. At least it stopped them long enough so that they could re-group forces and attack me. I discovered that I was an old fud, a fuss-pot, an obstacle in the course of true love, a cynic, a materialist, and a few other things such as a miser, a hypocrite ("You and Mom didn't have a nickel when you got married"), and a misanthrope. I cheerfully agreed to all charges, which took the steam out of their attack.

Sent the kids off with a flea in their ear, and half our Sunday roast. The flea will buzz unheeded, and the roast will be scoffed with gusto. That's life.

Would it were as simple for everybody as it is for the chap who ran the following advertisement in the "personal" column of the city paper recently:

PROFESSOR of surgery and head of surgical research of a North American university, widower, age 60, financially very comfortable, brilliant, good looking, in excellent health, active in sports, with

YOUR MEMBER REPORTS

The Challenge Of Recreation For The 1970's

Every forecast indicates our lives are becoming more complicated and urbanized. We hear that in 20 years, 90% of the Canadian population will live on only 1% of Canada's land. In the same period perhaps more than three-quarters of all Canadians will be living in 12 large urban areas. Canadians generally will be more affluent, have more leisure and will be more eager to seek solace from life in the metropolis. The provision of a proper environment for decent recreation for our own people will become a major responsibility. This is something quite in addition to the orderly development of our important tourist industry which has become such a major factor in the earning of foreign exchange and in the economic life of countless communities in our region.

The impact of the "recreational explosion" which I envisage in the next decade or two will be felt in our area as much as any in Canada. The CORTS report points out that the Rideau-Trent-Severn waterway and its adjacent tourist and recreation areas is readily accessible to the majority of the population of Ontario, Western Quebec and the Northeastern United States. Over 50 million people live within one day drive.

The time is now to plan for the future. It has taken the major study of the Rideau-Trent-Severn System by the Canada Ontario Rideau System survey committee to bring home to all of us the magnitude of both the problem and the challenge facing this region.

In this area we have recreational assets of inestimable value. They include not only the Rideau system, but the 1000 Islands, St. Lawrence Parks and adjacent lake-studded areas on the lip of the Canadian shield. There has been a fantastic growth of recreational use in the past decade. For example the CORTS report states that the number of cottages serviced by hydro on the Rideau grew from 800 to 4400 between 1951 and 1968.

This tremendous use of the Rideau system has brought problems which are typical of those faced by all major recreational areas in Canada. These are listed and discussed in detail in the CORTS report in terms of the proper objectives for a large recreational area as follows:

1. a pollution-free environment;
2. adequate undeveloped open space, including wildlife areas, natural features and general open space;
3. preservation and interpretation of the human and natural historical environment;
4. an adequate number of public use areas including water access points, picnic sites, campsites, boat routes canoe routes, walking trails and scenic roads;
5. adequate commercial development; and
6. satisfactory private development."

It would be hard to find anybody who would disagree with these worthy objectives. In fact, most would go further and say that they must be attained because otherwise the region will deteriorate.

The challenge is to make these objectives realizable in the immediate future. The CORTS report was made to two Governments, Canada and Ontario. Jurisdiction over the total area is divided not only between these two major Governments, but between 16 to 20 major Federal and Provincial agencies together with three cities, three towns, six villages and 24 townships. The problem we face is in the language of athletic teams

"how to put it all together".

Leadership must be given by the two senior Governments. As I have advocated on many occasions, continuous and intelligent pressure should be exercised by every public organization in this region on both the senior Governments to take action on this report. The more I read it, the more I am convinced that it provides a flexible blueprint for action which can be taken cooperatively by all the governments and agencies involved, once firm policy decisions are made to accept the report and implement it. The failure on any of us in positions of responsibility either in public office or in important private organizations to press for the future planning and development of the Rideau system would constitute a dereliction of duty. I am confident that your organization along with all other interested major public bodies will play its part.

New licensing schedule for farm trucks

The Ontario Federation of Agriculture helped develop this new licensing schedule for farm trucks, OFA President Gordon Hill said Friday, "so let's get out there and use it."

Hill, a hog and white bean farmer from Varna, was commenting on the Department of Transportation and Communication's new licensing schedule for farm trucks, 6,000 pounds and over. The Federation originally proposed a special rate for farm trucks and was largely responsible for developing the new schedule.

"Farmers can start buying their licenses on March 1 from Motor Vehicle Licensing Agencies," Hill said. "All they have to do to get the reduced licensing rate is to sign a declaration that they are eligible."

Eligible farmers are those that farm 11 acres and more or sell more than $2,000 of farm products if they have less than 11 acres.

A 6,000 pound license for a farm truck will now cost $37, $7 less than last year. Farmers with trucks requiring 8,000 pound licenses will save $20 over last year's price. And 28,000 pound licenses will cost $195 less than last year.

"Farmers should check with their local licensing agency on reductions in other weight categories" Hill said. "You should apply early to avoid a 'last minute rush.'"

Quarterly licenses for farm trucks will also cost less this year.

Q: Our basement floor is a mess. The concrete always looks dusty and dull and it's practically impossible to keep it clean. Would painting it help? If so, should we use a special type of paint?

A: Yes, you should use a paint that has been formulated especially for use on concrete. You certainly need to eliminate the "dusting" problem you now have as this indicates that if the concrete ever was sealed, the sealant is no longer effective. For a floor that will be easy to clean, use a rubber-base concrete paint called Colortread.

This will dry to a durable gloss finish that's easy to wash with a sponge mop.

HEALTHY AND HANDSOME

You can tell Ricky is full of high spirits. Just look at that smile! He is a healthy, good-looking young fellow, almost six years old, with dancing brown eyes, black slightly wavy hair and medium complexion inherited from his Indian ancestors.

Ricky is an active boy, sometimes boisterous as you'd expect a five-year-old to be. But he enjoys quiet times when he likes to watch TV, especially Sesame Street or Friendly Giant. He is happy at kindergarten where he gets on well with the other children. But he does relish the undivided attention of adults and one of his favorite times is when he helps his foster mother clear the table and do the dishes, because he has her all to himself.

Ricky is a good singer and picks up tunes easily.

He is generally cheerful, and amenable but is occasionally uncooperative, especially among strangers. He needs a family where the children are older or much younger than himself and where the parents will be able to give him attention, understanding and love. To inquire about adopting Ricky, please write to Today's Child, Box 888, Station K, Toronto. For general adoption information ask your Children's Aid Society.

HOCKEY GOSSIP

By: Leo DeBellefeuille

One difference between the Boston Bruins this year in comparison to the Bruin's of last season is that they have been outshot in most of their games this season.

A good reason therefore for the Boston success is the fine goal-tending of Gerry Cheevers and Eddie Johnston.

A nickname for New York Rangers' high-scoring line of Rod Gilbert - Vic Hadfield and Jean Ratelle is "The Goal Diggers". On the most improved scene - California Golden Seals - as a team - are the most improved club in the NHL this year.

All the publicity given to big Ken Dryden this season is truly worthy of his fine play. However - lets not forget another top performer - yes - a fellow named Dave Dryden. Dave Dryden is 30 years old - 6 years older than Ken, the Smythe Trophy winner of 1970-71. The older brother stands at 6-2, four inches shorter than Ken.

Dave has a great attitude toward the game and is making his own headlines this year as a goal-tender for Buffalo.

It would be nice to see rookie sensation Rick Martin obtain 50 goals this semester. If he does obtain that mark, it will be some record for a first year man.

Defenceman Jim Watson of Buffalo Sabres, was given the finest Christmas gift by his wife of perhaps any other player in all of the NHL. His wife, Carol gave birth to identical twin girls December 25th.

Gary Edwards, net minder for Los Angeles Dings, although he has been their No. 2 goaler - has without any stretch of imagination been their No. 1 player in the first half of the season. He has stiff competition from Roggie Vachon - but he (Edwards) should be a top choice for the Kings' MVP at the present time.

If Edwards does not get the nod then either Juha Widing or Rheel Lemieux should be selected.

Recent milestones this year for the Chicago Black Hawks are: Stan Mikita has scored 600 assists, Pit Martin has earned over 350 points, Dennis Hull earned his 150th goal, Lou Angotti notched 75 goals - these have been career achievements. For the Hawk team, 1971 was the first time in five years that all players spent Christmas Day off duty and enjoyed the holiday with their families.

On several occasions you hear and read of the big super scoring lines scattered throughout the ranks of all NHL teams. However there is one line that does not fully get the recognition it deserves. This is the trio of Chico Maki, Pit Martin and Blond Bomber - Robert Marvin Hull.

For example lets examine their present rate of production for the 1971-72 season.

Bobby Hull in 37 games produced 27 goals - 22 assists for 49 points.

Pit Martin in 37 games - 14 goals - 25 assists, 39 points. Chico Maki - in 37 games, 10 goals - 24 assists, 34 points.

Therefore in 111 combined games the Hawk's three some have produced 51 goals, 71 assists for a total of 122 points.

This record should speak for itself and these boys should be given more credit and coverage than what has been accorded to them so far this year. With these three stars, along with Stan Mikita, Dennis Hull and Jim Pappin, combined with Tony Esposito and Gary Smith, it would appear they have this talent to earn a berth into the Stanley Cup Finals. By the way, speaking again of the Black Hawks stop line - they are 40 total points behind after the same number of games in comparison to Boston's three leading players. In Stanley Cup action one may find if the Bruins meet the Hawks - See Page 15

Celebrates 90th Birthday

Mrs. James Graham of South Mountain celebrated her 90th birthday at her home, Saturday, January 29.

Mrs. Graham is in excellent health and spirits. She received congratulations and good wishes from a multitude of friends and relatives throughout the afternoon and evening.

The daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Osias Durant, she was born and raised at the Boyne farm just north of Chesterville.

She and James Graham were married there and moved to the Graham farm, her present residence.

Recommend Many Programs

The O.F.A.'s delegation to the C.F.A. Annual Meeting in Edmonton this past week, aggressively recommended many programs for income improvement for Canadian farmers and gained the support of the representatives from across Canada for their proposals.

Gordon Hill, President of O.F.A., reported that a recommendation for the reinstatement of the Wool Deficiency Payment Plan, retroactive to the 1971 clip, gained strong support.

Hill also said that a motion to re-negotiate F.C.C. loan interest rates at a level not to exceed 5% had been approved.

A further resolution requesting changes to the pork stabilization formula to a 90% level of the 12-year moving average, payable on a specified number of hogs per producer, of 100 index or higher, had also gained strong support from the convention.

A further resolution was passed requesting immediate assistance for farmers with sow operations.

A subsidy of twenty dollars per sow to a maximum of fifty sows per farmer, should be made available for the period of July 1st to December 31st, 1971. This should be in addition to the present hog subsidy program.

"If the Federal Government is serious about its intentions to increase farm incomes and improve their stability, they should immediately implement these recommendations," said Hill.

Mrs. Barkley, who had charge of the program, opened with a passage of Scripture taken from the 1st chapter of Corinthians.

Her topic for the worship was Vitamins and Shots - how appropriate for these times. The thought that was impressed on our minds, was that we take special care of our physical health by taking vitamins and shots prescribed by physicians, but what about our spiritual health? Doctors say our attitudes are important to our physical health and they are equally important to our spiritual health. Let us think about this and see what we can do to keep our spiritual health what it should be.

"Quotes and comments" read from The Observer was humorous and brought a few laughs. Following this, excerpts was read by Ethel McInnis, Betty Backer and Carol Thompson on The Berean Christian School, just east of Brockville. It was very interesting and inspiring to learn of so many young people dedicating their lives to the Ministry of Service and Brotherhood - if only our young people would follow their example, what a nicer world we would have to live in.

The Musicians - called "The Visionaries" are especially enthusiastic and anyone who has had the privilege to hear them sing and play their musical instruments will agree that they are a very talented and dedicated group. Lynda Barkley then read a poem- "Grandmother's off the Rocker" which was enjoyed by all - especially the Grandmothers. Thank you notes was read from Beverly Ault and Mrs. Mary Hough ton.

The President requested that each member suggest a project at the next meeting in which all can participate to meet the financial obligations of our society.

The meeting closed with the

IROQUOIS RECREATION ASSOCIATION

OFF THE CUFF

By Charles Edwards

The old maxim "You can't please all the people all the time" has never been more appropriate than this winter. If the snowmobilers are happy, the snow shovellers aren't, and vice-versa. If the skaters are happy, the skiers are grumbling. With the exception of the thaw that come about every ten days this winter, it's been a great season for the skaters. The lack of snow is driving even the snowmobilers and skiers onto the ice. We set out last weekend to go for a quiet couple of twirls around a nearby pond and instead, ended up in a family hockey game that was about as orderly as a pillow fight at a Boy Scout camp.

It's been more than a couple of days since we last played hockey, and even then all we did was smash the puck up and down the ice. It didn't come as too much of a surprise that we looked more like television's Dancing Bear on ice skates. It's an accepted fact that a three-legged structure is more stable than one with two legs. So while everyone thought we played a clean game of hockey with no high sticking, the truth of the matter was that the blade formed a perfect support as we went hurtling down the ice. But while the kids appreciated the fact that we weren't high sticking, they seemed a bit put out by our tactic of swooping down the ice and picking up whoever was in the way and then just kicking the puck between the goal posts. After all - just because Bobby Orr doesn't do it, who says it's wrong?

After a warm-up period with that kind of highlights, the game was bound to be a thriller. Team captains were chosen and sides chosen. The only difference was that the kids flipped coins to see which of them got stuck with which adult. Right from the opening face-off, it was pretty clear which direction the game would take. Two of the little devils got the puck right off the bat and whipped it between the unsteady legs of their father and right into the goal. And from then on it was straight downhill for the adults. The only rest we got was when we managed to talk the little people into a time out so we could re-lace our skates.

HANESVILLE

Mr. & Mrs. J.P. Murray of Quebec were visitors of their sons Paul & David of Mon. & Tue. of this past week.

Mrs. Jimmie Duval of Corn-

That was an experience much like trying to put a banana back into its peel and hold it there with a frozen, stiff shoe lace.

The second half of the game was much like an instant replay of the first half, but with much more slow motion, provided through the courtesy of the over twenty-one crowd. By now they were giving so much fun running circles around us that they didn't want to stop. The only way we could get out of it was to agree to take them tobogganning next weekend. Now, how are we going to get out of that alive?

wall is staying with her sister-in-law Mrs. Brian Duval while Jimmie is a patient in the Kingston Gen. Hospital. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Mission '72 Committee Meet

by Rev. Allan Rogers

Lay representatives, together with their clergy, met on Feb. 8th at St. John's Anglican Church to conclude the plans for the Lenten School of Study. The meeting was chaired by Rev. Brian Gee, Chairman of the Iroquois Ministerial.

The last Tuesday evening in February and the first three Thuesday evenings in March are the dates, and the place is Seaway District High School. Average attendance at last year's series was approximately 65, and the committee hopes for even a better response this year.

The study book will be "Christ is Alive" by Michel Quoist, and we will deal with part 1, chiefly. The format this year has each introducing one evening, with a theme presentation. This will be followed by four lay people's direction of as many study groups.

These will be followed by a plenary session in the form of a panel discussion, with the host clergyman as moderator.

One of the important and not-to-be-neglected parts of the evening is the fellowship time over a cup of coffee. Keep these four Tuesday evenings to learn a little bit more about living the Christian Faith. Consider the following paragraph chosen almost at random:

"It is true that, in a way, many men are in the process of converting to a kind of natural religion, to the religion of man and his total development, of justice, peace and happiness. But it is also true that man, God's creature, retains within himself a taste for the infinite. Man is insatiable. He knows his strength, and he wants to be even stronger. He wants to master the universe. But when he has mastered the universe, he will still be unsatisfied. He will quickly see that his ambitions do not originate within himself, and he will realize that purely human accomplishments cannot satisfy those aspirations. Unconsciously, man senses and looks for a Strength, a Love: Someone. If I know how to proclaim and reveal Jesus Christ, then one day man will discover himself not at the end of the road of human achievement, but in the middle of it, within himself. Modern man who seems so far from God, in fact is not very far. Indeed, he has never been so close to the TRUE God. In the midst of man's unbelief, faith awaits"...

Fishy Field Trip

The dawn broke on the 15th of January. It was a bitter, cold Saturday morning, the kind that makes most residents pull up the bedclothes and wish that spring was just around the corner.

The Department of Lands & Forests headquarters in Lanark was a beehive of activity. The 4H Conservation Club was preparing to go on a snowmobile safari to Perch Lake in Lavant Township.

The equipment was loaded and the snow machines were prepared to make the long frigid journey. Was this some type of scientific expedition to inspect deer range habitat or red pine regeneration? No friends, this group was going fishing-ice fishing. There are wily rainbow trout in Perch Lake and with fifteen potential fishermen, Lady Luck should certainly smile on us.

With spirits high, and dreams of trout frying in butter, the safari started out, with the conservationists watching the rugged terrain of Lavant Township pass by as they drove toward Clyde Forks, the first leg of the journey.

At Clyde Forks the snowmobiles were loaded with passengers and the gear which goes with such an undertaking. The safari again got underway. The machines roared eagerly through the hardwood forest, up and over hills and through gulleys until at last there came the welcome sight of Perch Lake and with a final burst of speed they raced across the smooth surface of the snow-covered ice.

After the usual amount of stamping and leg stretching the conservationists began to cut holes in the ice and set the fishing lines. During the next three hours some tended fishing lines while others toasted sandwiches and flexed the muscles of the snow machines on the lake's surface.

When it was time to leave the fish were counted. What? No score! The rainbow trout were safe.

The cold and slightly disappointed 4H conservationists departed from Perch Lake and enjoyed a brisk trip back through the hills towards the less exciting but far more comfortable vehicles.

broad interest in the humanities, arts and music, wishes to meet an elegant lady of Jewish faith, age 40 to 50, good looking, intelligent, and independently wealthy. Object - matrimony.

The rest of the ad dealt with the mechanics. The ladies were to send photograph and all details. If they shaped up, a meeting would be arranged selectively by telephone. If they didn't, they would get their junk back.

Well, I can't help but admire the man for laying it on the line, even though he is obviously an arrogant boor. He'll get so many letters he'll never have time to get married.

Nor could I help composing in my mind a similar advert extolling my own virtues for Leap Year ladies. It ran to only twelve words. As a party game, try making up your own marriage advertisement. You might be surprised at how much you have to offer to that vale of tears and laughter. Marriage is a solemn institution. If you are a solemn prig.

the Bean Town lads may have more than they can handle to knock the Hawks out of contention.

Punch Imlack has had more than his share of success with rookies. Gilbert Perreault-Richard Martin and now keep your eye on Craig Ramsay to become the next big gun for Punch's Sabres.

Ramsay is an exciting young player, who entered the NHL from the OHA. At 21, he is 5'10" and 168 pounds. In his last year of junior he tallied 106 points. He was Buffalo's No. 2 draft last June. In Ramsay-Martin and Perreault, Punch has three youngsters that will make his team a top contender within the next few years.

Unless Ken Dryden goes stale, he will have to be a heavy favourite for the Most Valuable Player Award.

Considering the many top goal getters the Montreal Canadians have on their roster, a fellow named Marc Tardif became the first Hab to score 20 goals this season. Some hockey experts, who felt Montreal robbed their way into winning the Stanley Cup, should think the matter over again this year. After all, the Habs have several men who could spell double-trouble again this year. For instance any of these players could send the Habs once again to the Cup title. Lemaire, Lafleur, Tardif, and Larose are but four who are playing in the shadows. These four have earned 57 goals in 136 combined games. Their efforts coupled with the fact that Frank Mahovlich, Yvon Courmoyer, Henri Richard and Peter Mahovlich have produced 52 times in 137 games and you have 8 boys who may make it rough on Boston, New York or Chicago in their defence of Lord Stanley's silverware.

Chris Bordeleau of St. Louis has a broken foot. Tracy Pratt of Buffalo is back in action with Cincinnatti of the AHL. Dale Ralfe of New York has a broken finger.

Ab McDonald and Brian Conacher have been demoted to the AHL by Detroit.

Joe Norris and Jim Rutherford also have been sent down to the minors by Pittsburgh.

Here is a summary of the NHL:

East vs West after 143 games.
East - won 73 - lost 46
tied 24

West - won 46 - lost 73
tied 24

East - Goals Against - 374
Points 170

West - Goals Against - 471
Points 116

The NHL or for that matter, hockey in general, is a rugged sport. Proof of the pudding is the number of players who at the time of writing, are sidelined with injuries: Dennis Hextall, George Gardner, Barry Wilkims, Paul Popiel, Rosaire Palement, Mike Robitaille, Dale Ralfe, or sealer, but you should make sure your floor is clean and dry. The fastest way to apply the paint is with a long-handled roller. It will cover solid in one coat and dry in two hours. However, if the concrete is very porous, a second coat is recommended for best wear. Because of its rubber content, Colortread is considered an excellent moisture sealant.

If in the future you decide to tile your basement, you won't have any problem. Unlike porch and deck enamels, this rubber-base paint doesn't have to be removed before tiling. Tiles can be applied directly to it using an emulsion type of adhesive.

Many Ways To Enjoy Snowmobiling

In the decade since advent of the snowmobile, this newest sport has constantly broadened in scope to now include a wide range of activities from pure competition to pure relaxation.

It all began with racing, of course, and organized competitive events still provide spectator excitement for thousands of enthusiasts every winter weekend. Even more fun for most snowmobilers are the impromptu races among friends over wide open fields.

"Who has the fastest machine? Who handles his rig best?" These two questions provide countless hours of fun for families and friends!

According to the recreation experts at Mercury snowmobiles, however, for the average family owner snowmobiling is much more than racing.

First, there's the growing popularity of ski-joring via snowmobile - the modern counterpart of pulling one or two skiers behind a horse-drawn sleigh.

Then, there is an expanding list of new "games" for family-and-friend competition, and to develop driving skills. Foremost are slalom runs, where drivers compete through a zig-zag series of poles to test steering skill, and numerous creative enthusiasts even have developed their own forms of snow-polo-with their mounts being sure-footed snowmobiles.

And for most families there are the ever-new pleasures of trail riding and exploring new winter scenes, trips through frosty white woods and fields, for a refreshing new kind of contact with nature-and pure relaxation.
